A SERIOUS accident occurred at the new Lapeer Court House on Saturday, as the scaffolding in the third story gave way, precipitating several workmen to the brick floor twenty feet below. William Zehrs, a laborer, had his back broken and was badly injured, and several other workmen were more or less hurt.

THE stockholders of the Michigan Central Railroad Company met at Detroit on the 28th and elected the following directors: Geo. F. Talman, Moses Taylor, J. J. Astor and Isaac Sherman of New York, Nathaniel Thayer, J. W. Brooks, H. H. Hunnewell and Sidney Bartlett, of Boston, and James F. Joy of Detroit. There was but one change in the directory, it is understood that Mr. Joy will be re-elected President of the company.

THE damage to property by the late Detroit tornado is variously estimated from $250,000 to $500,000. Charles Pelke was fatally injured, and a little child, an infant four years old, was killed; Mrs. Fred Rademacher was fatally injured, Richard Hahn, a boy seven years old was blown a furlong through the air and into an iron store 300 feet away, where he dropped to the ground and was picked up dead. Mrs. Lizzie Pinkins was fatally and many others very seriously injured. Nearly 100 persons were more or less injured.

THE Postoffice Department has ordered the establishment of the following additional money order offices in Michigan: Saginaw. The order goes into effect July 5, 1875: Alma, Gratiot County; Baldwin, Lake County; Carp Creek, Monroe County; Jamestine, St. Joseph; Corl, Mecosta; Lyon Rapids, Eaton; Farwell, Clare; Irving (R. F. D.), Barry; Jackson, Jackson; Manchester, Washtenaw, Mendon, St. Joseph; Nimicia, Ottawa; Pierson, Montcalm; Sault de Ste. Marie, Chippewa; Schoolcraft, Kalamazoo; Vandalia, Cass; Vicksburg, Kalamazoo; White Pigeon, St. Joseph.

THE last time the old county has ended in the regular thrilling style of Democratic fusion and the correspondingly complete defeat of the honest people who by the strongest possible evidence that the former is treasonable and that the latter merits confidence and burial.

Since the great issue of twenty years has been settled, and a republican party has arrived on the relative merits and demerits of which no two years ago, Democrats could safely to ignore it. Supposing two men supplied for a position, and one set at the same pack, each pursuing opposite courses, and let it acknowledge that A was all right in his views and wrong, but the employer concluds that there was no difference between them, and that the creature, he would serve the acknowledgment of it an argument in favor of the employment of A. The illustration holds good in politics, and we believe that the creature in the national yoke will admit that the people have the sensible idea of the case.—Chilson Journal.

THE charge against the Democratic candidate for Governor of Maine is, that during the rebellion he was in sympathy with the rebellion. He was charged with having said that the war was a failure, and that the resignation was most refreshing. The Republican competitor liberally stumps the State on the record of having served through the war and risen from the ranks to a Brigadier Generalship. He was severely wounded in battle.—Chicago Tribune.

THE Louisville Courier-Journal warns Hon. Sherman to beware how he speaks of the South, else he will soon be dependent upon Confederate votes in Congress for his summit pay and allowance. This is a precise definition of the meanest and very humiliating it must be to Hon. Democrats.—Chicago Tribune.

Empty Promises.

Empty promises are cheap. If they could make a party strong and respectable then Democracy might well claim a lasting position. Judged by its promises, it has within it the means to right away wrong and improve upon what is already good. But it has proven so unanswerably in the past and so unclothable wherever it now hold power that its declaration of future doctrines has but little effect on the intelligent citizen. Its past failures to make good its unctuous pledges and choice popular confidence in its future integrity.

The nation is in no condition to trust experiments. Whatever policy is pursued, its chief purpose must be to carry out in good faith the pledge of loyalty repeated for the past fourteen years. Officials may be changed, but their successors must carry out the principles which have been recognized as the only safe and reliable ones for the maintenance of the Government.

Reconciling this fact, Democracy, in 1872, placed itself upon a platform which met the popular demand. If its party managers had been as true to it as the rank and file of the party then, the country's strength would have been greater every where. It could not have succeeded in winning a victory, for the people were satisfied with the party that had twice tried and that had proven faithful. But it would have shown strength instead of weakness and would have made the election a close contest.

Subsequent events have justified the action of the people by the people in rejecting the pledges of Democracy in 1872. Democracy, as a party, has proven that the people thought them in that memorable campaign, judged right. They were false to their colors among the loyal masses, they have been abandoned because they failed to deceive.

During the puzzling campaign we shall have to face, from Democratic platforms, speakers. We shall be treated to pictures of future prosperity, and glowing pledges made of reduced taxation. Work, wages and cheap bread. But Democracy's own means high wages, cheap living and plenty of work. All this, and more, will be heard from a thousand stumps, but thinking men will not be caught by such political chaff, and will have no more confidence in the party that offers it, than they have in years past.

The people want facts, not fiction, realities, and promises, and these wants they find supplied by the party now in power. Until the Republican party fails to make good its pledges and the people overcome it, the country is safe in the hands of those who have proven their ability to meet the requirements of the times.—Detroit Post and Tribune.

Party Distinction.

It is noticeable that the platforms of the different parties are similar on points hitherto open to controversy. From this fact it is argued that the country is ripening for a new party, or, at least, weary of the old ones. Such a conclusion is based on a radical misconception.

It is now three years since the Republican party came into existence. It began life as the friend of liberty. It has never wavered from the faith. William Zebs, a laborer, had his back broken and was badly injured, and several other workmen were more or less hurt.

The stockholders of the Michigan Central Railroad Company met at Detroit on the 28th and elected the following directors: Geo. F. Talman, Moses Taylor, J. J. Astor and Isaac Sherman of New York, Nathaniel Thayer, J. W. Brooks, H. H. Hunnewell and Sidney Bartlett, of Boston, and James F. Joy of Detroit. There was but one change in the directory, it is understood that Mr. Joy will be re-elected President of the company.

The damage to property by the late Detroit tornado is variously estimated from $250,000 to $500,000. Charles Pelke was fatally injured, and a little child, an infant four years old, was killed; Mrs. Fred Rademacher was fatally injured, Richard Hahn, a boy seven years old was blown a furlong through the air and into an iron store 300 feet away, where he dropped to the ground and was picked up dead. Mrs. Lizzie Pinkins was fatally and many others very seriously injured. Nearly 100 persons were more or less injured.

The Postoffice Department has ordered the establishment of the following additional money order offices in Michigan: Saginaw. The order goes into effect July 5, 1875: Alma, Gratiot County; Baldwin, Lake County; Carp Creek, Monroe County; Jamestine, St. Joseph; Corl, Mecosta; Lyon Rapids, Eaton; Farwell, Clare; Irving (R. F. D.), Barry; Jackson, Jackson; Manchester, Washtenaw, Mendon, St. Joseph; Nimicia, Ottawa; Pierson, Montcalm; Sault de Ste. Marie, Chippewa; Schoolcraft, Kalamazoo; Vandalia, Cass; Vicksburg, Kalamazoo; White Pigeon, St. Joseph.

The tornado which created such havoc at Detroit put in an appearance in the township of Spring Arbor, in Jackson County, sweeping up trees, lime, lumber and fragments of houses and carrying them along in the air like feathers. Rain, ing about two miles north, it took the south half of the old Clinton House off its foundation and carried it, leaving it demolished a number of rods east of the old stand, and picked up a new barn on the Mc-Naughton farm and carried it in fragments along its course, smashing one or two other buildings, and carrying off fences, chimneys, clothing, &c. The west end of the house in the village of Spring Arbor was blown about ten miles southeast, where considerable damage was done.

The following postal changes occurred in the State during the week ending June 26, 1875: Established—Maxwell, Bay County, William Mudd, Postmaster; South Raisinan, Kalkaska County, Geo. W. Briggs, Postmaster. Discontinued—Cranberry Creek, Gratiot County; Clinton County Name changed—Meadville, Barry County, to Thorn Apple Lake; D. U. Cole appointed Postmaster. Post masters appointed—Averill's Station, Midland County, George W. Howe; Ball Creek, Kent County, Martin L. Whitney; Benzonia, Benzonie County, David B. Spencer; Chase, Lake County, Nathaniel Chase; Crystal Valley, Ocean County, Wilson S. Loverlige; Ferry, Oceana County, William H. Hubbard, Liberty, Jackson County, James Hilton; Orchard Lake, Oakland County, J. T. Copeland.

Black and Colored Grenadine Dresses.

FRENCH lace is used more than anything else for trimming black grenadine dresses this summer. Such a quantity of lace is required for the basque, sleeves and over-skirt that ladies are now willing to buy expensive thread lace and have it cut to the pattern and so much the wider. Where it now hold power that its declaration of future doctrines has but little effect on the intelligent citizen. Its past failures to make good its unctuous pledges and choice popular confidence in its future integrity.

The nation is in no condition to trust experiments. Whatever policy is pursued, its chief purpose must be to carry out in good faith the pledge of loyalty repeated for the past fourteen years. Officials may be changed, but their successors must carry out the principles which have been recognized as the only safe and reliable ones for the maintenance of the Government.

Reconciling this fact, Democracy, in 1872, placed itself upon a platform which met the popular demand. If its party managers had been as true to it as the rank and file of the party then, the country's strength would have been greater every where. It could not have succeeded in winning a victory, for the people were satisfied with the party that had twice tried and that had proven faithful. But it would have shown strength instead of weakness and would have made the election a close contest.

Subsequent events have justified the action of the people by the people in rejecting the pledges of Democracy in 1872. Democracy, as a party, has proven that the people thought them in that memorable campaign, judged right. They were false to their colors among the loyal masses, they have been abandoned because they failed to deceive.

During the puzzling campaign we shall have to face, from Democratic platforms, speakers. We shall be treated to pictures of future prosperity, and glowing pledges made of reduced taxation. Work, wages and cheap bread. But Democracy's own means high wages, cheap living and plenty of work. All this, and more, will be heard from a thousand stumps, but thinking men will not be caught by such political chaff, and will have no more confidence in the party that offers it, than they have in years past.

The people want facts, not fiction, realities, and promises, and these wants they find supplied by the party now in power. Until the Republican party fails to make good its pledges and the people overcome it, the country is safe in the hands of those who have proven their ability to meet the requirements of the times.—Detroit Post and Tribune.

Party Distinction.

It is noticeable that the platforms of the different parties are similar on points hitherto open to controversy. From this fact it is argued that the country is ripening for a new party, or, at least, weary of the old ones. Such a conclusion is based on a radical misconception.

It is now three years since the Republican party came into existence. It began life as the friend of liberty. It has never wavered. On the contrary, it has nobly labored for the promotion of its principles which have been recognized as the only safe and reliable ones for the maintenance of the Government.

Reconciling this fact, Democracy, in 1872, placed itself upon a platform which met the popular demand. If its party managers had been as true to it as the rank and file of the party then, the country's strength would have been greater every where. It could not have succeeded in winning a victory, for the people were satisfied with the party that had twice tried and that had proven faithful. But it would have shown strength instead of weakness and would have made the election a close contest.

Subsequent events have justified the action of the people by the people in rejecting the pledges of Democracy in 1872. Democracy, as a party, has proven that the people thought them in that memorable campaign, judged right. They were false to their colors among the loyal masses, they have been abandoned because they failed to deceive.

During the puzzling campaign we shall have to face, from Democratic platforms, speakers. We shall be treated to pictures of future prosperity, and glowing pledges made of reduced taxation. Work, wages and cheap bread. But Democracy's own means high wages, cheap living and plenty of work. All this, and more, will be heard from a thousand stumps, but thinking men will not be caught by such political chaff, and will have no more confidence in the party that offers it, than they have in years past.

The people want facts, not fiction, realities, and promises, and these wants they find supplied by the party now in power. Until the Republican party fails to make good its pledges and the people overcome it, the country is safe in the hands of those who have proven their ability to meet the requirements of the times.—Detroit Post and Tribune.

Plan of Temporary Separation Adopted by a Georgia Couple.

SOME months ago a young man and his wife removed Atlanta from their home in Maryland, fancying he could get on among our people. Not succeeding in finding employment the husband made up his mind to return to Maryland, but his wife objected to going. They soon fell to quarreling, and finally resorted to the following plan of separation: They agreed to live apart for the period of one year. The husband was to remain in Atlanta and the wife was to go to Maryland. At the end of the year they were to meet at the depot in Atlanta and return to their home. Each party was to support himself or herself during the year. Each party was to refrain from all communication with the other during the year. Each party was to refrain from all communication with the other during the year. Each party was to refrain from all communication with the other

THE SENTINEL.

CHARLEVOIX, MICH.

WILLIAM A. SMITH, EDITOR AND PROPRIETOR.

SATURDAY, - - JULY 17, 1875.

The G. R. & I. R. R. Land Matters.

P. B. L. Pierce, Secretary of the Land Department of the G. R. & I. R. R. Co., also Mayor of Grand Rapids, visited this place last Saturday, on business connected with his department, and called upon us in the forenoon. In the course of the conversation we learned that the Railroad Company intend to pay all taxes on their lands in the region without contesting their legality or using manœuvres through the Justices of the Supervisors, except in those townships where in the assessments show plainly and strongly unjust and unlawful discrimination. We are happy to state that Elk Rapids will doubtless receive its share of the taxes to be paid by this company, without being put to the expense and delay of a lawsuit to obtain them. There are other places in this region, and a few in this county, which will hardly be so fortunate, and will perhaps in the end learn, on finding a depleted treasury and township orders at a discount that economy—and what is more dilatory as than annual assessment of timber—does not pay in the end. Did the result of this unjust taxation fall only upon those townships which made the wrongful assessments, most people would feel satisfied; but it is altogether probable that the entire region will eventually suffer and its growth and prosperity be retarded by the grasping dispositions of a few townships as we have it from good authority, that instead of selling their lands to actual settlers only, go hereafter, the company will dispose of them as best they can. When this occurs who can doubt that thousands of settlers will be kept from this beautiful region by the exorbitant prices demanded by speculators for lands which the G. R. & I. R. R. Co. now sell very cheaply, offering also free passes to all purchasers who settle upon the land within six months of purchase.—Progress.

The latest information which we have is that no portion of the Antrim county tax will be paid, but all other taxes in this region will be promptly settled. It is reported to us on what seems to reliable authority, that as many townships in Antrim have levied unjust taxes that the R. R. Co. has decided to repudiate the whole. So far as the offending towns are concerned we are not sorry. We would be glad if the innocent could escape suffering with the guilty.—Herald.

The Sweetness of Home.

He who has no home has not the sweetest pleasure of life; he feels not the thousand endearments that cluster around that hallowed spot to fill the void of his aching heart, and while away his leisure moments in the sweetest of life's joys. Is misfortune your lot? You will find a friendly welcome from hearts beating true to your own. Your chosen partner has a smile of approbation when others have deserted, a hand of hope when all others refuse, and a heart to feel your sorrows as if they were her own. Perhaps a smiling cherub, with prattling glee and joyous laugh, will drive sorrow from your careworn brow, and cheer it in the seasons of domestic bliss. No matter how humble that home may be, how destitute its stores or how poorly its inmates are clad, if true hearts dwell there it is yet a home. A cheerful, prudent wife, obedient and affectionate children, will give their possessor more real joy than bags of gold and worldly honors. The home of a temperate, industrious and honest man will be his greatest joy. He comes to it weary and worn, but the music of the merry laugh and the happy voice of the children cheer. A plain, but a healthy meal awaits him. Envy, ambition, and strife have no place there, and with a clear conscience he lays his weary limbs down to rest in the bosom of his family, and under the protecting care of the poor man's Friend.—Ex.

☞ Boston has grown independently wealthy and becomes the money lending city of the United States. The July dividends (semi-yearly) just paid in Boston, amount to nearly ten millions of dollars. Twenty millions of dollars annually is a pretty good sum for the people of one city to receive in interest money. This must represent a loaned capital of over $325,000,000, and a fine upon other people's property of nearly that amount in bonds and mortgages. It is doubtful if England holds much more than three times that amount of American securities. New York is probably far behind Boston in money lending. But there are poor people in Boston as well as elsewhere, notwithstanding the fact that many wealthy citizens live upon coupons.

The Grasshoppers.

The Chicago Tribune finding there were so many conflicting reports as to the damages done by grasshoppers, has sent a reliable correspondent to find out the portions of Nebraska, Kansas, Iowa, and Missouri which have been the principal sufferers embraces a district equal to about 20,000 square miles, in which from one-half to three-fourths of the growing crops have been destroyed, involving the loss of six days' labor of about 200,000 people engaged in agricultural pursuits. Repeating-ing has taken place once, twice and thrice in some of the districts, and new ones than the grasshoppers have disappeared. So many are locked for of the matter is favorable and the fall fruits are late. There is destitution in suffering this year, and in those portions of the State not affected the crop and will be larger than ever before.

☞ Mr Thresher, of East Bay, lost an ox recently by a tree falling upon it. The wing boots of the boys was just discovered by Brain, and it soon became his lamentable task to notify the owner, arriving at about six o'clock, and cause him to put off the body of the dead ox. Having learned his habit, on Tuesday evening Mr. Thresher and Dr. B. D. Adams, the former armed with a sharp axe, and the latter with a sharp jack-knife started to put Brain a visit. The Doctor stationed himself at a point where the bear always passed on his way to supper, when Mr. Thresher started directly for the body of the ox intending to give him a warm reception upon his arrival should he be so fortunate as to pass the Doctor. He had hardly reached the ox when Brain came up, having passed the Doctor's station before he reached it. Mr. Thresher immediately fled four stars from his recover, when Brain turned and fled. Part front all of the shots took effect, as the animal bled freely, but he made directly for the swamp and darkness coming on his trail was lost. From the way he was fatally wounded he will not be likely to take his meals at that table in future.—Herald.

Suicide on a Steamer.

A Grand Haven dispatch of the 6th says: The steamer Muskegon, Capt. Smallman, was the scene of a suicide on the Saturday night trip from Chicago. Your correspondent, who was on the boat at the time, was awakened about four o'clock a. m. by the report of a pistol. After investigation it was found that the shot was fired by Daniel H. Alberigt, of Fort Madison, Ill., who had first shot him self and then thrown himself into the lake. A letter which the man left, directed to "one of the officers of the boat," was apparently written that day at the Dunn House, Chicago. It stated that the cause was financial embarrassment, hopeless liabilities and inability to find employment, in it the man enclosed a "patrance"—$1.20 —which he desired to have sent to his wife. His coolness and determination were shown in a postscript added in pencil on the back of the letter after he came aboard the boat, in which he stated that when the shot was heard, he would be known to be a dead man, at the bottom of Lake Michigan. He was a Knight Templar and Mason, belonging to DeMolay Commandery, No. 3, Washington, D. C. He was a large, fine-looking man.

The free trade theorists continually allege that our exports do not increase, because our tariff increases the cost of production here. Well, here is free-trade Britain, where the exports are falling off very steadily. The British trade reports show for May the exports for that month were 14 per cent less than for May 1874. The falling off in iron and its manufactures has been especially large in railroad materials—no less than 46,000 tons as compared with the same month a year ago. On the other hand, the imports into Britain have increased 13 1-2 per cent. On the whole, therefore, that example does present anything particularly attractive to us for our commerce shows a much better balance. For the nine months ending March 31, 1875, our imports were less than for the corresponding months of 1874 by $23,983,858; while for the same period the domestic exports were $21,543 102 less.

Britain is selling less and buying much more than she was a year ago. On the other hand, the United States buys almost much less than last year, and the difference in foreign purchases is much greater against Britain than against us. Such facts show that free-trade does not secure commercial prosperity.—Ex.

NOTICE—

U. S. Land Office,
Traverse City Mich., May 26, 1875.

Complaint having been entered at this Office by John T. Collins, against William Heed, for abandoning his Homestead Entry No. 5705, dated Sept. 12, 1872, upon S. ½ of S. E. ¼ Section 32, Township 32 N. R. 5 West, with a view to the cancellation of said entry; the said parties are hereby summoned to appear at this office on the 16th day of August, 1875, at 10 o'clock A. M. to respond and furnish testimony concerning said alleged abandonment.

SETH P. MOFFATT, Register.
PERRY HANNAH, Receiver.

"SHTOP A LEETLE!"

Spring Harbor,

HEAD OF PINE LAKE.

The Secret of Wonderful Growth and Success.

Way up in the north in a very smart town, In the country all over it is gaining renown,
It's in Charlevoix county and Spring Harbor Town.

The secret so rich if you plant a small sum
To growing big yields it never will fail
It needs some active people I say
That need to be somewhere they're not now
In Charlevoix county and Spring Harbor Town.

Then go the merchants who're up to date trade,
With a stock of new goods before they are made,
In Charlevoix county and Spring Harbor Town.

Then there are the doctors they're ever on duty,
With syrups and drugs and various pills—
In Charlevoix county and Spring Harbor Town.

If they on you once make a professional call,
Again in your life you'll be ill not at all;
If they call once or twice you'll then feel so clever,
You'll not die at all, but live on forever—
In Charlevoix county and Spring Harbor Town.

Then there is the "Journal" the shirt of the scene
To give all the news it doth always engage
In Charlevoix county and Spring Harbor Town.

And the editor knows his business so well,
He knows what I say, for the truth I do tell
If a man is murdered and left to his grave,
It will give you the news 1 to or three days hence,
In Charlevoix county and Spring Harbor Town.

Now I suppose you'll be glad to all know,
How strange it is in petroleum to be seen—
In Charlevoix county and Spring Harbor Town.

When the cause I do give, you all will confess,
'Tis meant that I talk to perfect success
They get their goods cheaper than ever before,
Do they buy all they see at Nichols's store.

YOU'RE CRAZY

TO PAY SUCH TERRIBLE PRICES FOR GOODS, WHEN BY CALLING AT THE

"REGULATOR"

You can purchase them at exactly THIRTY PER CENT. less than at any other place in the part of Charlevoix County. That is what we say at the "REGULATOR." We have lots of

NEW GOODS,

And more coming daily. We have Boots and Shoes for men; We have all kinds of Shoes for Ladies; we have Boots and Shoes and all kinds of nice things for the little ones. We have all kinds of DRESS GOODS; we have all kinds of CLOTH to make clothes for the men and boys. We have

PORK AND FLOUR,

And all kinds of Groceries such as

SUGARS.

TEAS.

COFFEES.

SPICES.

OILS.

WE ALSO HAVE A LARGE ASSORTMENT OF

Farming Implements,

SUCH AS PLOWS, SHOVEL PLOWS, SCYTHES, SNATHS RAKES, FORKS, HOES, CULTIVATORS AND DRAGS. ALSO AN ASSORTMENT OF

TINWARE.

Stuff would buy cheaper than ever before, go to NICHOLS' Store, on Pine Lake shore, where the water doth roar, and all people, and more, say, that never before, in the country all over, did they see people pour into the door of a store, where they buy fattened goods and then buy some more; for they say he sells lower by thirty per cent or perhaps more, than ever before, at any man's store; so after reading this over, if still you'd know more, Tommie will TURN THE CRANK TO TH MACHINE.

And tell you if you wish to attend, yourself with low prices, that you must go to 22222 Nine Dot Avenue, nearly opposite to the Second National Bank, and directly opposite to the Metropolitan Hotel, Spring Harbor.

TRULY YOURS:

T. W. NICHOLS.

Carpenter & Bartholomew

Cheap Cash Store is just the Place to Buy Your Goods!

CARPENTER & BARTHOLOMEW'S

Standard Goods and Election Prices is their Motto.

South End of Bridge Street.

Charlevoix, Mich.

MEDICAL

HALL,

CHARLEVOIX,

JUST THE PLACE TO BUY

DRUGS

And Dye Stuffs,

JUST THE PLACE TO BUY

Patent Medicines

JUST THE PLACE TO BUY

Stationery, Ink and Pens,
And Pocket Inkstands.

JUST THE PLACE TO BUY

Perfumes and Hair Oils
Flavoring Extracts, and Toilet Goods.

JUST THE PLACE TO BUY

The Self-Adjusting Truss

JUST THE PLACE TO BET

Prescriptions Compounded

At all hours—night or day.

IN FACT, just the place to get anything you want in the druggists line.

Cheap for Cash.

Now store opposite Stockman's Hardware Store.

GEO. W. CROUTER,
Druggist and Chemist.

Hemlock Bark!

The undersigned, owners of the schooner R. M. Stanton, would inform the people of Pine Lake and vicinity they are prepared to

Contract for Any Amount

Of Hemlock Bark to be delivered on the beach of Round or Pine Lakes or South Arm. The firms of Fox, Rose & Buttars, Carpenter & Bartholomew, and Byron Pyne, are our authorized agents, with whom contracts can be made, or with Dr. Weakopf, of the firm of

CAPT. P. JOHNSON & Co.

Charlevoix, May 1, 1875.

N. B.—Samuel Holland, of Pineline, is also our authorized agent.

Read This.

The following instructive dialogue was overheard the other day:

Brown—I say, Jones, you seem to have been buying lots of groceries, Where do you trade—home?

Jones—Why, I bought at

BYRON SEE'S

Grocery and Provision Store in Charlevoix. It is a good place to trade.

Brown—Is that so? Can others do as well there as you can—you know you are sharp in a trade.

Jones—O, yes, of course you can. He sells all alike. He sees no place is cheaper and I guess he does from the prices he sells at.

THE STANDARD LEADER

1875. 1875.

A. C. Van Raalte

Capt. Alvin Dodge.

Will run during the season of 1875, as follows, between

Petoskey & Traverse City:

Will leave Petoskey at 6 o'clock a. m. on

Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays,

Arriving at Traverse City at 7 o'clock the same evening. Will leave Traverse City at 6 o'clock a. m. on

Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays,

Arriving at Petoskey the same evening. Touching at all intermediate points on Grand Traverse Bay, both ways.

$75 A WEEK to Agents to sell an article of absolute necessity. Profits immense. Package free. Address BUCKEYE M'f'g Co., Marion, Ohio.

THE MORMONS!

Did They Steal? Our Correspondent Says They have been Foully Slandered!

EDITOR SENTINEL:—

Dear sir, you are not responsible for the following paragraph occurring in the correspondence of the Big Rapids Magnet, inserted in the SENTINEL of July 10, but we think that you would only do a simple act of justice to allow us a little space in your columns for a few lines:

"The Jessie took us up the South Arm as far as Holy Island, which is said to be the place where the Mormons when they occupied Beaver Island in Lake Michigan came to hold their annual feasts, and make their burnt offerings and sacrifices. The animal burned, was always an ox, which was usually stolen from the Gentiles for that purpose; stealing from the Gentiles being no sin according to Mormon doctrine and teaching."

Now there are at least ten witnesses in this region, who know that every line in the above paragraph is false. To those who understand anything in regard to the Mormon faith, refutation is unnecessary.

What reason can be assigned either by Mormons or anybody else, for the whole body of the Mormons on Beaver Island coming a distance of forty miles to assemble from their homes on Beaver Island, to offer sacrifices upon a little barren, clearing Island in the South Arm of Pine Lake? That there was a spot of picnic gathering upon that little island by a few dozen Mormon families, who had residences on the shores of Pine Lake,—say a little less than a year all told, and that such a gathering took place there once and only once, no one will dispute. But that it was the place where the Mormons came from Beaver Island annually to make their burnt sacrifices and hold their feasts, needs only to be stated to be laughed at, by those who know the facts.

On Beaver Island, as those witnesses know, there was a regularly established feast ground which we have had the pleasure of attending several times, and right good and pleasant it was to us there too. We have more than once heard those who have since become reckless to all religion, say that never before nor since on, just so happy a time. We have, moreover, been on that feast-ground from early morning till the feasts were ended, on three or five anniversaries, witnessed all that was done there, and can positively say that such a thing as an ox never was offered on that ground. But to put this matter fully at rest, permit me to say that no maimed, imperfect, or sacrificial animal as an ox, would be an acceptable sacrifice, for any Mormon to offer anywhere as a thanksoffering. We are not a bit afraid to test these matters against any odds. The law governing these feasts is precisely the same among us as that governing the feast Pentecost, and absolutely forbids the offering of any imperfect thing, the only difference being, that the number of days among Mormons is to not so many as among Jews or primitive Christians. And we feel perfectly confident that no animal of the bovine kind was ever offered on a Mormon feast-ground in this region that would exceed six months old, and that in every case, the victim offered was of clear and just right in the possession of the person offering it. At any rate, if we are mistaken, let the facts come to light. So much for the veracity of the Magnet's correspondent, or that of his informants, that "the animal burnt was always an ox." Shame on such contemptible liars! This contemptible slander, is lame in still another point, in the simple fact that there is no burnt offering made in the annual feasts of the mormons, and none is required by the law governing these feasts, nor at any feast appointed to them.

At that time, when the Mormons used to go to steal oxen, out of this region—allowing that their doctrine and faith did really justify them in so doing—is a mystery which the Magnet's correspondent and informants will have to answer; no one else can. There was no food at that time in any direction from Pine River except the stores of Lake Michigan, and there was perhaps not a single yoke of cattle within fifty miles of this place owned by Gentiles.

But supposing we are laboring under a mistake and somebody's oxen were stolen. Who lost the oxen, and who traced them into the possession of the Mormons, and who were those Mormons? Unless gentlemen, no dodging, but answer those questions. If the Mormons of that time, under those circumstances, have gone so far on the business of cattle stealing—not to satisfy hunger, but to learn for religion's sake—they got credit for a degree of respect and reverence for religion, or a penance and a mortification for sins against it, which these gentlemen are not willing to allow, when they come to think of the other end of their accusations.

The Mormons have the credit of being "great students of the scriptures," and such being the case it is at least probable that they knew that "the Lord, hate rob, here for burnt offering" (Is 61–8)

And now if you please Mr. Editor, we will here insert that part of the Law which may be said to be the governing principle of all Mormon festivals.

"When the Lord thy God in blessing, shall bestow upon thee any grant and choice thing, or any his abundant charity shall destroy their trees and great calamity, thou shalt assemble together thy wives and children, thy friends and thy neighbors, and shall celebrate his glorious goodness, with thanksgivings, and hunting and music and dancing, six weeks. 2000 lines in a.

"And for the elder blessings of God to men shall thou keep it in remembrance from year to year, and teach it to thy children, that they who inherit the blessing, may not forget gratitude to the giver, and the recognizance of the goodness of thy God, be preserved throughout all generations." 54 words 252 letters.

You will perceive sir, that there is no burnt offering spoken of or required by this law; consequently no such offering was either or thought of. As to the law itself, whether taken as something passed away, or something that ought to be retained, is more beautiful sentiment or teaching occurs in the Bible, and the Mormons intend that it shall forever be remembered by their children, according to its design and requirements. Please excuse this passing remark.

And, as to the assertion that "stealing from the Gentiles was no sin, according to Mormon teaching and doctrine," it is enough to say that we never, than will say, any one, or set of men anywhere, may examine our "Book of Mormon," "Book of Doctrine and Covenants" and "Book of the Law," the three standard works upon Mormonism, and which we hold of equal authority with the Bible, but not as many say, in place of it—and if any single sentence can be found in any of them authorizing or countenancing in any way, the appropriating of any man's property without a just equivalent, whether he be Mormon Jew or Gentile, we shall be willing to enter our expression for such amount of crime, and be branded as an organized body of thieves, gleaners and robbers.

Also of those feasts is in commemoration of "the setting up of the kingdom of Heaven" on those last days according to the prediction of Daniel and other prophets in Israel."

There is another called the "The feast of first fruits," or ingathering of the harvests or crops. It is in fact the Pentecost of the Mormons as it was with the Jews and primitive christians.

It is their "feast of thanksgiving" for the harvest. The harvesty of a benighted age has nearly obliterated it, but it should never have been forgotten by any people.

We fully assure you gentlemen and with out the least fear of successful contradiction too, that the very contrary is the fact. In other words that it is the frequent habit that has graced the Mormon's "ox" and that to this present time, they never whitewash even the injunction of the divine judge in the case, by saying: "that when the case gentlemen, we will examine the matter, and if, and if."

Now if there is any one in this region, or any other region who thinks himself equal to the task of showing an error here we hope that he will not stand long upon the order of taking up the gauntlet, but that he will take it up at once. We propose no imperfect side taking. We wish you to go back any forty years, to the commencement of the persecution of the Mormons by the people of Missouri; and follow them to the present time; get up all the evidence of theft and robbery, suppressed and unsuppressed that you can, and then lay the side of all this and, say one thousand times more than they were accused of, and then by the side of all this, place the wholesale robberies of the Mormons by the Gentiles, and it would appear like a whole train of loaded cars compared to a one horse wagon!

Yes gentlemen, it would frown down upon those hills Mormon thefts—allowing all we have stated—like a vast mountain upon a mole hill. Not only is all this susceptible of the highest proof, but in no single case all this have the Mormons been the aggressors. Try it if you will. You will find us as ready to acknowledge our error, as to battle for the truth.

To conclude, we will say that the standard works of the Mormons are true. They teach nothing inconsistent with the safety or the rights of any people. In point of moral, sound, and virtuous teaching, they acknowledge no superior, nor equal on earth, and the Mormons are will satisfied that these works are the best expositors of the original spirit and purity of the christianity that is now in being. In spite of the injury done the Mormons by the aspirant and usurper, Brigham Young, and a few others, they as a people are winning a name for general progress, temperance, industry, chastity, fair dealing, and intelligence which other people might profitably emulate, and justly feel proud of. No one can injure the Mormons, but the Mormons.

JUSTICE.

July 12, 1875.

☞ Again Professor Jenny, of the Black Hills geological exploration party telegraps to the Indian Bureau at Washington manager news for the gold-fever agitation. He affirms that feedback search discovers how that there is not gold enough in the Black Hills to warrant extended mining operations.

SLANDER.

From the Frankfort Express.

New York in her late and great excitements may forget a pitiable case of slander that occurred years ago in one of her fine central towns, noted for the beauty of its surrounding scenery, the bright lake and green hills, also its moral purity and beauty, boasting of its entire freedom from all the greater vices and evils of other towns; strictly temperance—not a grog shop or its baneful shelf tolerated. Now with its inhabitants so pure and elevated the minor evils of society, such as the constant gossip and pregnant slander, the cause of so much trouble and bitterness in little towns would have been unexpected; but was never more common. Those pure(?) people who have raised their hands in holy horror at a charge of slander. Kept up the practice as common at the present time of constant oversight in each others affairs sometimes showing more interest in their neighbors than themselves, commenting freely on the acts and motives of all around them, of course causing very much trouble and bitterness as it always has in society—no sooner having one matter entirely settled than they had another on hand. Surprising what small matters would make great trouble.

They had one uncommon case I think that ought never settled.

Father Mathews in taking his morning walk turned his course to the beautiful lake where he much admired the fine scenery and singing birds. To his surprise on reaching the bank he saw a stranger seated on a rock near the shore, weeping bitterly. His sympathys were at once excited, he hastened forward to learn the cause and offer assistance. The stranger replied "he had been slandered—a wrong he had long endured, as it was common in that town to charge every offence or accident, their fires, etc., upon providence or himself—it sometimes troubling them which to blame. As easy way, he said of shipping responsibility—results of careless negligence or wicked indulgence—and he could not much longer endure it, but must have immediate redress or retaliation, and what was more, said old Dea Carp's pig-ing hen had been stolen the night before, and as usual had charged it upon him; saying he had influenced the thief to do it, which he never did. Father Mathews for some time talked sympathetically with him upon the evils of the world, and great sin of slander, offering every assistance possible in gaining redress, and earnestly enquired the strangers name, and to his surprise learned it was the—Devil.

☞ The Rev. Drs. Parker, Henry Allen and Alexander Raleigh, prominent Congregational ministers of London lately drew up and signed an address which is open for other signatures until Friday next. The signers declare that having watched the trial of the case of Tilton vs. Beecher they thank God they are enabled to record an expression of their judgement and feeling as entirely favorable to Mr. Beecher's Christian character.

NORWOOD.

F. J. MEECH & Co.

NORWOOD, MICH.,

DEALERS IN

DRY GOODS,

Groceries and Provisions,

Also Manufacturers of

HARDWOOD LUMBER,

Lath and Shingles.

NEW

MILLINERY

AND

Dress - Making

ESTABLISHMENT.

Fancy Goods, such as Canvas, Zephyrs Trimmings, Tidy patterns, Tarsenia, Kid gloves, etc. Also Cashmere for Scarfs. Dresses and Cloaks fitted and made in the latest fashions.

Charges Reasonable.

Rooms in Harry Newman's bakery building

MISS A. M. SACKETT.

Charlevoix, June 17, 1875. 3m

DRUGS and MEDICINES

DR. LEWIS

Tenders his thanks to the inhabitants of Charlevoix and vicinity for past patronage and solicits a continuance of the same. He has

JUST RECEIVED

A large stock of medicines, such as

Fluid Extracts,
Tinctures,
Essences
Oils of all Kinds,
Gums,
Perfumery, etc.

PATENT MEDICINES,

A large stock, such as Ayres, Jayn Scontter's, Peterman's Blackman's, Sage's & Herrick's.

A Full Supply of Dye Stuffs.

All goods sold as cheap as by any house north of Grand Rapids.

I Keep What I Advertise.

FOX, ROSE & BUTTARS
Charlevoix.

THE SUMMER OF 1875.

LOWER! LOWER!

Go the Prices!

WE CAN AND WILL

SELL CHEAPER

Than any other House in Charlevoix,

Our Neighbors

Are Cutting Down on Certain Articles; We cut down on

Everything!

If You Don't Believe It,

COME AND SEE

For Yourselves.

YARD WIDTH COTTON FOR 10cts

TEA--3 Pounds for $1.

SUIT of Coths for $8.

The Best Goods,

Regardless of Profit,

Are Always Kept.

FOX, ROSE & BUTTARS.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS.

RUSSIAN CREAM.—One quart of milk, three eggs, one cup of sugar, half package gelatine, vanilla or lemon flavoring. Dissolve the gelatine in half a pint of tepid water, bring it to warm temperature, but not to a boil. Beat the yolks of the eggs and sugar together. Bring the milk to a boil, then add the dissolved gelatin, two eggs and sugar, and let it just come to a boiling point, but no more, as it is too stiff. Beat the whites and remove the mixture from the stove, and add the whites to it, also flavoring, and pour into molds. This requires to stand longer than jelly. It wanted for dinner make the day before. Eat with cream if you like.

TO RAISE PASTE PUFF.—Prepare the flour by taking off the sand, drawing the ox teeth; prepare the dressing as for fowls, only use milk to moisten it with instead of water, if you have it. Stuff it in the head, and tie a cloth over the neck. Use milk to the stripping pan and baste often. Bake two or three hours. Another way: Put into the fish as for frying, taking out the back-bone and sailing; butter a dripping pan or tin plate and lay the fish in with the open side up, and bake well until it is nicely brown. When done take it out and spread with butter, pour over some nice sweet cream if you have not the cream use more butter and moister with water. Let it stand a few minutes over a kettle of hot water.

THERE are many advantages that follow the system of regular hours upon the farm, and having their number limited to a fair requirement. The farmer and his sons are more vigorous and can take hold of work with force and strength. They have sufficient rest and arise enthusiasting recuperated and ready to work in earnest. Again, is the employment of help there is a better feeling existing between the farmer and his men. The latter, knowing they have an employer who looks after their welfare as well as his own, are willing and ready to please him, and in case of necessity to rush work with extra strength for a time. The matter of interesting men in the work of the employer is of wonderful importance, and nothing will destroy interest so quickly as to make machines of men from daylight to dark.—Rural New Yorker.

BEEF STEAK.—First, care should be taken that the meat be not punctured or broken, certainly not bruised or pounded; as a good, judiciously-chosen steak is always tender without that. English cooks are so particular on this point that they never allow a fork to be used, but have steak-tongs for turning. Now that we have these nice broilers of galvanized wire, that shut like the covers of a book, the steak can easily be turned without the use of any other utensils. The steak should be placed over a clear, bright fire, not too hot, and frequently turned in order to cook it evenly and thoroughly; but it should not be overcooked, as much is thus lost in flavor. No salt should be put upon the steak while on the fire; but the moment it is withdrawn it should be placed upon a hot dish; then butter and salt on both sides, pressing a little with the point of the knife as you do so, and you will have a delicious, juicy steak, with little, if any, waste.—Exchange.

IOWA.—Having seen the appeal for a substitute for oxpeas in winter-kill hurst, a Springfield lady makes the following suggestions: "Use rings. What kind? Well, rag rugs, if you please. I once knew a lady who used to braid them, and warm and nice they were. The manufacture of them required time, patience and strength, but they last for years. This is the way she did. She took old woolens, perhaps pantaloons (new just as good), cut in strips about three-quarters of an inch in width, and made a three-strand braid. This finished, or even commenced, she sewed together flat, forming a round mat or an oblong mat, large or small, as the case might require. Bright dress-braids work in nicely, and if care is taken in arranging colors it is not difficult to make a hands-me-rug. Of course these can be shaken every day. A number of small mats are easily shaken, will nearly cover a floor, and, as the edges do not ruff up and turn over easily, they are not in the way. In order to make them very flat they should be pressed with a tailor's goose or some heavy iron."—Scribner's Monthly.

The Influence of Food on Animals.

DISTILLERY SLOP is not necessarily an unhealthy food for stock. It is the manner in which it is fed that results in diseasing the animal, rendering its flesh and milk, in many cases, totally unfit for food.

The reason of this is the slop is fed hot, and in rather quantities; that is, with not a sufficient quantity of other food. The consequence is, the animals' systems become heated, and the blood is rendered impure, and if the slop is fed long enough, they die loathsome and disgusting objects.

But animals put into distillery stables for fattening do not remain long enough for this—three or four months being sufficient for rendering them fat. Even with the best of care, however, distillery-mash and other such sloppy food render the flesh of animals so fed soft and more fit for putrefy than animals fed on hard grain.

The milk of cows especially is peculiarly liable to be influenced by the food given; and the accounts of animals are so influenced, the numberless cases of poisoning in New York and other large cities from the use of swill-milk is sufficient evidence. If other testimony be wanted, the fearful stench arising from the yards in the outskirts of Chicago, where this swill is fed to milch cows, would probably be convincing. Food does influence the quality of the flesh of the animal consuming it. The beef of cattle fattened upon upland prairie pastures is well known for its juicy richness and superior excellence; the grouse of Pennsylvania require a peculiar flavor in their food, from the mountain berries consumed, and the canvas back ducks of the Chesapeake owe their delicacy to the wild celery abundant in those waters, and upon which those birds feed. So some portions of the West, among them the sandy marshes of the Grand Calumet, which contain wild celery, are favorite resources of this bird. The diseased livers of geese are produced by a peculiar confinement and food. From these the celebrated Strasburg pies are made.

Even the bones of animals, and particularly birds, are influenced by the coloring matter of substances consumed. Oats, wheat, barley and rye form muscle largely. Corn forms muscle in a less degree, but fattens admirably fast. This is why oats should form a principal part of the food of horses used for fast work.

Some years since F. Papillon, a French scientist, experimented on pigeons and rats, with the view of finding the immediate modification of the bones of animals when fed. Phosphate of strontia, phosphate of alumina and phosphate of magnesia were mixed with food and given them. These experiments were continued for several months, without the animals and birds so treated being sensibly affected, so far as their external condition was concerned. When killed, however, and their bones submitted to analysis they gave the following results, showing in how they had undergone changes in the minerals named:

Ash of bones of pigeons, in 100 parts, gave: Lime, 46.25; strontia, 8.45; phosphoric acid, 41.30; magnesia, 1.80; residue, 1.10; total, 99.90.

The bones of a rat, fed as here before described, and submitted to analysis, in the parts, gave: Alumina, 6.85; lime, 41.10. The bones, of another rat, to which phosphate of magnesia had been given, gave, in 100 parts: Magnesia, 3.58; lime, 46.15.

This we see that animals are very sensibly affected by the food given. Acorns, it is well known, will render the flesh of the hogs fed upon them soft and oily. Cows will give back in their milk the odor of the food eaten. And so milk and butter will readily take up any which they may be subjected. Hence the care necessary, not only in feeding animals healthful and clean food, but especially that animals kept for their milk be cleanly and properly fed and stabled.—Farm and Garden, in Chicago Tribune.

Saving Straw for Fodder.

IF cereal grain be harvested at the proper period and it will be cured and it should be, the crop will make a large quantity of excellent fodder. But in many instances straw is rendered unfit for fodder by being allowed to bleach in the rain, dews and sunshine. The tactful straw becomes tinged with a brownish color that it has lost its albumen or gluten and much of its nutriment. Besides, it is so stiff all around them as far as the roots extend, to encumbrance, to cut—to all the dead wood and, about the second season, when the tree has got a good start to commence grafting. We take three scions to a cion a new top, beginning with the highest limbs and working down. In removing the vigor of the tree almost any kind of manure or compost is available. Wood-ashes is one of the best fertilizers. Old bones, well buried, will pay a large interest on their cost. The earliest of the privy vault and the cesspool, composted, are exceedingly valuable in renovating these old trees. In stirring the soil, care should be taken not to break the roots with the plow. We attach great importance to the stirring of the soil and to the fertilizing, in the process of regeneration.—American Agriculturist.

Newly-Planted Trees.

IT may not do any good to be constantly scolding people for their ignorance or neglect, but I cannot help doing so occasionally, and especially when I see the stupidity exhibited in the management of newly-planted trees. In the suburbs of any of our large cities or villages it is a common practice to set out groups and single specimens of evergreen and deciduous trees and shrubs for ornament, either in the front ground as a social thing, the grass being permitted to grow close up to the stems the first season, and perhaps longer. The result, as every man of practical knows, is a stunted growth of the shrubs and trees, if they are not killed outright. If the planting was done in the fall the chances are that some grasped gardener or other person will advise the owner to send down with eye or whisk, and the following season a crop of this grain may be seen growing in front of elegant country or suburban residences, smothering the smaller shrubs and drawing the last drop of moisture from the soil. I saw several instances of this injurious and absurd practice in a fine suburban village not many miles from New York city.

One might suppose that common sense would teach a man better than to allow grass, weeds, or grain of any kind to grow near the roots of trees for the first season at least, when they require all the moisture likely to fall in rains to sustain life, and even this is seldom sufficient to insure a vigorous growth unless carefully retained by the free use of some kind of mulch on the surface about their stems. Altogether too much stress cannot be laid upon this matter, as completely as possible, and to stay done by every particle of the weed has rotted. The top was full of sap, and when it was cut off so rapidly that the roots attached to it could not get a chance to rally. The growth of this late planted corner of the garden has been much extraordinary and we have small doubt it was due to those decaying suckers.

Notwithstanding the very severe winter these weeds had lived undisputed in the open ground and were ready to grow with the opening of spring, having started in ball after all the garden vegetables had been gathered. I do not recommend growing scallows for spring dressing. Possibly a little rye sown on garden or corn and potato ground would answer every purpose and be less objectionable in many respects.—Rural New Yorker.

Killing Weeds.

IT is a great mistake to cut off the tops of thistles, quack and other weeds whose roots are tenacious of life. Frequently this is done in order to mow the whole under more effectually, but a jointer and chain to drag the weeds down will generally effect the object. When cut off and under the more top-tree is attached to the roots the better the latter find it to start.

When we transplant garden vegetables we thin the tops severely to insure life, and for a converse reason we should not do this with weeds. This spring we were ashamed to say some mullens got a rank growth in a corner of the garden before it was plowed. The first thought was to move the seed, in order to plow it under, but a moment's reflection gave us a better plan than this. We turned the whole mullen as completely as possible, and to-day (June 15) every particle of the weed has rotted. The top was full of sap, and when cut off so rapidly that the roots attached to it could not get a chance to rally. The growth of this late planted corner of the garden has been much extraordinary and we have small doubt it was due to those decaying suckers.

Notwithstanding the very severe winter these weeds had lived undisputed in the open ground and were ready to grow with the opening of spring, having started in ball after all the garden vegetables had been gathered. I do not recommend growing scallows for spring dressing. Possibly a little rye sown on garden or corn and potato ground would answer every purpose and be less objectionable in many respects.—Rural New Yorker.

For Young Readers.

FOURTH MAY.

BY ROSA CRAWSHAW.

THE cannon boomed,
The great guns screeched, and everywhere
Bright banners floated on the air,
Yet, spite the din,
A merry voice came rippling in Through a cozy
"Ise habin' Fourth-um-Jy!"

I turned to see
A tiny maiden lilliput and fair,
With starry streamers in her hair;
Her fingers soft
Torpedoes suspending right and left—
Her constant cry,
"Ise habin' Fourth-um-Jy!"

I could but smile
To see this tiny patriot stand
So proudly for her native land.
"All hail," I said;
"My pretty little cracker-maid,
Pray tell me why
"You're habin' Fourth-um-Jy!"

"Oh! yes," she cried,
"Bad peoples way across the sea,
They tried to make us mind. Not we!
So one day
We 'pped 'em, and they reunited away;
And this is why
Ise habin' Fourth-um-Jy!"

The loyal maid
Here snapped torpedoes in such glee
That I was fain to run and flee,
Yet heard her say:
"Ise glad they's 'pped and run away;
Cause this is why
Ise habin' Fourth-um-Jy!"

—N. Y. Independent.

WHAT MYRTLE LEARNED BY THE FOUNTAIN.

"ALWAYS filling ones pitcher and always dusting it empty—that seems to be all there is left of life."

Myrtle Austen set her pitcher down with a "bang" that would have broken its heart if the soft green grass had not held up tender hands to save it. In a moment Myrtle was ashamed of her impatient temper, yet as she picked up the pitcher with one hand she brushed away the hot tears with the other, and stood listening to the soft gurgle of the water, and feeling a keener part in the summer day than she had for many days.

"I will learn it if I can," she said, "and if I will try to tell you something about it.

The climate being very warm the people have but little out of doors, and during the most tents are pitched; every one wears his or her prettiest dresses, and, as all Eastern people are fond of bright colors, the scene is a very gay one.

During this festival everything betokens mirth and enjoyment. The cymbals and lutes are heard from morning till night, the story-tellers recount their most beautiful tales, and the dancing-girls dance for hours at a time. Then, on the night comes, and the moonlight covers everything like a silver cloud, the people stretch themselves on their soft carpets and listen to the songs of the nightingales and soft serenades on the women's lutes.

In some parts of Turkey are large fields of roses cultivated, from which the Turks make the famous "attar of roses," which is so fragrant that a vessel of sprinkling it will perfume a whole house for weeks. They visit from 80 to 87 each day, to gather the leaves, which are gathered in the early morning, when the dew is on them, and they are of all sizes, from the tiny rose-bud to the full-blown flower. Each one is gathered by hand with the greatest care, and then carried in large baskets to the distilleries, which, in the South, is called a panymessio, the immense cubbage rose, of all shades of color, beginning with yellow, pink, red, and almost black. The rose of Damascus, or damask rose, is the one first brought to this country, and is a very deep red, with a strong perfume. Then there are the Egyptian sea-roses, tea-roses, rock-roses, which grow on the rocky places, moss-roses, another flower can live, and the Alpine-rose, growing by the eternal snow-drifts of the Alps.

Roses are hardy plants and will live a long time if properly cared for. There is a rose-tree in Germany which is known to be 800 years old, and it is still blossoming.

We all know and love the pretty moss-rose, with its mossy green stem and leaves, in such a shy, modest air, and the tea-rose, which, in the South and West, grows on large trees. The native brier, so common in Arkansas, one which grew to be over seven feet high, and would bear as many as 500 blossoms at once.

But there is one rose more curious than all the others—the Rose of Jericho. It has another name which botanists call it, that is, Anastatica, a Greek word, meaning resurrection; and the Arabs call it the symbol of immortality, because it comes to life again after it has seemed to be dead. It lives in the hot sands of the Desert of Sahara, and when the dry season comes it withers, falls to leaves, and rises in the form like little fans, into a tight ball, and the winds of the desert carry it until it reaches moist soil, and then, we are told, it drops, takes root, and its leaves become green, and its blossoms open, a delicate pink.

There is a flower in Mexico, known as the Resurrection Flower, which is very much the same. It may be carried about in your pocket for a year and when you put it into a saucer of water, in a few hours will blossom out as bright and fresh as if it had just come out of the garden.

When the Romans conquered Britain, more than 1,800 years ago, they introduced many curious customs into that country. Among others, that of carving the figure of a rose on the ceiling of their banqueting-hall, or suspending a natural rose over the dining-table, with the Latin motto, "Sub rosa," written above it, to indicate that whatever was said there among friends, or under the rose—for that was the meaning of the words—should not be repeated, the white rose being the symbol of silence.

The rose is the national emblem of England, as the thistle is of Scotland, and the shamrock, or clover, of Ireland. Everyone who has studied history knows of the Wars of the Roses in England, when the two rival families of York and Lancaster fought for the English crown, the house of York having for its badge the white rose and the house of Lancaster the red.

Many of my young readers have heard of the language of flowers. In which people can hold conversations with each other; for instance: A white rose is the emblem of silence; a withered rose of any color means "Let us forget," and a yellow rose, "Despair," and so on. A rose handed to a person means one thing when held upright, another when its position is reversed. With its thorns it has a certain meaning, ribbon them with another. Among these Eastern people—the Persians, Turks and Hindoos—this language of flowers is so perfectly understood that, by means of a bunch of their favorite roses, long conversations may be carried on without a word being spoken. This suits these people, who do not like to talk much, but who are very poetical, as a very room air, dreamy and poetic race.—Lily De Souza Wood, in St. Nicholas.

Lawn Dresses, Etc.

DUE REGARD to the comfort of the fashionable lawn, of solid color, cycle rostumes to be worn both in the house and street on summer days in the country. Pretty dresses these long ones are, made in very pretty fashions for $15. They are of plain blue or lavender, with belted basque, deep apron with such ends or puffs behind, and skirts of walking length trimmed with three gathered flounces edged with Italian Valenciennes. More elaborate costumes are of sprigged lawn, with imitation Mattress lace for trimming, and with many rows of tiniest insertion in the basque and apron. The all-around linen gowns that wear well and do not fade are chosen in striped and barred patterns —more lines of tone, flaky brown or gray on white. Those with black stripes and bars are very popular, and are cultivated by knots of ossified red ribbon on the belt, throat and cuffs. The best qualities of linen lawn cost forty cents a yard, while the mixtures with a little cotton in them are nearly five cents.

Suits of American percale are also shown in the furnishing houses. They are made of striped or plaid cambric, and also of common prints in black, blue or brown lines on white grounds, of better still, with dark grounds figured with white. Many large sizes in shirts of simple shape, simply trimmed with a ruffle or frill edged or banded with white. The jacket suits for children are made of percale, and dressed like the English walking jacket, to be worn with a cheesie Russe. They cost from $3 to $5.

Very pretty suits of white Victoria lawn are made with jackets and long round skirts, trimmed with silver pleatings headed by Hamburg embroidery. These cost $12 each; without embroidery, and of poorer quality, they may be had for $7. Several skirts of colored cambric to wear with dressing sacques are prettily trimmed with fanciful pleating in points and with a ruffle of the same, and the vest was recognized as Charles Miner, his counsel.

"I got stuck on the counter," said Shay, "when I saw Mr. Miner, but told him I would be on deck immediately if he would get out of the way. Lowered with oil and smoke I rushed out, and just as I got to the swing-door my time to wipe my hands, Mr. Miner seized me by both hands and told me that the case would be decided in my favor, and that all I had to do was to draw the money. You should have seen Mr. Miner's count of him at my way that wrench and my old cap upon ground on the deck was a caution. I couldn't say anything, so I coaxed myself on the lamp-wicks and looked at Mr. Miner."

The result was that Mr. Shay went to Philadelphia with Mr. Miner, found out that he was in reality a millionaire, properly vested in over $1,000,000 basing in the house of the Knights Templars who managed his case, and got in dispositions as a witness.

Returning, Mr. Shay stopped at Toledo a day or two and yesterday arrived in this city. In the afternoon he visited the office of Inspectors Cook & Saunders, carrying under his arm his famous cap, which is handsomely mounted on a silk satin back ground, and surrounded with a massive rosewood and gold frame. After receiving their congratulations and promises to send him their photographs he started to see the city.

Happily Mr. Shay's good fortune does not end here, as he expected to be married on or about the 4th of July to a young lady, the daughter of a former who lives near Dundee, and who, when he went to Toledo to work last spring, secured employment as Toledo engineer they have been working and wooing in basic fly, little caring and much less expecting that their wedding-day would put them stunned as they are.—Detroit Free Press.

Happy Meeting After a Separation of Fourteen Years.

IN 1861 Mr. A. G. Bailey resided in an interior county of this State with his wife and daughter, then quite a child. Early in the war he enlisted in the army, and, often leaving his wife destitute, had a long time in the hospital. Amid the exigencies of war communication was cut off between him and his family and in the meantime circumstances compelled their removal. Several other removals took place subsequently and the intelligence of his family lost all track of each other. After the war was over Mr. Bailey sought his family in every direction but could learn no tidings of them, and they mourned him as dead. After abandoning the search for them he removed to Detroit, where he has practiced law ever since. Having business in St. Louis, he arrived in this city a day or two ago, and yesterday in looking over the directory he found the name of a lady bleached with that of his long-lost wife. Scarcely daring to hope that it was the one he sought, he started for the address indicated, and when near the house encountered a woman of the family whom he recognized and who recognized him, and in a few minutes the entire house was enacted one of the most touching scenes that perhaps ever took place in St. Louis. There was no Enoch Arden business about it, either, no third person having stepped in between the devoted husband and wife this happily reunited after such a long and sorrowful separation. Whether he will remain with his family here or they return with him to his home in Oregon we have not learned, but it is to be hoped that whatever their lot is can the fulfillment of their future may atone for the miseries of their past life.—St. Louis Republican, July 9.

Ringing for the Water-Boy.

A COOM story is told of a verdant one who was a passenger in a railroad express train and her name shall be

"Where's that Cry boy with the water-can?" he quoted of his next neighbor.

"If he has gone forward in the baggage-car, I suppose," was the reply.

"Well, does a pose I sis git him back here agin?"

"Certainly," said the other, "you have only to ring for him," and he nodded toward the bell-like that ran above their heads.

So sooner said than done. Before any one could prevent it Rushens had seized the line and given it a tremendous tug. The consequences were at once obvious; three shrill whistles were heard, half a dozen brakemen ran to their posts and the train came to a stand-still with a suddenness that startled half the passengers with terrific force and speed every man at a window to insist it and look out to see what was the matter.

In a few minutes the conductor, red and angry, came bounding into the car to know who pulled that bell-rope.

"Here, mister, this way; I'm the man," shouted the offender, drawing all eyes upon him.

"You? said the conductor; "and what in the name of fate?"

"Cos I wanted some water."

"Wanted some water?"

"Certain; I wanted the water-boy, and my mother him in the seat said I'd better ring for him, so we do at the hotel, an' so I yanked the bell. Will he be along soon? I'm feeling sick or wounded, bay a thing, and I'd like to get a drink before I stoppin for ever."

The shout of laughter that greeted this honest confession was too much for the conductor, and he had to wait till he got his train under way again before he explained the mystery of the "bell-rope" to his verdant customer.—Boston Courier.

The Modern Explanation of Instinct.

HOW THE insect comes by this impulse to do, is one of those seemingly simple questions which, in reality, includes the whole life of the insect, and every thing regarding such new faculty as it makes its appearance in the series, and demands a place in the general system of the insect universal. The term instinct is not to be taken, in its popular sense, as referring to the exercise of judgment by animals in distinction to those performed by man, but must be limited to those automatic actions which are performed without teachings or individual experience. Now this impulse, or instinct, as exemplified in the bee, must, as was formerly supposed, have been directly impressed upon the nervous organization at the creation of the first bee and transmitted by each successive generation, or, as contended by Herbert Spencer and others, the race must have become gradually endowed with it, by a constant repetition of the bodily acts which each individual bee of successive generations would be well to

Note.—Mark carefully—For Full Catalogue, N. Y.

—However aghast some "fine ladies" may regard the idea of working in the garden I consider it one of the most wholesome means of exercise within their reach. Wholesome especially because we have an object—and an interesting one in taking this exercise—which is the growth of flowers and plants. Before commencing work in the garden put on a pair of worsted-knitter gloves, a broad brimmed sun hat and a pair of good stout boots; if not stout then wear a pair of thin gum over-shoes. The annoyance of wet feet after rain will not produce a "cold." Don't be afraid that the labor will hurt you, even if you have become very tired; on the contrary, it will strengthen you, give you rosy cheeks, and may add years to your life. Those who are going to do not spend two weeks at least at work in the garden, and I tell you that to me there is nothing so agreeable, I may say tantalizing; and this feeling is doubtless what I see the fine flowers and good vegetables growing and put upon the table from my own humble soil.—Margaret, in Germantown Telegraph.

—Mush Waffle—One quart of flour, one pint of cornmeal mush, two eggs, a tablespoonful of butter and a little salt. Make a thin batter with sweet milk. Separate the eggs as for rice waffles; it makes them lighter.

SILVER TIPPED SHOES — All the advertisements in SCRIBNER, except those of Dr. Scott's Electric Corset, contain fresh matter each month. Look for the Silver Tips. SILVER TIPS, 743 Broadway, New York.

GABLE SCREW WIRE — Wire for every purpose. Send for Catalogue. GABLE SCREW WIRE WORKS, Cincinnati, O.

40 Bristol Cards, Name, with name, 20c., post paid. 40 Gilt Edge Cards, Name, with name, 20c., post paid. CLINTON BROS., Clintonville, Conn.

$10 PER DAY. Agents wanted everywhere. Business new and honorable. Particulars free. P. O. VICKERY, Augusta, Maine.

OPIUM & MORPHINE habit cured; pamphlet free. DR. J. C. HOFFMAN, La Porte, Indiana.

$5 to $20 per day at home. Samples worth $5 free. Address STINSON & CO., Portland, Maine.

$200 Reward for any case of Dyspepsia, Indigestion or Sick Headache that Ayer's Cathartic Pills will not cure. Sold by all druggists. Ayer's Pills are the best.

NEW NOVELTIES for Agents. Address Novelty Co., 1 Barclay St., New York.

$20 A DAY. HOW TO MAKE IT. Sample and terms free. Address, with stamp, C. E. JONES & CO., Cincinnati, Ohio.

$3 SAMPLE Free and big money to agents. Address THE UNION PUB. CO., Newark, N.J.

1,000 $10,000 $1,000 Dollars Reward for any case of Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Biliousness or Costiveness we cannot cure with West's Vegetable Liver Pills, when the directions are strictly complied with. They are purely vegetable, and never fail to give satisfaction. Sugar coated; 40 in a vial; price, 25 cents. Sold by druggists. Beware of counterfeits and worthless imitations. Ask for West's and take no other. Manufactured only by H. WEST & CO., Chemists, New Orleans.

$250 A MONTH—Agents wanted everywhere. Business honorable. Particulars free. Address, with stamp, SECOR & CO., Toledo, Ohio.

$30 PER WEEK. Salary and Expenses. Circular Free. Address, with stamp, JOHNSON & CO., Boston, Mass.

THE WEEKLY SUN, Lowest Price, Best Paper. Now Issues, Serial Tales, Sketches, Poems, Miscellany, Fresh News up to Hour of Publication. Address THE SUN, New York.

FLORIDA. The Florida Agricultural, Commercial, Educational and Home Journal. Conservative—truthful—up to date. Address EDITOR FLORIDA, Jacksonville, Fla.

AGENTS WANTED for Lovell's Cyclopedia of Useful Information. Sells rapidly. Big commissions. Address JOHN LOVELL & SON, 14 to 24 Vesey St., New York.

FOR SALE. Unique Suburban Lots at Woodside, Long Island, 10 minutes from Hunter's Point. Address, with stamp, WOODSIDE, Box 1, Hunter's Point, L. I.

STOP HERE Centennial Exposition of Mechanical Movements. Models, Inventions, Novelties, Manufactures, Patents, Trade-Marks, Copyrights, Designs, Labels, Prints, Publications, Etc. Address, with stamp, CENTENNIAL EXPOSITION, Philadelphia, Pa.

$10 to $500 invested in Wall St. stocks often makes a fortune in a few months. Book sent free. Address BAXTER & CO., Bankers, 72 Broadway, N. Y.

SOMETHING FOR YOU, Sells at sight. Sample free. Address, with stamp, SOMETHING CO., 1 Barclay St., New York.

AGENTS Make and furnish to customers the Patent Rubber Key Check. Sells on sight, and is indispensable to every family. Sample, with price-list, sent for 25 cents. Address, with stamp, KEY CHECK CO., Box 1, Hunter's Point, L. I.

AGENTS WANTED for the LIFE OF GARFIELD. Over 200 Pictures. Price low. Terms liberal. Address, with stamp, HUBBARD BROS., Publishers, Philadelphia, Pa.

Agents Wanted for a New Book. SUCCESS IN BUSINESS. HOW TO MAKE MONEY. Address, with stamp, HUBBARD BROS., Publishers, Philadelphia, Pa.

Agents Wanted for the Centennial History of the United States. Agents are making from $50 to $100 per week. Address, with stamp, HUBBARD BROS., Publishers, Philadelphia, Pa.

Agents Wanted for the Life of Garfield. SUCCESS IN BUSINESS. HOW TO MAKE MONEY. Address, with stamp, HUBBARD BROS., Publishers, Philadelphia, Pa.

Prof. D. Meeker's Painless Opium Cure! The only reliable remedy. Send for circular. Office, 1215 Arch St., Philadelphia, Pa.

10 DOLLARS PER DAY. AGENTS WANTED in all parts of the country. Address Johnson, Clark & Co., Boston, Mass.; Cincinnati, O.; Pittsburgh, Pa.; Chicago, Ill.; or St. Louis, Mo.

TEAS.—The cheapest in the world—Importers, 31 and 33 Vesey St., cor. Church. Largest Company in America—simple secret—drawing every body's trade. Agents wanted everywhere. Greatest inducements ever offered. Don't waste time—send for circular. Address, P. O. Box 289, NEW YORK TEA CO.

SEA FOAM — E. SMITH & CO., Plaster Cutters, Brackets, Mouldings, PLASTER ORNAMENTS, 183 & 185 STATE ST., cor. Pacific Street, BROOKLYN, N. Y. CHICAGO, ILL.

ELASTIC STOCKINGS. Elastic Trusses, Shoulder Braces, Suspensories, Abdominal Supporters, Crutches, Shampooing Bags, Bed Pans, Urinals, Air Cushions, Rubber Clothing, Medicated Vapor Baths, Electric Batteries, Magnetic Goods, Pessaries, Rubber Goods of every description. Send for Illustrated Catalogue. MARSH BROTHERS, 308 North Eighth St., Philadelphia, Pa.

PLASTER ORNAMENTS. Send for Illustrated Catalogue. E. T. HARRIMAN, Manufacturer, Trenton, N. J.

$10 to $25 per day. Send for Illustrated Catalogue. J. H. BUTTON'S Steel Rubber Stamps, Rider, Mass.

1,000 $10,000 $1,000 Dollars Reward for any case of Dyspepsia, Indigestion or Costiveness we cannot cure with West's Vegetable Liver Pills, when the directions are strictly complied with. They are purely vegetable, and never fail to give satisfaction. Sugar coated; 40 in a vial; price, 25 cents. Sold by druggists. Beware of counterfeits and worthless imitations. Ask for West's and take no other. Manufactured only by H. WEST & CO., Chemists, New Orleans.

$25 PER DAY Commissions or $300 a month and expenses paid agents to introduce our Staple Goods to dealers. Address, with stamp, H. Webber & Co., Marshall, Mich.

FOR SALE OR EXCHANGE. Address, with stamp, Box 1, Hunter's Point, L. I.

ALMOST every newspaper man in America has transacted more or less business with Geo. P. Rowell & Co., Advertising Agents, of New York, and to say that they are fair in every case received any unfair or dishonest treatment at their hands.—Gideon (Ill.) Gazette.

—Mr. Mark says: "For Full Catalogue, N. Y."

—Rejected applicants, Tarrant's Effervescent Seltzer Aperient. Sold by druggists. Depot, 278 Greenwich St., N. Y.

Best Paint in the World. Every Man His Own Painter. ANY SHADE from PURE WHITE to DEEP BLACK. Sold by Druggists and Dealers in Paints. Send for Circular and Price List. Manufactured only by the Patentees, THE SHERWIN-WILLIAMS CO., 160 Lake St., Chicago, Ill.

MERCHANT'S GARCLING OIL — Large Size, 50 cents. Small size for family use, 25 cents. Manufactured by J. F. HUDNUT, Secretary.

MERCHANT'S CARCLING OIL — In the Standard Size, 50 cents. Small size for family use, 25 cents. Manufactured by J. F. HUDNUT, Secretary.

EVERYBODY BUYS IT! AGENTS Wanted. Agents make $75 in three days. ENTIRELY NEW. Nothing like it being sold. Sells at sight. The best selling article ever offered to Male and Female Agents. Address, with stamp, HOOD & JOSEPH, INDIANAPOLIS, IND.

SENT FREE. A book showing the superiority of WALLST. and how any one may operate successfully with a $500 or $1,000. Circulars free. WORTHINGTON & CO., Bankers and Brokers, 2 Wall St., New York.

Cash Salaries PAID TO AGENTS selling our Staple Goods to Dealers. Permanent Situations. $20 Per Week Salary and Expenses PAID. Particulars FREE. STANDARD SILVERWARE CO., Bridgeport, Conn.; Indianapolis, Ind.; Kansas City, Mo.

LIVINGSTONE'S LIFE AND EXPLORATIONS. Agents Wanted. Sales Unprecedented. Extraordinary inducements. Address, with stamp, HUBBARD BROS., Publishers, Philadelphia, Pa.

BURR MILLS FOR CORN, FLOUR & FEED. EDWARD HARRISON, New Haven, Conn.

MOODY AND SANKEY. Witness Extra No. 2, 50c. now ready. Contains Life of Moody, Life of Sankey, Sermons, Songs, Anecdotes, Incidents, Etc. Agents wanted. Send for circular. Address WITNESS, 162 Nassau St., New York.

NEW YORK DAILY WITNESS, $3 per year. Daily, Tri-Weekly, Weekly. Address WITNESS, 162 Nassau St., New York.

THE BEST in the World. WONDERFUL Economy, Simplicity and Durability. NO RISK. Guaranteed. Send for Circular. EVERYBODY Praises It. SELLS like HOT CAKES. Exclusive Territory given. Address, with stamp, E. T. GAYETZ & CO., 1 Barclay St., New York.

ELASTIC TRUSS. No. 663 Broadway, N. Y. ELASTIC STOCKINGS, Abdominal Supporters, Shoulder Braces, Crutches, Suspensory Bandages, Elastic Belts, Pessaries, Shampooing Bags, Bed Pans, Urinals, Air Cushions, Rubber Clothing, Medicated Vapor Baths, Electric Batteries, Magnetic Goods, Rubber Goods of every description. Send for Illustrated Catalogue. MARSH BROTHERS, 308 North Eighth St., Philadelphia, Pa.

BOOK AGENTS Wanted for the "Complete Medical Adviser." The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser in Plain English; 1,000 Pages and 300 Illustrations. Price only $1.50. Thousands are using it and doing well. Every man, woman and child wants it. Every one who buys it is delighted with it. Every one who reads it praises it. Endorsed by the Medical Profession, Clergymen, Editors, and all who have used it. Agents are meeting with unparalleled success. Terms free. Outfit, 50 cents. Extra inducements to canvassers. Don't delay, but send at once, or waste valuable time. Address, with stamp, A. L. BANCROFT & CO., 130 Post St., San Francisco, Cal.

Note.—Mark carefully—For Full Catalogue, N. Y.

DON'T NEGLECT YOUR TEETH. VAN BUSKIRK'S FRAGRANT SOZODONT. For Preserving and Beautifying the TEETH AND INVIGORATES AND HARDENS THE GUMS! It imparts a delightfully refreshing taste and feeling to the mouth, removing all TARTAR and SCURF from the teeth, completely arresting the progress of decay, and substituting such parts as have become black by decay. IMPURE BREATH caused by Bad Teeth, Tobacco, Spirits, or Catarrh, is neutralized by the daily use of SOZODONT. It is as harmless as water. Sold by Druggists and Dealers in Fancy Goods. One bottle will last six months.

THE LARGEST Manufactory of Threshing Machines in the United States. Over 3,000 made and sold annually. J. I. CASE & CO., RACINE, WISCONSIN, MANUFACTURERS OF IMPROVED THRESHING MACHINES, PORTABLE THRESHING ENGINES. Of one cow only. 40 Mothers wanted, call on Local Agents in all towns in the West, and for particulars, address, with stamp, Dr. J. H. McLEAN, St. Louis, Mo. Consultation free. Office hours, 9 to 5. Diseases of Women a specialty. Send for book.

VINEGAR BITTERS. PURELY VEGETABLE. FREE FROM ALCOHOL. H. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA VINEGAR BITTERS.

REVERSE YOUR PLAN! Agents Wanted for the most wonderful Reversible Pictorial Bible ever published. Contains 1,000 Pictures, Maps, Concordance, Dictionary, Commentary, Etc. Printed in Plain and Beautiful Type. Bound in Elegant Styles. Sells at sight. Agents are making from $50 to $100 per week. Address, with stamp, HUBBARD BROS., Publishers, Philadelphia, Pa.

OPEN THE SEWERS! Agents Wanted for the Great Work of Exploration and Adventure in the Sewers of New York. Unprecedented Success. Extraordinary Inducements. Address, with stamp, HUBBARD BROS., Publishers, Philadelphia, Pa.

NICHOLS, SHEPARD & CO.'S "Vibrator" Thresher. The BRILLIANT SUCCESS of the Grain-Saving, Time-Saving THRESHER is so well known that it is unnecessary to say more than that it has become widely known and FULLY ESTABLISHED AS THE LEADING THRESHING MACHINE OF THE WORLD. Illustrated Descriptive Pamphlet, with Testimonials, sent free. Address NICHOLS, SHEPARD & CO., Battle Creek, Mich.

DON'T NEGLECT YOUR TEETH. VAN BUSKIRK'S FRAGRANT SOZODONT. For Preserving and Beautifying the TEETH AND INVIGORATES AND HARDENS THE GUMS! It imparts a delightfully refreshing taste and feeling to the mouth, removing all TARTAR and SCURF from the teeth, completely arresting the progress of decay, and substituting such parts as have become black by decay. IMPURE BREATH caused by Bad Teeth, Tobacco, Spirits, or Catarrh, is neutralized by the daily use of SOZODONT. It is as harmless as water. Sold by Druggists and Dealers in Fancy Goods. One bottle will last six months.

VINEGAR BITTERS. PURELY VEGETABLE. FREE FROM ALCOHOL. H. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA VINEGAR BITTERS.

Dr. H. Walker's California Vinegar Bitters are a purely Vegetable preparation made chiefly from the native herbs found on the lower ranges of the Sierra Nevada mountains of California, the medicinal properties of whose roots and stems are extracted therefrom without the use of Alcohol. The question is almost daily asked "What is the cause of the unparalleled success of VINEGAR BITTERS?" Our answer is, that they contain the cause of disease, and the patient recovers his health. They are the great blood purifier and a life giving principle, a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the system. Never before in the history of the world has a medicine been compounded possessing the remarkable qualities of VINEGAR BITTERS in healing the sick of every disease man is heir to. They are a gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, giving to Corpuscles or Inflammation and relieving Congestive and Inflammatory Diseases.

The properties of DR. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS are Aperient, Diaphoretic, Carminative, Nutritious, Laxative, Diuretic, Sedative, Counter-Irritant, Sud'orific, Alterative and Anti-Bilious.

Grateful Thousands proclaim VINEGAR BITTERS the most wonderful Invigorant that ever sustained the sinking system.

No Person can take these Bitters according to directions, and remain long unwell, provided their bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and vital organs wasted beyond repair.

Conscientious Mahony.

Being called to attend the Court as a witness the other day, I thought it best for the accomodation of my customers to leave the key in the lock of the shop door, as some of my friends in my absence, might possibly want to do some little job of repairing, as had often been the case on other occasions.

On returning we found that some one had availed themselves of the opportunity, but what started me to such a degree as to almost unnerve me, and render me unfit for business for some time to come, was a ten cent fractional currency rebel around a match and laid on the corner of the forge in such a position as to attract the attention of the first one who might enter the shop. Now the query in my mind is, whether that fractional was left there as pay for coal burned, and use of the tools, or to put me to test as to whether I would pocket that amount on finding it without trying to find its owner. If the first was the object, I must acknowledge myself under a large obligation to the generous individual whoever he may be, and wish to say to him, through this card that hereafter whenever he may have a little job to do, if the key is not in the lock or in through a window, or in any other way, only, when he has done his work, not to leave the fractional in such a place that it may be liable to fall into the hands of others than those for whom it was intended

If the second object was that he had in view, I must confess that the temptation was almost greater than I could resist, and I pedaled so far as to ponder the little joker, and have ever since been trying to persuade myself that it had been left there for me. Let me say to him who left the small portion of the rest of all evil, that I would greatly prefer to have it given me in hand (and I may know for a certainty by who did the generous deed) and be allowed to take him by the honest hand and thus acknowledge its receipt.

In conclusion: If that fractional was left as pay for coal, use of tools, etc., to him who left it I render my warmest thanks, that if left to test my honesty, I would say to the tempter, hereafter never leave much temptations in the way of the weak sinner. It has become fashionable that the strongest is liable to be overcome, and in an unguarded moment loses a good name, which is more an to desired than a ten cent fractional.

With respect,

ROBERT MILLER.

Charlevoix, July 17, 1876.

Circuit Court.

Court convened Wednesday morning, Hon. J. G. Ramsdell, Circuit Judge, presiding.

The following named aliens received final naturalization papers: Charles Watkins, John E. Webb, David Shepard, Cyrenius Burley, George Cooper, Samuel G Rogers, Thomas Cuningham, Jr., Thomas Cuningham Jr.

Case of McLean vs. Meech continued to next term of Court, on payment of costs and $10 attorney fee.

Application for an order for Benjamin Rice and others to show cause for non-support of John Rice; order issued Case of Joseph Holland vs. Margaret Holland; decree of divorce granted.

A challenge was made for the array of jurors, on grounds that they were illegally drawn. Challenge sustained, and an order issued to Sheriff to summon a new array.

Healey vs. Nelson; jury trial; J. A. Parkinson for plaintiff, and E. H. Green for defendant. Verdict for plaintiff, $138.

Hillsdale College.—Treasurer Reynolds, of Hillsdale College, has favored us with a prospectus and fine photographic view of the new College buildings being erected on the site of the old one which was destroyed by fire a little more than a year ago. This institution—which ranks among the first educational institutions of the Northwest—seems to have issued from its fiery trial with renewed strength. They are erecting new buildings, which equal in architecture and beauty the University buildings at Ann Arbor. Under the guidance of their new President—Rev. Dr. Dargin, we doubt not it will go on to new successes, and be recognized in future years as the Alma mater of numberless stars in the zenith of literary renown.

☞ President Jocelyn, of Albion College, received the degree of LL. D. from the Indiana Asbury University, his Alma Mater, at its recent commencement.

☞ The number of inmates at the State Prison on June 30 was 742. During the month there were received thirty-nine, discharged sixteen, and one died, William Waterman, who came from Allegan county.

☞ Gen. Francis P. Spinner on the 1st of July laid down the office of Treasurer of the United States, which he has held for the last fourteen years, and with the count of the Treasury funds, now nearly completed, he also retires from its responsibilities. The ability and fidelity with which Gen. Spinner has discharged the duties of his office deserve universal acknowledgement.

☞ There are four saloons in Michigan this year than last by 234.

☞ The Plymouth Congregation lately raised Mr. Beecher's salary from $20,000 to $100,000 per annum.

☞ There was a Democratic convention in Oscelo, Iowa, a few days ago, that took up a collection amounting to $9 to relieve the wants of the grasshopper sufferers out West. Fifteen minutes later, a saloon keeper, whose place of business is near the hall where the convention was held, had time exactly 28 north of business and in less hour the convention had passed resolutions declaring that all the disasters ever befell this country, grasshoppers included, were directly due to Republican mismanagement.

☞ The Grand Rapids Times of the 9th contains the following: A fatal accident occurred at the Hippodrome grounds on Saturday night. After the close of the performances, and when canvasmen were engaged in taking down the immense tent, it became unmanageable, and getting the advantage of those handling it, suddenly fell, carrying with it the large center pole. The pole rendered a man beneath it, breaking both legs and injuring him internally. The injured man was placed in a carriage and conveyed to the Eagle Hotel, on Waterloo street, where he died immediately after arriving. The deceased was about 25 years old owned his home at Oakland on Mackinaw county, and was a resident of New York city.

☞ In other received an ovation at his home at Oakland on Monday evening, and in response to a serenade delivered a short speech. He expressed his thanks for the sympathy that had been extended to him in the hour of his adversity, and declared that his misfortunes had not changed his course in the future. The total loss by the recent disaster are thousand dollars, and but for the generosity of Plymouth church he would have been rendered bankrupt. He has no fears for the future, for the enemies were now without means to pursue him longer. One thing is certain, the popularity of the great preacher has not diminished on account of the grave charges recently preferred against him, and whether these are true or false, he has yet a career of great usefulness before him. The public will forget the past in the hope that Mr. Beecher will fully atone in the future for any wrong he has done in the past.

RAILROAD

Carpenter & Handy

BOYNE FALLS, M.

Dealers in

DRY GOODS,

Groceries,

Provisions,

Hardware,

Crockery,

And in fact every article needed by the people of this region.

OUR GOODS AND PRICES

Speak for Themselves.

We have first class facilities for buying and shall endeavor to sell always low as the lowest.

Call and See Us.

May 14, 1875. 1yr

FOR SALE.

The undersigned offers for sale his farm situated in Charlevoix county, Mich., on the following terms, to wit:

FARMS:

Lots number 6 is nearly ready for cultivation, and will be sold cheap and on easy terms. Lots number 7 is partly improved, and will be sold at a reasonable price.

Lots number 8 is partly improved, and will be sold at a reasonable price.

Lots number 9 is partly improved, and will be sold at a reasonable price.

Lots number

Correspondence Missed.

Home rested to attend the Court as a witness, the other day, I thought it best to fix the accommodation of my customers, to leave the key in the lock of the shop door, so none of my friends in my absence, might possibly want to do some little job of repairing, as had often been the case on other occasions.

On returning we found that some one had availed themselves of our opportunity; but what startled me to such a degree as to almost unnerve me, and confine me still for business for some time to come, was a ten cent fractional currency rolled around a match and laid on the corner of the forge in such a position as to attract the attention of the first one who should enter the shop. Now the query in my mind is, whether that fractional was left there as pay for coal burned, and use of the tools, or in payment to test as to whether I would pocket that amount on finding it without trying to find its owner. If the first was the object I must acknowledge myself under a lasting obligation to the generous individual whoever he may be, and wish to say to him, through this card that hereafter whenever he may have a little job to do, if the key is not in the lock go in through a window, or in any other way, than allow the time like to work not to leave the fractional in such a place that it may be liable to fall into the hands of others than those for whom it was intended.

If the second object was the bait in view, I must confess that the temptation was almost greater than I could resist, and I yielded so far as to conduct the little joker, and have ever since been trying to persuade myself that it had been left there for me. Let me say to him who left the small portion of the root of all evil, that I would greatly prefer to have it given me in hand (and I presume for a suitable job who did the generous deed) and he allowed to take him by the honest hand and thank knowledge to receive.

In conclusion: If this fractional was left as pay for coal, use of tools, etc., to Him who left it I tender my warmest thanks. But if left to test my honesty, I would say to the tempter, hereafter never leave such temptations in the way of the weak sinner. It has become notorious that the strongest is liable to be overcome, and in an unguarded moment once a good name, which is more to be desired than a ten cent fractional.

With respect,

ROBERT MOREY.

Charlevoix, July 16, 1875.

Circuit Court.

Court convened Wednesday morning, Hon. J. G. Russell, Circuit Judge, presiding.

The following named aliens received final naturalization papers: Charles Watkins, John R. Webb, Davis Shepard, Cyrenius Burley, George Cooper, Samuel G Rogers, Thomas Cunningham, Sr., Thomas Cunningham Jr.

Case of McLean ex. Meech continued to next term of Court, on payment of costs and $10 attorney fee.

Application for an order for Benjamin Rice and others to show cause for non-support of Silas Rice; order issued Case of Joseph Holland ex. Margaret Holland; decree of divorce granted.

A challenge was made for the array of jurors, on grounds that they were illegally drawn. Challenge sustained, and an order issued to Sheriff to summon a new array.

Healey ex. Nelson; jury trial; J. A. Parkinson for plaintiff, and H. H. Green for defendant. Verdict for plaintiff, $158.

HILLSDALE COLLEGE.—Treasurer Reynolds, of Hillsdale College, has favored us with a prospectus and fine photographic view of the new College buildings being erected on the site of the old one which was destroyed by fire a little more than a year ago. This institution—which ranks among the first educational institutions of the Northwest—seems to have issued from its fiery trial with renewed strength. They are erecting new buildings which equal in architecture and beauty the University buildings at Ann Arbor. Under the guidance of their new President—Rev. Dr. Dargin, we doubt not it will go on to new successes, and be recognized in future years as the Alma mater of numberless stars in the zenith of literary renown.

☞ President Mosher, of Albion College, received the degree of LL. D. from the Indiana Asbury University, his Alma Mater, at its recent commencement.

☞ The number of inmates at the State Prison on June 30 was 742. During the month there were received thirty-nine, discharged seventeen, and one died, William Waterman, who came from Allegan county.

☞ Gen. Francis E. Spinner on the 1st of July laid down the office of Treasurer of the United States, which he has held for the last fourteen years, and with the count of the Treasury funds, now nearly completed, he also retires from its responsibilities. The ability and fidelity with which Gen. Spinner has discharged the duties of his office deserve universal acknowledgement.

☞ There is now a saloon in Michigan City for every 234 inhabitants.

☞ The Plymouth Congregation lately raised Mr. Beecher's salary from $20,000 to $100,000 per annum.

☞ There was a Democratic convention in Osceola, Iowa, a few days ago, that took up a collection amounting to $3 to relieve the wants of the grasshopper sufferers out West. Fifteen minutes later, a saloon keeper, whose place of business is near the hall where the convention was held, had done exactly $8 worth of business and in half an hour the convention had passed resolutions declaring that all the disasters ever befell this country, grasshoppers included, were directly due to Republican mismanagement.

☞ The Grand Rapids Times of the 9th contains the following: A fatal accident occurred at the Hyperdinne grounds on Saturday night. After the close of the performances, and when canvassmen were engaged in taking down the menagerie tent, it became unmanageable, and getting the windward of those handling it, suddenly fell, carrying with it the large center pole. The pole entailed a man beneath it, breaking both legs and injuring him internally. The injured man was placed in a carriage and conveyed to the Eagle Hotel on Waterloo street, where he died immediately after arriving. The deceased was about 35 years old, named Fisher, and a resident of New York city.

☞ Beecher received an ovation at Plymouth Church on Monday evening, and in response to a reception tendered a short speech. He expressed his thanks for the outpouring that had been extended to him on all occasions of his troubles begun and announced that he would not change his course in the future. The total cash from about seventy-five thousand dollars, and but for the generosity of Plymouth church he would have been involved inextricably. He had no fears for the future, for his enemies were powerless without power to pursue him longer. One thing is certain, the popularity of the great preacher has not diminished on account of the grave charges preferred against him, and warfare thus far has only made him the center of greater enthusiasm before him. The public will forget the past in the hope that Mr. Beecher will fully atone in the future for any wrong he has done in the past.

RAILROAD

Carpenter & Handy

BOYNE FALLS, M.

Dealers in

DRY GOODS,

Groceries.

Provisions.

Hardware.

Crockery.

And in fact every article needed by the people of this section.

OUR GOODS AND PRICES

Speak for Themselves.

We have had close facilities for buying Dull stock, and consequently can sell low for cash or short time.

Call and See Us.

May 15 1875 1-17

FOR SALE.

That desirable village property, with a commodious dwelling house, store and barn, and ware house and cellar, and wharf privilege, situated on Lake Charlevoix, in the village of Charlevoix. Also

FARMS:

That described as lots 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, 11, 12, 13, 14, 15, 16, 17, 18, 19, 20, 21, 22, 23, 24, 25, 26, 27, 28, 29, 30, 31, 32, 33, 34, 35, 36, 37, 38, 39, 40, 41, 42,

THE SENTINEL.

WILLARD A. SMITH, Editor and Proprietor.

CHARLEVOIX, - MICHIGAN.

THE NEWS.

THE German government has ordered that declaration of submission by Catholic clergymen to the new laws shall be kept strictly secret, to secure them from Ultramontane persecution.

LADY FRANKLIN, widow of Sir John Franklin, the Arctic explorer, died in London on the night of the 18th.

ABOUT 12,000 persons assembled in Hyde Park, London, on the night of the 18th and adopted resolutions protesting against the grant of £150,000 to the Prince of Wales for his journey to India.

A SAN SEBASTIAN dispatch of the 18th says the Carlists had begun the bombardment of Puigcerda.

Typographical Union of Washington has, by a vote of 16 to 46, decided not to comply with the demand of employing printers for a reduction of rates for composition.

DARLING, one of Brigham Young's wives, died on the 17th.

The wife of Henry Peden, of Indianapolis, Ind., used kerosene oil to kindle a fire on the 17th, and was fatally burned.

INSURRECTION was received at Washington on the 19th that the St. Louis United States District Court Grand Jury had indicted Chief Clerk Avery, of the Treasury Department, for complicity with St Louis distillers in whisky frauds.

GEN. N. JACKSON, the cashier of Collector of Internal Revenue Rockwer, of the Louisville (Ky.) District, recently poisoned himself. Since his death he has been discovered to be in default in his cash to the extent of about $75,000.

NO THREAT from Messrs. Donaldson and Grinwood, the aeronauts, had been received in Chicago up to the morning of the 19th. A vessel Captain reported having seen something floating in the water which had the appearance of being a lifepreserver and a basket, and another Captain thinks he saw the body of a man in the lake off Grand Haven. The report that Donaldson's balloon was a rotten and poor affair is indignantly denied by the persons to whom it belonged.

A LONDON dispatch of the 19th says the American rifle team had declined not to shoot as a team at Wimbledon.

THE Commissioners to Herzegovina, sent by the Porte to tranquilize affairs, have reported that the whole country is in favor of the insurgents and threatened to kill all who refused to unite with them

WM. H. DUPREE, at North Adams, Mass., recently completed a walk of 500 miles in five days, twenty-three hours and twenty-five minutes.

MR. TRUMBULL WHITE recently stated that three times during the first year of the late civil war in this country Queen Victoria personally interceded herself to prevent war by England and France against the United States.

On his late return from the Indian Territory Prof Marsh, of Yale College, wrote to the President that the supplies furnished to the various Indian tribes were inferior and improperly distributed. He also charged Secretary Delano and Indian Commissioner Smith with being cognizant of these frauds, and that Indian Agent Saville, of the Red Cloud Agency, was wholly unfitted for his position and guilty of the grossest frauds upon the Indians in his charge. This letter was accompanied with samples of the goods furnished The President called on the attention of the department to the letter, and the Commissioner of Indian Affairs straightway came out with a positive denial of the whole charge of fraud and corruption, so far as his own department was concerned, and said the commission appointed to inquire into the condition of affairs at the Red Cloud Agency had completely exonerated the Agent. A New Haven dispatch of the 18th says that notwithstanding the above denial and explanation Prof. Marsh had reiterated his former statements and charges. A special commission appointed to investigate these charges met in New York on the evening of the 19th, consisting of Messrs. Pauli, ner, M. C., of West Virginia; Harris, M. C., of Massachusetts, and Fletcher, M. C., of Missouri. The meeting, which was strictly private, was organized by electing Gov Fletcher Chairman. Prof. Marsh and Indian Commissioner Smith appeared before the body. Mr. Marsh presented his charges in pamphlet form, which had already been printed. The investigation will take place at the Red Cloud Agency

A MADRID paper of the 20th states that Gen. Dorregaray, the Carlist chieftain, had been wounded and had taken refuge in France.

DELEGATES from all the Presbyterian churches in Christendom met in London on the 20th. Many representatives of American and Canadian churches were present.

THE Governor of Bosnia has been ordered to dispatch troops to suppress the Herzegovina insurrection.

ON the 19th the Postmaster-General confirmed to the assignee of the Burlington Life certified checks, amounting to $1,659, deposited by Matthew Draper, a failing commercial broker. Arrangements are said against the breakdown of over forty failing mail contractors

THE Connecticut Supreme Court has decided the local-option feature of the License law constitutional.

PORTSMOUTH, Massachusetts lay murderer, has extracted his dinner confession, and denies his guilt. With regard to the death of Katie Curran, he says he made a false confession that his mother and brother, who had been arrested for the murder and whom he knew to be innocent, might escape.

THE substance of John D. Lee's confession concerning the Mountain Meadows massacre is that the deed was done under orders from the leaders of the Mormon Church; that he took the news of the massacre to Brigham Young, who deplored the transaction and said it would bring disaster on the Mormon people.

THIRTEEN miners and four wagons were captured forty-five miles north of Fort Laramie, en route to the Black Hills, on the 18th, and paroled.

On the 20th the Mississippi jetties had been run out 3,000 feet, and were progressing at the rate of 200 feet daily. Four hundred men are employed.

A PETITION has been filed in a Chicago court for the impeachment of Mayor Johnson. Among the charges made against him is one that he endeavored to control the labors of the police contrary to the law when he was a candidate for reelection.

ALEXANDER AND WILLIAM CALLIS, of the firm which recently suspended, were arrested in London on the 20th, upon the charge of obtaining several million dollars under false pretenses. They were held to bail in the sum of $40,000 each.

A CONVENTION of all American rifle teams, won the American cup at Wimbledon on the 21st.

HEAVY rains and inundations occurred at Leicester, Greenfield, Forest of Dean, Godmanchester and elsewhere in England on the 21st. Crops were destroyed over a large section of the country.

ACCORDING to a Madrid dispatch of the 21st over 4,000 Carlists had been captured since July 1. The Carlists deny that Gen. Dorregaray had been forced to take refuge in France.

HENRI Rochefort, known as the Communal leaders, have been sentenced to imprisonment by a German court for treasonable speeches and writings.

THE Connecticut lower house on the 21st voted—198 to 88—to postpone the bill giving woman the right to vote in a Presidential election indefinitely.

A BOSTON dispatch of the 21st says that Jesse Pomeroy, the boy murderer, had been surprised in a cunning and desperate attempt to cut his way out of Charlestown Jail. His arrangements were made for escape on the evening of that day

THE Democratic campaign in Ohio was opened at Gallipolis on the 23d, Gen. H. B. Payne presiding over the meeting. Speeches were made by Gen. Allen being the principal speakers.

THE Commissioners to Herzegovina, sent by the Porte to tranquilize affairs, have reported that the whole country is in favor of the insurgents and threatened to kill all who refused to unite with them

WM. H. DUPREE, at North Adams, Mass., recently completed a walk of 500 miles in five days, twenty-three hours and twenty-five minutes.

MR. TRUMBULL WHITE recently stated that three times during the first year of the late civil war in this country Queen Victoria personally interceded herself to prevent war by England and France against the United States.

On his late return from the Indian Territory Prof Marsh, of Yale College, wrote to the President that the supplies furnished to the various Indian tribes were inferior and improperly distributed. He also charged Secretary Delano and Indian Commissioner Smith with being cognizant of these frauds, and that Indian Agent Saville, of the Red Cloud Agency, was wholly unfitted for his position and guilty of the grossest frauds upon the Indians in his charge. This letter was accompanied with samples of the goods furnished The President called on the attention of the department to the letter, and the Commissioner of Indian Affairs straightway came out with a positive denial of the whole charge of fraud and corruption, so far as his own department was concerned, and said the commission appointed to inquire into the condition of affairs at the Red Cloud Agency had completely exonerated the Agent. A New Haven dispatch of the 18th says that notwithstanding the above denial and explanation Prof. Marsh had reiterated his former statements and charges. A special commission appointed to investigate these charges met in New York on the evening of the 19th, consisting of Messrs. Paulinger, M. C., of West Virginia; Harris, M. C., of Massachusetts, and Fletcher, M. C., of Missouri. The meeting, which was strictly private, was organized by electing Gov Fletcher Chairman. Prof. Marsh and Indian Commissioner Smith appeared before the body. Mr. Marsh presented his charges in pamphlet form, which had already been printed. The investigation will take place at the Red Cloud Agency

A MADRID paper of the 20th states that Gen. Dorregaray, the Carlist chieftain, had been wounded and had taken refuge in France.

DELEGATES from all the Presbyterian churches in Christendom met in London on the 20th. Many representatives of American and Canadian churches were present.

THE Governor of Bosnia has been ordered to dispatch troops to suppress the Herzegovina insurrection.

ON the 19th the Postmaster-General confirmed to the assignee of the Burlington Life certified checks, amounting to $1,659, deposited by Matthew Draper, a failing commercial broker. Arrangements are said against the breakdown of over forty failing mail contractors

THE Connecticut Supreme Court has decided the local-option feature of the License law constitutional.

PORTSMOUTH, Massachusetts lay murderer, has extracted his dinner confession, and denies his guilt. With regard to the death of Katie Curran, he says he made a

MICHIGAN STATE NEWS.

WHEAT promises to be heavy in kernel and a standard in yield.

THERE are fewer saloons in Michigan this year than last by 234.

ANDREW PERRIN fatally stabbed John Kraft in a Bay City saloon a few mornings ago.

BERNARD KEENAN was drowned at Jackson, a few evenings since, while bathing.

WILFRED MARSHAM fell into a cistern at Bay City, the other night, and was drowned.

DR. SCHMITT, a Jackson tiermun physician, took some laudanum and but for effectual stomach pumping would have died.

SARAH DE GROOT, Tuscola county woman has a hen-like for doing the mowing the sun goes behind a cloud.

PROF. C. K ADAMS' refutation of the charge of plagiarism has satisfied his friends in Michigan.

A LITTLE child of Fred Cole, living opposite East Saginaw, was smothered to death the other morning.

MRS. ANNA BAKER was recently killed at Grand Rapids by a falling cornice pole at Herman's Hippodrome.

THE Board of Council of the Sault Ste. Marie Canal have established the rate for tolls at three cents per ton.

FRED WERNER, of Detroit, recently cut his throat. Matrimonial difficulties are supposed to have induced the deed.

THE Montreal House, at East Tawas, was recently burned to the ground, involving a loss of from $3,000 to $5,000.

GEO. BENNETT, owner of a large farm near Boyne Falls, Charlevoix County, has discovered gold and silver on his premises.

JOHN SCHELL and Charles Eiler, two Monroe fishermen, were recently drowned in the river Raisin by the boat capsizing. It been reported that she had partly recovered her health, and correspondents remarked that the hope of receiving fresh tidings of the ill-fated Arctic expedition in which her husband, Sir John Franklin, was concerned seemed to give her new lease of life. Lady Franklin's maiden name was Griffin, and she was born in London. She was married to Sir John Franklin in 1828. Sir John had served in the British navy under Lord Nelson, and had led two expeditions to the Arctic regions before this last second one, in 1845. In 1834 he was appointed Governor of Van Diemen's Land, and during the six years of his administration his wife aided him in securing the favor of the colonists and natives. A dangerous kind of reptile infested Van Diemen's Land at this time, and Lady Franklin spent a sum of money for each one that was killed. Consequently the species was soon exterminated. In May, 1845, Sir John Franklin sailed from England for the Arctic seas, in command of the ships Erebus and Terror, hoping to discover the northwest passage. The expedition was expected to return in 1847 or at least year Lady Franklin, feeling great anxiety for her husband, began her memorable series of efforts to ascertain his fate. She offered large rewards to any persons who would attempt to discover the missing party. She made an appeal to the American people in 1850 for the organization in the search, to which the late Henry Grinnell responded. She did not give up her hope of rescuing Sir John Franklin and his party until years after the world felt assured of his death. Finally she sent out on her own account the command of Capt. McClintock, who returned in 1859, two years after his departure, having discovered in May of that year at Point Victory, on King William's Island, the record of Franklin's death and the bodies of the last survivors of his party. The record had been left in a cairn, and the paper was dated April 25, 1848. It stated that Sir John died June 11, 1847, and that the two ships were abandoned April 22d, 1848, when the survivors, 105 in number, started for the Great Fish River. McClintock's discovery was hailed. Lady Franklin was offered rewards to persons who would bring her further tidings of her husband and his associates. She journeyed to this country in 1870, and visited the late Capt Hall in San Francisco, who had examined the spot where the Franklin party encamped in 1848. While in San Francisco Arctic expedition was fitting on she gave it substantial encouragement. To the last she entertained hopes of receiving a farewell message, which she firmly believed her husband had written her. For two years Lady Franklin had been a guest at Prandtl House, in Lincolnshire, and had collected there a large number of relics of her late husband's expeditions. Her last message to the American people, conveyed by telegraph about two weeks ago, was a request that she should be remembered in their prayers at church on the following Sunday.—N. Y. Evening Post.

—The other evening a Vicksburg toper got full and started for home, took a wrong direction, wandered into the muskirts of the city, fell down, and lay beside the fence all night. He was aroused in the morning by a log rooting him over, when, hoping up and hanging to the fence, he took a look at the darker and exclaimed: "If perhaps you do think I'm was con-cum-mon dafrunkard, but you've made a bad mistake, old fellow!"

—One of the morning papers has a list of state persons killed, maimed, or injured yesterday in New York and Brooklyn by reckless astiff-ry, premature pbiols, explosion of gunpowder and cannon, firecrackers, blog-lights, serpents, pull-wheels and other explosives. Supposing this list to record half of the actual number of accidents it would imply 4,800 blowups of one kind or other in the country at large.—N. Y. Graphic.

—We like to see a man reasonably quiet and peaceable, but when he stands in one place long enough for the wasps to build a nest in his hair he ought to be licked into some sort of resistance.—Rensselaer.

Why the Republican Party Cannot and Will Not its Beaten.

A safe proposition to lay down and challenge opposition is, that no dominant political party was ever wholly overthrown except when an issue that everybody could see and feel was presented in antagonism thereto. What hope, therefore, have the elements in conflict with the Republican party for success? What issue do they present in conflict with the ruling idea of the dominant political party of the country? What has the dominant party done to forfeit the confidence of the people? These are queries which we purpose seriously answering:

1. What hope have the elements in conflict with the Republican party for success? Surely none founded upon reason, or aught save prejudice and lust for office. Some were questioned as to what they hope their forces upon see that to be a fraudulent perpetrated by Republican officials, and with apparent earnestness inquire if we deny that corruptionism have been revealed within the official fold of the Republican party? We answer, "No!" Then they ask the next question, comes the question: "Who discovered and exposed the corruptionists?" They have been in the Administration, from that of Washington down to Grant, more or less corruption has been an hideous head and confronted the power that made it But never before has the party been called upon to purge itself of corruption as well as the country in 1870, and visited the late Capt Hall in San Francisco, who had examined the spot where the Franklin party encamped in 1848. While in San Francisco Arctic expedition was fitting on she gave it substantial encouragement. To the last she entertained hopes of receiving a farewell message, which she firmly believed her husband had written her. For two years Lady Franklin had been a guest at Prandtl House, in Lincolnshire, and had collected there a large number of relics of her late husband's expeditions. Her last message to the American people, conveyed by telegraph about two weeks ago, was a request that she should be remembered in their prayers at church on the following Sunday.—N. Y. Evening Post.

—The other evening a Vicksburg toper got full and started for home, took a wrong direction, wandered into the muskirts of the city, fell down, and lay beside the fence all night. He was aroused in the morning by a log rooting him over, when, hoping up and hanging to the fence, he took a look at the darker and exclaimed: "If perhaps you do think I'm was con-cum-mon dafrunkard, but you've made a bad mistake, old fellow!"

—One of the morning papers has a list of state persons killed, maimed, or injured yesterday in New York and Brooklyn by reckless astiff-ry, premature pbiols, explosion of gunpowder and cannon, firecrackers, blog-lights, serpents, pull-wheels and other explosives. Supposing this list to record half of the actual number of accidents it would imply 4,800 blowups of one kind or other in the country at large.—N. Y. Graphic.

—We like to see a man reasonably quiet and peaceable, but when he stands in one place long enough for the wasps to build a nest in his hair he ought to be licked into some sort of resistance.—Rensselaer.

ITEMS OF INTEREST.

THE survey of the Black Hills will not be completed before September or October.

A NEW YORK doctor says that the practice of wearing garters is killing hundreds of women.

EXCESSIVE airs, like excessive dress, show a person to be not only a top without but one within.

HE that does a base thing in zeal for his friend burns the golden thread that ties their hearts together.

THE importation of breech-loading rifles and fixed ammunition into the Territory of Alaska is forbidden.

WHITE lounge toilets are very popular this season. They are trimmed with plaitings of the same or with fringe.

GILROY, California, has a lease hand with four women in it, and they say there never was so much soul thrown into a single loom before.

TO THE manin debt the race of life is a sack race; any attempt at striking as an antagonist man can avail vast him into the dust of his antipode

SAYS the Herald of Health: "The people need more sun." There seems to be wisdom in the remark, but who's going to let another sun in the heavens"

NOTHING cheers a man so much as to sit on a cracker-box in the shade of a grocery awning and read an item about the terrible scarcity of harvest hands.

THE Kentuck, paper which crowded out a sermon and three funeral notices to make room for a report of a horse-race proposes to stand by the interests of its subscribers.

A CONTEMPORARY wonders whether Cain and Abel ever had the musings or the whoopings-cough. Very probably. Be certain, at all events, that their mother had Adam.—New York Commercial Advertiser.

"DOES giant farming pay?" asks the Chicago Tribune. If the Tribune really wants information, it ought to go and talk to the giants themselves. The agricultural papers can't know everything.—New York Mail.

How bravely a man can walk the earth, bear the heaviest burdens, perform the severest duties and look all men boldly in the face, if he only bears in his breast a clear conscience, void of offense toward God and man!

HIS wife died and told her he would be around at eight o'clock in the evening, concluding his note with the following couplet:

With breath as sweet as roses
Then'll breathe upon me, love.

And she coldly answered: "You'd better not come. We had onions in the soup today."

SAID a Brooklyn girl to her lover: "I wish it understood that when we are married you will make it a rule to give me all the money I ask from you without asking what I do with it." "But does that show a proper confidence in me? How can you be sure that I will not spend it for shoes for you?" "Ah! my dear," was the quiet reply, "my motto is: 'Principles, not men.'"

A WRITER describing the bravery of the women of China says: "During a fierce conflict with pirates in the Chinese seas a woman, finding her husband's boat boarding so fast by the hulks that she could scarcely be taken away. Hailing two outlasses, she climbed herself and two outlasses, she climbed herself and wounded two soldiers, but on being wounded by a matchlock ball she fell back into the vessel and was taken prisoner."

SENORA MANUELA HUERTAS, wife of Don Huertas, of Alameda County, Cal., has just met a sad affliction which deprives her of the natural use of her left eye, and will impair her personal features. While yet a senorita she had been engaged to Don Jose Reyes Berael, a wealthy rancher residing near. Before she ever received him she had the senorita brought suit for breach of promise, but, being unwilling to have the law's delays worried her, Don Higuera before the suit was tried. The defense argued that her marriage was sufficient evidence of the true friendly and generous relations, and, as the Court held the same views the fair Manuela lost her case and her revenge together.

THE following amusing incident is also illustrating the hardships of the English law of marriage. An officer in India was married about two years ago under peculiar circumstances. The woman, being disappointed in her desire to obtain another man, took this officer out of pique, but soon as the marriage service was over told him why she had married him and refused to go home with him. From that time on the present she has given her husband one hour's companionship, and yet he has found himself unable to extricate himself legally from a bond which makes him the victim of a woman's pique against another man.

THE NEW YORK Herald of a recent date says: Postmaster James received in yesterday morning's mail from Mount Vernon, Ohio, a letter addressed to "Samuel Hale, New York City," the word "Third" struck out before "National." It contained valuable drafts, sent by the Knox County National Bank, of Mount Vernon, Ohio. Mr. Anthony Yeomans, the General Superintendent of the Postoffice, took a letter to Mr. Hale. Mr. Hale, of course, came to learn from them what bank was likely to receive remittance from the Hockeye bank just named, when John King, the assistant cashier of the National Bank of Commerce, stated that the letter was intended for him, and opening the envelope he found the letter and drafts to his name. The envelope was sent back by Mr. James to demonstrate to the careless correspondent at Mount Vernon how the postal service is abused without any fault of the officials. This is only one case out of many where letters are misdirected, and the United States mail service is blamed for dereliction.

ITEMS OF INTEREST.

THE survey of the Black Hills will not be completed before September or October.

A NEW YORK doctor says that the practice of wearing garters is killing hundreds of women.

EXCESSIVE airs, like excessive dress, show a person to be not only a top without but one within.

HE that does a base thing in zeal for his friend burns the golden thread that ties their hearts together.

THE importation of breech-loading rifles and fixed ammunition into the Territory of Alaska is forbidden.

WHITE lounge toilets are very popular this season. They are trimmed with plaitings of the same or with fringe.

GILROY, California, has a lease hand with four women in it, and they say there never was so much soul thrown into a single loom before.

TO THE manin debt the race of life is a sack race; any attempt at striking as an antagonist man can avail vast him into the dust of his antipode

SAYS the Herald of Health: "The people need more sun." There seems to be wisdom in the remark, but who's going to let another sun in the heavens"

NOTHING cheers a man so much as to sit on a cracker-box in the shade of a grocery awning and read an item about the terrible scarcity of harvest hands.

THE Kentuck, paper which crowded out a sermon and three funeral notices to make room for a report of a horse-race proposes to stand by the interests of its subscribers.

A CONTEMPORARY wonders whether Cain and Abel ever had the musings or the whoopings-cough. Very probably. Be certain, at all events, that their mother had Adam.—New York Commercial Advertiser.

"DOES giant farming pay?" asks the Chicago Tribune. If the Tribune really wants information, it ought to go and talk to the giants themselves. The agricultural papers can't know everything.—New York Mail.

How bravely a man can walk the earth, bear the heaviest burdens, perform the severest duties and look all men boldly in the face, if he only bears in his breast a clear conscience, void of offense toward God and man!

HIS wife died and told her he would be around at eight o'clock in the evening, concluding his note with the following couplet:

With breath as sweet as roses
Then'll breathe upon me, love.

And she coldly answered: "You'd better not come. We had onions in the soup today."

SAID a Brooklyn girl to her lover: "I wish it understood that when we are married you will make it a rule to give me all the money I ask from you without asking what I do with it." "But does that show a proper confidence in me? How can you be sure that I will not spend it for shoes for you?" "Ah! my dear," was the quiet reply, "my motto is: 'Principles, not men.'"

A WRITER describing the bravery of the women of China says: "During a fierce conflict with pirates in the Chinese seas a woman, finding her husband's boat boarding so fast by the hulks that she could scarcely be taken away. Hailing two outlasses, she climbed herself and two outlasses, she climbed herself and wounded two soldiers, but on being wounded by a matchlock ball she fell back into the vessel and was taken prisoner."

SENORA MANUELA HUERTAS, wife of Don Huertas, of Alameda County, Cal., has just met a sad affliction which deprives her of the natural use of her left eye, and will impair her personal features. While yet a senorita she had been engaged to Don Jose Reyes Berael, a wealthy rancher residing near. Before she ever received him she had the senorita brought suit for breach of promise, but, being unwilling to have the law's delays worried her, Don Higuera before the suit was tried. The defense argued that her marriage was sufficient evidence of the true friendly and generous relations, and, as the Court held the same views the fair Manuela lost her case and her revenge together.

THE following amusing incident is also illustrating the hardships of the English law of marriage. An officer in India was married about two years ago under peculiar circumstances. The woman, being disappointed in her desire to obtain another man, took this officer out of pique, but soon as the marriage service was over told him why she had married him and refused to go home with him. From that time on the present she has given her husband one hour's companionship, and yet he has found himself unable to extricate himself legally from a bond which makes him the victim of a woman's pique against another man.

THE NEW YORK Herald of a recent date says: Postmaster James received in yesterday morning's mail from Mount Vernon, Ohio, a letter addressed to "Samuel Hale, New York City," the word "Third" struck out before "National." It contained valuable drafts, sent by the Knox County National Bank, of Mount Vernon, Ohio. Mr. Anthony Yeomans, the General Superintendent of the Postoffice, took a letter to Mr. Hale. Mr. Hale, of course, came to learn from them what bank was likely to receive remittance from the Hockeye bank just named, when John King, the assistant cashier of the National Bank of Commerce, stated that the letter was intended for him, and opening the envelope he found the letter and drafts to his name. The envelope was sent back by Mr. James to demonstrate to the careless correspondent at Mount Vernon how the postal service is abused without any fault of the officials. This is only one case out of many where letters are misdirected, and the United States mail service is blamed for dereliction.

THE SENTINEL.

WILLARD A. SMITH, Editor and Proprietor.

CHARLEVOIX, - MICHIGAN.

HOLD YOUR HEAD UP LIKE A MAN

If the stormy winds should rattle
While you tread the world's highway,
Still against them bravely tussle,
Hope and labor day by day.
Fight or aid, no matter whether
There is sunshine, storm or calm,
And in every kind of weather
Hold your head up like a man.

If a brother should deceive you
And should act a traitor's part,
Never let his treason grieve you,
Jog along with lightsome heart;
Fortune seldom follows fawning;
Riches is the better play,
Hoping for a better dawning
Hold your head up like a man.

Earle, though ever so rich and mellow,
Yields not for the worthless drone,
But the bold and honest fellow,
He can shift and make his own.

Spurn the knave of every nation,
Always do the best you can,
And no matter what your station
Hold your head up like a man.

MISS SNAGGLES' CHOICE.

IN Mr. Snaggles' stationery and book store there was strange commotion. The clerks, with their polite manners and air of style, smiled at one another meaningly. Mr. Snaggles' daughter Leonora was coming home from boarding school, and, being an accomplished scholar and mathematician, was to be associated to the post of bookkeeper in the store in place of her father, retired, and Miss Snaggles. It was reported, was a rare little beauty with the reddest of cheeks, darkest of eyes, and most bewitching manners. Indeed, she was a thoroughly captivating little witch, and her presence at the desk would make the store of Claus Snaggles a very attractive spot. This reasoned the gentlemanly clerks upon the morning that Miss Snaggles was to assume command—an appropriate morning, by the by, to welcome so charming a creature, being full of sunshine, a spring morning, bright in the extreme. A bevy of clerks stood by the door talking eagerly together concerning the fair stranger. Let us listen to their conversation.

"I tell you what," said James Gregory, a most important personage in Snaggles' store, as he stood twisting his light mustache jauntily—quite a handsome young fellow to behold—"I tell you what, Miss Snaggles will find that she must decide pretty soon between us all, for were in love with her, over every one of you know even before we've seen her." James Gregory smiled conceitedly. It was very evident upon whom Miss Snaggles' choice must fall.

"Pshaw!" replied another gentlemanly clerk, by name Thomas Gibbs, as he pulled his collar higher in the neck, jingled his watch-guard and carsorily glanced at the array of rings he wore, as though Leonora Snaggles could read the mighty pose of style and dress. Fancy at this point of the conversation the front door opened and a somewhat seedy-looking individual sauntered in, with a shed air, his clothes hanging loosely upon him and his nose of rumpled red hair frowned about his face, out of which gazed two sleepy eyes, which, upon his unfortunate appearance, gave him a touch of beauty, for they were singularly handsome eyes, though he rubbed them sleepily and tried, it seemed, to make them blind similar to his frantic thrusts at them.

A laugh greeted this strange scamp upon entrance.

"Hi, Quigs!" jeered Snaggles' clerks contemptuously. "Late this morning! Where's your lemon?" Quigs paused and gazed about him drearily, and replied in a sleepy way:

"Dunno, 'spose it's in the closet." With which he dilapidated to the closet near the desk, and producing therefrom a large broom began to sweep vigorously.

"What, you here, you drunken fellow!" said Snaggles' young men, as the dust greeted their nostrils; but Quigs only grunted and went on sweeping and dusting, until finally he came around to the counter in front of the desk, and leaning himself upon the broom, gazed at the clerks with a look of pity, and then, as the door leading into the counting-room opened, he disappeared.

"Miss Leonora told me last night, just before she left, that I was to come this morning to discuss her many little affairs with her father," he said, "and I went for to fix her room just now, and she ain't there, and I found this note for you, sir, on her dressing-table."

Was ever such excitement in Snaggles' store? Was ever such commotion anywhere? Was ever such a sensation?

As her angry father tore open her note he read:

DEAR PAPA—Of course you will be angry with me, but, taking what you said the other day as your paternal sanction of my union, I leave this home to marry the man of my choice, whom you warned me against, and on account of whom you took me away from boarding school. He performs the ceremony at Faun's Academy, Mr. Kregs. But your grand curse did not part two congenial, loving hearts. Though we are now and ever obscure, designed to be a solace for your daughter's hand, engraved with you as erased boy, disguised by means of a red wig, ele, Yes, papa, he did all this to win me, and I am happy. Congratulate your daughter, then on making your money, papa; live to hoard it and be happy. Let no thought of me worry your heart. When you read this I shall no longer be Leonora Snaggles, but

LEONORA SNAGGLES KANE.

That was a sad day at Snaggles' store for more than one person. Indeed, so great was the agitation of the principal clerks of this establishment that it was closed on that account.

"Business suspended on account of reparts," read Snaggles' customers, and they wondered what sort of repairs were going on in that darkened place. Gregory and Gibbs held high holiday, which they enjoyed to the full by spending all their spare cash to heal their wounded feelings and, from being almost enemies, they became firm friends.

At the expiration of a week Snaggles' store was opened again and customers throughout the town where Miss Snaggles' choice was discussed. Gregory was sure she was desperately taken with him, and that was the reason of her loneliness for poetry and music, whilst Gibbs reckoned in his secret heart that he was such a stylish, well-dressed fellow, it was no wonder all the girls liked him. But old Snaggles was a great spy upon Leonora, and often spoke sharply to her about mistakes in the accounts, and darkly hinted at the banishment of poetry and novels from the desk, wherent his daughter would sometimes burst into tears and disappear amidst the sympathetic regards of Snaggles' clerk. Like day Snaggles hinted at something which set Gregory and Gibbs frantic.

"You foolish girl, you!" said the enraged man—Snaggles we mean—as he stopped at the desk and assumed a tone of Owen Meredith from Leonora's hands "Here you've been two months in this store and it hasn't cured you yet! I believe I'll have you abone to your fatherpoverty and tomfoolery. Miss Snaggles Yes, I repeat, poverty and tomfoolery!"

And Snaggles' angry hand having caught at the light vase and gold vase one of poetry and thrown it violently across the desk it landed upon the cranium of Quiggs, who stood by some of the counters in the rear of the store, started abruptly and an angry flush stole over his face. Leonora lifted up her tear-stained face and smiled lengthy upon him. She was always so good and coolhearted.

The end of this scene was Miss Snaggles' disappearance for two whole days and the reinstatement of her father at the desk; and meanwhile Gregory and Gibbs were sure Leonora was in love with both of them. Snaggles, the knave, and purse proud fellow that he was, objected to them on account of their poverty, hence the melancholy, the poetry and candy. Miss Snaggles' tears and disappearance.

"Dear, giant farming pay?" asks the Chicago Tribune. If the Tribune really wants information, it ought to go and talk to the giants themselves. The agricultural papers can't know everything.—New York Mail.

How bravely a man can walk the earth, bear the heaviest burdens, perform the severest duties and look all men boldly in the face, if he only bears in his breast a clear conscience, void of offense toward God and man!

HIS wife died and told her he would be around at eight o'clock in the evening, concluding his note with the following couplet:

With breath as sweet as roses
Then'll breathe upon me, love.

And she coldly answered: "You'd better not come. We had onions in the soup today."

SAID a Brooklyn girl to her lover: "I wish it understood that when we are married you will make it a rule to give me all the money I ask from you without asking what I do with it." "But does that show a proper confidence in me? How can you be sure that I will not spend it for shoes for you?" "Ah! my dear," was the quiet reply, "my motto is: 'Principles, not men.'"

A WRITER describing the bravery of the women of China says: "During a fierce conflict with pirates in the Chinese seas a woman, finding her husband's boat boarding so fast by the hulks that she could scarcely be taken away. Hailing two outlasses, she climbed herself and two outlasses, she climbed herself and wounded two soldiers, but on being wounded by a matchlock ball she fell back into the vessel and was taken prisoner."

SENORA MANUELA HUERTAS, wife of Don Huertas, of Alameda County, Cal., has just met a sad affliction which deprives her of the natural use of her left eye, and will impair her personal features. While yet a senorita she had been engaged to Don Jose Reyes Berael, a wealthy rancher residing near. Before she ever received him she had the senorita brought suit for breach of promise, but, being unwilling to have the law's delays worried her, Don Higuera before the suit was tried. The defense argued that her marriage was sufficient evidence of the true friendly and generous relations, and, as the Court held the same views the fair Manuela lost her case and her revenge together.

THE following amusing incident is also illustrating the hardships of the English law of marriage. An officer in India was married about two years ago under peculiar circumstances. The woman, being disappointed in her desire to obtain another man, took this officer out of pique, but soon as the marriage service was over told him why she had married him and refused to go home with him. From that time on the present she has given her husband one hour's companionship, and yet he has found himself unable to extricate himself legally from a bond which makes him the victim of a woman's pique against another man.

THE NEW YORK Herald of a recent date says: Postmaster James received in yesterday morning's mail from Mount Vernon, Ohio, a letter addressed to "Samuel Hale, New York City," the word "Third" struck out before "National." It contained valuable drafts, sent by the Knox County National Bank, of Mount Vernon, Ohio. Mr. Anthony Yeomans, the General Superintendent of the Postoffice, took a letter to Mr. Hale. Mr. Hale, of course, came to learn from them what bank was likely to receive remittance from the Hockeye bank just named, when John King, the assistant cashier of the National Bank of Commerce, stated that the letter was intended for him, and opening the envelope he found the letter and drafts to his name. The envelope was sent back by Mr. James to demonstrate to the careless correspondent at Mount Vernon how the postal service is abused without any fault of the officials. This is only one case out of many where letters are misdirected, and the United States mail service is blamed for dereliction.

For Young Readers.

DICK'S SPIRITUAL HELP.

BY KATE W. HAMILTON

A VERY school-house consisting of two teachers and one pupil—Penny's only was daughter, the Lady Melinda Snaggles—had just come to grief. The Lady Melinda had for some days been suffering fits—not from a stitch in her side, and Miss Midge, in a vigorous effort to relieve her into a knowledge of her geography lesson, had produced a violent hemorrhage of sawdust that made it necessary for the poor lady to be put to bed at once. So two worthy teachers were out of a situation. They were more fortunate than many people who are out of employment, however, for just as they began to consider what they had better do next a hand beckoned at the window—a hand rather the worse for late contact with great paint, a hand with a piece of gingerbread in it, but still a beckoned.

"Come out here," said Dick's other, repeating the invitation his hand and glove and Midge and Pansy accepted at once.

They found Max and Teddy sitting on the grass, and sat down beside them to learn the object for which a council had been called.

"See here, all you; I know something," said Dick, by way of opening the subject. Dick generally knew something, or one of them pulling away at a villainous cigar. The front door was open and the clouds of smoke rolling in the cracker-box showed the occupants. At last one of the elder gentlemen could stand it no longer, and so remarked, at which one of the others touched the smoker, saying that the rules of the company did not permit smoking on the cars. To this appeal the man paid no attention than if he had been a statue. Mr. John Neal, leading forward, remarked as follows: "Young man, that smoke is very offensive, and you must put that cigar out."

"Is that so, old man?" replied the youth, lazily looking over his shoulder at Mr. Neal, without removing his cigar from his mouth.

The color in the old gentleman's face rose steadily, but repressing his wrath he again remarked: "Young man, that cigar must be put out. Smoking is not allowed in the car."

"Well, old man, what are you going to do about it?" replied the rough.

Snaggles came into the store for some note paper.

"Not for me," also said to Mr. Gregory, in her low, sweet voice, which seemed full of hushed tears. "Oh, no; for a friend. Some marked with an initial—the letter L."

Gregory produced the box. She was always generous to her friends. She was, indeed, a rare, lovely girl. When Miss Snaggles was supplied with the note-paper she helped herself to some pens from Mr. Gibbs' hands, and then departed slowly and sadly from the store, but as she stood on the threshold she turned with a quick smile, and at Quiggs, the errand-boy. Was such a thing possible? Quiggs did not see her smile, but he saw her eyes, and for the first time in his queer, dreamy way, as though his life depended upon it.

So the days sped on, and a week had passed. It was one morning found old Mr. Snaggles at his desk bright and early as usual, but in a terrible humor, as that fact was apparent to all in the counting-room. The store was unswept, and everything was at sixes and sevens. Snaggles' break fast had been cold and cheerless, and he had said Miss Leonora had a headache and couldn't come down, so there was no one to pour his coffee as he wished. A bad morning with Snaggles, and consequently a bad morning for Snaggles' clerks. They were scolded and stormed at vigorously, and it was a wonder they were not dismissed from the store upon the spot. Customers coming in, Snaggles subsided, but a pettiness from rested upon his brow and anger glared from his eyes.

At this stage of affairs a strange thing occurred. The Snaggles maid ran into the store hurriedly, and ran up to Snaggles' desk in a terrible state of excitement.

"Did you ever, sir!" she said to Snaggles. "Miss Leonora told me last night, me to disturb her until this morning, as she had a headache, and I went for to fix her room just now, and she ain't there, and I found this note for you, sir, on her dressing-table."

Was ever such excitement in Snaggles' store? Was ever such commotion anywhere? Was ever such a sensation?

As her angry father tore open her note he read:

DEAR PAPA—Of course you will be angry with me, but, taking what you said the other day as your paternal sanction of my union, I leave this home to marry the man of my choice, whom you warned me against, and on account of whom you took me away from boarding school. He performs the ceremony at Faun's Academy, Mr. Kregs. But your grand curse did not part two congenial, loving hearts. Though we are now and ever obscure, designed to be a solace for your daughter's hand, engraved with you as erased boy, disguised by means of a red wig, ele, Yes, papa, he did all this to win me, and I am happy. Congratulate your daughter, then on making your money, papa; live to hoard it and be happy. Let no thought of me worry your heart. When you read this I shall no longer be Leonora Snaggles, but

LEONORA SNAGGLES KANE.

That was a sad day at Snaggles' store for more than one person. Indeed, so great was the agitation of the principal clerks of this establishment that it was closed on that account.

"Business suspended on account of

THE SENTINEL.

WILLARD A. SMITH, Editor and Proprietor.

CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN.

THE NEWS.

THE German Government has ordered that declaration of submission by Catholic clergymen to the new laws should be kept strictly secret, as safety from them from Ultramontane persecution.

LADY FRANKLIN, widow of Sir John Wesdville, the Arctic explorer, died in London on the night of the 18th.

ABOUT 12,000 persons assembled in Hyde Park, London, on the night of the 18th and adopted resolutions protesting against the grant of £150,000 to the Prince of Wales for his journey to India.

A SAN SEBASTIAN dispatch of the 18th says the Carlists had begun the bombardment of Pamplona.

THE Typographical Union of Washington has by a vote of 146 to 48, decided not to comply with the demand of employing printers for a reduction of rates for composition.

EMMELINE, one of Brigham Young's wives, died on the 16th.

THE wife of Henry Pelton, of Indianapolis, had, used kerosene oil to kindle a fire on the 17th, and was fatally burned.

INFORMATION was received at Washington on the 18th that the St. Louis United States District Court Grand Jury had indicted Chief Clerk Avery, of the Treasury Department, for complicity with St. Louis distillers in whisky frauds

GEN. N. JACKSON, the cashier of Collector of Internal Revenue Buckner, of the Louisville (Ky.) District, recently poisoned himself. Since his death he has been discovered to be in default in his cash to the extent of about $75,000.

NO PROPOSALS from Messrs. Donaldson and Grimwood, the servants, had been received in Chicago up to the morning of the 20th. A vessel Captain reported having seen something floating in the water which had the appearance of being a lifepreserver and a blanket, and another Captain thinks he saw the body of a man in the lake off Grand Haven. The report that Donaldson's father was a rotten and near infidel is indignantly denied by the persons to whom it belonged.

A LONDON dispatch of the 19th says the Anarchist, the bomb had fizzled and not to shoot as a steam at Wimbledon.

THE Commissioners to Herzegovina, sent by the Porte to inquire into the causes of the recent disturbances, have reported that the whole country between Mostar and the Austrian frontier, as far as Ragusa, is in a state of revolt, and that the insurgents had threatened to kill all who refused to unite with them

WM. H. WARNER, at North Adams, Mass., recently completed a walk of 500 miles in five days, twenty-three hours and twenty-five minutes.

MR. THURMAN WEED recently stated that three times during the first year of the late civil war in this country Queen Victoria personally intreated herself to prevent war by England and France against the United States.

UNDER his rule from the Indian Territory Prof Mead, of Yale College, wrote to the President that the supplies furnished to the various Indian tribes were inferior and frequently withheld. He also charged Secretary Delano and Indian Commissioner Smith with being accomplices of these frauds, and that Indian Agent Saville, of the Red Cloud Agency, was wholly unfitted for his position and guilty of the grossest frauds upon the Indians in his charge. This letter was accompanied with samples of the goods furnished. The President called the attention of the department to the letter, and the Commissioner of Indian Affairs straightway came out with a positive denial of the charge of fraud and corruption, so far as his own department was concerned, and said the commission appointed to investigate into the condition of affairs at the Red Cloud Agency had completely exonerated the Agent. A New Haven dispatch of the 18th says that notwithstanding the above denial and explanation Prof. Marsh had reiterated his former statements and charges. A special commission appointed to investigate these charges met in New York on the evening of the 19th, consisting of Messrs. Faulk ner, M. C., of West Virginia; Harris, M. C., of Massachusetts, and Prather, M. C., of Missouri. At the meeting, which was strictly private, was organized by electing Gov. Fletcher Chairman. Prof. Marsh and Indian Commissioner Smith appeared before the body. Mr. Marsh presented his charges in pamphlet form, which had already been printed. The investigation will take place at the Red Cloud Agency

A MEMPHIS paper of the 20th states that Gen. Dorrgeray, the Carlist chieftain, had been wounded and had taken refuge in France.

DELEGATES from all the Presbyterian churches in Christendom met in London on the 20th. Many representatives of American and Canadian churches were present.

THE Governor of Bosnia has been ordered to dispatch troops to suppress the Herzegovina insurrection.

ON the 19th the Postmaster-General confirmed to the use of the Governmentthree certified checks, amounting to $1,639, deposited by Matthew Draper, in the Centreville, Mississippi, Post-office, in payment of the breakdown of over forty failing mail contractors

THE Connecticut Supreme Court has decided that local option feature of the License law constitutional.

POMEROY, the Massachusetts boy murderer, has retracted his former confession, and denies his guilt. With regard to the death of Katie Curran, he says he made a false confession that his mother and brother, who had been arrested for the murder and whom he knew to be innocent, might escape.

THE substance of John D. Lee's confession concerning the Mountain Meadows massacre is that the deed was done under orders from the leaders of the Mormon Church; that he took the news of the massacre to Brigham Young, who deplored the transaction and said it would bring disaster on the Mormon people.

THE mines miners and four wagons were captured forty-five miles north of Fort Lassanie, en route to the Black Hills, on the 16th, and paroled

ON the 20th the Mississippi jetties had been run out 3,000 feet, and were progressing at the rate of 200 feet daily. Four hundred men are employed.

A PETITION has been filed in a Circuit court for the impeachment of Mayor Johnson. Among the charges made against him is one that he endeavored to control the labors of the police contrary to the law when he was a candidate for re-election in 1880, and paroled

ON the 20th the Mississippi jetties had been run out

THE SENTINEL.

CHARLEVOIX, MICH.

WILLARD A. SMITH, Editor and Proprietor.

TUESDAY . AUGUST 3 1875.

GOLD.

Excitement at Boyne Falls, Charlevoix County, over the Alleged Discovery of Gold in That Region -- Probability that the Creations are Easily Sold.

From the Big Rapids Pioneer.

The people of Petoskey, and Boyne Falls, 16 miles farther south, have lately enjoyed the pleasures of an excitement over the alleged discovery of gold on the land of George Bennett, near the latter place. Many appear to credit the story, and firmly believe that the bowels of the earth in and about Boyne Falls are rich with the precious metal. Others regard the affair as a huge joke, which in a little time will probably prove to be the case.

A gentleman who appeared to be pretty well informed concerning the excitement and its origin, gave us the following version of it, which if true, discloses a tolerably sharp confidence game. A homestead settler from near Boyne Falls, was in Petoskey, with quite a sum of money in his pocket. His financial condition was discovered by the notorious "Deg. Leg Dave" and his pals, who set to work to become possessed of it. Getting a rock which contained mica, (commonly called isinglass,) or some other glittering substance, they broke it up, and made their appearance in a saloon where the verdant homesteader was loitering. With well feigned excitement, they announced the discovery of a ledge of quartz rock some distance out of town, and exhibited the "specimens" which they had brought in. Of course the place where it was found, was the inquiry of every one; but the lucky discoverers were very reluctant about disclosing anything that would throw light on the whereabouts of the place—they wanted to buy the land, which they were afraid they could not do if the owner should find out what it contained. After the excitement had been properly worked up, they finally proposed to disclose, first taking the precaution to put every one present under the promise "not to tell." When they named the place, homesteader's astonishment nearly suffocated him—it had been found on his land.) When he had recovered his breath sufficiently to announce himself the lucky owner of that piece of land, it was the discoverers turn to express surprise and affect disgust with themselves for disclosing so much before purchasing the coveted eighty acres. They tried to buy it however, but homesteader refused to sell at any price. One of them finally offered $10,000 for 150 feet square, provided that he could be allowed the privilege of picking out his location; homesteader accepted, and $3 was paid over to bind the bargain. The purchaser departed and immediately the others present began to tell him how green and short-sighted he had been—in short he was a d—l fool to sell the first choice claim on his land for such a paltry sum as $10,000—that he could have got $100,000 just as well, if he had only been sharp enough to ask it," etc. This kind of talk soon made homesteader sick of his bargain, and at the suggestion of his sympathizing saloon friends, he started out to find the purchaser with a view of getting the latter to release him from his agreement. He found his man without difficulty, but could do nothing with him—he wouldn't throw up the bargain for anything." After a while he consented to take $50 and let homesteader back out, which man the latter cheerfully paid, thinking himself the happy possessor of eighty acres of land, worth $100,000 for every 100 square feet.

Whether this version of the affair is true or not, we cannot say, but have reason to believe it is; and if correct, it simply shows how supremely ridiculous the credulity of some men will cause them to act.

How a Tug Engineer Became a Millionaire;

During the late war a father and two sons entered the Third Pennsylvania Cavalry and served until the father and one son were killed and the surviving son was sent home disabled. The father left an estate valued at that time at about $200,000, and from the time of his death until about a month ago the estate has been in litigation. During this time the survivor, Jas. Shay by name, determining to fit himself out for life, with commendable perseverance has learned the trade of stone-cutter, machinist and engineer, and during last winter worked at Dundee, in this State, as engineer in a mill. Previous to his leaving home at Philadelphia, however he placed the interest of his portion of his father's estate, as his heir, in the hands of a lodge of Knights Templar to which his father belonged, with Charles R. Miner, of Philadelphia as legal counsel

While at work in the mill at Dundee Mr. Shay became ambitious of the experience of a steamboat engineer in this record of his life, and had whether proceeded to Cleveland to secure an engineer's license. In consequence of an injury received while in the army Mr. Shay has a very strong impediment in his speech causing him to speak very slowly—and for this reason he was unsuccessful in getting his engineer's license. He accordingly went to Buffalo, Erie and Toledo examining as a matter of course all navigation examinations, but without success, and on the 3rd of last April he arrived in this city with two dollars in his pocket and a railroad ticket to Toledo. He immediately interviewed Messrs. Sanders & Cook, Steamboat Inspectors at this port, was examined in their office and was told by them that he had passed himself worthy a license as second engineer on a high pressure engine or first engineer on a tugboat, and that if he could secure such a position they would issue his license.

The cost of a license is 25, which Mr. Shay did not have, and on his informing the Inspectors, proceeding to send for amount within thirty days. Sympathizing with Mr. Shay and admiring his perseverance, the Inspectors told him they would issue his license and trust him for its cost, and he departed for Toledo and in less than a week had secured a position entering on it. Had Tug Hazard in case was ready out at this port and sent to him, and Messrs Cook & Sanders recorded the third license granted this season to Toledo engineers where the application was handed for the seal.

The tug Hazard was engaged at Toledo in towing vessels—tenders to the dredge at work on the harbor improvements at that port—and Shay was in good spirits, working faithfully, his license paid for, and for the time being, as he says: "I had given mighty little thought as to what I might or might not get from Philadelphia.

During the forenoon of Tuesday, June 1, Mr. Shay was at work in the hold of the tug Hazard, tightening the brasses on the connecting rod, when the hatchway above was darkened, and looking up, he saw a smiling countenance peering down at him, and a hand reaching toward him.

"Advance, I think you may stop work for a while," said the intruder, and the voice was recognized as belonging to Charles Miner, his counsel.

"I got stuck on the course," said Shay, "when I saw Mr. Miner, but could not believe it would be on such immediately if he would get out of the way. Cleaned my eyes, rubbed smoke I climbed out, and just as I was, not even giving me time to wipe my hands Miner seized both hands and told me the case had been decided in my favor, and that all I had to do was to draw the money. You should have seen those overhalls come off, and the way that wrench and my old cap were thrown on the deck was a caution. I couldn't say anything, so I seated myself on the bulwarks and looked at Mr. Miner."

The result was that Mr. Shay went to Philadelphia with Mr. Miner, and found out that he was in reality a millionaire, property valued at over $1,000,000 being in the hands of the Knights Templar who managed the case, ready for such disposition as he should see fit to order.

Returning, Mr. Shay stopped at Toledo a day or two and yesterday arrived in this city. In the afternoon he visited the office of Inspectors Cook & Saunders, carrying under his arm his license as engineer, handsomely mounted on a blue satin in background, and surrounded with a massive rosewood and gold frame. After receiving their congratulations and promises to send him their photographs he started to see the city.

Happily Mr. Shaw's good fortune does not end here, as he expected to be married on or about the 4th of July to a young lady, the daughter of a farmer who lives near Dundee, and who, when he went to Toledo to work last spring, secured employment at Toledo, and together they have been waiting and wooing in that city, little caring and much less expecting that their wedding day would see them situated as they are.—Detroit Free Press.

ADVERTISING.: Cheap: Good; reliable.—All persons who contemplate making contracts with newspapers for the insertion of advertisements, should send 25 cents to Geo. P. Rowell & Co., 41 Park Row, New York, for their Pamphlet-Book (about 100 pages edition), containing lists of over 3000 newspapers and estimates showing the cost. Advertisements taken for leading papers in many States at a tremendous reduction from publishers' rates. Best 25c book.

BOOTS AND SHOES.

Robert Holbon.

A workman of experience, would respectfully announce to the citizens of Charlevoix and vicinity that he has located in this village and is prepared to do all kinds of

CUSTOM WORK

in his line on short notice and at low rates. May be found opposite Dr. Lewis' Drug Store.

Charlevoix, June 27, 1874.

'SHTOP A LEETLE!"

Spring Harbor,

HEAD OF PINE LAKE.

The Secret of Wonderful Growth and Success.

Way up in the north is a very smart town
In the country all over it is gaining renown
In Charlevoix county and Spring Harbor Town.
The best is so rich if you plant a seed
'Tis said in a month'or the very next day
In Charlevoix county and Spring Harbor Town.

If you go a big yield it never will fail
It nearly scares the people all day
Then out to a month'or the very next day
In Charlevoix county and Spring Harbor Town.

Every one the merchants who's up to date
Have trade
Will not confine goods before they are
In Charlevoix county and Spring Harbor Town.

[illegible] they have
Have not always prices paid you would [illegible]
[illegible] they have [illegible] are crowded by millions
[illegible]
Who may still enjoy the most perfect
[illegible]
In Charlevoix county and Spring Harbor Town

Then those are the chances they'll never
[illegible]
[illegible] and Spring Harbor
Town

If they on you once make a professional call,
Again in your life you'll be ill not at all,
If they call once or twice you'll then feel so clever,
You'll mad die at all, but live on forever—
In Charlevoix county and Spring Harbor Town.

Then there is the "Journal" the sheet of the age,
To give all the news it doth always engage
In Charlevoix county and Spring Harbor Town.

And the editor knows his business so well,
He knew what I say, for the truth I do tell
If a man is purchased and left in his gore,
It will give you the news two or three days before,
In Charlevoix county and Spring Harbor Town.

Now I suppose you'll be glad to all know,
How strangely it happens that to-day
In Charlevoix county and Spring Harbor Town.
When the cause I do give, you all will confess,
The secret that leads to perfect success
They get their goods cheaper than ever before,
For the boys all they use at Nichols' store.

YOU'RE CRAZY

TO PAY SUCH TERRIBLE PRICES FOR GOODS, AS I'M SELLING AT THE

"REGULATOR"

You can purchase the best [illegible] for [illegible] that of any other store in the part of Charlevoix County. It [illegible] what we say with [illegible] LABOR.

NEW GOODS,

And more coming daily. We have Boots and Shoes for men; We have all kinds of Shoes for ladies', we have Boots and Shoes and all kinds of fine things for the little ones. We have also a choice DRESS GOODS; we have all kinds of CLOTH to make clothes for the men and boys. We have

PORK AND FLOUR,

And all Kinds of Groceries such as

SUGARS,

TEAS,

COFFEES,

SPICES,

OILS.

WE ALSO HAVE A LARGE ASSORTMENT OF

Farming Implements,

SUCH AS PLOWS, SHOVEL PLOWS, SCYTHES, SNATHS, RAKES, FORKS, HOES, CULTIVATORS AND DRAGS.

ALSO AN ASSORTMENT OF

TINWARE.

So, if you'd buy cheaper than ever before, go to NICHOLS' Store, on Pine Lake shore, where the water doth roar, and all people, and more, say, that never before, in the country all over, did they see people pour into the door of a store, where they buy lots of goods and thus buy some more; for they say he sells lower by thirty per cent, or perhaps more, than ever before, at any man's store; so after reading this o'er, if still you'd know more, Tommie will

TURN THE CRANK TO THE MACHINE.

And tell you if you wish to astonish yourself with low prices, that you must go to 999999 Gold Dust Avenue, nearly opposite to the Second National Bank, and directly opposite to the Metropolitan Hotel, Spring Harbor.

TRULY YOURS:

T. W. NICHOLS.

Carpenter & Bartholomew

CARPENTER & BARTHOLOMEW'S

Cheap Cash Store is just the Place to Buy Your Goods!

Standard Goods and Low Prices is their Motto.

South End of Bridge Street.

Charlevoix, Mich.

MEDICAL

HALL,

CHARLEVOIX,

JUST THE PLACE TO BUY

DRUGS

And Dye Stuffs,

JUST THE PLACE TO BUY

Patent Medicines

JUST THE PLACE TO BUY

Stationery, Ink and Pens.

And Pocket Inkstands.

JUST THE PLACE TO BUY

Perfumes and Hair Oils

Flavoring Extracts, and Toilet Goods,

JUST THE PLACE TO BUY

The Self-Adjusting Truss

JUST THE PLACE TO GET

Prescriptions Compounded

At all hours—night or day.

IN FACT, just the place to get anything you want in the Druggist line.

Cheap for Cash.

Now store opposite Stockman's Hardware store.

GEO. W. CROFTER.

Druggist and Chemist.

Hemlock Bark!

The undersigned, owners of the schooner E. M. Stanton, would inform the people of Pine Lake and vicinity that they are prepared to

Contract for Any Amount

Of Hemlock Bark to be delivered on the beach at Round or Pine Lakes or South Arm. The firms of Fox, Rose & Buttars, Carpenter & Bartholomew, and Byron See, are our authorized agents, with whom contracts can be made, or with Dr. Wellcome, of the firm of

CAPT. P. JOHNSON & Co.

Charlevoix, May 1, 1875.

N. B.—Samuel Holland, of Eveline, is also our authorized agent.

Read This.

The following instructive dialogue was overheard the other day:

Brown—I say, Jones, you seem to have been buying lots of groceries; where do you trade, Jones?

Jones—Why, I bought at

BYRON SEE'S

Grocery and Provision Store in Charlevoix It is a good place to trade."

Brown—"Is that so? Can others do as well there as you can I—you know you are sharp in a trade."

Jones—"I, yes, of course you can. He uses all alike. He says he likes a nimble shipence and I guess he does from the prices he sells at.

THE STANCH PROPELLER

1875.  1875.

A. C. Van Raalte

Capt. Alvin Dodge,

Will run during the season of 1875, as follows, between

Petoskey & Traverse City:

Will leave Petoskey at 6 o'clock a. m., on

Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays,

Arriving at Traverse City at 7 o'clock the same evening. Will leave Traverse City at 6 o'clock a. m. on

Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays,

Arriving at Petoskey the same evening. Touching at all intermediate ports on Grand Traverse Bay, both ways.

$75 A WEEK to Agents to sell an article $10 salesin an hour. Profits immediate Package free. Address BUCKEYE M'f'g Co., Marion, Ohio.

THE MORMONS AGAIN!

The Truth of History Vindicated --An answer to "Justice."

MR. EDITOR:—

In your issue of July 17, a correspondent over the signature of "Justice," claims that the Editor of the Big Rapids Magnet has been guilty of a gross slander of the Mormons who were formerly settled in the Pine Lake region. He says there are at least ten witnesses in this region who know that every line in the above paragraph (from the Magnet) is false.

Your readers generally know that myself and family were at the time Gentile residents of this place. They may not know that at that time, ours was almost the only white family between Bear Creek (now Petoskey) and Elk Rapids, who were not of the Mormon faith. Of course we have a vivid recollection of the events of that, to us, painful summer, and it is by no means pleasant even now to recall them, and I do not now refer to these matters in any unfriendly spirit towards those of our present neighbors and fellow citizens, who, at an early period of their lives may have been connected with Mormon families. Of these, are some of our most respected citizens and in my judgement they are in all respects worthy of the confidence reposed in them. In fact, more worthy of it because their good sense and regard for right have led them to repudiate and abandon a pernicious and hurtful system in which they were partly educated. I say partly educated, for in some instances their parents were weak in the Mormon faith, and discriminated themselves with it as soon as practicable to do so. It is out of regard for these descendants of a Mormon ancestry —children and grandchildren, and no more responsible for Mormon depredations upon Gentile rights of property than any of us are for the sins of Adam,—that I have hitherto refrained from making a public statement of what I saw and observed of Mormon faith and practice, during the first few months of my residence here.

In 1854 I was living in Lansing in this State; and first learned of a rencontre between the Mormons and a company of fishermen at the mouth of Pine River, by a statement in the N. Y. Tribune from J. J. Strang, in which the writer made a very plausible showing that the Mormons were a peaceful, industrious, law abiding people, who had trouble with the fishermen simply because they (the fishermen) refused to submit to the laws of the State as to Township and County organization, and the assessment and payment of taxes. I was so impressed with this showing, false and deceptive as I afterwards found it to be, that I felt no reluctance to a settlement here, and that if collisions should occur, they would come not from the Mormons, but from these rough, lawless fishermen. We settled here on the 11th day of May, 1855, or 20 years ago this summer. We found here James Young, Gaius B. Cole, Gaius Preston and their families, all of whom we suppose belonged to the Mormon Church.

Medad Thompson and his family were also here. He maintained friendly relations with his neighbors, but did not himself hold with them in their religious belief. Especially he did not approve of their way of applying their creed to practice. These, our new neighbors we found apparently friendly, and with them for some weeks there was no serious ground of complaint. The first event which demonstrated our folly in attempting a settlement here without doing homage to King Strang, paying our tithing, and observing Saturday, the Mormon Sabbath, was the sudden abstracting (to put it mildly,) of $100 worth of property, consisting of a new wagon and sugar kettles, which were taken in the night by a Mormon boat, and carried to Beaver Island. This property I afterwards found on Beaver Island, and identified and recovered it!

A few weeks subsequent to this, occurred the Conference on Holy Island which your correspondent says was simply a picnic attended by the residents here. Well, that Conference was attended by King Strang Himself, and 40 or 50 of his subbarons not living on the shores of Pine Lake, but on Beaver Island. The next day, after holding this innocent and quiet "picnic," they proceeded to carry out the measures doubtless agreed upon there, by erecting a gallows at the mouth of Pine River. To this gallows were attached five images. On two of these they inscribed my name and these words: "John Dixon, successor of the Pine River murderers. May his days be few, and his name lost from among men. God hear our prayer and those of our wives and children for vengeance."

In less than one year from that time, Strang, the Prophet, Priest, King and Mormon Leader, was killed, several others concerned in erecting that gallows were drowned; and now twenty years have elapsed without any clear explanation of my connection with, or responsibility for, the "Pine River murderers."

Your correspondent, "Justice" proves very conclusively (to his own mind at least,) that stealing from the Gentiles was no part of the Mormon creed or practice, by defying any one to find such doctrine in the Mormon sacred books! He could not so safely deny that the doctrine of consecrating (stealing) Gentile property was taught in their Saturday synagogues, and practiced wherever and whenever a safe opportunity was presented. For example the Mormon part of our settlement was reinforced by the arrival from Beaver Island, of four men, who settled near the site of W. H. Porter's Mill in Eveline. Needing some lumber for building purposes, they came down and held a Saturday meeting at Cole's house, and Page, who was one of the twelve apostles, preached; and as I was credibly informed, he preached consecration. At any rate, that evening at about 9 o'clock, he, and his associates consecrated our best span filling it with all the lumber it would carry, and took it, with its load, back up the lake to their encampment. It was the next day that my wife had her 20 miles walk to Bear Creek where she went to notify one of what had transpired in my absence. On Monday I followed the boat and recovered a portion of the lumber and such parts of the boat as could be found. I have since been informed that the boat was scuttled and sunk in 100 feet of water in Pine Lake.

Your correspondent alleges that, granting the Mormons have done some little stealing on a small scale the Gentile business in that department exceeds theirs as a whole train of loaded cars exceeds a one horse wagon; and not content with this great eloquence and emphatic italics: "You gentlemen, it would frown upon those little Mormon thefts—allowing all to be true—like a vast mountain upon a mole hill." Now Mr. Editor the inquiry presents itself where does this man Justice live? Isn't he a little hard upon his Gentile brethren? Are they doing such heavy stealing from him? If so, is it not strange that there is anything left of him. It is doubtless true that when the Gentiles in Missouri had begun with little acts of consecration until full vengence ceased to be a virtue, they made wholesale war upon the Mormons, and drove them out of the State, and that the same thing was done by Doctor McCulloch and his confederates at Beaver Island and Pine River. But it by no means follows that an honest Mormon, as we presume "Justice" is, in commercial dealings with his neighbors, would ever lose any property on account of his religious views. As a rule, Gentiles do not hold, in these days, to the persecution of any one for his religious creed. In this country it may be permitted to believe anything, even Mormonism, and it is nobody's business, provided he is in other respects a good citizen.

In conclusion, allow me to suggest to friend "Justice" that he should not rush into print every time a passing tavern witness his creed in an uncomplimentary manner, can if in such bodies there may be some inaccuracy of detail—as in this case the calling of a single meeting an annual feast, and a mistaken description of the articles consumed there. These are unimportant items, as a Gentile settler would as soon submit to have an ox consecrated, as a wagon or a load stolen, and his life threatened by hanging him in effigy on a gallows erected by 40 or 20 lusilie outlaws, upon his own premises.

JOHN S. DIXON.

Charlevoix, July 24th, 1875.

The Beecher Jurors.

The diary of the proceedings of the Beecher jurors after being locked up, which Mr. Jayman Hall says he has transcribed, ought to sell like hot cakes as soon as it is given to the world. It is full of personal allusions, many of them humorous, and gives among other things, a few of the discomforts experienced by twelve men locked up together. Smoking, eating, drinking, talking sleeping, telling stories, and playing a game called "jury game," served to pass the time away pleasantly. Plato is said to have jumped on the tables, flapped his arms and crowed like a rooster. Theyer sang comic songs and danced jigs, and was the life of the whole assemblage. In fact Tyler was the jolliest of the twelve, always in a good humor and full of fun. There were waiting matches around the room, in which Mr. Jeffery was the most athletic competitor. The only question in dispute through out the eight days of session was the the veracity of the witnesses, and that was a matter in which individual opinion counts alone here weight, and the difference of opinion seemed to be irreconcilable. The motions for argument were not held at any regular hours, but frequently through the day and often during the night. One night, Mr. Hall thinks that at least every hour a ballot was taken. The jurors slept as well as they could in chairs, on tables and under the tables. One or two had mattresses sent them by their families. Everything during the eight days was entirely harmonious, and a number of the jurymen have formed personal friendships which will be permanent.

The last honors were paid to the remains of Gen. Frank Blair at St. Louis last Sunday. The funeral was attended by many prominent personages, civil and military, and a vast concourse of people.

NORWOOD.

F. J. MEECH & Co.

NORWOOD, MICH.,

DEALERS IN

DRY GOODS,

Groceries and Provisions,

Also Manufacturers of

HARDWOOD LUMBER,

Lath and Shingles.

Some of our northern neighbors are greatly excited over the reported discovery of the precious metal. The place where the article is found is near Boyne Falls on the farm of Geo. Bennett, which is in township 32 north, range 4 west. The exact extent of this discovery or whether it amounts to anything or not we have not learned. We had however supposed that the geological formation of this part of the State, precluded anything but small fragmentary mineral deposits. We presume it is nothing but mica or some other glittering substance but will wait the decision of the scientists to whom we understand specimens found here have been submitted. Prof. Winchell can probably soon inform the public whether any dedence can be put on these gold discoveries. Since writing, Prof. Wilhelkell has informed us that the Boyne Falls discovery is nothing but mica.—Cheboygan Democrat.

A Railroad Suit.

The Continental Improvement Company and the Grand Rapids & Indiana Railroad Company, filed suit against J. K. Edgerton to recover $600,000 alleged to have been appropriated to his own use during his Presidency. At the end of Mr. Edgerton's rule the road was bankrupt, and in order to save the land grant a contract was made with the Continental Improvement Company to build and equip the road, giving them the land grant and the use of the road for a term of years in payment. Meanwhile the Continental Company have purchased a large part of the stock, and virtually own the road.

☞ The two Duchies of Mecklenburg are the only portion of the German Empire not under some form of constitutional government. In one of them, the executive, legislative, and practically the judicial powers are concentrated in one man, a Duke, who owns half the land in the Duchy, imposes heavy taxes on the rest, and spends money in whatever way pleases him. The Mecklenburgers object to this Wilsercism they pray the Reichstag to give them a constitutional government forthwith.

☞ A case involving the constitutionality of the liquor tax law was argued before Judge Cochrane of the Superior Court at Detroit on Tuesday. It was considered a test case, and an injunction was granted in order that it may be taken to the Supreme Court for final settlement.

There is now building at Wyandotte, a yacht, capable of carrying fifty passengers, which is guaranteed shall go thirty miles an hour.

FOX, ROSE & BUTTARS

Charlevoix.

THE SUMMER OF 1875.

LOWER! LOWER!

Go the Prices!

DRY GOODS,

WE CAN AND WILL

SELL CHEAPER

Than any other House in Charlevoix,

Our Neighbors

Are Cutting Down on Certain Articles; W cut down on

Everything!

If You Don't Believe It,

COME AND SEE

For Yourselves.

YARD WIDTH COTTON FOR 10[illegible]

TEA--3 Pounds for $1.

SUIT of Coths for $8.

The Best Goods,

Regardless of Profit,

Are Always Kept.

FOX, ROSE & BUTTARS.

Wonderful Success

Three years ago Dr. Boschees German Syrup was introduced in the United States from Germany for the cure of coughs, severe colds, settled on the breast, Consumption and other diseases of the Throat and Lungs. No medicine ever had such a success. 200,000 sample bottles have been distributed every year for these years by Druggists in all parts of the United States, and nearly 1000 letters from Druggists are now on our files saying that no other preparation in their stores sells as well and gives such excellent satisfaction. All we ask is for you to go to your Druggist G. W. Crofter, and get a sample bottle for 10 cents and try it. Regular size 75 cents.

NEW

MILLINERY

AND

Dress - Making

ESTABLISHMENT.

Fancy Goods, such as Canvass, Zephyrs Tidies, Tidy-patterns, Parasols, Kid Gloves, etc. Also Cashmere for Sacques, Dresses and Cloaks fitted and made in the latest fashions.

Charges Reasonable.

Rooms in Harry Newman's bakery building

MISS A. M. SACKETT.

Charlevoix, June 17, 1875. [3m]

DRUG and MEDICINES

DR. LEWIS

Tenders his thanks to the inhabitants of Charlevoix and vicinity for past patronage and solicits a continuance of the same. He has

JUST RECEIVED

A large stock of medicines, such as

Fluid Extracts,

Tinctures,

Essences

Oils of all kinds,

Gums,

Perfumery, etc

PATENT MEDICINES,

A large stock, such as Ayres, Jays Sowtlles, Peterman's Blackman's, Bagely's Herrick's.

A Full Supply of Dye Stuffs.

All goods sold as cheap as by any house north of Grand Rapids.

I Keep What I Advertise.

How to Train Up a Parent in the Way He Should Go.

It is sometimes said that children often present why are made too much of. Perhaps so. They but follow the fashion of the age—studying but a homily or exercise. No doubt they are little "spoiled." So are we all! But the errors of the parent, from which theirs arise, are a much more serious matter. How to guide up the parents in the way they should go is a necessity which, did it force itself upon the mind of any school board, would be found quite as important as the education of the children. * * *

To be just is the very first lesson that a parent requires to learn. The rights of the little soul, which did not come into the world of its own accord, nor, indeed, was taken into consideration in the matter at all—for do any in marrying ever think of the sort of fathers or mothers they are going to inflict offspring with?—the rights of this adjusting physical, mental and moral, are at once most obvious and least regarded. The newborn child is an innocent, a delight, a comfort, the parents exult over it, as over any other luxury or entitlement; but how seldom do they take to heart the solemn responsibility of it, or see a face divine as it were, looking at them from the innocent baby face!

Ye must young parents, who until now have been accustomed to think only of themselves, or of one another, take the introduction of the unconscious third as their natural possession, never doubting that it is wholly theirs to bring up as they please, and that they are quite capable of so doing.

Constantly one hears the remark: "Oh! I would not take the responsibility of so other person's child." Does that imply that they feel at liberty to do as they like with their own? I fear it does, and that law and custom both appear to sanction this delusion. Nobody must "interfere" between parent and child, at least not till the case comes within a degree or two of child-murder. The slow destruction of soul and body which, through ignorance or carelessness, goes on among hundreds of children, not only in humble but in many respectable and well-regulated households, society never notices. I suppose even the most daring philanthropist would never venture to bring in a bill for chaining the children of unworthy parents as snatching them from ruin by annihilating all parental rights, and making them children of the State. Yet such a proceeding would benefit the new generation to an incalculable degree.

"Train up a child in the way he should go" is the advice to everybody's mouth, but who thinks of training the parents? Does not everybody strictly hold that the same fact of parenthood implies all that is necessary for the upbringing of the child?—all the love, all the wisdom, all the self-denial? Does it ever occur to the average young man and young woman, bending together over the cradle of their first-born, that the little thing, whose teachers they are presently constituting themselves to be, is much more likely to be the unconscious agent in teaching them?

And the education begins at once. How amusing and, at the same time, how satisfactory it is to see a young fellow, who throughout his bachelor days has been a selfish egotist—most young bachelors are—obliged now to think of something and somebody besides himself, to give up not a few of his own personal comforts and find himself forced to play second fiddle in his own home, where the one important object for the time being is "the baby!"

I love spoken of rights. This is the only instance I know in which they are put omitted but entirely concealed. The newborn babe owes absolutely nothing to the parents beyond the physical fact of existence. All moral claims are on the side alone. The parents are responsible for it, soul and body, for certainly the first twenty years, nor even after that is it easy to imagine circumstances which could wholly set them free. The most severely tried father and mother could hardly shift their erring offspring with-out a lurking uneasiness of conscience as to how far these errors were owing to themselves and their up-bringing. For, save in very rare cases, where far-back types crop out again and are most difficult to deal with, there is seldom a "black sheep" in any family without the parents having been to blame.

"Why, I brought up my children all alike," moans some virtuous progenitor of such. "How does it happen that this one has turned out so different from the rest?"

Just, my good friend, because you did bring them up all alike. You had not the sense to see that the same training which makes one man another; or else that in training them it was necessary to train yourself first. Meaning to be a guide, you were only a finger-post, which points the way to others but stands still itself.

The very first lesson a parent has to learn is that whatever he attempts to teach he must himself first practice. Whatever he wishes his child to grow to resemble must be ruled to resemble; and that from the very earliest stage of existence, and down to the minutest things. In young children the imitative faculty is so enormous, the reasoning power so small, that one cannot be too careful, even with infants, to guard against indulging in a harsh tone, a brusque manner, a sad or angry look. As far as is possible the tender bud should live in an atmosphere of calm, almost sunshine, under which it may safely and happily unfold, hour by hour and day by day. To effect this there is required no force but love; or those who stand in the parent's stead, an amount of self-control and self-denial which would be almost impossible had not heaven implanted on the one side maternal instinct, on the other this extraordinary shining charm which there is about all young creatures, making us put up with their endless waywardness and love them all the better the more beautiful they grow.

That is, mother fo. When I said "maternal instinct" I spoke advisedly and intentionally. Of paternal instinct there is almost none. A man is proud of his sons and daughters because they are his sons and daughters—bound to carry down his name to posterity, but he rarely takes the slightest interest in anybody's children, and in his own only so far as they contribute to his pleasure, amusement, or dignity. The passionate love a woman often has for another woman's children, and for the feeblest, naughtiest, ugliest of her own, is to men a thing entirely unknown. Two thirds of paternal love is pure pride, and the remaining third not seldom pure egotism.—Harper's Bazar.

The Recent Floods in France.

The Paris correspondent of the London Standard, writing of the recent floods in France, says: "It is not in places like Toulouse that the sense of desolation caused by the plague of water can be realized; the evil does not stare you in the face, and even the fetid smells that make it impossible to walk through the ravaged quarters without putting up one's handkerchief to one's nose does not disturb the loungers in the Allees Lafayette or the gay dining-out parties at Tivoliers. But in the country, where ruined villages are set in a frame of ravaged fields, the magnitude of the disaster impresses one with a feeling of awe. One can realize the position of the wretched inhabitants of such places as Pinsaguel, or Verfeuil, or Portsud, when the water crawl madly over the plain, to the height of from ten to twelve feet, tearing up strong trees by the roots and tearing them, with resistless power, every obstacle in its path; surprised in their beds and spending hour after hour perched on the roofs of their houses, seeing building after building all around them giving way, until their turn came and, with a fearful crash, they were whirled away amid the floating wreck and human bodies, or were crushed beneath the ruins of their dwelling. What must have been terrible in these small, isolated villages was the agony of suspense, the conviction that no help of any kind was at hand, and that the only chance was the house standing until the water subsided. It must have been worse than death itself to many a man who stood surrounded by his wife and his children, answering in agonies of fear as the rear of the water grew louder and the vibration of the house beneath their feet grew more alarmingly frequent. In one of the few houses that remain standing in the village of Roques, a man, his wife and child were found dead in a room; the roof had fallen partly in and the staircase had been destroyed, they could not escape in any way, and they seem to have been suffocated as the water forced its way up inch by inch. At Agen the owner of a warm-bath establishment, named Dellas, with his wife and children, were miraculously preserved. The house is a strong, substantial building, and had it been further from the river, or even only one story higher, would have proved safe. As it was the water surrounded it entirely, and rose up to the roof, on which the inmates had taken refuge, and they must, after hours of agonizing suspense, have been swept away, as no boatman dared venture near the spot, but the true courage of a real battling master, assisted by Lieut. Feyrol, of the infantry. They remained on the roof not less than ten hours; but what means must have been taken place in the villages from whence houses and inhabitants have disappeared, and of which nothing is left to show that those heaps of rubbish were once houses but stray bits of furniture or bedding protruding from the debris, and now and then the carcasses of a few cattle partly imbedded in the ruins of their sheds.

As to the loss of life, I believe I have already told you that in my opinion it has been grossly exaggerated when it has been set down at 2,000. Indeed, I believe I can now account for the way in which this figure got into print. It professed to come from an official source, and I presume that it was meant as an approximate statement of the number of houses destroyed, not the number of lives. How many really perished cannot be known until a formal roll-call is gone through. This is not so difficult an operation as it seems, as every man, woman and child in France have their etat civil, and owing to the French system of rural taxation, called prestations en nature, their domicile is pretty generally known."

False Economy.

We know a very industrious and amiable little housewife out West who has a taste for dunning stockings. She can put as neat a patch upon a stocking as you ever saw, the threads of cotton as regular as fish-netting and as elastic as an "only direct railway route," and the whole so smoothly done that you hardly know which is the original and which the darning. Indeed, her jovial neighbor, who lives just across the alley, says those darns "never wear out." She says that Mrs. Fowler's stockings are like the human system—the material is renewed every seven years. And the neighbor, being in good circumstances and having nothing else to do, has calculated the total expense of mending those stockings after the fashion thoroughly overhauling, as expressed in cotton, needles and candles, and finds that it would have kept Mrs. Hamilton's family in the best fabrics or British hosiery. Proof of the inferior quality she had bought for their cheapness. In this estimate no account was taken of the time employed in the mending. Mrs. Hamilton had said that her labor was her capital, and it hardly seemed fair to count that in. Our informant says, however, that her Joe heard Clint Hamilton say the other day that somehow the last batch of doughnuts wouldn't do shown.

We know another wife and a well-meaning young woman in New York, whose limited salary as private tutor has for several years supported a cuvalrous old soldier of the last two wars, whom the last one left impoverished and unpensioned in Alabama. It was her custom—"Are there any birds that do more good than harm?" To answer this question in a general way all that would be necessary to say would be. Yes, very much.

From a scientific standpoint birds are one of the forces which nature employs to keep other forces in check. From an esthetic view they are beautiful creatures given by Providence to help glorify the earth.

Certain birds are not at all injurious to the farmer, as the oriole the cat-bird, robin, cherry-bird, etc. The the other hand there are birds particularly destructive to the farmer at certain seasons, as the red-winged blackbird. The first birds mentioned are especially obnoxious to the fruit-grower, while the blackbird is not. So the quail, prairie-fowl and all others of the gallinaceous family are great insect-attack seasons as they ranimal find in insects, and yet there are more that should be classified as being pre-eminently grain-eaters, as grouse, quail, blackbirds, finches, etc., are also largely insect-eaters, and feel their young almost exclusively on insectivorous larvæ.

It must be remembered, also, that birds are the natural enemies of insects: that, were it not for birds, insect life would soon increase to such an extent as to devour every green thing from the face of the earth that, even with their help, insects do so increase in certain successions of gre-ter seasons as to threaten with destruction large areas of countries—locusts, chinch bugs, Hessian flies and army-worms notably among the insects, and chicken-cholera, canker worms and curculio among fruit growers; that, in a state of nature, birds do hold insect-life in suitable check; that, as a country settles up, birds are destroyed to a considerable extent, while, through the systematic cultivation of the earth, a large supply of insect-food ensues a corresponding increase of insects, and, for cogent reasons, without a corresponding increase of birds—the reason being that no species of birds are the special foes of insects prevalent in particular seasons; that every bird is, by instinct, supplied in so extremely prolific when the conditions are suited thereto. Therefore let us use a wise discretion in the destruction of birds, and be careful a discretion in killing them.

Birds destructive to one class of cultivators may be beneficial to another, and vice versa. When they are taking more than their share, one class may be killing them, while the other is protecting a crop here again, the natural law of self-preservation becomes apparent. In the northern portions of Illinois, robins, catbirds, orioles, thrushes, etc., are not generally regarded as destructive, but rather as being beneficial to the farmer, for the reason that the nature of fruit is not then the leading industry, and orchards, at the time of ripening their fruits, are, in many instances, attacked. In the fruit-regions in the more southern portions of the State those birds are justly regarded as being the most inimical of the feathered genitus.

We hold that the extermination of any of our birds would be a serious evil; that, if the cultivator would take measures unto to prevent injury by birds as he must, in certain seasons, to prevent the ravages of insects, he often finds even with their help of birds, he would soon come to know and to discriminate between those most useful to his friends and those destructive to his crops.—"Farm and Garden," in Chicago Tribune.

—The theory, so commonly accepted, in regard to the influence of forests on climate—especially that they increase rainfall—has lately been the subject of considerable discussion among scientific men in Europe, the opinion being held by some that no such influence is exercised, and that it is more probable that rain is the cause of forests. Among the facts cited in this connection is the interesting one furnished by districts in India in which the forest vegetation is just in proportion to the fall of rain—being small and diminutive where there is but little rain, and abundant and gigantic where there is much—and though "temperate climates promises may produce an effect, they do not in the tropics. Several instances are also cited where there is much rain but a total absence of forests, and, on the other hand, of thrifty forests where there is but little rain. It is probable, however, that the fact of forests not always growing in rainy districts arises from the water accumulating and forming morasses in such cases, instead of sinking into the soil, and in districts where there is not much rain there may be much moisture in the atmosphere.

The Bird Question.

A correspondent last week asked "Are there any birds that do more good than harm?" To answer this question in a general way all that would be necessary to say would be. Yes, very much.

From a scientific standpoint birds are one of the forces which nature employs to keep other forces in check. From an esthetic view they are beautiful creatures given by Providence to help glorify the earth.

Certain birds are not at all injurious to the farmer, as the oriole the cat-bird, robin, cherry-bird, etc. On the other hand there are birds particularly destructive to the farmer at certain seasons, as the red-winged blackbird. The first birds mentioned are especially obnoxious to the fruit-grower, while the blackbird is not. So the quail, prairie-fowl and all others of the gallinaceous family are great insect-attack seasons as they ranimal find in insects, and yet there are more that should be classified as being pre-eminently grain-eaters, as grouse, quail, blackbirds, finches, etc., are also largely insect-eaters, and feel their young almost exclusively on insectivorous larvæ.

It must be remembered, also, that birds are the natural enemies of insects: that, were it not for birds, insect life would soon increase to such an extent as to devour every green thing from the face of the earth that, even with their help, insects do so increase in certain successions of gre-ter seasons as to threaten with destruction large areas of countries—locusts, chinch bugs, Hessian flies and army-worms notably among the insects, and chicken-cholera, canker worms and curculio among fruit growers; that, in a state of nature, birds do hold insect-life in suitable check; that, as a country settles up, birds are destroyed to a considerable extent, while, through the systematic cultivation of the earth, a large supply of insect-food ensues a corresponding increase of insects, and, for cogent reasons, without a corresponding increase of birds—the reason being that no species of birds are the special foes of insects prevalent in particular seasons; that every bird is, by instinct, supplied in so extremely prolific when the conditions are suited thereto. Therefore let us use a wise discretion in the destruction of birds, and be careful a discretion in killing them.

Birds destructive to one class of cultivators may be beneficial to another, and vice versa. When they are taking more than their share, one class may be killing them, while the other is protecting a crop here again, the natural law of self-preservation becomes apparent. In the northern portions of Illinois, robins, catbirds, orioles, thrushes, etc., are not generally regarded as destructive, but rather as being beneficial to the farmer, for the reason that the nature of fruit is not then the leading industry, and orchards, at the time of ripening their fruits, are, in many instances, attacked. In the fruit-regions in the more southern portions of the State those birds are justly regarded as being the most inimical of the feathered genitus.

We hold that the extermination of any of our birds would be a serious evil; that, if the cultivator would take measures unto to prevent injury by birds as he must, in certain seasons, to prevent the ravages of insects, he often finds even with their help of birds, he would soon come to know and to discriminate between those most useful to his friends and those destructive to his crops.—"Farm and Garden," in Chicago Tribune.

—The theory, so commonly accepted, in regard to the influence of forests on climate—especially that they increase rainfall—has lately been the subject of considerable discussion among scientific men in Europe, the opinion being held by some that no such influence is exercised, and that it is more probable that rain is the cause of forests. Among the facts cited in this connection is the interesting one furnished by districts in India in which the forest vegetation is just in proportion to the fall of rain—being small and diminutive where there is but little rain, and abundant and gigantic where there is much—and though "temperate climates promises may produce an effect, they do not in the tropics. Several instances are also cited where there is much rain but a total absence of forests, and, on the other hand, of thrifty forests where there is but little rain. It is probable, however, that the fact of forests not always growing in rainy districts arises from the water accumulating and forming morasses in such cases, instead of sinking into the soil, and in districts where there is not much rain there may be much moisture in the atmosphere.

—An Irish gentleman of the agricultural persuasion being recommended by a friendly adviser to heap loads of the on the head of an aggravating wife, went home and did so. Her recovery is doubtful, and the prisoner is remanded.

Salmon Fishing.

The following graphic and lively sketch of salmon-fishing is from an entertaining article in the Atlantic for August, entitled "Ten Days' Sport on Salmon Rivers," by Dean Sage:

I hooked him just in front of Mowat's house; he rose to the same small dark Nicholson fly I had killed the other salmon with. His first rush was pert rapid as he started off, but a steady, lasting gait that showed consolers power. As he went on his speed increased, until he had about sixty yards of the line out, which I was obliged to give him in order not to take the cause past the only spot where, for some distance, we could land. When he jumped he showed larger than any fish I have seen, and made me very doubtful of my ability to land him. As soon as I could be checked I started down and began to reel in, but had only gained a few feet of line when the fish took another rush down-stream, and for a couple of hundred yards kept me going at full speed over a very rough country composed chiefly of driftwood, stumps and large rocks. When he halted, which he did after jumping once more, I had about ten yards more to reel in, and despite my fatigue and bruises (I had fallen flat over a large rock) had to keep on as fast as I could reel up. I had hardly gained half my line when off went the fish again and I had another foot-race, which left my reel almost bare. At the conclusion of this burst he jumped again, and then began coming toward me. This is an exceedingly dangerous thing for a salmon to do, and, if not soon checked, certainly results in his breaking loose, as the current makes the line sag downstream and it is sure to catch on some of the rocks, which all have their sharp edges pointed in the direction of the current. Fortunately the rapid was some distance above me, and the Indians brought it over the fish and turned him down-stream before he had lost any harm. He then took refuge behind a rock and sulked for half an hour, I being perfectly willing to have him do so until I could get my second wind. It took a good deal of stoning and one pike-pole to start him going again, but at last, after as arduous an hour and a half as I ever spent, during which the fish had jumped nine times and fought with unsurpassable resolution and intelligence, he was induced to come within ten yards of me, where I held him, his fins erect and his mouth open, while Peter with many a grunt went just below to gaff him. When he got in position I eased up a little on the reel, the fish slid down-stream, Peter made a dash at him out of reach and hissed: the salmon made one last effort, parted the frayed gut, rolled over utterly exhausted, and disappeared. Mowat saw him that evening lying by a large stone at the edge of the rapid, just moving his fins, and with about a yard of my leader hanging out of his mouth. So severe were the rushes of this ten-ton I found the brass ring at the end of my pickle-jar so nearly straight by the friction of the line that I was afraid to use it again. I sincerely hope that salmon lived and will populate the Restigouche with his kind, for a nobler and gamer one never swam. Mowat thought he would weigh about forty pounds; the Indians over fifty and I is at least sixty. I don't think I had hold of so large a salmon as this again, though the next Monday I had two rushes with heavy fish. I did not see which started up stream instead of down, as soon as hooked, and could not tell anything about.

—Nine commissioners have been appointed by the General Conference of the Methodist (not Episcopal) Church to meet nine commissioners appointed last year by the General Conference of the Methodist Protestant Church to devise a basis of union. A meeting of the joint commissioners will probably be held during the present summer.

An Interview With Santa Anna.

The following interesting account of an interview with Santa Anna is given in the Picayune, of Mobile, by "H. S. D."

Probably no life of the present century, if written out, would present a more checkered, sensational page than that of Santa Anna. Associated as it is with every event in the history of our Republic, it is filled also with private and personal experiences which seemed like the swaggerations of fiction. It has been filled with honors and adversities, and now, at the ripe old age of seventy-eight, the possessor looks over it all and would fain be young again. It was about the year 1850 that Santa Anna—absolute political power was broken. Since then with the exception of some unimportant part in the French intervention, his life has been comparatively quiet.

Happening a few months since to be in the city of Mexico, and learning that the old hero was then spending a few weeks in his city home, I determined, if possible, to gratify my feelings of interest in his romantic career by securing an interview. Owing to a mutual feeling of delicacy existing between Santa Anna and the Mexican people, he forms hold himself in great reserve. His rooms are open to but a few, and it is no easy matter to obtain admission. The ordinary rules are not so sundy, and it is generally much easier for a stranger to gain his private apartments than for a citizen.

By hardly had time to cast a hasty glance about as before a side door opened, and Santa Anna himself stepped into the room. He was dressed in a suit of black, presented us, and, after shaking hands and making a few common-place remarks in each one of us, he motioned toward the chairs, and we all moved over and sat down. My surprise at the appearance of the old General was shared by my companion. Instead of the gray-haired old man that we had expected to see, an upright, soldierly figure stood before us. His form was not bowed down by the weight of years, and his cool, black, flashing eyes told that the fires of early life were not yet all quenched. His step, as he many seen, Santa Anna's hair has not yet turned gray, and his face has a kindly, hopeful expression, strangely at variance with the wide-spread ideas of his character. He wears no beard of any kind, and is as smooth-faced as a woman. His bald-ing he is much troubled by a bad fitting set of false teeth, which fall from the palate, and so destroy the power of his utterance of English and placed him. For over an hour the old man ran on from topic to topic with scarcely an interruption, and I thought he showed a disposition to talk for, after seating himself very carefully he threw it out directly before him and covered it with the left. He sat upright, nor did he change his position during the conversation the whole hour that we were with him. Santa Anna is a slim built, almost effeminate in height, and in his younger days must have been a handsome man—as he is at present a fine-looking old gentleman. His manner of address is very affable and courteous, and he seems to be a thorough gentleman in his intercourse with others. He converses fluently in English, and would present a more choice-ful, sensational page than that of Santa Anna. Associated as it is with every event in the history of our Republic, it is filled also with private and personal experiences which seemed like the swaggerations of fiction. It has been filled with honors and adversities, and now, at the ripe old age of seventy-eight, the possessor looks over it all and would fain be young again. It was about the year 1850 that Santa Anna—absolute political power was broken. Since then with the exception of some unimportant part in the French intervention, his life has been comparatively quiet.

Happening a few months since to be in the city of Mexico, and learning that the old hero was then spending a few weeks in his city home, I determined, if possible, to gratify my feelings of interest in his romantic career by securing an interview. Owing to a mutual feeling of delicacy existing between Santa Anna and the Mexican people, he forms hold himself in great reserve. His rooms are open to but a few, and it is no easy matter to obtain admission. The ordinary rules are not so sundy, and it is generally much easier for a stranger to gain his private apartments than for a citizen.

By hardly had time to cast a hasty glance about as before a side door opened, and Santa Anna himself stepped into the room. He was dressed in a suit of black, presented us, and, after shaking hands and making a few common-place remarks in each one of us, he motioned toward the chairs, and we all moved over and sat down. My surprise at the appearance of the old General was shared by my companion. Instead of the gray-haired old man that we had expected to see, an upright, soldierly figure stood before us. His form was not bowed down by the weight of years, and his cool, black, flashing eyes told that the fires of early life were not yet all quenched. His step, as he many seen, Santa Anna's hair has not yet turned gray, and his face has a kindly, hopeful expression, strangely at variance with the wide-spread ideas of his character. He wears no beard of any kind, and is as smooth-faced as a woman. His bald-ing he is much troubled by a bad fitting set of false teeth, which fall from the palate, and so destroy the power of his utterance of English and placed him. For over an hour the old man ran on from topic to topic with scarcely an interruption, and I thought he showed a disposition to talk for, after seating himself very carefully he threw it out directly before him and covered it with the left. He sat upright, nor did he change his position during the conversation the whole hour that we were with him. Santa Anna is a slim built, almost effeminate in height, and in his younger days must have been a handsome man—as he is at present a fine-looking old gentleman. His manner of address is very affable and courteous, and he seems to be a thorough gentleman in his intercourse with others. He converses fluently in English, and would

HOUSEHOLD HINTS.

Bee Stings.—Any absorbent will give relief. But perhaps nothing is more effectual than lean raw meat. The sting of a bee or wasp may be almost instantly relieved by it. It is said to cure the bite of a rattlesnake and to relieve erysipelas.—Western Rural.

Prune Pie.—"Pipsy Potts" says, in Arthur's, that the girls of her household make a nice prune pie by stewing them till they are soft, removing the pits, and using a glass of currant jelly with it; then they sweeten the whole well, bake it with one crust, and narrow stripped twisted pie-crust laid across the top and white sugar sifted over.

Gooseberry Jam.—Equal weights of fruit and sugar. Top and tail the not very ripe gooseberries, and simmer them in a syrup (made by boiling half a pint of water with every pound of sugar for one-fourth of an hour, carefully skimming) gently till clear and firm. Try a little of the jelly on a plate; if it jellies when cold, it is done. Pour it into pots, and when cold cover, and set it in a dry place.

A lady, writing to the Germantown Telegraph, instructs to cook the cauliflower with the outer lineal leaves on clipped of course flowy to the head. Let it soak in cold water for a half or a whole hour, and then boil it steadily for an hour or until it is perfectly tender, drain and dish, and send to the table just as it is, with some drawn butter for those who prefer this sauce. I like a little good oil, but pepper and salt only bring out the good qualities of the vegetable much better than any sauce.

The following is a good recipe for raspberry vinegar. Pour over one pound of bruised berries one quart of the best cider vinegar; next day strain the liquor on one pound of fresh raspberries, bruise them also, and on the following day do the same. Do not squeeze the fruit, only drain the liquor thoroughly. Put the juice into a stone jar and add sugar in proportion of one pound to a pint. When the sugar is melted place the jars in a saucepan of water, which heat; skim the liquor, and after it has simmered for a few minutes, remove from the fire, cover and bottle.—Scientific American.

A correspondent of the Detroit Tribune thinks she has about as good a recipe for pickles as can be found. It was in such clean, and put the cucumbers into brine for twenty-four hours, take them out and put them into vinegar. Continue this for twenty-four hours, take them out and put them into vinegar. Continue this for twenty-four hours, take them out and put them into vinegar. Continue this

What Our Neighbors Say.

From the Antrim County Independent.

The Charlevoix Sentinel comes to us enlarged to a six column quarto. We wish brother Smith the success he justly deserves.

From the Big Rapids Pioneer.

The Charlevoix Sentinel has enlarged to a six column quarto, and is now the largest paper in that section of Michigan, and is edited with ability and enterprise. We tender our sincere congratulations to friend Smith.—May he live long and prosper."

From the Glen Lake News.

We have neglected to compliment W. A. Smith on the enlargement of the paper which he so ably edits. The Sentinel is now a six column quarto, resembling in form and make up the News—and of course like it. The Sentinel has always been one of our spiciest and able exchanges, and we are pleased to note all its improvements.

From the Northport Tribune.

The Charlevoix Sentinel has been enlarged to a 48 column quarto. It has always labored assiduously for the advancement of the county in which it is published, and the patronage which enables it to thus enlarge is deserved. It now becomes the duty of the people of Charlevoix county to give their paper increased patronage, according to its additional merit

From the Grand Traverse Herald.

The Charlevoix Sentinel comes to us enlarged to a forty-eight column quarto. Friend Smith now boasts of printing the "largest paper in the Grand Traverse regions!" This is true, and we are fearful that it is larger than will be found profitable. It is, of course, now printed on the co-operative or "patent" system, the sheets being obtained from Chicago or elsewhere with one side ready printed.

The Sentinel is a good paper and has always labored faithfully for the advancement of the Pine River region. It should receive a liberal support.

From the Traverse Bay Progress.

Friend Smith, of the Charlevoix Sentinel has enlarged his paper, and it is now the largest paper in the Grand Traverse Region, also one of the best. We truly think the journals in this region will compare favorably with those of any section of country of the same extent in the State, except, of course, the weeklies published in the large towns and cities. Publishers in the old and thickly settled counties have no idea of the difficulties attending the publication of newspapers in newly settled countries and very small towns. It requires hard work and ingenuity to obtain sufficient new accounts current to fill the local columns without going outside for general news. Still we would not change places with the editorial or general department. Village containing less than half a dozen business houses or railroad connection, with the nearest mail are at least forty miles away, are productive of news, and consequently "real local" in such places is confined to "wrecked out" logging camps, "turned over teams" and "brake downs" on roads as to generally the same even those who profess to write it.

A Brave Woman.—Intermarriage—From the old county home, now returned to the old Taylor place, but about sixty rods distant, is a one-eyed, district, quarter section, with a log house and log barn, and a few acres cleared. This place it used to be said by persons who knew it, was of such an extremely sandy nature, that farmers moving to town from that locality had to work awhile to get enough sand to run through it. Inasmuch as it is a matter on which the writer is supposed some what posted, he takes it for granted, and so states, married misfortune could not have come to a woman who was more improved and the goods and chattels allowed by law, will be sold at public auction to the highest bidder, to pay the same, on the 4th day of Nov., A. D. 1875, at the office of said town, at the Court House in the Court House, in the Village of St. James in the county of Beaton, that being the place of holding the Circuit Court for said county of Beaton.

FRANCIS TAYLOR,
Deputy of
FRANKLIN BOARD,
Geo. Comp. and
Geo. F. DARLEY,
Mortgagee.

Dated, July 19th, 1875.
Howard & Townsend,
Attorneys for Mortgagee.
Attorney's fees, $17.50.

Boyne Falls House,
Boyne Falls, Mich.
Is now pleasantly in Depot. Good accommodation for guests.
4(3)1. WM. NELSON, Prop.

J. E. Greilick & Co.,
TRAVERSE CITY, MICH.
Manufacturers of, and Dealers in
Sash & Doors,
BLINDS, MOULDINGS, BRACKETS,
STORE FRONTS
Stair Railing Balusters and Newel Posts
A large assortment of glazed and unglazed Sash, all sizes of doors.
SEASONED
Clear Lumber, Dressed Flooring, Ceiling Siding and Lath constantly on hand for the present trade. Orders by Boat will be promptly attended to.

RAILROAD

Carpenter & Handy
BOYNE FALLS, M.
Dealers in
DRY GOODS,
Groceries.
Provisions.
Hardware.
Crockery.
OUR GOODS AND PRICES
Call and See Us.

FOR SALE.

FARMS:

1875. 1875.
Spring and Summer
Fox, Rose & Buttars.
PETOSKEY:
Headquarters to Buy
DRY GOODS,
GROCERIES & PROVISIONS.
BOOTS and SHOES.
TIN and HARDWARE.
STOVES, SOVERPIPE
CROCKERY & GLASSWARE.
TRUNKS, Traveling Bags
FURNITURE, etc.
We also keep good goods and sell at our Cash Prices. Strangers coming to town can find their way to our store; people living with us know how the Goods are Largest Stock! Lowest Prices!
Careful Attention to Orders.
Fox, Rose & Buttars

G.B. MILLS,
DEALER IN
Gen'l Merchandise,
Boyne Falls, Mich.
Cash Paid for Country Produce
Respectfully to the country of the village and the Ladies of the Lake, one and make a full their interest to call and examine goods and prices.
May 20, 1875.

REAL ESTATE AGENCY

H. L. MILLER,
CHARLEVOIX MICH
Titles good, and correct, taxes paid, and long experience in examination of property and to reasonable terms.
Also for sale on easy terms the following described lands:
CHARLEVOIX COUNTY.
The All Ready Farm at Round P. O. on the north bank of Round Lake, containing S. ½ of the N. E. ¼ of S. E. ¼ and the S. ½ of the N. W. ¼ of S. E. ¼ of section 29, town 34 north of range 6 west. Timber, maple and beech, fine, hardwood, hemlock and pine.
CHARLEVOIX COUNTY.
The All Ready Farm at Round P. O. on the north bank of Round Lake, containing S. ½ of the N. E. ¼ of S. E. ¼ and the S. ½ of the N. W. ¼ of S. E. ¼ of section 29, town 34 north of range 6 west. Timber, maple and beech, fine, hardwood, hemlock and pine.
Also for sale, on easy terms, the following described lands in Charlevoix county, Mich.
The S. ½ of the N

THE SENTINEL.

WILLARD A. SMITH, Editor and Proprietor.

CHARLEVOIX, - MICHIGAN.

THE NEWS.

CAILLAUX, Minister of Public Works, estimates the total damage done to property by the inundation in the South of France at $15,000,000.

THE Spanish Government has decided to contract a loan of $2,000,000 to indemnify the owners of emancipated slaves in Porto Rico. A London dispatch of the 26th said that Carlos had written a letter to King Alphonso, representing him as allowing the civil war to be conducted with such excessive rigor, and counseling moderation on the side of the Alphonsists on pain of rendering it impossible. The Carlist issues during the three weeks ending July 25 were estimated at 1,000 men killed, wounded and missing.

A RACE was commenced in several cotton mills in England on the 24th.

SEVERAL thousand sailors and workingmen attended a meeting held at Hyde, England, on the 25th, to indorse Plimsoll's course in Parliament. Resolutions expressing sympathy with and pledging support to him were adopted.

THE report of the Department of Agriculture for July 1 shows the condition of spring and winter wheat together at about 92 per cent of an average. The oat crop and all remaining California, averages 74, and spring wheat 93. Spring wheat States to the Northeast and Northwest are generally in higher condition. Of the winter wheat area the South Atlantic and Gulf States are generally above the average, but in the Middle States the condition is very low, the average being down to 73. West of the Alleghanies the prospect is better, the States averages being between 71 in Ohio and 90 in Iowa. California reports winter wheat at 76 and spring wheat at 75.

THE Postoffice Department has sent to the Department of Justice the names of 9 thirty nine mail contractors who are reported for failure to perform service after their bids were accepted. The contracts were let and the difference between the amount paid and the bids, for the thirty-nine routes, was $12,267, which is the amount of damages claimed.

IT was announced by the New York Tribune of the 26th that Postmaster-Gen. Jewell had let the new route along the shores of the lakes for the fast mail to the West, expected to begin to run by the 1st of October. It will make the distance from New York to Chicago in 30 hours' less than any railroad knows, and it is hoped to reduce the time to twenty-four, a gain of twelve hours over the present mail and express time.

IN Boston, recently, Hugh Donahue walked 1,610 miles in 1,000 consecutive hours. He was in good condition at the close.

MARY FRAMES, at Indianapolis, on the 23d, used kerosene oil to light a fire. She was fatally burned.

AFTER ten days' deliberation, the Supreme Court of Tennessee has decided adversely to the Chattanooga claim.

YELLOW FEVER was raging at Pensacola, Fla., and other gulf ports, according to advices received at Washington on the 26th, and orders had been issued for the adoption of all possible means to prevent the spread of the disease.

ACCORDING to dispatches from Lisbon of the 26th there was a very severe drought in several districts of the province of Minho. Portugal. Crops were destroyed and cattle were dying of hunger. A famine was imminent, and the foreign consuls will refer to the suffering in Insbandon.

ISAAC M. SINGER, inventor of the Singer sewing machine, died at London on the 24th, aged sixty-eight.

A LONDON dispatch of the 26th says Pimsoll made a meeting with warm support for his course in Parliament, and the Government was evidently terrified. The Shipping bill had been revised and the House of Commons had fixed upon the 20th for its second reading.

THE Viscount de Beaumont Vassy, the well-known political writer, died in Paris on the 26th.

IT was stated in June last that the President had addressed a letter to Secretary Delano requesting his resignation, and that the latter had brought the President to retain him in the Cabinet. A Washington Associated Press dispatch of the 26th says such statement was without any foundation in fact.

CHIEF CLERK AVERY, of the Treasury Department at Washington, who was indicted by the Grand Jury at St. Louis for complicity in the whisky frauds, was requested to resign on the 26th, and did so.

AN order has been issued by Brig.-Gen. Ord, commanding the Department of Texas, that persons appearing in that department in the disguise of Indians will be treated as Indians, and, if not killed when captured, will be sent to Fort Marion, Augustine, Fla., and not be allowed to communicate.

THE Secretary of the Treasury has issued a call for redemption of the remainder of the 5-20 bonds of 1862.

EX-CHIEF CLERK AVERY, of the Treasury Department, was arrested in Washington on the 26th and admitted to bail in the sum of $5,000.

THE New York Evening Post of the 26th says the firm of Duncan, Sherman & Co. on cotton alone exceeded $1,000,000.

A STRONG earthquake shock was felt in Connecticut on the morning of the 26th.

JOHN MASON & Co., copper brokers, of Philadelphia, and the Commercial Wrecking Company, New York, and one or two other smaller institutions failed on the 28th.

THE Toronto Exchange Banking Company, of Louisville, Ky., has closed its doors.

ACCORDING to dispatches of the 28th from Fort Benton, Montana Territory, the Indians were preventing there from starving extinct.

THE Minnesota Republican State Convention met at St. Paul on the 28th, and nominated John Pillsbury for Governor. J. B. Wakefield for Lieutenant-Governor, A. J. Evans for Secretary of State. O. P. Whitcomb for State Auditor; William Pitcher for State Treasurer, Geo. P. Wilson for Attorney-General; S. H. Nicholls for Clerk Supreme Court, Charles A. Gilman for Railroad Commissioner. James Gilfillan was recommended for re-appointment as Chief Justice.

THE financial policy which shall steadily keep in view a return to specie payment, advocates a tariff only for revenue, discriminating so as to be the least burdensome and most favorable to the interests of home industry and labor; demands that railway and other corporations shall be held in subjection to the lawmaking power, and approves of the unlimited coinage of the silver dollar.

THE following is a list of the State electors to be [illegible] Kentucky, Monday, Aug. 2; Indiana, Tuesday, Sept. 7; Arkansas, Monday, Sept. 6; Maine, Monday, Sept. 13; Iowa, Tuesday, Oct. 12; Ohio, Tuesday, Oct. 12; Virginia, Tuesday, Nov. 2; Kansas, Tuesday, Nov. 2; Maryland, Tuesday, Nov. 2; Mississippi, Tuesday, Nov. 2; Missouri, Tuesday, Nov. 2; Nebraska, Tuesday, Nov. 2; New Jersey, Tuesday, Nov. 2; Pennsylvania, Tuesday, Nov. 2; Wisconsin, Tuesday, Nov. 2; Texas, Tuesday, Dec. 7.

ON the 28th in the British House of Commons, Mr. Plimsoll apologized for his language in a previous speech, and was discharged from censure.

THE International Mayoralty lawsuit occurred at London on the night of the 28th. Six hundred and fifty persons participated. The Tammany candidate was defeated.

ABOUT 2,000 workmen employed on the St. Gothard tunnel struck for higher wages on the 26th. The Government sent troops, who dispersed the rioters, killing and wounding several.

THE Carlist town of Seo de Urgel according to a Madrid dispatch of the 29th, had been taken by assault, but the citadel held out.

THE National Bank circulation outstanding July 28 was $350,152,548.

J. B. FORD & Co., publishers, of New York, recently failed. Their failure, it is said, does not affect the Christian Union newspaper, of which they were the publishers.

THE Michigan State Temperance Association, recently in session at Jackson, resolved—that the moderate policy is right in principle and should never be overthrown; declaring that the enactment of a prohibitory law be an issue of paramount importance, agreeing to support no candidate for the Legislature of 1877 who is not in favor of prohibition, and announcing that, in their judgment, "there is no practical difference between the present Liquor-tax law of this State and a license law, which would be clearly in violation of the Constitution."

THE testimony for the defense in the Mountain Meadows massacre trial was begun on the 28th. The counsel for the defense stated that their theory was that the Indians were the perpetrators of the outrage, having been provoked thereto by the emigrants themselves; that Lee held no military or church office, and that he tried to protect the emigrants, and were when the massacre was proposed.

A DISPATCH was received in Washington on the 27th from Dyea, dated Sunday, July 17, stating that Ice had discovered gold in paying quantities on Spring and Rapid Creeks, twenty to thirty miles northeast of Harney's Peak.

THE Chicago Times of July 29 says there is little hope now for even half a crop of winter wheat. The increase in corn should improve there is likely to be considerable loss in the spring wheat crop.

Call and Notice.

THE MARKETS.

NEW YORK

LIVE STOCK.—BEEF CATTLE—$11 25@$12 75. Hogs—Live, $7 50@7 62½. Sheep—Live, $4 50@5 50. BREADSTUFFS.—Flour—Superfine, $4 00@4 50; white wheat extra, $5 00@5 25. Wheat—No. 2 Chicago, $1 00@1 01. No. 2 Northwestern, $1 04@1 05. No. 2 Milwaukee spring, $1 00@1 01. Rye—Western and State, $1 16@1 18. Barley—$1 05@1 20. Corn—Mixed Western, 58@58½. Oats—Western Mixed, 40@42. PROVISIONS.—Pork—Mess, $18 00@18 25. Lard—Steam, 12½c. Butter—Western, 16@17c. Cheese—Fair to good, 9@10½c.

CHICAGO.

LIVE STOCK.—BEEVES—Choice, $6 00@6 50; medium, $5 50@5 75; inferior to common, $4 50@5 25. Stockers—Good to choice, $4 50@5 00; common to fair, $3 50@4 25. Hogs—Live, $5 10@5 30. Sheep—Fair to choice, $3 00@3 75.

BREADSTUFFS.—Flour—White Winter Extra, $5 00@5 50; spring extra, $4 00@4 50; Minnesota Spring, No. 1, $5 00@5 25. Corn—No. 2, 39½@40c. Oats—No. 2, 28@28½c. Rye—No. 2, 70@71c. Barley—No. 2, $1 00@1 01. Butter—Choice, 16@16½c. Eggs—Fresh, 10½@11c. Pork—Mess, $16 00@16 50. Lard—$12 00@12 05.

BREADSTUFFS.—Flour—White Winter Extra, $5 00@5 50; spring extra, $4 00@4 50; Minnesota Spring, No. 1, $5 00@5 25. Corn—No. 2, 39½@40c. Oats—No. 2, 28@28½c. Rye—No. 2, 70@71c. Barley—No. 2, $1 00@1 01. Butter—Choice, 16@16½c. Eggs—Fresh, 10½@11c. Pork—Mess, $16 00@16 50. Lard—$12 00@12 05.

DETROIT.

BREADSTUFFS.—Flour—Extra, $5 00@5 50. Wheat—No. 1 White, $1 04@1 05.

TOLEDO.

BREADSTUFFS.—Wheat—White Wabash, $1 01@1 03. No. 2 Red, $1 00@1 01. Corn—$12 00@12 05. Oats—No. 1, 29@29½c.

CLEVELAND

BREADSTUFFS.—Wheat—No. 1 Red, $1 00@1 01; No. 2 Red, $1 00@1 01. Corn—No. 1, 39½@40c. Oats—No. 1, 29@29½c.

BUFFALO

LIVE STOCK.—BEEVES—$5 00@5 25. Hogs—Live, $7 00@7 50. Sheep—Live, $5 00@5 50.

EAST LIBERTY

LIVE STOCK.—Cattle—Best, $7 00@7 25; medium, $6 00@6 25. Hogs—Yorkers, $7 00@7 25; Philadelphia, $7 00@7 25. Sheep—Best, $5 00@5 25; medium, $4 00@4 75.

Religion of the Holidays.

A writer, speaking of the art examples in the new India Museum, thus characterizes the religion of the Hindoos: "The central idea of the religion of so many Aryan people, that of the incarnation of the Deity, is fully developed in many of the quaint, symbolic forms of the Hindoo Pantheon. A key to the whole is supplied in a shrine in which are nine compartments. It shows the ten incarnations of Vishnoo. Philosophically regarded, it portrays the first development and advance in organized life which, geology teaches us, has ruled since the first appearance beneath the waters of the earliest ocean, of the simplest living forms. The creative energy is first represented or embodied in the fish. Then in the reptilian semi-aquatic type of the turtle. Then in the terrestrial form of the boar. It is natural to those whose development is imperfect or who place the carnivora, although ready of simpler organization than the herbivora, above them in the ascending series. Then the lion-god follows the Pig-god. Then appears the pigmy or little man as he may be seen among the Esquimaux or the Bosjimans. Sixth is the form of Rama, or the fully-developed man, apt to labor. He is armed with an ax. Next comes warrior-man with a bow. Apparently there is a more advanced stage of life than that of the hunter. The eighth incarnation is Buddh with a plow. Ninth comes Juggernaut, the religious man. Tenth—the hope which is now special to Hindoo mythology—the Coming King, demised by the individual couple."

When Kehl counts his milk white sheep,
Hoom, earth and all will then recede.
The frequently expressed form of this declaration, although expressing an idea not included in this series, and as an offspring of tropical climate must be of a different date. The excellence of the pronoun word some of these figures is of high order."

MICHIGAN STATE NEWS.

THE Kloman mine in Marquette County has suspended operations.

THE State Temperance Convention will be held at Jackson on the 27th.

THE Mitchell House, at Clam Lake, was recently burned, involving a loss of about $6,000.

THE keepers of the State Prison, about forty in number, are to have uniforms of dark blue.

PETER MELDRUM was choked to death at Detroit while eating supper the other evening.

THE coal operators of Jackson have entered a contract with the State for the labor of fifty convicts.

THE Saginaw Republican says that a colored woman in that city recently died of neglect and starvation.

THE Michigan State Temperance Convention will be held in Lansing the second Tuesday in January, 1876.

AT Portage Lake, within an area of thirty yards, sixteen trees have at different times been struck by lightning.

THE game cloths about the State have begun work in earnest entering by the State laws for the protection of fish and game.

WILLIAM PENNY, residing near Grand Rapids, fell through a trap-door in his barn, the other day, and was fatally injured.

A SIX-YEAR-OLD son of Leon Woods, living at Hay City, fell into the dock in front of his father's home, the other morning, and was drowned.

A GRAND RAPIDS special reports the burning of the buildings belonging to the Ferry & Clay Furniture Company, involving a loss of $25,000.

THE Menominee Herald says that a grub worm is destroying the cultivated bushes in that vicinity, by entering the stalk and working down to the root.

THE annual quiet at Republic was resumed by dismissal by the reported slaughter of Gustav Jefferson, the druggist, leaving his creditors to mourn the loss of about $4,000.

HAY CITY recently had a grand public demonstration over the completion of her water works. It was participated in by the Common Councils of Detroit, Bay Saginaw, Saginaw City and Midland.

IT is estimated that nine-tenths of the Michigan wool clip has been marketed. The prices have ranged from 30 to 32 cents, and average about the latter less than last year, but the quality is better.

GRAND RAPIDS is unduly excited over the report of the discovery of a gold mine on Sherman creek, Newaygo. Last and Fuller assays. The piece of land said to be auriferous contains about fifteen acres.

JOHN HARTER has been appointed by Gov. Bagley to be agent for Saginaw County for the Board of State Canvassers, vice Hon. Jerome Croswell, deceased.

THE Jackson Patriot says that a serious accident occurred to Mr. Hall, of Leoni, on the 26th, while he was engaged in threshing. He was thrown from the machine, and his leg was broken in two places.

THE Michigan Republican State Convention will be held at Detroit on the 27th, to nominate a State ticket, and elect four delegates at large to the National Convention. The platform favors a financial policy which shall steadily keep in view a return to specie payment, advocates a tariff only for revenue, discriminating so as to be the least burdensome and most favorable to the interests of home industry and labor; demands that railway and other corporations shall be held in subjection to the lawmaking power, and approves of the unlimited coinage of the silver dollar.

Republican Prospects.

We believe that the result of the State elections this fall will disclose a compact, vigorous and successful Republican party. From every quarter there comes the most cheering intelligence. Out of the shadow of the cruel war and the general reaction of last year we see unmistakable evidence of returning light and of noon-day effulgence. The dark cloud of political treason by which since then has seemed to hang ominously over the nation is rapidly breaking away, and the clear light of political reason is beginning its benevolent flight. Not only those who have all along been Republicans, but fruitful and honest men everywhere have become conscious of the mistake they made, and that it must be averted. They are fully alive to the tremendous importance of the present campaign in the pivotal States, and they have both the courage and the ability to command success. In Ohio and in Pennsylvania, in Ohio especially, where the fiercest battle must be fought, our friends are consistently in solid phalanx, with an earnestness and enthusiasm that are auguries of victory in every good cause. The people, who, for various reasons, were sluggish and fretful a year ago, are now awake to the fact that they have some things of which they hold dear and which they are unwilling to surrender. They well know that the time has come when they must prepare for the struggle with their desperate and unscrupulous foe; that the election of next November must are something more than ordinary skirmishes—that they are battles for position in the great contest of 1876 for the honors of the National Government; and they do not intend to permit the occasion to pass without administering to their enemy such a rebuke as their audacity and impudence deserve. It is not yet because quite clear to their minds that it will be safe to trust wholly to the ballot-box, unless with all that is most sacred in life, they drive from the ground all skulk the cross that have remained unoffered in the contest. Their first, through storms and perils, through bloody fields and fearful assaults, that pointed max plunder and destroy, but who in all seasons have stood firm as a rock amid the sea and not be complacent because who fire to do so by passing breeze, shedding in such a way as to see the signs.

That the present omens are auspicious need not be surprising. Last year, for instance, while the Democratic leaders saw and no Government at present the people were sullen and sunny, and showed their discontent by voting down their friends at every opportunity. There was then no great national peril, but the ruling element has fully satisfied their greatest confidence. The friends of good government, of the sessions and banks of the Republican party, and they know how to save things well, in the majority; and it is well and well that it is so, because that in a crisis they would surround all the institutions of the land, or no doubt, would [illegible] Democratic party would be [illegible] security party as now [illegible] and as it is now [illegible] party of the people, and as a rally of which we trust the nation will [illegible] to be [illegible] that in the light of experience, and during the sober teachings of history, this people could so far forget their duty to themselves and their country as to desert the party which has saved the Union, but [illegible] the soul of liberty upon all the battle-fields of the country, and which now possesses a confidence of which no party can [illegible] to deprive it. It is true that the time for all good citizens to stand shoulder to shoulder; and we believe that Democrats who have not yet affiliated with the Republican party will be [illegible] to do so. The Democratic party, [illegible] Democratic party will now be found in any respectable and [illegible] Their hearts are with us, and let them come. The party has got a bright future before it and it cannot afford to reject [illegible] with its friends over the past. It has tried by until the end, and the [illegible] severing from itself the putrid carcass, corpses and deformities which are hostile to human government, and it is now ready and prepared for the campaign.—Republican Magazine.

THE New York Tribune [illegible] announced that "the time has passed for carrying elections by means of [illegible] and empty promises for the future," the Lexington Gleaner says: "We know "what better record can a party have than a good one for past dealing?" To which we may be added, what party can have a more record for dishonesty and lack of patriotism than the present Democratic party? It is no wonder the leaders of that organization object to referring to the past. Every criminal would rather look ahead than to take a glance at the ugly past.

THE Cincinnati Commercial closes a long article on declaring the political history of Ohio during the past two years in this paragraph: "We come, therefore, to the conclusion that the Republican victory in Ohio this time is a certainty, and that the majority will be heavy—will be decisive and emphatic, larger than has received on former occasions, and sufficient to pronounce the doom in the nation forever of the rest of the Democracy that is now asserting itself in this State."

AS the Governor of New York, Tilden has been a conspicuous failure. He never did many positive acts of good, for as little. The only thing he has contracted aberrancy from the name and reputation of power in street collection of the Governorship.—Buffalo Commercial Advertiser.

THE substantial unanimity of the Republican ranks this year contrasts significantly enough with the Democratic [illegible] many colors, made up from the wrecks of that party in the several States. Their platforms, as the French say of incongruous pieces of furniture, sweat at each other.

THE Iowa State Register says Iowa is literally in favor of "inflation" It will inflate the Republican majority to 50,000 last year by at least 20,000.

How Mrs. Mettenheim Did Her Own Housework.

ONE morning about two weeks ago Mrs. Mettenheim loomed blandly across the breakfast table on her husband and informed him that she had concluded to discharge the hired girl and do her own work. This announcement startled Mr. Mettenheim almost as much as if she had declared her determination to commit suicide. He had long known that hired help was a heavy drain upon his meager salary, but his wife had exercised him to regard it as indispensable, and he had made up his mind to endure it forever. That she should voluntarily offer to dispense with the services of a girl was something for which he was not prepared. Looking at her with an expression in which hope and doubt painfully mingled, he said:

"Yourwifey—you can't do it, Eliza."

"Can't do it, indeed! I'd like to know what's the reason? Lots of women in this town do a great deal more, and think nothing of it. Our family's small—just you and me and Rosey Ward—and if I can't take care of two people I'm down right sick."

"What put you into the notion?" asked the husband, hardly yet recovered from his surprise.

"Well, Peter," she replied, speaking in a tone of voice that was very firm, "I've been thinking lately how hard you have to work, and how little I have done to help you, and I've come to the conclusion that I should try to relieve you a little. I might and ought to do, and it appears to me that I should try to relieve our expenses as much as possible, and the best way I know of is to do my own housework. We are poor, just making a bare living in life, and it is my duty to help you."

With a voice almost choked with emotion at the thought of her self-denial and wife's devotion and sacrifice, he feebly essayed to break her resolution, saying that he didn't want her to be a slave for him, that she was too delicate for the task she contemplated, that all he asked of her was continued love and sympathy, etc.

"Oh, stuff all nonsense," interrupted Mrs. Mettenheim. "The high time my love and sympathy were accompanying a practical form. I'll discharge the girl this very day. But there is one condition, Peter."

"Name it, my noble wife!"

"That now cancel you thoughts we were mentioned. I don't do my own work if it will save me at least a thousand kicks a day, and you can certainly spend the money you earn extra."

"Of course, my love, it was not intended you my own undertaking, more than you yourself."

She was satisfied, and so it was settled. Mack lugged the carpet-bag at noon and found the girl gone. His wife was gone too, but was expected shortly, having only gone around telling the neighbors that she was doing her own work. Dinner was ready when she arrived, and she was in high glee over her triumph. Mack was in a hurry to get back to his store, and after her first dinner as housekeeper she was left to the society of the problem in which she found herself placed.

It would have been ludicrous if it had not been in reality harrowing, to see the agonies of grief and rage when he heard of the destruction of his darling, and how he broken bits put into his hand. He remained nothing more about Jessie's voice, about the evening concert; he sat down among the fragments, like Marius in the ruins of Carthage, and bewailed himself.

It was an intensely cold and still winter's day; there was not a sound to be heard in the village save now and then a distant sleigh-bell, the dropping of some huge icicle, or the loud report of some nail as it sprung with the frost in the rafters. As the signor sat there now with the broken violate of his violin in his left hand, and the other hand wound in his hair distractedly, one of these nails went off, so you might say, with more of an explosion than usual upon the frosty silence of the afternoon, followed by a clear, resonant note that for half a moment seemed to fill the house with a silvery vibration. They listened it, and looked up toward the sky, and suddenly Jessie, with a joyous cry, sprang to her feet and darted from the room. The guest that had been left open by somebody, she found. In a moment she was back and had placed in the hands of the signor, whose mood of frenzy had been succeeded by one of silent despondency, the little black fiddle.

"I fell from its nail," she was saying very fast, "and was [illegible] to come and comfort you, you see. Is it good for anything? Can you mend your violin with it? It is so small!"

"Why do you bring me this, my child?" he asked, sadly, but took it, and ran his hand over it. Something seemed to strike him as he did so. He bent his head quickly, tilted the violin to his ear, and tapped it and listened, ran his finger down the lines, took out his handkerchief and dusted it minutely. His hands began, to shake; he was fumbling his breath; he was comparing the measurements of the little black fiddle with certain figures in a memorandum-book drawn from his pocket. He peered into its every dimension in a sort of mad haste. He took a magnifier, and then with a bit of chamois leather began rubbing the end of the little black fiddle as if he were polishing a jewel. All at once he cried out:

"Ah! Behold it! It is here! Read it, my children, read: 'Sotto la scuderia d' A. Stradivarius, Cremona, 1. 1. S.' It is his, the Giuseppe del Jesu's, when he was in his prime in his master. That is his seal, that 'I. H. S.' Oh, the rogue! But he knew music! And Antonio Stradivarius too has had it in his hands; has looked at it with his eyes; has drawn the bow across it; has said! It was good! Quick! Where are my strings? We will see, we will see. There is no bridge. That is all right. The bridge would not have been adjusted. No matter. It will do yet."

He was silent in a long but hurried unrolling and fastening of strings, an end, some bows and [illegible] and tuning them again, and then the walls of the room were vibrant about them, and Signor Pazzani had begun playing the little black fiddle. Jessie and the sweet, powerful sonority, the suave, silvery, intense tone, the mellow richness and strength were [illegible] in their ears "like the humming of a swarm of angels' wings," said the signor, suddenly leaving off and wiping his brow. He was playing upon the violin as upon the finest silver and parsley-trimmed dishes, and it was impossible for them to make much difference. They found, though, that it was of no consequence, for the signor was indifferent to everything but bread and fish, and asked, and presently got, bread on them one and all. "It will be mine," he said, presently, "if you will be so kind as to make it over to me. I implore. "It's a Guarnerius, the Giuseppe del Jesu's. It is worth money—it is worth more than you shall [illegible] for many years. I will have fifteen hundred, you shall have two thousand dollars for it!"

"Oh, hush, indeed!" cried Jessie. "Of course you shall have it. It is value-less to me; it is yours!"

"Stay, stay a moment, Jessie," said her father. "The little black fiddle is mine. That poor old vagabond, fallen from his high estate, gave it to me. It is a way I have had of coming back to the waters of my childhood. Grasping the paper and his lute, he made rapid strides for home. Opening the door, the signor flung it open, and his frenzied gaze was the hired girl! That scheming woman, having succeeded in tricking her poor husband out of the fifteen she had cost her heart on, had recalled and reinstated the help.

Mack is well satisfied to have the girl back, as he had become very fond of cold meals, but he wishes that the law would allow him to prosecute his wife for obtaining goods under false pretenses.—Brownsville.

FOUR THOUSAND sacks of grain were destroyed by fire July 30 from lightning in Butte County, Cal. The grain was in small lots, scattered over the field, when by spontaneous combustion the sacks and some standing.

AND then the signor gazed hard at the lovely face with its Madonna-like oval, and its great, soft, dark eyes, and said: "Nothing, my child, nothing. You are very kind, very good, very thoughtful. You are very welcome. It was to come by express, but has not, the good housemother says."

No, it has not come, said the wife was more, it never would come in its old shape. The express had met with an accident, and all its contents had been shattered. The violin that the Queen of Holland had given Signor Pazzani, that Jacques Stainer had made himself in the Tyrol 200 years ago and more, was nothing but a handful of chips.

It would have been ludicrous if it had not been in reality harrowing, to see the agonies of grief and rage when he heard of

THE SENTINEL.

WILLARD A. SMITH, Editor and Proprietor.

CHARLEVOIX, - MICHIGAN.

GOOD-BY.

OPEN the casement, Roger,
Open it wide;
Let in the friendly voices
Of wind and tide;
Let in the golden sunbeams
On every side.

Raise me high on my pillow—
Yes, that will do;
How is it, Roger, that no one
Life me like you?

Nobody's hands are so tender,
Steady an' true.

Just as you promised to hold me
When death is nigh,
In its old place on your shoulder
Let my head lie
Now for one last look, Roger,
On ocean and sky.

All, how white sails glisten
Out by the Nore!
Hark! how the waters ripple
Down on the shore!
Gently the soft wind kisses
My cheek once more.

Yonder the storey seabirds
Flutter and cry.
Under the band of purple and gold
In the far sky,
Fairest of earth's fair pictures,
Good-by; good-by!

Roger, you know how often,
In my pain,
I've begged for a glimpse of the shining sea
Yet now, again,
Doubting, I dare collect onward,
My prayer was vain.

But the answer has come, and I see it
Standing by me,
With its murmuring, dancing waters,
Its changing hues,
Whilst the clouds of evening gather
In burnished piles.

* * * * * * *

I've said good-by, and I'm ready—
Where's your dear hand?
And you'll hold me, won't you, Roger,
Until I stand
With the Father's arms around me, Safe in those lands?

—Canadian Illustrated News.

THE LITTLE BLACK FIDDLE.

BY HARRIET PRESCOTT SPOFFORD.

IT hung in the garret, on one of the big nails there, all to itself. It had the usual limit of an old house—trunks, broken chairs, a superannuated chest of drawers, a spinning-wheel, cobwebs.

Years and years ago a trance had been taken in at the door in a fainting condition. He lay all day in stupor on the settee where they had placed him, and moved with pity, and in some slight consternation as to what was to become of him, and at the close of the day he still continued, the household did what they could for him. Just before dark he began to murmur a few words of English and foreign tongues, and took his little black fiddle from his side and gave it to Mr. Rosey Ward, who was standing near as if he bestowed a kingdom, the children looking on, wide-eyed and open-mouthed. Then he dismissed them all, and nobody ever knew anything further about him; and the children twanged the fiddle acutely, and at last the wife hung up in the garret, and there had been the end of it.

The little fiddle hung forgotten on its nail; but the children grew in strength and beauty every day, and made the house merry as lively as the sea that must have been in all the forty days before it came to anchor at Ararat. Sometimes the little fiddle ventured to their laughter, and gave it a faint echo from its hidden nook, but it was all the music it had in it.

What a cheerful group they were, Belle and Jessie and Fred and Frank, and the twins always rolling over each other, and chuckling as if that were the freshest joke in the world. Mack began to get uneasy. Was there, after all, any sowing in doing without any harvest girl? Wouldn't that sort of economy bankrupt him in less than a year? He got a piece of paper and a pencil and figured.

Provisions and wheat help	$50 00
Clothing	40 00
Rent	50 00
Fires and jewelry	80 00
Total	$220 00
Balance in favor of a domestic	140 00
	2 00

Mack is not a mean man. Grasping the paper and his hats, he made rapid strides for home. Opening the door, the signor flung it open, and his frenzied gaze was the hired girl! That scheming woman, having succeeded in tricking her poor husband out of the fifteen she had cost her heart on, had recalled and reinstated the help.

Mack is well satisfied to have the girl back, as he had become very fond of cold meals, but he wishes that the law would allow him to prosecute his wife for obtaining goods under false pretenses.—Brownsville.

FOUR THOUSAND sacks of grain were destroyed by fire July 30 from lightning in Butte County, Cal. The grain was in small lots, scattered over the field, when by spontaneous combustion the sacks and some standing.

AND then the signor gazed hard at the lovely face with its Madonna-like oval, and its great, soft, dark eyes, and said: "Nothing, my child, nothing. You are very kind, very good, very thoughtful. You are very welcome. It was to come by express, but has not, the good housemother says."

No, it has not come, said the wife was more, it never would come in its old shape. The express had met with an accident, and all its contents had been shattered. The violin that the Queen of Holland had given Signor Pazzani, that Jacques Stainer had made himself in the Tyrol 200 years ago and more, was nothing but a handful of chips.

It would have been ludicrous if it had not been in reality harrowing, to see the agonies of grief and rage when he heard of

For Young Readers.

THE RAINY DAY.

BY MRS. CLARA DOTY BATES.

LITTLE Lucius sits by the window pane,
Sits and watches the falling rain;
The great drops patter thick and fast
From a sky all dull and overcast.
And he sighs, with half a frown on her brow:
"What good does the rain do, anyhow?"

I know she is thinking, as she lays
Up the bright, dry sidewalk yesterday,
In her pretty, new, blue-ribboned hat;
She is tired of the dull and leak and rain;
She could run and shout in the sun again;
But for this rain, this useless rain.

I smile at her small, impatient sigh,
And the wistful trouble of her eye,
And sitting down by the window say:
"Little girl, tidell Locke, look this way,
And listen, and I will tell you now
What good the rain does, anyhow.

"The grass that spreads for your little feet
A carpet soft and green and sweet;
The leaves that cover the coming nest,
On the apple-branch, of the red-breast;
And the fields of clover and fields of grain,
Could never grow without the rain.

"None of your dainty, blue-eyed pets,
The crowding, sweet-breathed violets,
Could lift to the light their happy heads
Out of the grass and the garden-beds,
And sent to you in their lifehouse way,
If there were ever a rainy day.

"Then, dear, all days go by so fast,
The wettest, dreariest, does not last,
And if—when this with its rain is done—
From the west should shine the evening sun,
We shall see a rainbow's colored arc
Bowing where'er now the sky is dark.

"And then to morrow when you wake
To see the red, bright morning break,
You will say as you smell the fragrant air,
And the fresh drops glisten everywhere
On tree and flower in the early sun:
'This is the good the rain has done.'"

—Boston Congregationalist.

ANXIOUS TO BE A MAN.

We were all growing up boys—some of the young men, the rest of us smaller—when Uncle William, who had left the country when we were little, returned to pay a visit to his old home and friends. He was always much interested in Father's children, and particularly in me, perhaps because I was called after him; and I rather think he noticed a prominent feature in my character—one of his own, too—the unnecessary anxiety to be a man before the time. When we were all together one evening, and after he had entertained us with stories he knew I loved to hear and wait. My grievances increased. The smallest request was an imposition. I was children, but after a while [illegible] And my sole comfort arose from the thought that I should soon be free, a recognized and acknowledged young man!

"It was the last year of my minority

My apprenticeship was to expire with what I thought my despicable boyhood. If I recollect aright, I rather fancied that everybody ought to have known that I was no near being a full-fledged man. I gave my mother and sisters to understand it thoroughly. I took a very common and natural means of impressing them with the fact. Though I knew that their constant and studied care was to please me, and that not unfrequently they did more than they thought right in order to conciliate me, I noticed met their thoughtfulness, but rather grumbled, and fretted, and found fault the more.

"My birthday came at last. The usual honors were done to me. My friends were there. I had the inviting of them myself. It was a day of joy and feasting and congratulation. And yet there was an inward painful restlessness that made me feel a little sad. I felt as if twenty-one had not brought to me so much after all. At the dinner-table father took from his pocket a purse. A tear sparkled in his eye as he reached it to me before all my guests. 'That is your portion,' said he; 'you are now of age, competent to think and act for yourself.' Make the best of it. If you improperly it will surely not be business; if not you cannot obtain anything more from me.'

"His lips quivered a little, and my mother covered her face with her handkerchief. A cold chill passed over me. A vacancy opened in my heart that nothing could fill. I felt as if I was losing home to wander in a foreign land forever. I took the money and tried to smile as I thanked him. I looked as well as I could, but could before my companions. If I had had the power I should have made the sun go back ten degrees at least upon the dial of my life.

"I was injudicious with my money and soon got rid of it. I can scarcely tell how. I was proud spiritual and father saw my struggles and difficulties to get along in the world. He knew my heart longed to get back and nestle in the paternal, happy old home, but it could not be. I had already left it, and could not return to the nest. It was only after many years, when I had struggled and toiled with hard days. We were all sitting around that father received back into a lodging board.

"It is now nearly twice a score of years since I left behind me that long-looked-for twenty-one. But these years have been so full up with cares, anxieties, crosses and vast responsibilities that a thousand times I'm sure, when almost driven to despair, I have looked back to the time of my boyhood and have fervently wished, with a long, deep sigh, for the return of one carefree, happy day. Some of my own kids in my father's happy home would have been to me Paradise regained. Those days were gone—past forever!

"Ah, today when I see boys impatient under the restraints of school or of home, and wishing for the age of manhood, when they suppose they shall be so free to do as they please, and feel like advising them to rest contented with their happy youth. Childhood's days are the happiest of our lives. Be not impatient and escape from them. When they are gone you cannot recall them, though you would if you could. Others take care of from care and so full of real happiness you need not expect to find. Stay in your father's house as long as you can; submit to your parents' counsel when they give it, for they are wiser than you."—N. Y. Observer.

A Bootblack Marquis.

ABOUT a year and a half ago a Frenchman, who had lived for some time in Chicago and operated on the Board of Trade, committed suicide. He was a member of one of the oldest and most noble families in France, that of de Belloy, and was, by right, a Marquis. Being depressed in spirits he went, one morning, in company with some friends, into a wine-cellar on Clark street and, after drinking several times, drew a small pistol and fired a bullet into his body. There was, of course, a confusion at once, whereupon de Belloy asked to be taken to the coroner's office, where the cause of the place presided, asked his pardon, in the most blunt terms, for creating any unnecessary disturbance, fell back upon a bench and died. The strange man had a strange, eventful and romantic history. In brief it was that he left France about four years ago and came to America. In Northern Michigan he married a fisherman's daughter, and maintained himself and family for some time by teaching. Six children grew out of the union. Several years ago he came back to Chicago and began operating on 'Change, his business career proving a checkered one. After his death his widow found it a difficult matter to get along. Her oldest boy engaged in bootblacking and selling newspapers upon the streets, becoming rapidly an expert at boxes and shillelas a boy seems to be found amongst the grasin of Chicago. The widow subsequently removed to Geneva, in this State, where she now resides with her family. The strangest part of this story remains to be told.

Information has just been received here that the mother of Marquis de Belloy, the father of the bootblack, is in jail died in France. The Chicago boy is the oldest son and by right inherits the title of Marquis while his mother becomes the Marchioness de Belloy. The boy will hereafter be the head of this great family, which places its lineage back behind the Crusades. All that now remains is to prove the legality of his mother's marriage and his own illegitimacy to secure the title and the right to all the lands, estates, hereditaments of the family of which they are the representative heirs. Good by, bootblack; good for the fisherman's daughter. Now then, won't some American girl please keep her eye on the young Marquis and gather him in, matrimonially, as soon as he gets old enough.—Chicago Times.

IN Italy an idea is current that the United States have abolished paper money and are swimming in gold and silver.

THE SENTINEL.

CHARLEVOIX, MICH.

WILLIAM A. SMITH, Editor and Proprietor.

TUESDAY, - - AUGUST 10 1875

The Trial of Lee and Dame.

A jury has at last been impannelled in the case of John D. Lee, the ex-Mormon bishop who was one of the most prominent leaders in the famous Mountain Meadow Massacre of 1857, and the trial facts began at Beaver, Utah Territory, on Friday. Among one of the witnesses and principal counts in the slaughter named Klingo Smith, formerly a leading Mormon, has told the reckoning narrative of the crime under oath, as a witness for the government. The facts testified to by him confirm the story as it has gradually come to light during the eighteen years which have passed since the crime was perpetrated, and it is asserted that his evidence will be amply corroborated so that the case will be proven without a doubt.

We have given the history of the massacre within a few months, and need but briefly repeat it now. A train of emigrants from Arkansas and Missouri, bound for California, numbering about 150 people, men, women and children, generally well provided with stock, equipments and money, passed through the Salt Lake region in September, 1857. They made themselves obnoxious to the Mormons in various ways, and their extermination was resolved on. They were attacked on the 10th of September, while camping in Mountain Meadow, about 320 miles west of Salt Lake City, by a band of Mormons disguised as Indians. They made a brave defense, formed a circular barricade with their wagons, and fought so well that stratagem was resorted to to accomplish their massacre. Jacob Wright then one of the President of the Mormon church and John D. Lee, one of its Bishops, went to them with a white flag and offered to arrange between them and the Indians. They persuaded the emigrants to leave their barricade, and promised to guard them to the settlements. The train was formed, but it had moved only a few miles, when it was fired upon by the guard, the pretended Indians joining. All the emigrants except seventeen children or twenty children, too young to remember the circumstances were killed, with details of lust and cruelty which no pen can describe. The property of the emigrants was taken to Salt Lake city and divided the dignitaries of the Mormon church alone receiving $30,000 as their share of the plunder.

A very strong effort was made by the controlled Mormon deputation to stop even the facts of this terrible crime, but they came gradually and partially to light. In 1858, Judge Cradlebaugh made an investigation and ordered the arrest of forty men for complicity in it. But the Mormon Grand Jury refused to indict them, and the matter finally blew over. It was revived last year, however, and ten of the forty against whom Judge Cradlebaugh issued his bench warrants were indicted by the United States Grand Jury of "Gentiles" at Beaver. Of these, Bishop Dame and John D. Lee are the chief. The trial was at first set for the April term, but was postponed by the Attorney-gen'l Jone. There has been of late an evidence of disposition among the Mormons to make Lee the scapegoat for the whole transaction. He has been disaffected from the church for many years, and it would be very convenient for them, now that it is no longer possible to conceal the fact of the massacre, to throw the whole blame on his shoulders. He has perceived this tendency, and probably this was at the bottom of his recent "confession." When this was made it was supposed that he would not be put on trial; but he has been, and, of course, cannot now appear as a witness for the Government. The probable explanation of this action on the part of the Government is that the conviction did not tend as strongly as other evidence in the possession of the prosecution, to implicate Brigham Young and the magnates of the church, against whom in reality as much as against Lee and Dame, the suit is being urged. The testimony of Smith, on Friday, for instance shows that Brigham Young knew of the slaughter soon after its occurrence, and did all he could to keep it secret; furthermore, that he ordered the plunder turned over to the principal butcher, Lee. The program of the case will be interesting mainly as it bears on these points, and tends to corroborate or rebut the prosecuting testimony.—Ex.

Judge Giddings has gone East to spend a summer vacation with friends in Massachusetts.

Sunday.

Vinner wants to loan for sail.

Homer had a $1,500 fire on city hall roof.

Too many men is wunst in troubling Abram.

A new Odd Fellows Hall is to be built at Flint.

Hillsdale is trying to get a military company.

A company of Cadets is being organized at Lowell.

Luther Beecher of Detroit, pays $9,000 of city taxes.

Pahvan has a fysitcr that runs Greece distress.

Stanton is what Muskegon has paid out for water works.

The Cadillac Cadet Register is going to run a semi-weekly issue.

1,000 bulls are in quarantine, in west tarnin Iinois on account of Brick of a superior quality are being manufactured at Clare.

The Niles Lucifer Guards have been mustered into the state service.

The people of Detroit are trembling themselves over a cemetery.

It is about ten tons of hay that Bay City inmates from her parks.

A fireman's tournament is to be held at Coldwater on the 4th of August.

20,000 pounds of wool is about what Coldwater has marketed this season.

F. W. Stowe, a Hillsdale miller, manufactures 10,000 barrels of flour per year.

C. H. Cook has recentlyant out 2,000 peach trees on his farm near Muskegon.

The M. E. Camp meeting at Albion will commence Aug. 11th, and continue one week. Fifteen or twenty boys have organized a pocket brigade to assist at fires.

The Governor of the State prison were 40 in number are to have a dark blue uniform.

Hon. Buckman Johnson, late regent of the University, has recently opened a law office in Owosso.

J. H. Hadley, of Coldwater, sold this season 1,200 quarts of strawberries from eight rods, 20 rods long.

The grape insect has made its appearance in Monroe county, and the grape growers are getting serious.

The Perils of Ballooning.

There can no longer be any question that Donaldson, the aeronaut, his mate the fate from which he and his companions so narrowly escaped, when they made their ascension from Toronto a few weeks ago. It will be remembered that on that occasion the balloon floated over Lake Ontario the wind died away so that they could not get to either shore, the gas gave out, and the car of the balloon was for some hours submerged in the water. Finally the passengers were rescued from their dangerous position by a passing schooner. On Thursday last Prof. Donaldson made an ascension from Chicago, accompanied by Mr. Grimwood a reporter of the Chicago Evening Journal. It is claimed that the balloon was rotten and unfit for use, and that it was not properly inflated —although we believe Mr. Barlow's agents do not these statements. The ascension was made about five o'clock in the afternoon, and the balloon drifted out over Lake Michigan in a northeasterly direction, at the rate of about fifteen miles an hour. At that rate, continuing on in the direction which it started, it would have taken eight hours to have reached the Michigan shore.

About two hours after the ascension the balloon was observed by a schooner about 12 miles north and 20 east of Chicago with the car even than dragging in the water. The schooner endeavored to get to the assistance of the aeronauts, but said deadly something seemed to be detached from the balloon, which instantly shot to a great height, and disappeared from view. This "something" was probably one of the possibly both of the passengers. Before midnight a terrific hurricane swept down the lake from the north, so that even had the balloonists escaped their other perils, their airship would, in all probability have been destroyed by the storm.

Later reports indicate that portions of the wrecked balloon were seen by passing vessels.

Mr. Donaldson was brave almost to recklessness, and is said to have had a good practical knowledge of ballooning, but no knowledge whatever of science. His experience as an aeronaut dates back only some four years, but during that time he had made 136 successful ascensions, and had probably carried up more passengers than any person who ever navigated the air.

Mr. Grimwood, the Evening Journal reporter, is spoken of as a very worthy young gentleman, whose loss is greatly deplored. The tragic fate of Donaldson and his companion will probably put an end to circus ballooning for some time to come and will doubtless repress the ardor of reporters for making excursions into the upper regions.—Ex.

"SHTOP A LEETLE!"

Spring Harbor,

HEAD OF PINE LAKE.

The Secret of Wonderful Growth and Success.

Way up in the north is a very smart town, In the country all over it is getting on

It's in Charlevoix county and Spring Harbor Town,
The soil is so rich if you plant a small seed,
To see a big yield it never will fail
It surely is in for the people to-day
That had it reached its very best days
In Charlevoix county and Spring Harbor Town.

There are the merchants who're apt to show their teeth
With such fine goods before they are bought;
Charlevoix county and Spring Harbor Town;
There's not a shop so low as to tell you nay,
But they secret of trade is, they sell as
And those chaps are crowned by millions of wealth,
Which they all do enjoy the most perfect health,
In Charlevoix county and Spring Harbor Town.

Then there are the doctors they'll cure you when
With curious and things and cut as quick
In Charlevoix county and Spring Harbor Town.

If there on you once make a professional call,
Again, in your life you'll be sure to call,
If they cut once or twice you'll then feel so clever,
You'll not die at all, but live on forever—
In Charlevoix county and Spring Harbor Town

Then there is the "Advocate" the sheet of the day,
To give all the news it doth always engage
In Charlevoix county and Spring Harbor Town,
And the editor knows his business as well,
Whereof that I say, for this truth I do tell
If a man is murdered and left in his path,
It will give you the news two or three days before,
In Charlevoix county and Spring Harbor Town.

Now I suppose you'll be glad to all know,
How since such it has been thus to be—
In Charlevoix county and Spring Harbor Town,
Why, the reason is, we give you all with candor,
The secret that leads to perfect success
They get their goods cheaper than ever before,
For they buy all they use at Nichols's price.

TO PAY SUCH TERRIBLE PRICES FOR GOODS WHEN BY CALLING AT THE

"REGULATOR"

You can purchase them at least THIRTY PER CENT. less than of any other store in this part of Charlevoix County. That is what we say at the "REGULATOR." We have lots of

NEW GOODS,

And more coming daily. We have Boots and Shoes for men: We have all kinds of Shoes for Ladies; we have Boots and Shoes and all kinds of nice things for the little ones. We have all kinds of DRESS GOODS; we have all kinds of CLOTH to make clothes for the men and boys. We have

PORK AND FLOUR,

And all kinds of Groceries such as

SUGARS,
TEAS,
COFFEES,
SPICES,
OILS.

WE ALSO HAVE A LARGE ASSORTMENT OF

Farming Implements,

SUCH AS PLOWS, SHOVEL PLOWS, SCYTHES, SNATHS, RAKES, FORKS, HOES, CULTIVATORS AND DRAGS.

ALSO AN ASSORTMENT OF

TINWARE.

So, if you'll buy cheaper than ever before, go to NICHOLS' Store, on Pine Lake shore, where the water doth roar, and all people, and more, say, that never before, in the county all over, did they see people pour into the door of a store, where they buy lots of goods and then buy some more; for they say he sells lower by thirty per cent. or perhaps more, than ever before, at any man's store; so after reading this o'er, if still you'd know more, Tomtit will

TURN THE CRANK TO THE MACHINE.

And tell you if you wish to astonish yourself with low prices, that you must go to 999999 Gold Dust Avenue, nearly opposite to the Second National Bank, and directly opposite to the Metropolitan Hotel, Spring Harbor.

TRULY YOURS:

T. W. NICHOLS.

Carpenter & Bartholomew

Cheap Cash Store is just the Place to Buy Your Goods!

CARPENTER & BARTHOLOMEW'S

Standard Goods and Reasonable Prices is their Motto.

South End of Bridge Street.

Charlevoix, Mich.

MEDICAL

HALL,

CHARLEVOIX.

JUST THE PLACE TO BUY

DRUGS

And Dye Stuffs,

JUST THE PLACE TO BUY

Patent Medicines

JUST THE PLACE TO BUY

Stationery, Ink and Pens.

And Pocket Inkstands.

JUST THE PLACE TO BUY

Perfumes and Hair Oils

Flavoring Extracts, and Toilet Goods,

JUST THE PLACE TO BUY

The Self-Adjusting Truss

JUST THE PLACE TO GET

Prescriptions Compounded

At all hours—night or day.

IN FACT just the place to get anything you want in the Druggists line.

Cheap for Cash.

Now store opposite Stockman's Hardware Store.

GEO. W. CROUTER.

Druggist and Chemist.

Hemlock Bark!

The undersigned, owners of the schooner "E. M. Stanley," would inform the people of Pine Lake and vicinity that they are prepared to

Contract for Any Amount

Of Hemlock Bark to be delivered on the beach at Round or Pine Lakes in South Arm. The firms of Fay, Bros. & Bintzer, Carpenter & Bartholomew, and Byron See, are our commercial agents, with whom contracts can be made, or with Dr. Weiskopf, of the firm of

CAPT. P. JOHNSON & Co.

Charlevoix, May 1, 1875.

N. B.—Samuel Holland, of Eveline, is also our authorized agent.

Read This.

The following instructive dialogue was overheard the other day:

Brown—I say, Jones, you seem to have been buying lots of groceries; where do you trade, Jones?

Jones—Why, I bought at

BYRON SEE'S

Grocery and Provision Store in Charlevoix It is a good place to trade.

Brown—Is that so? Can others do as well there as you can?—you know you are sharp in a trade.

Jones—O, yes, of course you can. He sells all other things as low as a nimble sixpence and I guess he does from the prices he sells at.

THE STANCH PROPELLER

1875. 1875.

A. C. Van Raalte

Capt. Alvin Dodge.

Will run during the season of 1875, as follows, between

Petoskey & Traverse City:

Will leave Petoskey at 6 o'clock a. m., on

Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays,

Arriving at Traverse City at 7 o'clock the same evening. Will leave Traverse City at 6 o'clock a. m. on

Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays,

Arriving at Petoskey the same evening. Touching at all intermediate ports on Grand Traverse Bay, both ways.

$75 A WEEK to Agents to sell an article of absolute necessity. Profits large and Outfit free. Address BUCKEYE M'F'G. CO., Marion, Ohio.

MARQUIS DE BELLOY.

The Son of an old Grand Transpersonal Celebrity Heir to Large Estates in France, and The Title of Marquis.

The Chicago Evening Journal of last Tuesday chronicles the particulars of an event which will be very interesting to all old residents of Grand Traverse.

About one year ago the people of this region were startled to learn of the suicide of Monsieur De Belloy, who formerly resided near Glen Arbor in Leelanau County. He was a scion of one the oldest and first families of France. The name and title in full were the Marquis Arthur de Belloy. He was a man of fine education, refinement and good business ability. In his early life he was a wild, adventurous youth, who spent his fortune at home and came to America, any twenty years ago. For few years he obtained his livelihood by teaching, keeping his rank to himself, and going under the name of Monsieur Marechal. About this time his father-in-law concluded that all his wild oats were sown, and he would abandon the fast life he had previously led. He became acquainted with a sister of the late Henry A. Campbell, of Traverse, and married her. They lived happily together up to the time of his death and six children were the result of the union. As might have been expected, the noble family of the Marquis turned up their at this marriage with a backwoods girl in America, and refused to recognize it as one. He several years ago became a member of the Board of Trade in Chicago. He there showed the same reckless, wayward traits that had been the cause of his checkered life. Sometimes he was on the top wave of prosperity, and again in and in a cave of gloom. During one of his periods of depression he took his own life, as is generally believed, leaving his wife and six children in poverty. He had an insurance of $10,000 on his life, which has however, the companies resisting payment on the ground that he took his own life. A subscription among his associates on the Board of Trade realized $1,500 or $2,000 which was used to defray his funeral expenses, and the rest given to the family. A widow with six young children is by no means in a discouraging lot in Chicago or elsewhere. The oldest boy, of whom there is more to be said hereafter, controlled what he could to the support of the family by REACHING HOME AND SELLING PAPERS.

TITLED NOSES

NEVER BEEN PAID,

He was a barefooted, ragged, dirty faced bootblack, newsboy, gamin, his manners being with that class and his education received on the streets. The widow and her half dozen children were in poor and comfortless as the widow and mother less could well be. After a time, finding it impossible to sustain life in Chicago, the widow, who is an excellent lady, took her family and went to reside with a relative in Geneva, Illinois where she is the Being in secession, and still possessed of means to make life comfortable.

The story thus far is one of early recklessness and waywardness, of self exile from home, of an early marriage, of a premature death, and subsequent wretchedness to the family. The concluding chapter can now be written, and it is as romantic as anything in fiction and it is true.

It is as sudden transition from despair to hope, from obscurity to high position, from poverty to affluence, as was ever dreamed of. Intelligence has just reached Chicago that the Marchioness de Belloy, the mother of the family and of the Chicago de Belloy has just died. The Chicagoan was of the family. All that is wanting now is for the proofs of a legal marriage to be forwarded to the American law to be forwarded to France, which can be easily done. The French law recognizes foreign marriages contracted in friendly countries, according to the law of those countries. Consequently the marriage with the Michigan girl will be held valid, and not only do the titles of the family, but one-third of the fortunes descend to the widow and her family, now residing in Geneva. The widow herself becomes a Marchioness, holding the same relative position to the family as did the deceased Marchioness. The oldest boy, he who sold papers and hacked boots, BECOMES A MARQUIS.

THE OLDEST SON

He is hereafter the head of this proud aristocratic French family—he and his mother, whom they have always contemptuously refused to recognize. The family is one of the most distinguished in France. It dates back to the Crusades. It has furnished two Cardinals and two Marshals to the nation. And yet a girl brought up in the backwoods of America, who never was at court, who was a comparative nobody, and her boy, who has been brought up in a scool of hardship and poverty will now take upon themselves the highest honors which a connection with this ancient family entails. They will hereafter sit at the head of the table, have precedence at all the family gatherings, and the uncles and cousins who have spent their lives in the midst of the brilliest and fashionable society of Paris will have to bow and scrape to these plebian Americans in a manner that will no doubt be highly distasteful to them. But this Yankee wife and children not only take the houses and titles of the family of de Belloy, but a good share of the houses lands, country seats, city residences, moneys' bonds, and all belonging or in any way appertaining to the House of de Belloy. To the average American understanding this last feature is the best of all. The young Marquis will now quit selling papers, and will give dinners and levees to some fellow who is not so highly connected. He will throw aside his patched pantaloons, and get a pair that are bent at the knees and will also doubtless indulge in the luxury of a clean shirt. When he gets married, his wife will also be a Marchioness. Of course he will marry an American girl, and her will be a chance for some more titles for Americans. And all his brothers and sisters will come in for their share of all this good fortune, and if they are not the happiest family in Illinois when the news reaches them, it is not very clear what would make them so.

The news of the sudden change in prospects will probably reach the widow and her family at Geneva soon. The formalities necessary for the realization of their good fortune are few and simple, and there is not the slightest doubt, but they can be easily complied with. The charm of this story is that it is true in every particular, and who will not say now that "Truth is stranger than fiction?"

Organize for Victory.

We shall have talking enough during the political campaign which is about opening. Fine speeches, strong in argument and powerful in rhetoric, will be delivered from the stump and platform. The charges of our opponents will be met, and refuted by an array of facts. The record of the Republican party will be spread before the people. Intelligent readers will be convinced that a sense of duty to society, loyalty to the Union, and personal obligation to the cause of civilization and humanity calls upon them to adhere to the Republican party. This will be the province of speech making. The field is broad and inviting one, and earnest one, and earnest laborers will be found to work therein.

But talking, alone, will not bring the victory we desire; organization, thorough and intelligent organization will. To establish this should be the object of every speech. Republican clubs should be started in every village and town in the country. They should be made attractive; both young and old should be induced to take part. Social meetings should be held, paraphernalia should be provided to all these clubs in a word, they should be so organized and conducted as to well together the loyal element of the community.

Unity of purpose and harmony of action should characterize these clubs. The present session of the government and its control by those who have shown disposition to obstruct. Local disputes should be avoided, and all discussions on local issues, tending to divide the party, should be carefully excluded. The work in hand—this all important work—is to keep Democracy from gaining the control of the government. Intelligent Republicans, and thoughtful citizens know what Democratic control means. Our opponents will try to divide our strength by encouraging the formation of third parties. Any movement in that direction should be frowned down as a device of the enemy.

Having formed these clubs, and got them in working order, a system of canvassing should be adopted, so that every voter inclined to support the Republican party shall be known and relied upon, when the day of election comes.

Last fall a number of Congressional Districts were lost by a vote while hundreds of sound ones remained sacred. This must be avoided next fall. Every willing vote must be cast, and the only way to secure them is to have the canvass so thorough, and the work so complete, that it will be impossible to apathy to again defeat us.

The Republican party has the numerical strength to hold the government by a large majority. It remains with Republicans to say whether the strength shall be brought to bear to save the nation from a great calamity. If our friends throughout the country will go to work, as if on it single vote depended the issue, we shall win a victory that will send a thrill of joy around the world.—Republic.

If Jackson raises the necessary funds, the State board of control will let it have the Annual Fireman's Tournament on Sept. 18th and 19th

An employe at Hort & Co's mill at East Saginaw, was struck by a board thrown from a circular saw, and seriously injured.

Louis is to have a base ball tournament commencing August 10th, and continuing four days. $600 have been subscribed by the people of Iosia to defray expenses.

NORWOOD.

F. J. MEECH & Co.

NORWOOD, MICH.,

DEALERS IN

DRY GOODS,

Groceries and Provisions,

Also Manufacturers of

HARDWOOD LUMBER,

Lath and Shingles.

The Governor has acted wisely in appointing Hon. J. R. Haviland, of Traverse City, Steam Load Commissioner. He will perform the duties formerly performed by three commissioners:

An eccentric old fellow who lives along side of a graveyard, was asked if it was not an unpleasant location. "No" said he "I never pined places in my life with a set of sextons who attend their own business so stidily as they do."

"For gentlemen of the jury" thundered an eloquent advocate the other day in Key-S——— court, "this matter is for his honor to decide, who sits there sleeping so beautifully." His honor opened both eyes and mouth and said: "All owing to your narcotic speech, sir."

Lady Jane Franklin has just died in London, at the age of 70 years, after a lingering illness.

THE LOST BALLOON.

The body of Prof. Donaldson Thought to be seen off Chicago. Unavailing Efforts to Grapple It in a Heavy Sea.

From the Chicago Tribune, Aug. 1.

The body of Prof. Donaldson, the unfortunate balloonist is now undoubtedly floating in the heavy sea off the foot of Twenty-fifth or Twenty-ninth street. It was discovered about 8 o'clock last evening by officer Coughlin, of the Twenty-second Street Station, and when seen, as it was repeatedly, was lifted way above the water by the mountainous sea.

Coughlin called to his assistance several other officers, among them Ryan, Mainey, Mahoney, and Case of the Cottage Grove station, and two other policemen from the Twenty-second street station.

A grapplingiron, and a long rope were procured and numerous efforts were made to secure the corpse, but without avail. At one time Coughlin threw the hook over the body, and it caught in the coat, but the sea was so strong as to throw the officer flat on the pier, and cause him to be nearly washed into the lake. The grappling-iron loosed its hold, and the body now has sunk to the great sea, and floated off toward Twenty-third street, where it disappeared in the darkness.

There is a long pier at Twenty-sixth street, and it is expected that his body will drift there and remain. All the officers engaged on the effort to bring the body ashore have no doubt but that it is that of Donaldson, as there are no other persons but him and Grimwood missing, and the terrific sea which has been running for the past three days and nights must have washed them on shore.

Wonderful Success

Three years ago Dr. Boschee's German Syrup was introduced in the United States from Germany for the cure of coughs, severe colds settled on the breast, Consumption and other diseases of the Throat and Lungs No medicine ever had such a success. 300,000 sample bottles have been distributed every year for three years by Druggists in all parts of the United states, and nearly 1000 letters from Druggists are now on our files saying that no other preparation in their stores sells so well and gives such excellent satisfaction. All we ask is for you to go to your Druggist (i. e. Croutter, and get a sample bottle for 10 cents and try it. Regular size 75 cents.

NEW

MILLINERY AND

Dress - Making

ESTABLISHMENT.

Fancy Goods, such as Canvas, Zephyrs Tidies, Tri. buttons, Parasols, Kid Gloves, etc. Also Cashmere for Sacques. Dresses and Cloaks fitted and made in the latest fashions.

Charges Reasonable.

Rooms in Harry Newman's bakery building MISS A. M. SACKETT.

Charlevoix, June 17, 1875. 3m1y

DRUGS and MEDICINES

DR. LEWIS

Tenders his thanks to the inhabitants of Charlevoix and vicinity for past patronage and solicits a continuance of the same. He has

JUST RECEIVED

A large stock of medicines, such as

Fluid Extracts,
Tinctures,
Essences
Oils of all kinds,
Gums,
Perfumery, etc

PATENT MEDICINES,

A large stock, such as Ayres, Jays Sceville's, Peterman's Buckman's, Sage's a Herricks.

A Full Supply of Dye Stuffs.

All goods sold as cheap as by any house north of Grand Rapids.

I Keep What I Advertise.

FOX, ROSE & BUTTARS

Charlevoix.

THE SUMMER OF 1875.

LOWER! LOWER!

Go the Prices!

WE CAN AND WILL

SELL CHEAPER

Than any other House in Charlevoix,

Our Neighbors

Are Cutting Down on Certain Articles; We cut down on

Everything!

If You Don't Believe It,

COME AND SEE

For Yourselves.

YARD WIDTH COTTON FOR 10 cts

TEA--3 Pounds for $1.

SUIT of Coths for $8.

The Best Goods,

Regardless of Profit.

AreAlwaysKept.

FOX, ROSE & BUTTARS.

ITEMS OF INTEREST.

ROLL-CALL—the baker's wheel.

A VERY useful thing in the long run—Breath.

BEING threadbare is a terrible bear to a proud man.

THERE is a horrid rumor of the restoration of crinoline.

THE School Board of Boston, Me., is composed entirely of women.

MOST people are like eggs. Too full of themselves to hold anything else.

A WESTERN man who hit his neighbor's nose off was bound over to keep the piece.

TWENTY-TWO life-saving stations have been established in this county within a year.

A HAREM (N. Y.) hog weighs 800 pounds. Where there's swill there's a weigh.

MARRIAGE at the revolver's mouth is no valid. So the New York Supreme Court decides.

The Women's Congress will hold its annual session in Syracuse, N. Y., in October next.

IT is not right, but the man with the least mind has the greatest trouble in making it up.

A MAN said his son had a well-stored mind, but the neighbors never could find where he stored it.

NO wonder the American team is doing scarcely shooting, when their best musket is sustained by a Felton.

BLACK lace mitts, though gradually coming into fashion, will long remain kid gauntlets are most liked.

THE best home-made fire-proof safe is a hole in the ground, well lined with brick and cement.—Scientific American.

A HUMORIST father keeps a stomach-pump in the house, and when he tells his children not to eat cucumbers they let 'em alone.

CARLYLE'S recommendation was: "Make yourself an honest man, and then you may be sure that there is one rascal less in the world."

FOUR young lady graduates of college the degree of "maid of arts" is appropriately suggested in place of the now inelegible A. B.

THERE has been discovered in San Francisco an insect, new to science, which is believed to be a species of the very valley-bile cockroach.

NEW ORLEANS has a haunted well. Three suicides have occurred in it, and several other prisoners have been prevented in the very act.

HAIR, nowadays, is twisted into a knot at the back of the head; no matter if an bigger than a hickory nut, and only takes three hair-pins to hold it.

TO A Squire who was boasting of his horse's speed, Foote, the witty comedian, replied: "Pooh, my horse will stand faster than yours can gallop."

THE School Board of Boston, Me., is composed entirely of women.

MOST people are like eggs. Too full of themselves to hold anything else.

A WESTERN man who hit his neighbor's nose off was bound over to keep the piece.

TWENTY-TWO life-saving stations have been established in this county within a year.

A HAREM (N. Y.) hog weighs 800 pounds. Where there's swill there's a weigh.

MARRIAGE at the revolver's mouth is no valid. So the New York Supreme Court decides.

The Women's Congress will hold its annual session in Syracuse, N. Y., in October next.

IT is not right, but the man with the least mind has the greatest trouble in making it up.

A MAN said his son had a well-stored mind, but the neighbors never could find where he stored it.

NO wonder the American team is doing scarcely shooting, when their best musket is sustained by a Felton.

BLACK lace mitts, though gradually coming into fashion, will long remain kid gauntlets are most liked.

THE best home-made fire-proof safe is a hole in the ground, well lined with brick and cement.—Scientific American.

A HUMORIST father keeps a stomach-pump in the house, and when he tells his children not to eat cucumbers they let 'em alone.

CARLYLE'S recommendation was: "Make yourself an honest man, and then you may be sure that there is one rascal less in the world."

FOUR young lady graduates of college the degree of "maid of arts" is appropriately suggested in place of the now inelegible A. B.

THERE has been discovered in San Francisco an insect, new to science, which is believed to be a species of the very valley-bile cockroach.

NEW ORLEANS has a haunted well. Three suicides have occurred in it, and several other prisoners have been prevented in the very act.

HAIR, nowadays, is twisted into a knot at the back of the head; no matter if an bigger than a hickory nut, and only takes three hair-pins to hold it.

TO A Squire who was boasting of his horse's speed, Foote, the witty comedian, replied: "Pooh, my horse will stand faster than yours can gallop."

THEY tell in Chicago of a rat that got into a blind cow, ate the hay, and was distended by the repast that he couldn't squeeze out between the wires.

AN Illinois horse has a liking for raisin cake, and an oven-full must be saved for berry jam. No one can tell what refining influence will yet do for the animal creation.

A GEORGIA farmer has raised from one grain of wheat 191 stalks and 190 heads. The largest head has 185 grains. This is the most remarkable reproduction on record.

THE Baltimore tin-can makers, having to pay for leaky cans, say that sometimes they find themselves in debt to their employer, instead of receiving wages for themselves.

THREE children who were prostrated by a stroke of lightning that had first struck a tree at Americus, Ga., all had more or less photographs of the tree imprinted on their persons.

A COUNTRY store in Virginia was the other day struck by lightning, the fluid making a large hole in the roof, and passing through a feather-bed, the recognized non-conductor.

GEORGE R. DEAN, of Sacramento, has a vigorous cotton-plant growing in his back-yard. It is from Central American seed, three years old, and will bear this year, as it is full of blossoms.

Some of the Cincinnati ladies propose to take a whole room in the new Centennial building and to hang the floor with tiles of their own painting and to fresco the walls themselves.

THE absence of all jewelry is the choice of many fastidious men, while others do not reject those articles that show some reason for being useful, such as shirt studs, sleeve buttons, etc.

A TIPSY fellow, who mistook a globe lamp with letters on it for the cross of night, exclaimed: "Well, I'll be (hic) blest, if somebody hain't stuck an advertisement on the moon."

MRS. YOUNG, the mother of little Mabel H. Young, the victim of the Boston church-belfry tragedy, suffers such acute mental agony since that sad event that she has to be constantly attended.

A NEW BRUNSWICK court of equity has seen its way clear to declare that a deed given by a drunken man, who received very inadequate consideration, should be treated as a mortgage only.

THE Entomological Secretary of the Vermont State Board of Agriculture declares that the potato-bugs which are ravishing the crops there are mere imposters, and not genuine Colorado beetles at all.

ANOTHER indication that economy is in fashion is furnished by a Saratoga shoemaker, who, surrounded by piles of old boots, slippers and shoes, remarked: "I never saw so much cobblin' in Saratoga before."

JUDGE NYE, of Alameda County, Cal., has decided that in future he will not naturalize any person who has not read or heard read the Constitution he swears to support. This causes a good deal of swelling.

JOHN CHINAMAN is booming the Mississippi farmers money and taking good sociological through Young Wing, the Educational Commissioner, who looks after the titles and collects the tithes for the benefit of the Orient.

NO less than twenty-nine trade-marks have already been secured in the Patent Office for the word "centennial," to be applied to various articles of manufacture, such as almanacs, cigars, blacking, bitters, shirts, watches and even lager beer.

A SOCIETY in costume is a fan, the bustle of which forms a pocket-handkerchief holder. Some fans have also a tiny scent-bottle inserted at the bottom of the fan handle. And thus a fan becomes handkerchief, scent-bottle, and fan in one.

DURING a clerical conference the following conversation was heard between two preachers:—"I say, Jim, what's the meaning of so many ministers being here altogether?" "Why," answered Jim, scratching his head, "they always meet once a year to swap sermons."

SOME men have a keener sense of humor than others, for the father of a Denver baby. The latter pulled the long cut of a barrel and put his mouth in the hole. The barrel rolled over and broke the thumb. Now the father sues the owner of the barrel for $5,000.

HE was ninety-five and she was eighty-four. They had patiently waited forty-five years for time to free them from their matrimonial ties. By that time they had learned wisdom enough to be satisfied with a wedding-ring, obtained from a pawnbroker, but not sufficient to leave matrimony alone.

A Japanese Bath.

A WRITER in Temple Bar says: "In Japan, even in the lowest inns, the traveler's request for a bath is never met with that stare at blank astonishment which often attends the demand in your own and every other European country. Upon inland once I asked for a bath and they brought me a horse-bucket, and on another occasion, in Formey, I could get no nearer to a bathing than a horse-trough; while in England and Germany the request has more than once led to a serious breach of the peace between myself and the landlord. In Japan, on the contrary, there would be much more surprise felt if the traveler did not ask for one. There were no preparations required, no rushing about of chambermaids, no turning on of hydrants, no clanging of bells to bring waiter with a small earthen furnace lit at the face, and a lid inclosing the whole of the top with the exception of a space just big enough for the head of the bather to emerge through. In one of these contrivances, with a small furnace burning gayly, a Japanese, after his day's work is over, will steadily immerse himself with the lid on, and the sang bathing about him at boiling heat. He seems, however, to like it uncommonly, to judge from the pleased expression on his face, but the gaining under the process into beet-redness-tints; and when he has at last had enough—about an hour of it—he takes off the lid and emerges as much like a boiled lobster as a human being can become. My bath was quite ready; the small furnace glowed with five pieces of charcoal; the water bubbled merrily, and my companion of the bath, taking off the lid, invited me to enter. Not being how ever, either a Japanese, a blue lobster, or a potato, I did not see any particular object in being boiled, and so had the fuel raked out of the furnace and a few buckets of cold water added before I got in."

That Detroit Justice as a Reformer.

THE first man out was a railroad brakeman, who had been celebrating his grandfather's birthday.

"You run on the cars, eh?" asked the Court.

"Yes, sir."

"And you belong to the class of men who open the door as the train nears the Pontiac and yell out 'Upontyack!' at the passengers."

The man was silent.

"It makes my blood boil when I think of how I've laid out good fat cheap railroads," continued His Honor. "The seats are locked, the water-cooler empty, the windows won't stay up, and every few minutes you open the door and cry out 'Zaw-kim' for Jackson, for 'Klazoo' for Kalamazoo. I believe I'll mark you for six months."

"Please, sir," protested the prisoner.

"I must strike a blow at this great evil somewhere, and I might as well commence on you."

"Please, sir, I was never here before, and it's my first drunk in four years."

His Honor leaned back and chewed the corner of a blotting-pad while he reflected. Finally he said:

"Well, I'll let you go, though I'll be blamed for it. Now, sir, after this you want to adopt a different style. When the train approaches a station you want to go through the car like a sad waiter gently, and say in quiet tones: 'Ladies and gentlemen, this train is now on the outskirts of the beautiful city of Ypsilanti, and such of you as desire to step off will please make ready, and may health and prosperity ever attend you.' What an innovation that would be, sir! How the traveling public would rush for your road! Will you do this, Mr. Wellington?"

The prisoner promised, and was allowed to go.—Detroit Free Press.

—As ecclesiastical question of some importance has been settled in Russia by the elevation of a secular priest—who had been married—to the episcopate. By an Imperial decree the Archi-pâtre Marcel Popiel, of the United Greek Church, was made Orthodox Bishop of Lublin upon the entry into the Russian Church.

Eccentric Ants.

ONE of the most interesting insects inhabiting Texas and Mexico is the honey-making ant (Myrmecystus Mexicanus). But little is known of its domestic economy, yet that little is exceedingly curious. It generally chooses for the site of its home an area of four or five feet square of sandy soil in the vicinity of shrubs and flowers. The colony that settles on this space is, as usual, composed of three orders, the males, females and neuters, or workers. The last order is divided into three classes, viz.: the yellow nurses and feeders; the yellow honey-makers, and the black guards and purveyors. The guards are constantly on duty parading around the borders of the square, and protecting it from the intrusion of any insect enemy, such as a wasp, spider or beetle. While one body of the guards are thus employed as soldiery, another division is busy in foraging for flowers and aromatic leaves. These, when found and cut into manageable bits, are brought home to the nests and deposited in a heap in the center of the space. This accomplished, the second division of duties devolving upon the guards and purveyors seems to be concluded.

Now the little yellow nurses and feeders take up their line of labor by burying the sections of leaves and flowers from the common heap down into the galleries and cells of the most underground. The first cell, entered by an aperture near the southeast corner of the square, is used as a small excavation, across which is spread a web like that spun by a spider, but thicker and into squares about one-fourth of an inch across. In the center of each one of these squares sits a yellow honey-maker, a helpless prisoner by reason of its enormous abdomen or honey-sack, which is distended to twenty times the size of the rest of its body, and renders locomotion impossible. The nurses and feeders wait upon the honey-makers, keeping them constantly supplied with flowers and pollen. From this material the honey-makers distill honey by some process analogous to that of the bee, filling their abdomens with the delicious sweet until there is room for no more. What disposal is then made of the honey is as yet unknown. It is supposed that the honey-makers may be killed when their sacks are once filled; and again it is surmised that they discharge their contents into prepared receptacles, and continue the process of elaboration indefinitely. As in the case of bees, the store of honey serves as food for the colony.

The Mexicans are very fond of this ant-honey, considering it a delicate article of food. They also manufacture it into an agreeable drink and use it as a remedy for disease.

The Ecitons are the most ferocious of all the nest tribe of ants. They feed upon other animals and spend their lives roaming about in great companies like bands of ancient blood-thirsty pirates, destroying every defenseless creature that comes in their way. To Mr. Bates, who spent eleven years investigating the fauna of the Amazons, we are indebted for much of our knowledge of this interesting genus. He discovered ten different species in that one American, eight of which were then new to science. The giant among the Ecitons is the E. rapax, the largest class of its workers measuring half an inch in length. This species marsh in single file when out on marauding expeditions and do not separate in very large companies. They chiefly plunder the nests of a barky and defenseless ant of the genus Formica, and are generally seen on their excursions laden with the mangled bodies of their prey.

The Ecitos lepinca, a much smaller species, was found by Mr. Bates only on the sandy wastes of Santarem. When bent on a raid it moves in broad columns made up of thousands of individuals. One morning Mr. Bates observed an army of these little bandits eagerly at work ravaging the nests of a large species of Formica. They had run mines into the ground from eight to ten inches in depth, and in this way had reached the habitations of their victims. Each of these small spring they were now bringing out the dead and dismembered remains of the Formicæ, and distributing them as booty among the carriers for transport to their own depots. Some were engaged filling out the bodies, others were tearing them in pieces of portable size, while others again seized each as much as it could bear, and hurried off with the home-bound column.

Mr. Bates himself dug into the nests of the Formicæ with a trowel, being anxious to examine the condition of things. The Ecitons took advantage of his assistance, rushing into the breach he had made, snatching every grub, cocoon and Formica he exhumed, and even tearing them from Mr. Bates' fingers, so that he had difficulty in securing a few entire specimens. The regular system of organized labor which the Ecitons labored in this work of murder and rapine excited the amazement of their keen-eyed observer. In short two hours the nests of the Formicæ were completely rifled, and the body of freebooters retired to their hives, which was marked by the base of a termitarium of the white ants.

The Eciton hamata and the E. despecabens are the species most commonly met with in the forests of the Amazons, and as much resemble each other that it is hard to distinguish them. Yet the one species keeps entirely separate from the other, the two having no interest in common, and never intermingling. They travel in dense columns, uniting countless numbers. Their approach is always indicated by the twittering of flocks of phlebodinated birds (ant thrushes) that make great havoc of the advancing hordes. On the appearance of these Ecitons the lower orders of animals are stricken with terror, as it is impossible for most of them to escape. Slow-moving spiders, a host of other species, caterpillars and larvæ of insects fall easy victims. The column, from three to four deep, moves steadily forward, clearing the ground of animal matter, living or dead, as it goes along. Should a mass of decaying wood sheltering a quantity of larvæ be encountered, the ants concentrate a large force upon it, and every hole and crevice is explored and rifled. On meeting with a wasps' nest they cut it to pieces in no time, regardless of the rage of its owners, and leave not a larva, pupa or young one behind.

Mr. Bates was never able to track these Ecitons to their home. Whenever observed they were on the march. One day he saw a procession extending from sixty to seventy yards in length, and yet neither the van nor the rear was in view. The main column was accompanied by what might be called a line of couriers that ran backward and forward—contrary to habit the members of the army in communication. Besides these there were regularly stationed on the borders of the column large-headed individuals that appeared to have little or nothing to do, as they carried no burdens and showed no disposition to fight for or protect the rest. Some authors consider these soldiers of the community, but Mr. Bates fancied their unhappy duty was to serve as food for the ant-thrushes and thus indirectly preserve the main body from destruction. Frequently these Ecitons were observed to pause in their line of labor by leaving the sections of leaves and flowers from the common heap down into the galleries and cells of the most underground. The first cell, entered by an aperture near the southeast corner of the square, is used as a small excavation, across which is spread a web like that spun by a spider, but thicker and into squares about one-fourth of an inch across. In the center of each one of these squares sits a yellow honey-maker, a helpless prisoner by reason of its enormous abdomen or honey-sack, which is distended to twenty times the size of the rest of its body, and renders locomotion impossible. The nurses and feeders wait upon the honey-makers, keeping them constantly supplied with flowers and pollen. From this material the honey-makers distill honey by some process analogous to that of the bee, filling their abdomens with the delicious sweet until there is room for no more. What disposal is then made of the honey is as yet unknown. It is supposed that the honey-makers may be killed when their sacks are once filled; and again it is surmised that they discharge their contents into prepared receptacles, and continue the process of elaboration indefinitely. As in the case of bees, the store of honey serves as food for the colony.

The Italian Cinderella.

THE Cornhill Magazine says.—"The Venetian version of 'Cinderella' differs from ours chiefly in the circumstance that the heroine is cinder-wench in the palace of the young King whom she eventually marries. And this young gentleman, overscrupulously coming into the kitchen to talk to the Queen, his mother (who was a model mother-in-law, if one may judge from her constant presence in those regions), sees the dirty, scullib-looking cinder-wench, and takes a violent dislike to her. The first morning after the ball in which the beautiful stranger has enchanted all eyes the King comes into the kitchen to talk over the entertainment with the Queen, whom he addresses as 'Sacred Majesty Mamma.' And he goes into ecstasies about the loveliness and splendor of the unknown Princess. Cinderella, hearing all this, mutters over and over again, as quickly as she can utter the words: 'Ciamona, ciamona!' ('Twas I, 'twas I) 'What's the matter with you,' says the King, 'that you mutter and mumble and jabber, and no one can make out a word you say? Mind the fourth and hold your tongue, do!' After the second ball the same thing happens, and this time Cinderella speaks a little more distinctly, and when the King describes the marvelous beauty and brilliancy of the lady, she says: 'Ciamona, ciamona!' so as to be heard and understood. 'What's the matter with you now?

Death of Andrew Johnson.

The Grand Rapids Eagle says that Wesley Ing, a blind, who is to teach music in a proposed survey of the south of Grand Rapids and Indiana Railroad Company, called on President Hayes that it cannot reach either Boyne Falls or Charlevoix this season. The Eagle thinks that it will make a specific report in a few days.

The Grand Rapids Eagle says that examinations are to be held at Grand Rapids, August 18 for second and promotion on the examination of teachers. Applicants for teachers' certificates will be examined at Petoskey, Boyne City, Charlevoix and Traverse City.

The Detroit Post says that Mr. Ferry, of Grand Haven, has been appointed by the Governor to succeed Mr. Chandler, as Senator from Michigan. Mr. Ferry is a brother of Senator Ferry, of Connecticut, and is a man of wealth and influence.

The Prince of Wales is to visit Canada next autumn. The purpose has been officially announced, a liberal appropriation has been made by the lower branch of the Canadian parliament, accompanied by a vote of confidence. The Prince will probably arrive in Canada in September, and will visit Quebec, Montreal, Ottawa, Toronto, Hamilton, Niagara Falls, London, Detroit, Chicago, New York and Boston.

The total number of deaths in Detroit during the past week was 54, of which 21 were children under five years of age. The number of deaths from cholera infantum was 11. The number of deaths from consumption was 5. The number of deaths from typhoid fever was 3. The number of deaths from cholera was 1.

The Detroit Post says that Mr. Chandler has been offered the position of Secretary of the Treasury, but has declined it. Mr. Chandler's friends say that he will not be a candidate for re-election to the Senate, but will devote himself to the practice of his profession.

The Grand Rapids Eagle says that Mr. Ferry, of Grand Haven, has been appointed by the Governor to succeed Mr. Chandler, as Senator from Michigan. Mr. Ferry is a brother of Senator Ferry, of Connecticut, and is a man of wealth and influence.

The Detroit Post says that Mr. Chandler has been offered the position of Secretary of the Treasury, but has declined it. Mr. Chandler's friends say that he will not be a candidate for re-election to the Senate, but will devote himself to the practice of his profession.

The Grand Rapids Eagle says that examinations are to be held at Grand Traverse, August 18 for second and promotion on the examination of teachers. Applicants for teachers' certificates will be examined at Petoskey, Boyne City, Charlevoix and Traverse City.

The Grand Rapids Eagle says that it cannot reach either Boyne Falls or Charlevoix this season. The Eagle thinks that it will make a specific report in a few days

THE SENTINEL.

WILLARD A SMITH, Editor and Proprietor.

CHARLEVOIX, - MICHIGAN.

THE NEWS.

THE Rosebank weaving-factory in Belfast, Ireland, was burned on the 31st inst. Loss $750,000.

THE Salzbine Porte has authorized the circulation of the Bible in Turkey.

A ST. PETERSBURG dispatch of the 31st ult. says that two thirds of the Russian town of Balmsk was lately burned.

AN immense meeting in favor of amnesty for Fenian convicts was held in Hyde Park, London, on the 1st. Nearly 100,000 persons were in attendance.

THE Secretary of the Treasury has ordered the sale of gold during the month of August as follows: $1,500,000 on the first and third Thursdays each, and $1,000,000 on the second and fourth Thursdays each; total $5,000,0000.

EX-PRESIDENT ANDREW JOHNSON died of paralysis at the residence of his daughter, in Carter County, Tenn., on the morning of the 31st ult., aged sixty-six years. The announcement of his death caused profound sorrow throughout his State and in other sections of the country. The news was conveyed to President Grant on the afternoon of the 31st. An executive order was immediately issued directing that the Executive Mansion and the several departments in Washington be draped in mourning until the close of the day designated for the funeral; and that all public business should be suspended on that day. The War and Navy Departments were also instructed to pay suitable honors to the memory of the ex-President.

A VIENNA dispatch of the 2d says several engagements had recently taken place between the Turks and the Herzegovinian insurgents, in which the former were defeated.

THE French National Assembly have passed bills authorizing the construction of a tunnel under the British Channel, and appropriating 30,000 francs for the French exhibition at the Philadelphia Centennial.

AT COLCHOP, England, on the 31, Col. Baker, a distinguished army officer, was found guilty of an indecent assault upon a young lady in a railway carriage and sentenced to twelve months' imprisonment and to pay a fine of £500.

THEODORE TILTON'S counsel on the 2d served a notice upon the counsel of Henry Ward Beecher to the effect that the case of Tilton vs. Beecher will be brought up for trial in the Brooklyn City Court on the first Monday of September.

IN the Mountain Meadows massacre trial on the 2d the affidavits of Brigham Young and Geo. A. Smith were offered and ruled out. They state, in substance, that neither participated in the massacre, and until afterward, and then only by general report.

THE number of deaths from yellow fever at Fort Barrancas, Fla., up to the 2d had been twenty-five out of seventy-two cases.

THE returns from the Kentucky State election, so far as received at Louisville up to the morning of the 3d, indicated about the same Democratic majority as at the last election.

THE public debt statement for July appeared on the 1st, as follows:

5% per cents. bonds	$1,000,958.70
6% per cent. bonds	413,540,650.00
Total coin bonds	$1,709,481,200
Lawful money debt	$14,679,000
Matured 6% debt	2,075,287
Legal-tender notes	356,689,985
Certificates of deposit	35,420,000
Fractional currency	43,143,200
Gold certificates	19,104,740
Interest on the debt	37,110,980
Total debt	$2,309,858,402
Cash in Treasury—
Coin	$86,842,700
Currency	4,316,000
Special deposits held for the redemption of certificates of deposit	66,220,000
Total in Treasury	$157,378,800
Debt less cash in Treasury	$2,147,480,102
Decrease during July	1,264,887
Bonds issued to the Pacific Railway Companies, interest payable in lawful money, principal outstanding	$64,623,512
Interest accrued and not paid	1,623,681
Interest paid by the United States	36,252,972
Interest repaid by the transportation of mails, etc	6,344,159
Balance of interest paid by United States	31,908,813

A STATE Temperance Convention has been called to meet at Janesville, Wis., on the 25th of August for the purpose of nominating a State Temperance ticket.

ACCORDING to a Madrid dispatch of the 3d the Alphonsist troops continued to be successful in all directions. Spanish funds had sensibly appreciated in consequence.

OVER 10,000 persons were present on the 4th at the centennial celebration of the organization of the Methodist Episcopal Church in this country, held in Baltimore. Addresses were delivered by Bishops Simpson, Janes, Ames, Haven, Peck, Foss, Andrews, Wiley, Kingsley, Hedding, Scott, Clark, Harris, Hamline, Morris, Waugh, Thomson, Roberts, Kavanaugh, Merrill, Ninde, Fitzgerald, Taylor, Haven, Hurst, Warren, Foster, Vincent, Fowler, Bowman, Andrews, Newman, Simpson

THE SENTINEL.

CHARLEVOIX, MICH.

WELLAND A. SMITH,
EDITOR AND PROPRIETOR.

TUESDAY, - - AUGUST 17, 1875.

The Trial of John D. Lee.

The trial of John D. Lee, the Mormon for participation in the infamous Mountain Massacre of 1857, has ended in the disagreement of the jury. The result was to have been anticipated, in view of the fact that the trial took place in a Mormon community and that a number (many all, we believe) of the jurymen were themselves Mormons. But the evidence in the case is sufficient not only to demonstrate Lee's guilt but also to fasten the responsibility of this cowardly, treacherous and horrible crime upon dignitaries high in the Mormon church. It has not been proved that Brigham Young knew of the proposed massacre before it was perpetrated; but it is hardly conceivable that a step of such importance, and so deliberately planned, should have been taken without consulting him. It is in evidence that he knew of the massacre immediately after its occurrence, and instead of endeavoring to bring the offenders to justice, as it was his duty, as Governor of the Territory to do, made New York his commander in the manner after the fact, with a fair presumption that he had a guilty knowledge of it before it was executed. The testimony further implicates Dame, Haight, Higby, and a number of other leading Mormons, in active participation in the conspiracy.

The result of the trial, in its crystallization into definite form, and support by uncontestable evidence, the story of the Mountain Meadow Massacre, which has hitherto been deemed by newspaper correspondents, upon unanimous testimony. These stories have been more than confirmed by the evidence of Mormon witnesses. In view of this, the fact that the jury stood nine to three in Lee's favor will not be regarded as a vindication by any but Mormons themselves.

The most prominent lawyers for Lee were both of them Michigan men—Hon. George C. Bates, formerly of this city, and Hon. J. G. Sutherland, formerly of Saginaw. Of the latter, the Utah correspondent of the Cincinnati Commercial writes:

"The strongest man for the defense is Hon. J. G. Sutherland, formerly of Saginaw, Mich. He is a small, unpretending man, seemingly more a judge than an advocate (he was a judge in Michigan), but he always gets in his work well, never fails on a technicality, and always takes all possible advantage of one.—Ex.

The Detroit Post's Niles correspondent telegraphed under date of the 13th, as follows: As the Dowagiac Comet band was crossing a bridge yesterday near Williamsville the structure fell, precipitating the 14 players in the band some 40 feet below. The scene of the accident is about six miles from Cassopolis. The bridge was a poor affair, about 150 feet long. When in the middle the timbers gave way, carrying the men, four horses and the wagon down together. The horses escaped injury. George Wood had his ankle badly injured; James Keeler had his leg broken between two beams; Frank Powell had one ear torn off and was badly injured internally. All the others, except eight, were bruised and jammed. The loss on instruments will not be less than $500, as every one was ruined except Keeler's. It is possible that one or two may die from their injuries. It is very doubtful if any action for damages can be sustained against the township.

The secret service detectives have recovered $14,000 of the $47,000 stolen from the United States Treasury by the clerk Hallock and divided with his accomplices, Ottman and Brooks. It appears that Hallock was merely the tool of the others, and that after stealing the money he turned over the greater portion of it to Ottman, a rich Washington saloon-keeper, and the real originator of the robbery. The money recovered was deposited by the latter in a bank at Alexandria, and consisted of twenty-nine $500 bills, which were indentified as a part of those taken from the abstracted package. Hallock has made a full confession, and there seems little doubt but he, together with the others, will be convicted, if indeed they do not all plead guilty. A levy has been made upon Ottman's property, and it is probable that the balance of the $47,000 not recovered will be made out of his effects.

Lawrence & Caspin of Kalamazoo, recently shipped in one day, one hundred and seventy-five dressed hog. plenz to our firm

The Enlargement of the Welland Canal,

The work of enlarging the Welland Canal throughout its entire extent is being pushed forward during the present season with great rapidity. The present size of the canal is ninety feet in width at the water line and fifty at the bottom, and four teen feet deep, so that the improvement calls for digging out more earth than did the original canal. The present canal only admits of the passage of vessels of perhaps the third grade, which presents, of course, any very extended foreign or ocean traffic by our lake vessels. The enlargement in contracting will permit the passage of the largest size lake vessels, which will very largely stimulate direct foreign importation and exportation from our lake ports. The new locks are being built two hundred and seventy-one feet long and forty-five feet wide. The cost of the entire improvement was first estimated at $9,500,000, but the cost will probably not be less than $12,000,000. To make this improvement of the highest commercial value to the entire country, it must be followed up by a complete system enlargement of the canals along the St. Lawrence River, and this done, the great problem of cheap transportation from the great grain-fields of the West to the consumers of Europe will be nearly solved. Then will the grain and products of this section of country find their way to tide-water in the cheapest possible manner, and without transhipment. Oswego, and Chicago, as well as other lake ports, will be largely benefited by this improvement, as it will do more than any other thing to revive the drooping commerce of the lakes. Already New York is commencing to appreciate what the future effect will be. New York fears that Montreal will secure a greater share of the grain than it has had in the past, and what Montreal gains New York expects to lose, and is already trying to "dodge" against it. But it will probably not avail much, for grain will find the cheapest way to market and consumption, and this improvement will make that way, via the great lakes and St. Lawrence, to the sea. If New York holds her own the cost of transportation must go more, lower than at present and to other case the West and Northwest can be the coolest cultivated, for whatever way it goes they are sure to receive the benefit.—Northern Tribune.

Princely Humbug in Germany.

Nine out of ten intelligent Americans speak of Prince Fritz and Prince Frederick Charles, his cousin, as "great generals." They believe because the names of these persons were signed to reports and bulletins that they were the real directors of the armies at whose head they figured. There is no such delusion here. If the German armies had been left to the guidance of these personages, the sum total of the campaign would have been vastly different. They never directed a movement, nor the deploying of a corporal's guard. Moltke and his staff conceived and executed every detail of every movement, the princes not being trusted with the most inconsequent point. The chief of the staff of each army was its actual commander, the royal princes serving merely as figure heads to impress the people with the dependence upon royalty for success in battle. So it goes in nearly every department of public administration. Some royal imbecile figures as the responsible head, while the work is really done by brilliant men who are comparatively unknown. Bismarck and Moltke are about the only exceptions, while possibly the King of Saxony, who is said to have some military talent, and who handled the Saxon corps in the late war very effectively, is under General Moltke's plan. Everything is done, however, to impress the reality of the services of the princes upon the nations. When the war was ended, great rewards were given the Prussian princes, and the imperial cousins down to the lowest grades. The two princes, Frederick William, and Frederick Charles, were created marshals of the empire, and awarded large allowances from the French indemnity, while the staff officers, who had really manoeuvered the armies, were advanced a grade and received a few empty decorations. Von Moltke, Von Manteuffel, and Von Bismarck" being about the only marked exceptions, this march receiving the title of prince and a half million of dollars. Moltke the dollars without the title.—Berlin correspondence Chicago Times.

The New Orleans Republican speaks with grim sarcasm when it complains of the violation, at Vicksburg and Natchez, of "the tacit agreement that there should be at least a sort of game law, and which the colored laborers should not be shot during the season for cultivating the cotton crop for the white land owners."

Mr. Strong, the woman who set fire to Barnes' Bro. mill at Rochester, got ten years in State prison for so doing.

The Eastern Michigan Agricultural Society will hold its next fair at Ypsilanti, on Sept. 28th, 29th, 30th and October 1st.

"SHTOP A LEETLE!"

Spring Harbor,

HEAD OF PINE LAKE.

The Secret of Wonderful Growth and Success.

Way up in the earth is a veryssmart town,
To the country all over it is gaining renown,
It's to Charlevoix county and Spring Harbor Town.

The soil is so rich if you plant a small nail,
To-morrow a big yield a money will fail
Dassent lie on for the people all say
Time and ice is crowbar the very next day—
In Charlevoix county and Spring Harbor Town.

There was the merchants whistle up to many trade,
Whether I sell me goods before they are made,
In Charlevoix county and spring Harbor Town.

I won't tell me secret now as tell you small
But their secret of trade is they all advertise
And their efforts are crowned by millions in wealth
While they all do enjoy the most perfect health,
In Charlevoix county and Spring Harbor Town

Then there are the doctors they'll cure you of ills,
With syrup and pills and various pills—
In Charlevoix county and Spring Harbor Town.

If they on you once make a professional call,
Again in your life you'll be ill not at all,
In charlevoix county and Spring Harbor Town.

You'll not die at all, but live on forever—
In Charlevoix county and Spring Harbor Town

Then there is the "dummil" the sheen of the age,
To give all the news it doth always engage
In Charlevoix county and Spring Harbor Town.

And the editor knows his business as well,
Believe what I say, for the truth I do tell
If a man is run hoss and left in his gore,
It will give not the news two or three days before,
In Charlevoix county and Spring Harbor Town.

Now I suppose you'd be glad to all know,
How strong it is I repeat thus to be sure
In Charlevoix county and Spring Harbor Town.
When the cause I do give, you all will confess,
The secret that leads to perfect success.
They get their goods cheaper than ever before.
For they buy all they use at Newton's store.

YOU'RE CRAZY

TO PAY SUCH TERRIBLE PRICES FOR GOODS, WHEN BY CALLING AT THE

"REGULATOR"

You can purchase them at least THIRTY PER CENT. less than at any other place in this part of Charlevoix County. That is what we say at the "REGULATOR." We have lots of

NEW GOODS,

And more coming daily. We have Boots and Shoes for men; We have all kinds of Shoes for Ladies; we have Boots and Shoes and all kinds of other things for the little ones. We have all kinds of DRESS GOODS; we have all kinds of CLOTH to make clothes for the men and boys. We have

PORK AND FLOUR,

And all kinds of Groceries such as

SUGARS,

TEAS,

COFFEES,

SPICES,

OILS.

WE ALSO HAVE A LARGE ASSORTMENT OF

Farming Implements,

SUCH AS PLOWS, SHOVEL PLOWS, SCYTHES, SNATHS RAKES, FORKS, HOES, CULTIVATORS AND DRAGS. ALSO AN ASSORTMENT OF

TINWARE.

So if you'd buy cheaper than ever before, go to NICHOLS' Store, on Pine Lake shore, where the water doth roar, and all people, and more, say, that never before, in the country all over, did they see people pour into the door of a store, where they buy lots of goods and then buy some more; for they say we sells lower by thirty per cent or perhaps more, than ever before, at any man's store; so after reading this o'er, if still you'd know more, Tommie will

TURN THE CRANK TO THE MACHINE.

And tell you if you wish to astonish yourself with low prices, that you must go to 999999 Good Deal Avenue, nearly opposite to the Second National Bank, and directly opposite to the Metropolitan Hotel, Spring Harbor.

TRULY YOURS:

T. W. NICHOLS.

Carpenter & Bartholomew

Cheap Cash Store is just the Place to Buy Your Goods!

CARPENTER & BARTHOLOMEW'S

Standard Goods, and Bottom Prices is their Motto.

South End of Bridge Street.

Charlevoix, Mich.

MEDICAL

HALL,

CHARLEVOIX,

JUST THE PLACE TO BUY

DRUGS

And Dye Stuffs,

JUST THE PLACE TO BUY

Patent Medicines

JUST THE PLACE TO BUY

Stationery, Ink and Pens,

And Pocket Inkstands.

JUST THE PLACE TO BUY

Perfumes and Hair Oils

Flavoring Extracts, and Toilet Goods,

JUST THE PLACE TO BUY

The Self-Adjusting Truss

JUST THE PLACE TO GET

Prescriptions Compounded

At all hours—night or day.

IN FACT, just the place to get anything you want in the Druggists line.

Cheap for Cash.

New store opposite Smackmann's Hardware Store.

GEO. W. CROUTER,

Druggist and Chemist.

Hemlock Bark!

The undersigned, owners of the whole of E. M. Stanton's wood, situated on the peninsula of Pine Lake and vicinity, are prepared to

Contract for Any Amount

Of Hemlock Bark to be delivered on the beach as Round or Pine Lakes or South Arm. The firm of Peck, Bone & Burton, Carpenter & Bartholomew, and Byron See, are our authorized agents, with whom contracts can be made, or with Dr. Weinkopf, of the firm of

CAPT. P. JOHNSON & Co.

Charlevoix, May 1, 1875.

N. B.—Samuel Holland, of Ellsworth, is also our authorized agent.

Read This.

The following instructive dialogue was overheard the other day:

Brown—I say, Jones, you seem to have been buying lots of groceries; where do you trade, Jones?

Jones—Why, I bought at

BYRON SEE'S

Grocery and Provision Store in Charlevoix. It is a good place to trade at.

Brown—Is that so? Can others do as well there as you can?—you know you are sharp in a trade.

Jones—O, yes, of course you can. He sells all alike. He gave me Five a double adjoin me and I guess he counts from the prices he sells at.

THE STANCH PROPELLER

1875. 1875.

A. C. Van Raalte

Capt. Alvin Dodge,

Will run during the season of 1875, as follows, between

Petoskey & Traverse City:

Will leave Petoskey at 6 o'clock a. m., on

Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays,

Arriving at Traverse City at 2 o'clock the same evening. Will leave Traverse City at 8 o'clock a. m. on

Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays,

Arriving at Petoskey the same evening, touching at all intermediate ports on Grand Traverse Bay, both ways.

$75 A WEEK to Agents to sell an article indispensable to every Family. Profits immense. Business light. Address BUCKEYE MFG. CO., Marion, Ohio.

Agricultural College Stock.

A newspaper writes to the Michigan Agricultural College relating this about the stock of the institution. The stock owned by the college consists in part of Galloway, Ayrshire, Devon, Jersey and short-horn cattle. Of all cows, for family use, the Jerseys are probably the best, for though the yield of milk is less than that of some other breeds, it is richer, and has a larger proportion of cream. Butter is made from this cream in less time than from any other. Your correspondent did not purchase many cows, his main reason for not doing so being that the prices of all the above-mentioned breeds ranged from $150 to $300 for each animal. In one of the box stalls is a three-year-old bull whose mother (the Duchess of Gloster) sold for $25,000, and whose sire was the famous $40,000 cow. All the gentlemen Durhams, of which there are some of each breed, are really magnificent creatures, but isn't it a pity to keep them chained and stepped in stalls instead of letting them out to enjoy the pure air and green fields? They are let out sometimes. Not long since a certain party was informed that there were plenty of ample cows in a field belonging to the home, and that party procured a nice new tin pail, and repaired to the place designated, feeling to his delight that it was an excellent herrying ground. While pleasantly engaged in filling the measure, he became aware of the rapid approach of a gazelle-like creature weighing something less than 2,000 pounds. Now a taste for architecture in single terms is a distinguishing trait in that party's character, and seeing a short fence about twenty rods distant, he became possessed with a desire to observe closely the manner of its construction. Issued an eager was his interest in the matter, that a brick trot was speedily exchanged for a run, which, singularly enough, the gentle "Ayrshire," seemingly impelled by a like curiosity made for the same point with the speed of a locomotive—"brakes off and a full head of steam." Not being a public race, the time was not recorded, though two or three unsolicited spectators have since been heard to remark that it was the best twenty-rod time ever made. How that pail will look if it is ever brought home is a question.—Ex.

Liquor Tax Sustained.

Judge Ingham Cochrane of the Detroit superior court has sustained the validity of the liquor tax imposed by the last legislature. He dismisses the application of the liquor men in full by injunction, maintaining that the law is for tax not license; that the legislature can impose a tax upon business; that this is a specific tax, but not a mere specific tax that the duties imposed on the sheriff by it belong to his office. An appeal will doubtless be taken to the supreme court; but three of the four judges must decide against Judge Cochrane's opinion to overturn it.

Meanwhile many of the liquor dealers in Wayne county have refused to pay the tax, or to file the necessary bonds; and soon it will be seen what a democratic sheriff amounts to, in enforcing the law. Thus far he has played lugubriously but effectively into the hands of the liquor interest. Was not the temperance convention at Jackson last week a little too much under prohibition control? The issues of prominent prohibitionists appeared on the call and in the reports of the meeting. The tone of the resolutions is strongly for prohibition, and the existing tax law is denounced without measure or stint as of the liquor interest. But in fact its passage was strongly opposed by the liquor interest, and has been fought in the courts at Detroit by that interest. If it suits the liquor men, they take a strange way of showing it.

We believe the new law should have a fair chance; and when it is proved that more drinking takes place under it than under the previous system, the people will be qualified to judge whether it is best to retain the no license clause in the constitution. But it would certainly appear as if this early condemnation of the tax law was engineered in the interest of those restless and unscrupulous men who have dragged down every temperance organization except their little political squad, and to whose special efforts in a dozen or more legislative districts last fall was due the election of enough avowed enemies of the prohibitory law to repeal it.—Ex.

Effective.

From the Detroit Free Press.

Yesterday morning a long haired, thick ly bearded stranger entered a Griswold street barber shop, and in response to the inquiry if he would be shaved, replied:

"Yes, sir, you miserable, contemptible, skulking highway pirate, I would!"

He removed his hat, drew a big navy revolver, cocked it, and sitting down in a chair with the revolver in his hand he continued:

"Now, go ahead. If you ask me to have my hair cut, or say that I have dandruff, or cut my chin, or ask me to buy your hair restorer, I will shoot you dead in your tracks."

That barber did not say one word while having that man.

Its Mission not Ended.

For fourteen years the Republican party has governed the nation. Its record has become the most brilliant chapter in American history. No citizen need linger over a single line. Posterity will dwell with admiration over the grand work recorded in so brief a space of time.

Grand as its past achievements are admitted to be, even by its opponents, they will be at least equaled if not surpassed by the work of the future.

It has delivered the nation from the hands of its enemies; its future mission will be to conduct it to the highest possible plane of nationality. It has a public debt to pay, the pledged faith of the country to maintain, a currency to redeem in coin, an emancipated race to protect. Is force it can retire from a work to which it was called by the voice of the people.

It is not idle boasting, but a recognized truth, when we say that the Republican party represents the intelligence, the wisdom, the patriotism, the honor of the nation, as found among all classes, among men of culture, wealth, industry, the true governing elements of nations. Could the two parties pass in review, so that the nation could contrast the material of each, there would be no hesitation among fair minded citizens, as to the party most entitled to support.

Democracy has some good men in its ranks, men who desire to do right, and who earnestly seek through their votes and influence to advance the interests of their county. But they are in a hopeless minority, powerless to control the bad elements which exert a controlling influence in the Democratic party. Honor, patriotism, responsibility, intelligence, are the exceptions in Democracy, while in the Republican party they are the rule.

Recruits will drop into the best organized society. They will get into the church, the best protected orders, the family circle. They are not invited, but they come under the guise of honor, and are known only when their acts betray them. Such men are discovered from time to time in the Republican party, but as soon as known receive the lash of indignation, or if criminally guilty, the penalties laid down in the law. They have never been sheltered by the party, nor they never will be. Wherever, or wherever discovered, they will have meted out to them the punishment they deserve.

This is all that any human organization can do. We should expect no more from a party; we should be satisfied with no less. To reach out and punish the delinquent, to ignore the unworthy, to turn a cold shoulder to those who would use the party to promote their own selfish purposes, should be the aim of true Republicans. Our ranks are filled with noble characters, men of public and private virtue whose names have become household words in the locality where they reside. To bring them to the front, to nominate them for office, to select them for leaders, is to write victory on our party banners. Let this important duty be performed.—Washington Republic.

Frightening Children.

Nothing can be worse for a child than to be frightened. The effect of the scare it is slow to recover from; it remains sometimes until maturity, as is shown by many instances of morbid sensitiveness and excessive nervousness. Not unfrequently fear has been employed as a means of discipline. Children are controlled by being made to believe that something terrible will happen to them and punished by being shut up in darkened rooms, or by being put in places they stand in dread of. No one without vivid memory of his own childhood, can comprehend how ordinary ones such things are. We have often heard grown people tell of the suffering they have endured, as children, under like circumstances and recount the irreparable injury which they are sure they then received. No parent, nor nurse capable of alarming the young is for her position. Children as near as possible, should be trained not to know the sense of fear, which above everything else is to be feared in their education early and late.

Something New.

The Grand Rapids Democrat says a boat and vessel like has been inaugurated by the Grand Rapids & Indiana Railroad Company. They have prepared cars for fishing and pleasure parties, and will furnish them at low rates. These cars are fitted up with sleeping berths for nine persons, and can be arranged to hold two or three more. They contain a cook stove and utensils, pantry, closets, a large icechest, in short everything to orally house a large fishing party or family. All the appointments are plain but substantial just the thing for roughing it comfortably. For this car $10 per day is charged. Mr. J. H. Page, the general passenger and ticket agent at Grand Rapids, will give all particulars needed.

Work on the new government building at Grand Rapids is to commence on the 16th of August.

NORWOOD.

F. J. MEECH & Co.

NORWOOD, MICH.,

DEALERS IN

Groceries and Provisions,

Also Manufacturers of

HARDWOOD LUMBER,

Lath and Shingles.

On the eighteen Presidents of the United States Gen. Grant is the only one living. When he was inaugurated, the only survivor of the men who were regularly elected to that office was Franklin Pierce, and he died during the first year of President Grant's term. Two of the vice-Presidents who were called to the White House by the death of their chiefs, were still alive, but Mr. Fillmore died last year and Mr. Johnson on Saturday last. Of the eighteen gentlemen who have been elected to the Vice Presidency, Hannibal Hamlin, Schuy-

A Story of Ben Wade.

Denver Correspondent New York Tribune.

When ex-Senator Wade went to Utah three or four years ago he encountered, in crossing the desert to Salt Lake City, an old friend from Ohio, who had gone West years before.

"How do you like the country?" asked the bluff old commoner.

"Very well," was the answer; "it would make a nice country if there was a little better society and plenty of water."

"I should think so," retorted Mr. Wade; "a little better society, and plenty of water would make hell a paradise."

Bismarck now has forty-two decorations. They comprise German, Belgian, Greek, Italian, Dutch, Austrian, Spanish, Swedish, Turkish, Tunisian, Persian and Siamese orders, also the Danish Danebrog grand cross, the grand cross of the French legion of Honner, the Austrian iron crown, the San Marino grand cross and a medal for saving a drowning man, this last being the first in point of date. It would certainly be difficult for the prince to wear all or even half of these distinctions at one time without looking like the sample card of a brass factory at a country fair.

Theology in Colorado.

The Denver Mirror says: The report of a sermon by a Fremont county preacher is worth repeating here:

Boys, you'll find this life just like a game of seven up. You want to save your tens and look out for game, an' never leg when you hold a good hand. Also recollect, in the long run, low counts as much as high, if it is only a trump. The devil has stacked the cards, but just play 'em honest, and when it comes your deal, yer boun' to get a winnin' hand every time, and old split-hoof will just have to pump the game and look for a softer snap. Also, if you happen to turn Jack, call it lucky, but dont forget to remember that turning Jack is uncertain business, and it never do to bet on.

Wonderful Success

Three years ago Dr. Boschee's German Syrup was introduced in the United States from Germany for the cure of coughs, severe colds settled on the breast, Consumption and other diseases of the Throat and Lungs No medicine ever had such a success. 300,000 sample bottles have been distributed every year for three years by Druggists in all parts of the United States, and nearly 1000 letters from Druggists are now on our files stating that no other preparation in their stores sells as well and gives such excellent satisfaction. All we ask is for you to go to your Druggist (A. W. Cousens, and get a sample bottle for 10 cents and try it. Regular size 75 cents.

NEW

MILLINERY

AND

Dress - Making

ESTABLISHMENT.

Fancy Goods, such as Canvass, Zephyrs Tidies, Tid patterns, Parasols, Kid Gloves, etc. Also Shoemaker Supplies. Dresses and Cloaks fitted and made in the latest fashions.

Charges Reasonable.

Rooms in Barry Newman's bakery building

MISS A. M. SACKET.

Charlevoix, June 17, 1875. [3m]y

DRUGS and MEDICINES

DR. LEWIS

Tenders his thanks to the Inhabitants of Charlevoix and vicinity for past patronage, and solicits a continuance of the same. He has

JUST RECEIVED

A large stock of medicines, such as

Fluid Extracts,
Tinctures,
Essences
Oils of all kinds,
Gums,
Perfumery, etc

PATENT MEDICINES,

A large stock, such as Ayres, Jays Sarsaparilla, Peterman's Blackman's, Soper's & Herrick's.

A Full Supply of Dye Stuffs.

All goods sold as cheap as by any house north of Grand Rapids.

I Keep What I Advertise.

FOX, ROSE & BUTTARS

Charlevoix.

THE SUMMER OF 1875.

LOWER! LOWER!

Go the Prices!

WE CAN AND WILL

SELL CHEAPER

Than any other House in Charlevoix,

Our Neighbors

Are Cutting Down on Certain Articles; We cut down on

Everything!

Regardless of Profit,

Are Always Kept.

If You Don't Believe It,

COME AND SEE

For Yourselves.

YARD WIDTH COTTON FOR 10c

TEA--3 Pounds for $1.

SUIT of Coths for $8.

The Best Goods,

FOX, ROSE & BUTTARS.

THE SENTINEL.

CHARLEVOIX, MICH.

WILLARD A. SMITH, Editor and Proprietor.

TUESDAY, - - APRIL 6, 1875

The Trial of John D. Lee.

The trial of John D. Lee, the Mormon participator in the Arkansas Massacre of 1857, has ended in the disagreement of the jury. The result was to have been anticipated, in view of the fact that the trial took place in a Mormon community and that a number (seven) of the jurymen were themselves Mormons. But the evidence in the case is sufficient to satisfy to demonstrate Lee's guilt but also to fasten the responsibility of that cowardly, treacherous and horrible crime upon dignitaries high in the Mormon church. It has not been proved that Brigham Young knew of the proposed massacre before it was perpetrated; but it is hardly conceivable that a step of such importance, and so deliberately planned, should have been taken without consultation. It is in evidence that he knew of the massacre immediately after its occurrence, and instead of endeavoring to bring the offenders to justice, as it was his duty, as Governor of the Territory to do, he connived at their escape.

This leader is known as accomplice in the massacre after the fact, with a fair presumption that he had a guilty knowledge of it before it was executed. The testimony further implicates Dame, Haight, Higby, and a number of other leading Mormons, in active participation in the conspiracy.

The result of the trial, in its crystalization into definite form, and support by sworn testimony, the story of the Mountain Meadow Massacre, which has hitherto been disclosed by unpopular corroborations, upon uncertain testimony. Those stories have been more than confirmed by the evidence of Mormon witnesses. In view of this, the fact that the jury stood nine to three in Lee's favor will not be regarded as a vindication by any but Mormons themselves.

The most prominent lawyers for Lee, were both of them Michigan men—Hon George C. Bates, formerly of this city, and Hon. J. G. Sutherland, formerly of East Saginaw. Of the latter, the Utah correspondent of the Cincinnati Commercial writes:

"The strongest man for the defense is Hon. J. G. Sutherland, formerly of Saginaw, Mich. He is a small, unpretending man, seemingly more a judge than an advocate (he was a judge in Michigan), but he always gets in his work well, never fails on a technicality, and always takes all possible advantage of one.—Ex.

The Detroit Post's Niles correspondent telegraphed under date of Saturday, as follows: A mad Hungarian Concert Band was crossing a bridge yesterday near Williamsville the structure fell, precipitating the 14 players in the mud some 40 feet below. The scene of the accident is about six miles from Cassopolis. The bridge was a poor affair, about 150 feet long. When in the middle the timbers gave way, carrying the men, four horses and the wagon down together. The horses escaped injury. George Wood had his ankle badly injured. James Keeler had his leg broken between two beams. Frank Powell had one ear torn off and was badly injured internally. All the others, except the horses, were bruised and jammed. The loss on instruments will not be less than $500, as every one was ruined except Keeler's. It is possible that one or two may die from their injuries. It is very doubtful if any action for damages can be sustained against the township.

The secret service detectives have recovered $11,000 of the $47,000 stolen from the United States Treasury by the clerk Hallock and divided with his accomplices, Gilman and Bowen. It appears that Hallock was merely the tool of the others, and that after stealing the money he turned over the greater portion of it to Gilman, a rich Washington saloon-keeper, and the real originator of the robbery. The money recovered was deposited by the latter in a bank at Alexandria, and consisted of twenty-nine $500 bills, which were indentified as a part of those taken from the abstracted package. Hallock has made a full confession, and there seems little doubt but he, together with the others, will be convicted, if indeed they do not all plead guilty. A levy has been made upon Gilman's property, and it is probable that the balance of the $47,000 not recovered will be made out of his effects.

Lawrence & Chapin of Kalamazoo, recently shipped in one day, one hundred and seventy-five thousand iron plows to one firm.

The Enlargement of the Welland Canal,

The work of enlarging the Welland Canal throughout its entire extent is being pushed forward during the present season with great rapidity. The present size of the canal is ninety feet in width at the water line and fifty at the bottom, and fourteen feet deep, so that the improvement calls for digging out more earth than did the original canal. The present canal only admits of the passage of vessels of perhaps the third grade, which prevents, of course, any very extended foreign or ocean traffic by our lake vessels. The enlargement in construction will permit the passage of the largest size lake vessels, which will very largely stimulate direct foreign importation and exportation from our lake ports. The new locks are being built one hundred and seventy-six feet long and fifty-five feet wide. The cost of the entire improvement was first estimated at $9,500,000, but the cost will probably not be less than $20,000,000. To make the most efficient of the largest commercial value to the entire country, it must be followed up by a complete system of enlargement of the canals along the St. Lawrence River, and this done, the great problem of cheap transportation from the great granaries of the West to the consumers of Europe will be nearly solved. Then will the grain and products of this section of country find their way to market in the cheapest possible manner, and without transhipment. Chebogan, and well as other lake ports, will be largely benefited by this improvement, as it will do more than any other thing to revive the drooping commerce of the lakes. Already New York is commencing to appreciate what the future effort will be. New York fears that Montreal will secure a greater share of the grain than it has had in the past, and what Montreal gains New York expects to lose, and is already trying to "dredge" against it. But it will probably not avail much, for grain will find the cheapest way to market and consumption, and this improvement will make that way, via the great lakes and St. Lawrence, to the sea. If New York would not own the cost of transportation must go much lower than at present and in either case the West and North-west can view the contest unmoved, for whichever way it goes they are sure to receive the benefit.—Northern Tribune.

Princely Rumbug in Germany.

None out of ten intelligent Americans speak of Prince Fritz and Prince Frederick Charles, his cousin, as "great generals" they believe because the names of these persons were signed to reports and bulletins that they were the real directors of the armies at whose head they figured. There is no such delusion here. If the German armies had been left to the guidance of these personages, the sum total of the campaign would have been vastly different. They never directed a movement, for the deploying of a corporal's guard. Moltke and his staff conceived and executed every detail of every movement, the princes not being trusted with the most unimportant point. The chief of the staff of each army was its actual commander, the royal prince serving merely as figure heads to impress the people with the dependence upon royalty for success in battle. So it goes in nearly every department of public administration. Some royal imbecile figures as the responsible head, while the work is really done by brilliant men who are comparatively unknown. Bismarck and Moltke are about the only exceptions, while possibly the King of Saxony, who is said to have some military talent, and who handled the Saxon corps in the late war very effectively under General Moltke's plans. Everything is done, however, to support the reality of the service of the princes upon the nation. When the war was ended, great rewards were given the Prussian princes, and the imperial cousins down to the lowest grades. The two princes, Frederick William, and Frederick Charles, were created marshals of the empire, and awarded large allowances from the French indemnity, while the staff officers, who had really manoeuvered the armies, were advanced a grade and received a few empty decorations. Von Moltke, Von Manteuffel, and Von Bismarck being about the only marked exceptions. His morck received the title of prince and a half million of dollars. Moltke the dollars without the title.—Berlin correspondence Chicago Times

The New Orleans Republican speaks with grim sarcasm when it complains of the visitation, at Vicksburg and Natchez, of the tacit agreement that there should be at least a sort of game law, and which the colored laborers should not to shot during the season for cultivating the cotton crop for the white land owners."

Mrs. Strong, the woman who set fire to Barnes' Bro. mill at Rochester, got ten years in State prison for so doing.

The Eastern Michigan Agricultural Society will hold its next fair at Ypsilanti, on Sept. 28th, 29th, 30th and October 1st.

"SH'TOP A LEETLE!"

Spring Harbor,

HEAD OF PINE LAKE.

The Secret of Wonderful Growth and Success.

Way up in the north is a very smart town,
In the country all over it is going to boom,
It's in Charlevoix county and Spring Harbor Town.

The soil is so rich if you plant a seed
It grows,
To give a big yield it is sure will fill
It stands in so for the people all say
That such a crowder the very next day.
In Charlevoix county and Spring Harbor Town.

There are the merchants who're up to the times,
Will sell you the goods before they are Bought,
And their efforts are crowned by millions of wealth
While they all do enjoy the most perfect health.
In Charlevoix county and Spring Harbor Town.

Then there are the doctors they'll cure you all ills,
With drugs and drugs and various pills,
In Charlevoix county and Spring Harbor Town.

If they or you once make a professional call,
Again in your life you'll be ill not at all,
If they can't cure or raise you in such fast feel as clever,
You'll not die at all, but live on forever—
In Charlevoix county and Spring Harbor Town.

Then there is the "Journal" the sheet of the age,
To give all the news it doth always engage
In Charlevoix county and Spring Harbor Town.

And the editor knows his business so well,
Knows what I say, for the truth I do tell
If a man is murdered and left in his gore,
It will give you the news two or three days before,
In Charlevoix county and Spring Harbor Town.

Now I suppose you'll be glad to all come,
How strangely it happens that to be sure
In Charlevoix county and Spring Harbor Town.

When the cause I do give, you all will confess,
The secret that leads to perfect success
They get their goods cheaper than ever before,
For they buy all they use at Nichols's store.

YOU'RE CRAZY

TO PAY SUCH TERRIBLE PRICES FOR GOODS, WHEN BY CALLING AT THE

"REGULATOR"

You can purchase them at least THIRTY PER CENT. less than at any other place in this part of Charlevoix County. That is what we say at the "REGULATOR."

We have lots of

NEW GOODS,

And more coming daily. We have Boots and Shoes for men; We have all kinds of Shoes for Ladies; we have Boots and Shoes and all kinds of nice things for the little ones. We have all kinds of DRESS GOODS; we have all kinds of CLOTH to make clothes for the men and boys. We have

PORK AND FLOUR,

And all kinds of Groceries such as

SUGARS,

TEAS,

COFFEES,

SPICES,

OILS.

WE ALSO HAVE A LARGE ASSORTMENT OF

Farming Implements,

SUCH AS PLOWS, SHOVEL PLOWS, SCYTHES, SNATHS, RAKES, FORKS, HOES, CULTIVATORS AND DRAGS. ALSO AN ASSORTMENT OF

TINWARE.

So, if you'd buy cheaper than ever before, go to NICHOLS' Store, on Pine Lake shore, where the water doth roar, and all people, and more, say, that never before, in the country all over, did they see people pour into the door of a store, where they buy lots of goods and then buy some more; for they say he sells lower by thirty per cent or perhaps more, than ever before, at say man's store; so after reading this over, if did you'd know more, Tommie wil

TURN THE CRANK TO THE MACHINE.

And tell your if you wish to astonish yourself with low prices, that you must go to 999999 Gold Dust Avenue, nearly opposite to the Second National Bank, and directly opposite to the Metropolitan Hotel, Spring Harbor.

TRULY YOURS:

T. W. NICHOLS.

Carpenter & Bartholomew

Cheap Cash Store is just the Place to Buy Your Goods!

CARPENTER & BARTHOLOMEW'S

Standard Goods and Bottom Prices is their Motto.

South End of Bridge Street.

Charlevoix, Mich

MEDICAL

HALL,

CHARLEVOIX,

JUST THE PLACE TO BUY

DRUGS

And Dye Stuffs,

JUST THE PLACE TO BUY

Patent Medicines

JUST THE PLACE TO BUY

Stationery, Ink and Pens.

And Pocket Inkstands.

JUST THE PLACE TO BUY

Perfumes and Hair Oils

Flavoring Extracts, and Toilet Goods.

JUST THE PLACE TO BUY

The Self-Adjusting Truss

JUST THE PLACE TO GET

Prescriptions Compounded

At all hours—night or day.

IN FACT just the place to get anything you want in the Drug line.

Cheap for Cash.

Near store opposite Stockman's Restaurant Sign.

GEO. W. CROUTER.

Druggist and Chemist.

Hemlock Bark!

The undersigned, owners of the valuable S. M. Stanley's wood, between the ranges of Pine Lake and vicinity, they are prepared to

Contract for Any Amount

Of Hemlock Bark to be delivered on the bank of Round or Pine Lakes or South Arm. The firm of Fox, Rose & Buttars, Carpenter & Bartholomew, and Hyatt Bro. are authorized goods, with whom contracts can be made, or with Dr. Weinkopf, of the firm of

CAPT. P. JOHNSON & Co.

Charlevoix, May 1, 1875.

N. B.—Samuel Holland, of Creline, is also our authorized agent.

Read This.

The following instructive dialogue was overheard the other day:

Brown—I say, Jones, you seem to have been buying lots of groceries; where do you trade, Jones?

Jones—Why, I bought at

BYRON SEE'S

Grocery and Provision store in Charlevoix. It is a good place to trade.

Brown—Is that so? Can others do as well there as you can?—you know you are always in a trade.

Jones—O, yes of course you can. He sells all alike. He gave me a double allowance and I guess he does from the prices he sells at.

THE STANCH PROPELLER

1875. 1875.

A. C. Van Raalte

Capt. Alvin Dodge,

Will run during the season of 1875, as follows, between

Petoskey & Traverse City:

Will leave Petoskey at 6 o'clock a. m. on

Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays,

Arriving at Traverse City at 7 o'clock the same evening. Will leave Traverse City at 6 o'clock a. m. on

Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays,

Arriving at Petoskey the same evening. Touching at all intermediate ports on Grand Traverse Bay, both ways.

$75 A WEEK to Agents to sell an article $75 suitable at home. Profits immense. Package free. Address BUCKEYE MFG. CO., Marion, Ohio.

Agricultural College Stock.

A newspaper writes to the Michigan Agricultural College relating that about the stock of the institution. The stock owned by the college consists in part of Galloway, Ayrshire, Devon, Jersey and short-horn cattle. Of all cows, for family use, the Jerseys are probably the best, for though the yield of milk is less than that of some other breeds, it is richer, and has a larger proportion of cream. Butter is made from this cream in less time than from any other. Your correspondent did not purchase many cows, his main reason for not doing so being that the prices of all the above-mentioned breeds ranged from $150 to $300 for each animal. In one of the box stalls is a three-year-old bull whose mother (the Duchess of Oneida) sold for $25,000, and whose sire was the famous $40,000 ox. All the gentlemen bovines, of which there are some of each breed, are really magnificent creatures, but isn't it a pity to keep them chained and stripped in stalls instead of letting them out to enjoy the pure air and green fields? They are let out sometimes. Not long since a certain party was informed that there were plenty of inspectors in a field hereinafter to be named and that party procured a ride over the pool, and reported to the press disgusted, finding to his delight that it was an excellent herrying ground. While pleasantly engaged in filling the measure, he became aware of the rapid approach of a gazelle-like creature weighing something less than 2,000 pounds. Now a taste for architecture in ungulates is a distinguishing trait in that party's character, and seeing a stout fence about twenty rods distant, he became possessed with a desire to observe closely the manner of its construction. Indeed, so eager was his interest in the matter, that a brisk trot was speedily exchanged for a run, while singularly enough, the gentle "Ayrshire," eminently impelled by a like curiosity made for the same point with the speed of a locomotive—"brakes off and a full head of steam." Not being a paid racer, the time was not recorded, though two or three mounted spectators have since been heard to remark that it was the best twenty-rod time ever made. How that pool will look if it is ever brought home is a question.—Ex.

Liquor Tax Sustained.

Judge Ingram Cochrane of the Detroit superior court has sustained the validity of the liquor tax imposed by the last legislature. He dismisses the application of the liquor-dealers on an injunction, maintaining that the law is for tax not license; that the legislature can impose a tax upon business; that this is a specific tax, but not a state-specific tax that the duties imposed go to the sheriff by it belong to his office. An appeal will doubtless be taken to the supreme court; but three of the four judges must decide against Judge Cochrane's opinion to overturn it.

Meantime many of the liquor-dealers in Wayne county have refused to pay the tax, or to file the necessary bonds; and several will be seen what a democratic sheriff amounts to, in enforcing the law. This far he has played ingeniously but effectively into the hands of the liquor interest. Was not the temperance convention at Jackson last week a little too much under prohibition control? The names of prominent prohibitionists appeared on the call and in the reports of the meeting. The tone of the resolutions is strongly for prohibition and the existing tax law is denounced without measure as the work of the liquor interest. But in fact its passage was strongly opposed by the liquor interest, and has been fought in the courts at Detroit by that interest. If it suits the liquor men, they take a strange way of showing it.

We believe the new law should have a fair chance; and when it is proved that more drinking takes place under it than under the previous system, the people will be prepared to judge whether it is best to retain the no license clause in the constitution. But it would certainly appear as if this early condemnation of the tax law was engineered in the interest of those rendum and unscrupulous men who have dragged down every temperance organization except their little political quasi, and to whose special efforts in a dozen or more legislative districts last fall was due the election of enough avowed enemies of the prohibitory law to repeal it.—Ex.

Effective.

From the Detroit Free Press.

Yesterday morning a long-haired, thickly bearded stranger entered a Griswold-street barber-shop, and in response to the inquiry if he would be shaved, replied:

"No, sir, you miserable, cosmopolitan, skulking highway pirate, I would!"

He removed his hat, threw a big navy revolver, cocked it, and sitting down in a chair with the revolver in his hand he continued:

"Now, go ahead. If you ask me to have my hair cut, or say that I have dandruff, or cut my chin, or ask me to buy your hair restorer, I will shoot you dead in your tracks."

That barber did not say one word while having that man.

Its Mission not Ended.

For fourteen years the Republican party has governed the nation. Its record has become the most brilliant chapter in American history. No citizen need blush over a single line. Posterity will dwell with admiration over the grand work recorded in so brief a space of time.

Grand as its past achievements are admitted to be, even by its opponents, they will be at least equaled if not surpassed by the work of the future.

It has delivered the nation from the hands of its enemies; its future mission will be to conduct it to the highest possible plane of nationality. It has a public debt to pay, the pledged faith of the country to maintain, a currency to redeem in coin, an emancipated race to protect. Before it can retire from a work to which it was called by the voice of the people.

It is not idle boasting, but a recognized truth, when we say that the Republican party represents the intelligence, the wisdom, the patriotism, the honor of the nation, as found among all classes, among men of culture, wealth, industry, the true governing elements of nations. Could the two parties pass in review, so that the nation could contrast the material of each, there would be no hesitation among fair minded citizens, as to the party most entitled to support.

Democracy has some good men in its ranks, men who desire to do right, and who earnestly seek through their votes and influence to advance the interests of their county. But they are in a hopeless minority, powerless to control the bad elements which exert a controlling influence in the Democratic party. Honor, patriotism, responsibility, intelligence, are the exceptions in Democracy, while in the Republican party they are the rule.

Rascals will creep into the best organized society. They will get into the church, the best protected orders, the family circle. They are not invited, but they come under the guise of honor, and are known only when their acts betray them. Such men are discovered from time to time in the Republican party, but as soon as known receive the hot of indignation, or if criminally guilty, the penalties laid down in the law. They have never been sheltered by the party, and they never will be. Whoever, or wherever discovered, they will have meted out to them the punishment they deserve.

This is all that any honest organization can do. We should expect no more from a party; we should be satisfied with no less. To march out and punish the delinquent, to ignore the unworthy, to turn a cold shoulder to those who would use the party to promote their own selfish purposes, should be the aim of true Republicans. Our ranks are filled with noble characters, men of public and private virtue whose names have become household words in the locality where they reside. To bring them to the front, to nominate them for office, to select them for leaders, is to write victory on our party banners. Let this important duty be performed.—Washington Republic.

Frightening Children.

Nothing can be worse for a child than to be frightened. The effect of the scare it is slow to recover from; it remains sometimes until maturity, as is shown by many instances of morbid sensitiveness and excessive nervousness. Not unfrequently fear has been employed as a means of discipline. Children are controlled by being made to believe that something terrible will happen to them and punished by being shut up in darkened rooms, or by being put in places they stand in dread of. No one without vivid memory of his own childhood, can comprehend how entirely cruel such things are. We have often heard grown people tell of the suffering they have endured, as children, under like circumstances and recount the irreparable injury which they are sure they then received. No parent, nor nurse capable of storming the young is for her position. Children as near as possible, should be trained not to know the sense of fear, which above everything else is to be feared in their education, early and late.

Something New.

The Grand Rapids Democrat says a neat and novel idea has been inaugurated by the Grand Rapids & Indiana Railroad Company. They have prepared cars for fishing and pleasure parties, and will furnish them at low rates. These cars are fitted up with sleeping berths for nine persons, and can be arranged to hold two or three more. They contain a cook-stove and utensils, pantry, closets, a large icechest, in short everything to easily house a large fishing party or family. All the appointments are plain but substantial, just the thing for roughing it comfortably. For this car $10 per day is charged. Mr. J. H. Page, the general passenger and ticket agent at Grand Rapids, will give all particulars desired.

Work on the new government building at Grand Rapids is to commence on the 10th of August.

NORWOOD.

F. J. MEECH & Co.

NORWOOD, MICH.,

DEALERS IN

DRY GOODS,

Groceries and Provisions,

Also Manufacturers of

HARDWOOD LUMBER,

Lath and Shingles.

Wonderful Success

Three years ago Dr. Boschee's German syrup was introduced in the United States from Germany for the cure of coughs, severe colds settled on the breast, Consumption and other diseases of the Throat and Lungs No medicine ever had such a success. 3000 unsolicited letters have been distributed every year for three years by Druggists in all parts of the United States, and nearly 1000 letters from Druggists are now on our files saying that no other preparation in their stores sells as well and gives such excellent satisfaction. All we ask is for you to go to your Druggist G. W. Crouter, and get a sample bottle for 10 cents and try it. Regular size 75 cents.

NEW

MILLINERY AND

Dress - Making

ESTABLISHMENT.

Fancy G ds, such as Canvas, Zephyrs Tidies, Fill patterns, Parasols, Kid Gloves, etc. Also shawls for Sleepers, Dresses and Cloaks fitted and made in the latest fashions.

Charges Reasonable.

Rooms in Harry Newman's bakery building

MISS A. M. SACKET

Charlevoix, June 17, 1875. [3m]

DRUGS and MEDICINES

DR. LEWIS

Tenders his thanks to the inhabitants of Charlevoix and vicinity for past patronage and solicits a continuance of the same. He has

JUST RECEIVED

A large stock of medicines, such as

Fluid Extracts,
Tinctures,
Essences
Oils of all kinds,
Gums,
Perfumery, etc

PATENT MEDICINES,

A large stock, such as Ayres, Jayn Sconller's, Peterman's Blackmore's, Sage's & Herrick's.

A Full Supply of Dye Stuffs.

All goods sold as cheap as by any house north of Grand Rapids.

I Keep What I Advertise.

FOX, ROSE & BUTTARS

Charlevoix.

THE SUMMER OF 1875.

LOWER! LOWER!

Go the Prices!

WE CAN AND WILL

SELL CHEAPER

Than any other House in Charlevoix,

Our Neighbors

Are Cutting Down on Certain Articles; We cut down on

Everything!

If You Don't Believe It,

COME AND SEE

For Yourselves.

YARD WIDTH COTTON FOR 10

TEA--3 Pounds for $1.

SUIT of Coths for $8.

The Best Goods,

Regardless of Profit,

AreAlwaysKept.

FOX, ROSE & BUTTARS.

Mystery Unraveled—A Strange Story.

THE Providence (R. I.) Journal tells the following story, which seems to be literally true and yet is stranger than fiction

Many of our older readers will readily recall the excitement and wonder that was created some twenty-five years ago at the sudden and mysterious disappearance of Mr. Jeremiah Perce, a well-to-do grocer on Solitn street, leaving a wife and two children (all of whom are now living), and at about the same time the as sudden disappearance of Mr. Harrington, wife of Thomas M. Harrington, who was then living in one of Mr. Perce's tenements. Mr. Perce left the city on pretense of going to New York to transact business and never returned. It was at the time supposed that the two had eloped, but nothing certain was known in regard to the matter. A short time afterward—about six months, as those knowing the facts now recollect it—Mrs. Harrington returned in an apparently penitent mood and had an interview with her husband, at which she received permission to take one of her children, named Mary, a little girl of five years, (little were those days of grief to come), and then left the city, making no parties in that city, making in no inquiries, which, of course, resulted in nothing. After repeated intimtes nne gave up the task, though ever alive to anything that might perhaps put her upon the right track. After Mr. Perce's death her mother or sometimes spoke of her relatives, but never volunteered any information in the matter, and she did not think worth while to ask her it. Time passed on, she grew to womanhood, and finally married Mr. Nat. G. Barter, business manager of the Sentinel and Pioneer, Fort Scott, Kan., where she now resides.

The duties of housekeeping and of caring for two children were not sufficient to cause the latter to forget nothing from the past. Her mother had frequently spoken of her family within a few years, and Mrs. Barter had learned the names "Sunday" and "Harding" as among those, and when, not long ago, her mother spoke of a desire to see her sister in Providence, she first thing Mrs. Barter had ever heard the name of this city mentioned in this connection), inspired with new hope, she set to work means to learn if any of her relatives were yet living. Her husband, being a newspaper man, and having full faith in the power of advertising, sent the matter for publication in the Journal and Bulletin, with the joyful result stated above. Another pleasant incident connected with this matter is the discovery by Mrs. Barter that her sister, who was a year or two older than she, is married and living on West nut, only 200 miles from her own home, whom she has already visited, and where the mother is now living, having two offered a home with the child to whom she had been dead for twenty-three years. This story seems wonderful beyond belief, and it is also wonderful that, of the two families at that time made desolate, every member except Mr. Perce is now alive.

How Mr. Culver Suited a Stranger.

MR. CULVER, on Nelson street, got out his horse to sprinkle the road in front of the house, Friday evening. He dragged this name to the front and put the sprinkle on the fence, and then hastened down to the cellar to turn the water on. Just as he disappeared in the door an entirely couple, accompanied by a young lady, appeared around the corner and approached the premises of Mr. Culver. The gallant man was swinging a gold-headed cane and discoursing on the beauty of the evening and the trimness of the cottages they were passing.

"Now, that place," observed the old gentleman, stopping exactly opposite the horse, which now set the party observed, and pointing at Mr. Culver's pretty house, "is a place which just suits my eye. It is not too large nor too small. It has the requisite amount of room inside and outside. The yard is a model of—"

And just at that unhappy instant the water was turned on by the unconscious Mr. Culver, and, the old gentleman's beaming face being in exact range with the dreadful nozzle, the stream struck him with such blinding force as to knock him completely off the walk, and he went over backward into the street, bat-headed, swinging his cane in the air, and vehemently sputtering: "Ooh, Kawwish, boo, dash, wetter-wish, gaawoo, thunder and lightning! Murder-over!"—Danbury News

A Desperate Ox.

A SMALL tragic drama has just been enacted in Paris which seems to throw a good deal of light on the probable effects of climate on animal character. The actors in the scene were a family of La Plata—an ox, a bull-dog, a number of gerisens de paiz, and some private citizens of the quarter of La Villette. The ox was one of a troop proceeding to the great market in that region, and whether owing to an instinctive horror of his approaching doom, or in consequence of "the cries of the inhabitants of the quarter," he became animated with an unfriendly spirit toward the latter, and, with mischievous intent, rushed full gallop into a neighboring passage or court-yard. Thereupon a door was shut and a pitched battle ensued between the animal and the two or three gardiens who had followed in pursuit. These valiant warriors hoped at first to gain an easy victory by the edge use of their swords. But they were mistaken and had to be for their lives from the circle of the confused arena. Meanwhile the tenants of houses overlooking the court-yard resorted to the lasso trick, endeavoring to entangle the monster's legs or neck in nooses of cord and rope. Here again the intended victim turned the tables on his assailants by dragging one of them down, rope and all, from his window. At length reserves were resorted to, and one of the gardiens, drawing a revolver, fired all its seven barrels into the sides of the ox, without, however, doing much appar ent damage. The next strategic movement was an appeal to heavy artillery in the shape of a chassepot. Even then, however, it required three deliberate shots from a super pompier sicurieur to make an end of the poor beast. But the most characteristic episode in the whole affair was the attitude of the dog, who, although described as a "gros chien bull-dogue," was quite unequal to the occasion, and crouched basely in the corner, oblivious of the world-wide reputation of his ancestors Skeleton Leaves.

DISSOLVE four ounces of common washing soda in a quart of boiling water, and boil for about fifteen minutes. Allow the solution to cool; afterward pour all the clean liquor into a clean pan. When this liquor is at its boiling point place the leaves carefully in the pan and boil the whole together for an hour, adding from time to time enough water to make up for evaporation. The green pulp or body of some leaves will more readily separate than others. A good test is to try the leaves after they have been gently boiling for an hour, and if the cellular matter does not easily rub off betwixt the finger and thumb beneath cold water boil them again for a short time.

When the fleshy matter is found to be sufficiently softened rub them separately but very gently beneath cold water until the perfect skeleton is exposed. They are first a dirty white; to make them a pure white and therefore more beautiful all that is necessary is to bleach them in a weak solution of chloride of lime, a little teaspoonful to a quart of water; if a few drops of vinegar is added to the solution it is all the better, for then the fresh lime is liberated. Do not allow them to, long in the bleaching liquor or they be come too brittle and canned afterward be handled without injury. About fifteen minutes will be sufficient to make them white and clean looking. Dry them in white blotting-paper beneath a gentle pressure.

Simple leaves are the best for young beginners to experiment upon; the elm, ivy and beech leaves make the best skeleton leaves. Care must be exercised in the selection of leaves, as the time of year and the state of the atmosphere, when specimens are collected, otherwise failure will be the result. The best months are July and August. Never collect specimens in damp weather, and must be perfectly mature leaves ought to be selected.—Household.

Disinfectants.

THE only certain, speedy and permanent disinfectant known to man is cleanliness

Antiseptics are substances which arrest and prevent decay, such as creosote. Deodorizers take away the ill-smell attached to decomposing matter, either by absorption as pulverized charcoal, or by forming new chemical combinations such as chloride of lime does. Fumigators have no odor of their own which overpowers that sought to be got rid of; among these are burning tar and brown sugar sprinkled on burning coals.

Disinfectants are substances which take away the power of conveying disease. The organizations from what person and the body of persons having cholera cause the disease in others; but if carbolic acid is instantly thrown upon these dejections they are rendered harmless. Common copperas, called sulphate of iron, in its crude state can be purchased for 3 cents a pound; this dissolved in two gallons of water and thrown over ill-smelling places is the cheapest, simplest and most convenient deodorizer, and is applicable to privies, sinks, cellars, gutters and heaps of offal. Common fresh dug earth is efficient, pleatifully sprinkled over offensive places.

A cheap and easily available disinfectant and deodorizer is made of a bushel of salt in a barrel of water, then add enough unslacked, that is, fresh, lime which has been exposed to dampness to make the whole into a thin paste, to be applied as often as necessary to all places yielding offensive smells, such as gutters, sinks, cesspools and the like; this is bone-made chloride of lime.

But all disinfectants, deodorizers and antiseptics must be applied from time to time; it is less trouble and a greater wisdom to sedulously cultivate habits of the strictest cleanliness in person, clothing and habitation, indoor and out, as well as the hull; not neglecting a corner or crevice in the whole house, from the cellar to the upmost shingle, that wherever there is dampness there is disease, and that moral purity and filth in any form are absolutely incompatible.—Hall's Journal of Health.

Summer Care of Apple Trees.

WE frequently notice apple orchards in which nearly every tree is surrounded by a dense mass of suckers springing from the base of the stems or larger roots. To remove these is one of the likely to be neglected from the want of time. The longer the suckers are allowed to remain the more difficult to remove, and the more abundant they are likely to become. If the sap of the tree is diverted from the branches to producing suckers at the base of the stem the more abundant will buds become at this point, hence the continual increase of such useless and injurious appendages.

In removing suckers the soil should be removed to their very base, and then cut them away with a sharp instrument. A strong chisel is an excellent implement for this purpose. After removal fill in the earth again. While the base of the stem is laid bare it is a good time to look for apple-tree borers, especially the larva of the Saperda candida, which usually deposits her eggs close to or just under the surface of the ground. If one has axes, lime, charcoal or even old plaster from walls, it may be applied around the stems of apple trees with beneficial results.

The removal of what are called "sap-sprouts" from the main branches of all trees should be attended to while they are small, unless one cares nothing for the future welfare of his orchard. Every season's neglect only tends to increase the quantity as well as injurious effects. Tent and canker worms need looking after at this season, and the first appearance of those pests should be heeded, else multiplication of numbers will bring corres spoiling disastrous results.

Washing the stems and larger branches with soft-soap will not only remove the moss and old dead bark but prevent insects from depositing their eggs thereon. The flat-headed apple-tree borer (Chrysobothris femorata) is very partial to newly set apple trees with a very rough bark, as the cracks are convenient and safe places for laying her eggs, but when they are smooth and well-coated with some soapy substance they are usually avoided by this mischievous insect. The carious species of moth "fire" so destructive in some portions of the country may also be kept in check by frequent applications of soap or strong lye during the early part of summer, before the scales of these insects become hardened. Good cultivation or liberal mulching when the trees are young and the soils will do much toward keeping them free from bark lice. Stunted trees, like stunted, half-starved animals, invite the attacks of parasitical insects and diseases. If every farmer would keep this in mind there need be little fear of failure to cause of fruit-growing. Many thousands of the college graduates, found the roots of the famous bulls-to-grass—described in the reports of the Department of Agriculture at Washington as "having very short roots"—to be anything but short or superficial. Near where a well was being dug he traced the roots down seven feet.

Prof. Beal very truly says that roots do not "search for food, as vegetable physiologists now understand it. Many of the smaller roots of trees die every autumn when the leaves die, and others grow in spring. In instances the fact of a rooting system is true. The longer the suckers are allowed to remain the more difficult to remove, and the more abundant they are likely to become. If the sap of the tree is diverted from the branches to producing suckers at the base of the stem the more abundant will buds become at this point, hence the continual increase of such useless and injurious appendages.

In removing suckers the soil should be removed to their very base, and then cut them away with a sharp instrument. A strong chisel is an excellent implement for this purpose. After removal fill in the earth again. While the base of the stem is laid bare it is a good time to look for apple-tree borers, especially the larva of the Saperda candida, which usually deposits her eggs close to or just under the surface of the ground. If one has axes, lime, charcoal or even old plaster from walls, it may be applied around the stems of apple trees with beneficial results.

The removal of what are called "sap-sprouts" from the main branches of all trees should be attended to while they are small, unless one cares nothing for the

HOUSEHOLD HINTS.

A SILVERSIDE of ten parts lime and one part saltpeter is said to destroy vermin and worms without injuring the fruit.—Scientific American.

VEGETABLES should never be washed until immediately before prepared for the table. Lettuce is made almost worthless in flavor by dipping it in water some hours before it is served. Potatoes suffer even more than other vegetables through the washing process. They should not be put in water till just ready for boiling.

WARTS are very troublesome and disfiguring. The following is a perfect cure, even of the largest, without leaving any scar. It is a Pennsylvania prescription, and has been tested by the writer: Take a small piece of rag tied, steep it all night in vinegar, cool, as much from it as will moisten the wart and tie it on it; or, if the excrescence is on the forehead, fasten it on with strips of sticking plaster. It may be removed in the day and put on every night. In one fortnight the wart will die and peel off. The same prescription will cure corns.—Household.

SILVER BUTTER has not commended itself to the public taste or the public press. People have an old-time notion that butter should come from cows instead of cans, and they set their faces and stomachs against the patent compound. Still, there is abundant evidence that large quantities are manufactured and sold, and of course eaten. There is a large factory in Hamilton, Canada, from which some 2,000 pounds a week of imitation butter are shipped to all parts of the world. Another and still larger establishment in Boston turns out a very large quantity in many cases, it is said, this butter finds its way directly to the butter-producing districts of New York and New Jersey, and then it is sent to market as genuine spring butter. It is certain that immense quantities of the oleomargarine are sold by dealers as true butter, and that the profits of the trade are very large. It is also said that very many of the hotels and restaurants in the large cities deal out their root beer to their customers, and that the latter rarely discover the cheat.—Woonsocket (R. I.) Patriot.

IN CENTRAL-WORK pictures, usually delicate designs in white appearing upon a softly shaded ground, are now very popular, and are, with a little practice, easily produced. Procure a sheet of fine uncalendered drawing paper, and arrange thereon a bouquet of pressed leaves, flowers, vines, buds, berries, or any design which it is desired to have appear in white. Fasten the articles by pins stuck into the cushion on which the paper should be under, neath the paper. Then slightly wet the bristles of a brush or other brush in water, and, holding it in a horizontal position, striking ink, and draw them across a stick in such a manner that the bristles will be sprinkled with fine drops, which will appear like a fine spatter of ink upon the paper. Continue the spattering over all the leaves, pins and paper, allowing the center of the bouquet to receive the most and the heavy sprinkling. When done, remove the design, and the forms will be found represented almost with accuracy on a tinted ground. With a rustic wooden frame this forms a very cheap and pretty ornament.—Scientific American.

To Obtain Fruit From Barren Trees.

A CORRESPONDENT of the American Agriculturist says: "I wish to describe to you a method of making fruit trees bear that I blundered on. Some fifteen years ago I had a small apple tree that bloomed considerably. I drove a stake by it, tied a string to a limb and fastened it to the stake, clear, pleatifully sprinkled over offensive places.

"Blue was sown last autumn and examined the same day as the wheat. The deepest root found was three and one-half feet, or forty-two inches from the surface. One fourth of the whole mass of roots was estimated to reach a depth of one foot—four inches below the plow. Corn had been grown upon the ground two years before, and there were still left many partially decayed roots in the clayey subsoil, while to the greatest depths the black, thread-like marks indicated the former presence of a multitude of roots. Often the living roots followed down those old tracks, and were sometimes found increased by the remains of an old root, having grown through it. The land was low and thickrained, the rye just reaching the standing water in the soft. The black soil was twenty-one inches deep, the subsoil was still yellow clay."

In another connection he notices the roots of a Lombardy poplar in his garden, the roots of which extended many rods, and cites a case where a thicdrain in New Hampshire was obstructed by the roots of an elm 450 feet away. Prof. Stockbridge, of the Massachusetts Agricultural College, washed out a clover root one year old eight feet deep. Mr. Dixon, of England, dug a parsnip thirteen inches, and broke it off at that depth. Lawrence has been known to reach, in England, twenty feet in depth. A belief in fallow implements rapidly losing ground, the roots of the famous bulls-to-grass—described in the reports of the Department of Agriculture at Washington as "having very short roots"—to be anything but short or superficial. Near where a well was being dug he traced the roots down seven feet.

Prof. Beal very truly says that roots do not "search for food, as vegetable physiologists now understand it. Many of the smaller roots of trees die every autumn when the leaves die, and others grow in spring. In instances the fact of a rooting system is true. The longer the suckers are allowed to remain the more difficult to remove, and the more abundant they are likely to become. If the sap of the tree is diverted from the branches to producing suckers at the base of the stem the more abundant will buds become at this point, hence the continual increase of such useless and injurious appendages.

In removing suckers the soil should be removed to their very base, and then cut them away with a sharp instrument. A strong chisel is an excellent implement for this purpose. After removal fill in the earth again. While the base of the stem is laid bare it is a good time to look for apple-tree borers, especially the larva of the Saperda candida, which usually deposits her eggs close to or just under the surface of the ground. If one has axes, lime, charcoal or even old plaster from walls, it may be applied around the stems of apple trees with beneficial results.

The removal of what are called "sap-sprouts" from the main branches of all trees should be attended to while they are small, unless one cares nothing for the

The Length of Roots.

ONE of the most interesting studies to the student in agriculture, and one especially important to the practical farmer, is the roots of plants, their growth and their various functions in connection with the growth of plants. It is a subject about which, until a comparatively late period, but little was understood, and of which even now but little is truly known. The length to which roots extend, and why, is one of those subjects the ordinary farmer cares but little about; and yet is a subject of paramount importance, and one that ought to be especially studied by every farmer who expects to keep pace with the times in the cultivation of crops. The roots are the mouths of the plant, and they must extend to where they find proper food for the plant.

Prof. W. J. Beal, Professor of Botany and Horticulture at the Michigan Agricultural College, sends us some facts relating to the length of roots. In light, poor soil he found the roots of June-grass four feet below the surface, roots of a wheat plant four to six feet. The roots of a two-year-old peach tree were found seven feet four inches long.

Mr. Dixon, one of the college graduates, found the roots of the famous bulls-to-grass—described in the reports of the Department of Agriculture at Washington as "having very short roots"—to be anything but short or superficial. Near where a well was being dug he traced the roots down seven feet.

Prof. Beal very truly says that roots do not "search for food, as vegetable physiologists now understand it. Many of the smaller roots of trees die every autumn when the leaves die, and others grow in spring. In instances the fact of a rooting system is true. The longer the suckers are allowed to remain the more difficult to remove, and the more abundant they are likely to become. If the sap of the tree is diverted from the branches to producing suckers at the base of the stem the more abundant will buds become at this point, hence the continual increase of such useless and injurious appendages.

In removing suckers the soil should be removed to their very base, and then cut them away with a sharp instrument. A strong chisel is an excellent implement for this purpose. After removal fill in the earth again. While the base of the stem is laid bare it is a good time to look for apple-tree borers, especially the larva of the Saperda candida, which usually deposits her eggs close to or just under the surface of the ground. If one has axes, lime, charcoal or even old plaster from walls, it may be applied around the stems of apple trees with beneficial results.

The removal of what are called "sap-sprouts" from the main branches of all trees should be attended to while they are small, unless one cares nothing for the —Wisdom and bad hand-writing don't always go together.

Slovenly Girls.

I was visiting a young mother lately, in company with a lady of singular strength and wisdom. Our hostess, Mrs. French, was a high-spirited, persons woman, with large bleakby and constructiveness. She had two little girls, of ten and twelve years—bright, winning children, but ungarnized quite differently from their mother.

My friend, Mrs. Jackson, and myself were often pained during the visit by the tone of critic sm and coldness that characterized almost everything said by Mrs. French to her children. One day the sudden complacent equanimity in her carelessness of the little girls, saying:

"They are so different from what I was at their age that I cannot understand them or have any patience with them. Why, when I was twelve years old I made a dress for myself; and I used to keep my room and my garments always so neat that everybody praised me for my good order. I can really afraid Belle and Annie will grow up shiftless and idle, in spite of all I can do."

Mrs Jackson heard her through, and then she said:

"My dear Mrs. French, did your mother never feel dissatisfied with you on some other score, or were you perfect in every respect?"

"Oh, no! Satisfied? No, not by any means. Mother was a great student, and used to scold to death for four I should grow up a dunce."

"Your mother was a wise woman," replied Mrs. Jackson; "but you must pardon me if I say that you are taking exactly the opposite course with your daughters."

"My daughters! Why, they are crazy for books; they take after their grandmother."

"Very true; but can't you see what I am aiming to show you? You were undeveloped in one part of your nature and developed in another; your mother kept you happily and usefully employed by allowing you to do that which was easy and natural for you to do, then she skillfully and gradually encouraged the part of you which had the poorer start, if I may so express it. Now, if you were to pursue the same course in regard to your girls you would encourage and praise them in their strong points, and gradually and gently encouraged the part of your which had the poorer start. Belle and Annie are naturally as neat as pins, and as orderly as Quakers. Now, if you will praise them for these traits, and then, as you say, they have no taste for needle-work, you must do it for them, and let them see that you do it for them

Cheboygan.—The Cheboygan Leader says—The propeller Cumberland on the U. T. Co's line is to move or Cheboygan on Saturday. The vessel is on the order throughout, will it is thought, if a fine finished freight boat comes on the lakes. Her cabin and ship accommodations are elegant while the engine room is a beauty, being handsomely finished and in good and large and airy. She can carry 1,000 tons and has a single spar a beauty of her class. Her mast is not yet stepped. She draws five feet forward and nine feet aft when all light. Her immense deck is large and her energy ready of most being given. Her outfit is complete, and was furnished by Buffalo parties. She comes in white with red strakes same as the other boats of the line. The spar and pilot is now painted white.

A new furore has started in provincial life, the form of a political lottery on the basis of Sisters in Law Colony, who propose to be operated by the Austrians of the European offices of foreign affairs for the purpose of obtaining material.

It turns out that the notice of a new trial in the Beecher case was simply pro forma, with the object of securing to the parties a proper standing in court, in case any future motion should become necessary.

The number of convicts at the State Prison now is 720. Three the largest number ever reached. All the cells are filled and a considerable number can soon be placed in the main spaces outside of the cells, but of the 720 only 400 are working, there being no work for the remaining three hundred.

Judge Cheever of the Superior Court of Detroit has declined the injunction asked for by the dailies. The Supreme Court have got a game of it yet, however, before final decision is reached.

A son of Brigham Young will enter the law department of the university at the commencement of the next term.

An organized band of robbers and murderers have recently been operating in southern New York and western Pennsylvania, which has naturally enough created great excitement. Numerous houses have been broken open and robbed, and several instances the inmates have been bound and otherwise ill-treated, and in two or three cases, recently, murdered. The matter is now being thoroughly investigated.

The contract for State Printing was let on the 28th ult. to W. S. George & Co., they being the lowest of the bidders. The contract for furnishing book and writing paper was let to the Detroit Paper Company, and the contract for binding was let to Butterfield & Barr. There are seven bids for stationery and the contract is not yet let. Under the new contracts for printing, the State will save $20,000, to 30,000 in the next two years.

A recent debate in the English House of Commons has given Englishmen a peep through the Sultan of Turkey's keyhole. England seems to have a right to look in to the Sultan's affairs. It has lent it to the tune of £100,000,000, has definitely lost in the Crimea, and has entertained him in London. The Sultan, it seems, appropriates an income of £2,000,000, while the income of his whole country is £7,000,000. The dames of the Seraglions are studded with his vast palaces, and every day at dinner, the Sultan, who does alone, has 107 dishes provided for him. He maintains 500 mares, 300 carriages, and 500 horses. Thirty thousand grass acres are given out for the Sultan's Kitchen, and other live stock and poultry in proportion.

Frank Burton of the Milford Independent has been elected Prosecuting Attorney of the newly organized county of Gladwin, at a salary of twenty-five cents a year. The legal profession must be on the decline.

In summing up the present state of politics the Chicago Times considers that a great deal is going to depend on the way the way the eighty-six Confederate Congressmen conduct themselves next winter. If it is really audited in a Democratic organ to thank the southern members of Congress in that manner.

A dispatch from the White Mountains says: There is a rumor in circulation in the hotel in which Mr. Beecher is stopping that Frances B. Moulton has been in consultation with Gen. Butler, and that the result of their consultation is a partisan, professional plan to bring action against his cheer in that county for perjury in swearing to his reply to the letter of last year at Middleton. Mr. Beecher has introduced morning prayers, which will be continued during the time he remains.

The Attorney General has given an opinion to the board of state Auditors that the claims of the soldiers of the Fifth, Sixth and Seventh Regiments of Michigan Infantry for services be paid under the law passed by the legislature.

RAILROAD

Carpenter & Handy

BOYNE FALLS, M.

DEALERS IN

DRY GOODS,

Groceries,

Provisions.

Hardware.

Crockery.

And to the cash trade respectfully solicited.

OUR GOODS AND PRICES

Speak for Themselves.

We now have extra facilities for keeping all kinds of produce, and can pay the highest market price in trade.

Call and See Us.

May 17, 1875. 1yr

FOR SALE.

FARMS:

[illegible]

NOTICE.

[illegible]

NOTICE.

[illegible]

Twenty Men

Can get work at good prices by calling at once on

T. W. NICHOLS.

At the head of Pine Lake.

Charlevoix, August 7, 1875.

FARM FOR SALE.

The subscriber offers for sale his farm in South Arm Township, on the west side, containing 80 acres, with about 40 acres cleared and under cultivation, with a house and barn thereon. Said farm is known as the [illegible] farm, and will be sold on reasonable terms. Inquire of the undersigned on the premises.

CHAS. B. BAILEY.

South Arm, Mich.

MORTGAGE SALE.

Default having been made in the conditions of a certain Mortgage, executed on the fifth day of December A. D. 1873, by Frederick Mountague, Mortgagor, to Franklin Mountague Cook, and Charles Cook, Mortgagees, of the State of Illinois, of the County of Cook, and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds for the County of Charlevoix, and State of Michigan, on the 10th day of December, A. D. 1873, at 10 o'clock A. M., in Liber [illegible] of Mortgages, on page [illegible], which said Mortgage was duly assigned by the said Franklin Mountague Cook and Charles Cook, Mortgagees

THE SENTINEL.

WILLARD A. SMITH, Editor and Proprietor.

CHARLEVOIX, - MICHIGAN.

THE NEWS.

OVER 40,000 persons united in an annual demonstration at Dublin on the 7th, in the cemetery where O'Connell is buried. Resolutions were adopted favoring home rule and amnesty for the imprisoned Fenians.

ADVICES from Batoum as to the 93d of July say that cholera was raging violently there. Four hundred cases were reported daily, but the real number was thought to be much greater. The Anglo-Westminster Bank on false pretenses came to a sudden end on the 9th by the announcement of the fact that Alexander had absconded to the Continent.

FOURTEEN THOUSAND FIVE HUNDRED dollars of the $47,000 stolen from the Treasury Department on the 4th were recovered the 9th. The money, consisting of twenty-nine $500 bills, was deposited in a bank at Alexandria to the credit of Hillman.

A WASHINGTON dispatch of a recent date says the Government income for the last fiscal year is larger than any estimate made.

THE Chicago Industrial Exposition will be open on the 8th of September, and continue one month.

GOV. BEVERIDGE has issued a proclamation offering a reward of $400 each for the arrest of the perpetrators of the outrages committed in Williamson County, Ill., within the past two years. The county has also offered a reward of $1,000.

THE majority in Alabama for the State Constitutional Convention is 16,590. The delegates stand politically as follows: Democrats 81, Independent Democrats 6, Republicans 12.

IRA P. RANKIN has been nominated for Congress by the Republicans of the First California District.

A LONDON dispatch of the morning of the 11th says a serious affair had arisen between the Russian and Persian frontier guards at Dushewa, on the boundary between the two countries. The trouble was provoked by the Russians, who pursued a Persian territory. Several of the guards were wounded.

A CONSTANTINOPLE telegram of the 10th announces the departure of Turkish troops in Herzegovina to suppress the insurrection.

THE Carlist villages on the plain of Alava have submitted to the National Government. A Madrid dispatch of the 10th says the Official Gazette had published an order directing a levy of 100,000 men.

OTTAWA, the Treasury robber, was sent to jail on the 10th in default of $40,000 bail.

ACCORDING to a Cheyenne dispatch of the 10th Gen. Crook and Col. Stanwood had returned from the Black Hills, and report that miners were preparing to leave the Hills, swearing up the best ladies to prevent their becoming known until such time as they can return. They say that gold is abundant and that capital will develop mines equal to those of California and Nevada. There are about 1,500 miners in the Hills.

JEFFERSON DAVIS, the ex-Confederate President, will deliver the annual address before the Winnebago County (Ill.) Agricultural Society at Rockford on the 14th of September.

A TELEGRAM (N. C.) dispatch of the 9th says the result of the convention election was still doubtful. The Democrats claimed four majority in the convention.

MR. HEARSEQUE, ex-Premier, has issued another pamphlet, in which he rediscusses the questions relating to papacy which formed the subject of his former pamphlets on "Vaticanism."

SHAW & THOMPSON, well-known British firm merchants and manufacturers, failed for $600,000 on the 11th, and their company missed with their creditors by paying they owed one dollar.

HANS CHRISTIAN ANDERSEN was buried at Copenhagen on the 11th. The day was made one of national mourning.

A LONDON special of the morning of the 12th says that great numbers of Montenegrins had joined the insurgents around Trebigne.

THE French Government has published the sale in France of Mr. Gambetta's work on his administration.

THE Republicans of the Maine Fourth Congressional District have nominated Sam. Brannon for Congress.

THE Oregon Independent State Convention met on the 11th, nominated G. W. Whitfield for Congress.

MRS. ANNIE SOMERS BAIRD died on Wednesday, the 10th, from the effects of a bullet fired by her husband, Colonel Baird, at Hicksville after a temporary fight.

A PATTLE TRAIN on the St. Louis, Kansas City & Northern Railway collided on the evening of the 11th with a special train on the Hannibal & St. Joe Road near Kansas City. The latter contained several railway officials, several of whom were injured.

A MADRID dispatch of the 12th says the Alphonsists had carried one of the outlying towers of Seo de Urgel, and on that day turned its guns upon the citadel. The levy of troops recently ordered continues with vigor. It is thought that by the 20th of December next. The number of Volunteers was reported on the 12th at hundred.

THE Independent Democrats of the First California District have nominated Sam. Brannon for Congress.

THE Oregon Independent State Convention, on the 11th, nominated G. W. Whitfield for Congress.

MRS. ANNIE SOMERS BAIRD died on Wednesday, the 10th, from the effects of a bullet fired by her husband, Colonel Baird, at Hicksville after a temporary fight.

A PATTLE TRAIN on the St. Louis, Kansas City & Northern Railway collided on the evening of the 11th with a special train on the Hannibal & St. Joe Road near Kansas City. The latter contained several railway officials, several of whom were injured.

A MADRID dispatch of the 12th says the Alphonsists had carried one of the outlying towers of Seo de Urgel, and on that day turned its guns upon the citadel. The levy of troops recently ordered continues with vigor. It is thought that by the 20th of December next. The number of Volunteers was reported on the 12th at hundred.

THE Independent Democrats of the First California District have nominated Sam. Brannon for Congress.

THE Oregon Independent State Convention met

THE SENTINEL.

CHARLEVOIX, MICH.

WILLARD A. SMITH, Editor and Proprietor.

TUESDAY, - - AUGUST. 24, 1875

MORMONISM!

"Justice" Doffs his Mask and Sends In another Mormon Bombshell.

MR. EDITOR:—

Whoever inserted in the caption of Mr. John S. Dixon's answer to "Justice" in the SENTINEL of Aug. 5th, the words "The Truth of History Vindicated," is I think a little hasty,—at least, in his conclusions. Within the last two years, there have been some ten or a dozen sweeping falsehoods against the Mormons most thoroughly refuted and silenced. We offer these facts as strong evidence, that men occupying a very ordinary standing in society will circulate reports against the Mormons and that popular journals will give them publicity.

Mr. Dixon has now finally come to the rescue, not to overturn our arguments in these specific cases, but to show that the Mormons, if not guilty of these charges, are guilty of something else. It being clearly shown that the ascribes of stolen cash from the Gentiles by the Mormons on their annual feast days, had no foundation in truth; that the pirating and scuttling of a vessel in Beaver Harbor was an unmitigated falsehood; that the several attempts of the Mormons to settle upon the main shores of Wisconsin were followed by their being driven off by the inhabitants of Wisconsin was a mere lie; and that the one hundred and one other stories against them for the purpose of justifying their robbery and banishment, were the merest outrages upon history,—we are now required to meet another charge, in the shape of a stolen wagon, kettles, and lumber.

Before meeting these charges, we must say that the paternal and philanthropic interest taken by Mr. Dixon, in the children and grandchildren of "Mormon ancestry" whose parents in some instances, were weak in the Mormon faith, and disconnected themselves with it as soon as practicable to do so, and which deep and fatherly interest has hitherto prevented his making a public statement of what he saw and observed of Mormon faith and practice, puts some of us in a quandary, as to whether these good people will feel complimented, insulted or humiliated, knowing what they do to the contrary. He this as it may, how well he has refrained from making public "what he saw and observed of Mormon faith and practice" may be inferred from the fact that, there is not one inhabitant in fifty in this whole region, who hasn't heard of the Dixon-wagon-kettle-lumber story. And what could be the object of his now making public what had already become so public, and that every body knew already, is what we really don't understand; unless that he thought that over his signature it would have a tenfold confirmation. How this wide-spread knowledge of Mormon theft, could have come into being, while he has all these nineteen years past, held his peace through a philanthropic regard for the children of weak-in-the-faith-Mormons is just what we can't now see either. By the way, has Mr. Dixon never in a heart of bitterness, trembling with anger from head to foot, denounced it a public way, the whole body of the people living on Beaver Island, as a band of pirates, robbers, and thieves?" has he never so expressed himself on othe occasions any of his fellow citizens in these same terms? Nor to men working for him, nor to strangers? And if all this is not public, what is public? Has he never in any known instance endeavored to make it hard for the children of Mormon ancestry to settle at all at Pine River? Did he never at any time, or in any way oppose it? And has he since learned that their fathers and mothers as American citizens have some rights as well as he, and that by some means or other, their children have got hold of that idea, and intend to act upon it without his permission? Has he never been put in fear, for his not very private utterances to some of these Mormon children, and to that the main spring of his tender regard and paternal interest in them, in those years past? We shall be happy to learn otherwise. Let us further ask, who are those weak kneed Mormons, that so soon "disconnected themselves with the Mormon faith when it was practicable so to do?" And pray what time in a Mormon life is it impracticable to yield up his faith in that system, and seperate himself from it? Here we are in the dark again, and desire to be enlightened. If the parents of these Mormon children and grand-children, have long ago discovered Mormonism to be an imposture, and its advocates and leaders to be thieves, knaves, and robbers, is not that a very good reason that they all should have been willing that Mr. Dixon should expose and denounce it? What sound reason can any one offer for a different course?

We are in a maze here, too. We repeat, who are these Mormon ancestors? We could name two. Both have maintained excellent characters among Mormons and Gentiles. One has never said much in favor of Mormonism at any time, and never anything against it that we know of.

From this man's gravity, solidity, and soundness of judgement, we are unwilling to believe that he ever departed from a system, so reasonable, just and sound as Mormonism is; and the other man's faith in Mormonism is just as strong as it ever was; but all Mormons at the present time for want of such a leader as their faith calls for, cannot all see alike, but all desire that Mormonism is true, and will and does triumph over all its opposers. We barely hint at these things for the purpose of showing that Mr. Dixon's excuse for public silence in the past is not sound and has no weight.

In connection with this, we must notice another of Mr. Dixon's allegations.

"It is doubtless true" he continues "that when the Gentiles in Missouri, had borne with little acts of consecration, until forbearance had ceased to be a virtue, they made wholesale war upon the Mormons, and drove them out of the State, and that the same thing was done by Doctor McCulloch, and his confederates at Beaver Island and Pine River."

Mr. Dixon, if all this is "doubtless" the case, you and others must be in possession of the facts that put it beyond doubt, and doubtless can produce them. If you cannot, then you are an unsafe guide in these very important matters. For the benefit of those who have not had an opportunity to know the real facts in the case, we will say that there are now at least fifty-thousand copies of the declaration made by the mob in Missouri in 1833 extant, embodying the causes that led them to rob, plunder, and exile the Mormons from their homes in that State, one of which is now before your correspondent, and which any gentleman is at liberty to read if he please, at any time, and there isn't the slightest allusion made in that document to theft, or "consecration," both of which terms are synonimous according to Mr. Dixon. The main accusations in this declaration were that the Mormons openly blasphemed the Most High God, and cast contempt upon his holy Religion by pretending to recieve revelations direct from heaven—by pretending to speak in tongues by direct inspiration;" for being abolitionists; for being poor, and not "respectable members of society." Of being divided by their leaders, and being fanatics &c., but no little acts of Consecration;" nor did this mob with all their ferocity and diabolical proceedings, ever make any pretensions to the existence of any such thing among them.

Some three or four years after the Mormons had been driven from Missouri; when time, it would seem, should have thrown all the light possible upon the subject, Professor J. H. Turner of Illinois College, Jacksonville, wrote a work against the Mormons, entitled, "Mormonism in all Ages;"—a most bitter, malignant, rancorous and virulent work,—aimed principally against the claims of Joseph Smith, as a prophet of God. Yet so glaring, at that time, was the proof of Mormon innocence and virtue, all through the Missouri persecutions, from 1833 to 1838, that this author and professor breaks out as follows:

"After the Mormons were thus infamously and cruelly driven from their lands, and their homes, and robbed of their arms, cows, cattle, horses, utensils, clothes, and, indeed, of all that makes life tolerable, they wandered, in the dead of winter, through Missouri, toward the Mississippi. A large number arrived up at Quincy, during the months of February and March, 1839, where they found the ice running so fast that they were obliged to encamp in the open woods, without shelter or shelter, on the opposite bank of the river. Among this miserable and destitute multitude were not only naked children and famishing infants and nursing women, in sickness and critical circumstances, but also about twenty females, whom the savage ferocity of outlaw had deprived not only of their living, but husbands and friends, who had either been butchered before their eyes, or had sunk to death the lingering torments of hunger, cold, despair and want. The citizens of Quincy, to the honor of themselves, of civilization and humanity, immediately call a public meeting, passed appropriate resolves expressive of their abhorrence and detestation of the principles of the authors of their exiled lot, as entered upon a course of ripeness and systematic efforts to relieve the is necessitive and provide for their future wants."

In another place he says:

"A similar course of conduct toward the refugees, has, in part, wiped off the disgrace which the mobs of Missouri had inflicted upon humanity, and the American name."

Again he says, page 57:

"Who began the quarrel? Was it the Mormons? Is it not notorious, on the contrary, that they were hunted like wild beasts from county to county, before they made any desperate resistance? Did they ever, as a body, refuse obedience to the laws, until, driven to desperation by repeated threats and assults? And the state ever made one decent effort to defend them, as fellow citizens, in their rights, or to redress their wrongs? Let the conduct of its Governors, Attorneys, and the fate of their final petitions answer. Have any who plundered and openly massacred the Mormons ever been brought to punishment? Let the boasting murderers of Gallatin and Delphini infamy answer. Has the state ever remunerated even those known to be innocent for the loss of either their property or their arms? Did either the pulpit or the press throughout

[Continued on the next page.]

"SHTOP A LEETLE!"

Spring Harbor,

HEAD OF PINE LAKE.

The Secret of Wonderful Growth and Success.

Way up in the north is a very smart town
In the country all over it is gaining renown,
It's on Charlevoix county and Spring Harbor Town.

The soil is so rich if you plant a small nail,
To give a big yield it never will fail
It surely is so for the people all say
That mail is a crowsior the very next day—
In Charlevoix county and Spring Harbor Town.

There are the merchants who're up to their trade,
Will sell you fine goods before they are paid—
In Charlevoix county and Spring Harbor Town;

They'll not stoop so low as tell you small lies,
But their secret of trade is they all advertise
And their efforts are crowned by millions of wealth,
While they all do enjoy the most perfect health,
In Charlevoix county and Spring Harbor Town.

Then there are the doctors they'll cure you at life,
With syrups and drugs and various pills—
In Charlevoix county and Spring Harbor Town.

If they on pot once make a professional call,
Again is your life you'll be ill not at all,
If they call once or twice you'll then feel so clever,
You'll not die at all, but live on forever—
In Charlevoix county and Spring Harbor Town.

Then there is the "Journal" the chief of the age,
To give all the news it doth always engage
In Charlevoix county and Spring Harbor Town.

And the editor knows his business so well,
Believe what I say, for the truth I do tell
If a man is murdered and left in his gore,
It will give you the news two or three days before,
In Charlevoix county and Spring Harbor Town.

Now I suppose you'll be glad to all know,
How strangely it happens that to be so—
In Charlevoix county and Spring Harbor Town.

When the cause I do give, you all will confess,
The secret that leads to perfect success
They get their goods cheaper than ever before,
For they buy all they use at NICHOLS' store.

YOU'RE CRAZY

TO PAY SUCH TERRIBLE PRICES FOR GOODS, WHEN BY CALLING AT THE

"REGULATOR"

You can purchase them at least THIRTY PER CENT. less than at any other place in this part of Charlevoix County. That is what we say at the "REGULATOR." We have lots of

NEW GOODS,

And more coming daily. We have Boots and Shoes for men; We have all kinds of Shoe for Ladies; we have Boots and Shoes and all kinds of nice things for the little sons. We have all kinds of DRESS GOODS; we have all kinds of CLOTH to make clothes for the men and boys. We have

PORK AND FLOUR,

And all kinds of Groceries such as

SUGARS,

TEAS,

COFFEES,

SPICES,

OILS.

WE ALSO HAVE A LARGE ASSORTMENT OF

Farming Implements,

SUCH AS PLOWS, SHOVEL PLOWS, SCYTHES, SNATHS, RAKES, FORKS, HOES, CULTIVATORS AND DRAGS.

ALSO AN ASSORTMENT OF

TINWARE.

So, if you'll buy cheaper than ever before, go to NICHOLS' Store, on Pine Lake shore, where the water doth roar, and all people, and more, say, that never before, in the country all over, did they see people pour into the door of a store, where they buy lots of Goods and then buy some more; for they say he sells lower by thirty per cent. or perhaps more, than ever before, at any man's store; so after reading this o'er, if still you'd know more, Tommee will

TURN THE CRANK TO THE MACHINE

And tell you if you wish to astonish yourself with low prices, that you must go to 99999 Gold Dust Avenue, nearly opposite to the Second National Bank, and directly opposite to the Metropolitan Hotel, Spring Harbor.

TRULY YOURS:

T. W. NICHOLS.

Carpenter & Bartholomew

Cheap Cash Store is just the Place to Buy Your Goods!

CARPENTER & BARTHOLOMEW'S

Standard Goods and Bottom Prices is their Motto.

South End of Bridge Street.

Charlevoix, Mich.

MEDICAL

HALL,

CHARLEVOIX,

JUST THE PLACE TO BUY

DRUGS

And Dye Stuffs,

JUST THE PLACE TO BUY

Patent Medicines

JUST THE PLACE TO BUY

Stationery, Ink and Pens.

And Pocket Inkstands.

JUST THE PLACE TO BUY

Perfumes and Hair Oils

Flavoring Extracts, and Toilet Goods,

THE PLACE TO BUY

The Self-Adjusting Truss

JUST THE PLACE TO GET

Prescriptions Compounded

At all hours—night or day.

IN FACT, just the place to get anything you want in the Druggists line.

Cheap for Cash.

New store opposite Stockman's Hardware Store,

GEO. W. CROUTER.

Druggist and Chemist.

Hemlock Bark!

The undersigned, owners of the schooner "E. M. Stanton," would inform the people of Pine Lake and vicinity they are prepared to

Contract for Any Amount

Of Hemlock Bark to be delivered on the beach of Round or Pine Lakes or South Arm. The firms of Fox, Rose & Buttars, Carpenter & Bartholomew, and Byron Bee, are our authorized agents, with whom contracts can be made, or with Mr. Welshopf, of the firm of

CAPT. P. JOHNSON & Co.

Charlevoix, May 1, 1875.

N. B.—Samuel Holland, of Eveline, is also our authorized agent.

Read This.

The following instructive dialogue was overheard the other day:

Brown—I say Jones, you seem to have been buying lots of groceries; where do you trade, Jones?

Jones—Why, I bought at

BYRON SEE'S

Brown—Is that so? Can others do as well there as you can?—you know you are sharp in a trade.

Jones—O, yes, of course you can. He sees all alike. He says he don't like a stingy skapegoat and I guess he does from the prices he sells at.

THE STANCH PROPELLER

1875.  1875.

A. C. Van Raalte

Capt. Alvin Dodge,

Will run during the season of 1875, as follows, between

Petoskey & Traverse City:

Will leave Petoskey at 6 o'clock a. m. on

Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays,

Arriving at Traverse City at 7 o'clock the same evening. Will leave Traverse City at 6 o'clock a. m. on

Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays,

Arriving at Petoskey the same evening. Touching at all intermediate ports on upper Traverse Bay, both ways.

$75 A WEEK to Agents to sell an article $15 saleable as flour. Profits immense. Package free. Address BUCKEYE Mfg. Co'y Marion, Ohio.

the State raise a note of remonstrance or alarm? Let the clergymen who plotted, and the editors who encouraged the mob answer. We know that there were many noble exceptions; but alas that they were so few!"

In this wholesale robbery and bitter persecution, some fifteen thousand men, women and children were driven out of the State, leaving behind them between three and four million dollars worth of property in the shape of lands, tenements and movables, for which they have never received one dollar in return. They have petitioned State, County and United States authorities for redress, but all in vain. They have respectfully petitioned noted individuals, and States, and the Congress of the United States, and the treatment of all has been either respectful silence, or (as in the case of presenting their cause to Martin Van Buren, when President of the United States) replied, "Gentlemen, your cause is just, but we can do nothing for you. If we do, the Southern states will rise up against us, and civil war will be the result." Many of the newspapers of those times denounced these high handed atrocities and villanies, and many noble minded men have since borne witness to the truth of these things in various parts of the world, a notice of which would take now, much more time and space than you can afford, or I can devote to the subject. But from amongst this vast mass we copy the following from the Boston Atlas: "The Mormons were in truth, a moral, orderly, and sober population. They were industrious farmers and ingenious mechanics. They were busy about their own affairs, and never intermeddled in the concerns of their neighbors. They were exceedingly peaceful and averse to strife, quarrels and violence. They had established schools, they encouraged education, and they had all the rudiments of learning taught under our school system at the East. They had begun to open fine farms, and put their lands under a high state of cultivation Many of them had been surrounded by numerous comforts, and some with the etcgancies of life.

"In all these respects, their condition presented a broad contrast to that of their neighbors. Of these neighbors, many had been there for years—much longer in fact than the Mormons—and few advances had been made by them upon the Indians whom they had displaced. Mud hovels—a "truck patch," loafing and buckskin breeches were their highest aspirations. Letters they despised as much as they did the conveniences and comforts of life. Bold, violent unscrupulous, and grasping—hating all who differed from, much more those who excelled them in the art of living.

"The relations between them and the Mormons may be readily inferred by any man, who has read a single chapter in the history of human strife.

"The Anti Mormons, (for I must so distinguish this horde of demi savages,) are exceedingly intolerant. They are refuse Kentuckians and Tennesseians, intermixed with Virginians of the same caste, in whom the vice of sectional pride which marks these people, and a prejudice against all others, especially belonging to the free states, whom they indiscriminately brand as Yankees—is exaggerated to the highest pitch. Such persons if they could do it, would incorporate a provision into the Constitution of Missouri to prohibit the emigration there of anybody but their own "kith and kin."

"They have a grasping disposition, which stimulates them to acquire but not to acquire honestly. They prefer plunder to fair means, if they can only conceal the knowledge of their foul play; because rapine gratifies their propensities to force, indolence and acquisition. They are bold crafty and when inspired by revenge energetic and persevering beyond any other race of men."

Joseph Smith, our beloved leader and prophet, writing at that time from Liberty Jail in Clay County, Missouri, to his brethren says: "But we dwell with those who hate peace," and who delight in war, and surely their unrelenting hearts, their inhuman disposition, their cruel natures, shock humanity and defy description! It is truly a tale of sorrow, lamentation, and woe; too much for humanity to contemplate. Such a transaction cannot be found where kings and tyrants reign, or among the savages of the wilderness, or even among the ferocious beasts of the forest. To think that men should be mangled for sport, after being cruelly put to death and that women, should have their bad morsel stolen from them while their helpless children cling around them crying for food—and then to gratify the hellish desires of their more than hellish oppressors be violated, is horrid in the extreme.

"They practice those things upon the saints who have done them no wrong, have committed no crime, who are innocent and virtuous people, and who have proved themselves lovers of God, by forsaking and enduring all things for his cake. It must needs be that offences come, but woe unto that man by whom they come."

The above evidence, Mr. Editor, mostly from respectable and authentic sources out of the vast mass at hand. It speaks for itself. The history of the Mormons in Nauvoo, Ill., might be said to be but a repetition of those transacted in Missouri, and for very nearly the same causes. I cannot now go over that ground, but if the facts in relation to it are called for, they will be forthcoming in profusion.

As to Mr. McCulloch and his confederates; we never heard of his having anything stolen or "consecrated" by the Mormons, and don't think he ever complained of anything of the kind. We have given something of his history in the SENTINEL nearly two years ago, and shall not go back off it one iota, until shown that we are mistaken. That history shows a very different cause for his hostility and murderous proceedings.

And now we come to Mr. Dixon's wagon, kettles, and lumber cases, and must say that so far as appearances are concerned, he has made out rather a strong case of stealing against the whole Mormon community! There, alas, are the missing wagon, kettles, and lumber, all found on Mormon premises! Who can deny it? We freely admit that the thing looks dark, bad, and to all who are convinced that there is nothing too outrageous for Mormons to do, and that they mostly occupy their sabbath meetings in giving and receiving instructions in the practical science of stealing, the facts are overwhelming in their favor: Indeed, so well is the case established against us that it would seem the very height of impertinence even to question anything in regard to these matters. Still at the risk of being laughed at for being unnecessarily inquisitive, we will venture a few questions: 1st, At what time were the wagon and kettles, found on Beaver Island? Was it before, or after the Mormons left there? If after, in whose possession were they found? You, Mr. Dixon, have said in the past that after the Mormons had left Beaver Island, you went over there and found and identified your property, and that Doctor McCulloch, gave them up to you. You also have said that some young men told you that the Mormons stole them. Very good so far. The next question that presents itself, is, who were those Mormons? If they are still living we can perhaps hear from them; or they may have something to say about the matter; but if dead anything might be alleged against them, and they would be able to answer nothing in their own behalf. So it seems that after all, there might be a little difficulty in fastening the wagon and kettle theft upon the Mormons.

As one acquainted with all the leading points in the Mormon history, and many of the shrewd tactics of the mobocrats who have fattened upon their industry and toil, I confess that I see some analogy between this wagon and kettle story, and many other things transpiring in that history. When they burned down their own houses in both Illinois and Missouri, and charged the Mormons with it before the authorities of those States, why of course the evidence against them was unanswerable.

When the hides of animals, bee hives and dry goods boxes, emptied of their contents were found upon Mormon premises with various other ingenious contrivances, of course that was evidence irresistable. In June, 1844, Joseph Smith and his brother Hyrum were murdered in Carthage jail by a most blood-thirsty mob. Gov. Ford, of that State, had gone a few hours previously from Carthage to Nauvoo—about eight miles distant—with a small body of troops, to demand the State arms from the Mormons. The plea of the mob was to murder the Smiths while the Governor was in Nauvoo, so that the Mormons, in their fury, as they thought, might arise and kill the Governor and his men when the news of the death of the Smiths might reach them. The avowed object of this most diabolical plot was, was to create a sudden and powerful excitement in the State, so that the Mormons might be exterminated or driven out of the State at once, without mercy or justice. We have this statement in Gov. Ford's message to the Legislature of Illinois, 1844. When bodies of men can be guilty of such acts, who can imagine bounds that their criminality will not overstep? By the side of these things, the wagon and kettle, are small affairs, and easily accounted for, I think. However, if there is any evidence pointing querringly to some one bearing the Mormon name, we will only have to bear it as well as we know how to, the same as other people bear similar acts by some of their members. Mr. Dixon holds all Mormon's guilty you observe, as they all bear stealing tangle in their Saturday synagogue.

As to the lumber story: we remember reading a very different version of that case some time ago in a fragmentory file of the Northern Islander—an old Mormon newspaper published on Beaver Island; and this, I believe, is about the substance of it: Messrs Dixon and Sterling, missing some lumber, took a boat and some Indians, and went to the premises of a Mr. Bickle, a Mormon living, as Mr. Dixon says, in the vicinity of W. H. Porter's mill, and claimed some lumber, which Mr. Bickle claimed that he brought from Smith's new mill on Beaver Island. Mr. Dixon and his partner—Sterling—without Sterling's name from Bickle, and the lumberman refused to take part in removing the lumber from Bickle's premises, which, if I remember right, was because they had some knowledge that the lumber was Bickles'. Bickle immediately prosecuted the trespassers, and while the prosecution was pending some of Dixon's lumber came ashore on the beach of Lake Michigan, in a southwesterly wind. This rendered it so conclusive that the lumber had started for Grand Traverse, that they no longer hesitated to pay Bickle his costs and damages. Bickle's reliance for proof in his case, was, that the corresponding slabs, and remainder of the stock of lumber out of which he got his lumber at Beaver Island, with its corresponding color, knots, and grain, could be produced on Beaver Island, so as to put the ownership beyond dispute. This is the other side of the lumber story. There were at least 15,000 copies of the Northern Islander sent at that time in every direction, and it is a little strange that it was not contradicted at that time.

Mr Dixon refers to a statement made in the New York Tribune, in relation to the assault upon the Sheriff of Emmet county and his posse, signed by James J. Strang, while he (Mr. Dixon) was in Lansing, in 1854, "in which," says Mr. Dixon, "the writer made a very plausible shewing that the Mormons were a peaceful, industrious and law-abiding people, who had trouble with the fishermen simply because they (the fishermen) refused to submit to the law of the State so to establish and county organization, and the assessment of taxes. I was so impressed with the shewing, false and deceptive as I afterwards found it to be, that I felt no reluctance to a settlement here," etc.

To this we answer, 1st: That the whole history of the Mormons throughout, both by friends and enemies, and honorable men and women, not Mormons, both here and elsewhere, shows them, as a body, to have been, and now are, a temperate, intelligent, "peaceful, industrious, and law abiding people." Can Mr. Dixon or anybody else in this region, or any other, except upon his own bare assertion, show them to be anything else? Mr. Strang's "History of Mackinaw," extending over a period of 250 years, says, page 41, that Mackinaw "has exhausted the vocabulary of the language to find words to accuse the Mormons who have been six years in her exclusive jurisdiction, without being able to convict one Mormon of an offence; though so shameless in her proceedings that public officers boast of stealing from the Mormons by the perversion of legal authority!

[Continued on the eighth page.]

NORWOOD.

F. J. MEECH & Co.

NORWOOD, MICH.,

DEALERS IN

DRY GOODS,

Groceries and Provisions,

Also Manufacturers of

HARDWOOD LUMBER,

Lath and Shingles.

Wonderful Success

Three years ago Dr. Boschee's German Syrup was introduced in the United States from Germany; in the cure of coughs, severe colds settled on the breast, Consumption and other diseases of the Throat and Lungs No medicine ever had such a success. 300,000 sample bottles have been distributed every year for three years by Druggists in all parts of the United States, and nearly 1000 letters from Druggists are now on our files saying that no other preparation in their stores sells as well and gives such excellent satisfaction. All we ask is for you 50c. to go to your Druggist G. W. Crouter, and get a sample bottle for 10 cents and try it. Regular size 75 cents.

NEW MILLINERY AND

Dress - Making

ESTABLISHMENT.

Fancy Q ds, such as Canvas, Zephyrs Tidies, Tid patterns, Tarnish, Kid Gloves, etc. Also shmese for Sacques. Dresses and Cloaks fitted and made in the latest fashions.

Charges Reasonable.

Rooms in Harry Newman's bakery building

MISS A. M. BACKET

Charlevoix, June 12, 1875. [1oly

DRUGS and MEDICINES

DR. LEWIS

Tenders his thanks to the inhabitants o Charlevoix and vicinity for past patronage and solicits a continuance of the same. He has

JUST RECEIVED

A large stock of medicines, such as

Fluid Extracts,
Tinctures,
Essences
Pills of all kinds,
Gums,
Perfumery, etc

PATENT MEDICINES,

A large stock, such as Ayres, Jays sweitzer's, Peterson's Blackman's, Sage's a Herrick's.

A Full Supply of Dye Stuffs.

All goods sold as cheap as by any house north of Grand Rapids.

I Keep What I Advertise.

FOX, ROSE & BUTTARS

Charlevoix.

THE SUMMER OF 1875.

LOWER! LOWER!

Go the Prices!

WE CAN AND WILL

SELL CHEAPER

Than any other House in Charlevoix,

Our Neighbors

Are Cutting Down on Certain Articles; We cut down on

Everything!

If You Don't Believe It,

COME AND SEE

For Yourselves.

YARD WIDTH COTTON FOR 10cts

TEA--3 Pounds for $1.

SUIT of Coths for $8.

The Best Goods,

Regadless of Profit,

AreAlwaysKept.

FOX, ROSE & BUTTARS.

An Incident of 1857 in Utah—White "Indians."

A correspondent writes to the New York World as follows:

The revival of interest in the Mountain Meadow massacre recalls a curious incident in which I became involved about that time, the particulars of which were only understood by three persons besides myself.

It was in the summer of the same year, 1857, that a party of emigrants from Missouri penetrated the Territory of Utah, on their way to California. This company numbered precisely fifty persons, fourteen wagons over eighteen men, the rest being women and children. They were amply provided with baggage wagons, oxen and horses, and were eminently fortunate in coming through the Indian country without the loss of any of their number, and with no serious depredation of their baggage. It was my fortune to be one of the leaders in that enterprise, and my wife and child were with me.

When we had gone some hundreds of miles into Utah we were approached by a good looking, cheerful young fellow, who galloped over from a neighboring camp upon a little mustang, never hailing until the animal almost ran over us. This Lee I regret was a curious compound of the dare-devil, miser and scout, a man capable of the most atrocious deeds, and yet at times showing feelings as tender as a woman's. As he reined up his horse and looked around he appeared impressed by the numerous ramifications kereof, but as he drew up abruptly wanted to know "Where the deuce is the leader of this persuasion?" Several pointed me out, and he looked down from the back of his horse, carelessly scanning me from head to foot.

"So you're the leader of this tunnel, or you'll be asked, with a sly chuckle peculiar to himself; but when I nodded I declined to hear some characteristic slur up on my appearance, but the old borderer was disposed to be gracious that day.

"You look like a pretty decent sort of a chap, and I've got something to say to you—so, if you're a mind, just walk out here beyond earshot and we'll confer."

We went off together, Leggett, swinging one of his immense legs over the saddle of his mustang, stepped down to the ground, and, leaning with his back against the horse, hooked me keenly in the eye and asked me:

"How many men have you got?"

"Eighteen."

"All armed, be they?"

All armed and ready to defend the company at any time. They've learned sovereignty of basket ways while crossing the plains."

"Then, by the Eternal, they've got to learn a thundering sight more about the road to California. Do you know that the very dickens will be to pay after you can get to the Green Nevada?"

I replied that we apprehended no unusual danger, and asked him to be more explicit. He answered that it was a great reluctance to explain the particulars of some important knowledge that he had gained, but one he had no right to withhold as was in the neighborhood of Salt Lake City when he learned that we had passed, and he found out too that an Indian plan was arranging for destroying our entire party. Beyond this he seemed unwilling to communicate what he had learned, but he finally ventured the opinion that it were we attacked at all it would be at a place known as Murderer's Gulch. If we could get beyond that without disturbance, or if we should prove ourselves able to repel any assault, we might consider all our danger passed. Having told me this much Leggett leaped into the saddle, galloped up the ridge and vanished.

The guide to our party was a Mr. ——, who had crossed and recrossed the plains, but whose knowledge of the country was less thorough than we had a right to expect. He had led us astray several times, but when I came to speak of Murderer's Gulch he recognized the place at once and assured me that he had participated in the ceremony of its christening. He was one of a party of miners who encamped there a half-dozen years before, there being a round dozen of them, when they got into a fight which resulted in the death and dangerous wounding of eight of the number, most of whom were left upon the spot.

Murderer's Gulch, as it was called from that day, was only five miles away, and it was now early in the afternoon, so that it could be easily reached before nightfall. So we set forward, and when we halted the sun was still an hour high. The gulch was simply a ravine, 100 feet wide, with sloping sides that were less than a dozen feet high. The beauty of the place was that the bottom was covered with the richest kind of grass, and in the center was a spring of delicously cool and clear water, so that it presented every requisite for a camping site, with the single exception that in case of attack the advantage was with the assailing party. In view of the warning we had received from Leggett the question was debated whether we should halt here or go further on. The grass continued along the bottom for several miles further, but this was the only spot where water could be obtained, and at every other place the banks were much higher.

We had seen Indians at a distance during the entire day, and we had occasional shots more than once with some of their horsemen. There could be no doubt, therefore, that we were in a very dangerous section of the country, and a careful review of the situation led us to adopt a rather novel defense, the success of which depended upon the darkness of the night.

Before dark three camp-fires were kindled and their smoke was clearly outlined against the sky. The teams were unhitched and left grazing throughout grass, while a number of us took pains to show ourselves on the slope so that there could be no doubt that the redskins were fully apprised of what we were doing. This continued until some time after dark, the fires burning brightly, while the sentinels and bustle were greater than ever. An hour after sunset the entire caravan, with the exception of four men, started silently up the gulch and never halted until they had reached the open prairie, fully a half-dozen miles away. When they at length halted in mid-plain two large burgeau wagons, and each of us four men had his own house.

There was every reason to believe that the Indians intended to attack us at this place, as Leggett had told us, and we adopted the cautionary original artifice in the hope of throwing them off the track. Favored by the darkness, we believed we could make them think the entire party was in camp, and by making a gallant show next morn at any suits the women and children, with their escort, would have time to get beyond their reach. After the departure of our friends we proposed our camp-fires to smolder, for if there were too much light a keen eyed Indian would be apt to detect the trick we were attempting to play upon him. All this being arranged as carefully as possible, two of me stationed ourselves upon one side the gulch and ten upon the other, our horses being tethered a short distance below us, where they could be reached at a moment's warning. Our guns were lying flat in the grass near the top of the hill, so that we could peer into the gloom without the necessity of being seen ourselves, while we were unable to make better use of our eyes than our eyes, for by applying our ears to the ground we were sure to detect the approach of a horse, no matter how carefully he was guided. We had lain upon the ground about two hours when I heard the faint but distinct sound of a horse's hoofs, to which were instantly joined those of several others. I gave utterance to a low, soft, tremulous whistle to apprise the others of what was coming, and the reptiles instantly came back. Within five minutes I caught the shadowy outlines of a horse, whose head was directly toward and who approached within twenty feet before I could make certain that he had a man upon his back. I took the best aim possible and fired. The horse wheeled and dashed away, but as he turned I saw the arms of his rider thrown wildly in the air. Almost at the same moment the crack of a rifle was heard upon the opposite side of the gulch, and immediately after the sound of a third gun. Then followed a whooping as unearthly as it was hideous, which continued for half an hour, and which, coming from the throats of a dozen savages, was enough to curdle the blood of the bravest man.

Gallopping a short distance up the gulch, which should we meet but old Bill Leggett, on his mustang, riding toward us at an easy canter! Leading us up out of the gulch to the prairie above he pointed to two dead bodies in the grass.

"You heard my gun twist in the night, didn't ye?" he asked. We replied that we did, and were afraid it failed ill to the caravan. "They're all right," he added, with more of his terrible oaths; "the first shot picked off that loafer and the next thin one. They was down in the gulch, and I crawled on up here where I could keep 'em till daylight."

"What was that for?"

"To make sure."

With that he leaned over one of the men and, with some water from his canteen, washed the side of his face. Then he split the sleeve of the other's hunting shirt. The result in both cases was the discovery that the skin was as white as our own. Both men were Caucasians, as no doubt were all the others concerned in this little incident, which took place less than thirty minutes previous to the massacre at Mountain Meadows.

Ancient Measurements.

At a recent meeting of the Society of Biblical Archæology, a paper on "Ancient Metrology," by Mr. F. R. Conder, C. E., was read. In this paper Mr. Conder indicated the confused and contradictory state of our present knowledge of the subject, and proceeded to establish an absolute metrical base, identifying the barley corn, which the Hebrew writers state to be the unit of length and of weight, with the long measure barley-corn and with the Troy grain. The grounds of identification they were—(1) the measurement and weight of full-sized grains of barley at time of harvest; (2) determination of specific gravity according to one-cubic inch in Hebrew liquid measure; (3) actual divisions of ancient Jewish buildings, and actual standard of a Babylonian cubit now in the British Museum, which corresponded to Mr. Conder's determination of 20.600 Troy grains with one per cubic inch. The remarkable double division of the Chaldee metrical system, which is both decimal and duodecimal, was then explained, and shown to apply to measures of length, area, capacity and weight. The origin of the Troy grain, the standard carat-seed on the stope so that there could be no doubt that the redskins were fully apprised of what we were doing. This

In the Catacombs.

Writing of a visit to the catacombs of Paris a correspondent says: "The cemetery, gentlemen!" said Joseph the guide, pointing to a small black door in the opposite side of the wall. We entered one by one, and by the walls which before had been of white virgin rock of Paris stretched before us a solid surface of skulls, jawbones, thigh-bones, femurs, knee-joints and every imaginable ghastly piece of ossification that the human body yields. They were piled from floor to ceiling; they were running over at the top and protruding at the bottom; they were everywhere except beneath our feet, arranged in fanciful carving lines, stars, belts and various strange coats-of-arms. The former or large femoral tibia and the skulls seemed to be preferred for this purpose; they packed better. "Those bones," said Joseph, laying his hand familiarly on a black, grinning skull, "are very old—Roman, in fact. But now all skulls yonder is of a little later date. They belonged to the tenth of the time of Children I. These fellows have were the contemporaries of Charlemagne. Further on they are still more modern. See, this gentleman had a toilet through his hand at Cressy, and here is a skull nearly ready to go to a second stroke. We will pass on!" We proceeded. Once far down a side passage which crossed the main gallery we came upon a number of Monks, a party a quarter of a mile away, clustering like silvers in the distance as their candles waved from far above their heads as we bent down in a ghastly way to examine the bones. Now and then we would find a hollow echo of their voices, borne down to us by some stray draught out of the darkness. By this time we were getting pretty well used to the bones, and to gloating to admire the ghastly ingenuity of their arrangement. They pretty much resembled small confused, stacked cord, the prevailing skulls serving for the larger sticks of timber. In one place there was a small niche, or chapel, furnished with crosses, etc., all constructed of skulls and thigh-bones. They were all arranged neatly and tastefully so far as might be when grinning skulls and bones were the working materials. Here only the bones ended suddenly before us, coming place to a plain, black, funereal monument, bearing only a single name and date, and then another of the same character. They were one of the old memorials of the revolution of '93. Each monument bore the name of a resident and beneath each, indiscriminately mingled, were buried the bones of the fallen lord, the peasant and the tradesman. Shortly after this the bones ceased altogether, and we entered a part of the catacombs which was rounder and more commodious. At one place there was a long well or tank sunk into the solid rock. We reached our candles over the edge and looked down. Nothing but darkness. It seemed to sink down into the vast black, unfathomable depths of the earth.

A Glance at Jerusalem.

Let us look at the Jerusalem of today, says a correspondent. Here are the old walls crenulated and flanked with towers, above which square minarets and white cupolas, clearly cut in the unchangeable blue of the Syrian sky, the promise from whatever side you approach one of the most picturesque sights she seems small. Indeed, in the traveler arriving from the north or west, but when you behold her from the top of the Mount of Olives she is truly imposing and displays herself with so much majesty on the slopes of her hills that she appears grander than she really is. It is to be remarked, besides that the Oriental cities always make more of a picture than European cities. This is not merely owing to the style of the buildings, to the absence of red or gray roofs, and to the quantity of cupolas, but principal owing to the want of suburbs. The approaches of our cities are blocked up with wood-yards, with docks, with sawpits, and with country houses, which do not let you see where the cities begin or where they end; but in Palestine, for the rarely visited or badly habited houses, the cities appear clearly in the landscape with well defined outlines, like those which we see on the tapestries of Gobelins. Jerusalem.

You know in turn that the interior of Oriental cities does not answer at all to the idea you would get in looking at them from without. Jerusalem is no exception, she is, I think, the most wretched of all. The houses are, however, built of good materials, they are not of brick, as in Egypt, but of great cubes of stone. Moses, in fact, promised the Israelites a country "whose stones are iron, and out of whose hills they may get dig brass." You do not often see on the outside fronts those little windows with wooden lattices which ornament the houses of Cairo, as a rule the houses have no other opening than the door. A European who should be transported all at once into certain streets of Jerusalem might go about there along while without suspecting that he was in a city.

The sweepings of the houses piled up before each door make veritable sewers of the streets. The dogs and jackals are the only scavengers of Jerusalem, and as there flies the care of freeing the public way from the carcasses of domestic animals dead from disease or accident. The walk resides in the midst of the dust of the roles and scarcely step strike against some heap of rubbish—a Babylonian brick now in the British Museum, which corresponded to Mr. Conder's determination of 20.600 Troy grains with one per cubic. The remarkable double division of the Chaldee metrical system, which is both decimal and duodecimal, was then explained, and shown to apply to measures of length, area, capacity and weight. The origin of the Troy grain, the standard carat-seed on the stope so that there could be no doubt that the redskins were fully divisions is traced to the early system employed by the Phœnician traders.

A Girls' School In Egypt.

Miss Whately, an English educator and writer, has rewarded the following interesting description of a genuine Egyptian girls' school: "I had recently an opportunity of visiting the school for Egyptian girls, chiefly of the poorer classes, which, about two years ago, was founded by one of the wives of His Highness, the Khedive. The house, which was built for the purpose, is admirably suited to the necessities of school life, for 200 scholars are lodged within the high walls. It is plain and simple in its arrangements, but in size lofty and audibly is like a palace. The marble floor rooms is a suite, according to Eastern fashion, are such as a Duchess hardly might envy, and a very part of the building and every room are abundant. The Inspector of Public Schools, M. Hor, a gentleman from Sant-el-Thone home," and Joseph, having his hand familiarly on a black, grinningskull, "are very old—Roman, in fact. But now all skulls yonder is of a little later date. They belonged to the tents of the time of Children I. These fellows have were the contemporaries of Charlemagne. Further on they are still more modern. See, this gentleman had a toilet through his hand at Cressy, and here is a skull nearly ready to go to a second stroke. We will pass on!" We proceeded. Once far down a side passage which crossed the main gallery we came upon a number of Monks, a party a quarter of a mile away, clustering like silvers in the distance as their candles waved from far above their heads as we bent down in a ghastly way to examine the bones. Now and then we would find a hollow echo of their voices, borne down to us by some stray draught out of the darkness. By this time we were getting pretty well used to the bones, and to gloating to admire the ghastly ingenuity of their arrangement. They pretty much resembled small confused, stacked cord, the prevailing skulls serving for the larger sticks of timber. In one place there was a small niche, or chapel, furnished with crosses, etc., all constructed of skulls and thigh-bones. They were all arranged neatly and tastefully so far as might be when grinning skulls and bones were the working materials. Here only the bones ended suddenly before us, coming place to a plain, black, funereal monument, bearing only a single name and date, and then another of the same character. They were one of the old memorials of the revolution of '93. Each monument bore the name of a resident and beneath each, indiscriminately mingled, were buried the bones of the fallen lord, the peasant and the tradesman. Shortly after this the bones ceased altogether, and we entered a part of the catacombs which was rounder and more commodious. At one place there was a long well or tank sunk into the solid rock. We reached our candles over the edge and looked down. Nothing but darkness. It seemed to sink down into the vast black, unfathomable depths of the earth.

The First American Revolution.

How many people are there who know that in Louisiana, as far back as 1768, there was an attempt made to establish a republic upon the model of North America, and that the citizens of New Orleans paid for the attempt with their lives? Yet such is the fact, and the documents in the official archives at Madrid and Paris bear testimony to their gallant but fruitless endeavor.

It occurred shortly after France had ceded Louisiana to Spain. The helpless inhabitants disliked the transfer, but they knew they could not help themselves. Although the Spaniards formally received the gift in 1762, the first Spanish Governor, Don Ulloa, did not arrive in Louisiana until four years afterward. The colonists had made up their minds to dislike him and they did so. He seems to have been a gay, good humored, not very dishonest ruler, who tried to suit his merrily subjects, and found that he had set himself an impossible task. They were scandalized because he married without the consent of "Father Duplessis," and hurt because he sent to Havana for a nurse for his child. Was not Louisiana able to furnish a good enough nurse? The colonists combined with the persons at New Orleans, but declared that he had insulted them when he started at Ballize for eight months, as might be when grinning skulls and bones were the working materials. Free only the bones ended suddenly before us, coming place to a plain, black, funereal monument, bearing only a single name and date, and then another of the same character. They were one of the old memorials of the revolution of '93. Each monument bore the name of a resident and beneath each, indiscriminately mingled, were buried the bones of the fallen lord, the peasant and the tradesman. Shortly after this the bones ceased altogether, and we entered a part of the catacombs which was rounder and more commodious. At one place there was a long well or tank sunk into the solid rock. We reached our candles over the edge and looked down. Nothing but darkness. It seemed to sink down into the vast black, unfathomable depths of the earth.

A Glance at Jerusalem.

Let us look at the Jerusalem of today, says a correspondent. Here are the old walls crenulated and flanked with towers, above which square minarets and white cupolas, clearly cut in the unchangeable blue of the Syrian sky, the promise from whatever side you approach one of the most picturesque sights she seems small. Indeed, in the traveler arriving from the north or west, but when you behold her from the top of the Mount of Olives she is truly imposing and displays herself with so much majesty on the slopes of her hills that she appears grander than she really is. It is to be remarked, besides that the Oriental cities always make more of a picture than European cities. This is not merely owing to the style of the buildings, to the absence of red or gray roofs, and to the quantity of cupolas, but principal owing to the want of suburbs. The approaches of our cities are blocked up with wood-yards, with docks, with sawpits, and with country houses, which do not let you see where the cities begin or where they end; but in Palestine, for the rarely visited or badly habited houses, the cities appear clearly in the landscape with well defined outlines, like those which we see on the tapestries of Gobelins. Jerusalem.

You know in turn that the interior of Oriental cities does not answer at all to the idea you would get in looking at them from without. Jerusalem is no exception, she is, I think, the most wretched of all. The houses are, however, built of good materials, they are not of brick, as in Egypt, but of great cubes of stone. Moses, in fact, promised the Israelites a country "whose stones are iron, and out of whose hills they may get dig brass." You do not often see on the outside fronts those little windows with wooden lattices which ornament the houses of Cairo, as a rule the houses have no other opening than the door. A European who should be transported all at once into certain streets of Jerusalem might go about there along while without suspecting that he was in a city.

The sweepings of the houses piled up before each door make veritable sewers of the streets. The dogs and jackals are the only scavengers of Jerusalem, and as there flies the care of freeing the public way from the carcasses of domestic animals dead from disease or accident. The walk resides in the midst of the dust of the roles and scarcely step strike against some heap of rubbish—a Babylonian brick now in the British Museum, which corresponded to Mr. Conder's determination of 20.600 Troy grains with one per cubic. The remarkable double division of the Chaldee metrical system, which is both decimal and duodecimal, was then explained, and shown to apply to measures of length, area, capacity and weight. The origin of the Troy grain, the standard carat-seed on the stope so that there could be no doubt that the redskins were fully divisions is traced to the early system employed by the Phœnician traders.

A Curious Case.

Mr. Whately, an English educator and writer, has rewarded the following interesting description of a genuine Egyptian girls' school: "I had recently an opportunity of visiting the school for Egyptian girls, chiefly of the poorer classes, which, about two years ago, was founded by one of the wives of His Highness, the Khedive. The house, which was built for the purpose, is admirably suited to the necessities of school life, for 200 scholars are lodged within the high walls. It is plain and simple in its arrangements, but in size lofty and audibly is like a palace. The marble floor rooms is a suite, according to Eastern fashion, are such as a Duchess hardly might envy, and a very part of the building and every room are abundant. The Inspector of Public Schools, M. Hor, a gentleman from Sant-el-Thone home," and Joseph, having his hand familiarly on a black, grinningskull, "are very old—Roman, in fact. But now all skulls yonder is of a little later date. They belonged to the tents of the time of Children I. These fellows have were the contemporaries of Charlemagne. Further on they are still more modern. See, this gentleman had a toilet through his hand at Cressy, and here is a skull nearly ready to go to a second stroke. We will pass on!" We proceeded. Once far down a side passage which crossed the main gallery we came upon a number of Monks, a party a quarter of a mile away, clustering like silvers in the distance as their candles waved from far above their heads as we bent down in a ghastly way to examine the bones. Now and then we would find a hollow echo of their voices, borne down to us by some stray draught out of the darkness. By this time we were getting pretty well used to the bones, and to gloating to admire the ghastly ingenuity of their arrangement. They pretty much resembled small confused, stacked cord, the prevailing skulls serving for the larger sticks of timber. In one place there was a small niche, or chapel, furnished with crosses, etc., all constructed of skulls and thigh-bones. They were all arranged neatly and tastefully so far as might be when grinning skulls and bones were the working materials. Here only the bones ended suddenly before us, coming place to a plain, black, funereal monument, bearing only a single name and date, and then another of the same character. They were one of the old memorials of the revolution of '93. Each monument bore the name of a resident and beneath each, indiscriminately mingled, were buried the bones of the fallen lord, the peasant and the tradesman. Shortly after this the bones ceased altogether, and we entered a part of the catacombs which was rounder and more commodious. At one place there was a long well or tank sunk into the solid rock. We reached our candles over the edge and looked down. Nothing but darkness. It seemed to sink down into the vast black, unfathomable depths of the earth.

Quacks In Great Britain.

The British Charity Organization Society's Reporter prints the following item:

Sunderland Daily News, July 19, 1875.

Hetton-le-Hole.—I duly received your note of the 19th inst., in which I gave reasons why I could not attend the inquest in the case of Mrs. Ann Bell, who died on the 17th inst. I am not aware that I am required to give any further explanation than I have already done, but I will add that I have had no personal knowledge of the case, and I am not in the habit of attending inquests unless I am required to do so by the coroner. I am, sir, your obedient servant,

R. A. Brine.

P. S.—I was born Oct. 2, 1812.

An Extraordinary Test of Spiritualistic Phenomenon.

The St. Louis papers of Aug. 30 contain lengthy accounts of an extraordinary test which has been witnessed by a large party by a spiritualistic medium. A Mr. Henry Timkens, a well-known and highly respected carriage-maker, offered to Mr. W. C. Clark the sum of fifty dollars for the production of a spirit sufficiently material to be seen by all. Mr. C. accepted the offer, and on the evening of the 30th a small crowd assembled at a hall on St. Louis to witness the experiment. The medium was carefully searched and clothed in garments furnished by Mr. Timkens. The cabinet was thoroughly examined and found to be a large receptacle, however. The medium was then bound by Mr. T. assisted by three or four reporters. Holes were bored on each side of each chair-back and below the knee-joints, and pieces of sealing-wax were passed through each of the four sets of holes. They merged below the calf of the leg, where they were securely tied, and then fastened to the sawbucks on which the cabinet rested. Holes were also bored on each side of the medium's head, and a piece of rope passed around the head and tied in the middle of the cabinet, besides being secured to the sawbucks. The medium's hands were tied behind his back, and his thumbs were also tied together. The cord being made to pass through a hole in the floor, between his legs. At the distance of fifteen feet from the cabinet and directly in front of the black curtain was placed a stand, where, by means of a vise, a small wooden table was held upright, and leaded so that the ball would inevitably pierce the curtain's center when fired at. Mr. Timkens, a gentleman present, who has a crack shot, was chosen to fire the rifle.

After considerable time had elapsed subsequent to the closing of the cabinet the curtain of the window was suddenly drawn to the right and left, disclosing a girl—made its appearance at the aperture and was distinctly seen by all present. The Republican says: "There it was. A pale, ghostly countenance that looked as though it might have belonged to a girl of seventeen at some previous time in the world's history. It didn't look a bit like actual flesh and blood. Had it been possible to conceive that the face of the cabinet suddenly one never would have expected to see any pinnacle back gear about the nether portion of the materialization. It was a face that might have belonged to some Greek maiden 2,000 years ago, and resembled one of the marble countenances of some statue. All who saw were fairly transfixed with astonishment. The features were perfectly clear and distinct, being illuminated by a soft light. There was not the slightest movement of a muscle or an eyelid that could be distinguished. The face was then quickly drawn back, and the curtain again fell into place. At the vision there was an explosion that caused a rude interruption of the imaginative reveries. The mere supernatural had fallen into.

"The wide-open eyes looked almost into the universe of space without any sign of flinching. Without the tremor of a muscle Cunningham died, apparently thanking the cause of shooting a couple of girls than a Comanche would. A moment after the face remained steadfast. It wasn't scared and didn't wink. The seconds it remained as before, and then the curtain mysteriously slid across and obscured it from view. After about ten minutes' waiting the medium asked for a glass of water. This was given him, and in a little while after he asked to be let out. When the door was opened he was found tied just as he was left when the door was first closed. The cords had evidently been strained a little, and that is all. Everybody said it was a good thing, and nobody could tell how it was done if the spirits didn't do it. The medium is said to exhibit very much exhausted by the exhibition, and said he wouldn't do it again for anything. No explanation is by way of any imposition in this matter appears to be evident. It would have been almost impossible for any material for the production of the image to have been introduced into the cabinet. The medium was very secretive, and there was no possible chance for collusion on the part of a confederate. The bullet certainly went through the aperture and through the face, wherever it was. This was ascertained beyond a doubt by the finding of the ball, it having passed through the back of the cabinet and imbedded itself in a board. The public can make their own explanations. The Republican has none to offer."

Household Hints.

To Prevent Bedbugs Without Cookine.—Recommended as very superior: With every pound of zinc, fresh burrier nuts one and a half pounds of white sugar—work the barries and sugar together with a spoon or wooden mint until every berry is crushed—dip into the juice, dry glass cans. Fill them full and screw on the covers. Place in a cool, dry cellar, and shake them the light.

Lemonade Jelly.—Boil the apples with just water enough to cover them for four hours. Run through a colander and then strain through a woolen bag. Now measure the juice, and to each pint allow a pound of sugar. If the juice does not seem rich enough put on to boil a little before putting in the sugar, then put the sugar in and boil ten or fifteen minutes.

Coffee in Custards.—One half tea Lambs gelatine, two cups of milk, two cups of boiling hot coffee, made as for drinking coffee, and four eggs, beat enough of the milk to dissolve through, to the gelatine and put the remainder in the coffee when the gelatine is entirely dissolved pour the coffee upon it and stir severely. Beat the eggs well with one half cup of sugar, add to the other ingredients and pour the mixture into molds previously wet with cold water. Place in a cool place and it will set very quickly.

Waffles.—In the morning boil quite soft four tablespoonfuls of rice, using more water than when cooking it for other purposes. In the morning beat the whites of three eggs, put the yolks into the rice, stirring both lightly together, add one pint of new milk, a little salt, and flour to make rather thick batter, stir in the whites last and bake a light brown in a well-greased waffle-iron. The batter should be thick enough to require a little spreading out with a spoon when put upon the iron, but if too thick the waffles will be tough. The above quantity is sufficient for a family of four or five persons. Dough nuts are better than shallow ones.

A Plain Meat Soup.—Crack the bone of a shin of beef and put it on to boil in one quart of cold water, add a large onion, a little salt and pepper, and a large teaspoonful of soft soap; boil slowly until the meat will fall from the bone, then take out the meat, strain the soup through a sieve, return to the pot again; thicken it with a little flour mixed with water; then add some finely chopped parsley, and season pair to the taste, and some dumplings, made of a teaspoonful of butter to two of flour, moistened with a little milk or water. Drop these dumplings into the soup and let them boil five minutes. It is then ready to dish and eat.

Very pretty rustic chains can be made to hang from verandahs, porches or piazzas by taking small sticks, from one to two inches in length, and boring holes into lengths of from three to five inches, then take willows sticks about half an inch in diameter and of the same length as the sticks, and split them in halves and haul the halves so as to form a semi-circle around the end of the sticks, and then bring it to it with small bands and thus forming a small loop. Then nail one end of each of the sticks to the under side of the other little stick and draw it through the loop already made by the other stick and fasten it tightly on the upper side of the stick. Continue to loop these bits of wood together with the willow or other rods until the desired length of chain is made, and then cut one edge obliquely and nail it firmly where it is desired to hang. The kinds of wood which will present the prettiest appearance for this purpose are the leaves of trees by the body, many will hide in the stalks of buckwheat, spruce, fine maple, hemlock and oak which can be used with good effect. The particular advantage of these chains for rustic decorations is that it will be easy to change the color of the willow or other rods until the desired shade is obtained.

Cooper Its Chemicals.—One half box Lambs gelatine, two cups of milk, two cups of boiling hot coffee, made as for drinking coffee, and four eggs, beat enough of the milk to dissolve through, to the gelatine and put the remainder in the coffee when the gelatine is entirely dissolved pour the coffee upon it and stir severely. Beat the eggs well with one half cup of sugar, add to the other ingredients and pour the mixture into molds previously wet with cold water. Place in a cool place and it will set very quickly.

Waffles.—In the morning boil quite soft four tablespoonfuls of rice, using more water than when cooking it for other purposes. In the morning beat the whites of three eggs, put the yolks into the rice, stirring both lightly together, add one pint of new milk, a little salt, and flour to make rather thick batter, stir in the whites last and bake a light brown in a well-greased waffle-iron. The batter should be thick enough to require a little spreading out with a spoon when put upon the iron, but if too thick the waffles will be tough. The above quantity is sufficient for a family of four or five persons. Dough nuts are better than shallow ones.

A Plain Meat Soup.—Crack the bone of a shin of beef and put it on to boil in one quart of cold water, add a large onion, a little salt and pepper, and a large teaspoonful of soft soap; boil slowly until the meat will fall from the bone, then take out the meat, strain the soup through a sieve, return to the pot again; thicken it with a little flour mixed with water; then add some finely chopped parsley, and season pair to the taste, and some dumplings, made of a teaspoonful of butter to two of flour, moistened with a little milk or water. Drop these dumplings into the soup and let them boil five minutes. It is then ready to dish and eat.

Very pretty rustic chains can be made to hang from verandahs, porches or piazzas by taking small sticks, from one to two inches in length, and boring holes into lengths of from three to five inches, then take willows sticks about half an inch in diameter and of the same length as the sticks, and split them in halves and haul the halves so as to form a semi-circle around the end of the sticks, and then bring it to it with small bands and thus forming a small loop. Then nail one end of each of the sticks to the under side of the other little stick and draw it through the loop already made by the other stick and fasten it tightly on the upper side of the stick. Continue to loop these bits of wood together with the willow or other rods until the desired length of chain is made, and then cut one edge obliquely and nail it firmly where it is desired to hang. The kinds of wood which will present the prettiest appearance for this purpose are the leaves of trees by the body, many will hide in the stalks of buckwheat, spruce, fine maple, hemlock and oak which can be used with good effect. The particular advantage of these chains for rustic decorations is that it will be easy to change the color of the willow or other rods until the desired shade is obtained.

Sulfur is to say that most of more impolitic for the Democratic leaders disgraced cards. Perhaps no one may think that by having "Queen's evidence" I am worse than those I impeach, but I don't wish to encourage myself, for I confess that I am more than ordinarily fond of my feelings. But the truth ought to be known. Poor people ought not to be systematically robbed by night and day under the description of rogues, for rogues, rascals and liars are the whole fraternity, myself included. Yours, unworthily,

T. A. Burke.

P. S.—I was born Oct. 2, 1812.

An Extraordinary Test of Spiritualistic Phenomenon.

The St. Louis papers of Aug. 30 contain lengthy accounts of an extraordinary test which has been witnessed by a large party by a spiritualistic medium. A Mr. Henry Timkens, a well-known and highly respected carriage-maker, offered to Mr. W. C. Clark the sum of fifty dollars for the production of a spirit sufficiently material to be seen by all. Mr. C. accepted the offer, and on the evening of the 30th a small crowd assembled at a hall on St. Louis to witness the experiment. The medium was carefully searched and clothed in garments furnished by Mr. Timkens. The cabinet was thoroughly examined and found to be a large receptacle, however. The medium was then bound by Mr. T. assisted by three or four reporters. Holes were bored on each side of each chair-back and below the knee-joints, and pieces of sealing-wax were passed through each of the four sets of holes. They merged below the calf of the leg, where they were securely tied, and then fastened to the sawbucks on which the cabinet rested. Holes were also bored on each side of the medium's head, and a piece of rope passed around the head and tied in the middle of the cabinet, besides being secured to the sawbucks. The medium's hands were tied behind his back, and his thumbs were also tied together. The cord being made to pass through a hole in the floor, between his legs. At the distance of fifteen feet from the cabinet and directly in front of the black curtain was placed a stand, where, by means of a vise, a small wooden table was held upright, and leaded so that the ball would inevitably pierce the curtain's center when fired at. Mr. Timkens, a gentleman present, who has a crack shot, was chosen to fire the rifle.

After considerable time had elapsed subsequent to the closing of the cabinet the curtain of the window was suddenly drawn to the right and left, disclosing a girl—made its appearance at the aperture and was distinctly seen by all present. The Republican says: "There it was. A pale, ghostly countenance that looked as though it might have belonged to a girl of seventeen at some previous time in the world's history. It didn't look a bit like actual flesh and blood. Had it been possible to conceive that the face of the cabinet suddenly one never would have expected to see any pinnacle back gear about the nether portion of the materialization. It was a face that might have belonged to some Greek maiden 2,000 years ago, and resembled one of the marble countenances of some statue. All who saw were fairly transfixed with astonishment. The features were perfectly clear and distinct, being illuminated by a soft light. There was not the slightest movement of a muscle or an eyelid that could be distinguished. The face was then quickly drawn back, and the curtain again fell into place. At the vision there was an explosion that caused a rude interruption of the imaginative reveries. The mere supernatural had fallen into.

"The wide-open eyes looked almost into the universe of space without any sign of flinching. Without the tremor of a muscle Cunningham died, apparently thanking the cause of shooting a couple of girls than a Comanche would. A moment after the face remained steadfast. It wasn't scared and didn't wink. The seconds it remained as before, and then the curtain mysteriously slid across and obscured it from view. After about ten minutes' waiting the medium asked for a glass of water. This was given him, and in a little while after he asked to be let out. When the door was opened he was found tied just as he was left when the door was first closed. The cords had evidently been strained a little, and that is all. Everybody said it was a good thing, and nobody could tell how it was done if the spirits didn't do it. The medium is said to exhibit very much exhausted by the exhibition, and said he wouldn't do it again for anything. No explanation is by way of any imposition in this matter appears to be evident. It would have been almost impossible for any material for the production of the image to have been introduced into the cabinet. The medium was very secretive, and there was no possible chance for collusion on the part of a confederate. The bullet certainly went through the aperture and through the face, wherever it was. This was ascertained beyond a doubt by the finding of the ball, it having passed through the back of the cabinet and imbedded itself in a board. The public can make their own explanations. The Republican has none to offer."

Autumn Work in the Garden.

The season is so favorable as autumn for making general improvements in the garden. Our Indian summer weather, the mellow haze of autumn, is not equaled by anything we ever experienced in any part of the world. Our springs are short and unpleasant; cold, rain and mud with an occasional fine day to remind us of what spring might be, is our usual fare. All important changes in the garden should, therefore, be made in the dry pleasant weather of autumn, as work can then be done better and cheaper than at any other time. Dig up and put in order every vacant bed, as it will not only facilitate spring work but do the soil good and give the garden a neat and tidy appearance.

Pruning is the best possible time for rearranging beds of herbaceous plants, such as bulbous roots, delphiniums, pæonies, etc. Roots can be divided without injury and generally with great benefit to the health of the plants. Dig up and liberally manure the ground for the coming year's crop.

Another advantage of buckwheat is that when rightly managed it becomes an aid in fighting the cutting-moth. If the roots are destroyed in the autumn for a lodgement of the worm on the body, many will hide in the stalks of buckwheat. Plowing the ground just before winter sets in destroys the enemy, as it winters in the pupa state, and cannot live in contact with fresh earth. Harrow and roll the stuff, which will annihilate ere plowed under just before freezing thousands of the cutting worm and destroy the eggs of the evil the following season. This has been practically tested by apple-growers of the Grand Traverse (Mich.) region, and had buckwheat de been crop to keep their orchards in good condition.—Cor. N. Y. Times.

Kindness to Milch Cows.

One of the greatest errors in overcoming cows that are unquiet while being milked is to whip, beat and brawl at them. This is generally done; and the cow becomes afraid and angry, and, instead of becoming better, gets worse. They dislike to be milked for they know that loud words and hard blows always attend the operation. They dread to see the milker as the little urchin dreads to see the birchen rod in the hand of an angry pedagogue, and the cause of fear is simply in his person. A cow mildly and properly treated is pleased to see the milker, gladly stands for her approach, and submits with pleasure to the operation of being milked.

Every one having experience with cows is aware of this fact. But the cow is opposed to a change of milkers; she soon comes attached to one person who performs the operation, and does not willingly and freely give down her milk to another person; therefore, have one milker to regular cows, and bear in mind if you change milkers it is at the expense of a loss of milk and of injury to the cow.

All animals appreciate kind treatment and resent abuse. See that those who handle them control themselves, govern their passions, talk low and quietly under almost any provocation, and soon the cows will learn that they are not going to be abused, and will submit to the operation.—The Farmer.

—The lowest man who tells his wife everything that happens is matched by the man who tells his wife better still many things which do not happen.

Early Worth Remembering.

It is worth while for all farmers, everywhere, to remember that thorough culture is better than three mortgages on their farms.

That an offensive war against weeds in five times less expensive than a defensive one.

That 2 cwt fences always pay better than lawsuits with neighbors.

That hay is a good deal cheaper made in summer than purchased in winter.

That more stock perish from famine than lumber.

That a cow who is kept in poor condition, and looks lightning when anyone approaches him is vicious. Don't buy him.

That scalping the fowl of fattening hogs is a waste of grain.

That cow fed fowls won't lay eggs.

That educating children properly is money laid up 100 per cent.

That unceasing spent at home instantly is more profitable than ten lounging about country taverns.

That cows should always be milked regularly and clean.

That it is the duty of every man to take a good, reliable, entertaining paper, and pay for it promptly, of course.—Exchange.

—The London Lancet says that no person should sit for more than half an hour at a time in front of a fire. If he can't do with a fire, he is going to be particular to a minute?

—Advertising pays. A Toledo man advertised for a servant girl, and one of the three wives knocked at the door in less than five hours after the paper was out.

—The State Prison at Philadelphia has stopped cigar-making, being unable to compete with the Connecticut institution.

This is an advertising age. Every man who has up to the times takes care that the world knows it. A trade candle is not hidden under a bushel, but placed upon a hill. Business is found to increase in direct ratio with the amount of money judiciously expended in telling the public how where you are and what you have got to sell. The great difficulty is to know when, where and how to do it. This led to the establishment of advertising agencies, which, in the most successful instances, are the medium between the publishers of newspapers of the United States here, and those who are engaged in supplying the advertising wants in a manner the greatest possible profit for the lowest amount of money. More than thousand dollars' worth of goods are required regularly, and keep on the sale thirty days, which is located in the New York Times building, 41 Park Row, and we are informed that their

An Incident of 1857 in Utah—White "Indians."

A CORRESPONDENT writes to the New York Herald as follows:

The revival of interest in the Mountain Meadow massacre recalls a curious incident in which I became involved about that time. The particulars of which were only published by three persons—including myself.

It was in the summer of the same year, 1857, that a party of emigrants from Missouri penetrated the Territory of Utah, on their way to California. The company numbered precisely fifty persons, among whom were eighteen men, the rest being women and children. They were amply provided with baggage-wagons, oxen and horses, and, in the aggregate, possessed considerable property. They were encountering the Indian country without the loss of any of their number, and with no serious disturbance of their baggage. It was my fortune to be one of the leaders in that enterprise, and my wife and children were with me.

When we had gone some hundreds of miles into Utah we were approached by a broad-brimmed character known as "Bill Leggett"—a grizzly, shaggy fellow who galloped over from a neighboring camp upon a little mustang, never halting until the animal almost ran over us. The Leggett was a curious compound of the desperado, miner and scout; a man capable of the most atrocious deeds, and yet at times showing feelings as tender as a woman's. As he dismounted at our door and looked around he paid no attention to the numerous salutations he received, but, broken up sharply, wanted to know "Where the divil was the leader of this persession?" Several pointed to me and he looked down from his horse, carefully scanning me from head to foot.

"So you're the lead-er of this funeral, are you?" he asked, with a style decidedly peculiar to himself, and which I acknowledged I expected to hear some characteristic slip up on my appearance, but the old borderer was disposed to be gracious that day. "Yis, you look a pretty decent sort of a chap, and I've got something to say to you—so, if you're a mind, just walk out here beyond earshot and we'll confer."

We went off together Leggett, swinging one of his immense legs over the saddle of his mustang, stepped down to the ground, and, hooking with his back against the horse, nodded me keenly in the eye and asked me:

"How many men have you got?"

"Eighteen."

"All armed, be they?"

"All armed and ready to defend the company at any time. They've learned something of Indian ways while crossing the plains."

"They have eh! Wal, they've got to learn a thundering sight more afore they reach California. Do you know that the way dockens will be to pay afore you can strike the Sierra Nevada?"

I replied that we apprehension in no usual danger, and asked him to be more explicit. He seemed to hear a peculiar reluctance to explain the particulars of some important knowledge that he had gained while that day in camp, and said that he was in the neighborhood of Salt Lake City when he learned that we had passed on, and he found out too that an Indian plan was arranging for destroying our entire party before we reached that city, resolving to communicate what he had learned, but he finally ventured the opinion that if we were attacked at all we would be at a place known as Murderer's Gulch. If we could get beyond that without disturbance, or if we should get a force considerable to repel any assault, we might consider all real danger passed. Having told me this much Leggett leaped into the saddle, galloped up the ridge and vanished.

The guide to our party was a "liar, who had crossed and recrossed the plains, but whose knowledge of the country was less thorough than we had a right to expect. He had had no astray several times, but when I came to speak of Murderer's Gulch he recognized the place at once and assured me that he had participated in the ceremony of its christening. He was one of a party of miners who encamped there a half-dozen years before, there being a round dozen of them, when they got into a fight which resulted in the death and dangerous wounding of eight of the number, most of whom were left upon the spot.

Murderer's Gulch, at least such I first found that day, was only five miles away, and it was now early in the afternoon, so that it could be easily reached before nightfall. So we set forward, and when we halted the sun was still an hour high. The gulch was simply a ravine, 100 feet wide, with sloping sides that were less than a dozen feet high. The beauty of the place was that the bottom was covered with the richest kind of grass, and in the centre was a spring of deliciously cool and clear water, so that it possessed every requisite for a camping site, with the single exception that in case of attack the advantage was with the scouring party. In view of the warning we had received from Leggett the question was discussed whether we barely halt here or pass further on. The grass continued along the bottom for several miles further, in fact this was the only spot where water could be obtained, and at every other place the banks were much higher.

We had seen Indians at a distance during the entire day, but we had exchanged words more than once with some of them horsemen. There could be no doubt, therefore, that we were in a very danger ous section of the country, and a careful review of the situation led us to adopt a rather novel defense, the success of which depended upon the darkness of the night.

Before dark three camp-fires were kindled and their smoke was clearly outlined against the sky. The items were unfinished under-grazing through short grass, while a number of us took paths to show ourselves on the slope so that there could be no doubt that the redskins were fully apprised of what we were doing.

This continued until some time after dark, the fires burning brightly, while the confusion and bustle were greater than usual. An hour after sunset the entire caravan, with the exception of four men, started silently up the gulch and never halted until they had reached the open prairie, fully a half-dozen miles away. When they set off they left behind them two large baggage-wagons and, as much of no fair use had his own horse.

There was every reason to believe that the Indians intended to attack us at this place, as Leggett had told us, and we adopted the not very original artifice in the hope of throwing them off the track. Favored by the darkness, we believed we could make them think the entire party was in camp, and by making a gallant show hold them at bay until the women and children, with their escort, would have time to get beyond their reach. After the departure of our friends we packed our camp-fires to smolder, for if there were no much light a keen-eyed Indian would be apt to detect the trick we were all supposing to play upon him. All this being arranged as carefully as possible, two of us stationed ourselves upon one side the ravine and left upon the other, no noise being tethered a short distance below us, where they could be reached at a moment's warning. All of us were lying flat in the grass near the top of the hill, so that we could peer into the gloom without the danger of being seen ourselves, and we were enabled to make better use of our ears than our eyes for by applying our ears to the ground we were sure to detect the approach of a horse, a matter how carefully he was guided. We had him upon the ground less than two hours when I heard the faint but distinct sound of a horse's hoofs, to which were instantly joined those of several others. I gave utterance to a low, soft, mournful whistle to apprise the others of what was coming, and the reples instantly came back. Within five minutes I caught the shadowy outlines of a horse, riding loose, then a second horse, and when approached within twenty-feet before I could make certain that he was a man upon his back. I took his best aim possible and fired. The horse shrieked and dashed away, but as he turned I saw the arms of his rider thrown up in the air. Almost at the same moment the crack of a rifle was heard upon the opposite side of the gulch, and instantaneously after the sound of a third gun directly up the ravine in the direction taken by the caravan. This last shot caused us some uneasiness, for it looked very much as if our ruse had been detected, though it just been our belief up to that moment that the women and children were all at no less than two miles away.

After these shots all remained quiet for an hour, when I began to give way to my drowsiness, and assuredly should have fallen asleep but for another report up the ravine, evidently from the same rifle we had heard before. Several times during the night we heard the sound at howls, evidently from several points, moving about, but we could see nothing of them, and no further shot was fired within our hearing during that watch. We remained on the alert until near morning, when we mounted our horses to ride away, certain that if the redskins found out how few we were they would make a rush for us, but when we came to be mustered our party mustering to communicate what he had learned, but he finally ventured the opinion that if the red-sk

[Continued from fifth page.]

On Mr. Dixon go back and show from the criminal records of the County of Mackinac, a continuation of these statements? Can he, or anybody else, by an examination of the records of crime in any of those counties where the Mormons have lived in Ohio, Missouri, Illinois, and Wisconsin show that it was any different in those places? Verily no. And we think that from criminality of the Mormons cant be established in this way, it cannot be in any other.

2d. In regard to the fishermen resisting the laws of the State, as to Township and County organization in—at that time, Emmet County—it is enough to say that previous to the Pine River assault, some seventy-five men, and regularly "banded himself as together to resist the enforcement of the law, and pledged mutually to support each other, in resisting the collection of taxes, the enforcement of the law against retailing intoxicating liquors, and the arrest of any of their number for any crime whatever, and in general, to have no law there. And in these undertakings they were countenanced the aid of the County of Mackinaw by a public meeting got up by the officials the proceedings of which you will find in the Detroit Free Press of May 30th."

The above is an extract from Mr. Strang's statement of the Pine River affair, published in the Rochester Democrat of August 27, 1850. A similar statement was made by him in the N. Y. Tribune of July 24 1850, and in the statement to which Mr. Dixon refers, which he afterwards found false and deceptive".

The remarks of the Tribune in regard to the statements of Mr. Strang's were that it was "ably written" and "makes out a strong case" and that "if it was not presently overthrown by clear evidence, the public in this quarter will incline to give a verdict in favor of the Beaver Island Mormons."

Suffice it to say that it has never been overthrown by clear evidence, nor has any one attempted it; not even Mr. Dixon, who "found it so false and deceptive". In corroboration of this, we also add that the above statement of Mr. Strang in the Rochester Democrat was made in answer to a correspondent of that paper, who wrote from Mackinaw July 20, 1850, to whom Mr. Strang's correspondence we find the following interesting passage:

"I was just now informed that the Pine River people are receiving aid in the shape of money, from northern gentlemen, and that they intend to return to-morrow (to Pine River) and "try fifths with them;" that is, the Morrisites."

It is very clear from the above evidence that there were measures taken to Mackinac to enable the Pine River men to visit the laws of the State, and there is very clear evidence that they did resist it.

In speaking of the hasty, conference, or picnic,—whatever Mr. Dixon pleases to call it—on Beaver Island, I overlooked mentioning the fact that Mr. Strang and some others with their wives and children were there, but thought of it only when it was too late to correct it; but this proves nothing. When the Mormons would travel 8, 10 and even 20 miles to hear him or Joseph Smith preach, the mystery of his presence is solved.

In Kirtland, Ohio, there has been a large settlement of Mormons made in 1830 and much money invested in lands and improvements, and a large building or temple has been erected; and they have never been molested or disturbed, to the best of that grace be it said.

Then, was also a large settlement in Walworth County Wisconsin, and they also have never been molested. To the honor of that State be it said also.

In all these different States, the requirements of their faith have been sufficiently active, except in the tenet of polygamy, which never became a practice till 1844, being years after the persecution in Missouri.

After their expulsion from Illinois in 1846, it was estimated that there was not less than five and one half or seventy six millions of dollars worth of property belonging to them in Illinois and Missouri for which they took then only the settled deeds by the highest authority in the United States, and many other legal evidences which they are not allowed to possess nor enjoy, and to which, "none shall restore." The highest law in the Universe requires that the return of stolen property shall be "four fold." The same law justifies a reasonable and just interest for its use or money? The amount stolen from us on Beaver Island and other Islands in that region thrown in would exactly swell the amount up to $50,000,000. It was with these facts before me I made the comparison between the train of loaded cars and a one horse wagon. (Even this comparison does prove injustice to the Mormons.) And Mr. Dixon's overwhelming argument against all this is, "unless one thin man "Justice" lives! Is he not a little hard on his gentile brethren? Isn't it wonder that there is any thing of rim left?" I have no complaint to make of my neighbors in this part of the world, and I don't think they have just complaint against me. If I thought they had, I would make it right. But I am not sure that in every place there is quite as good treatment for those who live Godly in Christ Jesus." And when I hear the foolish remark that "none sidays," or "in to these days as a rule the Gentiles do not persecute any one for his religious creed," I can only think that he who makes it knows but precious little about religion. The rule is one thing, and very well on paper, but the practice is another, and very different thing.

It is not hard at all to account for the erect on of a gallows at Pine Rivers and we think that we have been amply justified in some degree to mitigate the act of erecting it, especially as some of the men engaged in erecting it, were familiar with and passed through some of these scenes of robbery, rape, and murder mentioned years before, in which their lives and the lives of their brethren were jeopardized, and put in continual danger, and knew that the course of justice from the courts of the nation was dead, dumb, afraid in their behalf.

At this present time we will not go into minutia of this matter. The men above referred to were of hot, Southern Kentucky blood, and knowing the right was on their side, it was with difficulty some times that Mr. Strang could restrain them from which in itself would be rash to make but otherwise just and right, and being strictly according to the letter of the law, in this case, if I be rightly informed, he failed altogether, for I understand that he mildly remonstrated against the erection of that gallows but they took their own course.

They thought that he was sometimes too lenient, and too forbearing. This I know. Understand friend Editor, that I have not gone to all the trouble of hunting up evidence, and writing as lengthy as a article as this, with any hope of convincing John G. Dixon of his error. So far as he is concerned, that would be labor lost. I suppose the he has no faith in the scriptures, but has no credulity to make anything after all; for he seems to be able to believe any impossible thing if it only suits the against the Mormons. He hasn't the most distant conception, as to what constitutes any one to go on to or continue in a Mormon settlement unless to spend his time, and watch for chances to defer from a few God-forsaken fishermen. And from his manner of speaking of Mormonism, "the thinks can be tolerated in this country." As it would seem as though he thought Mormonism is at the bottom of all the sins in the universe and confident of but little sin than the shrewd tactics of a set of pirates thieves and robbers.

If Mr Dixon does not feel pleased at our "rushing into print," the best way to prevent it is for him and others to cease bearing false witness against us. We are just to every reasonable and just man, whether we have not already proved what has been alleged in the start, "that it has been the Gentile trait that has cursed the Mormons, and not any to his sin the latter," said, as the unjust judge in the fable, "that since the case I will examine the matter, and if, and if," spite of the outcry of theft, conversation, etc.

Whenever anyone among the Mormons is cast out among the Gentiles, for his conduct the same story can be told him out. I have seen and read of more than one individual of that kind being cut off from that body, and cast out for his conduct, and who has thought foolishly enough to ride high in place and estimation among the Gentiles by accusing the Mormons; but I cast, and to mean a single instance wherein any one has ever screamed to go thing among them. Many of them have been humiliated by disappointment, and by being turned and begged readmission into the Mormon society. Some of these have been re cast out, and a few re-admitted. It is thought that one of persons, that the prosecution of the Mormons have been often precipitated and unconsulted.

Among these stand out pre-minently the renowned John C. Bennett, of Nauvoo, George J. Adams, and Dr. McCulloch, of Beaver Island.

In conclusion let me say, that the Strang ite Mormons are not considered with, and are in no way responsible for any acts committed by Brigham Young from 1844 till the present time. A very great body of the Mormons throughout the United States and Europe look upon Brigham Young and a few of his co-laborers as a cunning, crafty set of knaves and villains. Brigham Young, especially, they look upon with utter detestation. This contempt is not the effect of unfounded prejudice, but that of well-defined, just and sound principles and reasons, which the Gentile world knows but little or nothing about. We say to the people of this region, investigate Mormonism, and "judge ye a righteous judgement." If the Mountain Meadow massacre is established against Brigham Young, it is a crime that no one fairly believe him capable of, knowing his past acts. Still, there have been so many things said against the Mormons in the past, which on knew, and have proved to be false, we have been unwilling to give full credence to the alleged massacre as a crime perpetrated by them. Still, let the truth come out and justice be done. Truly yours,

WILFRIED WATSON.

[Pardon.]

Revue, August 16, 1875.

Letters from Druggists.

There is no case of Dyspepsia that Given's August Flower will not cure. Come to the Drug Store of G. W. Certain, and inquire about it. If you suffer from Costiveness Sick Headache, Sour Stomach, Indigestion Liver Complaint, or derangement of the Stomach or Liver try it. Two or three doses will restore you.

Boschee's German Syrup is now sold in every town and city in the United States, W. Tarr and Hall Bros. five hundred bottles from druggists, saying it is the best medicine they ever sold for consumption. Throat or Lung disease. Sample bottles of both for 10 cents. Regular size 75 cents.

Twenty Men

Can get work at good prices by calling immediately on

T. W. NICHOLS,
At the head of Pine Lake.

Charlevoix, August 2, 1875.

FARM FOR SALE.

The subscriber offers for sale his farm in South Arm Township in this county, containing 80 acres, thirty acres cleared and five acres fallow; short, convenient drive and new with; orchard of 80 apple trees, and forty more set upon trees. Well fenced; frame house, well painted and plastered outside; log barn, etc. Price, $800—which is half the cost of the improvements.

CHAS. H. HEALEY.

July 18, 1875. Advance, 8tch.

Boyne Falls House,

Boyne Falls, Mich.

Is close proximity to Depot. Good accommodations for guests.

July] WM. NELSON, Prop.

RAILROAD

Carpenter & Handy

BOYNE FALLS, M.

Dealers in

DRY GOODS,

Groceries,

Provisions,

Hardware,

Crockery.

And in fact every article needed by the people of the country.

OUR GOODS AND PRICES

Speak for Themselves.

We have first class facilities for buying for cash, and customers can always find here just whatever want.

Call and See Us.

May 22, 1875. 41y

FOR SALE.

The undersigned offers his farm situated in Charlevoix County, for sale on reasonable terms and on long time

FARMS:

The same is heavily timbered, mostly, hard wood, pine and cedar, and each lot is surrounded by settlers.

145 Acres—One mile, one mile from Charlevoix, Section 2 and 10 south line, Township 33 north, Range 7 west. Price, $1,500.

121 Acres, in one from Charlevoix by road, Section 2 and 10 south line, Township 33 north, Range 7 west. Price, $1,500.

39 Acres—Section from Charlevoix two and one-half miles. Price, good.

175 Acres three miles from Charlevoix, Section 2 and 10 south line, Township 33 north, Range 7 west. Price, $1,500.

2254 Acres—Section 2 and 10 south line, Township 33 north, Range 7 west. Price, $1,500.

160 Acres—Section from Charlevoix on the road, Section 2 and 10 south line, Township 33 north, Range 7 west. Price, $1,500.

167 Acres—Section from Charlevoix, Section 2 and 10 south line, Township 33 north, Range 7 west. Price, $1,500.

80 Acres—Section from Charlevoix, Section 2 and 10 south line, Township 33 north, Range 7 west. Price, $1,500.

120 Acres—Section from Charlevoix on the road, Section 2 and 10 south line, Township 33 north, Range 7 west. Price, $1,500.

A saw mill can be found on section. All the lumber and timber is situated on the land.

For further particulars apply to

H. L. CHAPMAN,
Charlevoix, Mich.

1875. 1875.

Spring and Summer

Fox, Rose & Buttars.

PETOSKEY.

Headquarters to Buy

DRY GOODS,

GROCERIES & PROVISION.

BOOTS and SHOES.

TIN and HARDWARE.

STOVES, STOVEPIPE

CROCKERY & GLASSWARE.

TRUNKS, Traveling Bags

FURNITURE

We always keep good goods and sell at one Cash Prices. Strangers arriving in town soon find their way to our store; people living with us know how the themselves

Largest Stock! Lowest Prices

Careful Attention to Orders.

Fox, Rose & Buttars

G.B. MILLS,

DEALER IN

Gen'l Merchandise,

Boyne Falls, Mich.

Location adjacent to railroad, and cheerful attention is paid to the wants of customers.

Cash Paid for Country Produce

People in the country of the railroad and the head of Pine Lake can soon make it for us or ourselves to call and examine our stock and prices.

May 21, 1875. 41y

REAL ESTATE AGENCY

H. L. MILLER,

CHARLEVOIX, MICH.

Transfers made, nonresident taxes paid and all real estate business attended to promptly and on reasonable terms.

The following descriptions are offered for sale at special rates:

EMMET COUNTY.

E. half S. E. ¼ section 26, T. 37 N., R. 6 west. Containing 80 acres.

N. ½ of S. W. ¼ section 27 N., R. 6 W.

N. ½ of S. W. ¼ section 30 Town 37 N., R. 6 W. Timber, maple and beech, elm, hemlock basswood and ash.

CHARLEVOIX COUNTY.

The old Brady Farm, at Bansard P. O., on Lake Shore Road, 1 mile from Charlevoix. S. half sec. 1, town 31 N. R. 8 west, 80 acres, 40 acres improved; 90 fruit trees bearing; 12 acres in meadow; good double log house, barn, good well, and other conveniences. All in cultivated with a first-rate fence. For terms address the subscriber, or at Newville, Charlevoix.

John Bell's farm, in Norton Township, One good frame house, barn, good cellar; the full sum of for house. Some more in all, and a few of the same, at from $2 to $5 per acre. For the remainder, the land of other timber, maple, beech, elm, hemlock, cedar and thick, and good brook running through the land, and one living spring. Price, $1,500.

Also, 40 acres in Emmet County, two miles from Charlevoix, on the road. Price, $400.

1875. 41y

J. E. Greilick & Co.,

TRAVERSE CITY, MICH.,

Manufacturers of and Dealers in

Sash & Doors,

BLIND MOULDINGS, BRACKETS,

STORE FRONTS

Sash, Blinds, Mouldings and Scroll Work kept constantly on hand and orders for same attended to promptly.

SEASONED

Clear Lumber, Dressed Flooring, Ceiling, Siding and Joisting constantly on hand. Orders by mail or otherwise solicited.

Prices as Low as the Lowest.

Jan. 1, 1875. 1y

MEAT MARKET.

A. J. McLEOD,

Respectfully informs the public of Charlevoix and vicinity that he has established a Meat Market in Joseph the Charlevoix House, where he will furnish fresh meats at low rates. Cash paid for fat cattle and sheep.

FOUNTAIN CITY HOUSE.

Charlevoix, Michigan

RICHARD COOPER, Prop.

Has been re-built, enlarged, and arranged with a view to the comfort of the traveling public. Fine dining room to

Jordan and Boyne Rivers,

Iowhich abound myriads of Speckled Trout Bagnago nearest tree of charge.

BLACKSMITHING.

The subscriber would inform the citizens of South Arm and visitors that he has opened his shop at the head, where he is prepared to do all manner of work in his line.

Horse-Shoeing a Specialty.

Also repairing engines, cutting and repairing cross, axes and edge-tools. He defies competition.

WM. J. VOTE.

Jan. 1, 1875. 41y

ADVERTISING: Cheap! Should you have something to advertise, a postal card addressing contracts with newspapers for the insertion of advertisements, should cost 2 cents; to Geo. P. Rowell & Co., 41 Park Row, New York, for their PAMPHLET BOOK, containing accurate estimates, showing the cost. Advertisements taken for leading papers in many States at a tremendous reduction from publishers' rates. Get the book.

BOOTS AND SHOES.

Robert Holbon

A workman of experience, would respectfully announce to the citizens of Charlevoix and vicinity that he has located in this village and is prepared to do all kinds of

CUSTOM WORK

in his line on short notice and at low rates May be found opposite Dr. Lewis' Drug Store.

Charlevoix, June 17, 1874.

REAL ESTATE AGENCY

H. O. ROSE & CO.,

LAND

AND

Collection Agents,

Petoskey City, Mich.

Farms & Farming Lands

Bought and sold on commission.

CALL and SEE.

All kinds of Grain Taken at the Highest Cash Price, or Exchange for goods.

H. O. ROSE & CO.

South Arm, Dec. 10, 1874.

LAND FOR SALE.

The subscriber has for sale an immediate number of payments, on the following

LANDS

Situated in Charlevoix County, Mich. The land has been platted for better years, and for

FIRST-QUALITY

As regards soil and hardwood timber.

Town 33 North of Range 7 West.

W. ½ of sec. of section 24. 80
S. of sec. " 25. 80
Lots 1, 2 and 3 " " 34. 120
S. E. ¼ of " " 34. 160

Town 33 North of Range 7 West.

S. ½ of sec. of section 2. 80
W. ½ of sec. " 10. 80
S. ½ of sec. " 28. 80
S. ½ of sec. " 29. 80
Lots 1, 2 and 3 " " 30. 120
N. ½ of " " 31. 160

Town 32 North of Range 6 West.

S. W. ¼ of sec. of section 3. 160

Town 32 North of Range 5 West.

S. ½ of sec. of section 16. 320
S. ½ of sec. " 17. 320
W. ½ of sec. " 16. 320

The last three descriptions, containing 960 acres, are within one half mile of Boyne Falls Station, on the G. R. & I. R. R.

For prices, terms, etc., address

H. L. MILLER,
Charlevoix, Mich.

New Harness Shop.

The subscriber would respectfully inform the public that he has established a shop at Joseph and is now prepared to do work in his line promptly and at reasonable rates.

REPAIRING

A specialty. May be found at the old Horse stand, opposite Fox, Rose & Buttars' store.

CHESTER DENTON.

Charlevoix, August 8, 1874.

ANDREW O. D. MCCABE,

Charlevoix Michigan.

BOOT AND SHOE SHOP.

Custom work done promptly and in the latest style. Repairing done on short notice.

THE SENTINEL

ALSO

JOB PRINTING

DEPARTMENT

—IN—

COMPLETE

—AND—

PLAIN and COLORED WORK

Promptly and Neatly Done

Time = Money

Save It.

And Buy Your Goods at Home.

OLD FLETCH.

Would respectfully inform those in South Arm that he still holds within the Head July and most extensive assortment to be found in that town, bought cheaply in a fresh supply of goods for this and, selling at low prices for cash.

GEO. W. ENTERLY & CO.

HARD

and

SOFT

LUMBER

ALSO

Shingles

Lath

Cheese Box Stuff

Broom Handles

Etc.

LUMBER SAWED

TO ORDER

AND

BILLS FILLED

On short Notice

The Sentinel,

Published every Tuesday by

WILLARD A. SMITH

—EDITOR AND PROPRIETOR.—

OFFICE—Postoffice Building, On Bridge Street

Terms of Subscription:

$2.00 per Annum, In Advance.

$1.00 FOR SIX MONTHS.

JOB PRINTING executed in good style and at reasonable rates.

CHARLEVOIX SENTINEL.

Terms, $2.00 per Annum. } Devoted to the Interests of Charlevoix County. { Always in Advance.

Vol. VII. No. 17. CHARLEVOIX, MICH., AUGUST. 31, 1875. Whole No., 329

The Sentinel.

Advertising Rates:

Space.	1 w.	2 w.	3 w.	1 m.	2 m.	3 m.	6 m.	1 y.
One inch	$ 1.00	1.50	2.00	3.00	4.00	5.00	7.00	10.00
2 inches	1.25	1.75	2.50	4.00	5.00	6.00	8.00	12.00
3 "	1.75	2.25	3.00	5.00	6.00	7.00	9.00	15.00
4 "	2.25	3.00	3.50	6.00	7.00	8.00	10.00	18.00
4 columns	3.25	4.00	5.00	10.00	12.00	14.00	18.00	30.00

Column or fractional inches in proportion per year.

Legal advertisements at statute rates.

Is Speaking to Gentiles but he knows better. In the matter he is the very one who "knows how it is himself." The "experiment" previous that Hickie did not send our boat and Sterling's number 1 And the bold whole-fish Sanford, good from Strang's paper, the Northern Islander, that the we were so convinced that the lumber which Mrs. Dixon and Mrs. the Gentile word know but little or nothing about." Well, I had supposed that I had some adequate notion of Mormonism, when I said in my former paper that in this county every one is permitted to believe anything even Mormonism; but if your conception of it is correct, the strict glance of Pasdimonism itself can hardly be blacker or more hideous. Without you can "step down and out." We have no more questions to put to you. Your special pleading about Strang its Mormons, being so superior to Brig, hamites is entirely too thin. As we to entitles understand it, both parties claim, in behalf of their respective chiefs, the true succession from Joseph Smith. And the Mormons themselves being judges, they have decided one hundred to one in favor of Brigham Young. As to the merits of this controversy, we know little and care less.

Having, Mr. Editor, shown your readers something of the "true inwardness" of Mormonism, and in doing this, having made my case, all the stronger by the one of unwilling witnesses, we come to the second reason for our belief that Smoot Mormons usually become weak kneed in the Mormon faith, to-wit: The practice of the Mormons on Beaver Island and at Pine River, and probably at other places, certainly corresponded to their principles and their spirit.

They showed their disregard to our laws and government, by openly and notoriously violating our marriage laws;—by so administering our tax laws that no Gentile could continue to live for any length of time under their administration of them, in township and county organizations —and finally by confronting and wantonly besieging our property. As to the first item, let a few recollections suffice. There were on Beaver Island, near the close of King Strang's dominion there, five living wives of Mrs. James J. Strang, or Mrs. Mary Strang, Mrs. Rivia Strang, (alias Charley Douglas.) Mrs. Betsey Strang, Mrs. Phoebe (Wright) Strang, and Mrs. Delia (Wright) Strang. At Pine River, Galen B. Cole, Nichols, and Hickie, had two wives each.

In connection with their local administration of the laws, I can from my own knowledge upon the causes which led to the Pine River fight. When we came here, Mr. Cole claimed that in 1853 he was a resident of Fox Island, and elected Supervisor of the Township of Charlevoix (which then embraced Fox Islands) and when he tried to assess the property of the Pine River fishermen, they refused to acknowledge his authority, and treated him so roughly that he reported the case to headquarters, and informed Strang that "no legal process could be executed here without sending a posse-comitatus to protect the officer." And, accordingly, when it became necessary to summon Wm. Savage, (a renegade Mormon) and one or two others, to serve as jurymen on Beaver Island, Sheriff Pierce employed Jonathan Pierce, (who had been acting for some months as Captain of a piratical boat, and engaged in confiscating fish nets and other Gentile property on Lake Michigan,) and his gang of fellow-pirates to assist him. The fishermen perfectly understood that the duty process was simply a pretext to get possession of the men Savage, Lobdell and Mosier. They accordingly resisted the Sheriff and his men, and drove them back toward Beaver Island, firing into their boat and severely wounding several of them. There are at least two men now living in the township of Marion, in this county, who were engaged in this pursuit of the Mormons, and who can more particularly explain how Strang's New York Tribune statement was false and deceptive.

It may help to a true understanding of why the fishermen were unwilling to submit to a Mormon assessment of their property, to state that the Mormons tax upon our own wild land—$12 acres— was in one year—1854—$135; and that this tax, as the township clerk informed me, was in part a school house tax, for building a school house on Fox Island! This was only one instance among many, of their spoiling the Gentiles, under color of law!

That they conserved Gentile property, is as notorious and undeniable as that polygamy was said is one of their established institutions. Whoso denies this, when he others attended that innocent and quiet "picnic" on Holy Island." Surely you don't really know of any of Brigham's past acts that equalled in cold blooded atrocity that horrible butchery! You must have inferred that he was capable of it from what you know of those parts of the Mormon system which are, as you intimate, hid from the Gentile view, which the Gentile would know but little or nothing about." Well, I had supposed that I had some adequate notion of Mormonism, when I said in my former paper that in this country every one is permitted to believe anything even Mormonism; but if your conception of it is correct, the strict glance of Pasdimonism itself can hardly be blacker or more hideous. Without you can "step down and out." We have no more questions to put to you. Your special pleading about Strang its Mormons, being so superior to Brig, hamites is entirely too thin. As we to entitles understand it, both parties claim, in behalf of their respective chiefs, the true succession from Joseph Smith. And the Mormons themselves being judges, they have decided one hundred to one in favor of Brigham Young. As to the merits of this controversy, we know little and care less.

Having, Mr. Editor, shown your readers something of the "true inwardness" of Mormonism, and in doing this, having made my case, all the stronger by the one of unwilling witnesses, we come to the second reason for our belief that Smoot Mormons usually become weak kneed in the Mormon faith, to-wit: The practice of the Mormons on Beaver Island and at Pine River, and probably at other places, certainly corresponded to their principles and their spirit.

They showed their disregard to our laws and government, by openly and notoriously violating our marriage laws;—by so administering our tax laws that no Gentile could continue to live for any length of time under their administration of them, in township and county organizations —and finally by confronting and wantonly besieging our property. As to the first item, let a few recollections suffice. There were on Beaver Island, near the close of King Strang's dominion there, five living wives of Mrs. James J. Strang, or Mrs. Mary Strang, Mrs. Rivia Strang, (alias Charley Douglas.) Mrs. Betsey Strang, Mrs. Phoebe (Wright) Strang, and Mrs. Delia (Wright) Strang. At Pine River, Galen B. Cole, Nichols, and Hickie, had two wives each.

In connection with their local administration of the laws, I can from my own knowledge upon the causes which led to the Pine River fight. When we came here, Mr. Cole claimed that in 1853 he was a resident of Fox Island, and elected Supervisor of the Township of Charlevoix (which then embraced Fox Islands) and when he tried to assess the property of the Pine River fishermen, they refused to acknowledge his authority, and treated him so roughly that he reported the case to headquarters, and informed Strang that "no legal process could be executed here without sending a posse-comitatus to protect the officer." And, accordingly, when it became necessary to summon Wm. Savage, (a renegade Mormon) and one or two others, to serve as jurymen on Beaver Island, Sheriff Pierce employed Jonathan Pierce, (who had been acting for some months as Captain of a piratical boat, and engaged in confiscating fish nets and other Gentile property on Lake Michigan,) and his gang of fellow-pirates to assist him. The fishermen perfectly understood that the duty process was simply a pretext to get possession of the men Savage, Lobdell and Mosier. They accordingly resisted the Sheriff and his men, and drove them back toward Beaver Island, firing into their boat and severely wounding several of them. There are at least two men now living in the township of Marion, in this county, who were engaged in this pursuit of the Mormons, and who can more particularly explain how Strang's New York Tribune statement was false and deceptive.

It may help to a true understanding of why the fishermen were unwilling to submit to a Mormon assessment of their property, to state that the Mormons tax upon our own wild land—$12 acres— was in one year—1854—$135; and that this tax, as the township clerk informed me, was in part a school house tax, for building a school house on Fox Island! This was only one instance among many, of their spoiling the Gentiles, under color of law!

That they conserved Gentile property, is as notorious and undeniable as that polygamy was said is one of their established institutions. Whoso denies this, when he is Speaking to Gentiles but he knows better. In the matter he is the very one who "knows how it is himself." The "experiment" previous that Hickie did not send our boat and Sterling's number 1 And the bold whole-fish Sanford, good from Strang's paper, the Northern Islander, that the we were so convinced that the lumber which Mrs. Dixon and Mrs. the Gentile word know but little or nothing about." Well, I had supposed that I had some adequate notion of Mormonism, when I said in my former paper that in this country every one is permitted to believe anything even Mormonism; but if your conception of it is correct, the strict glance of Pasdimonism itself can hardly be blacker or more hideous. Without you can "step down and out." We have no more questions to put to you. Your special pleading about Strang its Mormons, being so superior to Brig, hamites is entirely too thin. As we to entitles understand it, both parties claim, in behalf of their respective chiefs, the true succession from Joseph Smith. And the Mormons themselves being judges, they have decided one hundred to one in favor of Brigham Young. As to the merits of this controversy, we know little and care less.

Having, Mr. Editor, shown your readers something of the "true inwardness" of Mormonism, and in doing this, having made my case, all the stronger by the one of unwilling witnesses, we come to the second reason for our belief that Smoot Mormons usually become weak kneed in the Mormon faith, to-wit: The practice of the Mormons on Beaver Island and at Pine River, and probably at other places, certainly corresponded to their principles and their spirit.

They showed their disregard to our laws and government, by openly and notoriously violating our marriage laws;—by so administering our tax laws that no Gentile could continue to live for any length of time under their administration of them, in township and county organizations —and finally by confronting and wantonly besieging our property. As to the first item, let a few recollections suffice. There were on Beaver Island, near the close of King Strang's dominion there, five living wives of Mrs. James J. Strang, or Mrs. Mary Strang, Mrs. Rivia Strang, (alias Charley Douglas.) Mrs. Betsey Strang, Mrs. Phoebe (Wright) Strang, and Mrs. Delia (Wright) Strang. At Pine River, Galen B. Cole, Nichols, and Hickie, had two wives each.

In connection with their local administration of the laws, I can from my own knowledge upon the causes which led to the Pine River fight. When we came here, Mr. Cole claimed that in 1853 he was a resident of Fox Island, and elected Supervisor of the Township of Charlevoix (which then embraced Fox Islands) and when he tried to assess the property of the Pine River fishermen, they refused to acknowledge his authority, and treated him so roughly that he reported the case to headquarters, and informed Strang that "no legal process could be executed here without sending a posse-comitatus to protect the officer." And, accordingly, when it became necessary to summon Wm. Savage, (a renegade Mormon) and one or two others, to serve as jurymen on Beaver Island, Sheriff Pierce employed Jonathan Pierce, (who had been acting for some months as Captain of a piratical boat, and engaged in confiscating fish nets and other Gentile property on Lake Michigan,) and his gang of fellow-pirates to assist him. The fishermen perfectly understood that the duty process was simply a pretext to get possession of the men Savage, Lobdell and Mosier. They accordingly resisted the Sheriff and his men, and drove them back toward Beaver Island, firing into their boat and severely wounding several of them. There are at least two men now living in the township of Marion, in this county, who were engaged in this pursuit of the Mormons, and who can more particularly explain how Strang's New York Tribune statement was false and deceptive.

It may help to a true understanding of why the fishermen were unwilling to submit to a Mormon assessment of their property, to state that the Mormons tax upon our own wild land—$12 acres— was in one year—1854—$135; and that this tax, as the township clerk informed me, was in part a school house tax, for building a school house on Fox Island! This was only one instance among many, of their spoiling the Gentiles, under color of law!

That they conserved Gentile property, is as notorious and undeniable as that polygamy was said is one of their established institutions. Whoso denies this, when he

JUDGE OF PROBATE NOTICE.

STATE OF MICHIGAN, County of Charlevoix, ss. In the matter of the Estate of Orin Campbell, deceased. The undersigned, Judge of Probate of Charlevoix County, having full power to adjust and settle all claims and demands against the estate of the said Orin Campbell and six months from the second day of August, A. D. 1875, having been allowed to the creditors of said Estate to present their claims to the undersigned for examination and allowance, notice is hereby given that at a session of the Probate Court to be holden on Monday, the 6th day of September, A. D. 1875, and on Monday, the 7th day of February, A. D. 1876, at the office of the Judge of Probate, in the village of Charlevoix, for the purpose of examining and adjusting said claims.

Dated, Charlevoix, Aug. 2, 1875.

WM. HARRIS,
Judge of Probate.

A FACT!

That people have an object in going away from home to trade when they can get just what they want

JUST AS CHEAP

AT HOME!

We propose to keep just what the people want, and sell at bottom prices. Come and see us.

HEAD OF

SOUTH ARM

Our stock embraces general merchandise of all kinds. Give us a call.

COLE & ISAMAN.

South Arm Aug. 10, 1875.

Fish!

Fresh fish, salt fish, pickled fish, smoked fish—all the finest kind of fish, and in any quantity, can be furnished by

"TIP" MILLER

Formerly of Beaver Island. Hotels or private families furnished with fresh fish on short notice.

Charlevoix, Aug 10, 1875.

THE BOSS

Grocery Store.

—AND—

BYRON SEE

Call the attention of the people of this vicinity to the important fact that

GROCERIES

Cannot be bought cheaper in the Grand Traverse region than at his store in Charlevoix.

Also Dry Goods

As cheap as the cheapest.

Come and See!

Charlevoix, August 1, 1875.

L A W

—AND—

Real Estate Office

—OF—

Edw. H. Green,

Charlevoix Mich.

—

Improved Farms

AND

Wild Lands

Bought and sold on commission.

Taxes Paid and Non-Resident Lands Cared For.

—

Collections a Specialty,

Titles Investigated, & Abstracts of Titles Furnished.

—

First thousand acres of the choicest Farming Lands in Charlevoix, Emmet and Antrim counties for sale at very LOW PRICES. Most of these lands are situated near the South Arm, Intermediate and Pine Lakes—and are included in school districts, and situated on good roads.

For terms and descriptions apply to, or address

E. H. GREEN,
Real Estate Agent,
Charlevoix, Mich.

1 6 1y.

JUST AS CHEAP

AT HOME!

We propose to keep just what the people want, and sell at bottom prices. Come and see us.

HEAD OF

SOUTH ARM

Our stock embraces general merchandise of all kinds. Give us a call.

COLE & ISAMAN.

South Arm Aug. 10, 1875.

THE SENTINEL.

WILLARD A. SMITH, EDITOR.

Charlevoix Postoffice.

MAILS—Mails arrive on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays at 11 a. m., and depart at 12 m. daily.

NORTH—Mails arrive daily, at 12 M., depart at 1 P. M.

SOUTH ARM mail leaves at 7 a. m. on Tuesdays and Saturdays; arrive at 6 p. m. of the same days.

W. A. SMITH P. M.

Church Directory.

PRESBYTERIAN—Rev. G. W. Moore, Pastor.

METHODIST—Rev. G. L. Cole Pastor.

Services of both denominations held in accordance with weekly announcements made in the columns of this paper.

Sabbath school at 10 o'clock a. m.

Prayer Meetings every Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock.

Local News.

ALPENA has a rifle team.

PETOSKEY has its houses numbered; Ha! ha! ha! ho! ho! ho!

GREEN APPLES at Carpenter & Barthoolomew's.

CAPT MOSS, gave his family an excursion to Mackinac on the steamer Monitor yesterday.

DEBARTE.—At the recent meeting of the trustees of the M. E. Society of Charlevoix, A. Buttars, Esq., was elected a lay delegate to the Michigan Conference.

OUR Correspondent, "Neptune," at Torch Lake, writes us the 26th, "The Schooner W. A. Smith, came into this port to-day with merchandise for J. H. Silkman.

PERSONAL.—Henry A. Chaney of Detroit, has been in town for the past few days. He is looking up the old Mormon history, and will write it up for the Detroit Tribune.

—Rev. J. M. Whitney, formerly of Charlevoix, but now of Glen Arbor, was in town Friday.

CLOSED.—After this issue we shall close our columns against the admission of any further contributions on the Mormon question. Each disputant in the present controversy has had two chances to offer on the subject, and we shall act on the supposition that our readers have had enough of it.

FISHING.—Hon. A. B. Turner, P. M. J. H. Lyon, of Sweet's Hotel, and S. N. Goodsell, all of Grand Rapids, have been up the Jordan fishing. Friend Turner looks as unmistakable and unbroken as ever. A smile is scarcely ever seen upon so emaciated countenance. Too bad.

ANNUAL SCHOOL MEETING.—Our readers throughout the county will remember that the Annual School Meeting occurs on the first Monday in September—that day. Let the citizens of the school district attend our meeting, and vote a sum of money sufficient to adorn and fence our school grounds in a proper manner.

A fresh stock of clothing at popular prices at Fox, Rose, & Buttars.

"LATTER-DAY SAINTS."

Mr. Dixon Tries in His Own Way to Repair the Breaches Made by the Mormon Bombshell.

EMMET COUNTY, MICH.

Having undertaken, at your request, to make some reply to the suggestions of Mr. Watson, in your last issue, I desire, first, to express our hearty concurrence in your editorial statement that "individual departures from rectitude should not call condemnation upon the heads of all others of the same faith." I have reason to believe, and do believe, that there were living on Beaver Island, some as industrious, well disposed people as live anywhere, of whatever faith. Indeed, I believe that the acts of depredation upon Gentile rights committed by the Mormon leaders, were as morrowfully regretted, if not as tidily, by the Gentile sufferers themselves. But from what I know of the Mormon system, as taught my Strang, and as practiced by him and his "co-leaders," I must believe that that honest class were weak in the Mormon faith, or, as brother Watson puts it, "weak kneed."

I propose to set before the readers of the SENTINEL some of the reasons why I hold this charitable belief in regard to this class of persons, who had been duped and misled, by the Mormon propagandists into an acceptance of the Mormon system, before they had had an opportunity to know what it involved.

If, in doing this, I succeed in showing up some of its true features, and opening to the light of day some of its secret workings, Mr. Watson will need to thank himself for the exposure. He has challenged the people of this county to "investigate Mormonism," and to "judge righteous judgement." Very well, that is just what we propose to do. We will call Mormonism to the bar. But if their brother Watson declines the other horn of the dilemma, he is welcome to that.

I propose to insure that Mormonism, as taught and practiced on Beaver Island, and probably at Salt Lake, is in deadly hostility to our Government, our laws, and the civilization of the present age. Isaac Pierce, one of Strang's coadjutors, told me that Strang's was the only valid Government on earth—that the State Legislatures were selfish, and ignorant of the people's wants—that God only knew what was best for the people, and Strang knew, because God told him," adding that every other pretended legal authority "was a usurpation." I quote his exact idea, in nearly his own words.

I heard Galen B. Cole, in a public discourse, attempt to prove from the Bible that all Gentile nations, including our own, were under the curse of God, and doomed to utter ruin and annihilation. James Young, a Mormon resident here, said to me, "We expect to take and destroy cities." In reply to my remark that they could not do such things without fighting, he said: "We expect to fight, and some of us will get killed." Cole, who was the preacher and leader of the Pine River band, said in my presence, he "

THE SENTINEL.
WILLARD A. SMITH, Editor and Proprietor.
CHARLEVOIX, - MICHIGAN.

THE NEWS.

THE Hermion monument was unveiled at Berlin on the 16th in the presence of the Emperor and an immense concourse of people.

PRINCE CHARLES THEODORE, the great-uncle of the King of Bavaria, fell from his horse at Naples, Italy, on the 16th and was instantly killed.

THE Austrian Government has notified Turkey that the sum levied upon more energetic measures for the suppression of the insurrection in Herzegovina. The town of Metakia and Fort Gavanska were reported on the 16th to have been captured by the insurgents.

IT was announced on the 19th that the broken Freedman's Bank at Washington would probably pay 20 per cent. of its liabilities.

THE President was present at the National Sunday School Convention at Fairpoint, N. Y., on the 15th.

EDWIN BOOTH, the tragedian, was seriously injured by being thrown from his carriage at Oswego, Conn., on the 16th.

The Chicago Inter-Ocean of the 14th published crop reports from a large portion of the Northwestern States and Territories. Dakota, from which it appears that the wheat average is 65 per cent., oats 70 per cent., and corn 91 per cent. Rye and barley show a diminished yield. The potato crop is represented as excellent.

THE Rockford, Rock Island & St. Louis railroad was sold at auction in Chicago on the 16th, by order of the United States Circuit Court, under a foreclosure of a mortgage. It was bid off by a representative of the German bondholders for $1,320,000, of which $280,000 was in cash.

THE Directors of the Winnebago County Agricultural Society on the 16th voted—five to four—to retain the action of the Secretary in inviting Jefferson Davis to deliver the annual address in September. Mr. Davis subsequently sent a telegram saying that unforeseen events had made it impossible for him to attend the fair.

THE official returns of the Kentucky State election show a majority of 26,126 for McCreery. The House stands ninety Democrats to ten Republicans.

ACCORDING to a Madrid dispatch of the 17th a body of 6,000 Carlists had on that day made an unsuccessful attempt to retake Seo de Urgel.

THE subscription raised in Germany to indemnify Prussian priests for the wilful drowning of the Ems guard amounts to only $250,000—less than half the sum withdrawn.

A DISPATCH to the London News of the 18th says the Bosnian insurrection is spreading. The towns of Berbir, Dolgicco and Kosmitcha had been burned and many prominent Turks slaughtered.

THE Democratic State Convention of Massachusetts will meet at Worcester Sept. 22.

DUNCAN, SHERMAN & Co. have issued a circular to their creditors proposing to pay thirty-three and a third cents on the dollar in full settlement of the indebtedness of the firm.

HON. D. M. KEY, of Chattanooga, has been appointed by the Governor of Tennessee to fill the vacancy in the United States Senate caused by the death of Andrew Johnson.

THE Republican Convention of the First Mississippi Congressional District met on the 18th, and split, one wing nominating G. Wiley Wells and the other A. P. Huse for Congress—the latter receiving a majority of the colored votes.

ACCORDING to a Madrid telegram of the 19th a royal brigade had routed the Carlist Gen. Borrgegary while endeavoring to pass from the Aragon and forced him to retreat with his command into the mountains near Catalonia.

A BERLIN telegram of the 19th says Austria has offered to intervene for the pacification of the Herzegovinians, upon the basis of reform in the administration of the Christian provinces of Turkey, but that the Porte had refused the offer.

PROF. JENNEY, in a letter to the Indian Bureau, dated Black Hills, July 31, says that in the valleys of Spring and Rapid Creeks the gravel bars contain gold in quantities sufficient to yield fair remuneration for labor unassisted by any knowledge of appliad, assisted by proper tools and machinery and appliances.

THE citizens of Augusta, Ga., have been considerably excited of late over an alleged conspiracy on the part of the colored population in Burke, Jefferson and Washington Counties to massacre the whites. Several arrests have been made and it is said that some of those arrested have confessed the conspiracy.

THE body of young Grimwood reached Chicago on the 19th, where it was received by Grand Army of the Republic and conveyed to Bristol, Ill., for final interment. The watch found on Mr. Grimwood's person was stopped at 11:20 o'clock, thus indicating that the plunge into the water must have occurred at that moment, which was probably about the time the arrogants were sentenced to the fiercest part of the storm. Mr. Wood, of the Chicago Journal, who superintended the transportation of Mr. Grimwood's remains, seated on the 19th that traces of the balloon—consisting of sandbags and pieces of the clothes which the airship was constructed—had been found about eight miles south of where the drowned man came to land.

THE Woman's National Christian Temperance Union will hold its second annual meeting at Cincinnati on the 17th, 18th and 19th of next November.

THE troubles in Williamson, Jackson and Franklin counties, Ill., were considered up to the 19th. Recently J. H. Matthew, a well-known Franklin County farmer, was notified that the Ku Klux proposed to make him a disobedillary visit on a certain evening. The Sheriff was notified and concerted to be present at the farmer's residence. The outlaws, being summoned to surrender, opened fire on the Sheriff's party. The latter returned and one of them was mortally wounded. The ring leaders were arrested and imprisoned.

THE MARKETS.

NEW YORK.

LIVE STOCK—Beef Cattle—$11 50@12 75. Hogs—Live, $7 50@8 00.

BREADSTUFFS—Flour—Good to choice, $6 70@8 20; white Lake, $6 90@7 50. Wheat—No. 2 Chicago, $1 06@1 31; No. 2 Northwestern, $1 08@1 32; No. 2 Milwaukee, $1 08@1 32; Ungraded Red, $1 00@1 30; Ungraded White, $1 10@1 30. Corn—Mixed Western, 78@82c. Oats—Western Mixed, 56@61c. Provisions—Pork—Mess, $21 50@23 15. Lard—Steam, 13@13½c. Whisky—Distillers' Stock, 90@96c.

LIVE STOCK—Steers—Choice, $6 90@7 25; good, $6 75@6 90; fair, $6 25@6 50; medium to fair stock, $5 75@6 00; stock-cattle, $3 75@5 75. Hogs—Live, $7 00@7 90. Sheep—Fair to choice, $4 75@5 50.

BREADSTUFFS—Butter—Choice, 26@28c. Eggs—Fresh, 18@19c. Flour—White Winter Extra, $6 90@7 75; spring extra, $5 50@6 50. Wheat—Spring, No. 2, $1 20@1 20½. Corn—No. 2 Mixed, 67c. Oats—No. 2, 42½c. Rye—No. 2, 76@77c. Barley—No. 2, $1 03@1 06.

LUMBER—First Clear, $45 00@48 00; Second Clear, $40 00@42 00; Common Boards, $19 00@ 21 00; Fencing, $16 00@18 00; "A" Shingles, $2 50@2 75; Lath, $1 75@2 00.

CINCINNATI.

BREADSTUFFS—Flour—$7 00@7 25. Wheat—No. 2 Red, $1 15@1 15½. Corn—No. 2 Mixed, 66@66c. Oats—No. 2 Mixed, 42@42½c. Rye—No. 1, 75@76c. Barley—No. 1, $1 00@1 10.

ST. LOUIS.

LIVE STOCK—Beeves—Good to choice, $6 10@ 6 60. Hogs—Choice Packing and Shipping, $7 50@7 75.

BREADSTUFFS—Flour—XX Fall, $5 75@6 30. Wheat—No. 2 Red Fall, $1 07@1 08. Corn—No. 2, 46@46c. Oats—No. 2, 36@36½c. Rye—No. 2, 70@70c.

PROVISIONS—Pork—Mess, $21 25@21 50. Lard —13@14c.

MILWAUKEE.

BREADSTUFFS—Flour—Spring XX, $5 00@5 25. Wheat—No. 1, $1 04@1 04½; No. 2 Spring, $1 00@1 01. Corn—No. 3, 62@63c. Oats—No. 2, 32½@33c. Rye—No. 1, 68@69c. Barley—No. 1, 92@93c.

DETROIT.

BREADSTUFFS—Wheat—$1 02. No. 1 Red, $1 02@ 1 03; No. 2 Red, $1 00@1 01. Corn—High Mixed, 62@63c. Oats—No. 1, 40@41c.

BUFFALO.

LIVE STOCK—Beeves—$5 50@6 75. Hogs—Live, $7 50@8 00. Sheep—Live, $4 00@5 00.

EAST LIBERTY.

LIVE STOCK—Beeves—Steers, $6 00@7 00; second class, $5 25@5 90. Hogs—Yorkers, $7 75@ 8 00. Philadelphia, $8 00@8 00. Sheep—Best, $4 75@5 00; medium, $4 25@4 50.

THE Three of the ladies and gentlemen on the balloon were drowned and one was killed.

A SPANISH steamer shipping war materials at Barcelona, on the 15th, was blown up and sunk. Fifty persons were killed or drowned.

THE Democratic State Convention of Massachusetts will meet at Worcester Sept. 22.

DUNCAN, SHERMAN & Co. have issued a circular to their creditors proposing to pay thirty-three and a third cents on the dollar in full settlement of the indebtedness of the firm.

HON. D. M. KEY, of Chattanooga, has been appointed by the Governor of Tennessee to fill the vacancy in the United States Senate caused by the death of Andrew Johnson.

THE Republican Convention of the First Mississippi Congressional District met on the 18th, and split, one wing nominating G. Wiley Wells and the other A. P. Huse for Congress—the latter receiving a majority of the colored votes.

ACCORDING to a Madrid telegram of the 19th a royal brigade had routed the Carlist Gen. Borrgegary while endeavoring to pass from the Aragon and forced him to retreat with his command into the mountains near Catalonia.

A BERLIN telegram of the 19th says Austria has offered to intervene for the pacification of the Herzegovinians, upon the basis of reform in the administration of the Christian provinces of Turkey, but that the Porte had refused the offer.

PROF. JENNEY, in a letter to the Indian Bureau, dated Black Hills, July 31, says that in the valleys of Spring and Rapid Creeks the gravel bars contain gold in quantities sufficient to yield fair remuneration for labor unassisted by any knowledge of appliad, assisted by proper tools and machinery and appliances.

THE citizens of Augusta, Ga., have been considerably excited of late over an alleged conspiracy on the part of the colored population in Burke, Jefferson and Washington Counties to massacre the whites. Several arrests have been made and it is said that some of those arrested have confessed the conspiracy.

THE body of young Grimwood reached Chicago on the 19th, where it was received by Grand Army of the Republic and conveyed to Bristol, Ill., for final interment. The watch found on Mr. Grimwood's person was stopped at 11:20 o'clock, thus indicating that the plunge into the water must have occurred at that moment, which was probably about the time the arrogants were sentenced to the fiercest part of the storm. Mr. Wood, of the Chicago Journal, who superintended the transportation of Mr. Grimwood's remains, seated on the 19th that traces of the balloon—consisting of sandbags and pieces of the clothes which the airship was constructed—had been found about eight miles south of where the drowned man came to land.

THE Woman's National Christian Temperance Union will hold its second annual meeting at Cincinnati on the 17th, 18th and 19th of next November.

THE troubles in Williamson, Jackson and Franklin counties, Ill., were considered up to the 19th. Recently J. H. Matthew, a well-known Franklin County farmer, was notified that the Ku Klux proposed to make him a disobedillary visit on a certain evening. The Sheriff was notified and concerted to be present at the farmer's residence. The outlaws, being summoned to surrender, opened fire on the Sheriff's party. The latter returned and one of them was mortally wounded. The ring leaders were arrested and imprisoned.

THE MARKETS.

NEW YORK.

LIVE STOCK—Beef Cattle—$11 50@12 75. Hogs—Live, $7 50@8 00.

BREADSTUFFS—Flour—Good to choice, $6 70@8 20; white Lake, $6 90@7 50. Wheat—No. 2 Chicago, $1 06@1 31; No. 2 Northwestern, $1 08@1 32; No. 2 Milwaukee, $1 08@1 32; Ungraded Red, $1 00@1 30; Ungraded White, $1 10@1 30. Corn—Mixed Western, 78@82c. Oats—Western Mixed, 56@61c. Provisions—Pork—Mess, $21 50@23 15. Lard—Steam, 13@13½c. Whisky—Distillers' Stock, 90@96c.

LIVE STOCK—Steers—Choice, $6 90@7 25; good, $6 75@6 90; fair, $6 25@6 50; medium to fair stock, $5 75@6 00; stock-cattle, $3 75@5 75. Hogs—Live, $7 00@7 90. Sheep—Fair to choice, $4 75@5 50.

BREADSTUFFS—Butter—Choice, 26@28c. Eggs—Fresh, 18@19c. Flour—White Winter Extra, $6 90@7 75; spring extra, $5 50@6 50. Wheat—Spring, No. 2, $1 20@1 20½. Corn—No. 2 Mixed, 67c. Oats—No. 2, 42½c. Rye—No. 2, 76@77c. Barley—No. 2, $1 03@1 06.

LUMBER—First Clear, $45 00@48 00; Second Clear, $40 00@42 00; Common Boards, $19 00@ 21 00; Fencing, $16 00@18 00; "A" Shingles, $2 50@2 75; Lath, $1 75@2 00.

CINCINNATI.

BREADSTUFFS—Flour—$7 00@7 25. Wheat—No. 2 Red, $1 15@1 15½. Corn—No. 2 Mixed, 66@66c. Oats—No. 2 Mixed, 42@42½c. Rye—No. 1, 75@76c. Barley—No. 1, $1 00@1 10.

ST. LOUIS.

LIVE STOCK—Beeves—Good to choice, $6 10@ 6 60. Hogs—Choice Packing and Shipping, $7 50@7 75.

BREADSTUFFS—Flour—XX Fall, $5 75@6 30. Wheat—No. 2 Red Fall, $1 07@1 08. Corn—No. 2, 46@46c. Oats—No. 2, 36@36½c. Rye—No. 2, 70@70c.

PROVISIONS—Pork—Mess, $21 25@21 50. Lard —13@14c.

MILWAUKEE.

BREADSTUFFS—Flour—Spring XX, $5 00@5 25. Wheat—No. 1, $1 04@1 04½; No. 2 Spring, $1 00@1 01. Corn—No. 3, 62@63c. Oats—No. 2, 32½@33c. Rye—No. 1, 68@69c. Barley—No. 1, 92@93c.

DETROIT.

BREADSTUFFS—Wheat—$1 02. No. 1 Red, $1 02@ 1 03; No. 2 Red, $1 00@1 01. Corn—High Mixed, 62@63c. Oats—No. 1, 40@41c.

BUFFALO.

LIVE STOCK—Beeves—$5 50@6 75. Hogs—Live, $7 50@8 00. Sheep—Live, $4 00@5 00.

EAST LIBERTY.

LIVE STOCK—Beeves—Steers, $6 00@7 00; second class, $5 25@5 90. Hogs—Yorkers, $7 75@ 8 00. Philadelphia, $8 00@8 00. Sheep—Best, $4 75@5 00; medium, $4 25@4 50.

MICHIGAN STATE NEWS.

KENT COUNTY is to have a baby show at the next County Fair.

THE Junior exhibitions at the Agricultural College occurs on the 25th of August.

ONE of the Marquette threshing monte men has been convicted, fined $100, and sent to jail for ninety days.

A DANISH sailor, called Bill, stabbed and instantly killed Thomas Hanlon at Marquette a few days ago.

OVER 14,000 bushels of apples have been shipped from the Saginaw Valley during the week ending Aug. 6.

A STATE indian rifle association was formed at Jackson the other night. H. F. LOCKWOOD, of Detroit, was elected President.

PORT HURONITES AND STRUTHERSITES deathless hatred in Grand Rapids beer year, being seventy-four to each 1,000 of population.

A REMEDETTE overturned at Marquette, the other evening, and instantly killed a ten-year-old son of Jacob Pray who was playing on the lake.

THE Mayor of Detroit has vetoed the Common Council resolution permitting saloon-keepers from one to eleven o'clock on Sunday afternoons.

JOHNNY BROWN, son of J. P. Busby, was drowned at Menominee the other day while playing on a log. He narrowly escaped being rolled over by the logs.

THE shipment of iron from the Lake Superior iron district for 1875, up to and including Aug. 4 were: Pig iron, 23,503 tons; iron ore, 396,182 tons.

DIRECTIONS have been given to Michigan Central train officials to prefer complaints of false pretenses against all persons who try to steal rides on any common plea.

ALEX VOUDRY, of Detroit, has been sent to the House of Correction for sixty days because his wife twenty cents beggar ing to a lady to whose house he had been sent on an errand.

A FEW days ago Thomas Daly was shot by his wife, at Detroit, while in a drunken quarrel. The wound was a dangerous one, but Thomas recovered. It was accidental and his wife was not to blame.

BRANNEL BIRD, grocery store at Saline, was burned to the ground on the morning of the 12th, involving a loss of about $5,000. It was supposed to have been the work of an incendiary.

JOHN HAYNOR, of Detroit, a prominent business man, recently committed suicide after he had shot his wife. There was a young man in the case. At last accounts his wife was likely to recover.

THE Detroit Amateur Press Association has elected the following officers for the ensuing year: President, Frank E. Hutchinson; Vice-President, Oliver M. Leonard; Secretary and Treasurer, Jas. E. Pilcher. Otto Starck was elected a representative to the Amateur Press Congress.

THE Owosso Press says that Rev. C. P. Hulbert, formerly pastor of the Baptist Church in Owosso, but now of Marquette, has resigned the pastorate of the First Baptist Church in that city, and has withdrawn from that denomination, his views not being in accordance therewith.

MATIE BRUSH, daughter of James D. Duncan, of Jackson, fell from a tree while attempting to reach a few days since. Her mother was chasing Jennie, and let the room for a few moments, when she found the little child fast in a pail of hot water and died after five hours of intense suffering.

A SEVERE NORTHWESTERN GALE HAS BEEN prevailing for the past week, and the steamer E. A. Brush, of Detroit, the other evening, during the cessation of the members of the Supreme Association, it is supposed that it was taken by some sneak thief who took advantage of the crowd to obtain admission to the cars.

A FEW afternoons ago three convicts named Charles Smith, Peter Offlein and Thomas McGuinn escaped from the State Prison at Jackson. The guard fired upon them and brought one of them down. The second pursuer in all directions, but succeeded in overtaking the third. The convict then turned upon his pursuer and struck him a heavy blow with his fist. Losing Republican says it was a bright fist to set 250 men's papers to computing for prizes and pay only three of the number securing. There will be more puffing for $5,000 worth of sword like at the next race.

THE twenty seventh annual fair of the Michigan State Agricultural society opens at East Saginaw, Sept. 13-17. The usual offers of $50 each are made to the newspapers of the State for the best, the second and third best home notices of the fair. The Lansing Republican says it is a bright fist to set 250 men's papers to computing for prizes and pay only three of the number securing. There will be more puffing for $5,000 worth of sword like at the next race.

THE following postal changes were made in Michigan during the week ending Aug. 7, 1875: Established—Diamond Springs, Allegan County, Joseph Pillo, Postmaster; Pontiac, Appolonia Cass Office, Jennie Cass County, George W. Mellory, Postmaster; Lenawee County, Hiram C. Colby, Postmaster; Gratiot County, George W. Mellory Allendale, Ottawa County, Hiram C. Colby. An Grea, Bay County, John H. Billings. Ensley, Newaygo County, Corydon Bingham, Hanley, Ottawa County, John N. Waite; Oneida, Sanilac County, Frank M. Blackwell, Posen Presque Isle County, Wesley Wager, Westville, Monroe County, Galusha E. Leigh.

THE annual announcement of medical instruction at the State University has just appeared. The faculty remains unchanged. The course of lectures will commence Oct. 7 and continue until March 26 next. Examinations for students will begin on Sept 29 and 30. Thecourse of instruction for women, though equal in all respects to that for men, is given separately in the lecture course excepting in the department of general chemistry. The homeopathic department commences at the same time with the allopathic, and the terms of admission for both men and women are the same as for the other school. The Dental School also commences and closes as above, with fees the same as in either of the medical departments.

English Working Children.

AN eminent Englishman of science reports, after recent investigation, that the physical stamina of the children employed in factories is steadily deteriorating. What number of these who are now at work on full time is increasing. This is attributed now to the hard labor these poor little creatures have to undergo than to the wretched habits of the factory operatives are constantly marriages, stolen at once intemperance, want of proper opportunities for exercise, and the excessive mental tedium are mixed as causes of the deterioration. While admitting the causes, the fact is unabating one. It is a serious question whether children should be allowed to engage in exhausting factory labor at all—whether the exclusion to this hard work from an early period is not itself a prominent cause of the bad habits observed. But, if children are to be employed, there is no doubt that their hours of labor should be limited; and a further duty is cast on the mill-owners. This is, to see to look after the habits of their operatives that the children may have a share of morning and evening schools—free schools with tolerably good constitutions. In Germany parents are not allowed to employ their children from the factory of their children until they have had a thoroughly good schooling, and have grown well nigh to manhood and womanhood; the consequence is that German workmen are notoriously deficient in protecting the health and condition of the children of the manufacturing districts; and unless more vigorous measures are made the prospects is that factory labor will become more weak and more worse, while the hill on parish relief will become a heavy burden to the taxpayer and a discouragement to the philanthropist.—Appleton's Journal.

Earning a Fortune in a Dark Cell.

A PARIS correspondent writes: "The forgers has a good story to tell about a certain English author named Walter Hastings—a story so sensational that it seems scarcely worth while to repeat it by moonlight. This Mr. Hastings is, or was, say, in 1869, living with Lord B——, as a tutor and chamberlain in connection to express an opinion that military conditions nearly by unanimous as terrible a punishment as it sounds. Lord B—— disagreed with Mr. Hastings on some point, and forthwith dismissed the latter, and furnishing him with a check for what he would be paid when he left the house. Mr. Hastings left the house, and in 1870, during the Franco-Prussian war, was arrested as a spy, and thrown into a dark cell of fifteen feet by ten. He was allowed candles and books and writing material, and for food, but, as he was observed by a silent and invisible attendant, he was not allowed any post, only and sometime. The middle of the room is occupied by a long table on which are copies of the glorious birds, and on this table the sunlight directly falls. Over the table is a specified temperature is then poured on the birds. When sufficient time has passed the light is properly purged and the draining process of examination begins. The professional examiners are qualified by years of experience and by a special education to be perfect in their art, and their knowledge is of the utmost importance to the merchant, on which [illegible] depends entirely on it.—Hearth and Home.

MR. CHUBB, an English lock-maker, says there is no use putting locks on anything, for there is nothing that can keep a burglar out. Safes, house, doors, or safe when he really wishes to get in. And Mr. Chubb appears to be about right. The only people who are kept out by locks are innocent folks who would not steal anyway.

A VIRGINIA woman lost her false hair from the window of a railroad car, and she has sued the company for $1,000 damages—$350 for the loss of her hair, and $650 for her embarrassment.

IT is favorably noticed that the success of bona-fault playing as a profession is attracting a good many into that field who would otherwise have afflicted the country as lecturers.

"I AM having myself taken in oil," said a well-known physician, complacently looking round. "Cod-liver oil, I suppose?" growled an experienced patient.

What Is the Opposition?

There are some who profess to believe that the result of last fall's elections indicated Republican defeats and Democratic triumphs. It were idle to deny that they [illegible] disastrously to the Republican party, but it would be folly to ridicule the defeat to the Democratic party. That effete organization could not have effected the overthrow of the Republican party, and did not effect it. There were several causes which produced disaffection in the Republican ranks, and the whole sense, are many, joined the Opposition to bolster their own party, they did not consider their action as blind and fatal desertion, nor as attaching themselves to the Democratic party. There were other Republicans who, like Fitz John Porter at the battle of Gettysville, tardily looked on at the contending forces, declining to commit [illegible] which would insure reform in the Republican party, but to be used in either manner spoken of—active or passive—the result gave them to understand that they had given "aid and comfort to the enemy," and that will not be forgotten or forgiven.

The causes which produced dissension within the Republican ranks have been removed, and the same principles which made representative Republicans whose persons do not now repose in official chairs. Another cause was the Democratic promises parading, which produced discontent and disaffection. We have now before us the opinions and sentiments of the Administration. They preach none of their condemned [illegible] but they have adopted them. The outlook is encouraging and the breaking up of the Democratic party has begun. The dissensions of the Republican party with the dispensations of Providence and [illegible] will [illegible] the Democratic party. Still another cause was opposition to Pierpont's administration of affairs in Virginia. It appears that the course of Senator Sherman & Co. has never had Republican sympathy with Pierpont, and that in the Union Republican Convention during the War the Sherman element was in a minority, and their sympathies were with rebels, traitors and Rebel sympathizers, their interference with the Southern people, and their sympathies were with the South and with English [illegible] and [illegible] Pierpont's appointments are [illegible] and [illegible] and [illegible] and

THE SENTINEL.

CHARLEVOIX, MICH.

WILLARD A. SMITH, EDITOR AND PROPRIETOR.

TUESDAY, - - AUGUST 31, 1875

MACKINAW.

Correspondence of The Chicago Tribune.

MACKINAW, Mich., Aug. 18.—Peculiarly considered, the "season" of 1875, at Mackinaw has not been a success, at least to the hotel proprietors; and yet the two leading hotels, the "Island" and "Mission House," have been fairly successful, when the weather has been considered, which very naturally would have an effect on extreme Northern watering-places not left at Eastern and Southern summer-resorts.

For some reason Democratic

POLITICIANS

have predominated here this season, though just now the presence of Senators Sherman, of Ohio, and Ferry, of this State, and Representative Waldron, of Michigan, gives the Republican element preponderance—at least in prominence. Among the Democrats have been Representatives Holman and Hamilton, of Indiana, and Sayler, of Ohio, who just now are not anxious to be "interviewed" on either the currency question or the Ohio campaign.

SENATOR SHERMAN,

who, accompanied by Lieut.-Gov. Kirk, arrived at the Island House yesterday morning, expresses himself in the most confident manner. He predicts a handsome Republican majority in Ohio, and the destruction of the "rag-baby" party in its infancy. For the Democratic party to go into the coming Presidential contest on a rag-money platform, would, the Senator says, be as absurd and inconsistent as for it to repudiate its theory of strict construction and put forward as a cardinal principle the possession of the broadest powers by the General Government as against the present of "State Rights." Beyond this the Senator is non-committal, though he is confident of a Republican victory in the Presidential race, though the conditions necessary to success were not stated.

SENATOR FERRY CONVERTED.

And here it may be well to say that the views of Senator Ferry, of this State, are somewhat modified and that he is not as pronounced an inflationist as he was a year ago. While he does not specifically admit this, the approval expressed of Senator Morton's recent speech, and indorsement of his position, fairly warrants this conclusion.

Senator Christiancy, who accompanied Senator Ferry's party here, remained but a couple of days, leaving for Marquette, where he is to join the Legislative excursion, which is now expected to return via Mackinaw, going over the Grand Rapids & Indiana Railroad to Grand Rapids, from which point the members will disperse.

Of course the creation of

THE "NATIONAL PARK"

by the legislation of Congress of last winter is expected to accomplish great things for Mackinac in the future; and, if a small appropriation is secured from the next Congress to improve the present roads and lay out a few new ones, there need be no fear as to the future. Nature has been bountiful with Mackinac, having given her a location, an atmosphere, and a climate unexcelled anywhere for the purposes of a healthful summer resort. All this is too well known, doubtless, to the readers of the Tribune to require enlargement here. As time progresses and art adds to the attractions so lavishly bestowed by Nature upon Mackinac and the surrounding country, there is no question but that Mackinac will become the Saratoga of the Northwest, save only that it can never rival it as to racing attractions. There is, I believe, on the Early farm, a natural half mile track, but there is little probability of its ever being improved for racing purposes.

PRIVATE RESIDENCES.

Mr. Franks, the proprietor of the "Mission House," who, under authority of an act of Congress, purchased some 16 acres adjoining his hotel property, has laid out ten lots east of the hotel, and offers them for sale at $1,000 each. Two have been sold, one to Mr. Shelley, of Detroit, and the other to a Chicago gentleman, whose name cannot be ascertained for the present. It is also rumored that Senator Ferry is to purchase one, and that the Hon. E. P. Stockbridge, of Kalamazoo, recently appointed Minister to the Hague, has the refusal of another. Beyond doubt, all of these lots will be taken ere the close of another season.

"SHANTYTOWN"

the quarter occupied by Indians, half breeds, and others without authority, will disappear, and neat cottages and residences be substituted. The "Shantytown" element in politics, by the way, is a formidable barrier to the development of the best interests of Mackinac; for of course it is the whiskey element, and dominates solely over the respectable business element of Mackinac.

A COMPLIMENTARY RECEPTION and hop was given Senator Ferry at the Mission House last evening,—and it is needless to say that it was a success. That gentleman is held in high esteem here, not only on account of his personal character, but by reason of his labors to advance the interests of Mackinac,—a very proper thing for him to do, as this is his birthplace. The Mission House was built in 1828 by the American Board of Commissioners for foreign Missions, under the superintendence of Senator Ferry's father, the Rev. William M. Ferry, who resided here and conducted the Mission until 1836. The old church is now occupied as a theatre by the "McKee-Campbell Combination," two performances a week being given.

Yesterday afternoon an excursion went to Point St. Ignace to visit the old Jesuit Church, and where a painting, said to be over 200 years old, is the chief attraction. The party went on the famous wrecker Lewisthan, and was given in compliment to Senator Sherman, and this afternoon a second excursion to Sheboygan on the same vessel is on the programme.

The only drawback your correspondent has found here is the SHOCKING POSTAL FACILITIES.

A letter or paper mailed in Chicago on the 18th, leaving Chicago that evening, should reach here the 20th. But if it reaches here by the 23d it is doing well. Instead of the mail being brought across from Petoskey in the steamer Maple in five hours, it is carried around by stage to Cheboygan. This grows out of a failure to make a contract with the Grand Rapids & Indiana Railroad Company, the Post-Office Department claiming that the Company's offer was too high.

The Transit Observation.

From the Detroit Tribune.

The observations of the transit of Venus, chiefly useful for the purpose of determining the true distance of the sun from the earth, do not promise to correct, materially, the information before possessed. The earth, at the time of the transit, seemed to be floating in an atmosphere of cloud, so that at all of the stations which entered the globe, watching for the phenomena, the clouds obscured the planet more or less of the time the contact lasted. The few bright moments which were granted the watching were men were not neglected, however, and one hundred and sixty three photographs were taken in the northern latitude and one hundred and eighty-seven in the southern, a total of three hundred and fifty, each showing Venus while completely in the disc of the sun.

In addition, about two hundred and fifty were taken wherein Venus appears only as an infentation in its edge. The second and third contacts were captured at two of the northern stations, but clouds prevented their observation at any of the southern points, so that those which were taken cannot be used according to the Halleyan method, though it is possible to utilized them by employment a different system of reduction, known as Delisle's method.

These observations of the world will be gathered and compared and used in making the final deductions, but the results will not be accepted as conclusive till verified by other and more certain methods of determining the sun's true distance from the earth. An opportunity will be afforded the scientific men to do this in September, 1877, when the opposition of Mars takes place, when observations for the same purpose can be taken more advantageously and with greater certainty than was afforded by the rapid transit of Venus

"SHTOP A LEETLE!"

Spring Harbor,

HEAD OF PINE LAKE.

The Secret of Wonderful Growth and Success.

Way up in the north is a very smart town,
In the country all over it is gaining renown,
It's in Charlevoix county and Spring Harbor Town.

The soil is so rich if you plant a small nail,
To give a big yield it never will fail
It aptly is so for the people all say
That nail is a crowbar the very next day.
In Charlevoix county and Spring Harbor Town.

There are the merchants who're up to their tricks,
Will sell you five goods before they are sixes—
In Charlevoix county and Spring Harbor Town.

They'll not stoop so low as tell you small lies,
But their secret of trade be they all so wise,
And their efforts are crowned by millions of wealth,
While they all do enjoy the most perfect health.
In Charlevoix county and Spring Harbor Town.

Then there are the doctors they'll cure you ills,
With syrups and drops and various pills—
In Charlevoix county and Spring Harbor Town.

If they on you once make a professional call,
Again in your life you'll be ill not at all,
If they call sure or twice you'll then feel so clever,
You'll not die at all, but live on forever—
In Charlevoix county and Spring Harbor Town.

Then there is the "Journal" the sheet of the age,
To give all the news it doth always engage
In Charlevoix county and Spring Harbor Town.

And the editor knows his business so well,
He knew what I say, for the truth I do tell
If a man is murdered and left in his gore,
It will give you the news two or three days before,
In Charlevoix county and Spring Harbor Town.

Now I suppose you'll be glad to all know,
How strangely it happens this to be so—
In Charlevoix county and Spring Harbor Town.
When the cause I do give, you all will confess,
The secret that leads to perfect success.
They get their goods cheaper than ever before,
Hence they buy all they use at NICHOLS' store.

YOU'RE CRAZY

TO PAY SUCH TERRIBLE PRICES FOR GOODS, WHEN BY CALLING AT THE

"REGULATOR"

You can purchase them at least THIRTY PER CENT. less than at any other place in the part of Charlevoix County. That is what we say of the "REGULATOR." We have lots of

NEW GOODS,

And more coming daily. We have Boots and Shoes for men; We have all kinds of Shoes for Ladies; we have Boots and Shoes and all kinds of nice things for the little ones. We have all kinds of DRESS GOODS; we have all kinds of CLOTH to make clothes for the men and boys. We have

PORK AND FLOUR,

And all kinds of Groceries as

SUGARS,

TEAS,

COFFEES,

SPICES,

OILS.

WE ALSO HAVE A LARGE ASSORTMENT OF

Farming Implements,

SUCH AS PLOWS, SHOVEL PLOWS, SCYTHES, SNATHS, RAKES, FORKS, HOES, CULTIVATORS AND DRAGS. ALSO AN ASSORTMENT OF

TINWARE.

So, if you'd buy cheaper than ever before, go to NICHOLS' Store, on Pine Lake shore, where the water doth tour, and all people, and more, say, that never before, in the country all o'er, did they see people pour into the door of a store, where they buy lots of goods and then buy some more; for they say he sells lower by thirty per cent or perhaps more, than ever before, at any man's store; so after reading this o'er, if ain't you'd know more, Tommie will

TURN THE CRANK TO THE MACHINE

And tell you if you wish to astonish yourself with low prices, that you must go to 999999 Gold Dust Avenue, nearly opposite to the Second National Bank, and directly opposite to the Metropolitan Hotel, Spring Harbor.

TRULY YOURS:

T. W. NICHOLS.

Carpenter & Bartholomew

CHEAP CASH STORE IS JUST THE PLACE TO BUY YOUR GOODS!

CARPENTER & BARTHOLOMEW'S

Standard Goods and Bottom Prices is their Motto.

South End of Bridge Street.

Charlevoix, Mich

MEDICAL

HALL,

CHARLEVOIX,

JUST THE PLACE TO BUY

DRUGS

And Dye Stuffs,

JUST THE PLACE TO BUY

Patent Medicines

JUST THE PLACE TO BUY

Stationery, Ink and Pens.

And Pocket Inkstands.

JUST THE PLACE TO BUY

Perfumes and Hair Oils

Flavoring Extracts, and Toilet Goods.

JUST THE PLACE TO BUY

The Self-Adjusting Truss

JUST THE PLACE TO GET

Prescriptions Compounded

At all hours—night or day.

IN FACT, just the place to get anything you want in the Druggists line.

Cheap for Cash.

New store opposite Stockham's Hardware Store.

GEO. W. CROUTER.

Druggist and Chemist.

Hemlock Bark!

The undersigned, owners of the schooner "E. M. Stanton," are now in the harbor of Pine Lake and vicinity they are prepared to

Contract for Any Amount

Of Hemlock Bark to be delivered on the beach at Round or Pine Lakes or South Arm. The firms of Fox, Rose & Buttars, Carpenter & Bartholomew, and Byron See, are our authorized agents, with whom contracts can be made, or with Dr. Welshopf, of the firm of

CAPT. P. JOHNSON & Co.

Charlevoix, May 1, 1875.

N. B.—Samuel Holland, of Evelyn, is also our authorized agent.

Read This.

The following instructive dialogue was overheard the other day:

Brown—I say, Jones, you seem to have been buying lots of groceries; where do you trade, Jones?

Jones—Why, I bought at

BYRON SEE'S

Grocery and Provision store in Charlevoix It is a good place to trade.

Brown—Is that so? Can others do as well there as you can buying know you are sharp in a trade.

Jones—O, yes, of course you can. He uses all alike. He says he likes a nimble sixpence and I guess he does from the prices he sells at.

THE STARCH PROPELLER

1875. 1875.

A. C. Van Raalte

Capt. Alvin Dodge,

Will run during the season of 1875, as follows, between

Petoskey & Traverse City:

Will leave Petoskey at 6 o'clock A. m. on

Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays,

Arriving at Traverse City at 7 o'clock the same evening. Will leave Traverse City at 6 o'clock A. m. on

Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays,

Arriving at Petoskey the same evening. Touching at all intermediate ports on Grand Traverse Bay, both ways.

$75 A WEEK to Agents to sell an article $10 saleable as flour. Profits immense. Package free. Address BUCKEYE Mfg. Co. Marion, Ohio.

THE MORGAN MYSTERY.

Alleged Confession of One of the Murderers of the Masonic Apostate.

The publication of an article by Thurlow Weed, assuming to throw new light upon the Morgan Masonic mystery, but which contained no facts new to the public, has caused the re-publication of the confession of Henry L. Valance, who died in 1848, accusing himself of the murder of Morgan. This was published in a pamphlet at the time, entitled: "Confession of the murder of William Morgan, as taken down by John L. Emery, of Racine county Wisconsin, in the summer of 1848, and now (1849) first given to the public," and sets out as follows:

"My last hour is approaching; and as the things of this world fade from my mortal sight, I feel the necessity of making as far as in my power lies, that atonement which every violator of the great law of right owes to his fellow-men. I allude to the abduction and murder of the ill-fated William Morgan." He here proceeds with an interesting narrative of the proceedings of the fraternity in reference to Morgan while he was incarcerated in the magazine of Fort Niagara. The confessor continued:

"Many plans were proposed and discussed and rejected. It was finally agreed by a council of eight that he must die; must be conducted to a confinement from which there is no possibility of escape—the grave. Eight pieces of paper were procured, five of which were to remain blank, while the letter 'D' was written on the others. These pieces of paper were placed in a large urn from which each man was to draw one at the same moment.

"After drawing we were all to separate without looking at the paper that each held in his hand. As soon as we had arrived at a certain distance from the place of rendezvous the tickets were to be examined, and those who held blanks were to return instantly to their homes, and those who should hold marked tickets were to proceed to the fort at midnight, and there put Morgan to death in such a manner as should seem to themselves most fitting." Mr. Valance was one of the three that drew the fatal letter D. He then returned immediately to the fort, where he was joined by the other two who had drawn the death tickets. "Arrangements were immediately made to sink him in the Niagara River with weights in hopes that he and our crime alike would be thus buried beneath the waves. While my comrades were to procure a boat, it was my lot to go to the fort where Morgan was confined and announce to him his fate. Morgan, on being informed of the proceedings against him, and what they intended to do with him, demanded by what authority they had condemned him, and who were his judges. He came and wringing his hands and talking of his wife and children, the recollection of whom in that awful hour terribly affected me. His wife, he said, was young and inexperienced, and his children were but infants. What would become of them were he to be cut off, and they even ignorant of his fate? He was told that his remonstrances were idle; that he must die, and that too, before the morning light. He continued to plead most piteously for his life on behalf of his family. My comrades had in the meantime returned, saying they had procured a boat. On consultation we concluded to give him half an hour in which to prepare for his inevitable fate. For this we retired from the magazine and left him. How he passed that time I cannot tell, but everything was as quiet as the tomb within. At the expiration of the time we entered, laid hold of Morgan, bound his hands behind him, placed a gag in his mouth, and led him forth. A short time brought us to the boat, and we all entered it, Morgan being placed in the bow with myself alongside of him my comrades took the oars, and the boat was rapidly forced out into the river. The night was pitch dark—we could scarcely see a rod before us—and therefore was the time admirably adapted to our hellish purpose. Having reached proper distance from the shore, our oarsmen ceased their labors. The weights were secured together by a strong cord, and another cord of equal strength, and several yards in length proceeded from that. This cord I fastened around the body of Morgan just above his hips, using all my skill to make it fast, so that it would be sure to hold. Then, in a whisper, I bade the unhappy man to stand up, and after a momentary hesitation he complied with my order. He stood close to the head of the boat, and there was just length of rope from his person to the weights to prevent any strain while he was standing. I then requested one of my associates to assist in lifting the weights from the bottom to the side of the boat, while the other steadied her from the stern. This was done, and, as Morgan was standing with his back toward me, I approached him and gave him a strong push with both my hands, which were placed on the middle of his back. He fell forward, carrying the weights with him, and the waters closed over the man. We remained quiet for two or three minutes, when my companions, without saying a word, resumed their places, and rowed the boat to the place from which they had taken it."

The Northern Transportation Company.

In regard to the management of this well-known and heretofore popular line of propellers the Cleveland Herald says:

The Northern Transportation Line was sold to the Vermont Central Railway Company and the boats of that company taken in payment. The line has been running under the management of that railroad corporation for a few years, and the unfortunate or blundering conduct which has marked the bad executions of the Vermont Central left its impression on their water interests also. It is no news to them at all acquainted with the line that for the past two or three years it has been "running down at heel" and losing fast, the popularity it formerly enjoyed. The reason for this lay not in the immediate managers of the steamboat line, or in those employed on it, but in the impolitic and vexatious orders from Boston.

The affairs of the railroad, which have been for some time in a disorganized state, at last brought on a violent quarrel among the managers and proprietors. A judicial investigation is now going on which has so far revealed a very unsatisfactory condition of things. In the meantime the Northern Transportation Line was suffered to be idle. No provision was made for running the boats this season, nor was any decision come to whether they would be run at all. The obligations to the bondholders were not met and the property which formed the security for these obligations was rapidly deteriorating through want of use and absence of care. Under these circumstances recourse was had to the courts, the line was taken possession of for the benefit of the bondholders, and a receiver appointed. A number of the steamers have been fitted out, and some more the popular "white smoke-pipes" are traversing the lakes. The line has gone back into the hands of its old managers, who gave it the great popularity it formerly enjoyed.

A Postoffice Reform.

Postmaster General Jewell has been doing a very thorough and admirable piece of work in weeding out of the small post-offices all over the country a large number of postmasters who have been disposing of postage-stamps in an improper manner. These postmasters have not been guilty of converting to their own uses money received from the sale of stamps as might be supposed from the brief reference to some of the cases which have been made in the telegraphic dispatches. Had this been the case the crime would have been detected by the discrepancy in their accounts, and would be punished not merely by discharge but by criminal prosecution. The postmasters who have been discharged are all of that class whose salaries are contingent upon the number of stamps sold by them. Most of them kept groceries or dry goods stores. They thus had an opportunity to increase their sale of postage stamps, and consequently their own salaries, by paying the wholesale dealers of whom they bought goods in postage stamps. In this way their sale of stamps was treble or quadruple what it would be from legitimate business, and their salaries were accordingly increased, defrauding the Government out of some thousands of dollars every year. The facts came to the knowledge of Mr. Jewell, and after a due investigation, he has discharged all postmasters against whom this practice has been proved. It should be understood henceforth by every postmaster that the use of stamps for the payment of his individual debts, no matter if his stamp account with the department is kept perfectly correct, is an offense against the postoffice regulations which will be punished by discharge.—Detroit Tribune.

More Evidence.

We find in the Ila City Chronicle this statement, which is well-deserving of editorial prominence by reason of its direct practical bearing upon one of the most important State questions of the year:

"The new liquor law may well be said to be a thousand times more severe on the business than the prohibitory law ever was. The requirements of the several acts passed by the last Legislature are found so onerous that in many of the rural districts the result has been the practical annihilation of the traffic. A gentleman who lately made a tour of Huron and Tuscola counties northward and eastward of this city, says that the trade in that section is virtually dead. Schewaing has three dealers, Watrousville one, and there is another one or two in the region; but the traveler may ride for a day or more at a time, passing villages where there was formerly no lack and find not a not a drop of the ardent to wet his whistle. The license movement has come nearer prohibition in its first fruits than the temperance people ever got with all former legislation. The new laws are death on the country dealers, evidently, and they have dropped off like sheep."

NORWOOD.

F. J. MEECH & Co.

NORWOOD, MICH.,

DEALERS IN

DRY GOODS,

Groceries and Provisions,

Also Manufacturers of

HARDWOOD LUMBER,

Lath and Shingles.

Mormon Dome.

Among the events of the famous Mormon war was the burning of the Nauvoo temple. The structure was located in the night time, and so successful was the party engaged in its firing that probably he was never even suspected. The recent death of the incendiary, however, has removed the necessity of further secrecy, and a short time ago we were put in possession of his name and the facts connected with the burning of the temple, by the only living person cognizant of them.

The temple was fired by Joseph H. Agnew, who recently died in Agnewsville township, Hancock county, Illinois, at the age of fifty-eight years. It was always supposed that the party who burned the building had entered through the basement; but the facts are Mr. Agnew surreptitiously obtained a key to one of the doors of the temple some time before the act. No one was engaged with him, and only four knew he was the party. Agnew prepared his fireballs and other combustibles at his residence. Placing them in his saddle bags, he rode on horseback to Nauvoo, and in the night entered the temple with his key, passed up the cupola, arranged his materials and fired them, and then quietly escaped the way he came.

Our informant, who is a responsible and prominent citizen of Illinois, says he can produce the key of the temple which Agnew secured in order to accomplish his work.

The Lansing Republican gives prominence to the fact that in 1866, in the Democratic city of Monroe, a schooltax was levied and expended in aid of Roman Catholic and Lutheran academies, which Some property owners refused to pay, and their property was seized, and the law being defective, they had to submit. At the next session of the Legislature an act was passed (see Compiled laws of 1871, section 3689) which forbids the application of any moneys received from the primary school fund, or from any or all other sources, to the support of any school of a sectarian character." The Legislature was then overwhelmingly Republican, and this act found its only opponents among the Democratic members.

WHEREAS, my wife, Mary Jane Estell, has left my bed and board without just cause or provocation. All persons are hereby warned against trusting her on my account, as I will pay no debts of her contracting.

GEO. ESTELL.

Norwood, Mich., August 21, 1875.

NOTICE.—All persons, who at any time employ Caleb and Joshua Morgan, my sons, are hereby forbidden to pay them for their labor except by my consent.

GEO. W. MORGAN.

Boyne, Mich., August 21, 1875.

FOX, ROSE & BUTTARS

Charlevoix.

THE SUMMER OF 1875.

LOWER! LOWER!

Go the Prices!

WE CAN AND WILL

SELL CHEAPER

Than any other House in Charlevoix,

Our Neighbors

Are Cutting Down on Certain Articles; We cut down on

Everything!

If You Don't Believe It,

COME AND SEE

For Yourselves.

YARD WIDTH COTTON FOR 10 cts

TEA--3 Pounds for $1.

SUIT of Coths for $8.

The Best Goods,

Regadless of Profit,

Are Always Kept.

FOX, ROSE & BUTTARS.

DRUGS and MEDICINES

DR. LEWIS

Tenders his thanks to the inhabitants of Charlevoix and vicinity for past patronage and solicits a continuance of the same. He has

JUST RECEIVED

A large stock of medicines, such as

Fluid Extracts,
Tinctures,
Essences
Oils of all kinds,
Gums,
Perfumery, etc

PATENT MEDICINES,

A large stock, such as Ayres, Jays Sweitzer's, Peterman's Buckman's, Sage's & Herrick's.

A Full Supply of Dye Stuffs.

All goods sold as cheap as by any house north of Grand Rapids.

I Keep What I Advertise

Wonderful Success

Three years ago Dr. Boschee's German Syrup was introduced in the United States from Germany for the cure of coughs, severe colds settled on the breast, Consumption and other diseases of the Throat and Lungs No medicine ever had such a success. 200,000 sample bottles have been distributed every year for three years by Druggists in all parts of the United States, and nearly 1000 letters from Druggists are now on our files saying that no other preparation in their stores is as well and gives such excellent satisfaction. All we ask is for you to go to your Druggist (L. W. Crouter, and get a sample bottle for 10 cents and try it. Regular size 75 cents.

NEW MILLINERY AND Dress - Making ESTABLISHMENT.

Fancy Goods, such as Canvass, Zephyrs Ribbons, Trimmings, Kid Gloves, etc. Also Shawls, for Sacques, Dresses and Cloaks fitted and made in the latest fashions.

Charges Reasonable.

Rooms in Harry Newman's bakery building

MISS A. M. SACKET

Charlevoix, June 17, 1875. 3m

ITEMS OF INTEREST.

PLENTY of chestnuts in New York this year

A PARSON looking at some skeletons asked a young doctor present where he got them. He replied "Wernised them."

MRS TATE, of Biloela, Ark., has brought suit for breach of promise. The young man, however, says she broke an entire Mrs-Tate ment of the case

WHEN a Canada girl loves she loves like a hand engine going to a fire. In a branch of genuine suit the other day it was shown that a young lady wrote to her lover eight times per day.

THEY horses still live. The lover who plunged into the surging flood at Niagara, the other day, in a vain attempt to rescue his unmarried wife's spoke dead—nobler than most that are found in song and story.

IT is one of those strange but true things which are sometimes met with that, while it rains very easy nowadays, yet it also rains exceeding hard, and that, though the water falls easy and hard, it still comes down soft.

AT a funeral of a woman in Siwaan, the other day, a neighbor in attendance, feeling it necessary to say something sympathetic to the afflicted husband, kindly observed: "Never, got a splendid day for the funeral."—Danbury News.

A TEXAS newspaper contains the following: "In account of an accident our eleven-year-old 'devil' is the only type in the office this week. Except a little over two columns he has set up the entire paper in four days. Several articles appear just as they came from the stick."

THE Ruskill Mountain House has been visited by a distinguished party of English nobility. They remained three days, during which time they filled all the nearest rooms with the best they discarded in conversation, and "don't you knowed" the head waiter into brain fever.

TEN young men that Seth Green and his piscatorial agents have been "plant ing" in some of the rivers and creeks are very anxiously and mercenariously "gobbled up" by the hungry bass, pickerel, muskallonge and other human hoggers, who can live and thrive only where there are no greedy devourers of their kind.

IT is seldom easy to see the hidden benefaction in that which is in an apparent affliction. A boy who was "confounding" the mosquito was told by his pastor that "confusion to insects are made with a good end in view," when the young scamp replied: "I can't see it whether it is in view or not. At any rate, I don't like the end I circle."

THOUSAND A BALE MUTTON of dollars have been collected by Mme. MacMahon for the relief of the sufferers by the late inundations in France, and that's the kind of a wife to have in the family. With such a helpmeet a fellow when hard up would have only to go out and get inundated and then await developments.—St. Louis Republican.

THEA have mollus soil in Pennsylvania (the morning, recently, while a farmer's farmer was driving his horse across a field the earth suddenly opened in under the animal's hoofs without any warning. The farmer made every effort to save his horse, but before he could do anything it had sunk into the ground, where it soon smothered.

"SIR, can you tell me where I'll find lawyer ——" asked a friend in our hearing yesterday, of a gentleman who is sometimes for always being found elsewhere than in his sanctum. "No, have you looked for him?" "Yes, looked all over town." "Have you looked in his office?" "By Jorce!" said the gentleman, a new light breaking over his countenance, "I never thought of that."—Napa (Cal.) Register.

IT may be doubted whether Sartoris is passionately fond of babies. The other morning while he was standing on the piazza in the midst of a group of his boon companions Nellie came waltzing out with the national grandchild in her arms, and, planting it playfully upon his shoulder, exclaimed: "Oh, aint it darling, Algy?" "Well," returned Algy with the mottled air of a man who had been taken advantage of—"well, its mother is."—Brooklyn Eagle.

A REMARKABLE family has just died in San Francisco. His name was A. J. Stevenson. Although very old, he used pipes and cigarettes so deftly that he looked to be only middle-aged. He was wealthy and a bachelor, and his aim in life seemed to be to wear the best clothes that could be bought. Many years ago he was implicated in the abduction of a young woman, was tried on a criminal charge, but it was suppressed that a liberal expenditure of money averted a conviction. And now he has done his last dying, has this dandie.

A BOSTON publishing house finding the new rates of the 3-cents postage too exorbitant, issued the following postal card, which they mailed to some of their subscribers: "The ridiculous Postal law by which we are compelled to pay treble postage on all magazines sent to subscribers in what is known as 'Burt's Syndicate,' compels us to establish a postal service of our own. Your magazine will be left for you hereafter at the office of delivery by the 10th of the month at——, where please call for it hereafter." Finding that the cards were not delivered they hastened at the Postoffice that they were withheld because "the fires were using the mail to kindle the department."

THE Italian system of dealing with brothers is not much in vogue here. It is just being introduced in Brooklyn. An Italian Mels, lately arrived from Sicily, set the style. He ran up a bill for merchandise with the butcher world trust him no longer. Then he told the butcher that he never meant to pay, meantime, fingering the edge of a stiletto with peculiar significance. Subsequently he held a knife at the butcher's throat and extorted a loan of $25; finally he made a final rush at the butcher at a pistole, and tried to cut his head out merely because former attendees of money were refused. Now the Sicilian is under $1,000 bail to keep the peace, but he has suffered no further punishment, and, most interesting, of all, he has not paid the bill.

WHERE is the editor "with soul so dead" as not to have heartfelt sympathy with him of the Bellaire County Democrat, when he says: "Editing a paper is a nice business. If we publish jokes people say we are rattle-headed. If we omit jokes, they say we are an old fossil. If we publish original matter, they 'cuss' us for not giving selections. If we publish selections, folks say we are lazy for not writing something. We have not read in some other paper. If we give a note a complimentary notice, we are censured for being partial. If we do not give complimentary notices, folks say we are a hog. If we do not enter in the visions of the leisure, the paper is not up to make a basis. If we remain in our office and attend to our business, folks say we are too proud to mingle with our fellows. If we grout, they say we never attend to our business as we do not pay our bills promptly, people say we are not to be trusted. If we wear poor clothes, folks say business is bad. If we wear good ones, they say we never paid for them. Now, what are we to do?"

Who Was Hermann?

THE grand exoneration at Detmold, Germany, last Monday, was not only a fitting tribute to the great Teutonic hero but made an indelible mark upon history, but testified also to the fidelity with which the children of the Fatherland cling to the memory of those whose courage and patriotism have contributed to the nation's freedom and prosperity.

To the vast majority of readers—German) excepted—the name of Hermann has no significance. In truth, that name does not appear in other than German annals, while every student is familiar with the personage to whom it refers under his Roman designation—Arminius. The son of Sigimer, a chief of the Cherusci, he was born in the year 18 B. C. and while still a mere youth was sent to Rome as a hostage. It is supposed that his rare abilities attracted the notice of the Government, for he received an education at the State's expense, and at the proper age was given a subordinate position in the Roman army. Here he acquitted himself so gallantly that he was raised to citizenship and admitted into the class of equites. But, though a Roman citizen and officer, Arminius was always intensely German at heart, and waited patiently for the time when he might strike an effective blow in behalf of his countrymen. That time, he thought, soonerthan he anticipated. About the year 9 the Emperor Augustus sent Publius Quintilius Varus to take command of the army in Germany, with instructions to introduce there the regular administration of a Roman province. This change of policy, coupled with the exactions and of the new ruler, produced widespread dissatisfaction which soon culminated in open revolt. A leader for the disaffected tribes was found in the person of Arminius, whose military skill and knowledge of the enemy's tactics speedily bore bloody fruit. Varus advanced into the rebellious region at the head of three legions —about 15,000 infantry and 600 cavalry and the usual number of auxiliaries; the whole force amounting perhaps to 20,000 or 25,000 men. After proceeding to the vicinity of the river Weser he halted and formed an intrenched camp, in accordance with the invariable custom of Roman generals of that era. Had he remained in this camp he would have been safe, but, being tempted out by false information conveyed to him by the spies of Arminius, he again set forward through a broken and thickly-wooded country peculiarly adapted for ambuscades. The soldiers, suspecting no danger, marched in loose order and encumbered by heavy baggage trains and embarrassed by a large number of women and children; while Varus and his officers appear to have totally neglected all the usual precautions and indulged in the fatal mistake of despising the foe who had never frequently fled in dismay before the world-conquering eagles. This carelessness and contempt were fearfully expiated. As the army was slowly moving through a dense forest it was suddenly attacked in front and on both flanks, but managed to beat back the Germans until nightfall, when a rude camp was built. Next morning the Romans emerged from this slender fortification and resumed their march, scathed at every step by the swarming enemy, and unable from the nature of the ground to force a fight on equal terms. This guerrilla warfare continued two days—Varus endeavoring to cut his way through to the fortress of Aliso, on the river Lippe—but at a point near what is now called Krantz berg, the main German army under Arminius stood in the path, and the battle-cry of the Cherusci, which is still heard in the forest of Teutoburg, was the signal for a slaughter. When the Roman commander saw that all was lost he committed suicide, and, as no quarter was given, hardly a solitary man was left to tell the tale. It is said that for months after the dismal news reached Rome Augustus would rise from his bed at the dead of night and pace the room in terrible excitement, exclaiming continually: "O, Quintilius Varus, give me back my legions!"

This victory won for Arminius the title of "Deliverer of Germany," but he was subsequently thrice defeated by Germanicus. His wife captured, and he himself was finally assassinated by one of his own countrymen, A. D. 19.—St. Louis Republican.

—Ben Franklin said he could tell a nice woman by the way she kneeded her dough.

—A man who is in health is not morally entitled to anything which he does not earn.

One Hundred and Nine Years Old.

HERE right here in Troy, and his name is John Henry Blackwell, and he has seen 109 summers (when August is out) and 109 winters. He was, therefore, born in the spring. John Henry lives in a little, old house in the hollow, beside a babbling but noisy little brook, just off Lincoln avenue, under the hill. The house is an old-style frame, with wooden shutters, and has stood where it now stands about forty-five years. Neither outside nor in has ever been modernized by a painter. The house is weather-beaten like its owner (for Blackwell owns it), and looks as if the ups and downs of this world had had no effect upon it. John Henry lives all alone in the house. It cannot be called bachelor's hall, because John Henry is not a bachelor. He has been married, but it was so long ago that he has almost forgotten about it. His house is not a hall either. It is more like a den or a hermitage. No one is ever invited into the place, and no one is ever allowed to look into it unless he does so stealthily. John keeps the doors and windows securely fastened, and at night he never uses a light unless he is looking for something that has been mislaid in the chaos of disorder that exists there. There he uses a tallow candle. He is not very sociable. He has lived so long that he imagines the present generation is a pack of fools, and he is wise man. The latter statement may be all right, but there is room for debate on the latter.

John Henry is an old fisherman, and has been in this country sixty years. He lived in New York fifteen years, and remembers the city when it was the size of Troy forty-five years, and was no bigger than Troy. He has lived in Troy forty-five years, and recollects Troy as a small country village. He lost his wife fifty years ago. He had three sons and one daughter, but they have all gone to the other world, and now the old man is alone. He has lived alone for twenty-five years, ever since his daughter died, who was sixty-five years old. He has no relatives now, having outlived the whole of them, grandchildren and all.

About ninety years ago he learned the tailoring business, and has worked in different cities, but within the last thirty years he has lived in a very mysterious way. He does not work, but goes away sometimes for weeks at a time, nobody knows where. He returns as mysteriously as he goes, and seems to have money. Of late years he has turned his attention somewhat to the study of medicine; and not only the study, but the practice. He imagines that he can cure any disease, and will always solicit a trial of his skill on anyone whom he sees sick or suffering. Instances have been known where he has relieved pain and cured illness, but in more cases an opposite effect has followed.

Blackwell seems as vigorous as a man of fifty. In fact, he is the type of a very lively old man. He can walk a mile without a cane as fast as almost anyone seventy-five years younger. He never rides. He is a thorough pedestrian. He was never on a street-car and only once on a railroad. Then he went to Albany on the cars, got lost there, and walked back. He thinks jackasses superior to horses for general use, and often expresses surprise that more people do not own them, as they may not be aware of it, but the jackasses from among those upon the shore. All then followed the river for miles down its course, and the struggling beasts were thrown over from the shore into the waters between the islands and the falls, where Grogan had disappeared and also supposed to be, but all search for the bodies was unavailing.—N. Y. Sun, Aug. 17.

Marriage.

EVERY now and then some of the journals in the large cities have a spasm upon the economy of marriage and the amount of money necessary to be laid by before it can safely be contracted. A year or two ago the New York Times devoted columns after column to the subject, and more lately the Inter-Ocean is now following suit. Scores of communications from all sorts of people are interesting, as showing the varying opinions of people on the subject, and many are amusing and racy, and others are positively instructive touching the experiences of those who have tried matrimony, and write out what they know about its ends and points, and penalties and pleasures, for the benefit of the single. But the object of them all is supposed to be to find and declare the exact point at which the amount of money that a man in taking a wife—to decide, in fact, upon a arbitrary amount that will justify him in so doing. "Now I can take and support a wife."

This is what cannot be done, and so in the end the whole discussion of the article amounts to nothing, except in the gain of some incidental information that may be of use to young people about to marry.

The amount of income necessary to marriage depends entirely upon who the contracting parties are. What is their position in life, how they were reared, what their dispositions and tastes are, what they expect, their circles they desire to move in, and the sacrifices they are willing to make for the sake of marriage, if any sacrifices are required.

Says one writer: "As life is now in the large cities, and as things go, it would take a brave man to marry upon an income of $1,200 or $1,500 a year." It would take nothing of the sort. If a man is willing to confine himself to the kind of life such an income will support for the sake of a woman, and the woman consent to share such life with him then the couple will find that the income raised will procure them all the necessaries of life and some of the luxuries. If they are happy enough in each other's love and the pleasures of their mutual affection to make them content with their lot there is no reason why life should be unpleasant to them, or why they should not enjoy it as well as though they had $100,000 a year.

When a young man says to a woman "I cannot marry you because my income is but $2,000," he may be, all things considered, earnest and exercising good judgment. He owes it to himself, to the tastes and habits of the woman, their social ties and obligations and expectations, the experience they have been trained to, may make marriage between them upon such an income like suicide, or the means of bringing upon them endless misery and unhappiness.

A man and woman matrimonially inclined must be their own judges of their ability to marry upon the income that will be theirs, and an arbitrary rule that will cover the case of another couple will most that case. But when once they resolve to take their chances upon a small income, they have the best chance to make them, and to be content to give up all else for each other, then they may find in such marriage much pure happiness.—Cincinnati Gazette.

A Courageous Workman.

YESTERDAY morning, about nine o'clock, as the lead-lined Templar was passing under the Ferry street bridge that spans the Erie Canal, a little daughter of the Captain of the boat (Johnson), about eleven years old, took it into her head to swing upon one of the iron rods of the bridge, and before she could release herself the boat passed on and left her suspended over the water. Her cries attracted the attention of the workmen engaged upon Gen Bathbone's new foundry, but her position was such that it seemed almost impossible to reach her. A carpenter, standing almost midway under the bridge, and the only alternative left her, apparently, was to drop into the canal and take chances of being rescued by some of the spectators. This she would not do, yet it was but a question of time before she would be compelled to relinquish her hold and drop exhausted into the canal. At this juncture a clerk came to the little sufferer. A man named Michael Geary, residing on Ferry street, seeing the crowd, had come to learn the cause of the excitement. A glance was sufficient. With a coolness worthy of record he divested himself of coat, hat and boots, and getting down the side of the bridge took a firm hold and clung to the iron rod on which the little girl was suspended. He then "walked" hand over hand till he reached her, and having got his arms around the child let himself down until she rested her arms on his face. In this way he returned to the towpath, where the rescued and heroic child clung to safety on the bank. It was a marvelous task and one which would require a great deal of muscular power to accomplish, except coals and boulton is currency. The value of the imports is paid.

The value of foreign commodities exported from the United States during the past year was $257,674,710, against $238,530,032 the previous year. The value of foreign merchandise remaining in the warehouses of the United States on June 30 1875, was $76,706,221, against $70,680,063 in 1874.

—An Oregon Justice of the Peace married a couple recently, regulated their family difficulties as best he could from time to time, and when the husband killed his wife and then himself the same fitted is used acted as coroner and undertaker and read the funeral services.

—Probably one of the most thrilling spectacles in life—one that sends through the observer the greatest variety of emotions in a moment—is that of a girl darting like light under her lover's mustache to capture a cherry held between his teeth.

—Pitchburg, Mass., is suffering from an irruption of tramps, and the Mayor has issued a proclamation calling upon citizens to refuse them food and to have them arrested as vagrants.

Imports and Exports During Last Year.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14.

The detailed statement of imports and exports for the year ended June 30, 1875, has just been issued by the Bureau of Statistics. Compared with the preceding fiscal year a marked falling off in the aggregates of our foreign and domestic trade is shown. The total value of imports for the year was $553,912,325, a falling off of nearly $42,000,000 compared with the preceding year. Of the merchandise imported $405,180,641 was non-dutiable, leaving $148,731,684 as the amount upon which duties have been collected during the year. The decrease in gold coin imported was $5,574,315, and in silver coin $2,395,016. During the year the excess of gold coin exported over that imported was $46,346,827, and silver coin $565,952, which shows a loss in coin for the last fiscal year of $46,000,000.

IMPORTS.

The following table will show the values of the leading articles imported during the last fiscal year compared with the corresponding year 1874:

Commodities	1875	1874
Coffee	$60,115,197	$77,800,468
Sugar	79,241,176	82,111,084
Gold bullion	1,371,538	1,414,909
Gold coin	5,574,315	11,148,630
Silver bullion	10,273,711	8,776,362
Silver coin	2,395,016	2,960,968
Tea	21,778,731	19,611,747
Wool	32,998,709	31,441,673
Wool and skins not for wool	5,183,787	5,344,978
Cotton, manufactures of	1,743,172	1,882,813
Cotton, unmanufactured	1,743,172	1,882,813
Bullion, all kinds	2,201,347	2,132,027
Chemicals, drugs	6,000,000	5,538,987
Fruits and nuts	12,785,569	8,281,470
Fruits, dried and undried	3,000,000	2,942,156
Provisions, meats	3,000,000	2,942,156
Provisions, breadstuffs and flour	3,000,000	2,942,156
Hides and skins	3,000,000	2,942,156
Iron and steel	1,811,000	1,776,140
Leather, manufactures of	13,000,000	13,414,700
Leather, manufactures of	13,000,000	13,414,700
Leather, manufactures of	13,000,000	13,414,700

The County Building Question!

We suggested last week that the county procure a safe in which to keep the county records and files. While the rooms at present used by the county tho seems too practicable, and yet the want of a safe depository for the county books and papers has developed into an absolute necessity. The destruction by fire of the records of mortgages and deeds would work an almost irreparable damage to the county. Likewise the destruction of the court and miscellaneous records would involve us in serious difficulties.

Viewing the matter, then, in the light of these possible immediate, can it not be considered economy to provide for them? The county possesses a plat of ground, purchased with a view to a county building being erected upon it, when the county finances would warrant the outlay. Has not the proper time arrived when we may safely commence the erection of a court house? A $10,000 building could be built within a year, without imposing excessive taxation upon the people. We are comparatively out of debt, and our prospective financial resources are flattering.

As an example of enterprise and a spirit of improvement, we point our Supervisors to School District No. 1, of Charlevoix, and their school building. If this District can build a $3,500 building on an aggregate assessed valuation of $10,000, with greater prosperity and economy can this county erect a $10,000 building on an aggregate assessed valuation of $190,000.

By the adoption of the plan of issuing two per cent bonds, payable $1,000 and interest annually for ten years, the present age of taxation would be less than two and one-half mills on a dollar. What tax-payer can reasonably object to adopting the scheme under this plan. Speaking, then, in the light of the fact that some better provision must soon be made for county records and files, we advance this as a plausible scheme, and urge it upon the attention of our County Board.

COMPETITION is the life of trade If you don't believe it come and see Fox, Rose, & Buttars.

GINGERBREAD.—There seems to be a prospect that Senator Ferry will secure an appropriation for the improvement of the National Park at Mackinac, where a few rich Congressmen and Army Officers annually hie to get out of the warm weather —and is the face and eyes of the retrenchment policy of Congress; but a few thousand for the benefit of commerce and navigation at Charlevoix is an extremely difficult thing to get. And by the way, the Senator visited Cheboygan last week, and was cordially received by the Democrats of that place. They get appropriations there. Votes? Votes! Votes!

CARPENTER & BARTHOLOMEW, are receiving goods almost daily. Their stock is always fresh and attractive.

TRIP TO PETOSKEY.—We had the pleasure of spending the Sabbath at Petoskey, and met many friends and made many new acquaintances. We took up our headquarters at the Rose House, and were shown the usual hospitable favors by Dr. Little, the popular landlord. We called at the store of Fox, Rose & Buttars, and found "Tom" as cordial and affable as ever and the establishment under his charge in a flourishing condition Brother Rose of the Democrat, was absent but we called at his residence, and paid our compliments to his lively little lady. Our friend Qualtrough at the Railroad Office, met us with the the cordiality and treated us with the courtesy which is characteristic of the man. Petoskey is a lively little town, and has lively and enterprising people.

PORK, pork, lard and provisions, best qualities, and lowest prices at Fox, Rose, & Buttars.

CHARLEVOIX.—We telephone for Charlevoix by the steamer Van Raalte on Saturday last. The weather proved so boisterous that the boat laid over at Northport till Sunday morning. As we left Charlevoix at nine o'clock a.m. Monday we had but little opportunity to look around town. It was evident, even to a casual observer, that the village is having a steady and healthful growth. It has not been rushing ahead, like some towns we know of, to come to a sudden stop and then grow back for a series of years. "Slow and sure" is safe if it isn't brilliant or exciting.

The country about, which makes Charlevoix its business center, has good soil and is well timbered. It is being gradually settled and developed and will, in due time time, support a numerous population. Wood, lumber, tan bark, and potatoes are the chief articles of export at present.

Friend Smith, of the Sentinel, is patiently working away. His paper is growing in usefulness and popularity, and, we trust, in profitableness to the proprietor.

When they get the harbor appropriation for which they have asked, and thus secure a wide and deep channel into Round Lake, admitting to it vessels and steamers of the largest class, the business and growth of the village may be expected to receive a new impetus.

We have before said that Charlevoix was in these days to grow up on the shore, and we shall not "go back" on the assertion.—Herald.

Some of that Patent Flour just received at Carpenter & Bartholomew's

---

Programme

Of the entertainment for the benefit of the M. E. Church, to be given in Charlevoix Friday evening, Sept. 3d, 1875 :

SONG.

"Old Oak Orchard's Rippling Stream," by the company.

THOMAS OF TORRES.

Thomas.....Chester See.
Needy Gen.....John Mason.
Grim looking Man.....John Ackert.
Lord of Torres.....Edwin Washburn
Servant.....Horatio Young
Steward.....Warren Wade.

STRICTLY CONFIDENTIAL

Miss Sarah Kellner.

CINDERELLA.

King.....Edwin Washburn.
Prince Report.....Horatio Young.
Courtier.....John Mason
Servant.....Chester See.
Cinderella.....Miss Alice Ayers.
Sisters.....Misses Sarah Kellner and Kate Johnson.
Mother of Sisters.....Miss Ella Cooper.
Grantmother.....Miss Ida Mason

MY FRIEND.

Miss Kate Johnson.

THE MAID WIFE AND WIDOW.

Miss Alice Ayers, and John Mason.

"HOW HE WON HER"

Hector.....John Mason
Peter Mitt.....Edwin Washburn.
Mr. Lacy.....Chester See
Mrs. Lacy.....Miss Sarah Kellner
Angelina Lacy.....Miss Jennie Baker.
Jonathan Lacy.....Horatio Young
Rev. T. Parsons.....John Ackert.

"THIS WORLD IS A STAGE."

John Mason.

"REJECTED AND ACCEPTED"

Miss Kate Johnson, Warren Wade and Horatio Young.

"A DROP TOO MUCH."

Farmer Drinkwater.....John Mason.
Robert Greenleaf.....Chester See.
Josiah Drinkwater.....Horatio Young.
Phebin.....John Ackert.
Grandmother.....Miss Sarah Kellner.
Jurnba.....Miss Bessie Dougherty.

"WINNING AT ME."

Horatio Young.

"VON LEETLE GERMAN POEM.

Edwin Washburn.

"MY FEELINGS ON VIEWING THE BRIDAL OF MY RIVAL."

A chorus in which all will be expected to join.

"CAUGHT AT IT."

Old man.....John Mason.
The Beau.....Edwin Washburn
Old Lady.....Miss Sarah Kellner.
Daughter.....Bessie Dougherty.

"SWEET SIXTEEN."

"WOMANS' RIGHTS."

"HANS SCHLAKENLEIGHTER'S SNAKE."

Edwin Washburn.

"A WOMAN'S QUESTION."

Miss Alice Ayers.

"ELLA REE."

A song by John Ackert, Edwin Washburn; John Mason and Elisha Hawks.

Various interesting Tableaux and Charades will be introduced. The evening's entertainment will conclude with a laughable afterpiece, entitled

"THE YANKEE BARBER."

Barber.....Edwin Washburn.
Servant.....Horatio Young.
Customer.....John Ackert.

Admission 25cts. Children under 12, 15cts. Doors open at 7:30, performance to commence at 8:

NOTICE—All persons, who at any time employ Caleb and Joshua Morgan, my sons, are hereby forbidden to pay them for their labor except by my consent.

GEO. W. MORGAN.

Boyne, Mich., August 21, 1875.

Letters from Druggists,

There is no case of Dyspepsia that Green's August Flower will not cure. Come to the Drug Store of G. W. CROTTER, and inquire about it. If you suffer from Costiveness, Sick Headache, Sour Stomach, Indigestion Liver Complaint, or derangement of the Stomach or Liver try it. For three doses will relieve you.

Boschee's German Syrup is now sold in every town and city in the United States. We have not less than five hundred letters from druggists, saying it is the best medicine they ever sold for consumption, Throat or Lung disease. Sample bottles of both for 10 cents. Regular size 75 cents.

Twenty Men

Can get work at good prices by calling immediately on

T. W. NICHOLS,
At the head of Pine Lake.

Charlevoix, August 2, 1875.

FARM FOR SALE.

The subscriber offers for sale his farm in South Arm Township in this county, containing 80 acres, thirty acres cleared and five acres fallow; short distance from grist and saw mill; orchard of 80 apple trees, and forty cherry and plum trees. Well fenced; frame house, well finished and painted outside; log barn, etc. Price, $600—which is half the cost of the improvements.

CHAS. H. HEALEY,
Advance, Mich.

July 15, 1875.

Boyne Falls House,

Boyne Falls, Mich.

In close proximity to Depot. Good accommodation for guests.

4:tf] WM. NELSON, Prop.

RAILROAD

Carpenter & Handy

BOYNE FALLS, M.

Dealers in

DRY GOODS,

Groceries,
Provisions,
Hardware,
Crockery.

And in fact every article needed by the people of this region.

O URGOODSANDPRICES

Speak for Themselves.

We have first class facilities for keeping full stock, and customers can always find here just what they want.

Call and See Us.

May 22, 1875. 1-1y

FOR SALE.

The undersigned offers for sale, (agreeable to suit buyers, and on long time to) the following

F A R M S :

The timber is beech, maple, hemlock, and some cedar and cedar, and each lot is surrounded by settlers.

125 Acres on State road, one mile from Charlevoix, Norwood road on south line, two acres cleared at the junction of the State and Norwood road. Price, $1,000.

123 Acres 11 miles from Charlevoix; half mile on Pine Lake; good log house; four acres cleared. Price $200.

40 Acres 5 miles from Charlevoix; two acres cleared. Price $200.

175 Acres three and a half miles from Charlevoix; 20 acres into timothy 7 good barn 20x40 feet; lapel fence. Price $1,750.

284 Acres on State road 6 miles from Charlevoix; two room house running through; this; no improvement. Price, $1,136.

160 Acres 6 miles from Charlevoix on County road; house-location of 40 acres five feet brook. Price, $640.

167 Acres 6 miles from Charlevoix; between 50,000 and 100,000 No 1 pine on this; balance mostly rock-elm and maple. $800.

80 Acres 2 miles from Charlevoix, 40 rods from Pine Lake; Lake-shore road passes through one end. Town road through the other; timber, maple. $500.

120 Acres 2 miles from Charlevoix on Town road; trout-brook on this; no improvements. $300.

No better water can be found anywhere. All the houses and streets abound in trout.

For further particulars apply to

H. L. CHITTENDEN,
Charlevoix, Mich

486-ml

1875. 1875.

Spring and Summer

Fox, Rose & Buttars.

PETOSKEY:

Headquarters to Buy

DRY GOODS,

GROCERIES & PROVISION

BOOTS and SHOES.

TIN and HARDWARE.

STOVES, SOVEREIGN

CROCKERY & GLASSWARE.

TRUNKS, Traveling Bags

FURNITURE

We always keep good goods and sell at our best Cash Prices. Strangers arriving in town soon find their way to our store; people living near us know how the themselves

Largest Stock! Lowest Prices

Careful Attention to Orders.

Fox, Rose & Buttars

G. B. MILLS,

DEALER IN

Gen'l Merchandise,

Boyne Falls, Mich.,

Located adjacent to railroad, and careful attention to paid to the wants of customers.

Cash Paid for Country Produce

People in the vicinity of the railroad and the head of Pine Lake, can may make it for their interests to call and examine goods and prices.

May 22, 1875.

REAL ESTATE AGENCY

—OF—

H. L. MILLER,

CHARLEVOIX, MICH.

Transfers made, non-resident taxes paid and all real estate business attended to promptly and on reasonable terms.

The following descriptions are offered for sale at special bargains:

EMMET COUNTY.

E. ½ of S. ½ section 20, T. 37 N., R. 6 west. Containing 80 acres.

W. ½ of S. ½ sec. 7, T. 33 N., R. 5 west. Containing 80 acres. Maple and beech.

N. ½ of sec tion 33 Town 37 N., R. 6 W.; S. ½ of sec 1 section 2, Town 35, N., 6 W.

Timber, maple and beech, elm, hemlock, basswood and ash.

CHARLEVOIX COUNTY.

The old Brady Farm, at Harvard P. O., on the State Road, 1½ miles from Charlevoix. N. ½ of S. ½ sec 9, T. 33 N., R. 8 west, 80 acres, 35 acres improved; 10 full trees bearing; 12 acres in meadow; good dwelling-log house, barn, good well, and other conveniences. All enclosed with a board-en fence. For terms address the agency, or N. Ainslie, Charlevoix.

John Bellchamp, in Marion Township, timber, good frame house, 16x32, good cellar; the fall drop of the house; house barn 24x32, and all good conveniences; 25 acres chopped, and 15 or 20 meadow; the most of soil, timber, maple, beech, elm, hemlock, cedar and black ash; good house running through the farm and three living springs. W. ½ of N. W. ¼ of section 24, Town 31 North, of Range 8 West. N. ½ of the N. W. ¼ of section 34, Town 32 North, of Range 8 West. Good log house. Terms made easy.

18-1y

J. E. Greilick & Co.,

TRAVERSE CITY, MICH.,

Manufacturers of, and Dealers in

Sash & Doors,

BLINDS, MOULDINGS, BRACKETS,

STORE FRONTS

Stair Railing Balusters and Newel Posts. A large assortment of glazed and unglazed Sash, of standard sizes.

SEASONED

Clear Lumber, Dressed Flooring, Ceiling Siding and Pickets constantly on hand for the general trade. Orders by Boat will be promptly attended to.

MEAT MARKET.

A. J. McLEOD,

Respectfully informs the public of Charlevoix and vicinity that he has established a Meat Market adjoining the Charlevoix House, where he will furnish fresh meats at low rates. Cash paid for fat cattle and hogs

---

FOUNTAIN CITY HOUSE.

Charlevoix, Michigan

RICHARD COOPER, Prop,

Has been re-built, enlarged, and arranged with a view to the comfort of the traveling public. Tags go from here to

Jordan and Boyne Rivers,

Inwhich abound myriads of Speckled Trout Baggage moved free of charge.

BLACKSMITHING.

The subscriber would inform the citizens of South Arm and vicinity that he has opened his shop at the head, where he is prepared to do all manner of work in his line.

Horse-Shoeing a Specialty.

Also repairing carriages, making and repairing plows, axes and edge tools. He defies competition.

WM. J. VOTE.

Nelsonville, Jan. 1, 1875. 1376m.

ADVERTISING: Cheap! Good; by a veteran.—All persons who contemplate making contracts with newspapers for the insertion of advertisements, should send 25 cents to Geo. P. Rowell & Co., 41 Park Row, New York for their PAMPHLET-BOOK (ninety-seventh edition), containing lists of over three newspapers and estimates showing the cost. Advertisements inserted for leading papers in many States at a twenty-five reduction from publishers' rates. Get the book.

BOOTS AND SHOES.

Robert Holbon

A workman of experience, would respectfully announce to the citizens of Charlevoix and vicinity that he has located in this village and is prepared to do all kinds of

CUSTOM WORK

In his line on short notice and at low rates. May be found opposite Br. Lewis' Drug Store.

Charlevoix, June 27, 1874.

REAL ESTATE AGENCY

—OF—

H. O. ROSE & CO.,

LAND

AND

Collection Agents,

Petoskey City, Mich.

Farms & Farming Lands

Bought and sold on commission.

We are now preparing an Abstract of Title of Emmet County. It will be completed in a few weeks, and we can then furnish Abstracts on short notice

Charges Reasonable.

We have some of the most desirable locations of Indian selections of Farming Lands which we offer at very low figures:

No. 1. 80 acres. First rate farming land Situated 21 miles from Little Traverse bay; well timbered—beech and maple; soil rich sandy loam; will be sold very cheap E½ of sec 9 of section 36, Town 36 North, of Range 6 west.

No. 2. 40 acres. Sw¼ of nw¼ section 30 Town 31 North, of Range 5 west 34 miles from Petoskey City, with 10 acres cleared small log house; will be sold at a bargain.

No. 3. 160 acres. N½ of sw¼ and se¼ of sw¼ and fractional one half of section 25. Will be sold in separate descriptions or in a body. Have large creek running the whole length with good water powers. Well timbered, and will be sold cheap for cash. This is one of the best chances in the country for a person wishing to engage in the milling business.

We have also a great many descriptions Farming lands near Petoskey City, which I will sell at reasonable prices. Some of the Lands have old Indian improvements, and we easily be made into farms.

1-13y

H. O. ROSE & CO.
Petoskey, Mich., May 1st.

GEO. W. ESTERLY & CO.

CHARLEVOIX MICH

MANUFACTURERS OF

HARD

and

SOFT

LUMBER

ALSO

Shingles

Lath

Cheese Box Stuff

Broom Handles

Etc.

LUMBER SAWED

TO ORDER

AND

BILLS FILLED

On short Notice

Time = Money

Save It.

And Buy Your Goods at Home.

OLD FLETCH.

Would respectfully inform those in South Arm that he still holds forth the Head jolly and good natured as ever—bound to live and let live; has just brought in a fresh supply of goods for winter, and sells at bottom prices for cash.

CALL and SEE.

All kinds of Grain, Furs, etc., take n exchange for goods.

W. E. EMPEY.

South Arm, Dec. 10, 1874.

LAND FOR SALE.

The subscriber has for sale on reasonable terms of payment, the following desirable

LANDS

Situated in Charlevoix County, Mich. They have been located for some years, and are

FIRST - QUALITY

As regards soil and hardwood timber:

Town 33 North of Range 7 West.

W½ of sw¼ of section 24.
S½ of se¼ " 27.
Lots 1, 2 and 3 " 34.
N. E. ¼ of " 34.

Town 34 North of Range 7 West.

E½ of se¼ of section 25.
W. ½ of sw¼ " 29.
S. of sw¼ " 29.
Lots 1, 3 and 4 " 31.
N. ½ of " 31.

Town 32 North of Range 6 West.

S. W. ¼ of sec 9.

Town 32 North of Range 5 West.

S. ½ of sw¼ of section 16.
S. ½ " nw¼ " 16.
W. ½ of se¼ " 16.

The last three descriptions, containing 200 acres, are within one half mile of Boyne Falls Station, on the G. R. & I. R. R.

For price, terms etc., address

AMOS FOX, Charlevoix.

1-4f.

New Harness Shop.

The subscriber would respectfully inform the public of Charlevoix and vicinity that he is now prepared to do work in his line promptly and at reasonable rates.

REPAIRING

A specialty. May be found at the old Beers stand, opposite Fox, Rose & Buttars' store.

CHESTER DENTON.

Charlevoix, August 8, 1874.

A. NIBEW O. D. McCABE.

Charlevoix Michigan.

BOOT AND SHOE SHOP.

custom work done promptly and in the latest style. Repairing done on short notice.

THE SENTINEL

JOB PRINTING

DEPARTMENT

—

PLAIN and COLORED WORK

Promptly and Neatly Done

The Sentinel,

Published every Tuesday by

WILLARD A. SMITH,

—EDITOR AND PROPRIETOR—

OFFICE—Postoffice Building, On Bridge Street.

Terms of Subscription:
$2.00 per Annum, In Advance.
$1.50 FOR SIX MONTHS.

JOB PRINTING executed in good style and reasonable rates.

Business Directory.

A. CLARK, Notary Public, Conveyancer, etc.

WILLARD A. SMITH, Notary Public and Insurance Agent, Charlevoix, Mich.

BOSS SEE, County Treasurer, Charlevoix.

A. DEANE, General Insurance Agent, Charlevoix, Mich.

M. L. SHEPARD, Register of Deeds, Charlevoix, Mich.

JOHN S. DIVEN, County Surveyor, Notary and Deputy Clerk, Charlevoix, Mich.

S. C. SMITH, Attorney at Law, Notary Public, Mich.

LOVE H. GRAY, Attorney at Law, Traverse City, Mich.

EDWARD H. GITTINS, Attorney and Counsellor at Law, Charlevoix, Mich.

ROBERT MILLER, Cabinet Ornamental & Carriage Work, Particular Attention paid to horse-painting.

MRS. J. INGALLS, Milliner. Millinery goods of the latest styles kept constantly on hand. Charlevoix, Mich.

MRS. ROSE & PUTTERS, dealers in Dry Goods, Groceries, Provisions, Hardware, Crockery, Charlevoix.

D. L. LEWIS, Physician, Surgeon and Accoucheur. Charlevoix. Calls promptly attended to. Office at Dead Stock.

F. J. BERGH & CO., Norwood, Mich., dealers in Country Merchandise.

WM. S. HARRIS, Justice of Peace for Charlevoix County. Postoffice address Norwood Mich. Sessions of Court will be held at Charlevoix on the first Monday of each month at nine o'clock, A. M.

D. R. JOSLYN, Attorney at Law, Justice of the Peace, Real Estate and Insurance Agent. Collections promptly attended to. Office on Bridge street, Charlevoix, Mich.

C. J. FAITHORN,

Attorney and Counselor at Law,

Solicitor in Chancery and Notary Public. Will practice in Emmet and adjoining counties. Office in Gifford's block, Petoskey, Mich. 1-6y

---

DR. LITTLE and BRO.,

Physicians and Surgeons.

Petoskey, Emmet County, Mich.

The Campbell House,

TRAVERSE CITY MICH.

H .D. CAMPBELL, Prop

R. W. COY,

Dealer in General Merchandise,

SPENCER CREEK, ANTRIM CO., MICH.

H. A. ROLLINS,

LITTLE TRAVERSE, MICH.

DEALER IN

DRY GOODS,

Groceries and Provisions.

The highest market price paid for Furs, Hides and farm produce.

1y1 H. A. ROLLINS

M. J. Stockman

Charlevoix, Mich.,

DEALER IN

HARDWARE,

Tinware & Stoves.

Keeps constantly on hand a large supply of the celebrated

DETROIT STOVES,

With Furniture.

A well select. I stock of Sheff Hardware.

Repairing in all its branches done on short notice and in good style.

Cash Paid for Old Copper

CHARLEVOIX SENTINEL.

Terms, $2.00 per Annum. | Devoted to the Interests of Charlevoix County. | Always in Advance.

Vol. VII. No. 18. CHARLEVOIX, MICH., SEPT. 7, 1875. Whole No., 330

The Sentinel.

Advertising Rates:

[Table of rates illegible]

Rates in Business Directory, $1 per line per year.

Local advertisements double rates.

PROOF OF PROBATE NOTICE.

State of Michigan, County of Antrim, ss. In the matter of the Estate of Hiram Crandall deceased. The undersigned, Judge of Probate of Charlevoix County, having full power to adjust and settle all claims and demands against the estate of the said Hiram Crandall and six months from the annual day of August, A. D. 1875, having been allowed to the creditors of said Estate to present their claims to the undersigned for examination and allowance, notice is hereby given that at a session of the Probate Court to be holden on Monday, the 6th day of September, A. D. 1875, and on Monday the 22 day of February, A. D. 1876 at the office of the Judge of Probate, in the village of Charlevoix for the purpose of examining and adjusting said claims. Dated, Charlevoix, Aug. 2, 1875.

13 HIRAM HARRIS, Judge of Probate.

A FACT!

That people have no object in going away from home to do when they can get just what they want

JUST AS CHEAP

AT HOME!

We propose to keep just what the people want, and sell at bottom prices. Conveniently located at the

HEAD OF

SOUTH ARM

One stock embraces general merchandise of all kinds. Give us a call.

COLE & INSAMAN.

South Arm Aug. 16, 1875.

Fish!

Fresh fish, salt fish, pickled fish, pickled fish, Mackerellers, trout or whitefish, in any quantity, can be furnished by

"TIP" MILLER

Formerly of Beaver Island. Parties or families desiring fresh fish can send their order to Charlevoix, and it will be filled.

THE BOSS

Grocery Store.

BYRON SEE

Call the attention of the people of this vicinity to the important fact that

GROCERIES

Cannot be bought cheaper in the Grand Traverse region than at his store in Charlevoix.

Also Dry Goods

As cheap as the cheapest.

Come and See!

Charlevoix, August 1, 1875.

L A W

—AND—

Real Estate Office

—OF—

Edw. H. Green,

Charlevoix Mich.

Improved Farms

AND

Wild Lands

Bought and sold on commission.

Taxes Paid and Non-Resident Lands Cared For.

Collections a Specialty.

Titles Investigated, & Abstracts of Titles Furnished.

From thousand acres of the choicest Farming Lands in Charlevoix, Emmet and Antrim counties for sale at very low prices. Most of these lands are situated near the South Arm, Intermediate and Pine Lake—several are included in School Districts, and situated on good roads.

For terms and descriptions apply to, or address

E. H. GREEN,
Real Estate Agent
Charlevoix, Mich.

1y.

THE SENTINEL.

WILLARD A. SMITH, EDITOR.

Charlevoix Postoffice.

MAILS—Mails arrive on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays at 12 M., depart on the same days at 4 p.m.

NORTH AUM mail leaves at 7 a. m. on Tuesdays and Saturdays; arrives at 6 p. m. of the same days.

W. A. SMITH P. M.

Church Directory.

PRESBYTERIAN—Sabbath, 10, Wesley, Pastor.

METHODIST—Rev. W. E. Crary, Pastor.

Services of both denominations held in accordance with weekly announcements made in the columns of this paper.

Sabbath School at 12 o'clock A. M.

Prayer Meetings every Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock.

Local News.

BUTTER wanted on subscription to the SENTINEL.

SIX new babies last week in our neighborhood in the township of Norwood.

UNCLE Andrew Nowland has our thanks for choice garden luxuries.

BUTTER is bringing 23 cents per pound, and eggs 15 cents per dozen in Charlevoix market.

A copy of the SENTINEL of Aug. 17th wanted. Will some one be kind enough to lend it one?

PRICES for new wheat ranges about as follows: Winter sound, $1.20; Spring sound, $1.10.

SEPTEMBER is the earliest month in which partridges or turkeys can be legally shot.

J. MILO EATON, Esq., is to occupy Mrs. Lennie Ingalls new residence on State street, and has already moved in.

Underclothing — oh, yes, they have them. New stock and cheap as dirt, at Carpenter & Bartholomew's.

A. Battars, Esq., of this village, left today as a lay delegate to the Michigan M. E. Conference at Battle creek.

SOME drunken Indians at Petoskey broke into a house one night recently, and chronically maltreated an old man.

PORTERS' MILL on Pine Lake, is in complete order for grinding. They make a No. 1 flour. Send on your grain.

FIRE AT RIX RAPIDS.—The elevator of the Rix Rapids Iron works was destroyed by fire on Saturday night last. The damage is quite extensive.

HAY PRESS FOR SALE.—The hay-press formerly owned by Capt. Gifford is for sale cheap. Inquire of Fox, Rose & Buttars.

MORTGAGE SALE.

Default having been made in the conditions of a certain Mortgage executed by Lee Tomlinson and Rachell Perkins, of Beaver Island, Manitou County, Michigan, to Franklin Moore, Geo. Fouts and George F. Bagley, corporating the firm of Moore, Fouts & Co., of Detroit, Wayne county, Michigan, dated September 16th, 1871, and recorded on the tenth day of October, 1871, at one o'clock p. m. in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the County of Manitou, and State of Michigan in Liber one of Mortgages, on pages 39 and 37, upon which said Mortgage there is claimed to be due and unpaid at the date of this notice the sum of Two hundred dollars and interest, and no proceedings or other dollars and interest having been instituted to recover the same now remains unpaid and due, and no suit or proceeding at law or in equity has been instituted to collect the same, or any part thereof, nothing to prevent the power of sale contained in said Mortgage from becoming operative. Now, therefore, by virtue of said power of sale contained in said Mortgage, and in pursuance of the statute in such case made and provided, notice is hereby given that said Mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises therein described, at public vendue, to the highest bidder, to pay the same, on the 10th day of Nov., A. D. 1875, at two o'clock p. m. of said day, at the front door of the Court House in the Village of St. James, in the county of Manitou, that being the place at which the Circuit Court for said county of Manitou is held.

FRANCIS PALMS,
Assignee of FRANKLIN MOORE,
GEO. FOUTS, and
GEO. F. BAGLEY,
Mortgagees.

Dated July 10th, 1875.

EDWARD H. GITTINS,
Attorneys for Mortgagee
(Moore's Assn. § 17-26

THE SENTINEL.

WILLARD A. SMITH, EDITOR.

Charlevoix Postoffice.

MAILS—Mails arrive on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays at 12 M., depart on the same days at 4 p.m.

NORTH AUM mail leaves at 7 a. m. on Tuesdays and Saturdays; arrives at 6 p. m. of the same days.

W. A. SMITH P. M.

Church Directory.

PRESBYTERIAN—Sabbath, 10, Wesley, Pastor.

METHODIST—Rev. W. E. Crary, Pastor.

Services of both denominations held in accordance with weekly announcements made in the columns of this paper.

Sabbath School at 12 o'clock A. M.

Prayer Meetings every Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock.

Local News.

BUTTER wanted on subscription to the SENTINEL.

SIX new babies last week in our neighborhood in the township of Norwood.

UNCLE Andrew Nowland has our thanks for choice garden luxuries.

BUTTER is bringing 23 cents per pound, and eggs 15 cents per dozen in Charlevoix market.

A copy of the SENTINEL of Aug. 17th wanted. Will some one be kind enough to lend it one?

PRICES for new wheat ranges about as follows: Winter sound, $1.20; Spring sound, $1.10.

SEPTEMBER is the earliest month in which partridges or turkeys can be legally shot.

J. MILO EATON, Esq., is to occupy Mrs. Lennie Ingalls new residence on State street, and has already moved in.

Underclothing — oh, yes, they have them. New stock and cheap as dirt, at Carpenter & Bartholomew's.

A. Battars, Esq., of this village, left today as a lay delegate to the Michigan M. E. Conference at Battle creek.

SOME drunken Indians at Petoskey broke into a house one night recently, and chronically maltreated an old man.

PORTERS' MILL on Pine Lake, is in complete order for grinding. They make a No. 1 flour. Send on your grain.

FIRE AT RIX RAPIDS.—The elevator of the Rix Rapids Iron works was destroyed by fire on Saturday night last. The damage is quite extensive.

HAY PRESS FOR SALE.—The hay-press formerly owned by Capt. Gifford is for sale cheap. Inquire of Fox, Rose & Buttars.

THE steamer Josie made a trip to Beaver Harbor Wednesday night.

ARRANGEMENTS have been completed so there is not very little doubt that the telegraph line will be extended from Northport to Leland the present season.

THE Methodist Conference commences its eight-third annual session this week at Battle Creek. It will be presided over by Bishop Scott, of Delaware.

THE wrecking tug Leviathan is now to be stationed at Cheboygan instead of Mackinaw, on account of the new graphite facilities.

COMPLAINTS to the action of the Grand Rapids & Indiana railroad, which has raised the State tax on the land grant, the Flint & Pere Marquette railroad, proposes to boot the State out of its lands.

THERE is much water lying around out doors in central and southern Indiana and Ohio that the farmers are gathering their cut hay with fish nets, and drying it in the house over a chafing dish.

THE FISH ARE.—I was fishing in streams in grahamland between September 1st and May 1st, and fishing for graphite is prohibited between November 1st and June 1st, in each year by act No 201 of the laws of 1875, in Michigan.

DEATH FROM ACCIDENTAL SHOOTING.—A young man, son of Frederick Kern, of Dearborn, accidentally shot himself while hunting on the 30th The charge entered under the ribs, and produced death in a few hours. He was a young man of much promise.

THE old Charlevoix Dramatic Club are sending up the celebrated and popular play of "Ten Nights in a Bar Room" and the public may expect a rare dramatic treat at some time not far in the future.

TORNADO.—Mr. Bethuel Clothrow of the M. E. Church building committee, desires to express the thanks of the society to Mr. Robert Milne and the sailing fleet, who offered such a generous benefit for the building fund, last Friday evening.

DRAMATIC.—A business meeting of the Charlevoix Dramatic Club will be held on next Wednesday evening at W. C. Newman's store building. A full attendance of the Club is desired. By order of manager.

WE heard a man say he could buy more goods with the same money at Carpenter & Bartholomew's than any other place in this region. That man, when a boy, owned a hatchet, and never went fishing on Sunday.

THE OUTLOOK.—The anticipation of a revival of business along the lakes in the latter part of the season, engendered by most recent men, are generally being declared, and the opinion gains ground that marine business will remain dull during the rest of the season.

A TO THE NATIONAL PARK.—Col. H. A. Gifford and a corps of assistants left Detroit on Wednesday to make a survey of the land at Mackinac appropriated by the Government for the purpose of a national park. It is expected the result of Col. Gifford's labors will be laid before Congress next winter.

UNDUE.—Our delinquent readers must know that we need every cent due us in order to make our ends meet. A little is not much, but a little in a good many places makes considerable. We hope our friends will appreciate what we are trying to do for them in the way of furnishing them a good family paper and hand in the amounts due.

THE PERRY MORE farms are reported from all parts of the State, and forty men, Holland, Spring Lake, Kalamazoo, and fifty other places send in a similar account of Jack's advance, and the destruction he has caused. Beckwheat, corn potatoes and grapes are the most injured. Kent County has had an especially severe visitation

---

A HOAX.—The sensational yarn started by one of the Chicago papers the son of the late Bellamy was a Chicago boat-black was a hoax The young morgue, at the death of his father, was taken by a rich Chicago gentleman, who has been educating him. We get the information from a person who resides not far from here, and who knows all the parties concerned and all the circumstances of this case. The rest of this strong story is all true, however.

Shall We Have an Agricultural Society?

Among the meetings of importance this week among the first in point of weight and dignity of aim and object is the meeting of all the agricultural producers in the county to be held at Boyne Falls on Saturday next. From all parts of the county comes word that there will be a large attendance. Reports from all sections of the county indicate that the crops are fairly abundant, and the farmers are encouraged by the prospect. Reports from the wheat and oat fields of Wilson and Marion show that the yield of wheat will be about twenty bushels to the acre, and oats will be a heavy crop. Potatoes are also a heavy crop, and the yield is unusually large. Corn is also in a flourishing condition. Another crop which is destined to be a source of profit to the farmers of this county is the grape. Many farmers have planted vineyards and have found the business profitable. Peaches, plums, pears, and all kinds of small fruits are also a source of profit. Fruit, from the strawberry and raspberry to the apple and the luscious peach, can be raised in this county, and no county can exhibit finer specimens, considering the age and size of the plants. In productiveness of the hardwood and dairy we are not behind. As the latter and cheese can be made here as in the cooperative dairies of the United States. In other articles of domestic manufacture our good housewives can show their hand to the credit of themselves and the county.

Although our agricultural resources are not comparatively as much utilized, we repeat the statement that, in point of quality and yield, we can compete with any of the older counties. We receive the impression from those who have visited us that we could be organized here which would prove a source of profit and pride to the people of the county. By means of exercises of this nature, the exhibition of the county's products of a locality is made to serve two purposes: 1st. They tend to excite a spirit of friendly rivalry among farmers which must necessarily lead to good results as each succeeding year great them an opportunity to exhibit the products of their labor. 2d. They show to other localities less favored with natural blessings, what the agricultural advantages of a locality are, and are therefore powerful agents in the attraction of settlements and lastly people thitherward.

To say nothing of the pleasure and amusement afforded by the annual fairs of these societies, the reasons we have given several are sufficient to point out the two purposes: 1st. They tend to excite a spirit of friendly rivalry among farmers which must necessarily lead to good results as each succeeding year gives

The County Building Question!

We suggested last week that the county procure a safe in which to keep the county records and files. With the rooms at present used by the county this seems impracticable and yet the want of a safe depository for the county books and papers has developed into an absolute necessity. The destruction by fire of the records of mortgages and deeds would work an almost irreparable damage to the county. Likewise the destruction of the court and miscellaneous records would involve us in serious difficulties.

Viewing the matter, then, in the light of these possible inconveniences, can it not be considered economy to provide for them? The county possesses a plot of ground, purchased with a view to a county building being erected upon it, when the county finances would warrant the outlay. Has not the proper time arrived when we may safely commence the erection of a court house? A $10,000 building could be built within a year, without imposing excessive taxation upon the people. We are comparatively out of debt, and our prospective financial resources are flattering.

As an example of enterprise and a spirit of improvement, we point our Supervisors to School District No. 1, of Charlevoix, and their school building. If this District can build a $3,500 building on an aggregate assessed valuation of $70,000, with greater propriety and economy can this county erect a $10,000 building on an aggregate assessed valuation of $190,000.

By the adoption of the plan of basing ten per cent bonds, payable $1,000 and interest annually for ten years, the percentage of taxation would be less than two and one-half mills on a dollar. What tax-payer can reasonably object to adopting the scheme under this plan. Speaking, then, in the light of the fact that some better provision must soon be made for county records and files, we advance this as a plausible scheme, and urge it upon the attention of our County Board.

Competition is the life of trade If you don't believe it come and see Fox, Rose, & Buttars.

Groundhog.—There seems to be a prospect that Senator Ferry will secure an appropriation for the improvement of the National Park at Mackinac, where a few rich Congressmen and Army Officers annually like to get out of the warm weather and in the face and eyes of the retrenchment policy of Congress; but a few thousand for the benefit of commerce and navigation at Charlevoix is an extremely difficult thing to get. And by the way, the Senator visited Cheboygan last week, and was cordially received by the Democrats of that place. They get appropriations there. Votes! Votes! Votes!

Carpenter & Bartholomew are receiving goods almost daily. Their stock is always fresh and attractive.

Trip to Petoskey.—We and the pleasure-ound spending the Sabbath at Petoskey, and met many friends and made many new acquaintances. We took up our headquarters at the Rose House, and were shown the usual hospitable favors by Dr. Lattle, the popular land-lord. We called at the store of Fox, Rose & Buttars, and found "Tom" as cordial and affable as ever and the establishment under a change in a flourishing condition Brother Rose of the Democrat, was absent but we called at his residence, and paid our compliments to his lively little lady. Our friend Quinnace at the Railroad Office, met us with the the cordiality and treated us with the courtesy which is characteristic of the man. Petoskey is a lively little town, and has lively and enterprising people.

Flour, pork, lard and provisions, best qualities, and lowest prices at Fox, Rose, & Buttars.

Charlevoix.—We left home for Charlevoix by the steamer Van Raalte on Saturday last. The weather proved so boisterous that the boat laid over at Northport till Sunday morning. As we left Charlevoix at nine o'clock a.m. Monday we had but little opportunity to look around town. It was evident, even to a casual observer, that the village is having a steady and healthful growth. It has not been rushing ahead, like some towns we know of, to come to a sudden end up and then grow back for a series of years. "Slow and sure" is safe if it isn't brilliant or exciting.

The country around, which makes Charlevoix its business center, has good soil and is well timbered. It is being gradually settled and developed and will, in due time time, support a numerous population. Wood, lumber, ties bark, and potatoes are the chief articles of export at present.

Friend Smith, of the Sentinel, is patiently working away. His paper is growing in usefulness and popularity, and, we trust, in profitableness to the proprietor.

When they get the harbor appropriation for which they have asked, and thus secure a wide and deep channel into Round Lake, admitting to it vessels and steamers of the largest class, the business and growth of the village may be expected to receive a new impetus.

We have before said that Charlevoix [illegible] the above, and we shall not go back on the assertion.—Herald.

Music of that Patent Floor just received at Carpenter & Bartholomew's

Programme

Of the entertainment for the benefit of the M. E. Church, to be given in Charlevoix Friday evening, Sept. 3d, 1875 :

SONG.

"Old Oak Orchard's Rippling Stream," by the company.

THOMAS OF TORRES.

Thomas	Chester Sec.
Needy Brat	John Mason.
Grim looking Man	John Ackert.
Lord of Torres	Elisha Washburn
Servant	Horatio Young
Steward	Warren Wade.

STRICTLY CONFIDENTIAL

Miss Sarah Kellner.

CINDERELLA.

King	Edwin Washburn.
Prime Dignitt	Horatio Young
Courtier	John Mason
Servant	Chester Sec
Cinderella	Miss Alice Ayers.
Sisters	Misses Sarah Kellner and Kate Johnson.
Mother of Sisters	Miss Ella Cooper.
Grandmother	Miss Ida Mason

MY FRIEND.

Miss Kate Johnson.

THE MAID WIFE AND WIDOW.

Miss Alice Ayers, and John Mason.

"HOW HE WON HER"

Hector	John Mason
Peter Mills	Edwin Washburn.
Mr. Lacy	Chester Sec
Mrs. Lacy	Miss Sarah Kellner.
Augustus Lacy	Miss Jennie Baker.
Jonathan Lacy	Horatio Young
Rev. T. Parsons	John Ackert.

"THIS WORLD IS A STAGE."

John Mason.

"REJECTED AND ACCEPTED"

Miss Kate Johnson, Warren Wade and Horatio Young.

"A DROP TOO MUCH."

Farmer Drinkwater	John Mason.
Robert Grogbrat	Chester Sec.
Josiah Drinkwater	Horatio Young.
Phelim	John Ackert.
Granddaughter	Miss Sarah Kellner.
Jurnita	Miss Beaux Dougherty.

"WINKING AT ME."

Horatio Young

"VON LEETLE GERMAN POEM.

Edwin Washburn.

"MY FEELINGS ON VIEWING THE BRIDAL OF MY RIVAL."

A chorus in which all will be expected to join.

"CAUGHT AT IE."

Old man	John Mason.
The Beau	Edwin Washburn
Old Lady	Miss Sarah Kellner.
Daughter	Bessie Dougherty.

"SWEET SIXTEEN."

"WOMANS' RIGHTS."

"HANS SCHLAKENLEIGHTER'S SNAKE."

Edwin Washburn.

"A WOMAN'S QUESTION."

Miss Alice Ayers.

"ELLA REE."

A song by John Ackert, Edwin Washburn, John Mason and Elisha Hawks.

Various interesting Tableaux and Charades will be introduced The evening's entertainment will conclude with a laughable afterpiece, entitled

"THE YANKEE BARBER."

Barber	Edwin Washburn.
servant	Horatio Young.
Customer	John Ackert.

Admission 25cts. Children under 12, 15cts.

Doors open at 7:30, performance to commence at 8:

Notice.—All persons, who at any time employ Caleb and Joshua Morgan, my sons, are hereby forbidden to pay them for their labor except by my consent.

GEO. W. MORGAN.

Boyne, Mich., August 21, 1875.

Letters from Druggists,

There is no case of Dyspepsia that Green's August Flower will not cure. Come to the Drug Store of G. W. Crouter, and inquire about it. If you suffer from Costiveness, Sick Headache, Sour Stomach, Indigestion Liver Complaint, or derangement of the Stomach or Liver try it. For three doses will relieve you.

Boschee's German Syrup is now sold in every town and city in the United States. We have not less than five hundred letters from druggists, saying it is the best medicine they ever sold for consumption, Throat or lung disease. Sample bottles of both for 10 cents. Regular size 75 cents.

Twenty Men

Can get work at good prices by calling immediately on

T. W. NICHOLS,
At the head of Pine Lake.

Charlevoix, August 2, 1875.

FARM FOR SALE.

The subscriber offers for sale his farm in South Arm Township in this county, containing 80 acres, thirty acres cleared and five acres fallow; short distance from grist and saw mill; orchard of 90 apple trees, and forty cherry and plum trees. Well fenced; frame house, well finished and painted outside; log barn, etc. Price, $600—which is half the cost of the improvements.

CHAS. H. HEALEY,
Advance, Mich.

July 15, 1875.

Boyne Falls House,

Boyne Falls, Mich.

In close proximity to Depot. Good accommodation for guests.

4:tf] WM. NELSON, Prop.

RAILROAD

Carpenter & Handy

BOYNE FALLS. M.

Dealers in

DRY GOODS,

Groceries,

Provisions,

Hardware,

Crockery.

And in fact every article needed by the people of this region.

O URGOODSANDPRICES

Speak for Themselves.

We have first class facilities for keeping full stock, and customers can always find here just what they want.

Call and See Us.

May 22, 1875. 4:ly

FOR SALE.

The undersigned offers for sale, immediate to 10 mill-buyers, and so long time be following

FARMS:

The timber is beech, maple, rock-elm, and some pine and cedar, and each lot is surrounded by settlers.

145 Acres on State road, one mile from Charlevoix Nanwood road on south line, two acres cleared at the junction of the State and Norwood road. Price, $4,000.

123 Acres 14 miles from Charlevoix; half mile on Pine Lake; good log house; four acres cleared. Price, $2,000.

40 Acres 2 miles from Charlevoix; three cleared. Price, $200.

175 Acres three and a half miles from Charlevoix; 25 acres into timothy; good barn 20x30 feet; logs fence. Price, $1,750.

284 Acres on State road 6 miles from Charlevoix; two trout brooks running through this; an improvement. Price, $1,136.

160 Acres 6 miles from Charlevoix on County road; heaver-meadow of 40 acres fine trout brook Price, $800.

167 Acres 6 miles from Charlevoix; between 30,000 and 100,000 No 1 pine on this; balance mostly rock-elm and maple. $300.

80 Acres 2 miles from Charlevoix, 40 rods from Pine lake; lake-shore road passes through one end. Town road through the other; timber, maple. $500.

120 Acres 3 miles from Charlevoix, on Town road; trout-brook on this; no improvements. $500.

No better water can be found anywhere. All the houses and clearings around them.

For further particulars apply to

B. L. CLIFFORD,
Charlevoix, Mich

486m1

1875. 1875.

Spring and Summer

Fox, Rose & Buttars.

PETOSKEY:

Headquarters to Buy

DRY GOODS,

GROCERIES & PROVISION

BOOTS and SHOES.

TIN and HARDWARE.

STOVES, STOVEPIPE

CROCKERY & GLASSWARE.

TRUNKS, Traveling Bags

FURNITURE

We always keep good goods and sell at near Cash Prices. Strangers arriving in town soon find their way to our store; people living with us know the themselves

Largest Stock! Lowest Prices

Careful Attention to Orders.

Fox, Rose & Buttars

RAILROAD

G. B. MILLS,

DEALER IN

Gen'l Merchandise,

Boyne Falls, Mich.,

Located adjacent to railroad, and careful attention is paid to the wants of customers.

Cash Paid for Country Produce

People in the vicinity of the railroad and the head of Pine Lake, can save money by their interests to call and examine goods and prices.

May 22, 1875. 4:ly

REAL ESTATE AGENCY

H. L. MILLER,

CHARLEVOIX, MICH.

Transfers made, loan realized, taxes paid, and all real estate business attended to promptly and on reasonable terms.

The following descriptions are offered for sale at special bargains:

EMMET COUNTY.

E half of E half section 20, T. 32 N., R. 6 west Containing 80 acres. Maple and beech.

W. half of S. half section 23 Town 37 N., R. 6 W.; S. half of S. half section 2, Town 35, N., R. 6 W.; Timber, maple and beech, elm, hemlock, basswood and ash.

CHARLEVOIX COUNTY.

The old Hardy Farm, at Barnard P. O., on the Seventh Road, 7 miles from Charlevoix. S. E. qr. S. 24, T. 33 N. R. 8 west. Seventy acres improved; 40 fruit trees bearing; 12 acres in meadow; good double log house, barn, good well, and other conveniences. All fenced with a first-rate fence. For terms address this agency, or N. Austin, Charlevoix.

John Bettelyoun, in Marion Township, has good frame house, 16x32, good cellar the full size of the house, frame barn 20x36, and a good cow shed; 20 acres chopped, and 15 of this manured the last. Usual quantity of apple, beech, elm, hemlock, cedar and black ash; good brook running through the farm, and three living springs. W. half N. E. qr. section 24 Town 33 North, of Range 6 West, Pleasant Prairie, Charlevoix County, 160 acres of land; 80 acres improved; good log house; Terms made easy. 146-1y

J. E. Greilick & Co.,

TRAVERSE CITY, MICH.,

Manufacturers of, and Dealers in

Sash & Doors,

BLINDS, MOULDINGS, BRACKETS,

STORE FRONTS

Sash Railing Balusters and Newel Posts. A large assortment of glazed and unglazed Sash, of various sizes.

SEASONED

Clear Lumber, Dressed Flooring, Ceiling Siding and Pickets constantly on hand for the general trade. Orders by Boat will be promptly attended to.

MEAT MARKET.

A. J. McLEOD,

Respectfully informs the public of Charlevoix and vicinity, that he has established a Meat Market adjoining the Charlevoix House, where he will furnish fresh meats at low rates. Cash paid for fat cattle and hogs

FOUNTAIN CITY HOUSE.

Charlevoix, Michigan

RICHARD COOPER, Prop,

Has been re-built, enlarged, and furnished with a view to the comfort of the travelling public. Tugs ply from here to

Jordan and Boyne Rivers,

Inwhich abound tyeields of Speckled Trout Baggage moved free of charge.

BLACKSMITHING.

The subscriber would inform the citizens of South Arm and vicinity that he has opened his shop at the head, where he is prepare d to do all manner of work in his line.

Horse-Shoeing a Specialty.

Also repairing engines, making and repairing saws, axes and edge-tools. He defies competition.

WM. J. VITE

Nelsonville, Jan. 1, 1875. 136-6m.

ADVERTISING: Cheap! Good; by permission.—All persons who contemplate making contracts with newspapers for the insertion of advertisements, should send 25 cents to Geo. P. Rowell & Co., 41 Park Row, New York, for their PAMPHLET BOOK (ninety-seventh edition), containing lists of over 3000 newspapers and estimates showing the cost. Advertisements taken for leading papers in many States at a tremendous reduction from publishers' rates. Get the book.

REAL ESTATE AGENCY

H. O. ROSE & CO.,

LAND

AND

Collection Agents,

Petoskey City, Mich.

Farms & Farming Lands

Bought and sold on commission.

CALL and SEE.

We are now preparing an Abstract of Title of Emmet County. It will be completed in a few weeks, and we can then furnish Abstracts on short notice

Charges Reasonable.

We have some of the most desirable locations of Indian selections of Farming Lands which we offer at very low figures:

No. 1. 80 acres. Pleasant fair farming land situated 2½ miles from Little Traverse bay; well timbered—beech and maple; soil thick sandy loam; will be sold very cheap. E½ of S½ of section 30, Town 36 North, of Range 6 west.

No. 2. 160 acres. N½ of S½ and S½ of N½ and fractional one half of section 27. Will be sold in separate descriptions or in a body. Has a large creek running the whole length. Is a good water power. Well timbered, and will be sold cheap for cash. This is one of the best chances in the country for a person wishing to engage in the milling business.

We have also a great many descriptions Farming lands near Petoskey City, which we will sell at reasonable prices. Some of the Lands have old Indian improvements, and we easily be made into farms.

1-1y] H. O. ROSE & CO.

Petoskey Mich. May 1st.

GEO. W. ESTERLY & CO.

CHARLEVOIX MICH

MANUFACTURERS OF

HARD

and

SOFT

LUMBER

ALSO

Shingles

Lath

Cheese Box Stuff

Broom Handles

Etc.

LUMBER SAWED

TO ORDER

AND

BILLS FILLED

On short Notice

Time = Money

Save It.

And Buy Your Goods at Home.

OLD FLETCH.

Would respectfully inform Come-n South Arm that he still holds forth the Head, jolly and good natured as ever—bound to live and let live; has just brought in a fresh supply of goods for winter, and asks at lest-tom prices for cash.

CALL and SEE.

All kinds of Grain, Furs, etc., take a exchange for goods

W. F. EMPEY.

South Arm, Dec. 10, 1874.

LAND FOR SALE.

The subscriber has for sale on reasonable terms of payment, the following desirable

LANDS

Situated in Charlevoix County, Mich. They have been located for some years, and are

FIRST - QUALITY

As regards soil and hardwood timber:

Town 33 North of Range 7 West.

W½ of N½ of section 24.
S½ of S½	"	27.
Lots 1, 2 and 3	"	32.
N. E. ¼ of	"	34.

Town 34 North of Range 7 West.

E½ of E½ of section 25.
W. ½ of S½	"	29.
E. ½ of S½	"	29.
Lots 1, 2 and 3	"	32.
N. ½ of	"	36.

Town 32 North of Range 6 West.

S. ½ of N½ of section 3.
N. ½ of N½ of section 4.

Town 32 North of Range 5 West.

N. ½ of N½ of section 16.
S. ½ of S½	"	16.
W. ½ of N½	"	16.

The last three descriptions, containing 320 acres, are within one half mile of Boyne Falls Station, on the G. R. & I. R. R.

For price, terms etc., address

B. L. CLIFFORD,
Charlevoix, Mich.

New Harness Shop.

The subscriber would respectfully inform the public of Charlevoix and vicinity that he is now prepared to do work in his line promptly and at reasonable rates.

REPAIRING

A specialty. May be found at the old Beers stand, opposite Fox, Rose & Buttars' store.

CHESTER DENTON.

Charlevoix, August 8, 1874.

ANDREW O. D. McCABE.

Charlevoix Michigan.

BOOT AND SHOE SHOP.

Custom work done promptly and in the latest style. Repairing done on short notice.

THE SENTINEL

JOB PRINTING

DEPARTMENT

COMPLETE

PLAIN and COLORED WORK

Promptly and Neatly Done

The Sentinel,

Published every Saturday, by

WILLARD A. SMITH,

—EDITOR AND PROPRIETOR—

OFFICE—Postoffice Building, On Bridge Street

Terms of Subscription:

$2.00 per Annum, In Advance, $1.00 TO SIX MONTHS.

JOB PRINTING executed in good style and reasonable rates.

CHARLEVOIX SENTINEL.

Terms, $2.00 per Annum.

Devoted to the Interests of Charlevoix County.

Always in Advance.

Vol. VII. No. 18. CHARLEVOIX, MICH., SEPT. 7, 1875. Whole No., 330

Business Directory.

A. [illegible] Attorney, &c. [illegible]

W[illegible] & SMITH Notary Public and Conveyancers. Charlevoix, Mich.

BYRON SEE, Deputy Treasurer, Charlevoix Mich. $1000

L. A. JONES General Insurance Agent. Traverse City, Mich.

M. [illegible] SHERMAN, Register of Deeds Charlevoix County, Mich.

JUSTICE OF THE PEACE, Conveyancer and Notary Public. Office at the Sentinel office.

S. C. CROCKETT, Attorney at Law, Boyne City, Mich.

[illegible] H. [illegible], Attorney at Law, Traverse City, Mich.

EDWARD H. [illegible], Attorney and Counsellor at Law, Petoskey, Mich.

ROBERT MILLER, Circuit Court Commissioner, Boyne Township, Charlevoix County, Mich. Particular attention paid to homesteading.

M. J. INGALLS, Melrose, McPherson Block, north of Lake Street. Real estate, collections, conveyancing, &c.

EVA ROSE & MUTTART, dealers in Drugs, Groceries, Provisions, Hardware, Crockery, &c.

D. E. LEWIS, Physician, Surgeon and Accoucheur. Charlevoix, Mich. Office at Dr. Lattle's House.

F. J. MERRY & CO., Veterinary, Mich. Graduates of the Ontario Veterinary College.

WM. HARRIS, Judge of Probate for Charlevoix County. Possesses all the powers of a Circuit Court Commissioner. Office at Charlevoix, in the office of Judge Smith.

D. E. BISSON, Attorney at Law, Alpena, Mich. Will practice in Charlevoix and Emmet Counties. Will attend to all business entrusted to his care promptly and faithfully. Office in Bridge Block, Alpena, Mich.

J. MILO EATON,

Attorney and Counsellor at Law

Real Estate and Insurance Agent. Collections promptly attended to. Office on Bridge street, Charlevoix, Mich.

C. J. PALLTHORP,

Attorney and Counselor at Law,

Solicitor in Chancery and Notary Public. Will practice in Emmet and adjoining counties. Office on Gidley's block Petoskey, Mich. [illegible]

DR. LITTLE and BRO.,

Physicians and Surgeons.

Petoskey, Emmet County, Mich.

The Campbell House,

TRAVERSE CITY MICH.

H. D. CAMPBELL, Prop

R. W. COY,

Dealer in General Merchandise,

SPENCER CREEK, A. ARBOR CO., MICH.

H. A. ROLLINS,

LITTLE TRAVERSE, MICH.

DEALER IN

DRY GOODS,

Groceries and Provisions.

The highest market price paid for Furs, Hides and furs taken.

H. A. ROLLINS

M. J. Stockman

Charlevoix, Mich.,

DEALER IN

HARDWARE,

Tinware & Stoves.

Keeps constantly on hand a large supply of the celebrated

DETROIT STOVES,

With Furniture.

A well selected stock of Shelf Hardware.

Repairing in all its branches done on short notice and in good style.

Cash Paid for Old Copper

Default having been made in the conditions of a certain Mortgage, executed by Ray Parkhurst and Rachell, Perkhurst of Harvey Island, Manistee county, Michigan, to Franklin Moore, George Tuney, residing at [illegible] Bayley, county and State of Illinois, Frederick C. Jewett, Wayne county, Michigan, dated September 10th, 1871, and recorded on the [illegible] day of October, 1871, in Liber [illegible] on page [illegible] of the Register of Deeds in and for the County of Manistee, and State of Michigan, in Liber one of Mortgages, on page [illegible] on which said Mortgage there is claimed to be due and unpaid at the date of this notice the sum of Twenty three hundred [illegible] and interest upon said [illegible] dollars, and [illegible] and no proceedings at law having been instituted to recover the same or any part thereof by said Mortgagee, or any person claiming under him, by reason whereof the power of sale contained in said Mortgage has become operative, and by the provisions therein contained the said Mortgagee has the right to sell Harvey Island, in said Manistee county, and described as the south west quarter of Section four, Township thirty-one North Range ten west, also the northeast quarter of the south west quarter of the south west quarter of Section nine, Township thirty-one North Range ten west also the northeast quarter of the south west quarter of Section thirty-six, Township thirty-two North Range ten west, also the south

THE SENTINEL.

WILLARD A. SMITH, Editor and Proprietor.

CHARLEVOIX. - MICHIGAN.

THE NEWS.

A REPORT prevailed in Paris on the 21st that Turkey had accepted the friendly offices of the foreign powers in securing the restoration of peace in her northwestern provinces.

PRESIDENT of Austria, lately deceased, left his wife $6,000,000 in the Pope.

A RUSSIAN dispatch of the 23d briefly states the capture of seven forts near the Montenegrin frontier by the insurgents.

IT was rumored at Santander on the 23d that a plot had been discovered having for its object the murder of Don Carlos' two several persons had been arrested and imprisoned.

THE Swiss National Council lately passed resolutions for the suppression of convents and Sisters of Charity.

THE American rifle team arrived at New York on the 21st. They were heartily received.

JAMES H. NOE, Sr., member of a bank manufacturing firm in New York city, announced a big slice in his store on the 22d, whom he attempted to arrest, but was himself fatally beaten with an iron bar, bound and robbed by the villain, who threatened to return and kill him if he made any outcry before he had time to escape.

AT Reading, Pa., lately, Mrs. Bessinger was ordered by her husband to leave the premises and take her two little girls with her, while he would remain their heir. Next day she went to the canal with the children and, after filling a basket with stones, she bound them as close securely to her lusty and, taking the three children in her arms, leaped into the canal and all were drowned. The malignant neighbors, on the occasion of the funeral, which occurred on the 24th inst., was attended by over a score of policemen to prevent a lynching.

COMMODORE C. GODDINGTON, commanding the British squadron in Australian waters, died on the 26th in consequence of a wound received on the 12th from a poisoned arrow in an engagement with the natives at Carlisle Bay.

THE foot and mouth disease has broken out with great violence in Lincolnshire, England, and it was estimated on the 24th that 12,000 cattle were down with it.

ACCORDING to a Madrid telegram of the 24th the prisoners of the citadel of Seo de Urgel had raised a flag of truce, and hostilities had been suspended pending negotiations for surrender.

THE Secretary of the Treasury decides that the 5-20 bonds of 1865, dated May and November, were issued before the January and July bonds of the same year, and, hence, therefore, be first called in and redeemed.

ABOUT 100,000 moneyorder blanks have been stolen from the Postoffice building at Washington.

THE total imports of the country, exclusive of specie, for July, were $21,296,291, against $47,162,476 for the same period in 1874. Imports for seven months this year, $316,101,760, against $351,106,993 last year; exports for July this year, $21,485,177, against $40,987,184 for July, 1874, for seven months this year, $222,588,572, against $276,243,060 in 1874.

CAPT. WINN, the English swimming champion, succeeded in swimming across the English Channel from Dover, England, to Calais, France, on the 29th, without float or life-saving apparatus.

ACCORDING to an Alexandria (Egypt) dispatch of the 25th, the Khedive had sent a large force to the Abyssinian frontier with instructions to exact full satisfaction for recent trespasses upon Egyptian territory.

THE commercial condition of spring, dated Aug. 1, in all the States producing liverpool California, as reported by the Agricultural Department, was 87.6 per cent. The extremes are 99 in Wisconsin and Minnesota, and 99 in Nebraska. In corn the highest averages reported are Kansas, 110; Tennessee, 114, Missouri, 112, Mississippi, 111, Nebraska, 105, Illinois, 99, Georgia, 91; Iowa, 87, Minnesota, 89; Indiana and Minnesota, 80. The average condition of oats was 81. Potatoes promised an extraordinary yield, the average being 104.

THE receipts of the New York canals this year up to the 24th were $704,247, a decrease of $706,850 as compared with last year.

IN a recent swimming match at Philadelphia between Conroy, an American, and Johnson, the English champion, the latter won the prize.

AT the 28th of the National Greenback Convention met at Detroit, about 1,000 persons being in attendance. Thomas J. Durant, of Washington, D. C., was made President. Addresses were delivered by Judge Kelley; James Buchanan, of Indiana, and Messrs. Hubbell, Mahony and Gault. Resolutions were adopted favoring the Kelley currency plan, and opposing the law providing for the resumption of specie payments in 1879 as being impracticable and impossible of execution, and disastrous to the business of the country, and demanding its repeal.

THE Republican State Central Committee of Minnesota on the 25th accepted the resignation of Gen. Sibley, Attorney-General, and appointed Gen. Starkey in his place. Sibley declined to run for Railroad Commissioner, and accepted in his seat over. Wm. H. Mar shall.

THE Bank of California closed its doors in San Francisco on the 26th. It had deposits on that day to the amount of $7,000,000 in gold. The President stated that the bank would be able to meet all its depositors' liabilities and have a handsome surplus remaining. The excitement in San Francisco over this failure was intense. A run was made on the National Gold Bank and Trust Company, but it continued paying up to the close of business hours.

A DISPATCH from Macon, Miss., to the Vicksburg Herald of the 26th reports a riot at New Hope Church, in which eight negroes were killed and several wounded.

THE MARKETS.

NEW YORK.

LIVE STOCK—Beef Cattle, $4.50@5.90. Hogs—Live, $4.12½@5.50; dressed to ovoice, $6.25@6.60; white wheatcorn, $4.50@5.50. Wheat—No. 2 Chicago, $1.04@1.02; No. 2 Northwestern, $1.07@1.08; No. 2 Milwaukee spring, 1.04@1.05; winter red western, $1.08@1.09. Corn—Mixed Western, 60@ 62c. Oats—Western Mixed, 42@43c. Pork—Mess, $21.50@22.25. Lard—13½@13½c. Cheese—@10½c.

BUFFALO—Cattle—@5.00@6.

CHICAGO.

LIVE STOCK—Beef Cattle, $3.75@6.25, good; $5.00@5.60, medium. $4.25@5.00; butchers' stock, $3.75@5.00. Stock cattle, $3.00@4.00. Hogs—Live, $3.90@4.50. Sheep—Good to choice, $4.00@4.50.

PROVISIONS—Butter—Choice, 20@22c. Eggs—Fresh, 19½@19½c. Pork—Mess, $20.00@20.10. Lard—$13.00@13.05.

BREADSTUFFS—Flour—White Winter Extra, $6.00@7.25; spring extra, $5.00@5.75. Wheat—Spring, No. 2, $1.01@1.15½. Corn—No. 2, 56½@ 57c. Oats—No. 2, 32@32½c. Rye—No. 2, 65c. Barley—No. 2, $1.05@1.07.

LIVERPOOL—Spot Corn, $6.00@6.06; Second Corn, $6.00@6.05; Common Boards, $10.00@ 11.00; Pecrless, $10.00@11.00; "A" Rosin, $5.00@5.05. Linseed—@30s.

ST. LOUIS.

LIVE STOCK—Beeves—Steers—Best to choice, $5.25@ 6.00. Hogs—Live, $3.90@4.00.

BREADSTUFFS—Flour—XX Fall, $5.75@6.25. Wheat—No. 2 Red, $1.04@1.05; Corn—No. 2, 37@38c. Oats—No. 2, 32@32c. Rye—No. 2, 72@73c.

PROVISIONS—Pork—Mess, $19.00@19.50. Lard —@12½c.

CINCINNATI.

BREADSTUFFS—Flour—$5.00@6.00. Wheat—Red, $1.00@1.06. Corn—Mixed, 56@57c. Oats—56@56c.

PROVISIONS—Pork—$20.00@20.25. Lard—13½ @14c.

MILWAUKEE.

BREADSTUFFS—Flour—Spring XX, $4.75@5.00. Wheat—Spring, No. 1, $1.07@1.07; No. 2, $1.00@1.00. Corn—No. 2, 39@39½c. Oats—No. 2, 28@28½c. Rye—No. 1, 69@69c. Barley—No. 2, $1.00@1.07.

DETROIT.

BREADSTUFFS.—Wheat—Extra, $1.03@1.05. Corn—No. 1, 57@58. Oats—No. 1, 32@32c.

TOLEDO.

BREADSTUFFS.—Wheat—Amber Mich., $1.07 @1.07½; No. 2 Red, $1.03@1.03. Corn—High Mixed, 58@59c. Oats—No. 1, 34@34c.

CLEVELAND.

BREADSTUFFS.—Wheat—No. 1 Red, $1.07@1 08; No. 2 Red, $1.04@1.04. Corn—High Mixed, 59@59c. Oats—No. 1, 36@36c.

BUFFALO.

LIVE STOCK.—Beeves—$5.25@7.00. Hogs—Live, $3.80@4.40. Sheep—Live, $4.00@5.00.

EAST LIBERTY.

LIVE STOCK.—Beeves—Best, $5.50@5.90; medium, $5.00@5.25. Hogs—Yorkers, $5.20@ 5.30; Philadelphia, $5.10@5.20. Sheep—Best, $5.00@5.50; medium, $4.00@5.00.

The Probable Time of the Donaldson Balloon Disaster.

In regard to the hour the fatal accident occurred to Messrs. Donaldson and Grimwood, the Chicago Journal of Aug. 20 says:

"In speculating upon the probable time the balloon went into the water, the watch found on the body of Grimwood may furnish very valuable assistance, if indeed the testimony it gives is not almost absolutely conclusive. Though dumb, it still speaks; and though it has become rusty by lying five weeks in the water and on the shore, still it reveals the secret of the last fearful hour and the struggle with death, upon which no words have been said and written. It is a small, single gold watch, and when found the crystal was gone. The breaking of the crystal in all probability occurred as a natural subsequent to its going into the water, and quite likely while the body was drifting toward the place where it was found upon the shore. The hands remain undisturbed, and point to twenty minutes past eleven. Was that the fatal moment when struck and overcome by the gale, ballast all out, the balloon relieved longer to carry its load of human freight, and gave them over to a helpless and unequal struggle with the waves? The watch was received at this office in exactly the condition it was when taken from the pocket of Grimwood. It is important to know, in order to determine the value of its evidence, whether it was run down, and if it was then lost little or nothing is determined by it. This question was examined this morning by an examination by Mr. J. H. Allison, the experienced watchmaker at the establishment of Matson & Co. He opened the watch, the first time it had been opened since it was closed by Grimwood himself in the balloon. The examination revealed that the watch had certainly not run more than five hours and twenty minutes after it was wound up. Mr. Allison states, what accords with reason and the belief of everyone, that the watch must have been wound before going into the water. The cause being somewhat loose, which would readily allow the water to the works. Five hours and twenty minutes before it stopped would be six o'clock. The inference is that it must have been wound up. The time when the balloon went up, as observed by a Journal man, was eleven minutes to five. So the watch must have been wound up when they were in the clouds. The time indicated by the watch corresponds to the time they were observed to go out, and the gale that night is a known fact. The testimony of the watch confirms the theory that the disaster generally accepted by the people, viz., that the balloon, relieved to be second time, that the balloon was carried into the lake before the fury of the blast."

The National Greenback Platform.

The following is the platform adopted by the recent National Greenback Mass Convention, in session at Detroit:

1. That the people owe it to the Government at all times and in all emergencies a loan of their obligations in its name as a matter of right, and also to be the best possible burden, and to be the most possible competition in point of obligation.

2. The Government owes to the people at all times safe and uniform currency, and the only currency secure in amount and of value for money is a circulating medium that of itself bears interest, or is the guarantee of the faithful performance of the duty to such manner as to furnish the best possible currency for the people, and the only true employment of the currency obligations is the issue of legal tender notes direct to the people.

3. That we are neither republicanists nor inflationists, but the friends of a safe, sound and uniform currency, that we propose to redeem the pledges of the platform of 1868, and that we are the pioneers of the hobbies thereof, in words of the platform of 1868, and that we are the true friends of the soldiers, their widows and orphans, and that we denounce the attempt to repudiate the pledges of the platform of 1868 to them when denied into practical operation.

4. That we are in favor of the issue of United States notes direct to the people, and that we denounce the power of any corporation to issue money, and that we denounce the power of any national bank to issue any money, and that we denounce the power of any national bank to issue any money, and that we denounce the power of any national bank to issue any

THE SENTINEL.

CHARLEVOIX, MICH.

WILLARD A. SMITH, Editor and Proprietor.

TUESDAY, - SEPT. 7, 1875

"Headache" is the euphonious name of a new postoffice in Midland county, in this State.

It is said that Michigan is the only State where the wheat crop has been harvested in good condition.

A private letter from Judge Marston, of our Supreme Court, who is now in Ireland, says his health is still failing.

Ohio's Democratic Senator—Thurman—expresses the opinion that the Democracy of his State will be scooped in the election this fall.

Captain Webb has succeeded in his second attempt in swimming from Dover to Calais. The captain arrived at 11 on 20th in good health and spirits, although fatigued. The passage from Dover occupied twenty-one hours and forty-nine minutes.

The story of Donaldson being found dying in a Canadian forest was not credited by any of the Chicago papers, and only one one of them had an little use for its columns as to publish it. The Journal to make sure, telegraphed certain inquiries about and received reply that the whole story was false. An Associated Press dispatch tells the same thing. This is as we said it would probably turn out—Grand Rapids Enale.

New Tug.

The largest and handsomest tug ever seen in these waters is receiving her machinery at the Ottawa Iron Works, Perrysburgh. She is named Saugatuck, and was built at that place by Capt. John Monteith, for the Saugatuck Lumber Company. The dimensions are are 104 feet over all, by 18 feet 4 inches beam. She will at once go to work near Muckinaw, where this company has recently made some heavy pine land purchases.

On account of a scarcity of logs, but nine of the sixteen lumber mills at the mouth of Grand River are running. At this place the Nortonville, Sisson & Lillie and Bell & Bros., are shut down; at Ferrysburgh the mills of White, Glover & Co. and Batcheler & Slaught; and at Grand Haven the mills of Reynolds & Endaw and C. Storrs & Co. Several other mills will also probably soon suspend operations. Large numbers of logs on the upper Grand and Flat rivers, belonging here, are hung up for the season.—Grand Haven News.

What Col. Forney Thinks.

Col. J. W. Forney, who is now in Europe, believes the damage by recent great storms in Europe will be the sort of ill-wind which is to blow a great deal of good to America. He writes in one of his London letters concerning the injury to the European wheat crop, and then adds this highly colored piece of prophecy: "The effect upon all our own interests must must be lasting if not instantaneous. Gold will now be shipped from England instead of to England. Railroads will be in demand to move the crops, whether of cotton or of corn. Iron works and manufactories of all kinds will be put in operation, and our steam marine will of necessity be largely augmented. Such, indeed, seems to be the outlook as I write, and with this prospect we may begin to discuss, with some show of reason, the vexed question of the resumption of specie payments."

——

Several papers are already agitating the question of "Who shall be our next Governor?" It seems to us, that it is rather early to begin to discuss this matter, as we have scarcely recovered from the heat and excitement of the last election. Hon. Charles M. Croswell, of Adrian, seems to be the favored one thus far mentioned by the Republican papers of the state. There is no doubt but Mr. Croswell is eminently fitted for the position, and if he should be elected, would make a good Governor, but it seems to us that his friends who are urging his name before the public, at this early date, are doing him an injury, although their motives are doubtless pure. We should very much like to see one Governor elected from Northern Michigan, yet we are not particulous in this matter. When the time comes we shall certainly support the candidate who, in our opinion, will serve the Republican party most faithfully. Next spring will be time enough to begin to fight over the choice of candidates, so for the time being, let us "dwell together in unity," and when the proper time comes we can then open our batteries for a red hot campaign.—Ex.

TERRIBLE CALAMITY.

The Steamer Comet Struck by the Manitoba and Goes Down off Porrisle Island.

Eleven Men Drowned-Names at the Saved.

Special Dispatch to the Northern Tribune.

SAULT ST. MARIE, August 27.—The steamer Comet went down off Porrisle Island, ten miles above Sault St. Marie, at 8:30 last evening. She was struck mid ships by the steamer Manitoba, Canadian boat. She was loaded with half a cargo of silver ore and six hundred tons of pig iron. The Manitoba sustained no injury.

Special Dispatch.

SAULT ST. MARIE, August 27—10 A. M.—The steamer Manitoba, of the Beatty line, arrived here at 9 o'clock this morning having run back from White Fish Point with the crew of the propeller Comet, sunk off Porrisle Island. The following are the names of the crew of the Comet: Frank Digert, of Cleveland; Capt. John Gore, of Troy, N. Y.; First Mate Wheaver, of Cleveland; Second Mate James Hafealy; Leopold Smith, wheelsman; John Scott, lookout; Chas. Connors, Peter Thomas Murphey, Handlen, deckhands; also one colored fireman, name unknown. The names of the unsaved are Babey and Brown, first and second engineers, and nine others, names unknown.

For the past three years, until this summer, one of the attractions of Saratoga, to the young men, was "the beautiful Indian maiden" who presided at one of the booths of the Indian encampment. Her name was Sarah Reeves, and she was a half-breed daughter of George Reeves, a recognized chief of the remnant of the Indian tribes which spend their summers at Saratoga and winter in Canada. She was a great favorite among belles and beaux, but dead-work elegantly, and shot with the air gun wonderfully well; by and by her heart was also hit by the subtle archer of love. The name of the fortunate gentleman is S. G. Butler, of San Francisco. Oak, where he is a broker. They became engaged. His sent Sarah to school. He sent Sarah to school. A short time ago they were married, and a few days since they came to Saratoga.

It is supposed by many unthinking persons who read the scriptures in the same careless manner that they run through a newspaper—taking everything they read in a literal sense—that old Job was really afflicted with boils or eruptive sores. Now to the casual reader this deduction is plain enough; but when his occupation is taken into consideration, a very different conclusion will be arrived at. Job, it will be remembered, was a printer!—or, what is about the same thing, he plied his words were printed in a book; and those boils were nothing more than ink-popping subscribers, the thought of whose delinquencies were really a plague to him whenever a bill for paper or other material came in, as those subscriptions were depended upon to pay the amount due. Yet they merely proved the evidence of things hoped for, but the substance of things not seen! Then these comforters which surrounded him—they were his creditors, whose continual craving for pay was enough to make a man, even with his reputed patience, to feel sore all over, as well as mean enough to crawl into an ash heap, and scratch himself with a pot-hook or clam-shell, by way of working off the extra "bile." That's what was the matter with Job. We can sympathise with him, for we are often placed in the same predicament, and have even got such a "spell" on now. Nothing but a good bath in greenbacks will remove this sore affliction.

NOTICE. U. S. LAND OFFICE, Traverse City, Mich., July 19, 1875. Complaint having been entered at this Office by Mary Morrison against James Morrison, for abandoning his Homestead Entry No. 4285, dated May. 10, 1873, upon the N. E. fract. 1/4 of Section 14, Township 29 North, Range 8 West, with a view to the cancellation of said entry; the said parties are hereby summoned to appear at this office on the 20th day of Sept., 1875, at 10 o'clock A. M., to respond and furnish testimony concerning said alleged abandonment.
SETH C. MOFFATT, Register.
14 PERRY HANNAH, Receiver.

NOTICE— U.S. LAND OFFICE, Traverse City, Mich., July 24, 1875. Complaint having been entered at this office by Stephen L. Hicks, against Joseph Freund, for abandoning his Homestead Entry No. 4360, dated Nov. 14, 1874, upon Lots 4, 5 & 6, Section 18, Township 33 N. 8 W. West, with a view to the cancellation of said entry; the said parties are hereby summoned to appear at this office on the 4th day of October, 1875, at 1 o'clock P. M. to respond and furnish testimony concerning said alleged abandonment.
SETH C. MOFFATT, Register
14 PERRY HANNAH, Receiver.

NOTICE. U.S. Land Office, Traverse City, Mich., July 6, 1875. Complaint having been entered at this office by James Lewis against Joseph W. Blackney for abandoning his Homestead Entry No. 5312, dated Nov. 16, 1872, upon the N. 1/2 of S. W. 1/4 section 22, Township 32 N., Range 6 West, Michigan, with a view to the cancellation of said entry; the said parties are hereby summoned to appear at this office on the 24 day of Sept., 1875, at 1 o'clock p. m. to respond and furnish testimony concerning said alleged abandonment.
SETH C. MOFFATT, Register.
12 PERRY HANNAH, Receiver.

"SHTOP A LEETLE!"

Spring Harbor,

HEAD OF PINE LAKE.

The Secret of Wonderful Growth and Success.

Way up in the north is a very smart town,
In the country all over it is gaining renown,
It's in Charlevoix county and Spring Harbor Town.
The soil is so rich if you plant a small nail,
To give a big yield it never will fail
It surely is so for the people all say
That land is a creation the very best day-
In Charlevoix county and Spring Harbor Town.

There are the merchants who're up to their trade,
Will sell you fine goods before they are made—
In Charlevoix county and Spring Harbor Town;
They'll not stop so low as to tell you small lies,
But their secret of trade is they all advertise
And their efforts are crowned by millions of wealth,
While they all do enjoy the most perfect health
In Charlevoix county and Spring Harbor Town.

Then there are the doctors they'll cure you of ills,
With syrups and drugs and various pills—
In Charlevoix county and Spring Harbor Town.

If they on you once make a professional call,
Again in your life you'll be ill not at all,
If they call once or twice you'll then feel so clever,
You'll not die at all, but live on forever—
In Charlevoix county and Spring Harbor Town.

Then there is the "Journal" the sheet of the age,
To give all the news it doth always engage
In Charlevoix county and Spring Harbor Town.
And the editor knows his business so well,
Believe what I say, for the truth I do tell
If a man is murdered and left in his gore,
It will give you the news two or three days before,
In Charlevoix county and Spring Harbor Town.

Now I suppose you'll be glad to all know,
How strategic it happens thus to be so—
In Charlevoix county and Spring Harbor Town.
When the cause I do give, you all will confess,
The secret that leads to perfect success
They get their goods cheaper than ever before,
For they buy all they use at Nichols's store.

YOU'RE CRAZY

TO PAY SUCH TERRIBLE PRICES FOR GOODS, WHEN BY CALLING AT THE

"REGULATOR"

You can purchase them at least THIRTY PER CENT. less than at any other place in this part of Charlevoix County. That is what we say at the "REGULATOR." We have lots of

NEW GOODS,

And more coming daily. We have Boots and Shoes for men; We have all kinds of Shoes for Ladies; we have Boots and Shoes and all kinds of nice things for the little ones. We have all kinds of DRESS GOODS; we have all kinds of CLOTH to make clothes for the men and boys. We have

PORK AND FLOUR,

And all kinds of Groceries such as

SUGARS.

TEAS.

COFFEES

SPICES.

OILS.

WE ALSO HAVE A LARGE ASSORTMENT OF

Farming Implements,

SUCH AS PLOWS, SHOVEL PLOWS, SCYTHES, SNATHS, RAKES, FORKS, HOES, CULTIVATORS AND DRAGS.
ALSO AN ASSORTMENT OF

TINWARE.

So, if you'd buy cheaper than ever before, go to NICHOLS' Store, on Pine Lake shore, where the water doth roar, and all people, and more, say, that never before, in the country all over, did they see people pour into the door of a store, where they buy lots of goods and then buy some more; for they say he sells lower by thirty per cent. or perhaps more, than ever before, at any man's store; so after reading this over, if still you'd know more, Tommie will

TURN THE CRANK TO THE MAC EIN

And tell you if you wish to astonish yourself with low prices, that you must go to 99999 Gold Dust Avenue, nearly opposite to the Second National Bank, and directly opposite to the Metropolitan Hotel, Spring Harbor.

TRULY YOURS:

T. W. NICHOLS.

Carpenter & Bartholomew

CARPENTER & BARTHOLOMEW'S

Cheap Cash Store is just the Place to Buy Your Goods!

Standard Goods and Bottom Prices is their Motto.

South End of Bridge Street,

Charlevoix, Mich.

MEDICAL

HALL,

CHARLEVOIX.

JUST THE PLACE TO BUY

DRUGS

And Dye Stuffs,

JUST THE PLACE TO BUY

Patent Medicines

JUST THE PLACE TO BUY

Stationery, Ink and Pens.
And Pocket Inkstands.

JUST THE PLACE TO BUY

Perfumes and Hair Oils
Flavoring Extracts, and Toilet Goods.

JUST THE PLACE TO BUY

The Self-Adjusting Truss

JUST THE PLACE TO GET

Prescriptions Compounded
At all hours—night or day.

IN FACT, just the place to get anything you want in the Druggists line.

Cheap for Cash.

New store opposite Stockman's Hardware Store.

GEO. W. CROUTER,
Druggist and Chemist.

Hemlock Bark!

The undersigned, owners of the schooner "E. M. Stanton," would inform the people of Pine Lake and vicinity they are prepared to

Contract for Any Amount

Of Hemlock Bark to be delivered on the beach at Hound or Pine Lake or South Arm. The firms of Fox, Rose & Buttars, Carpenter & Bartholomew, and Byron Bee, are our accredited agents, with whom contracts can be made, or with Dr. Weinhoff, of the firm of

CAPT. P. JOHNSON & Co.
Charlevoix, May 1, 1875.

N. B.—Samuel Holland, of Evelina, is also our authorized agent.

Read This.

The following instructive dialogue was overheard the other day:

Brown—"I say, Jones, you seem to have been buying lots of groceries; where do you trade, Jones?"

Jones—"Why, I bought at

BYRON SEE'S

Grocery and Provision Store in Charlevoix. It is a good place to trade."

Brown—"Is that so? Can others do as well there as you can?—you know you are sharp in a trade."

Jones—"O, yes, of course you can. He uses all alike. He says he likes a nimble sixpence and I guess he does from the prices he sells at.

THE STANCH PROPELLER

1875. 1875.

A. C. Van Raalte

Capt. Alvin Dodge,

Will run during the season of 1875, as follows, between

Petoskey & Traverse City:

Will leave Petoskey at 6 o'clock a. m. on

Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays,

Arriving at Traverse City at 7 o'clock the same evening. Will leave Traverse City at 6 o'clock a. m. on

Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays,

Arriving at Petoskey the same evening. Touching at all intermediate ports on Grand Traverse Bay, both ways.

$75 A WEEK to Agents to sell an article saleable as flour. Profits immense. Package free. Address BUCKEYE Mfg. Co., Marion, Ohio.

DEATH OF FATHER PIRET.

Sketch of His Life and Labors—A Life of Self-Sacrifice and Devotion.

From the Northern Tribune, (Cheboygan.)

Rev. Andrew Piret, better known as Father Piret, was born in Belgium, county of Brabant, in the vicinity of Brussels, of a highly esteemed and wealthy family, in the year 1803. After he had finished his humanities in Belgium he went to Paris, where he studied medicine for four years. Returning to Belgium, he prepared for the priesthood, studying philosophy and theology for six long years. Being ordained priest he was appointed professor of natural history at St. John's College, in Belgium. After teaching for a few years with the greatest success, he was promoted to the honorable position of principal of the same college, which position he held with great honor to himself until the year 1846, when, upon invitation of Bishop Reuser, he decided to remove to the United States with the purpose of starting a college at Detroit. In the interim Bishop Reuser resigned, and Bishop La Force, his successor, not being prepared to start the college, sent Father Piret to Mackinac, where he arrived the same year, 1846, and at which place and Point St. Ignace he remained for many years. He was the only priest in that whole section of country, his mission extending as far west as the Rocky Mountains, being the same field occupied by Father Marquette 200 years ago, and of whom Father Piret was a worthy successor. His labors among the Indians were very successful, and to whom he ministered both spiritually and physically, saving many of their lives by vaccination. He often endured the greatest hardships, frequently being greatly endangered of his life, and on at least one occasion narrowly escaped being scalped.

He was in the active priesthood about forty-five years. As professor of natural history he ranked second to Agassiz. He had a chapel at the Cheneaux, and a very extensive museum, costing him the labor of twenty six years, which, during his absence some years ago were destroyed by fire.

During all the time he had been in this country he kept up kept up a correspondence with many of the renowned institutions of Europe, sending them specimens, etc. He was a gentleman who, although bro't up a strict Catholic, was entirely without prejudice, and totally void of bigotry, and who, by his urbanity of manners and gentleness of disposition, endeared himself to all with whom he came in contact. He was universally beloved and esteemed by all who knew him, and will be mourned by the whole section through which he has so faithfully labored and was so widely known.

He was known of late years as the "Patriarch of the Cheneaux," where he had retired to study the laws of nature, and to unite himself closer with the Author of Nature. He has frequently remained in devotion for a period of months, scarcely ever during these periods being seen outside of his home, which was furnished in the extremest simplicity, consecrating him self entirely to the cause in which he was heartily engaged.

For the last three years in the summer time, he has made his home with Father DeCouinck, in this village, who respected him as a father, and received from him valuable counsel in many perplexities. It was at the house of Father DeCouinck he died, after an illness of three weeks, which it was supposed had been overcome, but last Sunday morning he was stricken with apoplexy, which resulted in death about four minutes after the attack.

Thus has passed away one of nature's noblemen. Although Father Piret had lived more than the allotted three score years and ten, and accomplished a work for humanity, excelled by few, if any, in the present generation, he still had plans for the future, which, had he lived to carry into execution, would have added much more to the debt of gratitude which the world owes to him who lived a life of self-sacrifice for the elevation of his fellowmen.

The funeral took place from the Catholic church, in this village, on Tuesday, and was largely attended, Catholics and Protestants uniting in paying their respects to the memory of the deceased. The solemn and impressive ceremonies of the church were conducted by the Rev. Chas. De Cuninck, at the close of which he paid a glowing tribute to the noble character and many virtues of the deceased, urging upon the numerous hearers the duty of emulating those virtues.

The St. Joseph Society turned out in large numbers, in their regalia, to pay tribute to his memory. The cortege was very long. Over forty vehicles, well filled, followed the remains to the cemetery, thus showing the great respect in which the deceased was held in this community.

The New Mail Arrangements

The Postmaster General has arrangements perfected to run the great western mails through on the Lake Shore Road from New York to Chicago, the schedule time being 26 hours. The first train will leave New York at 4 o'clock on the morning of September 16, and will reach Cleveland about 7 o'clock in the evening. It will arrive at Chicago the next morning in time to connect with the Western trains out of the city.

The train east will leave Chicago about 9 o'clock at night, reach Cleveland 7 o'clock the next morning, and arrive at New York in the evening in time to make New England connection. Five trains will be used with four cars each, and there will be but 18 stops in 298 miles.

On each trip, the letters and papers will be distributed for 14 different States, and from 8 to ten clerks will be constantly employed. For instance, between New York and Albany, 8 postal clerks to the work, from Albany to Syracuse it requires 9, from Syracuse to Cleveland 10, and 8 from Cleveland to Chicago. There will be men appointed to take charge of these trains called chief clerks, and they will have absolute control so far as the postal department is concerned. One of these men will run from Chicago to Buffalo, and the other will get on at Dunkirk and go through to New York.

M. D. Firk formerly a route agent on the Grand Rapids & Indiana road, F. G. Stevenson, once a route agent on on the Kalamazoo Division of the Michigan Southern, and W. G. Lovel, formerly a route agent on the Peninsula road, are among the Michigan men who have been detailed for service on these fast trains. They run between Cleveland and Chicago, so their work comes in the night both ways.

Murderous Assault at Rogers City.

A telegraphic dispatch was received at the telegraph office in our village last Tuesday bearing the startling intelligence that Albert Molliter and his Clerk, Sullivan, had been shot the evening previous at Rogers City, by unknown parties. Further inquiry enables us to give the following facts in regard to the matter. Mr; Molliter in company with his clerk——Sullivan, whose first name we have been unable to learn, was in the rear part of the store, owned and occupied by Molliter, at Rogers City, transacting business about 10 o'clock at night last Monday the 23rd, when suddenly the sharp report of a rifle was heard, followed quickly by another report, and Molliter and his clerk both fell bleeding to the floor. An investigation disclosed the fact that some party or parties had fired from rifles, through the window of the Post-Office which is located in and connected with the store, and taken deadly aim at their victims. Molliter was shot with a charge of Buck shot but the most of it lodged in the fleshy part of his body, and the last accounts report him rapidly recovering. Sullivan was more unfortunate, having been hit with a rifle ball in the back part of the neck, the ball passing through and breaking the jaw bone and cutting off his tongue. It is thought that he cannot re-cover and up to this writing (Aug. 26)he is reported to be slowly sinking. Everything is being done for the sufferers and the utmost exertions are being made to secure the assassin.—Cheboygan Independent.

Diverting Children.

When a child is hurt, never look its cries. It is unreasonable barbarity; it is repressing its instincts, and for this reason, if physical punishment is inflicted upon a child, it is perfect brutality. A thousand times better it is to soothe by kind words and acts, divert the mind by telling stories, by explaining pictures, or by providing it it with new toys. We have many times, says a famous doctor, in our professional experience as to sick children, found more benefits to be derived from a beautiful or interesting toy, than from a dose of pipsic. The greatest humanity a mother can exhibit in respect to her sick child is to divert it in all ways possible. We ourselves, who are larger children, feel sometimes really sick, when a cheerful face and much-loved friend has come in, and before we knew it we have forgotten what was the matter with us.

Sudden Death of a Blasphemer.

A man named Louis Burke, who lived at Burkesville, in this county, a few days ago indulged in very blasphemous language because his crops had been destroyed by high water. He cursed God for having his crops destroyed last year by heat and drought, and for destroying this year by flood, and concluding his blasphemy of the Creator with the expression: "God damn him!" His tongue clove to the roof of his mouth, and he died the next night, never uttering another word.—Henderson (Ky.) Reporter.

Is it a Miracle?

Rev. S. H. Platt, a Brooklyn minister, who had his left leg disabled by the kick of a horse, 23 years ago, so that he had to use a crutch ever since, and afterwards had the other one also disabled by an accident so that he hasn't been able to stand up to preach for 23 years has been entirely cured, after the best physicians had failed to help him, by Miss Mossman, an old spiritner, who visited him, announced that she had been sent by the Lord to heal him, placed her hands on his knees and prayed, the use of the limbs returning gradually, as she kept on. On Sunday he preached at the Merrick camp-meeting, and was as strong on his feet as anybody.

NORWOOD.

F. J. MEECH & Co.

NORWOOD, MICH.,

DEALERS IN

DRY GOODS,

Groceries and Provisions,

Also Manufacturers of

HARDWOOD LUMBER,

Lath and Shingles.

Burning of the Propeller Persian on Lake Erie.

Detroit, Aug. 28.—The four-masted propeller Persian was destroyed by fire off Long Point, Lake Erie, Thursday night. The Empire State arrived here last night at midnight with the officers and crew of the Persian, from whom the following particulars were learned:

About 9:30 o'clock Thursday night, about seven miles east of Long Point, Lake Erie, the first engineer, Thomas Davis, of the Persian, discovered fire in the coal bunkers and promptly gave the alarm. He stopped his engine and opened the safety valve. Such rapid progress did the flames make that the wood work around the engine was almost instantly ignited.

Capt. Pilot, of the Persian, ordered the boats manned, but before one of them could be launched, they were hopelessly burned. Attention was then directed to the batches, and the officers and crew placed themselves upon them, each batch being capable of holding two persons. Fortunately the lake was very smooth or all must have lost their lives.

After floating about two hours the schooner Moreland hove to and picked up the entire party, considerably chilled. The tug J. C. Merrick came along side and the survivors were transferred to her, and at midnight the Merrick placed them on board the propeller Empire State.

The Empire State reached the burning steamer about 11:30, and made a determined effort to save the Persian, pouring three streams of water on her for over two hours, but without avail. An attempt was then made to beach her near Long Point and she was towed about two miles shoreward, but becoming too hota competition, endangering the safety of the Empire State, she was scuttled forward by the first mate, Thomas Casey, and left to her fate. Her cargo consisted of 50,500 bushels of corn. and 17,000 bushels of wheat.

The grain was insured, but the hull, which is undoubtedly a total loss, was uninsured. The Persian cost $125,000, was launched last August, and until the advent of the Commodore was the largest vessel on the lakes, having a registered tonage of 1,630 tons. She was owned by R. R. Winslow, of Cleveland, and H. S. Winslow, of Buffalo.

——

WHEREAS, my wife, Mary Jane Estell has left my bed and board without just cause or provocation. All persons are here by warned against trusting her on my account as I will pay no debts of her contracting.
GEO. ESTELL.
Norwood, Mich., August 21, 1875.

Wonderful Success

Three years ago Dr. Boschee's German Syrup was introduced in the United States from Germany for the cure of coughs, severe colds settled on the breast, Consumption and other diseases of the T a t and Lungs No medicines ever had such a success. 300,000 sample bottles have been distributed every year for three years by Druggists in all parts of the United States, and nearly 1000 letters from Druggists are now on our files saying that no other preparation in their stores sells as well and gives such excellent satisfaction. All we ask is for you to go to your Druggist G. W. Crouter, and get a sample bottle for 10 cents and try it. Regular size 75 cents.

NEW

MILLINERY AND

Dress - Making

ESTABLISHMENT.

Fancy s, such as Canvas, Zephyrs Tidies, T atterns, Parasols, Kid Gloves, etc. Als hance for Samples. Dresses and Clos ted and made in the latest fashions.

Charges Reasonable.

Rooms in Harry Newman's bakery building
MISS A. G. T
Charlevoix, June 17, 1875. 3tdly

DRUGS and MEDICINES

DR. LEWIS

Tenders his thanks to the inhabitants o Charlevoix and Vicinity for past patronage and solicits a continuance of the same. He has

JUST RECEIVED

A large stock of medicines, such as

Fluid Extracts,
Tinctures,
Essences
Oils of all kinds,
Gums,
Perfumery, etc

PATENT MEDICINES,

A large stock, such as Ayres, Dyn Sarsaille's, Peterman's Blackman's, Sage's a Herrick's.

A Full Supply of Dye Stuffs.

All goods sold as cheap as by any house north of Grand Rapids.

I Keep What I Advertis

FOX, ROSE & BUTTARS
Charlevoix.

THE SUMMER OF 1875

LOWER! LOWER!

Go the Prices!

WE CAN AND WILL

SELL CHEAPER

Than any other House in Charlevoix,

Our Neighbors

Are Cutting Down on Certain Articles; We cut down on

Everything!

If You Don't Believe It,

COME AND SEE

For Yourselves.

YARD WIDTH COTTON FOR 10 c

TEA--3 Pounds for $1.

SUIT of Coths for $8.

The Best Goods,

Regardless of Profit,

Are Always Kept.

FOX, ROSE & BUTTARS.

The Modern Tournament.

The tournament is an institution which has many admirers, and the gathering for the purpose of displaying one's skill in the use of arms is none, however it became the occasion for the display of all the pomp and circumstance of the time and season as the chief attraction at such popular festivities as a royal meeting, the entrance of a sovereign into a town or any other occasion of public rejoicing. There is a tradition that the tournament properly so called, was first instituted in the tenth century in Brittany by Geoffrey, the lord of Preuille.

When a tournament was resolved upon by the judges were selected, and the time and place, together with the rules regulating it, were proclaimed publicly by the herald, a cor et a cri, or with the voice and the trumpet, as it was called. The knights arms, wearing a gold cloth upon which the arms of the judges were painted, presented the tournament, while the heralds distributed cards upon which the arms were painted to anyone who would take them.

The next morning of a tournament created a great excitement all through the surrounding country. The knights and noblesse came with their retinues to attend it, while the dealers and peddlers, and all the rascals who assemble in little cities, erected their booths for the furtherance of their private gains, swarmed to the spot in crowds. Great labor and expense were often involved in the preparation of the lists in which the tournament was to take place, and the temporary accommodations for the ladies, the nobility and the judges.

The lists came finally to be constructed in an oblong form and were decorated with brilliantly-painted and gilded flags, signs and heraldic emblems, and hung with rich tapestries. Banners bearing heraldic devices were brought in by each room knight who gathered to take part in the celebration, and before the day of the tournament the houses in which they lodged were decorated with them, while in some castle, cloister or monastery of the vicinity their coats-of-arms were hung, and the knights, the ladies and the visitors gathered to inspect them. If among them any one presented the banner of a knight against whom he had any cause for complaint, she called the attention of the judges to it, and if on investigation he was found guilty of treason he was not allowed to take part in the tournament.

Before the opening of the serious business of strife which the gallantry of the time put together the squires practiced in the lists and the ladies gathered to witness their feats. Frequently in these trials one squire who distinguished himself was knighted on the spot, and allowed to celebrate the occasion by taking part in the ensuing tournament.

Upon the stands built for the spectators were gathered the beauty and fashion of the time. Kings, queens, princes, and the highest nobility of the land gathered to witness the spectacle, and the richness and magnificence of the costumes to display their prowess. At certain parts of the lists the stands were erected for the commissaries and the seconds of the knights. Within the lists, or close to them, were the Kings-at-arms and the heralds, who were to watch the sports and render a faithful account of them. Crowds of servants, several times more numerous than needed Bands of roads added to the festivity of the scene. At their stations were stationed the knights, all fully and magnificently equipped, with their steeds decorated and armed, entered the lists followed by their squires. Soon after the knights were led into the lists by the ladies they had sworn to serve, fastened with gold or silver chains, from which they were released before the combat began. As a rule the knight bore, also fastened upon some part of his person, in a conspicuous place, some kind of ribbon or other favor which he badly had bestowed upon him.—Edward Haviland, in Harper's Magazine.

A Cheerful Giver.

A GENTLEMAN is in town collecting money for the completion of the Washington Monument. He has a list of wealthy gentlemen, and was directed by a friend to call upon these different parties. The other day he met a well-known citizen who is reputed to be worth $500,000 and Certainly is well known his cranial. Now," said he, "Mr A., you certainly think it would be a nice thing to build a monument to the 'Father of his Country,' as you term it?"

"I do, decidedly so answered A. "And I tell you the Americans ought never to be satisfied with one single monument to George Washington. Every city in the land should have one."

The agent, who had been forewarned of A's penuriousness, was astounded.

"Yes," continued A., "there should be, in my opinion, an association of a national or even of an international character that would undertake the work, devote time to it and make the erection of a monument to Washington a success."

"Splendid!" cried the agent. "I am highly enamated the delighted agent. "I had no thought that you were so full of the true spirit of patriotism."

"I believe, sir," continued A., "that the American people draw nearer in their inmost hearts to the real ideal of patriotic hero-worship than any other people in the world—in the inhabitable world, sir. I have not a particle of doubt that a subscription fund for building Washington monuments could be raised with comparatively little trouble."

"I confess" said the agent, all smiles and beseechity, "you are ahead of most Americans in your generous ideas. But you are right. You are a credit to the city, to the State and to the nation. I admire you. The more we have of such men as you and the better we are off. I feel, in this case, after considering my face sharply for an instant, he interpreted it to mean that he had blundered again. He was vexed. "I had no right to sit there and treat his round-the-corner queries with such contemptuous silence. He would you; and you do injustice to the liberal generosity of the American people when you lament that few find so. Why, sir, talk about 1,000 people in Troy with my sentiments! There are 10,000, sir—10,000 in Troy, and I know it; 10,000 in Troy, 10,000 in Albany, 100,000 in New York, Chicago and Boston each, 50,000 in Hessel Ion, New Orleans and Philadelphia. How long would it take in such a country, with such men, to pass up 500 such public monuments to Gen. Washington? Not long, sir, not very long, I assure you. If such an association were formed today I would gladly put my hand in my pocket and freely contribute fifty cents or a dollar, sir, and never feel it, sir, never."

The agent's smiles subsided, he released his warm grasp of A.'s hand and walked away, remarking, "No, I don't really believe you would; you my soul, I don't."—Troy (N. Y.) Times.

The Houses of Parliament and Westminster Abbey.

THE Houses of Parliament—the House of Commons and the House of Lords—stand close by the river at Westminster, not far from the Abbey in the rear. Probably you will be more pleased with them than with the other buildings that you have seen in London. For, while they are large and imposing, they have a sort of airy grace, which is produced by numerous towers and spires and minute carved work. You realize all one's ideas of a palace, even a fairy palace. At night, too, when the Parliament is in session and all the windows stream forth light, they are still more beautiful and still more inviting to the fancy. The inside is also exquisitely grand, and this is the great legislative hall where the Queen, the Lords and commoners meet in council to frame laws for the people.

Westminster Abbey is a much older and nobler building than the Houses of Parliament. Within its walls rest the remains or monuments of all those English men who have distinguished themselves by their brave deeds in peace and war. Victory or Westminster Abbey" cried Lord Nelson in entering one of his seafights, and he echoed a common sentiment. But at in this sacred place is the highest honor that can be paid to an Englishman, and it is only allowed to the greatest. At one side there is a small space called the "Poets' Corner," containing the fresh graves of Charles Dickens. Robert Sidney is here as in his are the memorials of romance, Chaucer, Spencer, Shakespeare, Cumberland, Ben Jonson, Milton, Butler, Goldsmith, Hume, Gray, Addison, Sheridan, Sheridan, Macaulay, Thackeray, Palmerston and others no less famous in literature and statesmanship. Another part of the abbey is divided into ten chapels, within which are tombs of kings, Queens and Princes, and the finest monuments, sculptured with lustrious feel.—St. Nicholas for September.

The Village Barber.

He thought he recognized me the moment I entered the door, but I refused to encourage him in that ballet. It was a strange town to me, all the people were strangers, and I was so far from home that I doubted if man, woman or child in that locality had ever met me before.

The other night suddenly as he pointed to the chair, and their bed right of seemingly as if he had shaved me every day for a month past. While thinking I'd rather he remarked on the weather, the crops, the panic, the lost ballroonists, and other matters, and although I felt that per fore the combat began. As a rule the knight bore, also fastened upon some part of his person, in a conspicuous place, some kind of ribbon or other favor which he badly had bestowed upon him.—Edward Haviland, in Harper's Magazine.

A Cheerful Giver.

A GENTLEMAN is in town collecting money for the completion of the Washington Monument. He has a list of wealthy gentlemen, and was directed by a friend to call upon these different parties. The other day he met a well-known citizen who is reputed to be worth $500,000 and Certainly is well known his cranial. Now," said he, "Mr A., you certainly think it would be a nice thing to build a monument to the 'Father of his Country,' as you term it?"

"I do, decidedly so answered A. "And I tell you the Americans ought never to be satisfied with one single monument to George Washington. Every city in the land should have one."

The agent, who had been forewarned of A's penuriousness, was astounded.

"Yes," continued A., "there should be, in my opinion, an association of a national or even of an international character that would undertake the work, devote time to it and make the erection of a monument to Washington a success."

"Splendid!" cried the agent. "I am highly enamated the delighted agent. "I had no thought that you were so full of the true spirit of patriotism."

"I believe, sir," continued A., "that the American people draw nearer in their inmost hearts to the real ideal of patriotic hero-worship than any other people in the world—in the inhabitable world, sir. I have not a particle of doubt that a subscription fund for building Washington monuments could be raised with comparatively little trouble."

"I confess" said the agent, all smiles and beseechity, "you are ahead of most Americans in your generous ideas. But you are right. You are a credit to the city, to the State and to the nation. I admire you. The more we have of such men as you and the better we are off. I feel, in this case, after considering my face sharply for an instant, he interpreted it to mean that he had blundered again. He was vexed. "I had no right to sit there and treat his round-the-corner queries with such contemptuous silence. He would pay me for such conduct. I saw the spirit of revenge creep into his face, and he said:

"I was saying only the other day that this town was able to support another blacksmith shop and Jones is good learned, but he knows no more about shoeing a horse than a mule does about sailing a canal boat."

His eyes glistened, and he took no pains to keep down the chuckle of satisfaction bubbling up into his throat. He gandered it as a fine shot—a cruiser—and it he hadn't been shaving my chin at that time he would have been unable to suppress a laugh.

His razor crossed the chin, scraped up and down, and skipped around to the angular vein before the barber's smile faded. He had been watching me to catch a start of surprise or a look of displeasure, or something to guide his opinion, and as he had been unsuccessful he renewed the barber on the left cheek and sighed dreadfully. I hoped he was a man of deliberation, and trusted that he would not give up. Fearing that he would, I was about to speak, when he smiled blandly and remarked:

"I can tell a school teacher the minute I set eyes on him."

(Lather and silence.)

"And it's funny, too," he continued, "for I have shaved every professor in the National School here the very first morning of his arrival, and have told each and every one that he was a professor before he had said a word to me"

(Silence and shave.)

"Well, I suppose teaching is a good paying business," he went on, as he looked my face over to see if he had skipped a spot, "and I'm willing to help you all I can. I never say children—am not married—but if ever I get married and have children I'll send them to school to you."

His persistency and flattery deserved some encouragement, but I was determined to hold out to the last ditch. He shut up his razor with a quick, swift motion, tossed it on the stand regardless of damages, and he smiled maliciously as he got down his bottle of unbulleterated bay-rum. I knew it would bite like a serpent and sting like an adder, but I was not going to flinch now that he had shown Diplomacy and persistency? Didn't I command the struggle?

I shut my teeth, looked straight into the glass, and he capped the fiery stuff over my cheeks and chin. He expected a howl, a groan and a yell, and his surprise was great. The light of revenge had crept into his eyes, but it quickly faded away, and he replaced the bottle and wiped my face with the cowl he said:

"I never saw but one other man who could stand bay rum like that, and he was a returned Californian. The climate of that country hardens the flesh. I suppose so."

I refused to reply. He got angry again, dug my scalp as he combed my hair, gave my head several unnecessary twists and knocks and pushes, and he jerked the big cape upon off my lap as if he hated me. However, curiously suddenly overcame a vexation of spirit, and as he brushed me off he said:

"This town ought to support another undertaker, and if I can be of any assistance in finding you a shop you can call upon me day or night."

I wouldn't speak, and I heard him gritting his teeth as he struck the stand hard blows with the brush, and once tried to hit me fair on the nose. I thought I had discouraged him, but he put on my hat and opened the door to make a last desperate charge. Smiling sweetly, he inquired:

"Lessee? Reverend—Reverend—what did you say it was?—Rev Mr. Brown?"

I didn't say.—M Quad," in N. Y. Graphic.

Blindfold Chess-Playing.

SOME of the strongest chess-players have been unable to play blindfold, especially as some of the greatest mathematicians have been unable to deal mentally with any but the very simplest problems. Philidor and La Bourdonnais could both play without seeing the board; but Morphy, Staunton and Stanley never accomplished the feat at least in any remarkable manner. Harrwitz could play blindfold but ever played a game confidently. At the present day Blackburne and Zukertort can play ten or twelve games blindfold, but several of the strongest players cannot play at all, nor believe it possible to be done. We must, therefore, find an explanation which shall not require the blindfold player to be superior in clear strength to the player who is unable to carry on a contest without seeing the board. The explanation is simple. The blindfold player is able to picture to him self the board and men, at any stage of a game, and thus plays mentally with as much ease and confidence as if he had the board before him. If he is conducting a dozen blindfold games simultaneously, his method is the same. We are unable to say, however, whether he pictures all the games at once, or though the boards were ranged before him, or calls up a mental picture of each board, with the men properly placed for the game, and its turn comes round. Probably, in most cases, the latter is the method adopted.—Cornhill Magazine.

EXPERIMENTS in Germany on frozen potatoes prove that the freezing in no sense destroys the nutritive properties of the tubers. The change is simply physical, and, even if frozen hard, they are still fit for distillation, or they may be pressed to get rid of the water and then ground into a very good meal adapted for feeding cattle.

The polygamous Delegate Cannon, of Utah, is a judge of human nature. His wives have been growing kind of classified with him of late. They made home unhappy. And so he has gone and united them to him, with a double tie by putting a Mansard roof on his house.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS.

BOILING FRUIT WITHOUT SCUM.—It is not generally known that boiling fruit a long time without the sugar and without a cover is very economical, because the bulk of the scum rises from the fruit, not from the sugar; boiling without a cover allows the water to evaporate, unless the fruit is firmer and better flavored.

COON CAKES.—Grate half a dozen ears of green corn, stir in a cup of milk and flour with which yeast powder in the proportion of two teaspoonfuls to the quart, be less salted, until the whole is a thick batter. Add two or three eggs well beaten and a pinch of salt. Fry in butter cakes, or bake in gem pans in a quick oven. A pleasant breakfast dish.

COMMON coolant is an excellent mosquito bar. Drop a little on a piece of cotton or serge as often as possible, and rub over the exposed portions of the body. The smell of the oil disappears in about five minutes, and no mosquito will alight upon the annointed places. This is said to be better than pennyroyal essence for the same purpose.—Scientific American.

TOMATO PIE.—Take fully ripe tomatoes, scald and peel the skin off, then cut in slices, and lay in a shallow dish, sprinkle salt and pepper, add a little butter, cover with a crust, and bake till the crust is done. Then turn the pie on a plate, and allow every one that he was a professor before he had said a word to me"

(Silence and shave.)

"Well, I suppose teaching is a good paying business," he went on, as he looked my face over to see if he had skipped a spot, "and I'm willing to help you all I can. I never say children—am not married—but if ever I get married and have children I'll send them to school to you."

His persistency and flattery deserved some encouragement, but I was determined to hold out to the last ditch. He shut up his razor with a quick, swift motion, tossed it on the stand regardless of damages, and he smiled maliciously as he got down his bottle of unbulleterated bay-rum. I knew it would bite like a serpent and sting like an adder, but I was not going to flinch now that he had shown Diplomacy and persistency? Didn't I command the struggle?

I shut my teeth, looked straight into the glass, and he capped the fiery stuff over my cheeks and chin. He expected a howl, a groan and a yell, and his surprise was great. The light of revenge had crept into his eyes, but it quickly faded away, and he replaced the bottle and wiped my face with the cowl he said:

"I never saw but one other man who could stand bay rum like that, and he was a returned Californian. The climate of that country hardens the flesh. I suppose so."

I refused to reply. He got angry again, dug my scalp as he combed my hair, gave my head several unnecessary twists and knocks and pushes, and he jerked the big cape upon off my lap as if he hated me. However, curiously suddenly overcame a vexation of spirit, and as he brushed me off he said:

"This town ought to support another undertaker, and if I can be of any assistance in finding you a shop you can call upon me day or night."

I wouldn't speak, and I heard him gritting his teeth as he struck the stand hard blows with the brush, and once tried to hit me fair on the nose. I thought I had discouraged him, but he put on my hat and opened the door to make a last desperate charge. Smiling sweetly, he inquired:

"Lessee? Reverend—Reverend—what did you say it was?—Rev Mr. Brown?"

I didn't say.—M Quad," in N. Y. Graphic.

Fresh Eggs the Year Round.

A CROWDED hen will not lay well; neither will an ill-fed or disturbed fowl. Large collections in one body are therefore usually a loss to the owner. So are with any but the very simplest problems. Phillidor and La Bourdonnais could both play without seeing the board; but Morphy, Staunton and Stanley never accomplished the feat at least in any remarkable manner. Harrwitz could play blindfold but ever played a game confidently. At the present day Blackburne and Zukertort can play ten or twelve games blindfold, but several of the strongest players cannot play at all, nor believe it possible to be done. We must, therefore, find an explanation which shall not require the blindfold player to be superior in clear strength to the player who is unable to carry on a contest without seeing the board. The explanation is simple. The blindfold player is able to picture to him self the board and men, at any stage of a game, and thus plays mentally with as much ease and confidence as if he had the board before him. If he is conducting a dozen blindfold games simultaneously, his method is the same. We are unable to say, however, whether he pictures all the games at once, or though the boards were ranged before him, or calls up a mental picture of each board, with the men properly placed for the game, and its turn comes round. Probably, in most cases, the latter is the method adopted.—Cornhill Magazine.

EXPERIMENTS in Germany on frozen potatoes prove that the freezing in no sense destroys the nutritive properties of the tubers. The change is simply physical, and, even if frozen hard, they are still fit for distillation, or they may be pressed to get rid of the water and then ground into a very good meal adapted for feeding cattle.

The polygamous Delegate Cannon, of Utah, is a judge of human nature. His wives have been growing kind of classified with him of late. They made home unhappy. And so he has gone and united them to him, with a double tie by putting a Mansard roof on his house.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS.

BOILING FRUIT WITHOUT SCUM.—It is not generally known that boiling fruit a long time without the sugar and without a cover is very economical, because the bulk of the scum rises from the fruit, not from the sugar; boiling without a cover allows the water to evaporate, unless the fruit is firmer and better flavored.

COON CAKES.—Grate half a dozen ears of green corn, stir in a cup of milk and flour with which yeast powder in the proportion of two teaspoonfuls to the quart, be less salted, until the whole is a thick batter. Add two or three eggs well beaten and a pinch of salt. Fry in butter cakes, or bake in gem pans in a quick oven. A pleasant breakfast dish.

COMMON coolant is an excellent mosquito bar. Drop a little on a piece of cotton or serge as often as possible, and rub over the exposed portions of the body. The smell of the oil disappears in about five minutes, and no mosquito will alight upon the annointed places. This is said to be better than pennyroyal essence for the same purpose.—Scientific American.

TOMATO PIE.—Take fully ripe tomatoes, scald and peel the skin off, then cut in slices, and lay in a shallow dish, sprinkle salt and pepper, add a little butter, cover with a crust, and bake till the crust is done. Then turn the pie on a plate, and allow every one that he was a professor before he had said a word to me"

(Silence and shave.)

"Well, I suppose teaching is a good paying business," he went on, as he looked my face over to see if he had skipped a spot, "and I'm willing to help you all I can. I never say children—am not married—but if ever I get married and have children I'll send them to school to you."

His persistency and flattery deserved some encouragement, but I was determined to hold out to the last ditch. He shut up his razor with a quick, swift motion, tossed it on the stand regardless of damages, and he smiled maliciously as he got down his bottle of unbulleterated bay-rum. I knew it would bite like a serpent and sting like an adder, but I was not going to flinch now that he had shown Diplomacy and persistency? Didn't I command the struggle?

I shut my teeth, looked straight into the glass, and he capped the fiery stuff over my cheeks and chin. He expected a howl, a groan and a yell, and his surprise was great. The light of revenge had crept into his eyes, but it quickly faded away, and he replaced the bottle and wiped my face with the cowl he said:

"I never saw but one other man who could stand bay rum like that, and he was a returned Californian. The climate of that country hardens the flesh. I suppose so."

I refused to reply. He got angry again, dug my scalp as he combed my hair, gave my head several unnecessary twists and knocks and pushes, and he jerked the big cape upon off my lap as if he hated me. However, curiously suddenly overcame a vexation of spirit, and as he brushed me off he said:

"This town ought to support another undertaker, and if I can be of any assistance in finding you a shop you can call upon me day or night."

I wouldn't speak, and I heard him gritting his teeth as he struck the stand hard blows with the brush, and once tried to hit me fair on the nose. I thought I had discouraged him, but he put on my hat and opened the door to make a last desperate charge. Smiling sweetly, he inquired:

"Lessee? Reverend—Reverend—what did you say it was?—Rev Mr. Brown?"

I didn't say.—M Quad," in N. Y. Graphic.

Bluefold Chess-Playing.

SOME of the strongest chess-players have been unable to play blindfold, especially as some of the greatest mathematicians have been unable to deal mentally with any but the very simplest problems. Phillidor and La Bourdonnais could both play without seeing the board; but Morphy, Staunton and Stanley never accomplished the feat at least in any remarkable manner. Harrwitz could play blindfold but ever played a game confidently. At the present day Blackburne and Zukertort can play ten or twelve games blindfold, but several of the strongest players cannot play at all, nor believe it possible to be done. We must, therefore, find an explanation which shall not require the blindfold player to be superior in clear strength to the player who is unable to carry on a contest without seeing the board. The explanation is simple. The blindfold player is able to picture to him self the board and men, at any stage of a game, and thus plays mentally with as much ease and confidence as if he had the board before him. If he is conducting a dozen blindfold games simultaneously, his method is the same. We are unable to say, however, whether he pictures all the games at once, or though the boards were ranged before him, or calls up a mental picture of each board, with the men properly placed for the game, and its turn comes round. Probably, in most cases, the latter is the method adopted.—Cornhill Magazine.

EXPERIMENTS in Germany on frozen potatoes prove that the freezing in no sense destroys the nutritive properties of the tubers. The change is simply physical, and, even if frozen hard, they are still fit for distillation, or they may be pressed to get rid of the water and then ground into a very good meal adapted for feeding cattle.

The polygamous Delegate Cannon, of Utah, is a judge of human nature. His wives have been growing kind of classified with him of late. They made home unhappy. And so he has gone and united them to him, with a double tie by putting a Mansard roof on his house.

The Sunflower as a Preventive of Fevers.

We continue to see favorable mention made of the virtues of sunflowers as preventives of bilious fever, chills and fever, etc. A correspondent of the Soil of the South, writing from a place in Alabama which he says was peculiarly subject to fevers, gives the result of his experience in the premises, and in not a single instance where he planted sunflowers around his negro cabins did their inmates suffer from fevers, while his wife, two children and two housemates all suffered severely, not having planted any of the sunflowers around his own dwelling, which, in his opinion, surrounded the children with a halo. We trust that next spring New Orleans may be surrounded by a cordon of sunflowers, that they may be scattered through gardens and over every vacant lot in the city. Who knows but they may prevent yellow fever also? The cost—Soil of the South says—

"My opinion is that the sunflower, in its rank growth, absorbs the very elements in the atmosphere that produce fever, or chilli and fever, and what is the life of the sunflower is highly obnoxious to the health of the human family, and we do believe that a man could ever have a chill who would sleep in a bed of rank sunflowers. This, too, seems to be a new theory, as Lieut. Maury states that his gardener, a Frenchman, informed him that their sanitary influence had been long known in France."—Horticulturist.

The Reason for It.

SOME time ago a gentleman speaking of a farmer in the neighborhood, said he was a lucky man, for whatever crop was the highest in the market it always happened that he had cultivated largely of that particular article that season and succeeded in raising a good crop. He said that if anything the man did not appear to have even as much intelligence as his cattle or horses, but by sheer luck he was getting rich, while many others could hardly hold their own.

A couple of weeks ago we rode by this man's farm and were struck with the superior excellence of the show's in his wheat field, and a few days since we found that grain in stack and the stubble already turned under. We therefore came to the conclusion that his success was not the result of luck, but of industry and the application of brains to his business. He may not understand the currency question, or be able to solve intricate theological problems, but he certainly does know when and how to do the work on his farm a little better than some of his neighbors who put on more side They may have the heaviest brains, but he puts his to work where they will do the most good, and not only knows how the most, but he puts the most of what he knows in practice. He does not work as much as some others, but carefully considers beforehand how, when and where his efforts and those of his hands can be spent to the best advantage; and the consequence is that so little of his labor is lost that in the end he accomplishes much more than the mere plodder.

From all of which we draw this moral: First of all, put your brains in your business and learn how, when and where to do it most profitably. Do what you know is best. For instance, if you know that it is best to sow fall grain early try to sow during August if possible, instead of leaving it to the last day, as you generally do till the last of September and October, and then curse your "luck" when it winter-kills.—Manhattan (Kan.) Independent.

How to Make Rag Carpets.

IF you want something for your kitchen that is cheap, durable, pretty, which spots can be easily removed, which can be shaken, turned, and be as good as new again, for several years, use rag carpets. They can generally be obtained of car, peddlers at from sixty cents to one dollar a yard, also a woven carpet and hand rag carpet article can be made at home, at least real for the loom. For this purpose save the old clothes of your husband, children, servants, old dresses—in fact, everything which will make long strips. Old clothes of good colors are decidedly suitable. Calicoes, not too much worn, are excellent material. Cut into strips about an inch wide, sew end to end, and wind somewhat into balls of about one pound weight. Allow from one and one-fourth to one and one half pounds of rags to the square yard of carpeting. Collect all odds pieces of any color for the mosaic or fit-and-miss strip. Cut and rip these thoroughly before sewing, so as to make the strips as uniform as possible. A few pounds of remnants from a woollen factory or soft listings of any mosiac color make a nice strip and require little sewing. Do not put too much black into a kitchen carpet, as it is not a strong color and shows the dirt more than other colors. A strips of several shades of red will brighten up a carpet wonderfully—and who objects to a little brightness in the kitchen? White woollen rags take a nice cochineal red, white cotton a durable green, from indigo and logwood, and yellow from chrome. A common color may be dyed with copperas. Select a coarse, strong warp, of some dark color—brown and slate colors are good—allowing one pound of warp for every three and one-fourth yards of carpeting. Keep the exact weight of rags for each yard of carpet with weight of carpet when returned, and employ a good weaver. Many prefer a kitchen carpet put down with rings, as it can then be easily taken up and shaken.—Scribner for September.

A Year Ago and Now.

THEY lingered at the gate till he could finish that last remark, and she toyed with her fan, while her eyes were looking down from heaven's journey but that only partially shaded her face from the light of the silvery moon.

He stood gracefully on the outside with one hand resting on the gate-post and the other tracing unintelligible hieroglyphics on the panels. They were looking very sentimental, and neither spoke for some minutes until she broke silence in a sweet, musical voice:

"And you will always think as you do now, George?"

"Ever, dearest. Your image is impressed upon my heart so indelibly that nothing can ever efface it. Tell me, Julia, lovelist of your sex, that I have a right to wear it there."

"Oh, you men are so deceitful," she answered coquettishly.

"True, Julia, men are deceitful," he murmured, as she made a feint to remove him arm from around her waist.

"Let me hold you to my heart," he whispered passionately, "until you leave, consent to be mine," and he drew her nearer to him and held her tightly until he obtained the coveted boon.

Just then a footstep sounded on the gravel walk, and the candidates worked up a great deal in Dorchester's estimation.

The next morning we assembled at Spidkin's grocery to get the nominating papers with the full percentile in the convention, which was then ariived I read—

"For Governor—William Allen.

For Lieutenant-Governor—Sahmuel F. Cary.

"Three cheers," I sung out. "for Allen and Cary."

The cheers was given with a will. The Democratic ny Pathis' Corners are excellent at cheering.

The platform adopted by the convention hadn't come to hand, but as I had to be proceeded to draft a resolooshon or two, for I knowed the candidates very well—I was as well posted as to their antecedents and attainments—and I knowed the principles the platform was on which they was placed, and I wouldn't be overwhelmed with work. So I lenin was the first

Resolved, That this convention reprezents as the Democracy of Patipsea Corners that in accordance with the principles of the party we are opposed to the doctrine of secession, and that the convention invites the gallant sons of the Democracy to rally around the old flag and the Democratic ticket and put down the traitors at the ballot-box.

Resolved, That the single Greenbackers on this township cannot and shall not be counted upon as Democrats, and that we invite them to come and vote with us.

Resolved, That we favor the continuation of the present war policy of the administration, and that we will support the administration in all its measures to crush out the rebellion.

Resolved, That we favor the speedy trial and punishment of all traitors

Additional Local.

Inez Gin, L. Cook, who has been the Methodist postal here for the past three years, left Tuesday for Gaylord, and of course it is not expected that he will return. His labors here were highly attended by a degree of success which have not marked those of any of his predecessors. A large number of members have been added to the church, and in his administration the foundation for a church edifice has been laid. He leaves many friends here, both in and out of the church, all of whom unite in wishing him temporal and spiritual prosperity in his future field of labor.

Annual School Meeting.—At the School Meeting on Monday evening the question of leasing the School lots was discussed, and considerable opposition was manifested. It was finally voted to leave the matter entirely with the board. The following ballots were voted to be issued: For wood-house, $1400, continuing fund, $1000; teachers' wages (one year), $1600. The Director was instructed to make an annual report of the finances at the time of the annual meeting. A. K. Dougherty was elected Moderator for the ensuing three years. A vote of thanks was tendered S. M. Stee for the able and efficient manner in which he has discharged the duties of Moderator for the past few years.

The Entertainment.—The entertainment, which Robert Miller, Esq., director, acted passe for his enterprising efforts in behalf of the Church fund which he has put forth in getting up the entertainment presented to the public on Friday evening. The large upper story of the school building was filled, and the net proceeds to the fund announced to quite a handsome sum. The programme embraced many good things, prominent among which was the sujject matter of Grandfather. This was the piece, and was the last thing of the evening. The farces not tableaux and music were by no means unworthy of praise, considering all the circumstances. A wholesale criticism by us is unnecessary, and too much praise would tenderness drive them all to the stage for life. Suffice it to say, the boys and girls did very well, and Mr. Miller still better in backing up so good an entertainment out of raw material.

Letters from Druggists.

These letters are of frequent occurrence. August Flower will not cure. Come to the living Issue of it. W. Lindsay, and inquire about it. If you suffer from Constipation Sick Headache, Sour Stomach, Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, or derangement of the Stomach or Bowels you can be cured by using August Flower. Two doses will relieve you.

Boschee's German Syrup is now sold in every town and city in the United States. We have not time, this fall, to write letters from druggists relating to its merits, as some one they ever sold his remedy. Druggists or Longshoremen. Sample bottles of both to Druggists, Burlington, Vt.

SALE OF STATE TAX LANDS.

Auditor General's Office, }
Lansing, March 29th, 1875. }

Notice is hereby given that certain lands returned to the county of Manitou last fall to the State for Unpaid 1873, and previous years and described in statements which will be forwarded to the office of the Treasurer of said county some time in September, will be sold at public auction by said Treasurer, at the County Seat, on the first Monday of October next, at the time and place provided for the ordinary Tax Sales, if not previously disposed of at this office according to law.

Said statements contain a full description of each parcel of said lands, and may be seen on application at the office of the County Treasurer.

Also a statement of the following described tracts or parcels of land, situated in the county of Manitou, delinquent for unpaid taxes, for the years mentioned below, as will be sufficient to pay the taxes, interest and charges thereon, will be sold by the Treasurer of said county, on the first Monday of October next, at such public and convenient place as he shall select in St. James, the County seat of said county, according to the statute in such case made and provided.

RALPH ELY, Auditor Gen'l.

1872

Town 37 North of Range 10 West.

Lot 1 of sec	7	1.45	80	0.00	1.06	1.06
Town 38 North of Range 4 West.
E ½ of sec	2	80	4.74	47	1.00	6.21
S ½ of sec	2	75	4.74	47	1.00	6.21
W ½ of sec	2	75	4.74	47	1.00	6.21
E ½ of sec	4	80	4.74	48	1.00	6.22
W ½ of sec	4	80	4.74	48	1.00	6.22
S ½ of sec	9	80	2.37	24	1.00	3.61
N ½ of sec	9	80	2.37	24	1.00	3.61
E ½ of sec	10	80	2.37	24	1.00	3.61
S ½ of sec	10	80	2.37	24	1.00	3.61
E ½ of sec	18	80	4.74	47	1.00	6.21
W ½ of sec	18	80	4.74	47	1.00	6.21
E ½ of sec	20	80	2.37	23	1.00	3.60
W ½ of sec	20	80	2.37	23	1.00	3.60
E ½ of sec	28	80	4.74	47	1.00	6.21
W ½ of sec	28	80	4.74	47	1.00	6.21
E ½ of sec	30	80	3.74	47	1.00	6.21
W ½ of sec	30	80	3.74	47	1.00	6.21
E ½ of sec	32	80	4.74	47	1.00	6.21
W ½ of sec	32	80	4.74	47	1.00	6.21
Town 33 North of Range 5 West.
E ½ of sec	2	82	2.19	21	1.00	3.40
W ½ of sec	2	82	2.19	21	1.00	3.40
E ½ of sec	4	80	2.25	22	1.00	3.47
W ½ of sec	4	80	2.25	22	1.00	3.47
E ½ of sec	10	80	1.16	12	1.00	2.28
W ½ of sec	10	80	1.16	12	1.00	2.28
Lot 1 of sec	18	40	1.06	10	1.00	2.16
Lot 2 of sec	18	39	1.06	10	1.00	2.16
Lot 1 of sec	20	50	1.06	10	1.00	2.16
Lot 2 of sec	20	50	1.06	10	1.00	2.16
Lot 1 of sec	28	40	1.06	10	1.00	2.16
Lot 2 of sec	28	40	1.06	10	1.00	2.16
Lot 1 of sec	30	40	1.06	10	1.00	2.16
Lot 2 of sec	30	40	1.06	10	1.00	2.16
Lot 1 of sec	32	40	1.06	10	1.00	2.16
Lot 2 of sec	32	40	1.06	10	1.00	2.16
Town 34 North of Range 5 West.
Lot 1 of sec	6	40	1.06	10	1.00	2.16
Lot 2 of sec	6	40	1.06	10	1.00	2.16

Lands sold off to the State for taxes of 1875, or other years, at the Tax Sales in October next will be offered subject to the right of redemption prescribed by law, as well as to the right of purchase of the State from this office, prior to the sale.

RALPH ELY,
Auditor General.

ANNUAL TAX SALES.

Auditor General's Office, }
Lansing, March 29th, 1875. }

Notice is hereby given that the sale of delinquent taxes on lands and other real estate will commence on Tuesday, October 5th, 1875, at the hour of 10 o'clock a. m., at the usual place of holding the same in the County of Manitou, and will continue from day to day, (Sundays excepted) until the same shall have been completed according to law.

BYRON SEE, Co. Treasurer.

SALE OF STATE TAX LANDS.

Auditor General's Office, }
Lansing, Mich., July 1, 1875. }

Notice is hereby given that certain Lands returned to the County of Manitou last fall to the State for Unpaid 1873, and previous years and described in statements which will be forwarded to the office of the Treasurer of said county some time in September, will be sold at public auction by said Treasurer, at the County Seat, on the first Monday of October next, at the time and place provided for the ordinary Tax Sales, if not previously disposed of at this office according to law.

Said statements contain a full description of each parcel of said lands, and may be seen on application at the office of the County Treasurer.

Also a statement of the following described tracts or parcels of Land, situated in the county of Manitou, delinquent for unpaid taxes, for the years mentioned below, as will be sufficient to pay the taxes, interest and charges thereon, will be sold by the Treasurer of said county, on the first Monday of October next, at such public and convenient place as he shall select in St. James, the County seat of said county, according to the statute in such case made and provided.

RALPH ELY, Auditor Gen'l.

1872

Town 37 North of Range 10 West.

Lot 1 of sec	7	1.45	80	0.00	1.06	1.06
Town 38 North of Range 4 West.
E ½ of sec	2	80	4.74	47	1.00	6.21
S ½ of sec	2	75	4.74	47	1.00	6.21
W ½ of sec	2	75	4.74	47	1.00	6.21
E ½ of sec	4	80	4.74	48	1.00	6.22
W ½ of sec	4	80	4.74	48	1.00	6.22
S ½ of sec	9	80	2.37	24	1.00	3.61
N ½ of sec	9	80	2.37	24	1.00	3.61
E ½ of sec	10	80	2.37	24	1.00	3.61
S ½ of sec	10	80	2.37	24	1.00	3.61
E ½ of sec	18	80	4.74	47	1.00	6.21
W ½ of sec	18	80	4.74	47	1.00	6.21
E ½ of sec	20	80	2.37	23	1.00	3.60
W ½ of sec	20	80	2.37	23	1.00	3.60
E ½ of sec	28	80	4.74	47	1.00	6.21
W ½ of sec	28	80	4.74	47	1.00	6.21
E ½ of sec	30	80	3.74	47	1.00	6.21
W ½ of sec	30	80	3.74	47	1.00	6.21
E ½ of sec	32	80	4.74	47	1.00	6.21
W ½ of sec	32	80	4.74	47	1.00	6.21
Town 33 North of Range 5 West.
E ½ of sec	2	82	2.19	21	1.00	3.40
W ½ of sec	2	82	2.19	21	1.00	3.40
E ½ of sec	4	80	2.25	22	1.00	3.47
W ½ of sec	4	80	2.25	22	1.00	3.47
E ½ of sec	10	80	1.16	12	1.00	2.28
W ½ of sec	10	80	1.16	12	1.00	2.28
Lot 1 of sec	18	40	1.06	10	1.00	2.16
Lot 2 of sec	18	39	1.06	10	1.00	2.16
Lot 1 of sec	20	50	1.06	10	1.00	2.16
Lot 2 of sec	20	50	1.06	10	1.00	2.16
Lot 1 of sec	28	40	1.06	10	1.00	2.16
Lot 2 of sec	28	40	1.06	10	1.00	2.16
Lot 1 of sec	30	40	1.06	10	1.00	2.16
Lot 2 of sec	30	40	1.06	10	1.00	2.16
Lot 1 of sec	32	40	1.06	10	1.00	2.16
Lot 2 of sec	32	40	1.06	10	1.00	2.16
Town 34 North of Range 5 West.
Lot 1 of sec	6	40	1.06	10	1.00	2.16
Lot 2 of sec	6	40	1.06	10	1.00	2.16

G. B. MILLS,

DEALER IN

Gen'l Merchandise,

Boyne Falls, Mich.,

Located adjacent to railroad, and careful a location is paid to the wants of customers

Cash Paid for Country Produce

People in the vicinity of the railroad and the head of Pine Lake, can make home if for their interests to call and examine goods and prices.

May 22, 1875.

REAL ESTATE AGENCY

—OF—

H. L. MILLER,

CHARLEVOIX, MICH.

Transfers, deeds, conveyances taxes paid and real estate business attended to promptly and on reasonable terms.

The following descriptions are offered for sale at special bargains:

EMMET COUNTY.

W ½ of sec. 1, town 33 N. R. 6 west. Considerable timber.

N ½ of section 31 town 37 S. R. 6 W. ¶

S ½ of sec. 30 town 37 N. R. 5 W.

Both timber, marsh and hay, also, hemlock, basswood and pine.

CHARLEVOIX COUNTY.

The old Healy Farm at Richard P. O., on the state Road, 14 miles from Charlevoix. 5 miles to Boyne, 16 to Petoskey. 80 acres, 50 acres improved, to rent for term of years. House, good double log house, good frame barn, 30 by 40, good cellar, the full length of house, frame barn 20x32, and a good corn-house, 8 by 10, hog-pen and hen-house, also, hemlock, cedar and black ash timber, road running through the farm, and never-failing springs. W ½ of N. W. ¼ of section 34, Town 33 North, of Range 8 West. Good log house. Terms easy.

1845y1

J. E. Greilick & Co.,

TRAVERSE CITY, MICH.,

Manufacturers and Dealers in

Sash & Doors,

BLINDS, MOULDINGS, BRACKETS,

STORE FRONTS

Store Shutter Balusters and Newell Post? A large assortment of grained and unglazed Doors, Frames and Sash.

SEASONED

Lime Lumber, Dressed Flooring, Ceiling & Siding and Pickets constantly on hand for Orders by Boat will receive prompt attention.

MEAT MARKET.

A. J. McLEOD,

Respectfully informs the public of Charlevoix and vicinity that he has established a Meat Market adjoining the Charlevoix House, where he will furnish fresh meats at all times. Cash paid for fat cattle and dogs

FOUNTAIN CITY HOUSE.

Charlevoix, Michigan

RICHARD COOPER, Prop,

Has been recently enlarged, and arranged with a view to the comfort of the travelling public. Free passenger to

Jordan and Boyne Rivers,

Lovell's whose? supplies of Speckled Trout can be procured. All persons are hereby warned against trespassing on my premises as I will pay to dogs of any trespassers.

Norwood, Mich., August 21, 1875.

JESS. ISBELL.

RAILROAD

Carpenter & Handy

BOYNE FALLS, M.

Dealers in

DRY GOODS,

Groceries,

Provisions,

Hardware,

Crockery,

And in fact every article needed by the people of the country.

OUR GOODS AND PRICES

Speak for Themselves.

We have first class facilities for keeping full stock, and customers can always find here just what they want.

Call and See Us.

May 27, 1875. 4:y

1875. 1875.

Spring and Summer

Fox, Rose & Buttars.

PETOSKEY.

Headquarters to Buy

DRY GOODS,

GROCERIES & PROVISION

BOOTS and SHOES.

TIN and HARDWARE.

STOVES, STOVEPIPE

CROCKERY & GLASSWARE.

TRUNKS, Travelling Bags

FURNITURE

We make keep good goods and sell at as low cash PRICES. STRANGERS MAKING IN town soon find their way to our store; people living who us know how to economize.

Largest Stock! Lowest Prices!

Careful Attention to Orders.

Fox, Rose & Buttars

GEO. W. ESTERLY & CO.

CHARLEVOIX MICH

MANUFACTURERS OF

HARD

and

SOFT

LUMBER

ALSO

Shingles

Lath

Cheese Box Stuff

Broom Handles

Etc.

LUMBER SAWED

TO ORDER

AND

BILLS FILLED

On short Notice

Time = Money

Save It.

And Buy Your Goods at Home.

OLD FLETCH.

Would respectfully inform the people of South Arm that he still holds forth on the Road full and good natured as ever, and is free and ready to

Sell Goods Cheaper

than ever before. His stock of goods is full and complete in every style.

CALL and SEE.

All Kinds of Grain, Furs, etc. taken in exchange for goods.

W. F. EMPEY.

South Arm, Mar. 10, 1875.

LAND FOR SALE.

The subscriber has for sale on reasonable terms and payment, the following described

LANDS

situated in Charlevoix County, Mich. They have been located for some years, and are

FIRST - QUALITY

As regards soil and timbered timber:

Town 33 North of Range 7 West.

S ½ of sec. 1 and north ½ 26.
S ½ of sec. 2 " " 26.
Lots 1, 2 and 3 " " 31.
N. E. ¼ of " " 40.

Town 34 North of Range 7 West.

Lot 1 of section 30 " 20.
W. ½ of sec. 30 " 39.
S. ½ of sec. 31 " 320.
Lots 1 and 2 " " 72.
N. E. ¼ of " " 160.

Town 33 North of Range 6 West.

S. ½ (part) of section 2.

Town 33 North of Range 5 West.

N. ½ of lot 1 of section 2.
S. ½ (part) " " 2.
N. ½ of sec. 4 " " 320.

For last three descriptions, containing 320 acres, one within one mile of Boyne Falls station, on Davis, G. & E. R.

For price, terms, etc., address

AMOS FOX, Charlevoix.

New Harness Shop.

The subscriber would respectfully inform the public of Charlevoix and vicinity that he has just opened in the new brick store on Bridge street, Charlevoix, Mich.

REPAIRING

A specialty. May be found at the old Bera stand, opposite Fox, Rose & Buttars' store.

JUDSON DENTON

Charlevoix, August 5, 1874.

ANDREW C. H. MCLEAN,

Charlevoix Michigan.

BOOT AND SHOE SHOP.

Custom work done promptly and in the latest styles. Repairing done on short notice.

FOR SALE.

The undersigned offers for sale his residence in South Arm and lot on which it stands, on long time for following

FARMS:

The timber is beech, maple, rock-elm, and some pine and cedar, and each lot is surrounded by settlers.

145 Acres on state road, one mile from Charlevoix. Natural road on each line, two acres cleared at the junction of the State road. Norwood road. Price, $3,000.

123 Acres, one mile from Bonnemoy; half mile on Pine Lake road; good log house; four acres cleared. Price, $1,200.

40 Acres, one mile from Charlevoix; two acres cleared. Price, $400.

175 Acres three and a half miles from Pine Lake; 2 acres improved; log house; good barn 30x40; log house running through the farm; never-failing springs. W ½ of N. W. ¼ of section 34, Town 33 North, of Range 8 West. Good log house. Terms easy.

1845y1

J. E. Greilick & Co.,

TRAVERSE CITY, MICH.

Manufacturers and Dealers in

Sash & Doors,

BLINDS, MOULDINGS, BRACKETS,

STORE FRONTS

Store Shutter Balusters and Newell Post? A large assortment of grained and unglazed Doors, Frames and Sash.

SEASONED

Lime Lumber, Dressed Flooring, Ceiling & Siding and Pickets constantly on hand for Orders by Boat will receive prompt attention.

MEAT MARKET.

A. J. McLEOD,

Respectfully informs the public of Charlevoix and vicinity that he has established a Meat Market adjoining the Charlevoix House, where he will furnish fresh meats at all times. Cash paid for fat cattle and dogs

FOUNTAIN CITY HOUSE.

Charlevoix, Michigan

RICHARD COOPER, Prop,

Has been recently enlarged, and arranged with a view to the comfort of the travelling public. Free passenger to

Jordan and Boyne Rivers,

Lovell's whose? supplies of Speckled Trout can be procured. All persons are hereby warned against trespassing on my premises as I will pay to dogs of any trespassers.

Norwood, Mich., August 21, 1875.

JESS. ISBELL.

RAILROAD

Carpenter & Handy

BOYNE FALLS, M.

Dealers in

DRY GOODS,

Groceries,

Provisions,

Hardware,

Crockery,

And in fact every article needed by the people of the country.

OUR GOODS AND PRICES

Speak for Themselves.

We have first class facilities for keeping full stock, and customers can always find here just what they want.

Call and See Us.

May 27, 1875. 4:y

1875. 1875.

Spring and Summer

Fox, Rose & Buttars.

PETOSKEY.

Headquarters to Buy

DRY GOODS,

GROCERIES & PROVISION

BOOTS and SHOES.

TIN and HARDWARE.

STOVES, STOVEPIPE

CROCKERY & GLASSWARE.

TRUNKS, Travelling Bags

FURNITURE

We make keep good goods and sell at as low cash PRICES. STRANGERS MAKING IN town soon find their way to our store; people living who us know how to economize.

Largest Stock! Lowest Prices!

Careful Attention to Orders.

Fox, Rose & Buttars

GEO. W. ESTERLY & CO.

CHARLEVOIX MICH

MANUFACTURERS OF

HARD

and

SOFT

LUMBER

ALSO

Shingles

Lath

Cheese Box Stuff

Broom Handles

Etc.

LUMBER SAWED

TO ORDER

AND

BILLS FILLED

On short Notice

Time = Money

Save It.

And Buy Your Goods at Home.

OLD FLETCH.

Would respectfully inform the people of South Arm that he still holds forth on the Road full and good natured as ever, and is free and ready to than ever before. His stock of goods is full and complete in every style.

Sell Goods Cheaper

CALL and SEE.

All Kinds of Grain, Furs, etc. taken in exchange for goods.

W. F. EMPEY.

South Arm, Mar. 10, 1875.

LAND FOR SALE.

The subscriber has for sale on reasonable terms and payment, the following described

LANDS

situated in Charlevoix County, Mich. They have been located for some years, and are

FIRST - QUALITY

As regards soil and timbered timber:

Town 33 North of Range 7 West.

S ½ of sec. 1 and north ½ 26.
S ½ of sec. 2 " " 26.
Lots 1, 2 and 3 " " 31.
N. E. ¼ of " " 40.

Town 34 North of Range 7 West.

Lot 1 of section 30 " 20.
W. ½ of sec. 30 " 39.
S. ½ of sec. 31 " 320.
Lots 1 and 2 " " 72.
N. E. ¼ of " " 160.

Town 33 North of Range 6 West.

S. ½ (part) of section 2.

Town 33 North of Range 5 West.

N. ½ of lot 1 of section 2.
S. ½ (part) " " 2.
N. ½ of sec. 4 " " 320.

For last three descriptions, containing 320 acres, one within one mile of Boyne Falls station, on Davis, G. & E. R.

For price, terms, etc., address

AMOS FOX, Charlevoix.

New Harness Shop.

The subscriber would respectfully inform the public of Charlevoix and vicinity that he has just opened in the new brick store on Bridge street, Charlevoix, Mich.

REPAIRING

A specialty. May be found at the old Bera stand, opposite Fox, Rose & Buttars' store.

JUDSON DENTON

Charlevoix, August 5, 1874.

ANDREW C. H. MCLEAN,

Charlevoix Michigan.

BOOT AND SHOE SHOP.

Custom work done promptly and in the latest styles. Repairing done on short notice.

FOR SALE.

The undersigned offers for sale his residence in South Arm and lot on which it stands, on long time for following

FARMS:

The timber is beech, maple, rock-elm, and some pine and cedar, and each lot is surrounded by settlers.

145 Acres on state road, one mile from Charlevoix. Natural road on each line, two acres cleared at the junction of the State road. Norwood road. Price, $3,000.

123 Acres, one mile from Bonnemoy; half mile on Pine Lake road; good log house; four acres cleared. Price, $1,200.

40 Acres, one mile from Charlevoix; two acres cleared. Price, $400.

175 Acres three and a half miles from Pine Lake; 2 acres improved; log house; good barn 30x40; log house running through the farm; never-failing springs. W ½ of N. W. ¼ of section 34, Town 33 North, of Range 8 West. Good log house. Terms easy.

1845y1

WHEREAS, my wife, Mary Jane Booth, has left my house without just cause or provocation, all persons are hereby notified against harboring her on my account as I will pay no debts of her contracting.

JESS. ISBELL.

Norwood, Mich., August 21, 1875.

RAILROAD

Carpenter & Handy

BOYNE FALLS, M.

Dealers in

DRY GOODS,

Groceries,

Provisions,

Hardware,

Crockery,

And in fact every article needed by the people of the country.

OUR GOODS AND PRICES

Speak for Themselves.

We have first class facilities for keeping full stock, and customers can always find here just what they want.

Call and See Us.

May 27, 1875. 4:y

G. B. MILLS,

DEALER IN

Gen'l Merchandise,

Boyne Falls, Mich.,

Located adjacent to railroad, and careful a location is paid to the wants of customers

Cash Paid for Country Produce

People in the vicinity of the railroad and the head of Pine Lake, can make home if for their interests to call and examine goods and prices.

May 22, 1875.

REAL ESTATE AGENCY

—OF—

H. L. MILLER,

CHARLEVOIX, MICH.

Transfers, deeds, conveyances taxes paid and real estate business attended to promptly and on reasonable terms.

The following descriptions are offered for sale at special bargains:

EMMET COUNTY.

W ½ of sec. 1, town 33 N. R. 6 west. Considerable timber.

N ½ of section 31 town 37 S. R. 6 W. ¶

S ½ of sec. 30 town 37 N. R. 5 W.

Both timber, marsh and hay, also, hemlock, basswood and pine.

CHARLEVOIX COUNTY.

The old Healy Farm at Richard P. O., on the state Road, 14 miles from Charlevoix. 5 miles to Boyne, 16 to Petoskey. 80 acres, 50 acres improved, to rent for term of years. House, good double log house, good frame barn, 30 by 40, good cellar, the full length of house, frame barn 20x32, and a good corn-house, 8 by 10, hog-pen and hen-house, also, hemlock, cedar and black ash timber, road running through the farm, and never-failing springs. W ½ of N. W. ¼ of section 34, Town 33 North, of Range 8 West. Good log house. Terms easy.

1845y1

J. E. Greilick & Co.,

TRAVERSE CITY, MICH.,

Manufacturers and Dealers in

Sash & Doors,

BLINDS, MOULDINGS, BRACKETS,

STORE FRONTS

Store Shutter Balusters and Newell Post? A large assortment of grained and unglazed Doors, Frames and Sash.

SEASONED

Lime Lumber, Dressed Flooring, Ceiling & Siding and Pickets constantly on hand for Orders by Boat will receive prompt attention.

MEAT MARKET.

A. J. McLEOD,

Respectfully informs the public of Charlevoix and vicinity that he has established a Meat Market adjoining the Charlevoix House, where he will furnish fresh meats at all times. Cash paid for fat cattle and dogs

FOUNTAIN CITY HOUSE.

Charlevoix, Michigan

RICHARD COOPER, Prop,

Has been recently enlarged, and arranged with a view to the comfort of the travelling public. Free passenger to

Jordan and Boyne Rivers,

Lovell's whose? supplies of Speckled Trout can be procured. All persons are hereby warned against trespassing on my premises as I will pay to dogs of any trespassers.

Norwood, Mich., August 21, 1875.

JESS. ISBELL.

RAILROAD

Carpenter & Handy

BOYNE FALLS, M.

Dealers in

DRY GOODS,

Groceries,

Provisions,

Hardware,

Crockery,

And in fact every article needed by the people of the country.

OUR GOODS AND PRICES

Speak for Themselves.

We have first class facilities for keeping full stock, and customers can always find here just what they want.

Call and See Us.

May 27, 1875. 4:y

1875. 1875.

Spring and Summer

Fox, Rose & Buttars.

PETOSKEY.

Headquarters to Buy

DRY GOODS,

GROCERIES & PROVISION

BOOTS and SHOES.

TIN and HARDWARE.

STOVES, STOVEPIPE

CROCKERY & GLASSWARE.

TRUNKS, Travelling Bags

FURNITURE

We make keep good goods and sell at as low cash PRICES. STRANGERS MAKING IN town soon find their way to our store; people living who us know how to economize.

Largest Stock! Lowest Prices!

Careful Attention to Orders.

Fox, Rose & Buttars

GEO. W. ESTERLY & CO.

CHARLEVOIX MICH

MANUFACTURERS OF

HARD

and

SOFT

LUMBER

ALSO

Shingles

Lath

Cheese Box Stuff

Broom Handles

Etc.

LUMBER SAWED

TO ORDER

AND

BILLS FILLED

On short Notice

Time = Money

Save It.

And Buy Your Goods at Home.

OLD FLETCH.

Would respectfully inform the people of South Arm that he still holds forth on the Road full and good natured as ever, and is free and ready to than ever before. His stock of goods is full and complete in every style.

Sell Goods Cheaper

CALL and SEE.

All Kinds of Grain, Furs, etc. taken in exchange for goods.

W. F. EMPEY.

South Arm, Mar. 10, 1875.

LAND FOR SALE.

The subscriber has for sale on reasonable terms and payment, the following described

LANDS

situated in Charlevoix County, Mich. They have been located for some years, and are

FIRST - QUALITY

As regards soil and timbered timber:

Town 33 North of Range 7 West.

S ½ of sec. 1 and north ½ 26.
S ½ of sec. 2 " " 26.
Lots 1, 2 and 3 " " 31.
N. E. ¼ of " " 40.

Town 34 North of Range 7 West.

Lot 1 of section 30 " 20.
W. ½ of sec. 30 " 39.
S. ½ of sec. 31 " 320.
Lots 1 and 2 " " 72.
N. E. ¼ of " " 160.

Town 33 North of Range 6 West.

S. ½ (part) of section 2.

Town 33 North of Range 5 West.

N. ½ of lot 1 of section 2.
S. ½ (part) " " 2.
N. ½ of sec. 4 " " 320.

For last three descriptions, containing 320 acres, one within one mile of Boyne Falls station, on Davis, G. & E. R.

For price, terms, etc., address

AMOS FOX, Charlevoix.

New Harness Shop.

The subscriber would respectfully inform the public of Charlevoix and vicinity that he has just opened in the new brick store on Bridge street, Charlevoix, Mich.

REPAIRING

A specialty. May be found at the old Bera stand, opposite Fox, Rose & Buttars' store.

JUDSON DENTON

Charlevoix, August 5, 1874.

ANDREW C. H. MCLEAN,

Charlevoix Michigan.

BOOT AND SHOE SHOP.

Custom work done promptly and in the latest styles. Repairing done on short notice.

FOR SALE.

The undersigned offers for sale his residence in South Arm and lot on which it stands, on long time for following

FARMS:

The timber is beech, maple, rock-elm, and some pine and cedar, and each lot is surrounded by settlers.

145 Acres on state road, one mile from Charlevoix. Natural road on each line, two acres cleared at the junction of the State road. Norwood road. Price, $3,000.

123 Acres, one mile from Bonnemoy; half mile on Pine Lake road; good log house; four acres cleared. Price, $1,200.

40 Acres, one mile from Charlevoix; two acres cleared. Price, $400.

175 Acres three and a half miles from Pine Lake; 2 acres improved; log house; good barn 30x40; log house running through the farm; never-failing springs. W ½ of N. W. ¼ of section 34, Town 33 North, of Range 8 West. Good log house. Terms easy.

1845y1

The Sentinel,

Published every Tuesday by

WILLARD A. SMITH,

—EDITOR AND PROPRIETOR.—

OFFICE—Postoffice Building, On Bridge Street

Terms of Subscription: $2.00 per Annum, In Advance. $1.00 FOR SIX MONTHS.

JOB PRINTING executed in good style at reasonable rates.

CHARLEVOIX SENTINEL.

Terms, $2.00 per Annum.

Devoted to the Interests of Charlevoix County.

(Always in Advance.

Vol. VII. No. 19. CHARLEVOIX, MICH., SEPT. 14. 1875 Whole No., 331

Business Directory.

WALLACE CH. County Sheriff, Charlevoix, Mich.

WILLIAM SMITH, Notary Public and Justice of the Peace, Charlevoix, Mich.

BYRON SEE, County Treasurer, Charlevoix, Mich.

L. A. KINNE, General Insurance Agent, Traverse City, Mich.

M. CUCKMAN, Register of Deeds Charlevoix, Mich.

JAMES CHASE, County supt. of Schools and County Clerk, Charlevoix, Mich.

S. C. MOFFATT, Attorney at law, Northport, Michigan.

LUCIEN H. WADE, Attorney at Law, Traverse City, Mich.

EDWARD H. GREEN, Attorney and Counsellor at Law, Charlevoix, Mich.

ROBERT MILLER, Custom Blacksmith Charlevoix, Mich. Particular Attention paid to horse-shoeing.

MRS. J. INGALLS, Milliner. Millinery goods of the latest styles kept constantly on hand. Charlevoix, Mich.

FOX, ROSE & BUTTARS dealers in Dry Goods, Groceries, Provisions, Hardware, Crockery, etc., Charlevoix.

D. L. LEWIS, Physician, Surgeon and Accoucheur, Charlevoix, Calls prompt attended to. Office at Hoag House.

T. J. MERCH & SON, Norwood, Mich., dealers in General Merchandise.

WM. HARRIS, Judge of Probate for Charlevoix County. Residence address Nona ond, Mich. Session of Court will be held at Charlevoix on the last Monday of each month, or since order. A. M.

D. B. JOSLYN, Attorney at law, Petoskey, Mich. Special attention directed to buying and selling city, village and farm real estate, loaning money, being engaged with the most reliable land brokers in the state, paying taxes, and collecting delinquents in this and adjoining counties.

CHAS. W. INGALLS & SON, General Land Agents, Lake Traverse, Mich. Special attention given to the location of lands on the Indian Reservation. Some choice pine lands for sale. Also improved farms.

J. MILO EATON,

Attorney and Counseller at Law

Real Estate and Insurance Agent. Collections promptly attended to. Office on Bridge street, Charlevoix, Mich. 14

C. J. FAULTHORP,

Attorney and Counselor at Law,

Solicitor in Chancery and Notary Public. Will practice in Emmet and adjoining counties, and also in Gilbert's block, Petoskey, Mich. 5:y

DR. LITTLE and BRO.,

Physicians and Surgeons.

Petoskey, Emmet County, Mich.

The Campbell House,

TRAVERSE CITY MICH.

H. D. CAMPBELL, Prop

R. W. COY,

Dealer in General Merchandise,

SPENCER LAKE, ANTRIM CO., MICH.

H. A. ROLLINS,

LITTLE TRAVERSE, MICH.

DEALER IN

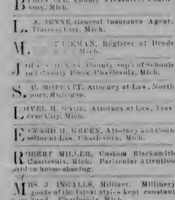
DRY GOODS,

Groceries and Provisions.

The highest market price paid for Furs, Hides and farm produce.

H. A. ROLLINS

M. J. Stockman



Charlevoix, Mich.,

DEALER IN

HARDWARE,

Tin ware & Stoves.

Keeps constantly on hand a large supply of the celebrated

DETROIT STOVES,

With Furniture.

A well select stock of Shelf Hardware.

Repairing in all its branches done on short notice and in good style.

Cash Paid for Old Copper

Judge of Probate Notice.

State of Michigan, County of Charlevoix, ss. In the matter of the Estate of Otis Campbell, deceased. The undersigned, Judge of Probate of Charlevoix County, having full power to adjust and settle all claims and demands against the estate of the said Otis Campbell and six months from the second day of August, A. D. 1875, having been allowed to the creditors of said Estate to present their claims to the undersigned for examination and allowance, notice is hereby given that at a session of the Probate Court to be holden on Monday, the 6th day of September, A. D. 1875, and on Monday, the 2d day of February, A. D. 1876, at the office of the Judge of Probate, in the village of Charlevoix, for the purpose of examining and adjusting said claims. Dated, Charlevoix, Aug. 2, 1875.

13 WM. HARRIS, Judge of Probate.

A FACT!

That people have no object in going away from home to trade when they can get just what they want

JUST AS CHEAP AT HOME!

We propose to keep just what the people want, and sell at bottom prices. Conveniently located at the

HEAD OF

SOUTH ARM

Our stock embraces general merchandise of all kinds. Give us a call.

COLE & ISAMAN.

South Arm, Aug. 10, 1875.

Fish!

Fresh fish, salt fish, pickled fish, smoked fish—whitefish trout or siskiwit, in any quantity, can be procured by

"TIP" MILLER

Formerly of Beaver Island. Hotels or private houses furnished with fresh fish on short notice.

Charlevoix, Aug. 18, 1875.

THE BOSS

Grocery Store.

BYRON SEE

Call the attention of the people of this vicinity to the important fact that

GROCERIES

Cannot be bought cheaper in the Grand Traverse region than at his store in Charlevoix.

Also Dry Goods

As cheap as the cheapest.

Come and See!

Charlevoix, August 1, 1875.

L A W

—AND—

Real Estate Office

—OF—

Edw. H. Green,

Charlevoix Mich.

Improved Farms

AND

Wild Lands

Bought and sold on commission.

Taxes

THE SENTINEL.

WILLARD A. SMITH, Editor and Proprietor.

CHARLEVOIX, - MICHIGAN.

THE NEWS.

A LONDON dispatch of the 28th ult. says a majority of the jury of inquest upon the bodies of those drowned when the Queen's yacht ran into the Mediterranean had recommended that the officers of the royal yacht be prosecuted for manslaughter. The test and search dinners were spread over among the cots in Candelaria and Aspen bonanza.

THE representatives of the foreign powers gossiped in Berlin on the 28th in an attempt to effect the pacification of the rebellious Turkish provinces. Over 10,000 Turkish troops had crossed the Danube into Austrian territory. Military preparations were going on steadily in Servia. A Belgrade dispatch of the 28th says the inhabitants of Nouvisseh had revolted and burned the chief town of the province.

A CONSULATE to Ragusa dispatch of the 29th ult. announces that broken out in Albania. One thousand Servian volunteers had entered Herzegovina to aid the insurgents. The insurgents had rejected the advice of European powers and demanded the independence of Bosnia.

A DESPATCH to the London Times of the morning of the 30th ult. says a force of Russians had landed at Batoum and had occupied the rebellious province. Officers on furlough had been recalled.

J. M. THATCHER, United States Commissioner of Patents, resigned on the 31st ult., to take effect Oct. 1.

THE Atlantic cotton mills at Lawrence, Mass., started up on the 30th ult., after being idle seven weeks. They employ 1,200 hands.

A TELEGRAM of the 30th ult. states that the yellow fever had disappeared from Barrancas and Pensacola, Fla.

GOV. MCGREERY, of Kentucky, was inaugurated at Frankfort on the 31st.

A DAUGHTER of Michael Glavin, of Niles, Mich., poured kerosene oil from a can on some live coals in the stove, on the 31st ult. The can exploded and the burning oil was thrown over her and her little sister, ten months old. The babe was burned to death and the girl very badly injured.

A HAVANA dispatch of the 1st says the Turks had compelled the insurgents to leave Trebigne and retire to the mountains.

A BERLIN telegram of the 1st says the Bishop of Paderborn had been outlawed by Ministerial order because he left the city to which he was restricted without leave.

GEN. A. SMITH, Second President of the Mormon Church, and brigham Young's chief adviser and counselor, died at Salt Lake City on the morning of the 1st, aged fifty-eight years. He leaves five wives and a large number of children. His will he succeeded by George Q. CANNON, ex-Delegate to Congress, he being next in age and

THE public debt statement, published Sept. 1, is as follows:

Six per cent. bonds	$1,707,305,900
Five per cent. bonds	65,000,000
Total coin bonds	$1,772,305,900
Legal tender notes	356,681,016
Fractional currency	41,799,264
Coin certificates	34,845,000
Total debt	$2,205,631,180
Cash in Treasury	87,111,072
Debt less cash in Treasury	$1,918,520,107
Decrease since July 1	1,667,276

Bonds issued to the Pacific Railroads companies, interest payable in lawful money, principal due 30 years after date of issue.

Interest paid by the United States	$1,027,512
Interest repaid by the companies	63,322
Net interest paid by United States	963,990

The Secretary of the Treasury has called in for redemption $15,000,000 of 5-20 bonds of 1881, $8,000,000 of which are on account of the sinking fund, interest on which will cease Dec 1, 1875.

GEN. EGBERTUS MOTT has been appointed State Treasurer of New Jersey, in place of Hon. Joseph Stoy, charged with delay in delivery.

THE fourth annual session of the Louisville (Ky.) Exposition commenced on the evening of the 1st.

FOUR children of a Mr. Myer, of Ascension Parish, La., were poisoned by French worm lozenges on the 1st, and died in a few hours.

A TELEGRAM dispatch of the 2d says a party of Turks had invaded Servia and assassinated several villagers.

A LONDON telegram of the 2d says the rumors from Herzegovina was continuing, but that its general tenor was moderate, due to the insurgents, who had been recently unsuccessful in several engagements.

THE British ironclad Vanguard collided with the Iron Duke in the British Channel on the 2d and sank.

AN attempt was made on the 2d to incur in the Catholic cemetery at Montreal the remains of Guibord, a member of the Canadian Institute, whose burial in consecrated ground had been forbidden by ecclesiastical, but entire considerable litigation directed the effort of the authorities. A mob of 2,000 persons drove off the hearse and its attendants.

THE defaulting State Treasurer of New Jersey was examined on the 2d and committed to jail in default of $75,000 bail.

THE NEW YORK Herald of the 2d publishes an interview with Mrs. Morker, in which she declares her conviction that Charlie Ross was living. The third of Wednesday was in progress at Philadelphia, when the receipts were 1,000 bushels of wheat, 1,000 bushels of corn, 1,000 bushels of oats, 1,000 bushels of rye, and 1,000 bushels of barley.

MILWAUKEE, Sept. 1.—Flour—Spring XX, $4.50@5.00; Wisconsin do., $5.00@5.50; Minnesota do., $5.50@6.00; Winter XX, $4.50@5.00; do. XXX, $5.00@5.50; Minnesota do., $5.50@6.00. Wheat—No. 2 Spring, $1.05@1.06; No. 3 do., $1.01@1.02. Corn—No. 2, 53@53½c. Oats—No. 2, 33½@34c. Rye—No. 1, 73@75c. Barley—No. 2, $1.08@1.09.

DETROIT, Sept. 1.—Wheat—Extra, $1.08@1.09; No. 1 White, $1.08@1.09; No. 2 Red, $1.04@1.05; No. 3 Spring, $1.01@1.02. Corn—No. 1, 53@53½c. Oats—No. 1, 33½@34c. Rye—No. 1, 73@75c. Barley—No. 2, $1.08@1.09.

TOLEDO, Sept. 1.—Wheat—Amber Michigan, $1.08½; No. 2 Red, $1.04@1.05. Corn—High Mixed, 53@53½c. Oats—No. 1, 34@34½c.

CLEVELAND, Sept. 1.—Wheat—No. 1 Red, $1.08; No. 2 do., $1.04@1.05. Corn—High Mixed, 53@53½c. Oats—No. 1, 34@34½c.

BUFFALO, Sept. 1.—Wheat—No. 1 White, $1.08; No. 2 Red, $1.04@1.05. Corn—No. 2 Yellow, 53@53½c. Oats—No. 1, 34@34½c. Barley—No. 2, $1.08@1.09.

LIVE STOCK—Receipts—Beef, 2,945; sheep, 10,000; hogs, 5,000. Shipments—Beef, 2,945; sheep, 10,000; hogs, 5,000.

EAST LIBERTY.

LIVE STOCK—Receipts—Beef, 1,945; sheep, 10,000; hogs, 5,000. Shipments—Beef, 1,945; sheep, 10,000; hogs, 5,000.

EAST LIBERTY.

LIVE STOCK—Receipts—Beef, 2,945; sheep, 10,000; hogs, 5,000. Shipments—Beef, 2

THE SENTINEL.

CHARLEVOIX, MICH.

WILLARD A. SMITH, Editor and Proprietor.

TUESDAY, SEPT. 14, 187[illegible]

FISHING.

When to Fish and When to Refrain.

The following are the laws of this State as now in force relating to the protection and preservation of fish and fisheries:

AN ACT to prevent fish and minnows, the growth of this State, being used for bait.

Sec. 1. The People of the State of Michigan enact: That it shall be unlawful for all persons to put or throw into the waters of this State, where fish sometimes are found, any lime, lime refuse, pitch, tar, coal oil, fluid, fish poison, gunpowder, dead fish or any poison or offending shall be found in any such case exceeding three hundred dollars, or imprisonment for not exceeding thirty days, or both, at the discretion of the court.

Sec. 2. All fish, fish, or fish of any description whatsoever, or eggs from the spawning and eating of fish, shall be burned or buried on the land adjacent to the beach or shore of the river or lake.

Sec. 3. The size of the meshes of all the seine of gimp or trap nets used in the waters of this State, shall not be less than four inches extension, knot to knot; and the size of the meshes of all the gill nets shall not be less than two and a half inches in extension, knot to knot; and the size of the meshes of all the pound or trap nets used in catching white fish, and the size of the meshes of all the lead of pound or trap nets used in catching other kinds of fish shall not be less than two inches in extension, knot to knot; and the size of the meshes of all the pot of said pound or trap nets shall not be less than two inches in extension, knot to knot, under penalty and on each of forfeiture of the nets, or line and exceeding three hundred dollars, or both, at the discretion of the court: Provided, that the provisions of this section shall not apply or work injury to persons who are the present owners of pound or trap nets, but apply to all pound or trap nets hereafter manufactured.

Sec. 4. The season of all the white fish caught shall be forthwith dispersed, by all persons catching said fish, in the waters in or near the spawning places, from which said fish were taken.

Sec. 5. As amended 1875.) No person shall catch or take from any lake, river or stream of this State, by any means whatsoever, any speckled trout from the first of September in any year, until the first day of May following thereafter; nor shall any person catch or take any gig-ling by any means whatsoever, from any such lake, river or stream, from the first day of November in each year, until the first day of June following thereafter; nor shall any person purchase, buy, or sell any such fish, during said prohibited time; nor shall any person take or catch any speckled trout or grayling, in any such lakes, rivers or streams, by means of a spear, net or seine, or in any manner whatever, except by hook and line, at any time during the year. In all prosecutions under this act it shall be prima facie sufficient on the part of the people to show that the defendant was found in the possession of any such fish at any time within the period when the catching or taking of such fish is prohibited as aforesaid.

It is hereby made the duty of the prosecuting attorney, the sheriff and his deputies and every constable of any county, and the supervisor of any township, to prosecute any person for a violation of any of the provisions of this section when complaint is made before a justice of the peace. It shall be lawful, however, for the superintendent of fisheries to grant permits in writing to any person to catch or take any such fish in such manner as such superintendent shall direct, at any season of the year, for the purpose of propagation; but in any prosecution for a violation of any of the provisions of this section, such permission must be shown affirmatively by the defendant.

Sec. 6. Any act in contravention of section two, four and five of this act, shall subject all the parties concerned in the branch of the said sections, whether the actual transgressors or accessories, to a penalty of not more than one hundred dollars or less than twenty-five dollars with all expense of prosecution, or to imprisonment in the county jail for a period not exceeding thirty days, or both, at the discretion of the court.

Sec. 7. The board of Supervisors of each, or a majority of them, shall, from time to time, make rules and regulations for regulating the fishing with pound or trap nets, gill nets and line, and all manner of fishing tackle carried on upon all lake and river shores, or upon any water adjacent to or passing through any county of this State.

Sec. 8. The board of supervisors of each county or a majority of them, shall grant, on the application of any transient or non-resident person or persons a written permission or license for one year, for each and every pound or trap net used, on payment of fifty dollars each money. All persons convicted in the branch of this act, shall count the sum of one hundred dollars with all costs of suit. It shall be the duty of the board of supervisors, as a majority of them, to enforce the provisions of this act, and all moneys accruing from fishing licenses and forfeitures shall be paid over to the county treasurer.

Sec. 9. All forfeitures occurring under sections one, two, three, four, five, six, eight and nine of this act may be recovered by action of debt, with costs of suit, before any court of competent jurisdiction, one-fourth thereof to the person who sues for the same and the other moiety to be paid into the hands of the county treasurer, where shall be exclusively used as a pauper fund.

Sec. 10. It shall be unlawful for any persons or persons to put into any of the waters floating or hindering sand where the ice ishighly the legal owner or owners part of such lands, any vessel or ship boat, boat, stone, sand, coal, cinder, ashes, log or sawed wood, bark, sawdust, or obstruction or filth of any description or to throw or cause any poison put piers or piers, or build any platform or piers or any species of fishery or contrivance trap only to the extent of the breadth of such legal owner or owners lands so far as the channel lands of the owner said to accommodate a boat or shore, or low water mark of the lakes, streets, docks, and slips and canals flowing same over or across navigable lands, and it shall subject any boat, navy, or other stationary nets or fixtures set in the lakes for fishing purposes.

Sec. 11. Any person or persons offending against the provisions of section ten of this act shall be liable guilty of a misdemeanor, and on conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine not exceeding one hundred dollars or imprisonment in the county jail not over sixty days, to be determined by a court of competent jurisdiction.

NOTICE—

U. S. LAND OFFICE,
Traverse City, Mich., July 24, 1875.

Complaint having been entered at this office by Norbert L. Brisk, against Joseph Livenak, for abandoning his Homestead Entry No. 4366, dated Nov. 11, 1874, upon Lots 4 & 5 & Section 18, Township 32 N. R. 7 West, with a view to the cancelation of said entry; the said parties are hereby summoned to appear at this office on the 6th day of October, 1875, at 1 o'clock P. M. to respond and furnish testimony concerning said alleged abandonment.

SETH C. MOFFATT, Register
14 PERRY HANNAH, Receiver.

"SHTOP A LEETLE!"

Spring Harbor,

HEAD OF PINE LAKE.

The Secret of Wonderful Growth and Success.

Way up to the north in a very quiet town
In the county we love it is gaining renown,
It's in Charlevoix county and Spring Harbor Town's.

The soil is so rich in you plant a small seed
To grow a big tree it never will fail
It stands to reason the seed must thrive
In Charlevoix county and Spring Harbor
Town.

There are the merchants who're up to their tricks
Will sell you for goods before they are gruben
In Charlevoix county and Spring Harbor
Town.

There's no stop so low as tell you smell low,
But their secret of trade is they all announce
And thereby is core crowned by millions of search
Who live all of enjoy the most perfect health
In Charlevoix county and Spring Harbor
Town.

Then there are the doctors they'll cure
you, cheap
With young and dense and useless pills—
In Charlevoix county and Spring Harbor
Town.

If they on you once make a professional call
Again it would be you'll be ill not at all.
If they will once or twice you'll then feel so clever,
You'll not die at all, but live on forever—
In Charlevoix county and Spring Harbor
Town.

Is there is the "Journal" the sheet of the age
To give all the news it doth always engage
In Charlevoix county and Spring Harbor
Town.

And he editor knows his business so well,
Is conservat I say, for the truth I do tell
It is ours is read and left in his gore,
It will give you the news ten or three days before.
In Charlevoix county and Spring Harbor
Town.

Now I suppose you'll be glad to all know,
How to get to Spring Harbor to be—
In Charlevoix county and Spring Harbor
Town.
Where the cause I do give, you all, will confess,
The secret that leads to perfect success.
They get their goods cheaper than ever before,
For they buy all they use at Nichols's store.

YOU'RE CRAZY

TO PAY SUCH TERRIBLE PRICES FOR GOODS WHEN BY CALLING AT THE

"REGULATOR"

You can purchase them at least THIRTY PER CENT less than at any other place in this part of Charlevoix County. This is what we say as to the "REGULATOR" We have lots of

NEW GOODS,

And more coming daily. We have Boots and Shoes for men; We have all kinds of Shoes for Ladies; we have Boots and Shoes and all kinds of rare things for the little ones. We have CHOICE DRESS GOODS; we have all kinds of CLOTH to make clothes for the men and boys. We have

PORK AND FLOUR,

And all kinds of Groceries such as

SUGARS,

TEAS,

COFFEES

SPICES,

OILS.

WE ALSO HAVE A LARGE ASSORTMENT OF

Farming Implements,

SUCH AS PLOWS, SHOVEL PLOWS, SCYTHES SNATHS, RAKES, FORKS, HOES, CULTIVATORS AND DRAGS.
ALSO AN ASSORTMENT OF

TINWARE.

So if you'll buy cheaper than ever before, go to NICHOLS' Store, on Pine Lake shore, where the water sinks cool, and all people, and more, say, that never before, in the country as far, did they see people pour into the door of a store, where they buy lots of goods and then buy some more; for they say he sells lower by thirty per cent, or perhaps more, than ever before, at my dear's store; so after reading this over, I still you'll know more, Tommie will

TURN THE CRANK TO THE MACHIN

And tell you if you wish to astonish yourself with low prices, that you must go to 999999 Gold Dust Avenue, nearly opposite to the Second National Bank, and directly opposite to the Metropolitan Hotel, Spring Harbor.

TRULY YOURS:

T. W. NICHOLS.

Carpenter & Bartholomew

Cheap Cash Store is just the Place to Buy Your Goods!

CARPENTER & BARTHOLOMEW'S

Standard Goods and Bottom Prices is their Motto.

South End of Bridge Street.

Charlevoix, Mich

MEDICAL

HALL,

CHARLEVOIX,

JUST THE PLACE TO BUY

DRUGS

And Dye Stuffs,

JUST THE PLACE TO BUY

Patent Medicines

JUST THE PLACE TO BUY

Stationery, Ink and Pens.
And Pocket Inkstands.

JUST THE PLACE TO BUY

Perfumes and Hair Oils
Dressing Combs and Fancy Goods.

JUST THE PLACE TO BUY

The Self-Adjusting Truss

JUST THE PLACE TO GET

Prescriptions Compounded
At all hours—night or day.

IN FACT, Just the place to get anything you want in the Druggists line.

Cheap for Cash.

Now store opposite Stockman's Hardware Store.

GEO. W. CROUTER.
Druggist and Chemist.

Hemlock Bark!

The undersigned, owners of the sawmill of H. M. Stanton, and all the people of Pine Lake and surrounding, are prepared to

Contract for Any Amount

Of Hemlock Bark to be delivered on the beach at Round or Pine Lakes, at South Arm. The firms of Yeo, Blain & Bellaire, Carpenter & Bartholomew, and Byron See, are our authorized agents, using whom contracts can be made, or with Dr. Weeks, of the firm of CAPT. JOHNSON & Co.

Charlevoix, May 1, 1875.

N. B.—Samuel Holland, of Bridge, is also our authorized agent.

Read This.

The following instructive dialogue was overheard the other day:

Brown—Say, Jones, you seem to have been having lots of groceries; where do you trade, Jones?

Jones—Why, I bought at

BYRON SEE'S

Grocery and Provision Store in Charlevoix. It is a good place to trade.

Brown—Is that so? Can others do as well there as you can?—you know you are sharp in a trade.

Jones—O, yes, of course you can. He sells as cheap as any one else, and I guess he does from the looks of his stock.

THE STANCH PEDDLER.

1875. 1875.

A. C. Van Raalte

Capt. Alvin Dodge,

Will run during the season of 1875, as follows:

Petoskey & Traverse City:

Will leave Petoskey at 6 o'clock a. m. on

Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays,

Arriving at Traverse City at 7 o'clock the same evening. Will leave Traverse City at 6 o'clock a. m. on

Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays,

Arriving at Petoskey the same evening in time for connections with the Grand Traverse Bay, both ways.

$75 A WEEK to Agents to sell an article to keep. Profits immense. No local fees. Address BUCKEYE Mfg. Co., Marion, Ohio.

THE GAME LAWS.

Their Present Form—Recent Amendments.

The game law, as it stands in the Compiled Laws, is by no means a safe guide to sportsmen or the people at large, for since its publication there have been several alterations and amends. One amendment was passed by the Legislature of 1873, and two others by that of 1875. These amendments have been on sections one, nine and eight, in the latter case making the time in which railroad companies may transport game after the expiration of the time for killing, ten days instead of thirty. Section one, which is the one prescribing the time for killing, now reads as follow:

SEC. 1. That on person or persons shall pursue, or hunt, or kill any wild elk, wild hare, doe or fawn, save only in the upper Peninsula from the first day of August, and in the Lower Peninsula from the fifteenth day of September to the fifteenth day of December, in each year, or kill or destroy, by any means whatever, or attempt to take or destroy, by any means whatever, any wild turkey at any time during the year, except in the months of October, November and December in each years or kill or destroy, by any means whatever, any woodcock until after the fifth day of July, or any prairie chicken or pinnated grouse, ruffed grouse, commonly called partridge or pheasant, or any wood duck, teal duck or mallard duck (or any water fowl), save only from the first day of September to each year to the first day of January next following.

With these exceptions the law stands as it is in the compiled laws of 1871, with regard to all kind of game except pigeons. Section nine, which relates to their protection, now provides that "No person or persons shall use any gun or guns, or fire arms, to maim, kill or destroy any wild pigeon or pigeons, at or within five miles of the places where they are gathered in numbers for the purpose of breeding their young known as pigeon nestlings; and no person or persons shall use any gun or guns or fire arms, to maim, kill or destroy any wild pigeon or pigeons within their roosting anywhere within the limits of this State; and no person or persons shall set trap, snare or net, or in any manner, take or attempt to take, or kill or destroy, or attempt to kill or destroy, any wild pigeon (or pigeons), at or within two miles of such nesting place at any time from the beginning of the nestings until after the last hatching of such nesting, anywhere within the limits of the State; and every person offending against the provisions of this section, or any part thereof, shall be subject to a penalty of fifty dollars, with costs of suit."

Approved April 23, 1875.

What Tilton is Doing.

Aug. 22, 1875.—Dear Mr. Clarke—You ask how I spend my time? The items are these—each days history repeating itself:

1 Out of bed at 6 o'clock in the morning—the workingman's hour.

2 A cup of coffee and a crust of bread—nothing more.

3 Feed my sparrows at the window, all of my study—all the tiniest guests of the street, who flock to my window, not suspecting that I'm a dangerous character.

4 Five solid hours at my writing desk—A fair day's work for the brain.

5 Breakfast at noon.

6 In the afternoon, according as the weather each of humor points, I go somewhere with Florence, or take a long walk by myself or rummage among books, or receive friends.

7. These summer evenings are generally melted away by Florence and her piano—and I listen, and weep, and thank God for my daughter.

8 The odd moments are put to use in picking up the threads of old studies where I threw them down a year ago. You who know the intermittent incident to a newspaper office will envy me my morning solitude, into which no intruder dares to break—except (just at present) a little kitten that climbs up to my work-table, and coils herself asleep round my inkstand. Hastily yours,

THEODORE TILTON.

The farmers are busy threshing their grain in Calhoun county. The yield of wheat seems entirely beyond the anticipations of the most sanguine. The yield of oats is tremendous, and there will be an immense yield of corn. Potatoes will be a drug at any price.

The successor to Andrew Johnson in the United States Senate, according to the St. Louis Times, "labored and strove the best he knew how for the success of the Confederacy." This is an important indication of the drift of sentiment in the Democratic party in Tennessee.

The announcement of Mrs. Lincoln's restoration to health and sound mind, will be received with pleasure by everybody. Mrs. Lincoln is now reported well enough to visit her sister, Mrs Edwards, in Springfield, Ill., and she will probably not return to Bellevue Place, at all, as some feeling is manifested by her friends, who were opposed to her incarceration.

Buried Alive.

The Bay City Tribune gives a full account of the burying alive of a woman in that city named Pamela Elm, that's enough to give the clue to her vocation. It appears that she was taken sick while in jail, died in the night as was supposed, was buried at 9 o'clock in the morning without word being sent to her friends. When the facts reached the ears of her best friend, the man who used to pound her when alive, he took a party of his companions to the cemetery and had her exhumed to satisfy himself that she had not been shipped to Ann Arbor, and to the horror of the party they found the corpse on the side with the hair down over the face and one hand clenched in the cheek, and the shroud covered with blood.

The Ludington Record says: "It seems quite likely that the body discovered by the steamer Shoreson on the 14th inst., was that of the schoolmate Donaldson. The body had on a life preserver, as did that of Grimwood, when found, with which it is more than likely both were supplied. Donaldson being the more experienced seaman, and a stronger and more athletic man, would be likely to cling to the ship longer, and being driven by the storm from the east would be carried further out to sea before he fell and consequently drift farther north. If this was Donaldson's body it would be likely to come ashore north of this point, and, carried by the current and prevailing winds, might drift even north of Manistee.

Meddling with outside business is the paramount cause of bank failures. The great and all powerful bank of California, with $8,000,000 in gold as paid up capital, and doing a business of $50,000,000 a year failed last week because its president has gone into the hotel business, being himself principal owner of the Palace hotel at San Francisco, one of the most magnificent in the world. Ralston, the president, has committed suicide by drowning. Duncan Sherman & Co. speculated in cotton, and Jay Cooke & Co. set out to build the Northern Pacific railway. If these men only had ever had all stuck to legitimate banking and kept clear of outside lines, they might have been flourishing to-day, and thousands of trustful, innocent people have been spared from ruinous losses.—Lansing Republican.

The movement for a postal telegraph has gained immensely in volume during the past month. Even the associated press papers, who are under the thumb of the Western Union, are coming in boldness and give place to the arguments in favor of of governmental control of the wires of the country. The recent report of the English telegraph, with its marvelous cheapness, and its undeniable success under great obstacles, has proved an eye-opener." Think of special telegrams at one-quarter of a cent a word!

Hugh McCulloch, Secretary of the Treasury under Andrew Johnson, has written an interesting sketch of that gentleman, as he observed him during four years of intimate official intercourse. He ascribes to Mr. Johnson vigor of intellect, honesty of purpose, tenacity of convictions, and an unwavering patriotism. His faults were excessive combativeness, a tendency to make speeches, and a mistrust of those around him, who might have rendered him material assistance had he confided in them. It is pleasant to know that Mr. McCulloch emphatically denies that Mr. Johnson was an intemperate man. Mr. McC. states that he was as decorous a gentleman as ever occupied the White House, although he never had the breeding which we all instinctively feel should attach to the President.

Somebody has figured out what the expense of supporting the national government has been to each voting citizen during the last six administration. The tables show that under Polk (Democrat) the expense per head was $2.85; under Taylor and Fillmore, (whig) $1.63; under Pierce (Democrat) $2.73; under Buchanan (Democrat) $2.28; under Lincoln and Johnston (Republican.) $1.94; under Grant, $1.69. That is a pretty good showing for "radical rule." Is it not?

NOTICE.

U. S. LAND OFFICE,
Traverse City, Mich., July 15, 1875.

Complaint having been entered at this Office by Mary Morrison against Jason Morrison, for abandoning his Homestead Entry No. 4385, dated May 10, 1875, upon the S. E. fract. ¼ of Section 14, Township 28 North, Range 8 West, with a view to the cancellation of said entry; the said parties are hereby summoned to appear at this office on the 20th day of Sept., 1875, at 10 o'clock A. M. to respond and furnish testimony concerning said alleged abandonment.

SETH C. MOFFATT, Register.
14 PERRY HANNAH, Receiver.

FARM FOR SALE.

The subscriber offers for sale his farm in South Arm Township in this county, containing 80 acres, thirty acres cleared and five acres fallow; about fifteen rods from grist and saw mill; orchard of 60 apple trees, and forty cherry and plum trees. Well fenced, frame house, well finished and painted outside; log barn, etc. Price, $1800—which is half the cost of the improvements.

July 15, 1875. CHAS. H. HEALEY, Advance, Mich.

NORWOOD.

F. J. MEECH & Co.

NORWOOD, MICH.,

DEALERS IN

DRY GOODS,

Groceries and Provisions,

Also Manufacturers of

HARDWOOD LUMBER,

Lath and Shingles.

THE SENTINEL

JOB PRINTING

DEPARTMENT

—IS—

COMPLETE

PLAIN and COLORED WORK

Promptly and Neatly Done

G. B. MILLS,

DEALER IN

Gen'l Merchandise,

Boyne Falls, Mich.,

Located adjacent to railroad, and careful attention is paid to the wants of customers.

Cash Paid for Country Produce

People in the vicinity of the railroad and the head of Pine Lake, can save money by their interests to call and examine goods and prices.

May 22, 1875. 47y

NOTICE. U. S. Land Office,
Traverse City, Mich., July 6, 1875.

Complaint having been entered at this office by James Lewis against Joseph W. Stanton for abandoning his Homestead Entry No. 5373, dated Nov. 16, 1872, upon the N. ½ of S. W. ¼ section 22, Township 32 N., Range 6 West, Michigan, with a view to the cancellation of said entry; the said parties are hereby summoned to appear at this office on the 25th day of Sept., 1875, at 1 o'clock p. m., to respond and furnish testimony concerning said alleged abandonment.

SETH C. MOFFATT, Register.
12 PERRY HANNAH, Receiver.

Wonderful Success

Three years ago Dr. Boschee's German Syrup was introduced in the United States. Since then, by the use of coughs, several colds, settled on the lungs, Consumption and other diseases of the Throat and Lungs has sold the ever had such a success. Not one bottle have been returned every year for three years by druggists in all parts of the United states and nearly 1000 letters from druggists are now on our files saying that no other preparation in their stores sells as well and gives such excellent satisfaction. All we ask is for you to go to your druggists in W. Charlevoix, and get a sample bottle for 10 cents and try it. Regular size 75 cents.

NEW

MILLINERY
AND

Dress - Making

ESTABLISHMENT.

Ladies such as Zephyrs Trimmings, Kid Gloves, Hosiery, etc., Hosiery, and Fancy Goods, Ladies' Underwear, Laces, Embroideries, Ribbons, Flowers, Feathers, Ornaments, Hair Goods, Notions, and the latest fashions.

Charges Reasonable.

Rooms in Harry Newman's Bakery building

MRS. A. M. [illegible]

Charlevoix, June 17, 1875. 46ly

DRUGS and MEDICINES

—

DR. LEWIS

Tenders his thanks to the inhabitants of Charlevoix and vicinity for past patronage and solicits a continuance of the same. He has

JUST RECEIVED

A large stock of medicines, such as

Fluid Extracts,
Tinctures,
Essences,
Oils of all kinds,
Gums,
Perfumery, etc

PATENT MEDICINES.

A large stock, such as Ayres, Jays Sweetlet's, Peteman's Blackman's, Sage's & Herrick's.

A Full Supply of Dye Stuffs.

All goods sold as cheap as by any house north of Grand Rapids.

I Keep What I Advertis

FOX, ROSE & BUTTARS
Charlevoix.

THE SUMMER OF 1875

LOWER! LOWER!

Go the Prices!

WE CAN AND WILL

SELL CHEAPER

Than any other House in Charlevoix,

Our Neighbors

Are Cutting Down on Certain Articles; We cut down on

Everything!

I You Don't Believe It,

COME AND SEE

For Yourselves.

YARD WIDTH COTTON FOR 10cts

TEA--3 Pounds for $1.

SUIT of Coths for $8.

The Best Goods,

Regardless of Profit.

Are Always Kept.

FOX, ROSE & BUTTARS.

Mohammedan Marriages.

At present in a Mohammedan city is seen it hence his curiosity aroused before he has been three many days on the subject of marriage. Wedding processions are quite numerous, in a single afternoon's promenade in Cairo I have seen as many as half a dozen. Naturally the sight of such a procession leads one to ask about the marriage customs.

Among the Moslems marriages are generally arranged by brokers, though not always. There are some love matches in which the parties become attached to each other without the intervention of a third party, but they are by no means common. When a man has reached the marrying age he is expected to enter the matrimonial ranks unless prevented by poverty or some other impediment, and it is considered improper and even dishonorable for him to refrain from so doing. If a marriageable youth has a mother she frequently assumes this office for her son. She arranges with the girls of her acquaintance and enables him to decide whom to take to his home and home. If he has no mother, and frequently when he has one, he engages a woman whose profession is that of "bestiller," or marriage-broker. She goes into the harems where there are unmarriageable women, and is employed by them guileless, often as in the men. She arranges them some party and receives a from both.

Observe the impudicity of Christendom every day. In our own country feminine matchmakers are numerous, but they work without pay. The only reward they expect or desire is the satisfaction of having made two people happy by bringing them together. For the result of the marriages they cause they generally care as little as do their Moslem sisters.

The Moslem broker goes to the harems accompanied by the mother or other female relatives of the young man, she in the bestows them as military visitors, but gives only that as to the object of their call. If they do not like the appearances of the maiden they proceed many calls to make and cut short their stay, lest it end in they cause to linger at some, and ask how much property, persons and expenses. If a young lady possesses fifty thousand dollars, whom he presents to the harem. There he finds the bride and her attendant. The latter carefully the bridegroom like the veil from the bride's head, and for the first time sees her face.

No amount for the forms of courtship and marriage. Another important consideration in matrimony is divorce, and it is more prevalent than in our own country, for the reason that it is easier. Either a husband or wife may obtain a divorce by application in Chicago or Indianapolis is necessary; there are no lawyers to be engaged and fees to be paid; no troublesome offenses about incompatibility of temper and the like are to be signed, nor must one stretch his conscience in regard to stumbling block. He frequently husband's young daughter shall not marry before an old, or one, and sometimes the broker describes a young and charming maiden to the anxious youth, while she negotiates the match for her elder and less attractive sister. If or subsequently complaints are heard that it is all in the family, and says he can imagine that he has wedded the beauty by wedding her sister.

Among the middle and upper classes the man never sees the face of his bride until the marriage ceremony is consummated. This excellent custom greatly facilitates business, as it does away with any absurd notions he may have about beauty.

When the preliminaries are settled, the bridegroom calls upon the girl's "wekeel," or deputy, and concludes the contract. This deputy is her nearest male relative or her guardian, and his special duty is to fix the terms of the dowry which the husband is to pay. This varies according to the wealth and position of the parties, the least sum allowed by law is equal to about five English shillings, and this is liable to penalize. Among respectable tradesmen and people of the middle classes fifty or seventy-five dollars will suffice, and there is almost always a great deal of haggling before the amount of the dowry is fixed. From the necessity of paying something to the bride's family the vendor not unnaturally speak of marriage as "buying a wife." A donkey-driver whom I occasionally employed in Cairo used to discourse upon the matter as follows: "I save money for my wife. When I save three pounds I buy wife, one wife. I also have save two pounds; I have wife next year."

The contract between bridegroom and deputy is nearly always verbal, but in my sense of three or more witnesses. The first chapter of the Koran is recited by them in unison, and certain prayers and other formulæ are repeated, and the bridegroom is fair," looked." Before they separate they fix the night when the bride is to be taken to the bridegroom's house.

Her return days pass away. He sends presents to her, and she and her family are busy preparing linen, carpets, clothing and other items of an outfit for the bride. and also a personal description of him said. The husband is not permitted to come into the harem, and although he has given only that to the object of their call. If they do not like the appearances of the maiden they proceed many calls to make and cut short their stay, lest it end in they cause to linger at some, and ask how much property, persons and expenses. If a young lady possesses fifty thousand dollars, whom he presents to the harem. There he finds the bride and her attendant. The latter carefully the bridegroom like the veil from the bride's head, and for the first time sees her face.

No amount for the forms of courtship and marriage. Another important consideration in matrimony is divorce, and it is more prevalent than in our own country, for the reason that it is easier. Either a husband or wife may obtain a divorce by application in Chicago or Indianapolis is necessary; there are no lawyers to be engaged and fees to be paid; no troublesome affidavits

Additional Local.

TRAVERS, pottrifiers and many other kinds of goods can now be kilted without fear of the law. Its limitations expired on the first of the present month.

ANTI-MASONRY.—A meeting was held at Chicago lately to organize against Freemasonry and other secret societies. The meeting was called to order by J. L. Barlow, of New York, who nominated Mr. Hagerty, of Chicago, as Chairman C. A. Blanchard was elected Secretary, and the meeting was opened with prayer by Mr. Barlow. Remarks were then made respecting the necessity of appointing a committee to work up the movement against the lodge in political form. The paper footsl The surf of the ocean washing against the Rock of Gibralter does as great harm to that monument of Nature, as the senseless babble of these fanatics against the everlasting rock of Masonry. That society will exist and flourish when these poor idiots and their posterity shall have long since been forgotten, and even then will be only on the threshold of its greatness.

Our Next Governor.

The Monitor Times comments upon the personal fitness of both Mr. Cresswell and ex-Auditor General Humphrey for the Governorship, but then adds:

"It is a noteworthy fact that since the formation of the Republican party every Governor of the State has been taken from a circle not more than a hundred miles from Detroit, while eight years of Governorship has been given to Detroit. Now it seems fair that the Upper Peninsula, or Northwestern Michigan, ought to have the Governorship once at least in twenty years. We have members of men of wealth in the north and northwestern portions of the State who have devoted themselves largely to the development of the interests of the State, who, owing to their close application to business, have not figured in politics, but who would make most excellent Governors. Here are, for instance, Perry Hannah, Esq., of Traverse City; H. C. Leach, of the same place; Hon. H. R. Ellis, of Ishpeming; John Canfield, of Manistee; His Honor Mayor Porter, of Grand Rapids; Hon. Wm. A. Howard, of Grand Rapids, and scores of others whom we might name, provided locality is to be the basis of a selection."

Letters from Druggists.

There is no case of hypepsia that Green's August Flower will not cure. Come to the Drug Store of H. W. Case & Co., and inquire about it. If you suffer from Costiveness Sick Headache, sour Stomach, Indigestion Liver Complaint, or derangement of the Stomach or Liver try it. Two or, three doses will relieve you.

Boschee's German Syrupis now sold in every town and city in the United states. We have not logs than five hundred letters from druggists, saying it is the best medicine they ever sold for consumption. Trial or Large dose size. Sample bottles of both for 10 cents. Regular size 75 cents.

SALE OF STATE TAX LANDS.

AUDITOR GENERAL'S OFFICE,
LANSING, MICH., July 1st, 1875.

Notice is hereby given that certain Lands situated in the county of CHARLEVOIX bid off to the State for Taxes of 1873, and previous years, and remaining in said county where will be forwarded, to the office of the Treasurer of said County some time in September, will be sold at public auction, to sell, Treasurer, at the County seat, on the first Monday in October next, at the time and place designated for the ordinary Tax sales, of not previously disposed of at such sales, according to law.

Said statements contain a full description of each parcel of said lands, and may be seen on application at the office of the county Treasurer.

Lands struck off to the State for taxes of 1873, or other years, at the Tax Sales in October last, will be offered subject to the right of redemption prescribed by law, as well as to the right of purchase of the State bids at this office, prior to the sale.

RALPH ELY,
Auditor General

ANNUAL TAX SALES.

AUDITOR GENERAL'S OFFICE,
LANSING, MICH., July 1st, 1875.

So much of each of the following described tracts or parcels of land, situated in the county of CHARLEVOIX, delinquent for the year 1873, for the sums severally set below, as will be sufficient to pay the taxes, interest and charges thereon, will be sold by the Treasurer of said County, on the first Monday of October next, at such public sale and convenient place as he shall select in CHARLEVOIX the county seat of said County, according to the statute in such case made and provided.

RALPH ELY,
Auditor General

1874.

Town 32 North of Range 4 West.

Section	Acres	Taxes	Interest	Charges	Total
7	1.15	00	10	1 00	1 10

Town 32 North of Range 5 West.

s½ of sw¼	80	4 24	42	1 00	5 66
sw¼ of nw¼	40	2 12	21	1 00	3 33
s½ of sw¼	3	78	00	1 00	1 78
sw¼ of se¼	40	2 12	21	1 00	3 33
nw¼ of se¼	40	2 12	21	1 00	3 33
ne¼ of se¼	40	2 12	21	1 00	3 33
se¼ of se¼	40	2 12	21	1 00	3 33
sw¼ of sw¼	40	2 12	21	1 00	3 33
ne¼ of sw¼	40	2 12	21	1 00	3 33
nw¼ of sw¼	40	2 12	21	1 00	3 33

THE SENTINEL.

WILLARD A. SMITH, Editor and Proprietor.

CHARLEVOIX. MICHIGAN.

THE NEWS.

ACCORDING to a Constantinople dispatch of the 3d Novisigne, the focus of the Herzegovinian insurrection, had been destroyed.

THE strike of the operatives in the Dundee (Scotland) mills ended on the 3d by the acceptance of 5 per cent. reduction in wages.

GEN. KAUFMAN has arrived at Khokand, the center of the rebellion against Russia in Central Asia.

GOLDSMITH MAIE invited a suite in 2 14th at Hartford, Conn., on the 3d.

SIX murderers were hanged on the same gallows at Fort Smith, Ark., on the 3d. The crimes for which they were executed were of a very fiendish character and their guilt had been fully established.

THE Coroner's jury impaneled to inquire into the cause of the death of W. C. Hanson, the deceased bank President at San Francisco, returned a verdict on the 3d of accidental death by drowning.

THE financial outlook in San Francisco was improving on the 3d, and general business had resumed its usual channels.

BERLIN dispatches of the 4th state that the Schwenk papers had announced that the leaders of the insurgents had agreed to issue a manifesto demanding the independence of Bosnia and Herzegovina under a Christian Prince, to be chosen from one of the European dynasties. Servia had undertaken to restrain her subjects from participating in the rebellion. Sever Pasha, in a telegraphic dispatch of the same day, says that the trouble was nearly ended, and that the insurgent troops had been able to traverse the country without resistance. On the 5th an insurrectionary movement was reported in the neighborhood of Gradatschatz, in Bosnia. Sever Pasha had been authorized to propose a limited form of autonomy for Herzegovina.

ACCORDING to a London dispatch of the 5th the strike at Oldham had ended, the terms of the operators having been accepted.

H. T. HELMCKEN, the well-known and veteran druggist, was discharged from the Pennsylvania Insane Asylum on the 4th, on a writ of habeas corpus.

WILLIAM DAGG, alias Prof. Arlet, made an ascension in a hot-air balloon at Jackson, Mich., on the 4th. While descending, and when within fifteen or twenty feet from the ground, the professor jumped from the basket into the river and started to swim ashore, but sank to the bottom and was drowned.

THE Grand Jury of Washington County, Ga., by whom the alleged negro insurrection had been investigated, presented a report on the 4th recommending the discharge of the remaining prisoners. The recommendation was complied with.

A DUEL was fought near Rockford, Ill., on the 4th, between Maj. John N. Edwards, of the St. Louis Times, and Col. E. S. Foster, of the St. Louis Journal. The difficulty grew out of a newspaper quarrel over the Jeff. Davis affair in connection with the Winnebago County Agricultural Society. The distance selected was twenty paces. The shooting was bloodless and the parties and their friends left the field and returned to the city.

ACCORDING to a recent issue of the San Francisco Bulletin Mr. Mills, former President of the Bank of California, is authoritily for the statement that the late President Ralston was a defaulter to the bank in the sum of between $3,000,000 and $4,000,000. It was also stated that Mr. Ralston had raised money upon an overissue of Mr. Stock for his own personal benefit.

A SPANDRAU special of the 6th says the difficulty between England and China had been adjusted satisfactorily.

MADDEN disputches of the 6th say that numbers of Carlists in all parts of Catalonia, Navarre and the Biscayan provinces had given in their submissions to the Government of King Alphonsuo and asked for amnesty.

IN the trial of Westervelt at Philadelphia, on the 5th, Gil Mosher identified twenty-three letters received by Mr. Ross as having been written by his brother, the deceased burglar. In an interview with a Philadelphia Times reporter Mr. Mosher is reported as having stated that her husband had partly confessed to her that he was one of the sidemen of Charlie Ross, and afterward denied it. She asserted that she did not know where the child was, but that he was living. She did not think Westervelt had anything to do with the abduction.

A SAN FRANCISCO dispatch received by the New York Herald on the 5th states that Mr. Ralston's private property, assigned to Mr. Sharon, would exceed his liabilities by about $2,000,000, and that the indebtedness charged against Mr. Ralston was not personal, but had grown out of and within the bank had openly given in the way of loans to industries throughout the State. This statement was contradicted by a later dispatch on the 6th.

THE Postoffice Department has ordered the mail service on steamers plying between Louisville and Cincinnati to be discontinued on Sept. 15. What is known as the "Star" service has been arranged for routes between those two cities, whereby, it is said, the Government saves $100,000 per annum.

BRYANT, the Democratic candidate, is elected Mayor of San Francisco by a small majority.

OFFICIAL announcement was made on the 6th that there were no cases of yellow fever in New Orleans.

THE Alabama Constitutional Convention met at Montgomery on the 6th. Gen. L. P. Walker was chosen President by acclamation, Republicans and Democrats all voting for him.

AT Pond du Lac, Wis., on the 6th, Mrs. James Shamlaen attempted to light a fire by the aid of kerosene. She was horribly and fatally burned.

THE Ohio State Fair opened at Columbus on the 6th, under favorable auspices.

ACCORDING to a London dispatch of the 7th, 30,000 inhands in Dresdenville were suffering from the cattle plague.

A ST. PETERSBURG dispatch of the 7th says 30,000 Khokand rebels were defeated under Gen. Kaufman at the first battle.

THE Protestant cemetery vault in Montreal containing the remains of Guiberd was guarded, on the night of the 6th, by eighteen men, heavily armed.

IN the case of the Brooklyn colored man who applied for a mandamus to compel the Board of Education to admit his children, Kaufman, a part fir white children, Judge Gilbert said on the 7th that the system of common-school education was established for the public and all persons had access to it.

ALL the State constitutional amendments submitted to the people of New Jersey have been adopted except the clause repealing the "Five County act."

DR. EDWARD RANSOM, Democratic candidate for Governor of the North Carolina Constitutional Convention, was elected on the 7th on the fourteenth ballot.

IT was reported in San Francisco on the 7th that an Indian war had been declared in Eastern Nevada and Western Utah. A number of settlers and miners had been killed.

THE Central Illinois Fair opened in Jacksonville on the 7th.

THE Wisconsin State Fair was formally opened at Milwaukee on the 7th, under favorable auspices.

GOV. BEVERIDGE, of Illinois, on the 7th telegraphed to the State's Attorney at Rockford expressing the hope that prompt measures would be taken to vindicate the law forbidding dueling.

WM. IRWIN, Governor-elect of California, is a native of Butler County, Ohio. He has been a resident of California since 1852.

STEPHEN B. ELKINS (Rep.) has been reelected Delegate to Congress from the Territory of New Mexico.

A HEAVY rainfall occurred in Chicago and a large section of Illinois, Wisconsin, Minnesota and Iowa on the 9th, doing great damage. Three accidents occurred on the Wisconsin Division of the Northwestern Railroad, caused by washouts. At Lawrence a bridge was washed away and a passenger train plunged into the stream and was completely wrecked, the engineer, fireman, gageman, newsboy and one passenger being killed and several others injured. Two accidents occurred to freight trains, causing loss of life.

A LARGELY-ATTENDED meeting of the friends of the late W. C. Ralston was held on San Francisco on the night of the 8th. Resolutions favorable to the character of the deceased, and denouncing the Evening Bulletin and Burgess Gen. A. A. Myrick, Attorney-General, Geo. L. Radford, Sheriff Isaacher, O. H. P. Cornell; Canal Commissioner, Wm. E. Tinsley; State Prison Inspector, Benjamin Lyon, and Wm. Lowe. The resolutions adopted declare against further currency inflation and in favor of the speedy return to specie payments, and recognize as conclusive President Grant's declaration that he is not a candidate for reelection, and declare against the reelection of any President to a third term; indorse the Administration of President Hayes, etc.

THE Pennsylvania Democratic State Convention assembled at Erie on the 8th, and effected a permanent organization, after which it adjourned for one day.

MRS. PERN testified in the Westervelt trial on the 8th that on July 6, 1874, she saw in a Brooklyn street-car Westervelt, accompanied by a little boy whom she now recognizes as Charlie Ross.

CAPT. JONES, of New York city, committed suicide on the 8th by jumping into the rapids and going over the American falls at Niagara.

AN explosion occurred in a celluloid factory at Newark, N. J., on the 8th, without the building on fire and destroyed it. Fifty thirty men in the building at the time escaped unhurt, but two, it was feared, were either killed outright or fatally injured.

THE Democratic Reform State Convention of Wisconsin met at Milwaukee on the 8th, and nominated a full ticket of State officers by acclamation. A platform was adopted indorsing the reform resolutions of 1873, including the one opposing sound currency in coin or its equivalent.

THE Maryland Republican State Convention met at Westminster on the 8th and adjourned to meet in Baltimore on the 22d.

MISS EAGLESFIELD, a young lady lost student, was admitted to practice in the Circuit Court at Terre Haute, Ind., on the 8th.

THE Chicago and Cincinnati Industrial Expositions were opened on the 8th, to continue one month.

THE fifteenth biennial session of the American Entomological Society was begun in Chicago on the 8th. Marshall P. Wilder, of Massachusetts, was re-elected President.

AN account of the late riotous proceedings near Clinton, Miss., is given in a Memphis dispatch of the 7th, which states that about 3,000 people had assembled in attendance upon a mass Republican convention and barbecue. By agreement a joint political discussion was engaged in by the Republican and Democratic speakers. During the speaking a disturbance occurred on the outskirts of the crowd, and a general melee ensued; firearms were freely used—over 500 shots being fired in about fifteen minutes—and three white and four colored men were wounded. The negroes were mostly unarmed and the difficulty was wholly unsought by them, they fighting only in self-defense. By five o'clock not a colored man was seen on the grounds. Armed white men from Clinton and neighboring towns took possession of the locality, and on the morning of the 5th a general slaughter of negroes was begun in different parts of the county, fifty being killed and large numbers fleeing to the woods and swamps for protection. Bands of armed white men were reported to be congregating on the 9th, and on the 9th inst. Governor Ames issued a proclamation calling upon the military for assistance.

ACCORDING to a Madrid telegram of the 9th Gen. Jovellar had returned from pursuing the Carlists and rescued the portfolio of the Ministry of War.

VIRGIL D. STOCKWELL, of Maine, has been appointed Examiner in Chief of the Patent Office.

A WASHINGTON dispatch of the 9th says that a company of Indians had gone West with a large amount of the counterfeit $10 bills of the First National Bank of Philadelphia. These counterfeits are said to be exceedingly dangerous.

ITS Baltimore Convention at Erie on the 9th the Pennsylvania Democracy adopted resolutions on the currency question similar to those in the Ohio platform. They demand that contraction be abandoned and that the value of money be kept equal to the wants of trade; favor the abolition of the National Banks and the retirement of their circulation, to be replaced by Governmental legal-tender issues, and the establishment of deposit and circulation by deposit under State regulation. Judge Pershing, of Cumbria County, was nominated for Governor on the eleventh ballot.

THE defalcation of J. H. Dunn, the agent of the Union Depot in Lansing, will reach $2,000. Messrs. Mead and Allen, his bondsmen to the railroad companies, will have to make the deficit good.

PROF. HENNESSEE, of the university, who left last June for Germany, intending to spend a year in the study of the German language, has been called home on account of sickness in his family.

A FEW mornings ago Samuel H. Hurd, a well-known commission huckerman, fell from his window on the third floor of the Taylor House, in Saginaw City, to the ground, sustaining injuries which subsequently caused his death.

ON Woodward avenue, in front of the Detroit City Hall, a few days ago, Mrs. Matilda McIlreddy, a woman sixty years old, was run over by a Russell street horse-car and shockingly and fatally injured. Both legs were nearly severed at the thigh.

IN Presque Isle County, in the northern part of the lower peninsula of the State, a political disturbance is going on because the citizens of the county are called to support two court-houses, two jails and two county organizations complete.

THE balance of cash in the State Treasury Aug. 25 was $1,799,78 ; balance on deposits during the week ending Aug 25 were $28,082.25; payments during the same time were $1,799.78 ; balance on deposit Aug. 28, 1875, $1,308,120.21; increase for the week, $18,293.02

THE lake shipments from the Saginaw Valley for the year ending Aug. 28 were as follows: Pine lumber, 23,619,207 feet; lath, 3,960,000; shingles, 4,216,600; staves (pipe), 245,000; hoops, 300,000, salt, barrels, 21,051; timber, 30,500 cubic feet; shooks, 150,000.

ALBERT MOLETTE, a merchant and amusement manager, of Fort Edward Sullivan, his bookkeeper, were both shot the other night while standing at a desk in Molette's store. The shots were fired through a window, and the assassin is supposed to be a discharged laborer.

THE following Postmasters were appointed in Michigan during the week ending Aug 28, 1875: Conger, Muskegon County, Henry Jarman; Elm Hall, Gratiot County, William C. White; Richfield, Genesee County, James B. Turner; Thomas, Oakland County, Thomas B. Knapp.

THE Flint & Pere Marquette Railroad Company has notified the Treasurers of the several counties in which its lands delinquent for unpaid taxes are situated that they will not receive any advertised list of State taxes printed in the supplementary form. The company holds that such supplementary publication is invalid.

THE other morning, at Marquette, Mrs Parsons, a woman who separated from her husband some weeks since on account of his gross immoralities, in a fit of despondency poisoned her three-year-old child. The child was put out to nurse. The mother went to see it, making the request "that it be kept from its father to support his lazy," and administered a dose of morphine.

SOME weeks ago charges of improper conduct were preferred against D. M. Mc-Cranor, City Marshal of Bay City. After investigation, seven out of thirteen Aldermen then in the city asked him to resign. As it took eight to turn him out he declined. One absent Alderman has since returned, and he has declared that he should vote with the seven, the Marshal tendered his resignation and his successor was elected.

THE State booksellers recently met in Detroit and organized a State association with the following officers: W. F. Emery, of Lansing, President; W. P. Parker, of Detroit, Secretary, and J. Moore, of Ann Arbor, Treasurer. A number of Vice-Presidents were also elected. The Executive Committee consists of the President; Chas. Caten, Grand Rapids, J. M. Arnold, Detroit; F. L. Reynolds, Muskegon, and A. Richmond, Detroit. The Arbitration Committee consists of George D. Brown, Jackson; R. C. Newell, Saginaw City; S. H. Douglas, Ann Arbor; W. E. Tuttle, Detroit, and George H. Smith, Detroit. Strong resolutions were adopted against setting under rates.

JOHN PAUL fixed those Saratoga waiters. He put a new fifty-cent scrip under a goblet. It was magnified till it looked like a five-dollar bill. The waiter was the most active man in America. John Paul never before enjoyed such a gorgeous dinner. When he arose he coolly put that scrip in his vest pocket, and in a falsetty way told the expectant waiter not to sink any more money which others might give him in French pools.

A VISITOR in South Park, Col., picked up a curious piece of stone, which, on examination, proved to be a petrified plug of tobacco.

MICHIGAN STATE NEWS.

THE Owasso coal mine has been abandoned for a season

THERE is one pauper to every 753 inhabitants in Allegan County.

THERE are 562 prisoners in the Detroit House of Correction, 151 of them being females.

MIDLAND COUNTY this year yields 200,000 bushels of wheat, being four times the yield of 1874 year.

HIRAM PERRIMAN has been engaged to speak before the Agricultural Society of Allegan County, Sept. 29.

A TRAVELER-man states that the yield of wheat in all parts of the State is better than anybody anticipated early in the season.

IT is said that manufacturers representing an annual capacity of 800,000 barrels have come into the Michigan Salt Association.

ABOUT fifteen of Detroit's fat men have decided to attend the annual reunion of the Fat Men's Association at Putch-Bay, Sept. 22nd 16.

LANSING hail-word but four times up to the 26th of August on the proposition to hold the city to replace the bridges swept away last spring.

THE Flint River Baptist Association, which recently held its twenty-first anniversary session at East Saginaw, compulsed thirty-five churches with a membership of 2,683.

U. S. ATTY. STANDISH has sold all the buildings on land owned by the Government at Grand Rapids, upon which a Court-House and Postoffice are to be built for $30,000.

THE defalcation of J. H. Dunn, the agent of the Union Depot in Lansing, will reach $2,000. Messrs. Mead and Allen, his bondsmen to the railroad companies, will have to make the deficit good.

PROF. HENNESSEE, of the university, who left last June for Germany, intending to spend a year in the study of the German language, has been called home on account of sickness in his family.

A FEW mornings ago Samuel H. Hurd, a well-known commission huckerman, fell from his window on the third floor of the Taylor House, in Saginaw City, to the ground, sustaining injuries which subsequently caused his death.

ON Woodward avenue, in front of the Detroit City Hall, a few days ago, Mrs. Matilda McIlreddy, a woman sixty years old, was run over by a Russell street horse-car and shockingly and fatally injured. Both legs were nearly severed at the thigh.

IN Presque Isle County, in the northern part of the lower peninsula of the State, a political disturbance is going on because the citizens of the county are called to support two court-houses, two jails and two county organizations complete.

THE balance of cash in the State Treasury Aug. 25 was $1,799,78 ; balance on deposits during the week ending Aug 25 were $28,082.25; payments during the same time were $1,799.78 ; balance on deposit Aug. 28, 1875, $1,308,120.21; increase for the week, $18,293.02

THE lake shipments from the Saginaw Valley for the year ending Aug. 28 were as follows: Pine lumber, 23,619,207 feet; lath, 3,960,000; shingles, 4,216,600; staves (pipe), 245,000; hoops, 300,000, salt, barrels, 21,051; timber, 30,500 cubic feet; shooks, 150,000.

ALBERT MOLETTE, a merchant and amusement manager, of Fort Edward Sullivan, his bookkeeper, were both shot the other night while standing at a desk in Molette's store. The shots were fired through a window, and the assassin is supposed to be a discharged laborer.

THE following Postmasters were appointed in Michigan during the week ending Aug 28, 1875: Conger, Muskegon County, Henry Jarman; Elm Hall, Gratiot County, William C. White; Richfield, Genesee County, James B. Turner; Thomas, Oakland County, Thomas B. Knapp.

THE Flint & Pere Marquette Railroad Company has notified the Treasurers of the several counties in which its lands delinquent for unpaid taxes are situated that they will not receive any advertised list of State taxes printed in the supplementary form. The company holds that such supplementary publication is invalid.

THE other morning, at Marquette, Mrs Parsons, a woman who separated from her husband some weeks since on account of his gross immoralities, in a fit of despondency poisoned her three-year-old child. The child was put out to nurse. The mother went to see it, making the request "that it be kept from its father to support his lazy," and administered a dose of morphine.

SOME weeks ago charges of improper conduct were preferred against D. M. McCranor, City Marshal of Bay City. After investigation, seven out of thirteen Aldermen then in the city asked him to resign. As it took eight to turn him out he declined. One absent Alderman has since returned, and he has declared that he should vote with the seven, the Marshal tendered his resignation and his successor was elected.

THE State booksellers recently met in Detroit and organized a State association with the following officers: W. F. Emery, of Lansing, President; W. P. Parker, of Detroit, Secretary, and J. Moore, of Ann Arbor, Treasurer. A number of Vice-Presidents were also elected. The Executive Committee consists of the President; Chas. Caten, Grand Rapids, J. M. Arnold, Detroit; F. L. Reynolds, Muskegon, and A. Richmond, Detroit. The Arbitration Committee consists of George D. Brown, Jackson; R. C. Newell, Saginaw City; S. H. Douglas, Ann Arbor; W. E. Tuttle, Detroit, and George H. Smith, Detroit. Strong resolutions were adopted against setting under rates.

JOHN PAUL fixed those Saratoga waiters. He put a new fifty-cent scrip under a goblet. It was magnified till it looked like a five-dollar bill. The waiter was the most active man in America. John Paul never before enjoyed such a gorgeous dinner. When he arose he coolly put that scrip in his vest pocket, and in a falsetty way told the expectant waiter not to sink any more money which others might give him in French pools.

A VISITOR in South Park, Col., picked up a curious piece of stone, which, on examination, proved to be a petrified plug of tobacco.

Ponto, the Trapper's Dog.

THE following dog story comes from R. J. Hamill, Vermont, who heard it related when traveling in the far West. The dog was with the trapper when he told the story: "They wanted me to bring my dog to help in the hunt for a child who had lost his way the night before. The friends of the child had been looking for him all night and all day, and had not found him. I started with Ponto in search of him, first finding the child's track which I showed to Ponto. The dog did not at once understand what I wanted of him, but I got one of the boy's stockings and let Ponto smell of it, and I then showed him the track; this time he understood what I wanted. He started off on the run, but I called him back, and got some bread and meat, and I also filled my canteen with water, and tied this with the bread and meat to the neck of the dog, and started him off once more. We had bowed as long as we could hear Ponto bark, and when we had no longer this to guide us we camped for the night, and a clear and moonlight night it was. We stayed in our camp until daylight, when we got up to him and took around and dog it if we could see or hear anything of the dog or child. After waiting and hearing or seeing nothing, we started off in different directions. It was on o'clock in the forenoon before our most careful searching and listening were rewarded. At last as I climbed a ridge I heard the dog bark, and you may be sure that we started off quickly enough toward the sound. A cane nearer I whistled. Then Ponto came running toward me, and back he would bounce again to where he was barking at first. On coming up there was the boy lying under a bush and fast asleep! The poor little fellow was frightened when we awoke him, but he soon got over it and called for his mamma, and was told that we would take him to her. Then we asked him how he came to get lost. He said that he started out to find his pups and that he kept on traveling until after dark, when he got so tired that he lay down and went to sleep. He stayed in that place until morning, when he got up and tried to get home, but not being able to go any farther he lay down where he was. He said that the noise of the dog cause he was at first afraid of him, but he saw the things on him, called the dog to him and took them off. The dog would not leave the boy until we came, but ran around and around the last boy and barked. The little fellow was eight miles from home. Had it not been for this good old Ponto we very likely would not have found the boy alive. Some dogs, you know, know a great deal more than some men, and Ponto is one of them."—American Agriculturist.

Fresh-Water Shells.

Looking over our fresh-water shells again, we find many that are known as mussels or clams. These shells are common everywhere along the streams, brooks, rivers and lakes. The muskrats feed upon the soft parts of the mussels, and their tracks and their feasts may be found in piles of mussel-shells all along the shores of certain lakes. The shell is composed of two parts or valves, as they are called. The two valves are often found united, and the margin along which they are connected is called the hinge margin, because the shells hinge at this point and will open and shut as a door swings upon its hinges.

Let the pupil now examine a perfect fresh-water mussel, that is, a mussel in which the valves are united in this way, and, as we said before, are connected together by a brownish substance, which is quite elastic when the shell is alive, but becomes brittle when dried. The shells are held together as the covers of a book are held together by the back. The substance is called the ligament, and the position of this ligament will indicate the back or dorsal region of the animal.

On the outside of the shell will be seen fine lines which run nearly parallel to the outside margin of the shell. These lines are the lines of growth, and indicate the successive stages of growth, or increase of the shell, as in the lines of growth in the small-shell already studied, and, as in the snails, the growth takes place at the margin of the shells

We may trace these concentric lines back, as they grow smaller and smaller, till they come to a point from one part situated at the back of the shell, and this point is called the beak or umbone. It represents the starting point in the growth of the shell. In fresh-water mussels the umbones are eaten away by some corrosive action of the water upon the early stages in the growth of the shell so that usually, in very young shells, however, the early stages can be seen.—Prof. Marsh, in Popular Science Monthly for September.

The Georgia Scare.

Not many days ago Georgia had a terrible scare. Somebody reported that he had somewhere found a most terrible letter, a diabolical letter, not only in orthography, but also in substance. It was supposed to be intended for an order to the colored population to the meanest and meanest the whites. Kill all, men, women and children, except the pretty young ladies. Kill them with guns, pistols and swords, kill them with spears, jennings, hooks and knives; kill them with scythes, axes and pitchforks, with clubs, tools and bucksaws. Such was the terrible meaning attached to this strange letter with the big letters orthography. Straightway all Georgia was up in arms. The merchant left his store, and the mechanic his shop; the farmer left his plow in the furrow, according to Revolutionary usage, and hastened to suppress the horrible insurrection which they feared was about to break out. Everywhere the telegraph bore the news, and throughout the South while the women wept, the men, the true, the legitimate whites of Georgia. Of course, the cause of the insurrection was the construction of the currency, the Republican misrule of the South and Radical disturbers all Georgia. The Democratic leaders were accordingly strengthened and all things seems to promise that the affair would prove a first-class electioneering document conclusive in its showing and perfectly satisfactory to the public. "The loss laid schemes of mice and men gang aft agley," however, in the present instance fully demonstrates the truth of the old couplet. The Georgia trick was too much for the planners, and was only spoiled in the execution; the cost was cut a little too fine together. They failed to take the darkers of this little game made a mistake in the number of the letters. Whereupon down fell, where down fell the whole superstructure of deception, quite like Jericho of old. It was left to the negro to expose the fraud. And right the day will win.

To doubt would be disloyalty.
To falter would be sin.

—Augusta (Georgia) Chronicle.

PANSIES FOR THOUGHTS.

A HAPPY young family—father, mother, and baby—seldom fails to be a great one, one May. There never was one of the many houses in a row all alike, with a little ornamental balcony at one side, a bay window at the other, and a tiny grass-plot in front which grandmother quaintly called "the garden." Opposite was a row of houses very similar and the dwellers on either of these sides looked at each other and smiled when error to take a lively interest in the family.

They were their relations, for except Uncle Vines peeped through the fancy curtains of the bow window, and a country cage hung from the corner. The plants became pets with baskets and smells of flowers. Passersby had glimpses of baby's head, and, as he had curly things, a dainty little nose, and an actual sweet, cherry mouth, not the imbecile appearance of a baby-doll, and a pair of eyes which gave by the name of the servants baby face. You will observe I use the feminine pronoun. If baby be a girl, the reasons are self-evident; if a boy, the reasons are more subtle, but it is not sure to be a girl. If it is a Dutch cherub, with a splendid physique and a limpidish demeanor, a baby in little manner free by the palm off as slightly (deceiving only his nurse and grandmother), but it is a mussel in which the valves are united in this way, and, as we said before, are connected together by a brownish substance, which is quite elastic when the shell is alive, but becomes brittle when dried. The shells are held together as the covers of a book are held together by the back. The substance is called the ligament, and the position of this ligament will indicate the back or dorsal region of the animal.

On the outside of the shell will be seen fine lines which run nearly parallel to the outside margin of the shell. These lines are the lines of growth, and indicate the successive stages of growth, or increase of the shell, as in the lines of growth in the small-shell already studied, and, as in the snails, the growth takes place at the margin of the shells

We may trace these concentric lines back, as they grow smaller and smaller, till they come to a point from one part situated at the back of the shell, and this point is called the beak or umbone. It represents the starting point in the growth of the shell. In fresh-water mussels the umbones are eaten away by some corrosive action of the water upon the early stages in the growth of the shell so that usually, in very young shells, however, the early stages can be seen.—Prof. Marsh, in Popular Science Monthly for September.

THE SENTINEL.

WILLARD A. SMITH, Editor and Proprietor.

CHARLEVOIX. MICHIGAN.

BEAUTIFUL THINGS.

BEAUTIFUL faces are those that wear—
It matters little it dark or fair—
Whole-souled honesty printed there.

Beautiful eyes are those that show,
Like crystal panes where hearth fires glow,
Beautiful thoughts that burn below.

Beautiful lips are those whose words
Leap from the heart like songs of birds,
Yet whose utterances prudence girds.

Beautiful hands are those that do
Work that is earnest and brave and true,
Moment by moment, the long day through.

Beautiful feet are those that go
On kindly ministries to and fro—
Down lowliest ways, if God will so.

Beautiful shoulders are those that bear
Cheerless burdens of homely care
With patient grace and daily prayer.

Beautiful lives are those that bless—
Silent rivers of happiness,
Whose hidden fountains but few may guess

Beautiful twilight, at quiet end,
Beautiful goal, with rest well won,
Beautiful crown, a cross beneath.

Beautiful gates, where grasses creep,
Where flowers lean to kiss the feet
Of worn-out travelers, oft beautiful sleep.

—Frances Ridley Havergal.

PANSIES FOR THOUGHTS.

A HAPPY young family—father, mother, and baby—seldom fails to be a great one, one May. There never was one of the many houses in a row all alike, with a little ornamental balcony at one side, a bay window at the other, and a tiny grass-plot in front which grandmother quaintly called "the garden." Opposite was a row of houses very similar and the dwellers on either of these sides looked at each other and smiled when error to take a lively interest in the family.

They were their relations, for except Uncle Vines peeped through the fancy curtains of the bow window, and a country cage hung from the corner. The plants became pets with baskets and smells of flowers. Passersby had glimpses of baby's head, and, as he had curly things, a dainty little nose, and an actual sweet, cherry mouth, not the imbecile appearance of a baby-doll, and a pair of eyes which gave by the name of the servants baby face. You will observe I use the feminine pronoun. If baby be a girl, the reasons are self-evident; if a boy, the reasons are more subtle, but it is not sure to be a girl. If it is a Dutch cherub, with a splendid physique and a limpidish demeanor, a baby in little manner free by the palm off as slightly (deceiving only his nurse and grandmother), but it is a mussel in which the valves are united in this way, and, as we said before, are connected together by a brownish substance, which is quite elastic when the shell is alive, but becomes brittle when dried. The shells are held together as the covers of a book are held together by the back. The substance is called the ligament, and the position of this ligament will indicate the back or dorsal region of the animal.

On the outside of the shell will be seen fine lines which run nearly parallel to the outside margin of the shell. These lines are the lines of growth, and indicate the successive stages of growth, or increase of the shell, as in the lines of growth in the small-shell already studied, and, as in the snails, the growth takes place at the margin of the shells

We may trace these concentric lines back, as they grow smaller and smaller, till they come to a point from one part situated at the back of the shell, and this point is called the beak or umbone. It represents the starting point in the growth of the shell. In fresh-water mussels the umbones are eaten away by some corrosive action of the water upon the early stages in the growth of the shell so that usually, in very young shells, however, the early stages can be seen.—Prof. Marsh, in Popular Science Monthly for September.

Very Plain Swiss.

A CORRESPONDENT of the Louisville Courier-Journal tells the following incident. The veteran idea of the interesting character of mountaineers, whether male or female, is, you know, fabulous eyes, wherever they may be found. The following is a case of romance there is none with them. It all goes into the mountains, the rocks, the caves of snow and cloud and the flowers, and personify there is none left for the wretched inhabitants. They are an awful-looking lot of folks as a general thing. Now and then, at the crack hotels, say of the Rhine or Lucerne, you see some rather fine-looking, stunning, waiting-girls, dressed in pigment costumes—that is one of the tricks that show how smart these people are when they are after your money—and I do remember also, and pleasantly, too, to see a sweet pair of eyes at the Hotel du Lac at Lucerne, but the great mass of the women are not only ugly but positively hideous. I think this ugliness must be bred in them for generations. Their enormous feet and ankles are easily explained by their having to walk over these rough, rocky paths, up and down very steep tracks; but this is not all of the reason why. The peasant women here do the very roughest sort of work in and out doors, and the burdens they are wont to carry on their backs are really appalling. They do not seem to mind them much. They trudge along with these burdens on the highways, bending forward at an angle of forty-five degrees, stooping more even than a fashionable American girl with an attack of the Grecian bend. Several times I have stopped them and "bellied," to use an Americanism, their loads, but only for a moment. One trial was enough. It is the same way with the men. The bundles are able to pack on their backs upon a mountain would try very sorely the patience and long-suffering of a Kentucky mule. The fact is, life goes rather hard with these poor ladies. They have to work very laboriously, and they begin pretty early in the day. And yet they do not seem extraordinarily unhappy. I saw numbers of them today on my hourly tramp to and from the Handbeck Falls, and all seemed cheerful enough.

How Things Come Round.

TWENTY-THREE years ago Thomas Jefferson Moore, a Yankee shipcarpenter, quick-witted and Liverpool, built the corner of time found himself one day at the annual cheese fair of Chester with nothing to do but admire the pretty, fresh dairy-maids who displayed their own and their cheeses and looked like a decoration of Inns. Among others he saw Miss Mary Conway, and made her acquaintance. In time Mary took him into the house where she was occupying the respectable position of a serving-maid and was not ashamed to own it. She had lived there in the front door one evening and he discovered a curious machine inside in the hall-way. It was a clock-house opposite the door, the machinery of which turned with a crank, like a grindstone. It took his eye. He went out and got his boxes nobly, came back and put in his time. It worked, and the Yankee carpenter carried away the idea. He made a machine like it, with improvements, and sold it. He made a deep impression on the heart of Mary Conway, and as he was willing to take no baby's grave" to any Liverpool machine manufacturer was not a bad match, and the happy day was set and not his. But T. J. Moore was suddenly sued for infringement of a patent and had $25 to pay. Mary had saved some money, paid the fine and had $5 left to get married on. Married they were. The Yankee, who was fully qualified to make outs out of shoe-pegs by simply sharpening the other end of the peg, resolved to change the purposes of his machine to revolve the law. He therefore turned the shoe-clean ing machine upside down, and made it saute itself another and better and more convenient out of it. Then he set up the business of cultivating bald heads and raising a luxuriant crop of new hair by harrowing the soil. He got some old customers and started a hair growing and manufacturing establishment. He flourished for three months and never succeeded in making two hairs grow where only one grew before. In fact his fruitful crop of customers became bitter, and at length they combined to prosecute T. J. Moore as the baldest kind of a swindler. He escaped with his machine to Manchester and left his wife with her parents in Wales. He appears never again to have thought of the wife and boy he left behind him. In Manchester he soon began tickling the Roy Hugh Roberts' bald pate and specializing him a full new suit of hair. The machine was the gentleman's patience at length gave out; every vestige of his former scattering hair was gone, and he wisely left the town by the railway to pay damages. But, in the meantime, Miss Henrietta Roberts, the minister's daughter, had been watching great in the Sunday-school and sympathized with him while her father persecuted. Moore could never get out in case the said Moore could never get out in case the said against him, and the bald-headed reverend was inexorable. While the suit was pending Thomas Jefferson and Henrietta got married. This parson the sympathy of his daughter's so incensed the old man that he gave her £100 and told her to go and return with the name of his failing business no more. But he kindly withdrew the suit against his son-in-law, and the young couple set sail for America, where the two invigorating words harmless paths in peace. Meanwhile the young wife and mother who cause of the Chester fair-maid remained in Wales and lamented.

Thomas Jefferson Moore has not made the noise or gained the prominence in this country that he was promised by his English beginning. He abandoned hair-restoring, went to work in a piano factory, made $5,000 in a year or two, and a few years ago his Henrietta died in Boston, leaving him childless. But in the mutations of the world's affairs how curiously things do come round.

T. J.'s first wife, after waiting a decent time for the return of her husband, married a dandy, and soon married a blacksmith—William Thomas. In 1873 William Thomas and his wife, and two little Thomases, fifteen and seventeen years old, and young Thomas Jefferson Moore, all pulled up stakes in Wales and emigrated to this country. Young T. J. Moore was particularly desirous of visiting the native land of his father and was the cause of their coming. The family landed in New York. The father worked at his trade, the daughters got $9.25 in a Broadway store, T. J. Moore, Jr., got a responsible situation in a bulk-head in house, and the matron—forty, fair and fat—lived happy at home. She was out shopping the other day on Broadway, and dropped her parcels in amazement. She saw and knew Thomas Jefferson Moore, her first husband, in the flesh, and threw herself into his protecting arms. He explained all—no matter how—satisfactorily to her and she clung to her first love and couldn't help it. William Thomas was well enough—Thomas Jefferson Moore dead. Mary took Thomas Jefferson to her home straightway and straightforward, and introduced William Thomas to her long-lost husband. She was going to live with him and stick to him as long as she could find him. So Mary left with her first husband, and the reunited pair and Thomas Jefferson Moore, Jr., will live together in content, and the deserted blacksmith and his daughters will try to make happiness in their broken home. So things came round to Thomas Jefferson Moore.—St. Louis Republican.

For Young Readers.

BABY BLUE-EYES' NAP.

BY LOTTA M'DONALD.

THE little woman was very busy indeed, and the soft, peachy cheeks were getting scarlet and warm, as she trudged back and forth in the sun.

Away down in one corner of the garden was Baby Blue Eyes' palace, that intelligent grandpa had the day before constructed, with the fence for two sides, and a door "with truly hinges." The merits and strength of which the empress of this habitation was never tired of testing.

"A bit hoosie for the baiby," grandpa had said half apologetically, when questioned as to the great sounds of carpenter ing that had issued from that remote corner, whither he and Baby Blue Eyes had betaken themselves directly after breakfast. It was odd enough to hear deargrandpa say grandpa inque into the half-forgotten Scotch provincialisms of his love land whenever he spoke to or of his pet grandchild. She always understood him, and occasionally, to grandpa's great delight some quaint Scotch phrase would leap from her infant lips. She also always called her pretty gray kitten a "purr wee-beastie," and cuddies were always "sweeties" to her.

It was Sixteenth morning, and everyone had gone to church excepting Janet, the grave queen goddess of the kitchen, in whose domain she and baby Blue Eyes were. The work being put and gone with them, and in the midst of a long and somewhat prosy sermon she had electrified everyone by saying, in a clear, distinct voice, "Is dreamly tired of hearing that nassy man talk. Hish I'll do home, hish ocey," and she started, back to the amusement of all the young and wealthy members of the congregation, and to the utter horror of poor grandpa, who attempted to detain the small baby as she tried to pass him on her way out, to her extreme indignation and disgust. She was not watching the hungry waves as they came rolling up, dying of their own ambition, straggling reluctantly to the shore, then falling back they would gather new strength and try it again, each time coming a little higher. But Pet saw nothing of all this. She knew the song of the waves made her very sleepy and ill, exactly why she was fast asleep, with the tide coming up nearer and nearer and nearer to the little bare feet, but also nearer to unmistakable. It is supposed that the tide turned from its may have an atmosphere suitable for animal life, and that intelligent beings, living inside, and, hoping against hope, and praying for mercy, floated away in also, and there on a ledge, or shelf, was our darling baby, just awakened, and looking bewilderingly around her at the waves of waters where she had left everything high and dry when she sailed off to dreamland. George swung himself up, and, gathering her in his arms, thanked God for His mercy. It seemed almost a miracle, but George remembered the day before how during her the rough steps leading up to the bank, just above her head, and just above high-water mark, and that the small baby had stumbled down as contentedly as a kitten, and had been loth to get down again.

Bruce long before this had gone again, the baby's frantic cries on the shore, for George

THE SENTINEL.

CHARLEVOIX, MICH.

WILLARD A. SMITH, Editor and Proprietor.

TUESDAY, - - SEPT 21 187

Grand Traverse Union Teachers' Association.

FRIDAY, - SEPT 23, 1875.

In response to the call of the executive Committee the teachers of the Grand Traverse Association met for its third session at Sherman, beginning the exercises at eleven a. m. In the absence of President Judd, of Old Mission, Vice President Merrell presided. After a few preliminary remarks stating the necessity of each teacher contributing to the interest of the Institute, a programme was hastily framed by the co-operation of the teachers present, and said programme read by the chairman. Four new members joined the Association at the close of the morning session. Adjournment was then made till 1:30. Resumed session at 1:30. Vice President Merrell in the chair. After opening remarks, Mr. Northrup was called upon who addressed the Association upon the subject of "Legal Relation of Teacher and Pupil." The subject was well set forth for fifteen or twenty minutes and afterward discussed with point and fervor by Prof. Roberts, Mr Ferguson and others. Interesting remarks were also offered on this subject by Mr. Mears and and Mr. Sturtevant, illustrating the duty of teachers to look upon absent pupils, communicate with parents, etc., etc. The duty also of teachers to protect all pupils from abuse by other pupils in their journeyings to and from school was presented by Mr. Morrel. The subject of the rights of learners in controling pupils was warmly discussed by different members, and a diversity of opinions expressed. The chairman then called upon Mr. Pettit, who taking the stand, proceeded to illustrate his idea of the best way of teaching grammar by calling a class of learners to the recitation seat and explaining his method, calling upon different teachers to answer questions and explaining as to children. His illustrations were clear and well timed. After the class was excused the subject of grammar was discussed at large, different views being freely brought forth and sustained. A short recess followed, in proved by the teachers in cultivating the social element. Called to order by chairman. On motion a committe of three was appointed to nominate officers for the next term or session. After a short absence the following names were presented:

President—A. H. Kennedy.

Vice President—T. B. Pettit, Benzie Co.; Theodore Parmelee, Leelanau Co. A. R. Upright, Charlevoix Co.; P. D. Safford, Antrim Co.; L. Roberts, Grand Traverse Co.; J. A. Morrel, Wexford Co.;

Rec. Secretary—Miss Lizzie Kellogg.

Cor. Secretary—Miss Lucy Coates.

Treasurer—Mrs. L. Roberts.

On motion the report of the committee was received and was followed by the election of those named. It was then proposed and carried that the next session occur the coming winter, place of meeting to be determined on by officers. A meeting of Executive Committee was called at the end of the afternoon recess to construct a programme for the closing session of the institute. Association then adjourned till 7:30 p. m. Thirty were present at the afternoon session. Friday evening met at 7:30 pursuant to adjournment. After being called to order a song was sung with enthusiasm, after which Prof. Kennedy took the stand and discussed on the subject of "Mensuration of Surfaces." His illustrations were ample and abundant, and earnestly and stirringly set forth. The manner of producing surfaces and solids was explained. The manner also of finding the area of a triangle was happily explained by means of a triangular block and illustrations upon the black-board, and the way in which a teacher may make the subject plain to his pupils well put forth. The parallelogram, cylinder and cone were next touched upon in a clear manner and the necessity of thorough explanation to the pupil of the manner in which these things are produced made clearly apparent. Solids were again touched upon in different bearings. The manner of obtaining the solid contents of a sphere, in particular, was explained and illustrated so that any one could understand and remember it, and a subject that is by many considered abstract and uninteresting was shown by the Professors pleasing and forceful explanations, and excellent apparatus for illustration, to be replete with interest and abounding in light. After a short recess a class drill in reading was conducted by Prof. Roberts and entered into with interest and enthusiasm by the teachers. Defects in pronunciation and delivery were carefully noted by the Professor and his manner of conducting the exercise showed his appreciation of reading as a fine art, and his ability to lead the pupil to grasp this much neglected branch with the spirit and the understanding. The subject was further discussed by others in an interesting manner. The programme for the closing session of the Institute was then read by the chairman and the meeting (in number about fifty) adjourned with the feeling that a successful and pleasurable evening had been spent.

Saturday morning's session opened at 7:30 a. m. by singing and devotional exercises, conducted by the Rev. Mr. Redelff. These were followed by an explanation by Prof. Kennedy of the manner of teaching geography and illustrated with the aid of a globe. Several of the teachers by their absence from this exercise missed a practial illustration that might have aided them in giving to their pupils a true and pleasing idea of subjects that are often made to appear abstruse and uninteresting. A discussion upon the subject of geography and its setting forth followed, from which practical ideas could be obtained. This subject being ended an essay was read by J. S. Walling; subject, "My school-boy days." It was received with interest by the teachers, and its occasional touches of merriment were refreshing. The subject of "Old time school days" was further continued in a conversational manner by Mr. Sturtevant and others. After a recess of ten minutes the subject of School government was set forth at large by Prof. Roberts. The earnest, wholehearted way in which the subject was handled, and especially the keen sympathy with the true heart-life of the pupil, which —with no effort from him—was clearly apparent in word and manner, did not fail to touch our hearts, and strengthen the bond which as teachers unites us, causing us to feel that the truest sympathy and untried helpfulness is most assuredly between us in our effort for success in the true art of teaching, and in reaching our pupils in a way that shall uplift their whole natures, and fit us as teachers, pupils and friends for a lifetime —and also eternity—of moral excellence and uprightness. Remarks were offered by Mr. Morrel and others upon the same and kindred topics, and were of a nature that could not fail to interest one who in any degree has the Teacher's work at heart. An essay was next offered by Dr. Preston on the subject of "Hygiene in Schools." Our thanks are due the Dr. for giving us a subject often ignored in institutes and schools and one upon which none as well as himself was qualified to speak. A pronouncing exercise was next in programme which was conducted by L. Roberts and awakened much diversity of opinion, and appealing to dictionaries. A short recess followed after which Mr Morrell, as by appointment, offered some ideas on the "General relation existing between Teacher and Pupil," and though in many of its bearings the subject had already been discussed, new thoughts came to us and earnestness of desire to "act well our part" in the work before us, through the keen, homily and earnestness showing itself so genuinely in our chairman. He showed that our work as teachers is of a far-reaching nature and requires the most forceful energies of our souls, and undertaken in this manner, and seeking the assistance of One higher than ourselves it will not be subdued by Him. The "Query-box," a tin receptacle of cylindrical form, brought forth no discussion.

Another session of five to one membership. As teachers we have been brought nearer together and our work clothed with new light and beauty by this association together.

LIZZIE KELLOGG,
Rec. Secretary.

Pensioners.

A Washington correspondent states that the Commissioner of Pensions, in his annual report, will recommend Congress to abolish the present system of medical examination of pensioners, and establish districts to which competent surgeons with prescribed salaries, may be assigned from time to time. Examiners are now paid a fixed sum for each examination of made. Those examined are, in the majority of cases, the neighbors and friends of the examiners, and frequently additions are made to the pension rolls through feelings of friendship and sympathy. There are now on the rolls nearly two hundred and forty thousand pensioners. There are eighty thousand applications for pensions not acted upon, and nearly one hundred and seventy thousand certificates of disability on file upon which which future applications may be based.

NOTICE— U. S. LAND OFFICE,
Traverse City, Mich., July 24, 1875.
Complaint having been entered at this Office by peoples L. Hicks, against Joseph Sicard, for abandoning his Homestead Entry No. 6396, dated Nov. 11, 1874, upon Lots 4, 5, & 6, Section 18, Township 33 N. R. 7 West, with a view to the cancelation of said entry; the said parties are hereby summoned to appear at this office on the 6th day of October 1875, at 1 o'clock P. M. to respond and furnish testimony concerning said alleged abandonment.
BETT C. MOFFATT, Register
14 PERRY HANNAH, Receiver.

"SHTOP A LEETLE!"

Spring Harbor,

HEAD OF PINE LAKE.

The Secret of Wonderful Growth and Success.

Way up in the north is a very smart town,
In the country all over it is gaining renown,
It's in Charlevoix county and Spring Harbor Town.

The soil is so rich if you plant a small seed,
To grow a big yield it never will fail
It surely is so for the people all say
That soil is a comfort the very next day
In Charlevoix county and Spring Harbor Town.

There are the merchants who're up to their trade,
Will sell you the goods before they are made—
In Charlevoix county and Spring Harbor Town.

They'll not stoop so low as tell you smell box,
But their secret of trade is they sell as cheap as
And their efforts are crowned by millions of wealth,
While they all do enjoy the most perfect health,
In Charlevoix county and Spring Harbor Town.

Then there are the doctors they'll cure you of ills,
With approved drugs and various pills—
In Charlevoix county and Spring Harbor Town.

If they on you once make a professional call,
Again in your life you'll be ill not at all,
If they call once or twice you'll then feel so clever,
You'll not die at all, but live on forever—
In Charlevoix county and Spring Harbor Town

n there is the "Journal" I've sheet of the age,
To present the news it doth always engage
In Charlevoix county and Spring Harbor Town.

And the editor knows his business so well,
Believe what I say for the truth I do tell
If a man is murdered and left in his gore,
It will give you the news two or three days before,
In Charlevoix county and Spring Harbor Town.

Now I suppose you'll be glad to all know,
How strangely it happens this to be so—
In Charlevoix county and Spring Harbor Town.

When the cause I do give, you all will confess
The secret that leads to perfect success
They get their goods cheaper than ever before,
For they buy all they use at Nichols's store.

YOU'RE CRAZY

TO PAY SUCH TERRIBLE PRICES FOR GOODS, WHEN BY CALLING AT THE

"REGULATOR"

You can purchase them at less THIRTY PER CENT. than at any other place in this part of Charlevoix County. That is what we say at the "REGULATOR" We have lots of

NEW GOODS,

And more coming daily. We have Boots and Shoes for men; We have all kinds of Shoes for Ladies; we have Boots and Shoes and all kinds of nice things for the little ones. We have an assortment of DRESS GOODS; we have all kinds of CLOTH to make clothes for the men and boys. We have

PORK AND FLOUR,

And all kinds of Groceries such as

SUGARS,
TEAS,
COFFEES
SPICES,
OILS.

WE ALSO HAVE A LARGE ASSORTMENT OF

Farming Implements,

SUCH AS PLOWS, SHOVEL PLOWS, SCYTHES, SNATHS RAKES, FORKS, HOES, CULTIVATORS AND DRAGS.
ALSO AN ASSORTMENT OF

TINWARE.

So if good buy cheaper than ever before, go to NICHOLS' Store, on Pine Lake shore, where the water doth roar, and all people, and more, say, that never before, in the country all o'er, did they see people pour into the door of a store, where they buy lots of goods and they buy some more; for they say he sells lower by thirty per cent than ever before, at any man's store; so after reading this o'er, if still you'd know more, Tommie will

TURN THE CRANK TO THE MACHIN

And tell you if you wish to astonish yourself with low prices, that you must go to 999999 Gold Dust Avenue, nearly opposite to the Second National Bank, and directly opposite to the Metropolitan Hotel, Spring Harbor.

TRUY YOURS:

T. W. NICHOLS.

Carpenter & Bartholomew

Cheap Cash Store is just the Place to Buy Your Goods!

CARPENTER & BARTHOLOMEW'S

Standard Goods and Bottom Prices is their Motto.

South End of Bridge Street.

Charlevoix, Mich.

MEDICAL

HALL,

CHARLEVOIX,

JUST THE PLACE TO BUY

DRUGS

And Dye Stuffs,

JUST THE PLACE TO BUY

Patent Medicines

JUST THE PLACE TO BUY

Stationery, Ink and Pens.
And Pocket Inkstand.

JUST THE PLACE TO BUY

Perfumes and Hair Oils
Flavoring Extracts, and Toilet Goods.

JUST THE PLACE TO BUY

The Self-Adjusting Truss

JUST THE PLACE TO GET

Prescriptions Compounded

At all hours—night or day.

IN FACT just the place to get anything you want in the Druggists line.

CHURCH FOR CASH.

New store opposite Stockman's Hardware store.

GEO. W. CROUTER.
Druggist and Chemist.

Hemlock Bark!

The undersigned, owners of the schooner E. M. Stanton, would inform the people of Pine Lake and vicinity they are prepared to

Contract for Any Amount of Hemlock Bark to be delivered on the beach of Round or Pine Lakes, in South Arm. The firms of Fox, Rose & Buttars, Carpenter & Bartholomew, and Byron See are our associated agents, with whom contracts can be made, or with the undersigned, of the firm of

CAPT. P. JOHNSON & Co.
Charlevoix, May 1, 1875.

N. B.—Samuel Holland, of Evelina, is also our authorized agent.

Read This.

The following instructive dialogue was overheard the other day:

Brown—I say, Jones, you seem to have been buying lots of groceries; where do you trade, Jones?

Jones—Why, I bought at

BYRON SEE'S

Grocery and Provision Store in Charlevoix it is a good place to trade."

Brown—"Is that so? Can others do as well there as you can I—you know you are thirty to a cracker."

Jones—"O, yes, of course you can. He sells all alike because he takes a nimble shilpence and I guess he does from the prices he sells at.

THE STANDARD PUBLISHING HOUSE

1875. 1875.

A. C. Van Raalte

Capt. Alvin Dodge,

Will run during the season of 1875, as follows, between

Petoskey & Traverse City:

Will leave Petoskey at 6 o'clock a. m.

Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays,

Arriving at Traverse City at 7 o'clock the same evening. Will leave Traverse City at 6 o'clock a. m. on

Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays,

arriving at Petoskey the same evening touching at all intermediate ports on Grand Traverse Bay, both ways.

If they on you once make a professional call,
Again in your life you'll be ill not at all,
If they call once or twice you'll then feel so clever,
You'll not die at all, but live on forever—
In Charlevoix county and Spring Harbor Town

n there is the "Journal" I've sheet of the age,
To present the news it doth always engage
In Charlevoix county and Spring Harbor Town.

And the editor knows his business so well,
Believe what I say for the truth I do tell
If a man is murdered and left in his gore,
It will give you the news two or three days before,
In Charlevoix county and Spring Harbor Town.

Now I suppose you'll be glad to all know,
How strangely it happens this to be so—
In Charlevoix county and Spring Harbor Town.

When the cause I do give, you all will confess
The secret that leads to perfect success
They get their goods cheaper than ever before,
For they buy all they use at Nichols's store.

1875. 1875.

Spring and Summer

Fox, Rose & Buttars.

PETOSKEY:

Headquarters to Buy

DRY GOODS,

GROCERIES & PROVISION

BOOTS and SHOES,

TIN and HARDWARE,

STOVES, SOVEPIPE

CROCKERY & GLASSWARE,

TRUNKS, Traveling Bags,

FURNITUR

We always keep good goods and sell at one end Close Prices. Strangers arriving in town soon find their way to our store; people living with us know how the[illegible]

Largest Stock! Lowest Prices

Careful Attention to Orders.

Fox, Rose & Buttars

J. E. Greilick & Co.,

TRAVERSE CITY, MICH.,

Manufacturers of, and Dealers in

Sash & Doors,

BLINDS, MOULDINGS, BRACKETS,

STORE FRONTS

Stair Railing Balusters and Newell Post
A large assortment of glazed and unglazed Sash, all sizes of doors.

SEASONED

Clear Lumber, Dressed Flooring, Ceiling Siding and Pickets constantly on hand for the general trade. Orders by Boat will be promptly attended to.

REAL ESTATE AGENCY

H. L. MILLER,

CHARLEVOIX, MICH.

Transfers made, non-resident taxes paid and all real estate business attended to promptly and on reasonable terms.

The following descriptions are offered for sale at special bargains:

EMMET COUNTY.

E. ½ of S. E. ¼ section 20, T. 37 N., R. 6. west containing 80 acres.

W. ½ of S. E. ¼ sec. 7, T. 34 N., R. 6 west. Containing 80 acres. Maple and birch.

N. ½ of sec. section 33 Town 37 N., R. 6 W., S. ½ of sec section 2, Town 35, N., R. 8 W.

Timber, maple and beech, elm, hemlock, basswood and ash.

CHARLEVOIX COUNTY.

The old Brady Farm, at Barnard P. O., on the State Road, ¼ miles from Charlevoix. S. ½ of s. w. ¼ sec. 16, T. 33 N. R. 8 west, 80 acres, 40 acres improved; the fruit trees bearing; 12 acres in meadow; good double log house, barn, good well, and other conveniences. All inclosed with a fine fence. For terms address this agency, or N. Ainslie, Charlevoix.

John Bell's farm, in Marion Township. One good frame house, 16x22, good cellar the full size of the house; frame barn 30x34, and a good sow-shed; 25 acres chopped, and 15 out in the meadow; the best of soil; timber, maple, beech, elm, hemlock, cedar and black ash; good brook running through the farm, and three living springs. W. ½ of N. W. ¼ of section 34, Town 33 North, of Range 6 West.

E. ½ of the N. W. ¼ of section 34, Town 33 North, of Range 6 West. Good log house. Terms made easy.

[46]yr

FARM FOR SALE.

The subscriber offers for sale his farm in South Arm Township in this county, containing 80 acres, thirty acres cleared and five acres fallow, about distance from Petoskey and saw mill; orchard of 80 apple trees, and forty cherry and plum trees. Well fenced, frame house, well finished and painted; wooden barn, etc. Price, $600—which is half the cost of the improvements.

ISAAS. H. HEALEY,
July 15, 1875. Advance, Mich.

G. B. MILLS,

DEALER IN

Gen'l Merchandise,

Boyne Falls, Mich.,

Located adjacent to railroad, and careful attention is paid to the wants of customers.

Cash Paid for Country Produce

People in the vicinity of the railroad and the head of Pine Lake, can man make it for their interests to call and examine goods and prices. 41ly

May 11, 1875.

NORWOOD.

F. J. MEECH & Co.

NORWOOD, MICH.,

DEALERS IN

DRY GOODS,

Groceries and Provisions,

Also Manufacturers of

HARDWOOD LUMBER,

Lath and Shingles.

THE SENTINEL

JOB PRINTING

DEPARTMENT

COMPLETE

PLAIN and COLORED WORK

Promptly and Neatly Done

NOTICE. U. S. LAND OFFICE,
Traverse City, Mich., July 6, 1875.
Complaint having been entered at this office by James Lewis against Joseph Stackus for abandoning his Homestead Entry No. 5373, dated Nov. 16, 1875, upon the N. ½ of S. W. ¼ section 28, Township 32 N., Range 6 West, Michigan, with a view to the cancellation of said entry; the said parties are hereby summoned to appear at this office on the 23d day of Sept., 1875, at 1 o'clock p. m., to respond and furnish testimony concerning said alleged abandonment.
12 SETH C. MOFFATT, Register.
PERRY HANNAH, Receiver.

NOTICE. U. S. LAND OFFICE,
Traverse City, Mich., July 15, 1875.
Complaint having been entered at this Office by Mary Morrison against James Morrison, for abandoning his Homestead Entry No. 4385, dated May. 10, 1871, upon the N. E. fract. ¼ of Section 14, Township 31 North, Range 6 West, with a view to the cancellation of said entry; the said parties are hereby summoned to appear at this office on the 21th day of Nov. 1875, at 10 o'clock A. M., to respond and furnish testimony concerning said alleged abandonment.
SETH C. MOFFATT, Register.
20 PERRY HANNAH, Receiver.

Wonderful Success

Three years ago Dr. Boschee's German Syrup was introduced in the United States from Germany for the cure of coughs, severe colds settled on the lungs, Consumption and Liver T and Lungs. No medicine ever had such a success. 200,000 sample bottles have been distributed every year for three years by druggists in all parts of the United states, and nearly 100 letters from druggists are now on our files saying that no other preparation in their stores sells as well and gives such excellent satisfaction. All we ask is for you to go to your druggist H. W. Crouter, and get a sample bottle for 10 cents and try it. Regular size 75 cents.

NEW MILLINERY AND

Dress - Making ESTABLISHMENT.

Fancy Goods, such as Canvas, Zephyrs, Tidies, Tidy-holders, Parasols, Kid Gloves, etc. Also Cashmere for Sacques, Dresses and Cloaks fitted and made in the latest fashions.

Charges Reasonable.

Rooms in Harry Newman's bakery building

MRS. A. M. SACKETT.

Charlevoix, June 17, 1875. 5ply

DRUGS and MEDICINES

DR. LEWIS

Tenders his thanks to the inhabitants of Charlevoix and vicinity for past patronage and solicits a continuance of the same. He has

JUST RECEIVED

A large stock of medicines, such as

Fluid Extracts,
Tinctures,
Essences
Oils of all kinds,
Gums,
Perfumery, etc

PATENT MEDICINES.

A large stock, such as Ayres, Jays Sconille's, Osterman's Bla ckman's Sage's Herrick's.

A Full Supply of Dye Stuffs.

All goods sold as cheap, as by any house north of Grand Rapids.

I Keep What I Advertis

FOX, ROSE & BUTTARS
Charlevoix.

THE SUMMER OF 1875

LOWER! LOWER!

Go the Prices!

WE CAN AND WILL

SELL CHEAPER

Than any other House in Charlevoix,

Our Neighbors

Are Cutting Down on Certain Articles; We cut down on

Everything!

If You Don't Believe It,

COME AND SEE

For Yourselves.

YARD WIDTH COTTON FOR 10cr

TEA--3 Pounds for $1.

SUIT of Coths for $8.

The Best Goods,

Regardless of Profit,

Are Always Kept.

FOX, ROSE & BUTTARS

From Petoskey.

EDITOR SENTINEL:—

By request of many parties that a certain prosecution occurring some days ago at this place, should be published, I send you the following:

The machinations, charms and influence of a certain questionable woman in town so worked upon one of our business men as to create a disturbance in his family, and a dislike for his wife, which engendered a feeling on his part to frame some excuse to charge his wife with assenting to and attempting to rid herself of the prospect of an increase of family. (However, nothing was accomplished, and nature was allowed to take its course unmanned.)

Consequently some one had to be charged. An innocent female friend of the wife was charged with administering the necessary drugs and instruments. About the first of April last, therefore, a criminal prosecution was commenced before one of our Justices, whom the people believe was unduly influenced by the designing husband, who also enlisted in his interests the services of C. R. Ford, the Prosecuting—or, rather, the persecuting) Attorney, to accomplish his ends to hold the accused party to bail, regardless of the testimony or prospects of conviction, in order to establish an influence in his favor. But it had a contrary effect.

On the 4th the cause was concluded. The prosecution relied wholly and unsupported upon the testimony of one witness —this questionable woman, and co-worker with the husband. The testimony was wholly refuted by the unimpeachable testimony of the wife and one other reliable witness, besides the candid and reliable statement of the accused, and the charge proved groundless and malicious.

Notwithstanding, the court, urged by C. R. Ford, disregarding every sense of justice or the interests of the people, and without the least prospect of conviction, held the accused to answer to the Circuit Court, doing great injustice, besides involving the county in great expense without the least probable cause.

The people are highly indignant. A large number of the ladies of the place were in favor of administering such judgment to the perjured miscreant as the nature of the case would require, but it is thought best to trust to the operation of legal justice.

Of the Prosecuting Attorney, who received his education in Jackson, we can expect little else than malicious prosecution, undue influence, bribery and corruption.

As to the Justice, in whom the people have reposed the sacred trust of administering the laws justly, to be influenced to this great injustice to the rights of individuals without reasonable discretion of law, is a contemptible recreancy of that trust, and should and does meet the condemnation of every honest man and woman in the community.

The husband—prosecutor and malicious designer—discovering the sentiment of the people, who condemned his acts, feels heartily ashamed, and absented himself for some days. He certainly should be ashamed and self-condemned for bringing his family in such a disagreeable manner before the public.

The persecuted lady, whose character stands above reproach, feeling the persecution sensitively, was overtaken by a dangerous illness. She has the sympathy of nearly every man and woman in the community, who believe her entirely innocent and the victim of contemptible and criminal design. Steps will be taken to bring the perpetrators of this infamous scheme to justice. When men entrusted with power become recreant to the trust reposed in them, disregard their duty, and become corrupt, or subject to be corrupted, they become dangerous to society and the rights of individuals, and some means should be adopted to depose them from the trust which they are no longer worthy to hold; and a law should be enacted allowing the people the same means to unmake that they have to create.

J. R. D.

Petoskey, Sept. 18 1875.

THE SENTINEL.

CHARLEVOIX, MICH.

WILLARD A. SMITH,
EDITOR AND PROPRIETOR.

TUESDAY, - - SEPT 21 1875

Grand Traverse Union Teachers Association.

FRIDAY A.M. Sept. 10, 1875.

In response to the call of the Executive Committee the teachers of the Grand Traverse Association met for its third session at Sherman, beginning the exercises at eleven a. m. In the absence of President Ladd, of Old Mission, Vice President Morrell presided. After a few preliminary remarks stating the necessity of each teacher contributing to the interest of the Institute, a programme was hastily formed by the co-operation of the teachers present, and said programme read by the chairman. Four new names joined the Association at the close of the morning session. Adjournment was then made till 1:30. Resumed session at 1:30, Vice President Morrel in the chair. After opening remarks Mr. Smithers was called upon who addressed the Association upon the subject of "Legal Relation of Teacher and Pupil." The subject was well set forth for fifteen or twenty minutes, and afterward dismissed with point and fervor by Prof. Roberts, Mr. Ferguson and others. Interesting remarks were also offered on this subject by Mr. Moore and and Mr Sturtevant, illustrating the duty of teachers to look upon absent pupils, communicate with parents, etc., etc. The duty also of teachers to protect all pupils from abuse by other pupils in their journeys to and from school was presented by Mr. Morrel. The subject of the rights of teachers in controling pupils was warmly discussed by different members, and a diversity of opinion expressed. The chairman then called upon Mr. Pettit, who taking the stand, proceeded to illustrate his idea of the best way of teaching grammar by calling scales of teachers to the recitation seat and explaining his method, calling upon different teachers to answer questions and expaining as to each question. His illustrations were clear and well timed. After the class was excused the subject of grammar was discussed at large, different views being freely brought forth and sustained. A short recess followed, improved by the teachers in cultivating the social element. Called to order by chairman. On motion a committe of three was appointed to nominate officers for the next term or session. After a short absence the following names were presented:

President—A. H. Kennedy.

Vice Presidents—T. B. Pettitt, Benzie Co; Theodore Parmelee Leelanau Co. A. H. Upright, Charlevoix Co; P. D. Safford, Antrim Co; L. Roberts, Grand Traverse Co; J. A. Morrel, Wexford Co;

Rec. Secretary—Miss Lizzie Kellogg.

Cor. Secretary—Miss Lucy Coates.

Treasurer—Mrs. L. Roberts.

On motion the report of the committee was received and was followed by the election of those named. It was also proposed and carried that the next session occur the coming winter, place of meeting to be determined on by officers. A meeting of Executive Committee was called at the end of the afternoon session to construct a programme for the closing session of the Institute. Association then adjourned till 7½ p. m. Thirty were present at the afternoon session. Prizes awarding list at 7:30 pursuant to adjournment. After being called to order a song was sung with enthusiasm, after which Prof. Kennedy took the stand and discoursed on the subject of "Mensuration of Surfaces." His illustrations were ample and abundant and earnestly and stirringly set forth. The manner of producing surfaces and solids was explained. The manner also of finding the area of a triangle was happily explained by means of a triangular block and illustrations upon the black-board, and the way in which a teacher may make the subject plain to his pupils well put forth. The parallelogram, cylinder and cone were next touched upon in a clear manner and the necessity of thorough explanation to the pupil of the manner in which these things are produced made clearly apparent. Solids were again touched upon in different bearings. The manner of obtaining the solid contents of a sphere, in particular, was explained and illustrated so that any one could understand and remember it, and a subject that is by many considered abstract and uninteresting was shown by the Professor pleasing and forceful exercise, and excellent appliances for illustration to be replete with interest and abounding in light. After a short recess a class drill in reading was conducted by Prof. Roberts and entered into with interest and enthusiasm by the teachers. Defects in position and delivery were carefully noted by the Professor and his manner of conducting the exercises showed his appreciation of reading as a fine art, and his ability to lead the pupil to grasp this much neglected branch with the spirit and the understanding. The subject was further discussed by others in an interesting manner. The programme for the closing session of the Institute was then read by the chairman and the meeting (in number about fifty) adjourned with the feeling that a successful and pleasurable evening had been spent.

Saturday morning's session opened at 7:30 a. m. by singing and devotional exercises, conducted by the Rev. Mr. Redeoff. These were followed by an explanation by Prof. Kennedy of the manner of teaching geography and illustrated with the aid of a globe. Several of the teachers by their absence from this exercise missed a practial illustration that might have aided them in giving to their pupils a true and pleasing idea of subjects that are often made to appear abstruse and uninteresting. A discussion upon the subject of geography and its setting forth followed, from which practical ideas could be obtained. This subject being ended an essay was read by J. S. Walling; subject, "Monday's school days." It was received with interest by the teachers, and its occasional touches of merriment were refreshing. The subject of "Old time school days" was further continued in a conversational manner by Mr. Sturtevant and others. After a recess of ten minutes the subject of School government was set forth at large by Prof. Roberts. The earnest, wholehearted way in which the subject was handled, and especially the keen sympathy with the true heart life of the pupil, which—with no effort from him—was clearly apparent in word and manner, did not fail to touch our hearts, and strengthen the bond which as teachers unites us, causing us to feel that the truest sympathy and mutual helpfulness is most assuredly between us in our effort for success in the true art of teaching, and in reaching our pupils in a way that shall uplift their whole natures, and fit us as teachers, pupils and friends for a lifetime—and also eternity—of moral excellence and uprightness. Remarks were offered by Mr. Morrel and others upon the same and kindred topics, and were of a nature that could not fail to interest one who in any degree has the Teacher's work at heart. A essay was next offered by Dr. Preston on the subject of "Hygiene in Schools." Our thanks are due the Dr. for giving us a subject often ignored in institutes and schools, and one upon which none so well as himself was qualified to speak. A pronouncing exercise was next in programme which was conducted by L. Roberts and awakened much diversity of opinion, and appealing to dictionaries. A short recess followed after which Mr. Morrell, as by appointment, offered some ideas on the "General relation existing between Teacher and Pupil," and though in many of its bearings the subject had already been discussed, new thoughts came to us and earnestness of desire to "set well our part" in the work before us, through the kind, homishy and earnest-ness showing itself so genuinely in our chairman. He showed that our work as teachers is of a far reaching nature and requires the most forceful energies of our souls, and undertaken in this manner, and seeking the assistance of One higher than ourselves it will not be unblessed by Him. The "Query-box," a fit receptacle of celluloid form, brought forth no discussions.

Another accession of five to our membership. As teachers we have been brought nearer together and our work clothed with new light and beauty by this association together.

LIZZIE KELLOGG.
Rec. Secretary.

Pensioners.

A Washington correspondent states that the Commissioner of Pensions, in his annual report, will recommend Congress to abolish the present system of medical examination of pensioners, and establish districts to which competent surgeons with prescribed salaries may be assigned from time to time. Examiners are now paid a fixed sum for each examination of made. Those examined are, in the majority of cases, the neighbors and friends of the examiners, and frequently additions are made to the pension rolls through feelings of friendship and sympathy. There are now on the rolls nearly two hundred and forty thousand pensioners. There are eighty thousand applications for pensions not acted upon, and nearly one hundred and seventy thousand certificates of disability on file upon which whom future applications may be based.

NOTICE—

U. S. LAND OFFICE,
Traverse City, Mich., July 24, 1875.

Complaint having been entered at this Office by Stephen L. Hicks, against Joseph Freund, for abandoning his Homestead Entry No. 4305, dated Nov. 11, 1874, upon Lots 4, 5 & 6, Section 18, Township 33 N. R. 7 West, with a view to the cancellation of said entry; the said parties are hereby summoned to appear at this office on the 6th day of October 1875, at 1 o'clock P. M. to respond and furnish testimony concerning said alleged abandonment.

SETH C. MOFFATT, Register.
14 PERRY HANNAH, Receiver.

"SHTOP A LEETLE!"

Spring Harbor,

HEAD OF PINE LAKE.

The Secret of Wonderful Growth and Success.

Way up in the north is a very smart town,
In the country all over it is gaining renown,
It's in Charlevoix county and Spring Harbor Town.

The soil is so rich if you plant a small seed,
To grow a big yield it never will fail
It surely is so for the people all say
That sell is a credit the very next day—
In Charlevoix county and Spring Harbor Town.

There are the merchants who're up to their trade,
Well sell you fine goods before they are made—
In Charlevoix county and Spring Harbor Town.

They'd not stoop so low as to tell you smutt lies,
But their secret of trade is they sell an exercise
And their efforts are crowned by millions of wealth,
While they all do enjoy the most perfect health,
In Charlevoix county and Spring Harbor Town.

Then there are the doctors they'll cure you of ills,
With syrups and drugs and various pills—
In Charlevoix county and Spring Harbor Town.

If they on you once make a professional call,
Again in your life you'll be ill not at all,
If they call once or twice you'll then feel as clever,
You'll not die at all, but live on forever—
In Charlevoix county and Spring Harbor Town

is there is the "Journal" the sheet of the age,
To give all the news it doth always engage
In Charlevoix county and Spring Harbor Town.
And the editor knows his business so well,
Believe what I say, for the truth I do tell
If a man is murdered not left in his gore,
It will give you the news two or three days before.
In Charlevoix county and Spring Harbor Town.

Now I suppose you'll be glad to all know,
How strangely it happens there to be so—
In Charlevoix county and Spring Harbor Town.
When the council do give, you all will confess,
The secret that leads to perfect success
They get their goods cheaper than ever before,
For they buy all they use at Nichols's store.

YOU'RE CRAZY

TO PAY SUCH TERRIBLE PRICES FOR GOODS, WHEN BY CALLING AT THE

"REGULATOR"

You can purchase them at wad THIRTY PER CENT. less than at any other place in this part of Charlevoix County. That is what we say at the "REGULATOR" We have lots of

NEW GOODS,

And more coming daily. We have Boots and Shoes for men; We have all kinds of Shoes for Ladies; we have Boots and shoes and all kinds of more things for the little ones. We have all kinds of DRESS GOODS; we have all kinds of CLOTH to make clothes for the men and boys. We have

PORK AND FLOUR,

And all kinds of Groceries such as

SUGARS.
TEAS,
COFFEES
SPICES.
OILS.

WE ALSO HAVE A LARGE ASSORTMENT OF

Farming Implements,

SUCH AS PLOWS, SHOVEL PLOWS, SCYTHES, SNATHS RAKES, FORKS, HOES, CULTIVATORS AND DRAGS. ALSO AN ASSORTMENT OF

TINWARE.

So if you'll buy cheaper than ever before, go to NICHOLS' Store, on Pine Lake shore, where the water doth roar, and old people, and more, say, that never before, in the country all over, did they see people pour into the door of a store, where they buy lots of goods and then buy some more; for they say he sells lower by thirty per cent or perhaps more, than ever before, at any man's store; so after reading this o'er, if still you'd know more, Tommie will

TURN THE CRANK TO THE MACHIN

And tell you if you wish to astonish yourself with low prices, that you must go to 999999 Gold Dust Avenue, nearly opposite to the Record National Bank, and directly opposite to the Metropolitan Hotel, Spring Harbor.

TRUY YOURS:

T. W. NICHOLS.

Carpenter & Bartholomew

Cheap Cash Store is just the Place to Buy Your Goods!

CARPENTER & BARTHOLOMEW'S

Standard Goods and Bottom Prices is their Motto.

South End of Bridge Street.
Charlevoix, Mich.

MEDICAL

HALL,

CHARLEVOIX,

JUST THE PLACE TO BUY

DRUGS

And Dye Stuffs,

JUST THE PLACE TO BUY

Patent Medicines

JUST THE PLACE TO BUY

Stationery, Ink and Pens.
And Pocket Inkstand.

JUST THE PLACE TO BUY

Perfumes and Hair Oils
Flavoring Extracts, and Toilet Goods.

THE PLACE TO BUY

The Self-Adjusting Truss

JUST THE PLACE TO GET

Prescriptions Compounded

At all hours—night or day.

IN FACT, just the place to get anything you want in the Drugg line.

Cheap for Cash.

Now store opposite Stockman's Hardware Store.

GEO. W. CROUTER.
Druggist and Chemist.

Hemlock Bark!

The undersigned, owners of the schooner "E. M Stanley," would inform the people of Pine Lake and vicinity they are prepared to

Contract for Any Amount

Of Hemlock Bark to be delivered on the beach of Round or Pine Lakes or South Arm. The firms of Fox, Rose & Buttars, Carpenter & Bartholomew, and Byron See, are our authorized agents, with whom contracts can be made, or with Dr. Weakopf, of the firm of

CAPT. P. JOHNSON & CO.
Charlevoix, May 1, 1875.

N. B.—Samuel Holland, of Eveline, is also our authorized agent.

Read This.

The following instructive dialogue was overheard the other day:

Brown—Say, Jones, you seem to have been issuing lots of groceries; where do you trade, Jones?

Jones—Why, I bought at

BYRON SEE'S

Grocery and Provision Store in Charlevoix It is a good place to trade.

Brown—Is that so? Can others do as well there as you can? Do you know you are shooting a trade?

Jones—O, yes, of course you can. He sells all alike. He gives as nimble shillings and I chose to draw from the prices he sells at.

THE STANCH PROPELLER

1875. 1875.

A. C. Van Raalte

Capt. Alvin Dodge.

Will run during the season of 1875, as follows, between

Petoskey & Traverse City:

Will leave Petoskey at 6 o'clock a. m. on

Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays,

Arriving at Traverse City at 7 o'clock the same evening. Will leave Traverse City at 6 o'clock a. m. on

Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays, arriving at Petoskey the same evening touching at all towns on Lake Michigan and Grand Traverse Bay, both ways.

G. B. MILLS,

DEALER IN

Gen'l Merchandise,

Boyne Falls, Mich.,

Located adjacent to railroad, and careful attention is paid to the wants of customers.

Cash Paid for Country Produce

People in the vicinity of the railroad and the head of Pine Lake, can man make it for their interests to call and examine goods and prices.
May 13, 1875. 4tly

From Petoskey.

EDITOR SENTINEL:—

By request of many parties that a certain prosecution occurring some days ago at this place, should be published, I send you the following:

The machinations, charms and influence of a certain questionable woman in town so worked upon one of our business men as to create a disturbance in his family, and a dislike for his wife, which engendered a feeling on his part to frame some excuse to charge his wife with assenting to and attempting to rid herself of the prospect of an increase of family. (However, nothing was accomplished, and nature was allowed to take its course unhammered.)

Consequently some one had to be charged. An innocent female friend of the wife was charged with administering the necessary drugs and instruments. About the first of April last, therefore, a criminal prosecution was commenced before one of our Justices, whom the people believe was unduly influenced by the designing husband, who also enlisted in his interests the services of C. R. Ford, the Prosecuting—or, rather, the persecuting Attorney, to accomplish his ends to hold the accused party to bail, regardless of the testimony or prospects of conviction, in order to establish an influence in his favor. But it had a contrary effect.

On the 4th the cause was concluded. The prosecution relied wholly and unsupported upon the testimony of one witness—this questionable woman, and co-worker with the husband. The testimony was wholly refuted by the unimpeachable testimony of the wife and one other reliable witness, besides the candid and reliable statement of the accused, and the charge proved groundless and malicious.

Notwithstanding the court, urged by C. R. Ford, disregarding every sense of justice or the interests of the people, and without the least prospect of conviction, held the accused to answer to the Circuit Court, doing great injustice, besides involving the county in great expense without the least probable cause.

The people are highly indignant. A large number of the ladies of the place were in favor of administering such judgment to the perjured miscreant as the nature of the case would require, but it is thot best best to trust to the operation of legal justice.

Of the Prosecuting Attorney, who received his education in Jackson, we can expect little else than malicious prosecution, undue influence, bribery and corruption.

As to the Justice, in whom the people have reposed the sacred trust of administering the laws justly, to be influenced to do a great injustice to the rights of individuals without reasonable discretion of law, is a contemptible recreancy of that trust, and should and does meet the condemnation of every honest man and woman in the community.

The husband—prosecutor and malicious designer—discovering the sentiment of the people, who condemned his acts, feels heartily ashamed, and absented himself for some days. He certainly should be ashamed and self-condemned for bringing his family in such a disagreeable manner before the public.

The persecuted lady, whose character stands above reproach, feeling the persecution most sensitively, was overtaken by a dangerous illness. She has the sympathy of nearly every man and woman in the community, who believe her entirely innocent and the victim of contemptible and criminal design. Steps will be taken to bring the perpetrators of this malicious scheme to justice. When men entrusted with power become recreant to the trust reposed in them, disregard their duty, and become corrupt, or subject to be corrupted, they become dangerous to society and the rights of individuals, and some means should be adopted to depose them from the trust which they are no longer worthy to hold; and a law should be enacted allowing the people the same means to unmake that they have to create.

J. R. D.

Petoskey, Sept. 15, 1875.

FARM FOR SALE.

The subscriber offers for sale his farm in South Arm Township in this county, containing 80 acres, thirty acres cleared and five acres fallow; short distance from grist and saw mills; orchard of 80 apple trees, and forty cherry and plum trees. Well fenced; frame house, well finished and painted outside; log house also. Prices and terms to suit the cost of the improvements.

CHAS. H. HEALEY,
July 13, 1875. Advance, Mich.

G. B. MILLS,

DEALER IN

Gen'l Merchandise,

Boyne Falls, Mich.,

Located adjacent to railroad, and careful attention is paid to the wants of customers.

Cash Paid for Country Produce

People in the vicinity of the railroad and the head of Pine Lake, can man make it for their interests to call and examine goods and prices.
May 13, 1875. 4tly

1875. 1875.

Spring and Summer

Fox, Rose & Buttars.

PETOSKEY:

Headquarters to Buy

DRY GOODS,

GROCERIES & PROVISION
BOOTS and SHOES,
TIN and HARDWARE,
STOVES, STOVEPIPE
CROCKERY & GLASSWARE,
TRUNKS, Traveling Bags,
FURNITUR

We alwto keep good goods and sell at ou est Cash Prices. Strangers arriving in town soon find their way to our store; people living who as know how thy themselve

Largest Stock! Lowest Prices

Careful Attention to Orders.

Fox, Rose & Buttars

J. E. Greilick & Co.,

TRAVERSE CITY, MICH.,

Manufacturers of, and Dealers in

Sash & Doors,

BLINDS, MOULDINGS, BRACKETS.

STORE FRONTS

Stair Railing Ballusters and Newell Post A large assortment of glazed and unglazed Sash, all sizes of doors.

SEASONED

Clear Lumber, Dressed Flooring, Ceiling Siding and Pickets constantly on hand for the general trade. Orders by Boat will be promptly attended to.

REAL ESTATE AGENCY

—OF—

H. L. MILLER,

CHARLEVOIX, MICH.

Transfers made, non-resident taxes paid and all real estate business attended to promptly and on reasonable terms.

The following descriptions are offered for sale at special bargains.

EMMET COUNTY.

E. ½ of S. ½ section 20, T. 37 N., R. 6, west containing 80 acres.

W. ½ of S. ½ sec. 7, T. 34 N. R. 6 west. Containing 80 acres. Maple and beech.

N. ½ of section 23 Town 37 N., R. 6 W.

S. ½ of west section 2, Town 35, N., R. 6 W.

Timber, maple and beech, elm, hemlock, basswood and ash.

CHARLEVOIX COUNTY.

The old Brady Farm, at Harnard P. O., on the State Road, ¼ miles from Charlevoix, S. ½ of S. W. ¼ sec. 16, T. 33 N. R. 8 west, 80 acres, 35 acres improved; 50 fruit trees bearing; 12 acres in meadow; good double log house, barn, good well, and other conveniences. All inclosed with a first-rate fence. For terms address this agency, or St. Amelie, Charlevoix.

John Reid's farm, in Marion Township. One good frame house, 16x22, good cellar the full size of the house; frame barn 20x34; and a good cow-shed; 25 acres chopped, and 15 of it in meadow; the best of soil; timber, maple, beech, elm, hemlock, cedar and black ash; good brook running through the farm, and three living springs. W. ½ of S. W. ¼ of section 34, Town 34 North, of Range 8 West.

E. ½ of the N. W. ¼ of section 34, Town 34 North, of Range 8 West. Good log house. Terms made easy.

[4tly]

THE SENTINEL

JOB PRINTING

DEPARTMENT

COMPLETE

PLAIN and COLORED WORK

Promptly and Neatly Done

NOTICE. U. S. Land Office,
Traverse City, Mich., July 6, 1875.

Complaint having been entered at this office by James Lewis against Joseph Westkus for abandoning his Homestead Entry No. 5212, dated Nov. 16, 1872, upon the N. ½ of S. W. ¼ section 22, Township 32 N., Range 8 West, Michigan, with a view to the cancellation of said entry; the said parties are hereby summoned to appear at this office on the 23d day of Sept., 1875, at 1 o'clock p. m., to respond and furnish testimony concerning said alleged abandonment.

12 SETH C. MOFFATT, Register.
PERRY HANNAH, Receiver.

NOTICE.

U. S. LAND OFFICE,
Traverse City, Mich., July 13, 1875.

Complaint having been entered at this Office by Mary Morrison against James Morrison, for abandoning his Homestead Entry No. 4085, dated May, 10, 1871, upon the N. E. Fract'l ¼ of Section 14, Township 33 North, Range 8 West, with a view to the cancellation of said entry; the said parties are hereby summoned to appear at this office on the 30th day of Nov. 1875, at 10 o'clock A. M., to respond and furnish testimony concerning said alleged abandonment.

SETH C. MOFFATT, Register.
20 PERRY HANNAH, Receiver.

NORWOOD.

F. J. MEECH & Co.

NORWOOD, MICH.,

DEALERS IN

DRY GOODS,

Groceries and Provisions,

Also Manufacturers of

HARDWOOD LUMBER,

Lath and Shingles.

Wonderful Success

Three years ago Dr. Boschee's German Syrup was introduced in the United States from Germany for the cure of coughs, severe colds settled on the breast, Consumption and acute T and Lungs. No medicine ever had such a success. 300,000 sample bottles have been distributed every year for three years by Druggists in all parts of the United States, and nearly 1000 letters from Druggists are now on our files saying that no other preparation in their stores sells as well nor gives such excellent satisfaction. All we ask is for you to go to your Druggist G. W. CROUTER, and get a sample bottle for 10 cents and try it. Regular size 75 cents.

NEW

MILLINERY AND

Dress - Making

ESTABLISHMENT.

Fancy Goods, such as Canvas, Zephyrs, Tidies, Tidy patterns, Parasols, Kid Gloves, etc. Also Cashmere for Sacques. Dresses and Cloaks fitted and models the latest fashions.

Charges Reasonable.

Rooms in Harry Newman's bakery building

MRS. A. M. SACKETT.
Charlevoix, June 17, 1875. 3mly

DRUGS and MEDICINES

DR. LEWIS

Tenders his thanks to the inhabitants of Charlevoix and vicinity for past patronage and solicits a continuance of the same. He has

JUST RECEIVED

A large stock of medicines, such as

Fluid Extracts,
Tinctures,
Escences
Oils of all kinds,
Gums,
Perfumery, etc

PATENT MEDICINES.

A large stock, such as Ayres, Jayn Sconille's, Peterman's Bitters and S. Sage's Herrick's.

A Full Supply of Dye Stuffs.

All goods sold as cheap, or by any house north of Grand Rapids.

I Keep What I Advertis

FOX, ROSE & BUTTARS
Charlevoix.

THE SUMMER OF 1875

LOWER! LOWER!

Go the Prices!

WE CAN AND WILL

SELL CHEAPER

Than any other House in Charlevoix,

Our Neighbors

Are Cutting Down on Certain Articles; We cut down on

Everything!

If You Don't Believe It,

COME AND SEE

For Yourselves.

YARD WIDTH COTTON FOR 10cts

TEA--3 Pounds for $1.

SUIT of Coths for $8.

The Best Goods,

Regardless of Profit,

Are Always Kept.

FOX, ROSE & BUTTARS

ITEMS OF INTEREST.

An Jose of San Luis, Cal., cut off his queue, and the natives ordered him up to a hoffice forthwith.

How to turn a riding coat into a walking one—hang it up in the passage, taking good care to leave the street door open.

It is now in order for some newspaper to come forward and proffer a whiter which will freeze the heels off a lawn ornament.

No nation has any more right to leave the "e" off of "envelope" than to leave the same off of "take" or "like."—Detroit Free Press.

VENICE, the beautiful Venice, is not only romantic, but late visitors say that there is smells worse than the Chicago River in its best days.

DR. GEE, Editors, printers and others chipped in $68 a quarter to Greeley, and the man rose. But where is the money? Who took charge of it?

Rhode Island currently knows the cockstand, Budd, who is soon to be branded on the cheek for a fiendish assault on a little girl. It is said the parents would have pardoned him, and the girl marry, but Rhode Island don't fling its turf and cultivated him as long as he wished.

KRUPP, the German cannon-founder, has refused to sell the Irish Government one of his big guns. In reply to a request for one, he said he was "willing to contribute to the arming of as many Irish and Irish as England wanted, but those on shore, and he must decline to part with specimens for experimental purposes."

It is proposed in France that the right to take, either at one time or over a period of irrigation should be granted to the inhabitants of agricultural districts in the same manner as it is now granted to the inhabitants of cities and towns who require water for drinking or household purposes. The owners of the land are to be indemnified as what their property is required for any other public use.

The Forestville correspondent of the Buffalo Express relates this incident: "J. C. Moore was married to Miss Grace Ann Crowell, of Hamburg, this morning, and about noon the couple drove to the railway station to start on their wedding tour to New York. While unloading trunks the team became frightened and ran away, throwing the lady out of the wagon. In falling her head struck a post in front of Parsons & House's store, opposite the depot, and she was so seriously injured that she only lived fifteen minutes. She was sixty-two years old."

THE Lowell (Mass.) Courier says that a few evenings since "a lady called into a store in that city and asked in an excited manner to see some revolvers. A second hand one was offered her for $4, and on purchasing it she expressed a desire to have it loaded. The revolver was loaded—with blank cartridges, unknown to her—and she made a hasty departure for home. The next morning her husband came to the store and offered the revolver for sale. The storekeeper offered him $2.75 for it and the offer was accepted. The husband said that the wife fired the revolver at him, and on finding that he escaped unharmed regretted her attempt at his life, and the result was the disposal of the revolver.

WALLACE MESSENGER, aged nine, living with his parents at Hulsfon Point, about four miles from Paterson, N. J., was shot and instantly killed by his brother Orland, the other evening. The boys had been working on the grounds surrounding their residence and had gone upstairs, to their room, to change their clothing. In a closet in the room were two shot-guns, on seeing which the boys said: "Let's play soldiers." The younger took a double-barrel gun, which he had across his bed. The elder boy raised his weapon, at which a barrel ran out thinking it was loaded, and it went off, the muzzle being only three feet from the other lad. The young victim's head was shot completely off, only a few scraps of scalp remaining attached to the spine. The lead was shot entered the ceiling and walls of the room.

Sayings by Josh Billings.

A man pay outlive his capacity to do good, but he kan outlive his use.

Most all speshlthrifts are avaricious creeturs; they waste their substance on themselves.

One thing, dear, don't leave to poor an opinion of yourself. The world duzzent agree to pay the dividend unless it knows what it is.

Whare a man is content he is rich enuff.

Whare a bis cuss is, you will find a fool.

Whare are anxious to injure a woman, talk about her; she will sumtimes run away unbidden about him.

It is hard work for a man to keep up what he has honestly got, wealth or honor, for it often taketh to keep what it takes to get.

Money is almost always a great bother, between the desire to get more and the fear of losing what we have got soon ar keep us the time in boiling hot water.

It duz pay to advertise my sons, and will pay for all the rest of the world. Without advertisin' the world would not know that Adam was the first man, and Eve the first woman, and that Cain killed Abel, and that Noah was the first man that ever got tite on a little too much wine.

All speshlties in the sole line, except Corns, is temporary ones at the best. Without much doubt the first corn ever had was a great deal larger in the amount of pennises you will get.

Another theory of life that I have studied the advancement of mankind. If we were satisfied with the simple necessities of life, we should be happy as all of the lowering animal her kinded, and here feasted as the patriarchs of old did, eating a jug, and not as all sad sons to find one.

To think is the great business of life, and to think right and then act is the consummation.

The lazy have leasure, the lazy never do.

Wealth

Wealth will cover a multitude of sins, but cleanliness will cover all there cost.

There is no sure cure for laziness, star vation comes the nearest to it.

When I was young I knew twice as much as I do now, and the way I use getting on, if I should live to be seventy-five, I don't expect to know anything.

When you are able to thoroughly indorse yourself there is time enough to seek the good opinion of others.

We notice that almost every great result has had a small beginning.

If a man abuses you, the first best thing you can do is to forgive him; and the second best thing you can do is to forget him.

A live man is like a muddle sixpence; though he may wear thin he keeps bright and is worth his face to the last.

Honesty is like 7 per cent. interest; it will bear all kinds of speculations in the long run.

A flatterer is either a fool or a knave, and I guess he is generally a mixture of both.

Patience is of more consequence to a schoolmaster than intellect. No man is fit for a schoolmaster who cannot look upon mosquitoes as a blessing.—N. Y. Weekly.

Seleuce as a Power in the World.

THE elementary principles and more conspicuous facts of chemistry are so intimately associated with the experience of mankind in the every-day affairs of life, and applications in the useful arts, that no man at the present day can be regarded as educated who is ignorant of them. Not to know why the fire burns, or how the sulphur trade affects the industries of the world, will be regarded by the generation of men among whom your pupils will have to win their places in society as a greater mark of ignorance than a false quantity in Latin prosody or a solecism in grammar. Moreover, I need not tell you that physical science has become a great power in the world. Indeed, after religion, it is the greatest power of our modern civilization. Consider how much it has accomplished during the last century toward increasing the comforts and enlarging the intellectual vision of mankind. The railroad, the steamship, the electric telegraph, photography, gas lights, petroleum oils, coal tar colors, chlorine bleaching, anæsthesia, are a few of its recent material gifts to the world; and not only has it made one pair of hands do the work of twenty, but it has improved and facilitated the old industries that what were luxuries to the fathers of our Republic have become necessities to our generation. And when, passing from these material fruits, you consider the purely intellectual triumphs of physical science, such as those which have been gained with the telescope, the microscope and the spectroscope, you cannot wonder at the storm in which some branches of study are held in the practical stir of the world.—Prof. J. P. Cook, in Popular Science.

A Story of the Sheriff.

A WELL-TRAINED hotel-clerk, who knows his duty rightly, considers that the accepted guest in the hotel is as much in his own castle as in his own house, and will not permit him to be knowingly disturbed by unpleasant or unauthorized intruders. This, sometimes, is of service and prevents disagreeable consequences, as will be seen in the history here about to be given, the scene of which was at the Tremont House in Boston several years ago, and one of the actors therein a well-known merchant of Boston, who, over the nom de plume of "Acorn," used to furnish some of the liveliest sketches of humor and sharpest of dissimilar attributes to the old New York Spirit of the Times, whom we shall designate as Jim Pines, the other, a well-known business man of our sister city of Portland, whom, for convenience sake, we will call Short, inasmuch as he was short when one of the actors in the scene we are about to recount.

It chanced, one fine evening, that a stranger entered the Tremont and, addressing himself to the "gentlemanly clerk," inquired if Mr Short, of Portland, was stopping at the house.

"He is," said the clerk, referring to the register.

"Well, I want to see him, show me up to his room, if you please."

"I cannot send your card I will see if he is at home," replied the clerk.

The visitor protested and said, which was insulted to a bullday, whom he was about to follow up suits, when he was restrained by the clerk.

"Be kind enough to wait till we see if Mr Short is in and will see you."

The stranger replied with a smile that Mr Short would see the gentleman in the morrow morning."

"Where is his room?" said the visitor. "I'll go right up myself."

"Excuse me, sir. Mr Short has already sent word that he does not wish to see you till to-morrow, and I cannot permit him to be disturbed."

"Well, sir, I think I shall go up if you will give me the number of his room, for I'm no sheriff and intend to arrest him."

At these words Jim Pines, who was sitting in a little room behind the key-board, broke in, but heard only the last sentence, and who is always ready to aid a man in distress or trouble, knowing this to be such a case of the straight arrest to frame, coaxed and remarked that "he was going to see if his supper was ready," and, slipping through the sliding door, was in his room, he took from thence an old pair of boots and went to Short's room, where he was received admitted.

"Take your valise and duds, old boy, and come along with me."

"What's up, Jim?" asked Short.

"Not much, but the Sheriff will soon be on some along."

The pair left the room, locked it behind them, and Pines dropped the old pair of boots outside the door, after which they passed over to another wing of the hotel, to Pines' room, where Short was left, and the former descended, where he found the hotel-clerk still engaged in conversation with the Sheriff.

"I've seen about my supper, and it will be right," said he, as he passed the clerk with a wink.

"I see this room against Mr Shorts name on the register is twenty six, is that where you put him?" asked the Sheriff of the clerk.

"Yes, sir."

"Then I demand to be shown to that room, immediately."

"All right, Mr Sheriff. Boy, show the gentleman No. 26."

The unwelcome visitor was conducted upstairs to the desired room. There it was, sure enough, number on the door, pair of boots sitting outside. The Sheriff looked at his watch. Half past nine.

"Humph! go to bed early." He knocked; no response. Knocked a little louder; still no reply.

The Sheriff looked into the unoccupied rooms on each side and satisfied himself that there was no communication, and then, with a grim smile, took a chair from one of them and sat down beside the door of No. 26.

"Boy," said the officer of the law, "do you want to earn a dollar?"

"Yes, sir," said the waiter, as his eyes sparkled.

"Well, take this note for me," said the officer, as he hastily scribbled one on the back of an old letter, "and bring me an answer and you shall have it."

The waiter was off like a shot, and returned with an answer, which was nothing less than a deputy officer, to whom the other in a whisper explained the situation. "He's in here, and no way of getting out; we can't break in the door; you must watch here till morning, and when he comes out to breakfast arrest him. Boy, there's your dollar."

Thus left, the deputy seated himself comfortably down in his chair, and the door of No. 26 closed off, satisfied that he had trapped his bird.

Next morning, about eight o'clock, he was disturbed by the waiter, who, looking a little red about the eyelids, and there stood the boots, as when he left the night before.

"Any movement, Linx?"

"Not a bit as yet; quiet as a churchyard."

"Ah, sh! thinks to tire us out. Go down and get some breakfast, Linx, and I'll mount guard while you're absent."

The deputy went away, and in half an hour returned, invigorated and refreshed, and resumed his post, which he faithfully held till noon, when his principal again made his appearance on the scene.

"What; not up yet?"

"Not a motion!"

The two men looked at each other doubtingly. At this moment one of the chamber-maids came along, with broom and bunch of keys in hand.

"Get a key that'll open this room!" said the Sheriff.

"Yes, sir," said the maid. Applying it, the door flew open, and the two officers rushed in.

It was empty.

The bed was undressed; a half-smoked cigar and a newspaper of the day before lay upon the table, which were all the traces of it having been occupied.

From force of habit the deputy guarded the door, while his principal looked into the shallow closet, under the bed, out of the window (it was forty feet to the pavement), and had even taken off the blower at the little fireplace, with the vague idea that the man sought might have vanished in some mysterious manner up the chimney, when his eye caught sight of the bell-boy, standing outside the door.

"Say, boy, do you know where Mr Short is, who occupied this room?"

"Why, sir, he said he in Portland," said the boy with a grin, "he left in the seven o'clock train, and it's twelve now."

The Sheriff glanced at his watch. "Yes, last whose boots are these at the door?"

"Those," said the boy, taking them up—"these be Mr James Pines' boots. Here's his name on the lining."

And so it was, and the officers looked as though they'd been in a fix.

Short, by the aid of the servants, had started on the fallow, sheep and the barrow were the main dependence. After the crop was harvested, plowing commenced and the soil was turned up again before it was fairly rotted, the harrow being relied on to cover the partially rotted turf in the plow. Thus followed the third plowing, and soon after the fourth, if the fallow received so many. All this was expensive, although less so than it would be now. Labor was less valuable, but it was considered necessary to form a fine, deep, friable soil for the wheat.

Now, the course approved by our best farmers is to let the grass or clover get its full growth, and then turn it under, or else plow it in, and give the after-crop the benefit of a good growth. Into that under. That grass or clover is left undisturbed by the use of implements until the wheat is harvested and it becomes advisable to plow the land for another crop.

Instead of trying to make the soil meet to the earlier depths of the first plowing, many of our best Kentuckians prefer to have the under three or four inches become somewhat compacted, and, instead of trying to make the upper three or four inches fine and mellow. Some argue that if the latter be kept mellow and if becomes compact underneath, the wheat will bear its full roots near the surface, and in the leasing of the upper crust by frost and the subsidence in the spring will rise and fall with the crust and remain uninjured, whereas if the land is mellow the roots will strike deeper in the fall, and the leavings of the surface will break the roots in twain.

To mellow the surface they depend mainly upon the wheel cultivator, the harrow and in some cases the gang plow. With those implements covering seven inches as much surface as the plow, they can cultivate their fallows until they are mellow enough for the wheat, leaving a dressing of barnyard manure they can do so when the soil is in good filth, and partially mix the manure with the surface by means of the harrow.

If wheat is sown on stubble instead of fallow ground, the stubble is cultivated to follow ground, immediately after harvest, to cover the scattering grain and promote its germination, and then, when the grain has come up and made a little growth, it is turned under to a good depth, and the surface cultivated afterward the same as a summer fallow. We think that this course is pretty well agreed upon among good farmers, and would only be departed from in exceptional cases.

Another principle which we consider settled is the expediency of sowing timothy seed with the wheat in the fall. By so doing you almost insure a good set of the seed, and such a growth of the grass the next summer as to almost smother and crowd out weeds. Harrow it the seed in not sown until spring there is about an even chance of its falling entirely, or if it succeeds it has a desperate struggle with weeds for the possession of the soil. These two things we may then consider settled that land should not be left one deep plowing in the year, and that timothy seed should be sown in the fall; and that is enough for one day.—American Rural Home.

Children's Companions.

"TELL me who are your friends and I will tell what you are," is an old Spanish proverb. This saying should be, if applied to children: "Tell me who are your companions and I will tell you what you will be;" and there can be no better test of the probable future of boy and girl than the character and conduct of their ordinary associates. Children can hardly be said to choose their companions; for they generally grow up such as the circumstances of their position may offer.

There is nothing so characteristic of childhood as the ready fellowship. Solitude is its greatest aversion, and the child will fly to the embraces of the first companion as a refuge from his own wearisome self. Excluded, by any chance, from the society of his fellows, he shows his love of companionship by at once forming imaginary companions of the inanimate objects about him, and surrounding himself, in imagination, with the outward life so needful to his happiness. The very stocks and stones are vivified by his social fancies and he strides a horse of stick and, with a dagger of lath, leads whole troops of imaginary followers to the attack of banditti of trees and lurking robbers of rock. When no longer the sport of his illusions, and he awakens, as he will surely do, to the difference between fancy and reality, his longing for the genuine companionship of substantial flesh and blood becomes so intense that, if refused what it desires, he will suffer all the serious consequences of an unsatisfied natural want. His body will not be more certainly starved by withholding from it its daily food than will his mind and moral nature by depriving them of the natural sustenance supplied by the companionship of those of his own age.

The attempt, so common among overfond and timid parents, to bring up their children at home in a manner by which they are isolated almost entirely from association with others is an experiment full of danger. It is, however, frequently done upon whom less restriction is imposed. It is the single child, upon whom the fondness of parents is so concentrated that they must keep him wholly to themselves, who is the common victim of this pernicious isolation. It is usual to attribute the generally observed physical weakness of such to excessive indulgence, especially of their appetites; but it is not seldom the effect of a system of such companionship, depressing the strength through the sympathetic influence of the mind upon the body, and the youngest children are most susceptible to this sympathy. Pain is commonly suspected. The slow poison with which the Revolutionary invention of France was charged with causing to be administered to the poor child, the son of Louis XVI, was no cunning distillation from the drugs of the chemist, but simply solitude. Deprived by decrees of his parents, his sister attendants, of his toys, books, his good food, of the sight of his pillets and even of himself by the darkening of his prison, he uttered throughout his agony but the one cry: "Always alone!" and died.

Children must have a ball to play on common whenever and wherever they can get them, and since the advancement of cities, especially in the last few years, is so great that the children must travel faster than before. Now, this more rapid motion will tend to throw it from the surface with more force, and thence the attractive power of the earth is somewhat overcome, and the weight of the pendulum is decreased, and their moves slower—a clock from London losing 125 vibrations in twenty-four hours.

So we find all the ladies weigh less at the equator than in the higher latitudes, always losing one pound for every 220 pounds—and this because, as they approach the equator, they describe a circle of 25,000 miles circumference in twenty-four hours, while in higher latitudes the circles vary according to their distance from the equator, and at the poles describe none at all, being simply stationary. Did our globe revolve in 16 4-5th hours daily, our animules, beeles at the equator would have no weight, and if it revolved in less time, then they would be lifted and blown off, just as water is thrown from the tires of a carriage wheel when revolving rapidly.

How happens it that we have such an exact adjustment of these opposing forces that bodies are retained upon the earth's surface with sufficient pressure to stay all? Is this the result of chance? And so that most remarkable fact that the attractive power of the earth is so exactly adapted to an animal's strength. Does the earth's attraction of the elephant is far greater than the attraction of a rabbit, and its strength is proportionately increased, or commonly say the strength of the animal is greater because his weight is greater? But weight is certainly the result of the earth's attraction. Now it happens that this attractive power of the earth is invariably in proportion to an animal's strength. Suppose a rabbit or even a mouse to be attracted with the same force as an elephant.

Then the rabbit and man would be dashed down in utter helplessness to the surface, which is admirably adapted to the increase of the pigeon-weed, which once plowing is found to be at least as good. If it be possible the red-root should be pulled out of the wheat, but if the quantity be too great for this purpose a more protracted effort must be made to destroy it.

A farmer of Genesee County, N. Y., writes: "I should be well paid for my trouble if all farmers would either pull their weeds at first blush, or else manage to burn all they pull up, instead of placing it in the wagon track of the road. When muddy the seed is found clinging to the wheels, shake off in the barnyard, get with the manure and then into the wheat-fields. It requires more labor to rid a farm of this weed than of Canada thistles."—N. Y. Herald.

"COTTAGE CHEESE."—Take a pan of clabbered" milk and heat it gently, about blood warm; the curd and whey will separate; or get some sour milk in a warm place until the whey begins to separate from the curd, but by no means let it get hard; pour the curd into a strainer (a small tin case full of holes about the sides and bottom) with a loose lid, upon which place a weight, or a three-cornered bag in a shape of a pudding bag, which is not long up and let it drain until no more whey will drop from it. Turn out the substance into a pan, break up the lumps of curd very fine and smooth with a wood en spoon, or it can be rubbed between the hands till quite fine, add as much good rich cream as will make it about the thick batter, say a half pint to a soup plate full; salt it to your taste, and you will have a cream cheese that will make your lips smack if they never smacked before.

HUCKLEBERRIES are only three cents per quart in Maryland, but you may travel for 250 miles and not see a girl whose nose is free from freckles.—Exchange.

Curious Facts Relating to the Earth's Diurnal Revolution.

THAT such a huge body as our globe should completely turn around on its axis every twenty-four hours, causing our heads to point in the direction of our feet —turning all the wells and rivers and seas and oceans bottom-side up, and placing the foundations of all our buildings where their roofs ought to be—that all this should take place every few hours was once deemed so absurd that those teaching it were regarded as beside themselves, and as guilty of subverting the divine oracles of God. But all this is made, especially in the case where the risk is the greatest, so when there is no only child. If the family should be large and the children many, they may become, of course, to a great degree sufficient companions to each other, and will be able to dispense, to some extent, with the society of others; but those are ordinarily those upon whom less restriction is imposed. It is the single child, upon whom the fondness of parents is so concentrated that they must keep him wholly to themselves, who is the common victim of this pernicious isolation. It is usual to attribute the generally observed physical weakness of such to excessive indulgence, especially of their appetites; but it is not seldom the effect of a system of such companionship, depressing the strength through the sympathetic influence of the mind upon the body, and the youngest children are most susceptible to this sympathy. Pain is commonly suspected. The slow poison with which the Revolutionary invention of France was charged with causing to be administered to the poor child, the son of Louis XVI, was no cunning distillation from the drugs of the chemist, but simply solitude. Deprived by decrees of his parents, his sister attendants, of his toys, books, his good food, of the sight of his pillets and even of himself by the darkening of his prison, he uttered throughout his agony but the one cry: "Always alone!" and died.

Children must have a ball to play on common whenever and wherever they can get them, and since the advancement of cities, especially in the last few years, is so great that the children must travel faster than before. Now, this more rapid motion will tend to throw it from the surface with more force, and thence the attractive power of the earth is somewhat overcome, and the weight of the pendulum is decreased, and their moves slower—a clock from London losing 125 vibrations in twenty-four hours.

So we find all the ladies weigh less at the equator than in the higher latitudes, always losing one pound for every 220 pounds—and this because, as they approach the equator, they describe a circle of 25,000 miles circumference in twenty-four hours, while in higher latitudes the circles vary according to their distance from the equator, and at the poles describe none at all, being simply stationary. Did our globe revolve in 16 4-5th hours daily, our animules, beeles at the equator would have no weight, and if it revolved in less time, then they would be lifted and blown off, just as water is thrown from the tires of a carriage wheel when revolving rapidly.

How happens it that we have such an exact adjustment of these opposing forces that bodies are retained upon the earth's surface with sufficient pressure to stay all? Is this the result of chance? And so that most remarkable fact that the attractive power of the earth is so exactly adapted to an animal's strength. Does the earth's attraction of the elephant is far greater than the attraction of a rabbit, and its strength is proportionately increased, or commonly say the strength of the animal is greater because his weight is greater? But weight is certainly the result of the earth's attraction. Now it happens that this attractive power of the earth is invariably in proportion to an animal's strength. Suppose a rabbit or even a mouse to be attracted with the same force as an elephant.

Then the rabbit and man would be dashed down in utter helplessness to the surface, which is admirably adapted to the increase of the pigeon-weed, which once plowing is found to be at least as good. If it be possible the red-root should be pulled out of the wheat, but if the quantity be too great for this purpose a more protracted effort must be made to destroy it.

A farmer of Genesee County, N. Y., writes: "I should be well paid for my trouble if all farmers would either pull their weeds at first blush, or else manage to burn all they pull up, instead of placing it in the wagon track of the road. When muddy the seed is found clinging to the wheels, shake off in the barnyard, get with the manure and then into the wheat-fields. It requires more labor to rid a farm of this weed than of Canada thistles."—N. Y. Herald.

"COTTAGE CHEESE."—Take a pan of clabbered" milk and heat it gently, about blood warm; the curd and whey will separate; or get some sour milk in a warm place until the whey begins to separate from the curd, but by no means let it get hard; pour the curd into a strainer (a small tin case full of holes about the sides and bottom) with a loose lid, upon which place a weight, or a three-cornered bag in a shape of a pudding bag, which is not long up and let it drain until no more whey will drop from it. Turn out the substance into a pan, break up the lumps of curd very fine and smooth with a wood en spoon, or it can be rubbed between the hands till quite fine, add as much good rich cream as will make it about the thick batter, say a half pint to a soup plate full; salt it to your taste, and you will have a cream cheese that will make your lips smack if they never smacked before.

HUCKLEBERRIES are only three cents per quart in Maryland, but you may travel for 250 miles and not see a girl whose nose is free from freckles.—Exchange.

Sounding at Niagara.

A PARTY of engineers, consisting of twenty-one men and three assistants, are now at the Falls of Niagara, under charge of Mr. Bond. They have been engaged and make accurate maps of the coast line about ten miles on each side of the Genesee River, while they are just finishing the survey of the river from Lewiston to Navy Island. Here they have been unable to obtain as satisfactory soundings as at other points of the river. Very good results were obtained near the new Suspension Bridge. Directly under the bridge the lead showed a depth of 192 feet, while a short distance below the depth varied from 162 to 165 feet. The height of the American falls is 158 feet; this is an accurate measurement, as, through the assistance of Conroy, the lead was placed at the base of the falls near the "Shadow of the Rock." The line of the falls is so rugged that any accurate measurement is extremely difficult. Mr. Bond hopes to obtain a faithful survey of this line by using a mirror and thus throwing a light to any desired point upon the other shore. Then he believes that the disputed question about the line of the falls moving up the river may be settled, though there will still enter the query whether the original survey of 1842 can be relied on as an accurate basis of calculation.—Oswego (N. Y.) Times.

—Winchester, Va., which was taken and retaken seventy-two times during the war, has not varied a hundred in population in twenty-five years.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS.

LOVE PUDDING.—One quart sweet milk, one pint of flour, five eggs. Beat the whites separately and add last. Steam one and a half hours. Sauce for the same: Two tablespoonfuls of butter, one and a half cups sugar, one teaspoonful lemon extract. Mix together, cook, and serve while warm.

TOMATO CATSUP.—Peel an chop five medium-sized tomatoes, season with salt, pepper and chopped parsley, add half a cup of grated bread; beat four eggs to a foam and stir them into the tomato. Heat a spider hissing hot; place a piece of butter therein, turn in the mixture, let it brown for two minutes, and lap over the half, serving it in turnover form on a hot plate.

LEMON CAKE.—One cup of butter, three of white sugar, beat them to a cream, add the yolks of five eggs well beaten, a teaspoonful of soda dissolved in a cup it sweet milk, the juice and grated rind of one lemon, two teaspoonfuls of cream tartar mixed with four cups of flour, and lastly the whites of the eggs beaten to a foam. This will make two cakes, and is much improved by icing.

GREEN GRAPE JAM.—Put the grapes in a jar, and let them cook in a kettle of boiling water until they are soft and can be separated from the seeds. Strain through a fine colander, and to every pound of grapes put a pound and a half of sugar. Boil all together very gently until a thick jam is formed, and then put in small mason or glasses, and cover with gelatine. Boil all together very gently until a thick jam is formed, and then put in small mason or glasses, and cover with gelatine per brushed over with the white of an egg.

TO PICKLE PEARS AND PEACHES.—Select medium-sized pears and smooth fine stone peaches; stick them full of cloves. Boil seven pounds of sugar with one gallon of vinegar, an ounce of mace and an ounce of allspice. When it boils put in the fruit and let it cook gently till a straw will pierce it. Remove the fruit with a skimmer and boil the syrup down for a few minutes; then pour it over the fruit. Cover close.

BAKED PEACHES.—Cut the peaches in two, remove the stones, lacing first wipe the fruit well. With a pastry-cutter, if you want something fanciful, otherwise simple squares will do, cut some rounds of bread, in each place place half a peach, skin down; dust well with sugar; put a tiny piece of butter on each, and bake slowly. When done, dish them and turn the juice over. If you, otherwise add syrup of pears and serve warm. Apricots and plums may be served likewise.

FRUIT PRESERVES.—Take good-sized, tree-ripe peaches, wipe them with a towel, halve them and place them flat side down in hot brine or lard. Let them fry to a nice brown, then turn and fill the seed cup with sugar, which, by the time the fruit is properly cooked will be melted and form, with the juice of the peach, a rich syrup. Serve up hot, and if you don't like them you need not repeat the experiment. Most persons think the dish a superb one.—Boston New Yorker.

Good News From Washington City.

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE,
WASHINGTON, July 28, 1879.

WILSON SAWYER, Esq., Cincinnati, Ohio:

I have been referred at the department's medal, and previous awarded to your Sawyer's Improved Corn-Sheller at the Universal Exposition, held at Vienna in 1873.

I will thank you to inform me what disposition you desire to have made of it. The department will deliver them to such person as you may direct. Please address the Commissioner, addressed as you may indicate, from whom you receive the department and the inclosed receipt, duly signed. When the same are delivered in safety the responsibility of the department will terminate.

Your obedient servant,
FREDERICK WATTS, Acting Secretary.

THE GREAT FAVORITE.—The popular Chill Cure of the age. Composed of quinine and other tonics. Wilbor's Chill Cure has long held the highest place in the long line of remedies for chills and fever. Wilbor's Cod Liver Oil Compound and Wilbor's Antidyspeptic Bitters are also favorites, where remedies are all clustered in the second column. Prepared only by Dr. B. H. Wilbor, Boston. Sold by druggists generally.

Fire and Water-Proof!
LANGLEY'S PATENT SLATE PAINT
Stops all leaks in roofs, gutters, etc. Can be put on by any one. Will last for years. Is cheaper than tin. Is the most durable paint in the world. Is ready for the brush. Send for Sample Card. Address Langley's Slate Paint Co., 29 North Sixth St., Philadelphia, Pa.

BRILLIANT,
By W. T. GIFFE.
THE BEST
S. S. SINGING BOOK.
25, $2.50 per doz. $20.00 per 100.
BENTAM & STEDMAN, Indianapolis.

ELECTRICITY IS LIFE.
MURRAY & LANMAN'S FLORIDA WATER
Has a delightful, refreshing and lasting fragrance. Use no other. Sold by druggists and dealers. Beware of imitations.

COME AND SEE
Three Little Pictures. Your one million orders for the cheapest and best Chromo ever published. Agents wanted. Address, with 3c. stamp, for terms and sample of new combinations to all, CHICAGO CHROMO CO., 176 Dearborn St., Chicago, Ill.

ASTHMA.
Dr. Taft's Asthalene Positively Cures Asthma, Hay Fever, Bronchitis, Coughs, Colds, and all Throat and Lung Troubles. Sufferers should not delay. Send for circular. Sold by druggists. Price, $1.00. Sent by mail on receipt of price. TRIAL PACKAGE FREE. Address DR. TAFT BROS. MEDICINE CO., Rochester, N. Y.

FAVORITE,
BY W. T. GIFFE.
TEST BOOK FOR
CHOIRS, CONVENTIONS, Etc.
75 cts. per Copy; $7.50 per doz.
BENTAM & STEDMAN, Publishers,
INDIANAPOLIS, IND.
Single copy mailed for 75 Cents.

SILVER TIPPED Shoe Strings
CABLE SCREW WIRE
Tipped Shoe Lace Fastener
A pretty saving, time and trouble saving device. Sample pair, Silver Tipped, 20c. Cable Screw Wire, 10c. Sold by Wire-Quilted Soles.
SILVER TIPPED CABLE SCREW WIRE
Sold by Wire-Quilted Soles.

$5 to $20 A day at home. Samples worth $5 free. STINSON & Co., Portland, Me.

$360 A MONTH.—Agents wanted. 24 best-selling articles in the world. 1 sample free. J. WORTH, Detroit, Mich.

Best in the World.
Ready for the Brush.
Send for Sample Card.
Brewer, Gilfoss and Taylor, 208 South 3d St., Philadelphia.

WANTED AGENTS for THE GREAT CENTENNIAL BOOK
Containing a full and complete history of the United States, from its discovery to the present time, with a full description of the Centennial Exhibition, and all the Great Inventions and Discoveries of the Century. Over 500 Fine Illustrations. Agents are meeting with unparalleled success. Send for circulars, containing extra terms, and see our Extra Outfit, which we give away. Address HUBBARD BROS., Publishers, Philadelphia, Pa.

DEATH IS DELAYED BY USING R. & T. TONIC ELIXIR & LIQUID EXTRACT OF BEEF, IN SUCH DISEASES AS IT IS PRESUMED FOR.
Pleasant and Profitable Employment.
Wanted in every county in the United States and Canada, to introduce the Celebrated Improved Common Sense Family Knitting Machine. Capable of knitting a pair of stockings from a pair of yarn, and widths to suit. Price only $20. Warranted for five years. Liberal inducements to agents. Address for circular, Wheeler & Wilson Manufacturing Co., Chicago, Ill., Boston, Mass., or Toronto, Ont.

$25 a day guaranteed agents. Outfit free. Address P. O. VICKERY, Augusta, Me.

$5 to $20 A MONTH and EXPENSES paid AGENTS WANTED. Address, for particulars, P. W. ZIEGLER & CO., Philadelphia, Pa.

$250 A MONTH.—Agents wanted everywhere. Business honorable and first-class. Particulars free. P. O. VICKERY, Augusta, Me.

OPIUM
And Morphine Habits absolutely and positively cured. Send for circulars. Dr. B. WOOLLEY, Atlanta, Ga.

GUDRICH & TOUSTON, 70 Adams St., CHICAGO, ILL. Manufacturers of Fine Tents, Awnings, Flags, Canvas Goods, Etc. Send for Illustrated Catalogue.

FOR SALE. Chicago Saturday Evening Post, established 1865. Circulation 20,000. Will invoice for inventory and sell cheap. Address Box 1,000, Chicago, Ill.

AGENTS—$5 TO $10 DAILY. Our new Chromo, "Mary, Queen of Scots," and 12 other beautiful pictures, sent free. Address, with stamp, CHROMO ART CO., Chicago, Ill.

WORK that PAYS!
Agents wanted in every County in New York and New Jersey. Address, with stamp, H. C. BRADLEY & CO., Rochester, N. Y.

THRILLING
Stories for young and old are given in the Boston Weekly Globe, 20 cts. for 3 mos., postage free. THE GLOBE PUB. CO., Boston.

$15.00 SHOT-GUN
A fine 10-shooting gun for boys, sent C. O. D. subject to examination. Send 25 cts. for Illustrated Catalogue of Guns, Rifles, Pistols, Fishing Tackle, Base Ball Goods, Etc. Address, GREAT WESTERN GUN WORKS, Pittsburgh, Pa.

DOUBLE YOUR TRADE
By using Dr. Taft's Asthalene. Positively cures Asthma, Hay Fever, Bronchitis, Coughs, Colds, and all Throat and Lung Troubles. Sufferers should not delay. Send for circular. Sold by druggists. Price, $1.00. Sent by mail on receipt of price. TRIAL PACKAGE FREE. Address DR. TAFT BROS. MEDICINE CO., Rochester, N. Y.

TENTS FOR FAIRS, HUNTING and all other purposes. Flags, Banners and Badges. Illustrated Catalogue free. Address, H. J. HALLETT & CO., Portland, Me.

STOP HERE
And get the Centennial Exposition of Photographic Views. Most magnificent collection ever made. Agents wanted. Address, with stamp, for circulars, PHOTOGRAPHIC PUBLISHING CO., Chicago, Ill., or Boston, Mass.

WILD LIFE FAR WEST
A splendid New Illustrated Book of Thrilling Adventure. Sells at sight. Agents wanted. Address, with stamp, for circulars, A. L. BANCROFT & CO., San Francisco, Cal.

AGENTS WANTED.
Outfit free. Address P. O. VICKERY, Augusta, Me.

YOUNG MEN
Wanted to learn TELEGRAPHY. Address, with stamp, W. W. TELEGRAPH INSTITUTE, Janesville, Wis.

PIERCE WELL AUGER
Bores 100 feet per hour. Will bore in any kind of soil. Catalogue free. Address PIERCE WELL EXCAVATOR CO., Chicago, Ill.

AGENTS WANTED. $22 PER DAY GUARANTEED. Address JAS. B. PIERCE, Pres. Illinois.

CANNES
Canisters etc.

Fire and Water-Proof!
LANGLEY'S PATENT SLATE PAINT
Stops all leaks in roofs, gutters, etc. Can be put on by any one. Will last for years. Is cheaper than tin. Is the most durable paint in the world. Is ready for the brush. Send for Sample Card. Address Langley's Slate Paint Co., 29 North Sixth St., Philadelphia, Pa.

$3 SAMPLE FREE
Best Pocket Rule made. Address, with stamp, STANDARD RULE CO., Chicago, Ill.

$300 a month to men to introduce Hires' Improved Root Beer. Sample 10c. C. E. HIRES & CO., Philadelphia, Pa.

SWEET POTATOES.
Send 30c. for 1 lb. Yellow Nansemond. Circular free. Address, with stamp, W. WASHINGTON, Lawrence, Kansas.

AGENTS WANTED for the most wonderful invention of the age. Address, with stamp, VOLTAIC BELT CO., Marshall, Mich.

$25 a day guaranteed agents. Outfit free. Address P. O. VICKERY, Augusta, Me.

1,000 AGENTS WANTED. Address, with stamp, for particulars, P. W. ZIEGLER & CO., Philadelphia, Pa.

11 MORE SITUATIONS for BOOK-KEEPERS and PENMEN. Address, with stamp, Practical Shorthand Writers' Association, 1,000 Washington Street, Boston, Mass.

$490 A MONTH and EXPENSES GUARANTEED. Address, with stamp, for particulars, P. W. ZIEGLER & CO., Philadelphia, Pa.

$250 A MONTH.—Agents wanted everywhere. Business honorable and first-class. Particulars free. P. O. VICKERY, Augusta, Me.

OPIUM
And Morphine Habits absolutely and positively cured. Send for circulars. Dr. B. WOOLLEY, Atlanta, Ga.

GUDRICH & TOUSTON, 70 Adams St., CHICAGO, ILL. Manufacturers of Fine Tents, Awnings, Flags, Canvas Goods, Etc. Send for Illustrated Catalogue.

FOR SALE. Chicago Saturday Evening Post, established 1865. Circulation 20,000. Will invoice for inventory and sell cheap. Address Box 1,000, Chicago, Ill.

AGENTS—$5 TO $10 DAILY. Our new Chromo, "Mary, Queen of Scots," and 12 other beautiful pictures, sent free. Address, with stamp, CHROMO ART CO., Chicago, Ill.

WORK that PAYS!
Agents wanted in every County in New York and New Jersey. Address, with stamp, H. C. BRADLEY & CO., Rochester, N. Y.

THRILLING
Stories for young and old are given in the Boston Weekly Globe, 20 cts. for 3 mos., postage free. THE GLOBE PUB. CO., Boston.

$15.00 SHOT-GUN
A fine 10-shooting gun for boys, sent C. O. D. subject to examination. Send 25 cts. for Illustrated Catalogue of Guns, Rifles, Pistols, Fishing Tackle, Base Ball Goods, Etc. Address, GREAT WESTERN GUN WORKS, Pittsburgh, Pa.

DOUBLE YOUR TRADE
By using Dr. Taft's Asthalene. Positively cures Asthma, Hay Fever, Bronchitis, Coughs, Colds, and all Throat and Lung Troubles. Sufferers should not delay. Send for circular. Sold by

ITEMS OF INTEREST.

AH JACK of San Luis, Cal., cut all his spouse, and the natives ordered him up to a leafless branch.

HAM on hand a riding scout into a walking one—hung it up in the passage, taking good care to leave the street door open.

IT is now in order for some newspaper to come forward and proffer a whizzer which will freeze the heels off a lawn ornament.

NO PAPER has any more right to leave the "c" off of "cowslops" than to leave the same off of "take" or "bake."—Detroit Free Press.

VENICE, the beautiful Venice, is not only romantic, but late visitors say that the city smells worse than that change-like ever in its best days.

OH, yes! Editors, printers and others clapped to the communists in Greeley, and the mosquitoes. But where is the answer? Who took charge of it?

HARTFORD, Conn., has some queer horses. One animal will notwink a drop of water on Sunday. Another takes a nap every Sunday morning after breakfast, and does not done on any other day. Still another likes to chew tobacco, and will insinuate a paper of fine-cut with evident relish.

OLE Bruton W. Laski, of New Haven, has been busy robbing his sweetheart and her mother, and is now in jail. An exchange blames him for not calling him Sofa Count. If he had the parents would have pardoned him, and the girl marry. ing him would have clothed and fed and clothed him as long as he wished.

KIRTRY, the German cannon-founder, has refused to sell the British Government one of his big guns. In reply to a request for one, he told he was "willing to contract to the naming of as many forts and ships as England wanted, at home or abroad, but or must decline to part with specimens for experimental purposes."

IT is proposed in France that the right to take evidence under oath for purposes of litigation should be granted to the inhabitants of agricultural districts in the same manner as it is now granted to the inhabitants of cities and towns who require water for drinking or household purposes. The owners of the land are to be indemnified as when their property is required for any other public use.

THE Forestville correspondent of the Buffalo Express relates this incident: "J. C. Mount was married to Mrs. Grace Ann Crowell, of Hamlet, this morning, and about noon the couple drove to the rail. way station to start on their wedding tour to New York. While unloading trunks the team became frightened and ran away, throwing the lady out of the wagon. In falling her head struck a post in front of Parsons & Hosser's store, opposite the depot, and she was so seriously injured that she only lived fifteen minutes. She was sixty-two years old."

THE Lowell (Mass.) Courier says that a few evenings since a boy called into a store in that city and asked in an excited manner to see some revolvers. A second-hand one was offered her for $4, and on purchasing it she expressed a desire to have it loaded. The revolver was loaded with blank cartridges, unknown to her—and she made a hasty departure for home. The next morning her husband came to the store and offered the revolver for sale. The storekeeper offered him $3.75 for it and the offer was accepted. The husband said that the wife fired the revolver at him, and on finding that he escaped unharmed regretted her attempt at his life, and the result was the disposal of the revolver.

WALLACE, Mississippi, aged nine, living with his parents at Halsedon Pond, about four miles from Paterson, N. J., was shot and instantly killed by his brother Orland, nine other evening. The boys had been working on the grounds surrounding their residence and had gone upstairs, to their room, to change their clothing. In a closet in the room were two shot-guns, on seeing which the boys said: "Let's play soldiers." The younger took a double-barrel gun, which he had across the bed. The elder boy raised his weapon, a single barrel gun, not thinking it was loaded, and it went off, the muzzle being only three feet from the other boy. The young fellow's head was shot completely off, only a few scraps of scalp remaining attached to the spine. The head was shattered into minute fragments, splattering the ceiling and walls of the room.

Sayings by Josh Billings.

A MAN may outlive his capacity to do good, but he'll never outgrow it as well.

NO MAN can be happy unless he possesses the same thing that makes his neighbor miserable.

WHEN a man gets a fool quivering half-away he generally has more confidence in whatever good credit he has got left in anybody but just a pint or two more in him.

"WHAT business are you doing?" said a man to a friend. "Why, I am doing nothing at present," was the reply. "Nothing! Why, how can you do nothing?" "Why, I am doing it as well as I can."

THE man who can't find anything half-worth doing, and who can't do it well, is a poor man indeed.

THE man who can't find anything half-worth doing, and who can't do it well, is a poor man indeed.

WHAT a man is, is more than what he owns.

WHAT a man is, is more than what he owns.

NO MAN has any more right to leave the "c" off of "cowslops" than to leave the same off of "take" or "bake."—Detroit Free Press.

VENICE, the beautiful Venice, is not only romantic, but late visitors say that the city smells worse than that change-like ever in its best days.

OH, yes! Editors, printers and others clapped to the communists in Greeley, and the mosquitoes. But where is the answer? Who took charge of it?

HARTFORD, Conn., has some queer horses. One animal will notwink a drop of water on Sunday. Another takes a nap every Sunday morning after breakfast, and does not done on any other day. Still another likes to chew tobacco, and will insinuate a paper of fine-cut with evident relish.

OLE Bruton W. Laski, of New Haven, has been busy robbing his sweetheart and her mother, and is now in jail. An exchange blames him for not calling him Sofa Count. If he had the parents would have pardoned him, and the girl marry. ing him would have clothed and fed and clothed him as long as he wished.

KIRTRY, the German cannon-founder, has refused to sell the British Government one of his big guns. In reply to a request for one, he told he was "willing to contract to the naming of as many forts and ships as England wanted, at home or abroad, but or must decline to part with specimens for experimental purposes."

IT is proposed in France that the right to take evidence under oath for purposes of litigation should be granted to the inhabitants of agricultural districts in the same manner as it is now granted to the inhabitants of cities and towns who require water for drinking or household purposes. The owners of the land are to be indemnified as when their property is required for any other public use.

THE Forestville correspondent of the Buffalo Express relates this incident: "J. C. Mount was married to Mrs. Grace Ann Crowell, of Hamlet, this morning, and about noon the couple drove to the rail. way station to start on their wedding tour to New York. While unloading trunks the team became frightened and ran away, throwing the lady out of the wagon. In falling her head struck a post in front of Parsons & Hosser's store, opposite the depot, and she was so seriously injured that she only lived fifteen minutes. She was sixty-two years old."

THE Lowell (Mass.) Courier says that a few evenings since a boy called into a store in that city and asked in an excited manner to see some revolvers. A second-hand one was offered her for $4, and on

A Story of the Sheriff.

A WELL-TRAINED bodel-clerk, who knows his duty rightly, considers that the occupied guest in the hotel is as much as his own castle as in his own house, and will not permit him, to be knowingly disturbed by unpleasant or unauthorized intrudors. This, sometimes, is of service and prevents disagreeable consequences, as will be seen in the history here about to be given, the scene of which was at the Tremont House in Boston several years ago, and one of the actors therein a well-known merchant of Boston, who, over the non de plume of "Acorn," used to furnish some of the liveliest sketches of humor and sharpest of dramatic dilidems to the old New York Spirit of the Times, whom we shall designate as Jim Pines; the other, a well-known business man of our sister city of Portland, whom, for convenience sake, we will call Short, in assmarch as he was short when one of the actors in the scene we are about to recount.

It chanced, one fine evening, that a stranger entered the Tremont and, addressing himself to the "gentlemanly clerk," inquired if Mr Short, of Portland, was stopping at the house.

"He is," said the clerk, referring to the register.

"Well, I want to see him, also as soon as he comes home," replied the clerk.

The visitor produced a card, which was handed to a bell-boy, whom he was about to follow upstairs, when he was restrained by the clerk.

"no kind enough to wait till we send? My Short is in and will see you."

The bell-boy returned with word that Mr. Short would see the gentleman in morning nothing.

"Where's his room?" said the visitor "I'll go right up myself."

"Excuse me, sir. Mr Short has already sent word that he does not wish to see you till tomorrow, and I cannot permit him to be disturbed."

"Well, sir, I think I shall go up it you wish give me the number of the room, or I'll call Mr Short, and attend to it myself."

At these words Jim Pines, who was sitting in a little room behind the key board, where he had heard all the conversation, and who is always ready to aid a fun in difficulties—low, knowing this to be a case of intended night-cruise for a slam, paused and remarked that "he was going to see if this supper was ready," and, stepping through the dining-hall up to his room, he took from thence an old pair of boots and went to Short's room, where he was at once admitted.

"Take your valise and duds, old boy, and come along with me."

"What's up, Jim?" asked Short

"Not much, but the Sheriff will soon be, so come along."

The pair left the room, locked it behind them, and Pines dropped the old pair of boots outside the door, after which they passed over to another wing of the house, to Pines' room, where Short was left, and the former descended, where he found the bodel-clerk still engaged in conversation with the Sheriff.

"I've seen about my supper, and it's all right," said he, as he passed the clerk with a wink.

"I see this room against Mr Short's name on the register is twenty-six; is that where you put him?" asked the Sheriff of the clerk.

"Yes, sir."

"Then I demand to be shown to that room, immediately."

"All right, Mr Sheriff. Boy, show the gentleman No. 26."

The unwelcome visitor was combined upstairs to the desired room. There it was, sure enough, amidst an old pair of boots sitting outside. The Sheriff looked at his watch. Half past nine. It was early without his being in bed.

"Humph! go to bed early." He knocked; no response. Knocked a little louder; still no reply.

The Sheriff looked into the unoccupied rooms on each side and satisfied himself that there was no communication, and then, with a grim smile, took a chair from one of them and sat down beside the door of No. 26.

"Boy," said the officer of the law, "do you want to earn a dollar?"

"Yes, sir," said the waiter, as his eyes sparkled.

"Well, take this note for me," said the officer, as he hastily scribbled one of the leaves of an old letter, "and bring me an answer and you shall have it."

The waiter was off like a shot, and returned with an answer, which was nothing less than a deputy officer, to whom the latter in a whisper explained the situation.

"He's in here, and no way of getting out; we can't break in the door; you must watch here till morning, and when he comes out to breakfast arrest him. Buy, there's your dollar."

Thus left, the deputy seated himself comfortably down in his chair, and the Sheriff walked off, satisfied that he had trapped his bird.

Next morning, about eight o'clock, he reappeared. There sat the watchman, looking a little red about the eyelids, and there stood the boots, as when he left the night before.

"Any movement, Linx?"

"Not a bit as yet; quiet as a church-yard."

"Ah, ah! thinks to tire us out. Go down and get some breakfast, Linx, and bring me some while you're absent."

The deputy went away, and in half an hour returned, invigorated and refreshed, and resumed his post, which he faithfully held till noon, when his principal again made his appearance on the scene.

"What! not up yet?"

"Not a motion!"

The two men looked at each other doubtingly. At this moment one of the chambermaids came along, with broom and bunch of keys in hand.

"Got a key that'll open this room?" said the Sheriff.

"Yes, sir," said the maid Applying it, the door flew open, and the two officers rushed in.

It was empty.

The bed was undressed; a half-smoked cigar and a newspaper of the day before lay upon the table, which were all the traces of it having been occupied.

From force of habit the deputy guarded the door, while his principal looked into the shallow closet, under the bed, out of the window (it was forty feet to the pavement), and had even taken off the blower at the little fireplace, with the vague idea that the man sought might have vanished in some mysterious manner up the chimney, when his eye caught sight of the bell-boy, standing outside the door.

"Say, boy, do you know where Mr. Short is, who occupied this room?"

"Short, sir, he must be in Portland," said the boy with a grin, "he left in the seven o'clock train, and it's twelve now."

The Sheriff glanced at his watch. "Yes, but whose boots are those at the door?"

"Those," said the boy, taking them up—"those be Mr. James Pines' boots, he's his name on the lining."

And so it was, and the officers had more thought to do.

Are you afraid anyone would take you, that we'll by you so?" asked the waiter, innocently.

The Sheriff made no answer, but strode out of the room, sending the boots aside with a kick, and down to the office and out of the staircase. When he was half way down he was stopped by the cries of the bell-boy, who, leaning over the bannister, called out

"Sir, Sir! a moment, sir!"

"Well, what is it?" replied the officer, turning up his face.

"Would ye tell me, please, how much it is Mr. Pines pays an hour for the work he do his boots?"

The Sheriff wondered only an indignant thought "and passed on. He and his deputy had passed out upon the front steps of the house when another voice running after him, tapped him on the shoulder with the message that the hotel clerk wished to speak with him. Returning back with the thought that he was to have something respecting his lost game, he was met with a bland smile by the clerk, who remarked

"I believe you forgot this little bill."

"Little bill! What little bill?"

The clerk presented a paper bearing the pictorial representation of the Tremont, and beneath which was the charge:

To Sundries Breakfast,	$ cts.
To Fourteen Dinners,
Lodging

"Do you mean to say that you intend charging me a dollar for breakfasting on my self in a shirt here all night?" said the officer of the law, red and brilliant.

"Can't tell how he passed the night; all I know is that you gave me a dollar and one dollar's our prices," replied the clerk, icily.

"Say, Charley, have you seen my old boots?" asked a gentleman, at this juncture, who supposing to be accidentally passing near. "I've taken to them as my sweet. I hope some one has kept an eye on 'em, for I would rather give a dollar than lose 'em."

"All right; the boots is safe; shouldn't the gintleman sit by 'em all night," answered the grinning waiter, as the Sheriff turned round.

"Ah! Graham, good morning—much obliged to you—here, let me pay this lodging-bill, for I prize those boots," said old Pines, as he took the "slip of paper from the Sheriff's hands, who stood staring at him.

"Mr. Pines, I give it up. I'm cheated," said the officer; "and that's the first pair of boots I ever knew that helped a man to run away without his being seen."

"Ah," said Jim, "there's nothing like leather when there's business afoot."—Boston Commercial Bulletin.

Home Life in England.

EXCEPTIONAL home life in town or country has a well-deserved reputation. No one it seems to me, less more faithfully or graphically portrayed it than Mr. Anthony Trollope. Our experience is always fresh scenes from his books. The differences between the modes of living in England and America are not striking, but they are written about, yet there is a subtle sense, telling which, when you experience it, makes you feel that you are on English shores—at an English fireside. "Taking tea" in England with your friends is very different from taking tea in America. "Come in to tea with me to-morrow," says a friend. It is at a country house, you drop in informally about five o'clock, and find the ladies of the house, and sometimes the gentlemen, assembled in the drawing-room. Such a scene rises to my mind as I write—a long, low-ceilinged drawing-room, with windows at either end, the one looking on to a shady lawn, the other, through large glass windows, to an old-fashioned garden full of sunset glory. It is early in the year; a cutit is in the grate, though the open fireplaces and burning logs cheer up after our long drive. The room is oak-panelled, hung with pict ures, the furniture of several periods, quaint and modern—that pleasant combination which you are sure to find in English drawing-rooms. There is the upright grand piano, so commonly used in England, with its tall side candelabras; a great chiffonier; a round table strewn with new and recently-read books, which are faithfully kept in order by the lady. There is a bookcase, and by the fire-place, and in the chairs, are placed the cushions which are sure to find in English drawing-rooms. There is the upright arm-chair for the master of the house

Additional Local.

Mayors.—The proposed Fun Realts did not move before Traverse Bay Friday, owing to lovely weather.

—The Comet hooks her crank Friday, but not running at once.

—The schooner Farrington left here Saturday with a cargo of bark for Chicago.

—Idaho on time down Tuesday morning.

—The schooner May Bevan commanded by Captain Michael Kelly, lately in the piece wood service during the late war, Italy thought she will be a good booster.

—The Fountain City entered up Tuesday morning early bound to Lake Superior.

—The Fun Realts could not load here to her way up Monday.

—The propeller Manistee lately laid off Point Au Barques was towed by Luther Mason tender of Mrs. M. J. Buckman to the piers and the lake Miss A. Bateman she was into the propellers forming Winona, Palmyra and others.

Another Bear Story.—Our readers will recollect that we gave an account of a bear attacking a sheep in Pinckney lodge. Farmer comes a few weeks since. We are now told that one day last week Mr. Baxter and another man were out fishing in a boat on the same lake, and a son of Mr Baxter, a lad about 15 years of age, was amusing himself in a canoe. The latter discovering what he at first took to be a bear in the water, and started in pursuit. On coming up to it he found it to be a bear, sure enough. The latter advised the lad to keep away from it but the latter was allowed him to go for it' words to accordingly did, and when near enough struck his spear into the bear, and plunged himself in the water at the same time. The bear immediately turned and swam for the nearest shore where the other rowed him, brother Mr. Baxter and the other man came up with the other boat and in a short time they all had lively work. They broke the paddles striking the bear while they succeeded in getting him across the lake, previously shooting it, when the bear got to land and the water will in the open ground they succeeded in drowning it, but not until it had taken several more lives out of the side of the boat. The animal weighed 200 pounds. Weather being at the same time made the attack before we cannot say.—Traverse Bay Eagle.

Letters from Druggists,

There are one of Dyspepsia that Green's August Flower will not cure. Call to the druggists of G. W. Cochran, and inquire about it. If you prefer it, Green's Prize Kidney Cure, Green's Cough Syrup, Green's Liver Complaint, or Green's Remedy for Stomach & Liver try it. Two or three doses will relieve you.

Hamilton's Grocery Stores now sold in grass town and city in the United States. We have not lose this free from Hamilton's Grocery, sweeping it to the last month over 100, ever sold for a month. Hamilton's Grocery Stores. Sample bottles of both 10 cents. Regular size 25 cents.

SALE OF STATE TAX LANDS.

Auditor General's Office, }
Lansing, Mich., July 1st, 1875. }

Notice is hereby given that certain lands situated in the county of Charlevoix will be offered for Tax Sale, 1875, and previous years, and described in statements which will be forwarded to the office of the treasurer of said County some time in September, will be offered at public auction by said Treasurer, at the County Seat, on the first Monday of October, 1875, at the time and place designated by the said Tax Sales, if not previously disposed of at this office, according to law.

Said statements contain a full description of each parcel of said lands and may be seen on application at the office of the County Treasurer.

Lands struck off to the State for taxes of 1870 or other years, or the tax sales in 1870 or 1871, will be offered subject to the right of redemption prescribed by law, as well as to the right of purchase of the State lands in this office, prior to the sale.

RALPH ELY, Auditor Gen'l.

Annual Tax Sales.

Auditor General's Office, }
Lansing, Mich., July 1, 1875. }

So much of each of the following described tracts or parcels of Land, situated in the county of Manistee, delinquent for unpaid taxes, for the years mentioned below, as will be sufficient to pay the taxes, interest and charges thereon, will be sold by the Treasurer of said county, on the first Monday in October next, at such public and convenient place as shall select, in St. James, the County seat of said county, according to the statute in such case made and provided.

RALPH ELY, Auditor Gen'l.

1872.

Town 37 North of Range 10 West.

Lot 1 of	7	1.13	68	60	1.00	1.28

Town 32 North of Range 4 West.

Lot 1 of	7	1.13	68	60	1.00	1.28
Lot 2 of	7	1.13	68	60	1.00	1.28
Lot 3 of	7	1.13	68	60	1.00	1.28
Lot 4 of	7	1.13	68	60	1.00	1.28
Lot 5 of	7	1.13	68	60	1.00	1.28
Lot 6 of	7	1.13	68	60	1.00	1.28
Lot 7 of	7	1.13	68	60	1.00	1.28
Lot 8 of	7	1.13	68	60	1.00	1.28
Lot 9 of	7	1.13	68	60	1.00	1.28
Lot 10 of	7	1.13	68	60	1.00	1.28
Lot 11 of	7	1.13	68	60	1.00	1.28
Lot 12 of	7	1.13	68	60	1.00	1.28
Lot 13 of	7	1.13	68	60	1.00	1.28
Lot 14 of	7	1.13	68	60	1.00	1.28
Lot 15 of	7	1.13	68	60	1.00	1.28
Lot 16 of	7	1.13	68	60	1.00	1.28
Lot 17 of	7	1.13	68	60	1.00	1.28
Lot 18 of	7	1.13	68	60	1.00	1.28
Lot 19 of	7	1.13	68	60	1.00	1.28
Lot 20 of	7	1.13	68	60	1.00	1.28
Lot 21 of	7	1.13	68	60	1.00	1.28
Lot 22 of	7	1.13	68	60	1.00	1.28
Lot 23 of	7	1.13	68	60	1.00	1.28
Lot 24 of	7	1.13	68	60	1.00	1.28
Lot 25 of	7	1.13	68	60	1.00	1.28
Lot 26 of	7	1.13	68	60	1.00	1.28
Lot 27 of	7	1.13	68	60	1.00	1.28
Lot 28 of	7	1.13	68	60	1.00	1.28
Lot 29 of	7	1.13	68	60	1.00	1.28
Lot 30 of	7	1.13	68	60	1.00	1.28
Lot 31 of	7	1.13	68	60	1.00	1.28
Lot 32 of	7	1.13	68	60	1.00	1.28
Lot 33 of	7	1.13	68	60	1.00	1.28
Lot 34 of	7	1.13	68	60	1.00	1.28
Lot 35 of	7	1.13	68	60	1.00	1.28
Lot 36 of	7	1.13	68	60	1.00	1.28

Town 33 North of Range 5 West.

sw ¼ of	1	92	43	2 19	21 1 00	3 40
Lot 1 of	2	80		2 15	21 1 00	3 34
Lot 2 of	2	80		2 15	21 1 00	3 34
Lot 3 of	2	80		2 15	21 1 00	3 34
Lot

THE SENTINEL.

WILLARD A. SMITH, Editor and Proprietor.

CHARLEVOIX. - MICHIGAN.

THE NEWS.

A LONDON dispatch of the 11th says the Privy Council had been asked to issue an order forbidding the holding of fairs or markets throughout Warwickshire on account of the prevalence of the rust and mouth disease.

A conference opened in Rome on the 11th, and the entire Ministry resigned. The next day Gen. Josselin formed a new one.

THE chancellor of Prince Bismarck has been involved in a Presidio County row with an unpronounceable name.

HON. HERBERT Brow, of St. Louis, formerly United States Minister to Austria, died on Sunday of congestion at the United States Hotel in Saratoga, N. Y., on the 12th inst.

THE petition of Maj. Bowers's raiders in party in advance of A. H. Thurman, arrived at Gunnison, Utah, on the 11th, en route for home.

A ST. LOUIS (Mo.) driller, under pressure of an indictment of the Internal Revenue boys, pleaded guilty on the 11th.

MAJOR SMITH, a Comanche (Okla.) policeman was recently fined without walking 1,000 miles in 1,000 hours.

MRS. ABRAHAM LINCOLN reached Springfield, Ill., on the 11th, after a visit of two or three days to Chicago.

A dispatch of that date from Salvador says no regarded as being any immediate danger of war, which the first word to Rubora.

BETWEEN 400 crates of the 18th are the first harvest of the recent conservancy of Duck Island on the Illinois and the Saginaw improvement had ordered the mobilization of two infantry brigades, aggregating 24,000 men. According to a contemporary the passage of the same date settling drifting and encamped during the preceding week, and while the ranks had been decimated in consequence the siege of Tredegar had been relieved.

ELEVEN workmen were asphyxiated by gas at the Donnington Wood colliery in Shropshire, England, on the 11th.

ON the 12th a waterspout washed away 60 houses near Chilung, Formosa. Nine feet of water fell in twenty minutes. Five hundred people lost their lives.

THE London Standard of the 14th says 612 men and 158 women had been recently instituted in Russia, of whom 205 were charged with participating in the Socialistic movement.

ON the 13th a freight train on the Grand Trunk Railway was thrown from the track and totally wrecked. Several of the employes on the train were killed. The railroad has had a large number of casualties recently to death.

GEN. PLANTER (Rep.) has been elected to Congress from the Fourth Maine District to succeed Samuel P. Hersey, deceased, by about 5,000 majority.

THE MARKETS.

NEW YORK.

LIVE STOCK—Beef Cattle—$4 75@5 10 for shipping steers; $3 60@4 50 for stockers and feeders; $3 75@4 25 for cows, bulls, etc. Calves—$5@6 50 for veals. Sheep—$4 50@5 50 for Western sheep and lambs. Hogs—$5 85@6 05 for Western corn-fed.

FLOUR—Receipts, 21,000 bbls. No. 2 Northwestern, $4 60@4 80. No. 2 Milwaukee spring, $4 30@4 50. Rye—Western and State, 80@86c. Barley—Western, 72@78c. Oats—Mixed Western, 42@46c. Provisions—Pork—Mess, $10 50@10 75. Lard—Prime Steam, 11¾@11¾c. Cheese—6@8c. Eggs—20 @ 21 cents. Fresh, 22@23c.

CHICAGO.

LIVE STOCK—Beeves—Cattle, $3 70@4 40; good, $4 00@4 40; medium, $3 20@3 90; butcher stock, $3 10@3 75; stock cattle, $3 00@3 40; Hogs—Live, $5 85@5 90. Sheep—Good to choice, $4 40@5 15.

PRODUCE—Butter—Choice, 20@22c. Eggs—Fresh, 18@18c. Pork—Mess, $9 80@9 90. Lard—$5 70@5 80.

MILWAUKEE.—Flour—White Winter Extra, $5 00@5 25; spring extra, $4 50@4 85. Wheat—Spring, No. 2, $1 05@1 05½. Corn—No. 2, 39@39c. Oats—No. 2, 26@26c. Rye—No. 1, 57@57c. Barley—No. 2, $1 06@1 06.

TOLEDO.—Red Clover, $3 60@3 65. Seed Clover, $3 50@3 60. Timothy Seed, $2 00@2 10. Flour—Extra, $4 00@4 25. "A" Mixing, $3 20@3 30. Lard, $5 80@5 85.

EAST BUFFALO.

LIVE STOCK—Beeves—Extra, $5 50@5 70; medium, $5 00@5 30. Hogs—Yorkers, $5 40@5 45; Philadelphia, $5 30@5 35. Sheep—Best, $5 20@5 30; medium, $4 50@4 75.

MICHIGAN STATE NEWS.

CORNELIUS SULLIVAN'S house in Grand Rapids, worth $10,000, was recently burned to the ground.

THE fifteenth annual conference of the Independent Methodist Episcopal Church (African) met in Detroit on the 12th inst., with Rev. P. A. H. Green presiding.

FRED K. LAMB has been held to bail, at Detroit, in the sum of $5,000, for alleged murder-admission of all imported by him from Canada some years ago.

THE faculty of the School of Mines of Michigan University has been filled by the appointment of John W. Langley, of the University of Pittsburgh, Pa., to the Chair of Physics and Chemistry.

THE Church of United Brethren, in conference at Caledonia Station, Kent County, has passed a resolution not to admit to the membership of that church any person belonging to the Masonic or other secret society.

WHILE workmen were repairing the foundations of a house on Waverly avenue, Grand Rapids, the other morning, the supports gave way and the house fell on the men. Henry Kalsteno, a Hollander, was instantly killed.

JAMES CARPENTER committed suicide at his barn at Cedar Springs, Kent County, on the night of the 9th by throwing himself from the loft to the ground. He had been drunk for several days and was supposed to have been temporarily insane.

TWO TRAMPS, the other day, passing through Petersburg, overtook two small children on the road, and by threats and violence induced the latter to accompany them. Arriving there they ordered breakfast and by a ruse, which they did until their parents came.

AN house woman known as "Canada Bill" is in jail at Bay City a few days ago and was buried next day. Friends, suspecting that the body had been stolen, had the grave exposed the following day, and to their horror, found the body lying on its side, hands clenched in the hair, eyes wide open and the sheet in which she was encased covered with blood. She had been buried alive.

TOWN CLERK, a dissipated French man, aged fifty-two years, whose burial took place at Belle River the past week, left his wife and children to refine him a living in the lonely home in Detroit, the other evening attacked her in the street and stabbed her with a knife, twice in the face, once in the back and once in the abdomen, inflicting wounds from which she died. He also stabbed himself three times, the last time reaching the heart and killing him instantly.

THE postal changes in Michigan during the week ending Sept. 4, 1875, were as follows: Established—Elgin, Ionia County, Ira Wood, Postmaster. Discontinued—Fairville, Mason County, Edwin M. Comstock, Postmaster. Name changed from Lake Linden, Houghton County, to Lake Linden. Postmasters appointed—Alma, Monroe County, J. E. Graber. Intermediate, Ionia County, Mrs. Mary Ann Bowen. Harvey, Marquette County, A. A. Hart.

A DESTRUCTIVE storm visited East Saginaw on the afternoon of the 9th. A house occupied by Frank Valley was blown over and badly damaged, but no person was injured. The loss of the house and furniture amounting to $500. The lady of the house was severely injured and a child was killed by a falling tree. Two other buildings were struck by lightning and badly moved. Little seriously stunned and two others slightly hurt. A large number of trees and chimneys were blown down. The wires of the Western Union Telegraph Company were blown down and communication temporarily cut off.

THE lands apportioned to the several counties of the State by the Auditor-General on the 6th of September, and published in the Lansing Republican of the 8th, are shown in the following table. The aggregates only are here given:

County.	Amount of Taxable Real Estate.	Apportionment of Valuation.
Allegan	$ 4,000,000 00	$ 20,000 00
Alpena	13,250,000 00	66,250 00
Antrim	2,000,000 00	10,000 00
Arenac	350,000 00	1,750 00
Barry	5,000,000 00	25,000 00
Bay	7,750,000 00	38,750 00
Berrien	18,000,000 00	90,000 00
Branch	11,000,000 00	55,000 00
Calhoun	21,000,000 00	105,000 00
Cass	6,000,000 00	30,000 00
Cheboygan	450,000 00	2,250 00
Clare	400,000 00	2,000 00
Clinton	6,000,000 00	30,000 00
Crawford	Attached to Kalkaska.
Delta	500,000 00	2,500 00
Emmet	11,250,000 00	56,250 00
Genesee	17,000,000 00	85,000 00
Gladwin	Attached to Midland.	50 00
Grand Traverse	2,000,000 00	10,000 00
Gratiot	2,850,000 00	14,250 00
Hillsdale	8,000,000 00	40,000 00
Huron	1,000,000 00	5,000 00
Ingham	14,000,000 00	70,000 00
Ionia	14,150,000 00	70,750 00
Isabella	1,400,000 00	7,000 00
Jackson	26,000,000 00	130,000 00
Kalamazoo	12,000,000 00	60,000 00
Kalkaska	200,000 00	1,000 00
Kent	24,000,000 00	120,000 00
Lapeer	11,000,000 00	55,000 00
Leelanau	1,000,000 00	5,000 00
Lenawee	20,000,000 00	100,000 00
Livingston	9,000,000 00	45,000 00
Macomb	15,000,000 00	75,000 00
Manistee	1,000,000 00	5,000 00
Manitou	Attached to Leelanau.
Marquette	3,000,000 00	15,000 00
Mason	1,000,000 00	5,000 00
Mecosta	1,000,000 00	5,000 00
Menominee	1,000,000 00	5,000 00
Midland	1,000,000 00	5,000 00
Missaukee	200,000 00	1,000 00
Monroe	20,000,000 00	100,000 00
Montcalm	2,000,000 00	10,000 00
Montmorency	Attached to Alpena
Muskegon	3,000,000 00	15,000 00
Newaygo	2,000,000 00	10,000 00
Oakland	31,000,000 00	155,000 00
Oceana	2,000,000 00	10,000 00
Ogemaw	250,000 00	1,250 00
Ontonagon	600,000 00	3,000 00
Osceola	1,000,000 00	5,000 00
Oscoda	Attached to Alpena
Otsego	1,000,000 00	5,000 00
Ottawa	5,000,000 00	25,000 00
Presque Isle	450,000 00	2,250 00
Roscommon	Attached to Midland
Saginaw	18,000,000 00	90,000 00
St. Clair	15,000,000 00	75,000 00
St. Joseph	8,000,000 00	40,000 00
Sanilac	8,000,000 00	40,000 00
Shiawassee	11,000,000 00	55,000 00
Tuscola	12,000,000 00	60,000 00
Van Buren	11,000,000 00	55,000 00
Washtenaw	20,000,000 00	100,000 00
Wayne	65,000,000 00	325,000 00
Wexford	500,000 00	2,500 00
Totals	$600,000,000 00	$3,000,000 50

Venetian Customs.

A WRITER on Venetian life says: "With a people as poor and as indifferently fed as the Venetians, strong drink is not indulged in, but coffee is as a necessity, and the street venders of that beverage drive a thriving trade at early morning and at night in that stimulating beverage, which they prepare in the open air. At an open fire in a shortiron cylinder is placed the fragrant berry, over which presides a venerable old man with a face and beard which would serve as a model for a mediæval saint. Night and day will his labors perfume the small square and can even the odors as numerous as those of Cologne commemorated by Byron in his sarcastic mention of the Cathedral City. Near by can be seen a vender of cakes of Indian meal, 'hot and hot,' and the wandering organ-grinders, inspiring frantic street-dances in the ragamuffin boys of the neighborhood, whose their fabled theatre as might have been supposed to have hit ten, given melodious discourage to increase the ardors which make night seem until the 'wee sma' hours;' for life is spent chiefly out of doors in good weather—at least so long as the temperature of the great mass of the population, to whom what we call 'home' is the most uninviting of all places. Besides the Venetian is a most abstemious race, and have really but one meal a day—dinner—and that, with the aid of a dish of coffee, coudes a siesta, some boiled beef, vegetables, and the cheapest of the country Orvieto boiled and milk constitute breakfast, and the supper is the same. For meat I must tell you, cannot be equal to that of the Orientals, and it is taken frequently throughout the day, the peasant and poor in cheaper cuts—generally consisting of the cheapest and poorest—but the great bulk of the population, have been standing in the embrasures of the old Venetian country for the Presidency. Then, as now, the Republican party was divided into two factions, the Conservatives and Liberals. The Conservatives were in favor of the election of Gen. Grant, and the Liberals were opposed to it

THE SENTINEL.

CHARLEVOIX, MICH.

WILLARD A. SMITH, Editor and Proprietor.

TUESDAY, - - SEPT. 28, 187

MACKINAC.

All About the Great Historic Landmark.

The following is an extract from the Detroit Tribune's Mackinac letter:

Now upon the blue heights of Mackinac are plainly visible, and at last just on the boat lands at the wharf of the quiet old town beneath them. It is an abrupt transition from the thick forests and frankly built villages of Northern Michigan to the ancient place with its quaint houses and its french aspect. There are only two streets, and one of them ends in a gateway, and winds like a cow path along the shore. There are no sidewalks to speak of, and if there were no one would walk on them. Promenaders use naturally to the middle of the road, and where the road is lined with houses on both sides it does not seem much wider than a broad municipal alley. Many of the houses are simply smoke-dried now slowly rotting away. They are not high, and one marvels that they could ever have been made fit a protection. They are composed of heavy stakes like ordinary fence posts, pointed at the top and driven into the ground in quick succession. From the signs over the store doors, the principal traffic appears to be "fishing outfits," but the chief industry of the place seems, beyond question, in charging high prices for boarding at the hotels, of which there are three, at least, of aristocratic pretensions, besides one or two more that are run on a cheaper basis. As hotel-keeping, as well as financiering, the hotels are prominent features of the town. They are huge straggling frame buildings, full of devious turnings, and, indeed, in some little adapted to their present use as they were built for for different purposes. Two of them, at least, have their history and traditions. The "Mission House," with its long piazza and its white-washed gables was built by the American Board of Missions for a headquarters in the wilderness, and some 48 years ago was the birthplace of Senator Perry. The headquarters of the old American Fur Company are also converted into the John Jacob Astor House, whose host boasts its origin in his advertisements. The Island House may have traditions, too, but the writer herself knows not of them, and can only aver that it is as well kept as if there were a story for every flight of stairs in it.

The hotel-keepers in their annual announcements dwell much on the fact that the forty-third Congress made a National Park of Mackinac. One of them, referring with courteous impartiality to the different species of his guests, says: "This fact, connected with our climatic advantages to the sick, lame and lazy, will in the future render Mackinac Island the most popular summer resort in the United States," etc. Why it should be a park though, if the word is to be taken in the English sense, it is hard to see. There is no game on the island. There are not even woodchucks or rabbits. But the scenery is beautiful. The southern face of the island rises abruptly 150 or 200 feet, the heights are crowned with evergreens and tangled thick with clumps of juniper and straggling firs. Daturnell's guide book contains an admirable map that will easily take any one to the various spots of interest, although he omits the footpath that winds along the heights out to the famous Arched Rock. These points can all be visited in half a day, and fully explained if one is so fortunate as to have a well-read friend along.

One can begin, if he likes, with the white-washed citadel of Fort Mackinac, where brass cannon frown down upon the street from behind a crumbling rampart, that would tumble into hopeless ruin at the explosion of a well directed bomb. It is garrisoned by a part of the 22d U. S. Infantry, and is said to have been built by the English about ninety years ago, but it is of little use now except as a military post, and evidently no one thinks it worth while to put it into a condition for possible wars. From the rear one may wander into it almost without knowing it, for the wall does not extend quite around it, and one may loiter through, catching glimpses of the neat quarters of the men, but scarcely meeting a living creature, unless it be one of a pair of beautiful greyhounds that come bounding out to greet him. Eastward from the fort the narrow footpath already spoken of leads to Arched Rock, past other spots of interest. One comes first to a projecting height rising perpendicularly from the water, and known as Robinson's Folly, because long ago a communicant of that name built him a summer house on the edge of the cliff, to which he used to resort for riotous revelling, but which, one night, soon after he and his drunken companions had left it, and gone back to the fort, fell with the breaking cliff into the waves beneath. Near this a higher point, from which the view of the isles, the straits, the island and the distant main land is very grand, especially when flushed with the splendor of sunrise. The path leads on by Maiden's Rock, the Fairy Arch of the Giant's Stairway, and Leaning Rock, and at length comes in sharply to the great natural curiosity of the island, the Arched Rock. The natives that lie in ascending a kind of crater, and the next instant finds rising before him, a natural bridge, through the opening of which he see the blue waters rippling 150 feet below. It is wonderfully beautiful, and it is not surprising to hear that the Indians held it to be a gateway of the great spirits that dwelt in the island. Scrambling down the crater, and half sliding through still another arch that pierces the solid rock like the entrance to a cave, the sight-seer can reach the shore. Over the tall arch itself fools took their way with reckless daring: it is said that one feminine effort once carried a baby across it. But people of ordinary nerve content themselves with standing on the edge of a neighboring precipice and looking down to the sounding waves. There is some steeper even in this. A young lady not long since tripped over a straggling root within six feet of the edge, and stumbled forward in the struggle by her agile and unnerving escort to time to save her from rolling over the brink, which on right or height fall take less if it had not been there. At least one had the benefit of the sensation that comes from an exceedingly narrow escape. From this point one can daily see the lighthouse on Spectacle Reef, seventeen miles away, at times directed only by a faint vapory appearance on the horizon like the specter of a light vessel.

A carriage road, winding sometimes through beautiful bay overlooks, made by the interlacing boughs of the trees that line the way, leads three miles across the island to the pebbly beach known as the "British Landing." It is the point where the English forces disembarked in 1812, and the Americans in 1814 for the capture of the fort, and the road passes the battle ground where the Americans were defeated in the latter attempt. Another drive takes one to the tall cedars, rock bound as the name hint, a mile or so back of the town. This gives another chance for the clambering tourist, who must needs scramble below say up its precipitous sides holding on by the evergreens that grow there. On one side is a little cave, reached by a ladder. Here, as elsewhere, you find the names of those who have come before, written in pencil on the stony surface. The principal remaining objects of curiosity are always beyond Sunny Side, a group of fishermen's cabins to the west of the village, and consist of Chimney Rock, a study for geologists, the Devil's Kitchen, and the high rock famed as the Lover's Leap. The romantic legend about the latter place is that an Indian girl, whose warrior lover had fallen in fight, flung herself from the summit of the rock. The following pathetic passage from the received version of the story explains the reason of the tradition:

"Mesheemeckok mungonya's heart buckled its bastings, and all the warm emotions of that heart were chilled and dead; the moving, living spirit of her beloved Gogiwegwan she witnessed continually, beckoning her to follow him to the happy hunting grounds of spirits in the West; he appeared to live in human shape, but was invisible to the rest of his tribe."

If one is of a commercial as well as an antiquarian turn of mind, he can begin a wet day by looking over the letter-books and journals of the old American Fur Company, which are kept on exhibition at the (John Jacob) Astor House. The business letters of the company's agents were all carefully written out in the copy books, and run from the winter of 1816-17 to 1822. They are in themselves a plain and interesting history, showing something of the difficulties and perils met by Astor's fur company, more than fifty years ago in a remote wilderness, or its bitter rivalry with the Canadian fur company of Lord Selkirk, and of occasional dealings with the United States government in reference to various matters, such as storing its ammunition in the fort, with whose officers the agent does not seem to have been always on the best of terms. The letters are subscribed with almost diplomatic precision and are evidently the work of a keen and accomplished man of business. When the headquarters of the company at Mackinac were broken up many of its books and papers, besides those here mentioned, were left behind and are an almost forgotten relic of what, at the opening of the century, was the greatest trading interests in all this Northern Territory.

NOTICE.—U. S. Land Office, Traverse City, Mich., July 24, 1875. Complaint having been entered at this Office by Stephen L. Hicks, against Joseph Freund, for abandoning his Homestead Entry No. 4286, dated Nov. 17, 1871, upon Lots 6, 7, 8, Section 18, Township 32 N., 5 West, with a view to the cancellation of said entry; the said parties are hereby summoned to appear at this office on the 6th day of October, 1875, at 1 o'clock P. M., to respond and furnish testimony concerning said alleged abandonment.

SETH C. MOFFATT, Register.
PERRY HANNA, Receiver.

"SHTOP A LEETLE!"

Spring Harbor,

HEAD OF PINE LAKE.

The Secret of Wonderful Growth and Success.

Way up in the north is a very smart town, In the country all over it is gaining renown.

It's in Charlevoix county and Spring Harbor Town.

The soil is as rich if you plant a small seed, To give a big yield it never will fail

It surely is so for the people all say That soil is a wonder the very next day.

Is Charlevoix county and Spring Harbor Town.

There are the merchants who're up to their trade, Will sell you her goods before they are made—

In Charlevoix county and Spring Harbor Town.

They'll sell stump below as tell you still low, But there secret of trade is they all attention

And once folks are crowded by millions of wants, While they will do enjoy the most perfect health.

In Charlevoix county and Spring Harbor Town

Then there are the doctors they'll cure you of ills, With syrups and drugs and various pills—

In Charlevoix county and Spring Harbor Town.

If they no you once make a professional call, Again in your life you'll be ill not at all, It they sell once or twice you'll them fail go clever.

You'll not die at all, but live on forever— In Charlevoix county and Spring Harbor Town.

If there is the "doctrine" the sheet of the age To give all the news it doth always engage

In Charlevoix county and Spring Harbor Town.

And the editor knows his business as well, Believe what I say, for the truth I do tell It a one is unsickened and left in his gore, It will give, just the news two or three days before.

In Charlevoix county and Spring Harbor Town.

Now I suppose you'll be glad to all know, How strangely it happens this to be so— In Charlevoix county and Spring Harbor Town

When the cause I do give, you all will chuckle This secret that leads to perfect success They get their goods cheaper than ever before.

For they buy all they use at Nichols's store.

YOU'RE CRAZY

TO PAY SUCH TERRIBLE PRICES FOR GOODS, WHEN BY CALLING AT THE

"REGULATOR"

You can purchase them at best THIRTY PER CENT less than any other place in this part of Charlevoix County. That is what we say at the "REGULATOR" We have lots of

NEW GOODS,

And more coming daily. We have Boots and Shoes for men; We have all kinds of Shoes for Ladies; we have Boots and Shoes and all kinds of nice things for the little ones. We have all kinds of DRESS GOODS; we have all kinds of CLOTH to make clothes for the men and boys. We have

PORK AND FLOUR,

And all kinds of Groceries such as

SUGARS,

TEAS,

COFFEES

SPICES,

OILS.

WE ALSO HAVE A LARGE ASSORTMENT OF

Farming Implements,

SUCH AS PLOWS, SHOVEL PLOWS, SCYTHES, SNATH'S RAKES, FORKS, HOES, CULTIVATORS AND DRAGS. ALSO AN ASSORTMENT OF

TINWARE.

So, if you'd buy cheaper than ever before, go to NICHOLS' Store, on Pine Lake shore, where the water doth roar, and all people, and more, say, that never before, in the country all over, did they see people pour into the door of a store, where they buy lots of goods and then buy some more; for they say he sells lower by thirty per cent or perhaps more, than ever before, at any man's store; so after reading this over, if still you'd know more, Tommie will

TURN THE CRANK TO THE MACHIN

And tell you if you wish to astonish yourself with low prices, that you must go to 99999 Gold Dust Avenue, nearly opposite to the Second National Bank, and directly opposite to the Metropolitan Hotel, Spring Harbor.

TRUY YOURS:

T. W. NICHOLS.

Carpenter & Bartholomew

Cheap Cash Store is just the Place to Buy Your Goods!

CARPENTER & BARTHOLOMEW'S

Standard Goods and Bottom Prices is their Motto.

South End of Bridge Street.

Charlevoix, Mich.

MEDICAL

HALL,

CHARLEVOIX,

JUST THE PLACE TO BUY

DRUGS

And Dye Stuffs,

JUST THE PLACE TO BUY

Patent Medicines

JUST THE PLACE TO BUY

Stationery, Ink and Pens.

And Pocket Inkstands.

JUST THE PLACE TO BUY

Perfumes and Hair Oils

Flavoring Extracts and Toilet Soaps.

JUST THE PLACE TO BUY

The Self-Adjusting Truss

JUST THE PLACE TO GET

Prescriptions Compounded

At all hours—light or day.

IN FACT, just the place to get anything you want in the Druggist line.

Cheap for Cash.

Next door opposite Stockman's Hardware Store.

GEO. W. CROUTER,
Druggist and Chemist.

Hemlock Bark!

The undersigned, agents of the Schooner "E. S. Stanton," would inform the people of Pine Lake and vicinity they are prepared to

Contract for Any Amount

Of Hemlock Bark to be delivered on the beach at Round or Pine Lakes or South Arm. The firm of Day, Rose & Buttars, Carpenter & Bartholomew, and Byron See, are our authorized agents, with whom contracts can be made, or with Mr. Weiskopf, of the firm of

CAPT. P. JOHNSON & Co.
Charlevoix, May 1, 1875.

N. B.—Samuel Holland, of Eveline, is also our authorized agent.

Read This.

The following instructive dialogue was overheard the other day:

Brown—I say, Jones, you seem to have been buying lots of groceries; where do you trade, Jones?

Jones—Why, I bought at

BYRON SEE'S

Grocery and Provision Store in Charlevoix It is a good place to trade.

Brown—Well, then, I guess I will as well there as you can I see you know you are sharp in a trade.

Jones—O, yes, of course you can. He uses all sticks. He says he likes a nimble sixpence and I guess he does from the prices he sells at.

1875. 1875.

A. C. Van Raalte

Capt. Alvin Dodge.

Will run during the season of 1875, as follows, between

Petoskey & Traverse City:

Will leave Petoskey at 6 o'clock a. m., on

Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays,

Arriving at Traverse City at 7 o'clock the same evening. Will leave Traverse City at 6 o'clock a. m. on

Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays, arriving at Petoskey the same evening touching at all intermediate ports on Traverse Bay, both ways.

Freemasonry.

As harmless to the outside world as the child at the breast of its mother, and ruled by the law of non interference in regard to all other organizations and associations, its operations are quiet and peaceful, and its history therefore is one of "peace on earth and good will to men."

It makes no agitations, creates no discords, sheds no blood, makes no widows, and knows nothing of orphanage except in its sympathies and charities.

It never proscribes, because it has no faith in proscription as a theory of reform or of human government. Its liberality of sentiment is the measure of its charities and wherever it lives its empire it is only to stay while it has supporters, and where it is not wanted it retires with becoming grace and without a single murmur.

Men and organizations of different kinds have for ages been waging war against its very existence without even knowing the alphabet of its genius or the power of its name. What it is they have often tried to divine without a single success, and all their efforts to destroy it have been equally abortive. Its very being has continued to be a mystery, while its solemn trend through the nations has surprised the whole world of Propagandists of every faith and order.

It has no permanent investment final to give on, and it sends out no missionaries to make proselytes or to extend its dominions. It claims no territory of earth as the boundary of its rule, and it asks no patronage at the hands of any Church or State. Its very existence indicates sui generis, while its conservative system of operations never interfere with either the rights or privileges of any other organization, whether civil, religious or fraternal.

It ignores all dogmatisms, laughs at all pretensions and pities the brainless folly of all enemies, as it well knows that the wildest storms may howl around it, and the fiercest thunders roll above it, without even harming a fiber of its mantle or disturbing the integrity of its organic character, and therefore it makes no defense even when the mightiest come against it. Its own Lodge room is its favorite retreat, for there it can go in safety when the world turns against it.

Governments have been its foes, and the oldest church on earth to this day is its enemy, and the old Mother of all is imitated by a number of her spawns in the same sort of bigoted vindictiveness. Still the institution of Masonry lives and flourishes in spite of them all. What they are Masonry does not choose to be, for if she once yielded to their spirit the genius of Masonry would also from the earth flee as its silliest angel, and we should hear of it no more forever.

Masonic power, like its genius, lives in the atmosphere of a charitable intelligence. It cannot breathe anywhere else, for it is a child of the higher humanities, and drinks only of pure crystal streams. Its temples, lit up by the lights of intelligence, humanity, and charity, have kindled a sanctified glow over the world and given to the benevolent of all classes examples which they cannot ignore without destroying their own prestige and inflicting upon themselves the pitiful contempt of the intelligent, the sympathetic and the noble. So mote it be.—Masonic Advocate

Mr. Marvin's Blunder.

Ex-congressman Marvin, who is the "warwick behind the throne" in the new United States Hotel, called on a carpenter yesterday and said,

"Mr. Thompson, we have a nice bar-room and we want a handsome bar made. Who can make the best one?"

"Well, I-I-I-I don't exactly know who could make a handsome b-barnaid," stammered Mr. Thompson.

"No, no, I want a nice, handsome bar, made——"

"W-w-well, deng it! If you want a handsome barmaid why don't you go over to T-T-Troy and get one?"

"No, no, no, man! I mean who made those I see all around town?"

"Great guns, Marvin! he'd know the deil devil do I know who made all the h-b-barmaids around town! I d-d-don't know and dand care who did," shrieked Mr. Thompson.—From Eli Perkin's New Book.

Six things are requisite to create a happy home. Integrity must be the architect, and tidiness the upholster. It must be warmed by affection, and lighted up with cheerfulness; and industry must be the ventilator, removing the stagnation and bringing in fresh salubrity every day while over all, a protecting canopy of glory, and nothing will suffice except the blessing of God.

NOTICE. U. S. Land Office, Traverse City, Mich., July 6, 1875. Complaint having been entered at this office by James Lewis against Joseph W. Stackus for abandoning his Homestead Entry No. 5172, dated Nov. 18, 1872, upon the N. ½ of S. W. ¼ section 22, Township 32 N., Range 6 West, Michigan, with a view to the cancellation of said entry; the said parties are hereby summoned to appear at this office on the 22d day of Sept., 1875, at 1 o'clock p. m., to respond and furnish testimony concerning said alleged abandonment.

SETH C. MOFFATT, Register.
PERRY HANNA, Receiver.

State Camp-Meeting Ground.

The Methodist people of this State are just beginning to move in the direction of securing grounds and establishing a permanent State Camp-Meeting to be held annually.

Some time ago Rev. Dr. McCarty, of Jackson, opened the question by an application to the Grand Rapids and Indiana Railroad Company for grounds somewhere within their land grant, and received from that corporation, through their solicitor, the Hon. D. Darwin Hughes, promises looking towards a donation of land that justified the appointment of committees by the two conferences to examine any tract which may be offered. If grounds can thus be secured which are suitable in all respects the committees are empowered to act in the location. Other railroad companies and extensive land owners are also putting in their bids, realizing fully the magnitude of such an enterprise, as well as the financial advantages which would accrue to any road or community upon or in which it might happen to be located.

As we understand this matter it is not intended to do away with the local camp meetings, which are annually held in different parts of the State, but to establish one general meeting in the State of Michigan which will be here what Martha's Vineyard is in the East. The point first to be made is the selection of suitable grounds, sufficiently extended to be easily protected against unnecessary huckstering and rowdyism, in a region entirely free from all material influence (on some large body of water like Saginaw or Traverse Bay, Pine or Bear Lake), in a position to be easily reached by railroad or water navigation, and where good fish are abundant, so that those Methodist parsons may follow the aquatical example, and once a year say to their parishioners, "I go a fishing."

The plan proposed is to park the grounds spending all the income from the sale of lots (putting them at a low figure) in improvements on the site. Such grounds, would inevitably invite the erection of several cottages of more or less pretension, where the hundreds, if not the thousands, could go to spend the hot summer months in quiet recreation and devotion. It would also be a rendezvous for weary people and preachers, from which they would return to their homes and toils greatly reinvigorated. It will not necessarily be confined to our Methodist friends, though under their control. At "Ocean Grove," "Sea Cliff," and "Martha's Vineyard" people of all religious views are made welcome and to it will be here.

We see no good reason why such an undertaking may not be successful. The Methodist denomination stands to full camp-meeting business—they own the patent—they have acquired somehow the secret of success. Moreover, the denomination in this State numbers something over fifty thousand members, presided over by four hundred ministers. Thousands of people from all portions of the country come to our State every year, and as our salubrious climate, clear water, beautiful scenery, and unsurpassed fishing grounds become known, we may feel certain of being able to vie with every portion of the continent in offering facilities for summer recreation and health getting.

The northern portion of the Lower Peninsula, near Petoskey or Cheboygan is unquestionably one of the most delightful regions in the State or nation for such an institution as is contemplated by the Methodist people, and its contiguity to Mackinac gives facility of travel by both water and rail from every direction. It is in this portion of the State we understand, that the committees will make their first investigations.—Detroit Tribune.

REAL ESTATE AGENCY

—OF—

H. L. MILLER,

CHARLEVOIX, MICH.

Transfers made, non-resident taxes paid and all other real estate business attended to promptly and on reasonable terms.

The following descriptions are offered for sale on special bargains:

EMMET COUNTY.

E. ½ of S. E. ¼ section 20, T. 37 N., R. 6 west. Containing 80 acres.

W. ½ of N. E. ¼ sec. 7, T. 34 N., R. 6 west. Containing 80 acres. Maple and beech.

N. ½ of S. E. ¼ section 29 Town 37 N. R. 6 W. ½ S. ½ of sec. section 3, Town 35, N. R. 6 W. Timber, maple and beech, elm, hemlock, basswood and ash.

CHARLEVOIX COUNTY.

The old Brady Farm, at Harnard P. O., on the Old Road, 3½ miles from Charlevoix. S. ½ of S. W. ¼ sec. 16, T. 33 N. R. 8 west, Marion, 30 acres improved; 60 fruit trees bearing; 12 acres in meadow; good double log house, barn, good well, and other conveniences. All inclosed with a first-rate fence. For terms address this agency, or N. Amelia, Charlevoix.

John Bull's farm, in Marion Township. One good frame house, 16x24, good cellar the full size of the house; frame barn 30x48, and a good cow shed; 25 acres cleared, and 15 of it in meadow; the best of soil; timber, maple, beech, elm, hemlock, cedar and black ash; good brook running through the farm, and three living springs. W. ½ of N. W. ¼ of section 34, Town 33 North, of Range 8 West.

E. ½ of the N. W. ¼ of section 34, Town 33 North, of Range 8 West. Good log house. Terms made easy.

16tfyr

NORWOOD.

F. J. MEECH & Co.

NORWOOD, MICH.,

DEALERS IN

DRY GOODS,

Groceries and Provisions,

Also Manufacturers of

HARDWOOD LUMBER,

Lath and Shingles.

THE SENTINEL

JOB PRINTING

DEPARTMENT

—IS—

COMPLETE

PLAIN and COLORED WORK

Promptly and Neatly Done

G. B. MILLS,

DEALER IN

Gen'l Merchandise,

Boyne Falls, Mich.,

Located adjacent to railroad, and careful attention is paid to the wants of customers

Cash Paid for Country Produce

People in the vicinity of the railroad and the head of Pine Lake, can make it for their interests to call and examine goods and prices.

May 22, 1876. 41y

FARM FOR SALE.

The subscriber offers for sale his farm in South Arm Township in lots to suit, containing 80 acres, thirty acres cleared and five acres fallow; short distance from grist and saw mill; orchard of apple trees, and forty cherry and plum trees. Well fenced; frame house, well finished and painted outside; log barn, etc. Price, $600—which is half the cost of the improvements.

CHAS H. A. HEALEY.
July 15, 1875. Advance Mich.

Wonderful Success

Three years ago Dr. Boschee's German Syrup was introduced in the United States from Germany for the cure of coughs, severe colds settled on the breast, Consumption and other T and Lungs No medicine ever had such a success. 260,000 sample bottles have been distributed every year for three years by Druggists in all parts of the United States, and nearly 1000 letters from Druggists are now on our files saying that no other preparation in their stores sells as well and gives such excellent satisfaction. All we ask is for you to go to your Druggist it. W. Cancross, and get a sample bottle for 10 cents and try it. Regular size 75 cents.

1y

NEW MILLINERY AND

Dress - Making

ESTABLISHMENT.

Fancy Goods, such as Canvas, Zephyrs, Tidies, Tidy patterns, Parasols, Kid Gloves, etc. Also Cashmere for Sacques, Dresses and Cloaks fitted and made in the latest fashions.

Charges Reasonable.

Rooms in Harry Newman's bakery building

MISS A. M. SACKETT
Charlevoix, June 17, 1875. 16tfy

DRUGS and MEDICINE

—

DR. LEWIS

Renders his thanks to the inhabitants of Charlevoix and vicinity for past patronage and solicits a continuance of the same. He has

JUST RECEIVED

A large stock of medicines, such as

Fluid Extracts,
Tinctures,
Essences
Oils of all kinds,
Gums,
Perfumery, etc

PATENT MEDICINES.

A large stock, such as Ayres, Jayn Sconiles, Peterman's Blackman's, Sage's & Herrick's.

A Full Supply of Dye Stuffs.

All goods sold as cheap as by any house north of Grand Rapids.

I Keep What I Advertis

FOX, ROSE & BUTTARS

Charlevoix.

THE SUMMER OF 1875

LOWER! LOWER!

Go the Prices!

WE CAN AND WILL

SELL CHEAPER

Than any other House in Charlevoix,

Our Neighbors

Are Cutting Down on Cetain Articles; We cut down on

Everything!

If You Don't Believe It,

COME AND SEE

For Yourselves.

YARD WIDTH COTTON FOR 10

TEA--3 Pounds for $1.

SUIT of Coths for $8.

The Best Goods,

Regardless of Profit.

Are Always Kept.

FOX, ROSE & BUTTARS

A Dead Man.

It was just before the opening of the railway from Tagunrog to Kharkof in 1869, and I was driving those dreary distances last autumn. For the first two days and nights the weather was lovely, but on the third morning, even after sunrise, the sky became covered with heavy, torn and jagged clouds, a northerly wind arose, and with thunder, lightning, cold gale and snow, the winter burst on us as it yearly breaks on Southern Russia. In half an hour the rich, black, rolling plains had become an ocean of inky mud, and we reached the post station at Donski only to find the order "Impossible to proceed."

I called for tea, and the samovar was brought in by a fine, upright, grey-bearded man, whom, from his black velvet tunic and abundant sleeves I took to be the Postmaster himself. He was followed into the room by a noble-looking Cossack woman of his own age, who said: "Let the husband, why don't you ask the lord if he will eat a partridge and a bit of bread? The kalmpatka is plump, and the day will be long before his troika can be harnessed to face the storm." She smiled sweetly as she spoke—he smiled lovingly upon her; then she left us, holding hands like

"Two who in love so well agree
As scarce to wish a third."

I was sure it was a love-match, and was glad to see it. Her husband, on being questioned, told me that he was a retired soldier, and had married his present wife when she was a girl of fifteen, and he a widower of forty-five, with one child, a daughter, who was now married and settled in Kharkof. Then he left us, holding his greyish back "That was in love with you, still,

And you with her, Postmaster, I said."

"You must have beaten her well when she was young for her to love you so. How long is it since you were married?"

"I am sixty," he replied, "I was married at twenty-four, thirty-five years ago, five years before Sebastopol."

"Then you have been my enemy. Is it possible that you don't know my story? You must have come from a long way off for I have read that it is told even upon the Amur."

Accustoming his eyes, across a chair, with a frown all the while.

It was then in 1860, and you remember the letters from Paris set my father and many Russians of the time. Those were stormy days, when every Cossack was an enemy to Gaul, and when the Russian Fleet was King of Europe. Sailing from the Turkish seat of the Prince and found and repair of the white star. Now, this Drowning, my mother's love to bring them his Great Russian sleeves, and for some my other morning plaid have long upon the wind and sea, and so several different pastedfiles, and being retained each time with information regarding the sender's new letter, with its valuable, or valuable, it may be, contents, finally reaches its nominal writer. Letters have been known to travel around a year or more in this way. When the writer has heard the receipt is returned with his signature. The fact is recorded on the books and the letter is sent. It happens that neither the writer nor the person to whom a letter containing money is addressed can be found, and in this case, after a reasonable search, the letter is transmitted to the Dead Letter Office, from which it is forwarded to the Auditor's office, and the money is deposited in the United States Treasury to the account of the Dead-Letter Office, from which it can be refunded by the sender at any time within four years, providing satisfactory evidence can be shown that the claimant is entitled to the same. After four years an act of Congress only can restore it to its original possessor.

The same is done with checks, drafts, bills of exchange, commercial paper of this character, although these are more easily traced because of the signatures, endorsements, etc. Very frequently large sums of money are found to have strayed into the "pound" for vacants, almost always because of the carelessness of the sender. The other day a check for $10,000 was found in a partially-directed envelope. The drawer of the check was easily known from his signature and the letter-head used, and he has receipted for his valuable inclosure. This is no longer a rare occurrence in this way. Several months ago a check for $25,000, drawn to bearer, came to light, when an unassuming citizen stepped upon the counter was easily found.

The largest piece of commercial paper ever known to come into the Dead Letter Office was a bill of exchange from a San Francisco bank on a Chicago bank for about $1,000,000. This was in 1865, and it will be noticed that the value of the bond differs that year was somewhat larger than it ever was before.—Wash. Cor. Chicago Times.

The New Weather System.

Conray is the inventor of an improved system of foretelling the weather. He has a lot of barometers, hygrometers and such things in his house, and he claims that by an hour's study every morning he can tell what the clouds in accordance with his theory a noon can prophesy what kind of weather there will be three days ahead. They were getting up a Sunday-school picnic in town in May, and as Cooley ascertained that there would be no rain on a certain Thursday they selected that day for the purpose. The day looked gloomy when they started, but as Cooley declared that it absolutely couldn't rain on Thursday everybody felt that it was safe to go. About ten hours after the party reached the grounds, however, a shower came up, and it rained so hard that it ruined all the provisions, wet everybody to the skin and washed all the cake to dough. Besides, Peter Starke was struck by lightning. On the following Monday the agricultural exhibition was to be held, but as Mr. Cooley foresaw that there would be a terrible northeast storm on that day he suggested to the President of the society that it had better be postponed. So they put it off, and that was the only clear Monday we had during May. About the first of June Mr. Cooley announced that there would not be any rain until the 15th, and consequently we had showers every day right straight along up to that time, with the exception of the 10th day, when there was a slight sift of snow. So on the 17th Cooley foresaw that the rest of the month would be wet, and by an odd coincidence a drought set in and it only rained once during the two weeks, and that was on the day which Cooley informed the base-ball club that it could play a match, because it would be clear.

On toward the first of July he began to have some doubts if his improved weather system was correct he was convinced that it must work by contraries; so when Prof. Jones asked him if it would be safe to attempt to have a display of fireworks on the night of the 5th, Cooley brought the improved system into play, and discovered that it promised rainy weather on that night. So then he was certain it would be clear, and he told Prof. Jones to go ahead.

On the night of the 5th, just as the professor got his Catherine wheels and sky rockets all in position, it began to rain, and that was the most awful storm we have had this year. It rained the river nearly three feet. As soon as it began Cooley got the ax and went upstairs and smashed his hydrometers, hygrometers, barometers and thermometers. Then he cut down the pole that upheld the weather-cock, and burned the manuscript of his book which he was writing to explain the rest of his system. He leans on "Old Probs" now when he wants to ascertain the probable state of the weather.—Max Adeler, in N. Y. Weekly.

A Collection of Puzzling Questions.

An ingenious correspondent of the Herald of Health gives the following fifty questions, each to be answered by the name of a well known author. The guessing of these questions will form a pleasant evening entertainment:

1. What a rough man said to his son when he wished him to eat properly.
2. Is a lion's housecleaning in the side of a hill where there is no water.
3. Pilgrims and flatterers have much love to kiss him.
4. Makes and mends for first class customers.
5. Represents the dwelling of civilized men.
6. Is a kind of linen.
7. Is worn on the head.
8. A name that means such fiery things, I can't describe the flames and sting.
9. Belongs to a monastery.
10. Not one of the four points of the compass, but inclining toward one of them.
11. Is what no oyster soup is like to be.
12. Is a chain of hills containing a dark passage.
13. Always youthful as you see, but, believe me and me, he never was much of a chicken.
14. An American manufacturing town.
15. Humpbacked but not deformed.
16. An internal pain.
17. Value of a word.
18. A nonsense whose name begins with fifty.
19. A laughter and master of than the other one.
20. A worker in precious metals.
21. A vital part of the body.
22. A lady's garment.
23. A small talk and heavy weight.
24. A perch and a disease.
25. Comes from a pig.
26. A disagreeable fellow to have on one's feet.
27. A dark place of worship.
28. A noted dog Sir.
29. An official dreaded by the students of English universities.
30. His middle name is suggestive of an Indian or a flotilentee.
31. A manufactured metal.
32. A game and a make of the human species.
33. An answer to which is the greater part. William Shakespeare of Martin F. Tupper?"
34. Maid! What are you doing?
35. Is very bad indeed.
36. A barrier built by an edible.
37. To agitate a weapon.
38. Red as an apple, black as night, a heavenly sign or a perfect fright.
39. A domestic worker.
40. A slang exclamation.
41. Pack away closely, never scatter, and in doing so you'll soon get at her.
42. A young domestic animal.
43. One that is more than a scaly mone.
44. A fraction in currency and the pre vaning fashion.
45. Mamma is in perfect health, my child; and they lie named a poet mild.
46. A girl's name and a male relation.
47. Take a heavy field piece, nothing loth.
48. Put an edible grain twice an ant and a tee, and a much-loved poet you'll see.
49. Common domestic animal, and what it can never do.
50. Each living head in time, 'tis said, will turn to him though he be dead.

ANSWERS.

1. Chaucer. 2. Dryden. 3. Pope. 4. Taylor. 5. Holmes. 6. Holland. 7. Hood. 8. Burns. 9. Abbott. 10. Southey. 11. Shelley. 12. Coleridge. 13. Young. 14. Lowell. 15. Campbell. 16. Alsop. 17. Words. 18. Scott. 19. Laughter. 20. Goldsmith. 21. Harte. 22. Spencer. 23. Chatterton. 24. De Quincy. 25. Bacon. 26. Bunyan. 27. Churchill. 28. Curtis. 29. Hooker. 30. W. Savage Landor. 31. Steele. 32. Youngson. 33. Willis. 34. Browning. 35. Swift. 36. Cornwall. 37. Shakespeare. 38. Crabbe. 39. Cooke. 40. Dickens. 41. Shaw. 42. Lamb. 43. Beecher. 44. Milton. 45. Mordsworth. 46. Addison. 47. Hillyer. 48. Bryant. 49. Cowper. 50. Bray.

THE Ocala (Ga.) Banner says that John Simpson has a turkey gobbler that some time since became animated with the maternal spirit, and by his actions and manneuvers showed very plainly that he wanted to be a mother. He (the gobbler) took to a nest and set one week without having any eggs placed under him. Mr. Simpson then concluded to let him try his hand on three eggs. The gobbler set three weeks and brought forth a brood of three young chickens that now follow this self-constituted mother, who acts toward them in precisely the same manner as an hen would.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS.

A KNIFE SHARPENER.—It is a difficult matter to obtain a "steel" which retains its sharpening qualities for any length of time. A common round file answers the purpose admirably. Fasten it in an old knife-handle, and it is ready for use.

GRAHAM COOKIES.—Two cups of sugar, one cup and a half of sour cream, half teaspoonful of soda dissolved in the cream; mix quickly, roll and bake. These require less heat and more time in baking as Graham instead of fine flour is used.

MOTHS lodge in walls and closets should be first filled with lime and afterward pasted over with plaster of Paris, mixed with water. It is a good plan to keep a paper of the latter in every house, as it is useful in filling cracks, and, in fact, comes in many other ways into household economy.

PIPES, PUTTY, in Arthur's, gives a recipe for making mince pies in warm weather. A cup and a half of chopped raisins, one cup of sugar, one cup of molasses, one cup of warm water, half a cup of vinegar or sour boiled cider, two well-beaten eggs, five crackers pounded fine. Stir all together and season with spices to other mince pies. Bake with rich crust. For the top crust, roll them, cut in narrow strips, twist, and lay across.

BOSTON BREAKFAST CAKE.—One quart of flour, two teaspoons of cream of tartar rubbed into the flour, two tablespoons of brown sugar, one salt, one egg, a little salt, teaspoon of soda dissolved in as much sweet milk as will make the ingredients adapt the consistency of pound cake dough. Grease a pan with lard, place the muffin rings in the pan, having them also well greased, fill them half full and bake in a quick oven.—Corner-stone Telegraph.

APPLE JAMS.—Peel and quarter the apples; put them in a preserving kettle, and for every quart of prepared apples allow a pint of water. Cook gently until they are ready to fall apart, then strain through a jelly bag or colander, and add to the liquor its weight of sugar. Boil as for other jellies. If sweet apples are used the juice of lemons should be added to give an acid taste, and the peel be employed to flavor the jelly. The jelly may be used for pie or sauce.—N. Y. Tribune.

AUNT POLLY'S PUDDING.—Take thin slices of light bread, well buttered, put a layer in the bottom of a dish, then a layer of raspberries, well sprinkled with sugar, then another layer of bread, then another of berries and so on until the dish is fully full, cover with a plate, and bake an hour in a quick oven, or three-quarters in a slower one. When baked, beat the white of an egg to a froth, add a tablespoonful of powdered sugar, spread it evenly over the top of the pudding, brown it in the oven and serve.—Intercontinental.

QUINCE JELLY.—Quinces for jelly should not be quite ripe; they should be a little yellow; rub off the down from them, core them and cut them small; put them in a preserving kettle with a teacup of water for each pound; let them stew gently until very soft; without mashing, put them in a muslin bag with the liquor, and let stand very slightly; to each pint of the liquor put a pound of sugar; boil until all is dissolved, then let it cover the fire and boil a real gently, until by cooling some on a plate, you find it a good jelly, then turn it into pots or tumblers.

Subsoiling.

AS MUCH care and more is to be exercised in subsoil plowing as in surface culture. The difficulty with our subsoiling is, we do it when too wet. The surface ground may be in proper condition to work, but either the model not be dry—and set the ground immediately under may be, and it ought to be, too wet. Plowed in this condition, it will pack, or break up in lumps, leaving place for the water to settle in, but not thrilling for the roots of plants; that requires a loose, mellow texture, just what can never be gotten except at the proper time, which is of course, positively rare occurrence. In a drouth, when not or too long standing, is usually a good time for subsoiling. To course we have reference to a clay soil, as sandy or marly land does not much require under working. It is the clays, all or nearly all of them, that require this, and they immediately and urgently demand it. They are cold, compact, and more or less wet below; also sour and unmvriting to plant occupation.

Underworking of clay land cannot be done in the spring or in a wet fall, neither in a sandy, except months, unless the land becomes hard and crarkled. It is too stubborn then for the plow, either above or below. Sometimes a whole season will forbid underworking, the ground being too wet; nearly the same may be said of a season of severe drouth. The point between, neither too wet nor too dry. Before only same time it is proper to subsoil land and do it deeply; that is, break up to a good depth the will, new soil that has never been disturbed by the plow, which is the case with most land.

It is not, therefore, to be wondered at that subsoiling is not in better repute. It has been done at random, ignorantly. The bad soil below has been made worse. Some pulverulent close clays have been converted into mortar-beds. A more compact and intractable condition has been the results. Now and then, however, there is a favorable report, showing that the thing has been done with a proper width of the plow to loosen all the soil—and leave ridges between the passages. And there next, the second plowing effected, and sometimes the third. This will be objected to on account of the labor it involves, and the objection has its force. But the operation need not be repeated every year, varying in frequency somewhat according to the nature of the land. A good loosening of the soil will admit warmth, and to some extent air which was before excluded. The warm rains will pass through it and start decomposition. The frosts will further be a benefit. In other words you have two forces overlapping each other, united in realizing the drouth and disposing of the excess of water, the latter, however, only fully accomplished by the further aid of underdraining; and it needs this to give full play to subsoiling.

We have stated what the condition of the soil (undersoil) must be, namely, the point between the wet and the dry, always avoiding the wet, yet sometimes admitting of the dry, where no obstinate, and yielding to a mellow condition. And this but must be the first animal at, as it is in the culture of the upper soil—mellow through-out, increasing largely the amount of the tillable soil. All work on the farm requires to be done well, but this calls, perhaps for the most care of any. Some soils, of course, will admit of subsoiling at all. These are the constantly wet (below). Drainage is the only remedy here. Unless we drain our land more and subsoil more, we shall remain far from a full realization of the advantages which our land has in store for us.—N. Y. Tribune.

Planting Raspberries and Blackberries.

WE have many inquiries as to the best time to set the slaves—whether "fall or spring is the best." We have always had the best success with fall planting. First, because every plant grows, leaving no vacancies in the row, while in spring set some days we always fail to have a good results as their coming, and lines some vacancies in the rows and, as these cannot be filled up until the following fall they are always behind others season. Second, fall set plants make at least one third better growth the first year than those set in the spring. Third, we lose so much more time to attempt it in the fall than the spring, and hence can make so much better job of it.

It is well known that plants cannot be set in the spring unless the land is of a very light, sandy nature, or so full of grass as to be mostly unsettled or kept wet by rains, and hence most persons fail to get them planted on time before the latter part of spring, and then, the dry weather coming on, many failures and vacancies occur. The best spring plants to set are those with a good ball of earth, and these are generally sold by the thousand. Next to these are the strong, well-rooted plants, and last those with small, poor roots. Never set plants with long, straight roots, as they are very hard to get to grow.

Set plants in the row, while in spring we always fill in before the first animal at, as it is in the culture of the upper soil—mellow through-out, increasing largely the amount of the tillable soil. All work on the farm requires to be done well, but this calls, perhaps for the most care of any. Some soils, of course, will admit of subsoiling at all. These are the constantly wet (below). Drainage is the only remedy here. Unless we drain our land more and subsoil more, we shall remain far from a full realization of the advantages which our land has in store for us.—N. Y. Tribune.

Seeds of Fruit Trees.

As early as practicable in the fall, have my ground plowed as deep as it can be done and subsoiled as fine as possible. I lay out the ground in rows fifteen inches apart, making the rows six inches wide and about two inches deep. I then drop the seeds evenly over four inches in the space, dropping so that they will be about an inch apart. I gather as many seeds as I can and plant them in the fall. I have never found any trouble in this direction or from the apples by covering with ashes. I plant all my seeds in the fall—plum, apple, cherry, peach, maple, ash, etc. I do not use cultivators on my apple or cherry seeds. An application of sifted coal-ashes in the spring after the plants are well up, will have made several good leaves, will materially benefit apple seedlings. Passing over the rows with the back of a rake will knock off any ashes that may have lodged on the plants. I find fifteen inches as a good width for space between the rows, and also find that I gain in ground and have less space for weeds to grow. I also find the use of a digging-fork better than a plow for working the seedlings, as less harm is done to them and the work is more effectual. The advantage of fall planting will be obvious to all. Nature does her planting then, and the freezing is done in order and regularity. As soon as the spring opens they begin to grow. There is no hurry to get the seeds in when pressed with spring work; no detention of business to lose, no worse or wet weather; no risk from rotting your apple seed by soaking and freezing, as by the old process. Nature takes charge of them in the ground, and the result is perfectly satisfactory. You can begin to cultivate the ground and keep down the weeds with but little trouble. I remember the remark made to me by a prominent Rochester nurseryman on a visit to this place. I gave him my mode in detail, and had the satisfaction of hearing him tell me that I would have the loss of time, seeds and labor as my reward. My reward did not come as predicted, but instead, I was offered $100 for the lot just as they were coming up. I preferred carrying the experiment through and was well rewarded for it. I never plum and cherry fully two and one-half years; peach three inches. No trouble to get through if your soil is light. I have given you the result of my labor, and I would only add that my faith in coal ashes increases with the use of them. I have never covered my seeds with coal, but had been thrown on the sub-pit in the fall sprout in the spring and grow to fine plants with a little care.—Rural New Yorker.

Results of Good Farming.

THERE is no more important or effective incentive to good farming than the experience and success of others. What has been done once may be done again, and the following letter from a New Hampshire farmer to the Mirror and Farmer of that State does not exceed the practical results which we have known in many other instances:

"I am what might be termed an eclectic farmer. I believe that firm ag. when conducted with—skill, pose my and enterprise than conducive any other fields of industry, almost unprecedented, that it is exhausting both soil and purse. I have studied my locality and surroundings to promote a higher moral and spiritual development than any of the numerous occupations of mankind, and therefore it pays. Nine years ago last fall I purchased the farm upon which I now reside, paying therefor $1,800—assuming $1,400 $800 on the purchase. For about three years previous to my purchase the farm had been neglected, and about seven years previous to that the owner made a really positive of selling about one-half of the land to Anglish boy, assuming no convivient thereby. He mostly kept three cows, a horse and a yoke of oxen, and the farm. The age of Huntington, N. Y., worked by being a small became by 'off' and about the same of meadow and wood, land.

"During the nine years of my ownership, I have paid for farm help, $2,924. I have sold of farm products over $ cost of $1,969.70, 124½ tons of shorts, cost, selling $678, leave paid out $622 for hay. I have purchased $140 of grain, seeds, etc., assuming in all to $3,621.79. My improvements during this period consist of a fine horse barn, 70x76 feet, with all the modern improvements, digging a well some seventy rods away, and supplying both house and barn with running water, putting in about 100 rods of underdrain, removing hundreds of tons of rocks from the fields, and bringing the land to such a state of cultivation as to cut last year twenty tons of hay, where eight was before, wintering more than double the stock the farm kept at the time when I purchased it. Such an outlay would cause many dombts and fears in the minds of most farmers, but to the most result. Now for the results. During these nine years I have sold from the dairy, besides what was consumed by the family, (and that not a small one) 8,518 pounds of butter for $2,695.56; calves and veal sold, $288.43; have fattened and slaughtered 11,812 pounds of pork, worth at the time of slaughtering $1,215; pigs sold, $182; poultry and eggs $713.28; forapples, $265, potatoes, $455.50; for beef and sundries, $850, making a total of $7,089.70.

"But this showing does not embrace the expense required in establishing a family, and all other expenses incident to living 4 fuel, by footing the yearly receipts and expenditures from all sources, that the account stands as follows: Total receipts, $12,915.35, expenditures, $11,225.68, balance of receipts over expenses, $1,689.87. But this is not all. An inventory of the stock on the farm over what it was nine years ago amounts to about $425. But to tell the whole story in as few words as possible, the debt of $800 has been wiped out, $425 worth of land added to the farm, all improvements above enumerated, and a little left for a rainy day. All this, let our sceptic say, has been made from the legitimate operations on the farm excepting about $150 made one season packing pork, and about $100 in purchasing cider apples and selling in Massachusetts. Is not such a result sufficient to satisfy any reasonable unbeliever? Can one out of ninety-nine in all other callings show a better record in the same length of time?

"The thousands of deserted homesteads throughout New Hampshire, the gradual diminution of our rural population, and the growth and increase of population in our cities and villages point unmistakably to a belief that farming is not remunerative. This I unhesitatingly deny. If it has proven unremunerative to such, it is only because of bad management, indifference and a want of proper skill and enterprise. This reducing the soil is what has robbed you. This fear of buying a bushel of grain, of feeding your beasts with a liberal hand, of tilling your soil and draining it with a true appreciation of its wants is what has wrought ruin in our midst."—Rural New Yorker.

ITEMS OF INTEREST.

A WISCONSIN hotel advertises boarders cheap. Beef bone soup, probably.

ONE of the latest to bring things in life is waiting for a rich old fool to drop off.

THE proudest people are invariably those who have the least to be proud of.

MR. H. Greeley still delights editors while shooting at a fat prairie chicken and missing.

THE latest dodge to get a man to work is to advertise for a nurse and housekeeper, which never reached the eye of the first wife, and on, his return she went to the former partner of her heart, told him of her sad condition and applied for the position as housekeeper. The husband knew not what to say; but after gulping her simple words for all time he consented to call around in the morning and see her. He did so, and the result is perfectly satisfactory. You can consult Mr. Greeley about the matter in the meantime.

PROMPTLY, is per agreement, wife No. 1 was on time as was the husband, and from there they went to the residence, where the wives had their first conversation, ending in their agreement for the first witness to come and accept the vacant place, and, accordingly she did, seemingly delighted at having a peaceful home for her lonely days. Husband No. 2 was kept in camp or has been hunted. Send that sufferer either or both of these injuries may be permanent, but it has not, as yet, as its fatality and should never be used for rapid better can possibly be secured. Do not use untried seed on the same ground. Let the seed of one year be the seed for the field be of one kind alone. You will thus know what kind you are growing and in a few years can reasonably count on an improvement in seed upon it. If possible, never use seed which is more than one year or, at most, two years old. Old seed may germinate well, but will not produce as strong plants, and may not. Prudence will suggest that seed should be used before it has been exposed to decay, to insects, to dampness or to other injurious agencies. Experience has taught that some of these are likely to injure the kernel if it is kept after the first year. The farmer who will select and prepare his seed wheat according to the above suggestions will greatly increase the chances in favor of having a fine crop next year.—N. Y. Herald.

A RAG saturated with cayenne will stop a rat-hole most effectually. Neither rat nor mouse will cause it to get at your provisions after you have filled your cupboards with supplies, and a little cayenne pepper scattered along the shelves will drive away ants and cockroaches.—Iowa State Register.

—Louisville had a novel matrimonial sensation a fortnight ago. A Chinee was the he to wed, and a lady of color the she.

—A fund of a million has been guaranteed to be expended in proving the economy of several of the Cottonwood (Col.) mines.

—A FARMER in Ohio has applied to the Patent Office, has applied to the Patent Office at Washington, for a patent on his own invention, and we should not be surprised if he got it.

—A PARSON—A. O. D. McCabe of this village, has applied to the Patent Office at Washington, for a patent on his own invention, and we should not be surprised if he got it.

—Louisville had a novel matrimonial sensation a fortnight ago. A Chinee was the he to wed, and a lady of color the she.

—A fund of a million has been guaranteed to be expended in proving the economy of several of the Cottonwood (Col.) mines.

—A FARMER in Ohio has applied to the Patent Office at Washington, for a patent on his own invention, and we should not be surprised if he got it.

—A PARSON—A. O. D. McCabe of this village, has applied to the Patent Office at Washington, for a patent on his own invention, and we should not be surprised if he got it.

COME AND SEE

WANTED AGENTS FOR THE

TEAS.

WILD LIFE FAR WEST

TEXAS!

79,000,000 ACRES

WALKER & KUEHLAW,

THE WORLD RENOWNED WILSON

RECEIVED THE GRAND PRIZE MEDAL. VIENNA, 1873.

WARRANTED FIVE YEARS!

It requires no Instructions to run it. It can not get out of order.
It will do every class and kind of work.
It will sew from Tissue Paper to Harness Leather.
It is as far in advance of Class Sewing Machines in its Mechanism of its superior improvements, as a Steam Car engine in achievements the old fashioned Stage Coach.

Prices made to suit the Times,

Either for Cash or Credit.

Send for Illustrated Catalogue of STYLES and PRICES. AGENTS WANTED.

Address: WILSON SEWING MACHINE CO.

CLEVELAND, OHIO, CHICAGO, ILL., NEW YORK, N. Y., NEW ORLEANS, LA., ST. LOUIS, MO.

Best in the World.

Ready for the Brush.

Send for Sample Card.

OPIUM Morphine Habit and Intemperance

DR. BLOOD'S

$77 A WEEK

$25 TO $50 PER DAY

FOR SALE

"Gardner House"

Cor. Michigan Av. and Jackson St., Chicago.

DONT NEGLECT YOUR TEETH

VAN BUSKIRK'S FRAGRANT

SOZODONT

AND PRESERVES THE TEETH

AND INVIGORATES AND HARDENS THE GUMS!

It imparts a delightfully refreshing taste and feeling to the mouth, removing all TARTAR and SCURF from the teeth, completely arresting the process of decay, and whitening such teeth as have become black by decay.

IMPURE BREATH

Is as harmless as water.

SOZODONT

Druggists and Dealers in Fancy Goods.

One bottle will last six months.

Now is the time to Subscribe!

Seven Five-Dollar premiums to every New Yorker Subscriber.

The New York Fireside Companion

PROSPECTUS FOR 1876.

MUNRO'S GIRLS & BOYS OF AMERICA.

A Large and Most Popular Weekly Paper for Young Folks.

TERMS FOR 1876.

AGENTS WANTED to canvass for the above two papers in every town and village where there are no newsdealers. Good wages can be made by any active person. Specimens sent with terms to any boy and girl that get subscribers. Address, as given above, for full particulars.

Address, GEORGE MUNRO, Publisher, 24 Park Row, New York.

P. O. Box 3657.

SIX CONTINUED STORIES

I WANT AGENTS

FOR THE LIFE AND ADVENTURES OF

Kit Carson

THE ONLY AUTHORIZED EDITION.

GUARANA

TARRANT'S SELTZER APERIENT

Nothing like it in existence. A luxury in the palate, a delicious exercise, agreeable stimulant to the circulation, a perspirative, and powerful promoter of digestion. Tarrant's Effervescent Aperient. SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS.

EUCALYPTUS.

THE LATEST NOVELTY. The Broadway Reducing WAIST and SKIRT SUPPORTER.

HOLDS BY AND PROTECTS CORSETS.

BITTERS

Shake Burns Cross Fever Tonic Sweat

YAWN STRETCH SHAKE

Dr. John H. Williams
Texas Pioneer
Hiram Dudley
Dr. J. Hamilton Byers
Leslie Thorne
Lieut. Wm. Bell
Addie Pomeroy
Petroleum V. Nasby
Mar. Fred'k Douglass

Original Humor, Jokes, Anecdotes, Poetry, Sketches, Stories, Adventures, Wit, Pathos, Fun, Sentiment, Romance, Science, Art, Literature, Music, Drama, Fashion, Gossip, Puzzles, Games, Facts, Figures, Statistics, Miscellany, Answers to Correspondents, Etc., Etc.

The best Readable Matter in any other weekly.

Not less than SIX CONTINUED STORIES

Sylvia Dunbar
Mary Kyndell Lambert
Clara Percy
Mrs. Jane G. Austin
Mrs. Mary E. Bryan
Mrs. Frank Leslie
Mrs. Ella Rodman Church
Mrs. Mary Dwight Bolles
Mrs. Mary Dwight Bolles
Mrs. Mary Dwight Bolles

The defeat of Mr. Alfred S. Worthward of Ypsilanti, was announced on Sunday the ten votes for the purpose having been brought at the way from the river Jordan, in Palestine. Suppose that child shouldn't grow up in the way it should go—wouldn't it be a little funny to hear him tell how they went all the way to Palestine for water with which to baptize him?

Carl Schurz is soon to take the stump for the Republican party in Ohio. He regards the financial issue at stake in the election in that State so so momentous as entirely to overshadow his differences with the Administration, and like Ex-Secretary Cox, William B. Grosvenor, General Hoblenschelf and many other leading Liberals of 1872, is back in the Republican ranks.

The Toledo Blade thinks the greatest danger now facing the Republicans of Ohio, is the possibility that the Times may flap over into their ranks.

When they asked a Grand Rapids man if he intended building near the dam, he answered, "not by a dam site," and he wasn't a profane man either.

If the reports about the lost propeller Equinox are true, the Lake Region is badly in need of a Plimsoll. She is said to have been overloaded with salt and lumber, and was unseaworthy besides. The story is told, too, that the engineer, before putting off, remonstrated with Mr. Shott, her owner, and said he would not risk his life on her. The owner got very angry with the "impudence" of the engineer, and wanted to get off and fight with him. However, it is to be said that Scott was willing to risk his life, as he took passage on her, which is not true of the British owners of rotten ships—Detroit Post.

There are two times in a man's life when he eagerly scans the newspaper—once when he has been in an awful mean scrape, and again, when he is looking for a puff.

Letters from Druggists,

There is no case of Dyspepsia that Green's August Flower will not cure. Come to the Drug Store of H. W. Chester, and inquire about it. If you suffer from Costiveness Sick Headache, Sour Stomach, Indigestion Liver Complaint, or derangement of the Stomach or Liver try it Two or three doses will relieve you.

Boerner's German Syrup is now sold in every town and city in the United States. We have not less than five hundred letters from druggists, saying it to be the best medicine they ever sold for consumption, Throat or lung diseases. Sample bottles of both for 10 cents. Regular size 75 cents.

SALE OF STATE TAX LANDS.

Auditor General's Office,
Lansing, Mich., July 1st, 1875.

Notice is hereby given that certain Lands situated in the county of Charlevoix bid off to the State for taxes of 1873, and previous years, and described in statements which will be forwarded to the office of the Treasurer of said County some time in September, will be sold at public auction, by said Treasurer, at the County seat, on the first Monday of October next, at the time and place designated for the ordinary Tax Sales, if not previously disposed of at this office according to law.

Said statements contain a full description of each parcel of said lands, must be examined to a completion at the office of the county Treasurer.

Lands struck off to the State for taxes of 1873, or other years, at the Tax Sales to be held as aforesaid will be offered subject to the right of redemption prescribed by law, as well as to the right of purchase of the State bids at this office, prior to the sale.

RALPH ELY,
Auditor General.

ANNUAL TAX SALES,

Auditor General's Office,
Lansing, Mich., Jul. 1st, 1875.

So much of each parcel of the several tracts or parcels of lands assessed in the county of Charlevoix, as appears for unpaid taxes for the years 1873 and below, as will be sufficient to pay the taxes, interest and charges thereon, will be sold by the Treasurer of said county, on the first Monday of October next, at such public sale, commencing at 10 o'clock a. m., and continuing from day to day, as may be necessary to complete the sale of said lands, and will be sold to the highest bidder for cash.

RALPH ELY,
Auditor General.

1874.

Town 32 North of Range 4 West.

Descriptions	Acres	Lots	Taxes	Interest	Charges	Total
lot 4 of	7	1 15	00	00	1 00	2 15

Town 32 North of Range 5 West.

ne¼ of ne¼	2	80	4 74	47	1 00	6 21
se¼ of ne¼	2	80	4 74	47	1 00	6 21
ne¼ of sw¼	2	79 43	4 68	46	1 00	6 13
se¼ of sw¼	2	79 80	4 68	46	1 00	6 14
sw¼ of ne¼	9	80	4 74	47	1 00	6 21
se¼ of ne¼	9	80	4 74	47	1 00	6 21
ne¼ of se¼	10	80	4 74	47	1 00	6 21
nw¼ of se¼	10	80	4 74	47	1 00	6 21
sw¼ of se¼	10	80	4 74	47	1 00	6 21
se¼ of se¼	10	80	4 74	47	1 00	6 21
lot 1 of	18	45	2 24	21	1 00	3 45
lot 2 of	18	45	2 24	21	1 00	3 45
lot 3 of	18	45	2 24	21	1 00	3 45
lot 4 of	18	45	2 24	21	1 00	3 45
			8 97	93	1 00	2 60

Town 33 North of Range 5 West.

ne¼ of ne¼	2	82 43	2 19	21	1 00	3 40
se¼ of ne¼	2	80	2 13	21	1 00	3 34
ne¼ of sw¼	2	80	2 13	21	1 00	3 34
se¼ of sw¼	2	80	2 13	21	1 00	3 34
ne¼ of se¼	10	160	8 52	85	1 00	10 37

1872.

Town 37 North of Range 10 West.

sw¼ of sw¼	21	40	80	43	1 00	2 23

1874.

Town 39 North of Range 9 West.

lots 4 etc.	1	18 76	1 62	13	1 00	2 75
lot 1 of	2	20 17	2 20	33	1 00	4 53

Town 40 North of Range 9 W'st.

lot 1 of	35	8 60	66	08	1 00	1 72
and lot 2	2	21 19	3 09	32	1 00	4 41
lot 3 of	2	20 47	3 00	31	1 00	4 31
lot 4 of	2	20 76	1 35	16	1 00	2 51
lot 2 of	1	67 50	1 72	12	1 00	2 84
lot 3 of	1	67 50	1 72	12	1 00	2 84
ne¼ of nw¼	14	40	31	17	1 00	1 78
lot 2 of	15	28 80	22	03	1 00	1 25
lot 4 of	15	48 70	37	08	1 00	1 45
lot 1 of	36	35 40	30	03	1 00	1 33

Town 38 North of Range 10 West.

ne¼ of ne¼	1	40	80	08	1 00	1 88
se¼ of ne¼	1	80	2 36	23	1 00	3 61
ne¼ of se¼	26	40	72	07	1 00	1 79
se¼ of se¼	26	40	72	07	1 00	1 79
ne¼ of se¼	27	80	1 45	14	1 00	2 59
se¼ of se¼	27	80	1 45	14	1 00	2 59
ne¼ of se¼	22	80	1 45	14	1 00	2 59

Town 39 North of Range 10 West.

lot 1 of	26	56 14	1 23	22	1 00	2 45
lot 2 of	20	61 68	1 20	32	1 00	4 27
lot 3 of	21	32 60	1 45	14	1 00	2 59
lot 1 of	21	48	2 50	23	1 00	4 73
lot 2 of	28	45 60	2 40	24	1 00	4 64
lot 2 of	22	45 40	2 45	24	1 00	4 70
lot 3 of	22	38 30	2 40	24	1 00	4 70

Town 40 North of Range 10 West.

fractional	34	2 50	50	05	1 00	1 55

Town 30 North of Range 11 West.

lot 1 of	31	34 59	1 80	18	1 00	3 28
lot 2 of	31	37 68	1 90	19	1 00	3 59

Town 34 North of Range 12 west.

lots 4 of	4	4 55	1 00	10	1 00	2 10
lot 1 of	4	4 60	1 00	10	1 00	2 10

Town 31 North of Range 14 west.

lot 1 of	2	2 50	4 00	40	1 00	5 40
lot 2 of	4	4 60	4 00	40	1 00	5 40
lot 3 of	4	4 60	4 00	40	1 00	5 40
lot 4 of	4	4 60	4 00	40	1 00	5 40
lot 1 of	4	4 70	4 00	40	1 00	5 40
lot 2 of	4	5 00	4 00	40	1 00	5 40
lot 3 of	4	5 00	4 00	40	1 00	5 40
lot 4 of	4	5 00	4 00	40	1 00	5 40
lot 1 of	5	5 00	4 00	40	1 00	5 40
lot 2 of	5	5 00	4 00	40	1 00	5 40
lot 3 of	5	5 00	4 00	40	1 00	5 40
lot 4 of	5	5 00	4 00	40	1 00	5 40

Town 32 North of Range 14 west.

lot 1 of	30	4 80	4 00	40	1 00	5 40
lot 2 of	29	4 60	4 00	40	1 00	5 40
lot 3 of	29	4 60	4 00	40	1 00	5 40
lot 4 of	29	4 60	4 00	40	1 00	5 40
lot 1 of	29	4 70	4 00	40	1 00	5 40
lot 2 of	29	61	1 00	10	1 00	2 10
lot 3 of	29	5 00	4 00	40	1 00	5 40
lot 4 of	29	5 00	4 00	40	1 00	5 40
lot 1 of	32	5 00	4 00	40	1 00	5 40
lot 2 of	32	5 00	4 00	40	1 00	5 40
lot 3 of	32	5 00	4 00	40	1 00	5 40
lot 4 of	32	5 00	4 00	40	1 00	5 40

Town 30 North of Range 15 West.

lot 1 of	2	52 10	1 20	12	1 00	2 32
lot 2 of	2	51 19	3 00	30	1 00	4 29
lot 3 of	2	51 19	3 00	30	1 00	4 29
lot 4 of	2	51 19	3 00	30	1 00	4 29
lot 1 of	11	52 47	3 00	30	1 00	4 30
lot 2 of	11	52 47	3 00	30	1 00	4 30
lot 3 of	11	52 47	3 00	30	1 00	4 30
lot 4 of	11	52 47	3 00	30	1 00	4 30
lot 1 of	14	52 47	3 00	30	1 00	4 30
lot 2 of	14	52 47	3 00	30	1 00	4 30
lot 3 of	14	52 47	3 00	30	1 00	4 30
lot 4 of	14	52 47	3 00	30	1 00	4 30
lot 1 of	23	52 47	3 00	30	1 00	4 30
lot 2 of	23	52 47	3 00	30	1 00	4 30
lot 3 of	23	52 47	3 00	30	1 00	4 30
lot 4 of	23	52 47	3 00	30	1 00	4 30
lot 1 of	26	52 47	3 00	30	1 00	4 30
lot 2 of	26	52 47	3 00	30	1 00	4 30
lot 3 of	26	52 47	3 00	30	1 00	4 30
lot 4 of	26	52 47	3 00	30	1 00	4 30
lot 1 of	35	52 47	3 00	30	1 00	4 30
lot 2 of	35	52 47	3 00	30	1 00	4 30
lot 3 of	35	52 47	3 00	30	1 00	4 30
lot 4 of	35	52 47	3 00	30	1 00	4 30

Town 31 North of Range 15 West.

lot 1 of	1	52 47	3 00	30	1 00	4 30
lot 2 of	1	52 47	3 00	30	1 00	4 30
lot 3 of	1	52 47	3 00	30	1 00	4 30
lot 4 of	1	52 47	3 00	30	1 00	4 30
lot 1 of	12	52 47	3 00	30	1 00	4 30
lot 2 of	12	52 47	3 00	30	1 00	4 30
lot 3 of	12	52 47	3 00	30	1 00	4 30
lot 4 of	12	52 47	3 00	30	1 00	4 30
lot 1 of	13	52 47	3 00	30	1 00	4 30
lot 2 of	13	52 47	3 00	30	1 00	4 30
lot 3 of	13	52 47	3 00	30	1 00	4 30
lot 4 of	13	52 47	3 00	30	1 00	4 30
lot 1 of	24	52 47	3 00	30	1 00	4 30
lot 2 of	24	52 47	3 00	30	1 00	4 30
lot 3 of	24	52 47	3 00	30	1 00	4 30
lot 4 of	24	52 47	3 00	30	1 00	4 30
lot 1 of	25	52 47	3 00	30	1 00	4 30
lot 2 of	25	52 47	3 00	30	1 00	4 30
lot 3 of	25	52 47	3 00	30	1 00	4 30
lot 4 of	25	52 47	3 00	30	1 00	4 30
lot 1 of	36	52 47	3 00	30	1 00	4 30
lot 2 of	36	52 47	3 00	30	1 00	4 30
lot 3 of	36	52 47	3 00	30	1 00	4 30
lot 4 of	36	52 47	3 00	30	1 00	4 30

Town 32 North of Range 15 West.

lot 1 of	2	52 10	1 20	12	1 00	2 32
lot 2 of	2	51 19	3 00	30	1 00	4 29
lot 3 of	2	51 19	3 00	30	1 00	4 29
lot 4 of	2	51 19	3 00	30	1 00	4 29
lot 1 of	11	52 47	3 00	30	1 00	4 30
lot 2 of	11	52 47	3 00	30	1 00	4 30
lot 3 of	11	52 47	3 00	30	1 00	4 30
lot 4 of	11	52 47	3 00	30	1 00	4 30
lot 1 of	14	52 47	3 00	30	1 00	4 30
lot 2 of	14	52 47	3 00	30	1 00	4 30
lot 3 of	14	52 47	3 00	30	1 00	4 30
lot 4 of	14	52 47	3 00	30	1 00	4 30
lot 1 of	23	52 47	3 00	30	1 00	4 30
lot 2 of	23	52 47	3 00	30	1 00	4 30
lot 3 of	23	52 47	3 00	30	1 00	4 30
lot 4 of	23	52 47	3 00	30	1 00	4 30
lot 1 of	26	52 47	3 00	30	1 00	4 30
lot 2 of	26	52 47	3 00	30	1 00	4 30
lot 3 of	26	52 47	3 00	30	1 00	4 30
lot 4 of	26	52 47	3 00	30	1 00	4 30
lot 1 of	35	52 47	3 00	30	1 00	4 30
lot 2 of	35	52 47	3 00	30	1 00	4 30
lot 3 of	35	52 47	3 00	30	1 00	4 30
lot 4 of	35	52 47	3 00	30	1 00	4 30

Town 33 North of Range 5 West.

ne¼ of ne¼	2	82 43	2 19	21	1 00	3 40
se¼ of ne¼	2	80	2 13	21	1 00	3 34
ne¼ of sw¼	2	80	2 13	21	1 00	3 34
se¼ of sw¼	2	80	2 13	21	1 00	3 34
ne¼ of se¼	10	160	8 52	85	1 00	10 37

1872.

Town 37 North of Range 10 West.

sw¼ of sw¼	21	40	80	43	1 00	2 23

1874.

Town 39 North of Range 9 West.

lots 4 etc.	1	18 76	1 62	13	1 00	2 75
lot 1 of	2	20 17	2 20	33	1 00	4 53

Town 40 North of Range 9 W'st.

lot 1 of	35	8 60	66	08	1 00	1 72
and lot 2	2	21 19	3 09	32	1 00	4 41
lot 3 of	2	20 47	3 00	31	1 00	4 31
lot 4 of	2	20 76	1 35	16	1 00	2 51
lot 2 of	1	67 50	1 72	12	1 00	2 84
lot 3 of	1	67 50	1 72	12	1 00	2 84
ne¼ of nw¼	14	40	31	17	1 00	1 78
lot 2 of	15	28 80	22	03	1 00	1 25
lot 4 of	15	48 70	37	08	1 00	1 45
lot 1 of	36	35 40	30	03	1 00	1 33

Town 38 North of Range 10 West.

ne¼ of ne¼	1	40	80	08	1 00	1 88
se¼ of ne¼	1	80	2 36	23	1 00	3 61
ne¼ of se¼	26	40	72	07	1 00	1 79
se¼ of se¼	26	40	72	07	1 00	1 79
ne¼ of se¼	27	80	1 45	14	1 00	2 59
se¼ of se¼	27	80	1 45	14	1 00	2 59
ne¼ of se¼	22	80	1 45	14	1 00	2 59

Town 39 North of Range 10 West.

lot 1 of	26	56 14	1 23	22	1 00	2 45
lot 2 of	20	61 68	1 20	32	1 00	4 27
lot 3 of	21	32 60	1 45	14	1 00	2 59
lot 1 of	21	48	2 50	23	1 00	4 73
lot 2 of	28	45 60	2 40	24	1 00	4 64
lot 2 of	22	45 40	2 45	24	1 00	4 70
lot 3 of	22	38 30	2 40	24	1 00	4 70

Town 40 North of Range 10 West.

fractional	34	2 50	50	05	1 00	1 55

Town 30 North of Range 11 West.

lot 1 of	31	34 59	1 80	18	1 00	3 28
lot 2 of	31	37 68	1 90	19	1 00	3 59

Town 34 North of Range 12 west.

lots 4 of	4	4 55	1 00	10	1 00	2 10
lot 1 of	4	4 60	1 00	10	1 00	2 10

Town 31 North of Range 14 west.

lot 1 of	2	2 50	4 00	40	1 00	5 40
lot 2 of	4	4 60	4 00	40	1 00	5 40
lot 3 of	4	4 60	4 00	40	1 00	5 40
lot 4 of	4	4 60	4 00	40	1 00	5 40
lot 1 of	4	4 70	4 00	40	1 00	5 40
lot 2 of	4	5 00	4 00	40	1 00	5 40
lot 3 of	4	5 00	4 00	40	1 00	5 40
lot 4 of	4	5 00	4 00	40	1 00	5 40
lot 1 of	5	5 00	4 00	40	1 00	5 40
lot 2 of	5	5 00	4 00	40	1 00	5 40
lot 3 of	5	5 00	4 00	40	1 00	5 40
lot 4 of	5	5 00	4 00	40	1 00	5 40

Town 32 North of Range 14 west.

lot 1 of	30	4 80	4 00	40	1 00	5 40
lot 2 of	29	4 60	4 00	40	1 00	5 40
lot 3 of	29	4 60	4 00	40	1 00	5 40
lot 4 of	29	4 60	4 00	40	1 00	5 40
lot 1 of	29	4 70	4 00	40	1 00	5 40
lot 2 of	29	61	1 00	10	1 00	2 10
lot 3 of	29	5 00	4 00	40	1 00	5 40
lot 4 of	29	5 00	4 00	40	1 00	5 40
lot 1 of	32	5 00	4 00	40	1 00	5 40
lot 2 of	32	5 00	4 00	40	1 00	5 40
lot 3 of	32	5 00	4 00	40	1 00	5 40
lot 4 of	32	5 00	4 00	40	1 00	5 40

Town 30 North of Range 15 West.

lot 1 of	2	52 10	1 20	12	1 00	2 32
lot 2 of	2	51 19	3 00	30	1 00	4 29
lot 3 of	2	51 19	3 00	30	1 00	4 29
lot 4 of	2	51 19	3 00	30	1 00	4 29
lot 1 of	11	52 47	3 00	30	1 00	4 30
lot 2 of	11	52 47	3 00	30	1 00	4 30
lot 3 of	11	52 47	3 00	30	1 00	4 30
lot 4 of	11	52 47	3 00	30	1 00	4 30
lot 1 of	14	52 47	3 00	30	1 00	4 30
lot 2 of	14	52 47	3 00	30	1 00	4 30
lot 3 of	14	52 47	3 00	30	1 00	4 30
lot 4 of	14	52 47	3 00	30	1 00	4 30
lot 1 of	23	52 47	3 00	30	1 00	4 30
lot 2 of	23	52 47	3 00	30	1 00	4 30
lot 3 of	23	52 47	3 00	30	1 00	4 30
lot 4 of	23	52 47	3 00	30	1 00	4 30
lot 1 of	26	52 47	3 00	30	1 00	4 30
lot 2 of	26	52 47	3 00	30	1 00	4 30
lot 3 of	26	52 47	3 00	30	1 00	4 30
lot 4 of	26	52 47	3 00	30	1 00	4 30
lot 1 of	35	52 47	3 00	30	1 00	4 30
lot 2 of	35	52 47	3 00	30	1 00	4 30
lot 3 of	35	52 47	3 00	30	1 00	4 30
lot 4 of	35	52 47	3 00	30	1 00	4 30

Town 31 North of Range 15 West.

lot 1 of	1	52 47	3 00	30	1 00	4 30
lot 2 of	1	52 47	3 00	30	1 00	4 30
lot 3 of	1	52 47	3 00	30	1 00	4 30
lot 4 of	1	52 47	3 00	30	1 00	4 30
lot 1 of	12	52 47	3 00	30	1 00	4 30
lot 2 of	12	52 47	3 00	30	1 00	4 30
lot 3 of	12	52 47	3 00	30	1 00	4 30
lot 4 of	12	52 47	3 00	30	1 00	4 30
lot 1 of	13	52 47	3 00	30	1 00	4 30
lot 2 of	13	52 47	3 00	30	1 00	4 30
lot 3 of	13	52 47	3 00	30	1 00	4 30
lot 4 of	13	52 47	3 00	30	1 00	4 30
lot 1 of	24	52 47	3 00	30	1 00	4 30
lot 2 of	24	52 47	3 00	30	1 00	4 30
lot 3 of	24	52 47	3 00	30	1 00	4 30
lot 4 of	24	52 47	3 00	30	1 00	4 30
lot 1 of	25	52 47	3 00	30	1 00	4 30
lot 2 of	25	52 47	3 00	30	1 00	4 30
lot 3 of	25	52 47	3 00	30	1 00	4 30
lot 4 of	25	52 47	3 00	30	1 00	4 30
lot 1 of	36	52 47	3 00	30	1 00	4 30
lot 2 of	36	52 47	3 00	30	1 00	4 30
lot 3 of	36	52 47	3 00	30	1 00	4 30
lot 4 of	36	52 47	3 00	30	1 00	4 30

Town 32 North of Range 15 West.

lot 1 of	2	52 10	1 20	12	1 00	2 32
lot 2 of	2	51 19	3 00	30	1 00	4 29
lot 3 of	2	51 19	3 00	30	1 00	4 29
lot 4 of	2	51 19	3 00	30	1 00	4 29
lot 1 of	11	52 47	3 00	30	1 00	4 30
lot 2 of	11	52 47	3 00	30	1 00	4 30
lot 3 of	11	52 47	3 00	30	1 00	4 30
lot 4 of	11	52 47	3 00	30	1 00	4 30
lot 1 of	14	52 47	3 00	30	1 00	4 30
lot 2 of	14	52 47	3 00	30	1 00	4 30
lot 3 of	14	52 47	3 00	30	1 00	4 30
lot 4 of	14	52 47	3 00	30	1 00	4 30
lot 1 of	23	52 47	3 00	30	1 00	4 30
lot 2 of	23	52 47	3 00	30	1 00	4 30
lot 3 of	23	52 47	3 00	30	1 00	4 30
lot 4 of	23	52 47	3 00	30	1 00	4 30
lot 1 of	26	52 47	3 00	30	1 00	4 30
lot 2 of	26	52 47	3 00	30	1 00	4 30
lot 3 of	26	52 47	3 00	30	1 00	4 30
lot 4 of	26	52 47	3 00	30	1 00	4 30
lot 1 of	35	52 47	3 00	30	1 00	4 30
lot 2 of	35	52 47	3 00	30	1 00	4 30
lot 3 of	35	52 47	3 00	30	1 00	4 30
lot 4 of	35	52 47	3 00	30	1 00	4 30

All that portion of the following described lands lying and being within the county of Charlevoix, to wit:

Commencing at the south quarter of section 36 in town 34 north of range 5 west, thence west 80 chains to a stake, thence north 80 chains to a stake, thence east 80 chains to a stake, thence south 80 chains to the place of beginning, 26

lot 1 of	26	11 91	1 19	1 00	14 10
lot 2 of	26	11 53	1 15	1 00	13 68
se¼ of sw¼	27	40	9 22	92	1 00	11 14
ne¼ of se¼	35	80	8 35	83	1 00	10 18

Town 35 North of Range 9 West.

lot 7 of	1	47	2 60	26	1 00	3 86
lot 3 of	1	10 20	57	06	1 00	1 63
lot 4 of	1	23 44	1 31	13	1 00	2 44
lot 2 of	14	52 60	3 29	33	1 00	4 62
lot 3 of	14	52 70	3 29	33	1 00	4 62
lot 4 of	14	52 60	3 28	33	1 00	4 61
lot 1 of	23	52	2 91	29	1 00	4 20
lot 2 of	23	52	2 88	28	1 00	4 16
lot 3 of	23	52	2 88	28	1 00	4 16
lot 4 of	23	52	2 88	28	1 00	4 16

Village of Charlevoix.

lot 1 of	8	5	61	06	1 00	1 67
lot 2 of	8	5	61	06	1 00	1 67
lot 3 of	8	5	61	06	1 00	1 67
lot 4 of	8	5	61	06	1 00	1 67
lot 1 of	14	20	4 35	43	1 00	5 78
lot 2 of	14	20	4 35	43	1 00	5 78
lot 3 of	14	20	4 35	43	1 00	5 78
lot 4 of	14	20	4 35	43	1 00	5 78

Charlevoix County Treasurer's Office,
Charlevoix, August 16th, 1875.

Notice is hereby given, that the sale of lands in Charlevoix County, advertised by the Auditor General as delinquent for taxes of 1874 (and previous years,) will be held at the County Treasurer's Office, in the village of Charlevoix, the County seat of said county, commencing on Monday, the fourth day of October next, at nine o'clock A. M., and continuing from day to day, Sundays excepted, until the same shall have been disposed of according to law.

BYRON SEE, Co. Treasurer.

SALE OF STATE TAX LANDS.

Auditor General's Office,
Lansing, Mich., July 1, 1875.

Notice is hereby given that certain Lands situated in the county of Manistee bid off to the State for taxes of 1873, and previous years, and described in statements which will be forwarded to the office of the Treasurer of said county some time in September, will be sold at public auction by said Treasurer, at the County Seat, on the first Monday of October next, at the time and place designated for the ordinary Tax Sales, if not previously disposed of at this office according to law.

Said statements contain a full description of each parcel of said lands, must be examined to a completion at the office of the County Treasurer.

Lands struck off to the State for taxes of 1873, or other years, at the Tax Sales to be held as aforesaid will be offered subject to the right of redemption prescribed by law, as well as to the right of purchase of the State bids at this office, prior to the sale.

RALPH ELY,
Auditor General.

ANNUAL TAX SALES,

Auditor General's Office,
Lansing, Mich., Jul. 1st, 1875.

So much of each parcel of the several tracts or parcels of lands assessed in the county of Charlevoix, as appears for unpaid taxes for the years 1873 and below, as will be sufficient to pay the taxes, interest and charges thereon, will be sold by the Treasurer of said county, on the first Monday of October next,

The infant of Mr. & Mrs. J. H. Woodward of Ypsilanti was baptized on Sunday, the water for the purpose having been brought all the way from the river Jordan, in Palestine. Suppose that child shouldn't grow up in the way it should go, wouldn't it be a little funny to hear him tell how they went all the way to Palestine for water with which to baptize him?

Carl Schurz is soon to take the stump for the Republican party in Ohio. He regards the financial issue as at stake in the election in that State as so momentous as entirely to overshadow his difference with the Administration, and like Ex-Secretary Cox, William B. Growcour, General Stickhardoff, and many other leading Liberals of 1872, is back in the Republican ranks.

The Toledo Blade thinks the greatest danger now facing the Republicans of Chicago is the possibility that the Times may flop over into their ranks.

When they asked a Grand Rapids man if he intended building near the dam, he answered, "not by a dam site," and he wasn't a profane man either.

If the reports about the lost propeller Equinox are true, the Lake Region is badly in need of a Plimsoll. She is said to have been overloaded with salt and lumber, and was unseaworthy besides. The story is told, too, that the engineer, before putting off, remonstrated with Mr. Scott, her owner, and said he would not risk his life on her. The owner got very angry with the "impudence" of the engineer, and wanted to put off and fight with him. However, it is to be said that Scott was willing to risk his life, as he took passage on her, which is not true of the British owners of rotten ships.—Detroit Post.

There are two times in a man's life when he eagerly scans the newspaper—once when he has been in an awful mean scrape, and again, when he is looking for a puff.

Letters from Druggists,

There is no case of Dyspepsia that Green's August Flower will not cure. Come to the Drug Store of C. W. Cameron, and inquire about it. If you suffer from Costiveness Sick Headache, Sour Stomach, Indigestion Liver Complaint, or derangement of the Stomach or Liver try it. Two or three doses will relieve you.

Hoofland's German Syrup is now sold in every town and city in the United States. We have not less than five hundred letters from druggists, saying it is the best medicine they ever sole to consumption, Sore throat or lung disease. Sample bottles of both 50 10 cents. Regular size 75 cents.

SALE OF STATE TAX LANDS.

AUDITOR GENERAL'S OFFICE, LANSING, MICH., July 1st, 1875.

Notice is hereby given that certain Lands provided in the county of CHARLEVOIX 1st of the State for Taxes of 1873, and previous years, and described in statements which will be forwarded to the office of the Treasurer of said County some time in September, will be sold, at public auction, by said Treasurer, at the County seat, on the first Monday of October next, at the time and place designated for ordinary Tax sales, of such property remaining undisposed of at this office according to law.

Said statements contain a full description of such parcels of said lands, and may be seen on application at the office of the county Treasurer.

Lands struck off to the State for taxes of 1873, or other years, at the Tax Sales in October last will be offered subject to the right of redemption prescribed by law, as well as to the right of purchase of the State Lands at this office, prior to the sale.

RALPH ELY,
AUDITOR GENERAL

ANNUAL TAX SALES.

AUDITOR GENERAL'S OFFICE, LANSING, MICH., July 1st, 1875.

So much of section 1 of an act entitled "An act to provide for the sale of lands returned for the non-payment of taxes, and for other purposes," approved February 28, 1861, as requires the Auditor General to publish a list of lands returned delinquent for taxes in the county of Charlevoix, is dispensed with, and the requirements of said section may be sufficiently complied with by publishing a notice containing the description of such lands, and the amount of taxes, interest and charges thereon, will be sold by the Treasurer of said County on the first Monday of October next, at such public auction, and continue from day to day, (Sundays excepted) until the same shall have been disposed of according to law.

BYRON SEE, Co. Treasurer.

SALE OF STATE TAX LANDS.

Auditor General's Office, Lansing, Mich., July 1, 1875.

Notice is hereby given that certain lands situated in the county of Antrim but still in the State for taxes of 1873, and previous years, and described in statements which will be forwarded to the office of the Treasurer of said county some time in September, will be sold at public auction by said Treasurer at the County Seat, on the first Monday of October next, at the time and place designated for ordinary tax sales, of such property remaining undisposed of at this office according to law.

Said statements contain a full description of such parcels of said lands, and may be seen on application at the office of the county Treasurer.

Lands struck off to the State for taxes of 1873, or other years, at the Tax Sales in October last will be offered subject to the right of redemption prescribed by law, as well as to the right of purchase of the State Lands at this office, prior to the sale.

RALPH ELY,
Auditor General

ANNUAL TAX SALES.

AUDITOR GENERAL'S OFFICE, LANSING, MICH., July 1st, 1875.

So much of section 1 of an act entitled "An act to provide for the sale of lands returned for the non-payment of taxes, and for other purposes," approved February 28, 1861, as requires the Auditor General to publish a list of lands returned delinquent for taxes in the county of Charlevoix, is dispensed with, and the requirements of said section may be sufficiently complied with by publishing a notice containing the description of such lands, and the amount of taxes, interest and charges thereon, will be sold by the Treasurer of said County on the first Monday of October next, at such public auction, and continue from day to day, (Sundays excepted) until the same shall have been disposed of according to law.

RALPH ELY,
AUDITOR GENERAL

1874.

Town 32 North of Range 4 West.

	Acres	Value of Land	Value of Improvements	Taxes
lot 1 of	1 15	60	00	1 00

Town 32 North of Range 5 West.

nl of nwj	2 80	4 74	47	1 00
nwj of swj	3 20	4 74	47	1 00
nwj of swj	3 20	4 60	46	1 00
nwj of swj	4 25 50	4 66	46	1 00
nwj of swj	5 40	4 74	47	1 00
nwj of swj	6 40	2 37	23	1 00
nwj of swj	7 40	2 37	23	1 00
nwj of swj	10 40	2 37	23	1 00
nwj of swj	11 40	2 37	23	1 00
nwj of swj	12 40	4 74	47	1 00
nwj of swj	13 40	4 74	47	1 00
nwj of swj	14 40	4 74	47	1 00
nwj of swj	15 40	4 74	47	1 00
nwj of swj	23 80	4 74	47	1 00
nwj of swj	24 40	4 74	47	1 00
nwj of swj	25 40	4 74	47	1 00
nwj of swj	26 40	4 74	47	1 00
nwj of swj	27 40	4 74	47	1 00
nwj of swj	28 40	4 74	47	1 00
nwj of swj	33 40	4 74	47	1 00
nwj of swj	34 40	4 74	47	1 00
nwj of swj	35 40	4 74	47	1 00

Town 33 North of Range 5 West.

nwj of nwj	4 70	3 17	31	1 00
swj of nwj	5 80	17 83	178	3 00
nwj of swj	7 80	9 96	99	1 00
swj of swj	12 160	11 40	114	2 00
nwj of swj	13 40	2 37	23	1 00
swj of swj	14 40	2 37	23	1 00
nwj of swj	15 160	4 28	42	1 00
swj of swj	22 160	9 32	93	1 00
nwj of swj	23 40	2 37	23	1 00
swj of swj	24 40	2 37	23	1 00
nwj of swj	25 80	4 74	47	1 00
swj of swj	26 80	4 74	47	1 00
nwj of swj	27 40	2 37	23	1 00
swj of swj	28 80	4 74	47	1 00
nwj of swj	33 80	4 74	47	1 00
swj of swj	34 80	4 74	47	1 00
nwj of swj	35 80	4 74	47	1 00

Town 34 North of Range 5 West.

nwj of nwj	4 40	2 37	23	1 00
swj of nwj	5 40	2 37	23	1 00
nwj of swj	6 40	2 37	23	1 00
swj of swj	7 40	2 37	23	1 00
nwj of swj	8 40	2 37	23	1 00
swj of swj	9 40	2 37	23	1 00
nwj of swj	10 40	2 37	23	1 00
swj of swj	11 40	2 37	23	1 00
nwj of swj	12 40	2 37	23	1 00
swj of swj	13 40	2 37	23	1 00
nwj of swj	14 40	2 37	23	1 00
swj of swj	15 40	2 37	23	1 00
nwj of swj	16 40	2 37	23	1 00
swj of swj	17 40	2 37	23	1 00
nwj of swj	18 40	2 37	23	1 00
swj of swj	19 40	2 37	23	1 00
nwj of swj	20 40	2 37	23	1 00
swj of swj	21 40	2 37	23	1 00
nwj of swj	22 40	2 37	23	1 00
swj of swj	23 40	2 37	23	1 00
nwj of swj	24 40	2 37	23	1 00
swj of swj	25 40	2 37	23	1 00
nwj of swj	26 40	2 37	23	1 00
swj of swj	27 40	2 37	23	1 00
nwj of swj	28 40	2 37	23	1 00
swj of swj	33 40	2 37	23	1 00
nwj of swj	34 40	2 37	23	1 00
swj of swj	35 40	2 37	23	1 00

Town 35 North of Range 5 West.

nwj of nwj	4 70	3 17	31	1 00
swj of nwj	5 80	17 83	178	3 00
nwj of swj	7 80	9 96	99	1 00
swj of swj	12 160	11 40	114	2 00
nwj of swj	13 40	2 37	23	1 00
swj of swj	14 40	2 37	23	1 00
nwj of swj	15 160	4 28	42	1 00
swj of swj	22 160	9 32	93	1 00
nwj of swj	23 40	2 37	23	1 00
swj of swj	24 40	2 37	23	1 00
nwj of swj	25 80	4 74	47	1 00
swj of swj	26 80	4 74	47	1 00
nwj of swj	27 40	2 37	23	1 00
swj of swj	28 80	4 74	47	1 00
nwj of swj	33 80	4 74	47	1 00
swj of swj	34 80	4 74	47	1 00
nwj of swj	35 80	4 74	47	1 00

Town 36 North of Range 5 West.

nwj of nwj	4 70	3 17	31	1 00
swj of nwj	5 80	17 83	178	3 00
nwj of swj	7 80	9 96	99	1 00
swj of swj	12 160	11 40	114	2 00
nwj of swj	13 40	2 37	23	1 00
swj of swj	14 40	2 37	23	1 00
nwj of swj	15 160	4 28	42	1 00
swj of swj	22 160	9 32	93	1 00
nwj of swj	23 40	2 37	23	1 00
swj of swj	24 40	2 37	23	1 00
nwj of swj	25 80	4 74	47	1 00
swj of swj	26 80	4 74	47	1 00
nwj of swj	27 40	2 37	23	1 00
swj of swj	28 80	4 74	47	1 00
nwj of swj	33 80	4 74	47	1 00
swj of swj	34 80	4 74	47	1 00
nwj of swj	35 80	4 74	47	1 00

Town 37 North of Range 5 West.

nwj of nwj	4 70	3 17	31	1 00
swj of nwj	5 80	17 83	178	3 00
nwj of swj	7 80	9 96	99	1 00
swj of swj	12 160	11 40	114	2 00
nwj of swj	13 40	2 37	23	1 00
swj of swj	14 40	2 37	23	1 00
nwj of swj	15 160	4 28	42	1 00
swj of swj	22 160	9 32	93	1 00
nwj of swj	23 40	2 37	23	1 00
swj of swj	24 40	2 37	23	1 00
nwj of swj	25 80	4 74	47	1 00
swj of swj	26 80	4 74	47	1 00
nwj of swj	27 40	2 37	23	1 00
swj of swj	28 80	4 74	47	1 00
nwj of swj	33 80	4 74	47	1 00
swj of swj	34 80	4 74	47	1 00
nwj of swj	35 80	4 74	47	1 00

Town 38 North of Range 5 West.

nwj of nwj	4 70	3 17	31	1 00
swj of nwj	5 80	17 83	178	3 00
nwj of swj	7 80	9 96	99	1 00
swj of swj	12 160	11 40	114	2 00
nwj of swj	13 40	2 37	23	1 00
swj of swj	14 40	2 37	23	1 00
nwj of swj	15 160	4 28	42	1 00
swj of swj	22 160	9 32	93	1 00
nwj of swj	23 40	2 37	23	1 00
swj of swj	24 40	2 37	23	1 00
nwj of swj	25 80	4 74	47	1 00
swj of swj	26 80	4 74	47	1 00
nwj of swj	27 40	2 37	23	1 00
swj of swj	28 80	4 74	47	1 00
nwj of swj	33 80	4 74	47	1 00
swj of swj	34 80	4 74	47	1 00
nwj of swj	35 80	4 74	47	1 00

Town 39 North of Range 5 West.

nwj of nwj	4 70	3 17	31	1 00
swj of nwj	5 80	17 83	178	3 00
nwj of swj	7 80	9 96	99	1 00
swj of swj	12 160	11 40	114	2 00
nwj of swj	13 40	2 37	23	1 00
swj of swj	14 40	2 37	23	1 00
nwj of swj	15 160	4 28	42	1 00
swj of swj	22 160	9 32	93	1 00
nwj of swj	23 40	2 37	23	1 00
swj of swj	24 40	2 37	23	1 00
nwj of swj	25 80	4 74	47	1 00
swj of swj	26 80	4 74	47	1 00
nwj of swj	27 40	2 37	23	1 00
swj of swj	28 80	4 74	47	1 00
nwj of swj	33 80	4 74	47	1 00
swj of swj	34 80	4 74	47	1 00
nwj of swj	35 80	4 74	47	1 00

Town 40 North of Range 5 West.

nwj of nwj	4 70	3 17	31	1 00
swj of nwj	5 80	17 83	178	3 00
nwj of swj	7 80	9 96	99	1 00
swj of swj	12 160	11 40	114	2 00
nwj of swj	13 40	2 37	23	1 00
swj of swj	14 40	2 37	23	1 00
nwj of swj	15 160	4 28	42	1 00
swj of swj	22 160	9 32	93	1 00
nwj of swj	23 40	2 37	23	1 00
swj of swj	24 40	2 37	23	1 00
nwj of swj	25 80	4 74	47	1 00
swj of swj	26 80	4 74	47	1 00
nwj of swj	27 40	2 37	23	1 00
swj of swj	28 80	4 74	47	1 00
nwj of swj	33 80	4 74	47	1 00
swj of swj	34 80	4 74	47	1 00
nwj of swj	35 80	4 74	47	1 00

Town 41 North of Range 5 West.

nwj of nwj	4 70	3 17	31	1 00
swj of nwj	5 80	17 83	178	3 00
nwj of swj	7 80	9 96	99	1 00
swj of swj	12 160	11 40	114	2 00
nwj of swj	13 40	2 37	23	1 00
swj of swj	14 40	2 37	23	1 00
nwj of swj	15 160	4 28	42	1 00
swj of swj	22 160	9 32	93	1 00
nwj of swj	23 40	2 37	23	1 00
swj of swj	24 40	2 37	23	1 00
nwj of swj	25 80	4 74	47	1 00
swj of swj	26 80	4 74	47	1 00
nwj of swj	27 40	2 37	23	1 00
swj of swj	28 80	4 74	47	1 00
nwj of swj	33 80	4 74	47	1 00
swj of swj	34 80	4 74	47	1 00
nwj of swj	35 80	4 74	47	1 00

Town 42 North of Range 5 West.

nwj of nwj	4 70	3 17	31	1 00
swj of nwj	5 80	17 83	178	3 00
nwj of swj	7 80	9 96	99	1 00
swj of swj	12 160	11 40	114	2 00
nwj of swj	13 40	2 37	23	1 00
swj of swj	14 40	2 37	23	1 00
nwj of swj	15 160	4 28	42	1 00
swj of swj	22 160	9 32	93	1 00
nwj of swj	23 40	2 37	23	1 00
swj of swj	24 40	2 37	23	1 00
nwj of swj	25 80	4 74	47	1 00
swj of swj	26 80	4 74	47	1 00
nwj of swj	27 40	2 37	23	1 00
swj of swj	28 80	4 74	47	1 00
nwj of swj	33 80	4 74	47	1 00
swj of swj	34 80	4 74	47	1 00
nwj of swj	35 80	4 74	47	1 00

Town 43 North of Range 5 West.

nwj of nwj	4 70	3 17	31	1 00
swj of nwj	5 80	17 83	178	3 00
nwj of swj	7 80	9 96	99	1 00
swj of swj	12 160	11 40	114	2 00
nwj of swj	13 40	2 37	23	1 00
swj of swj	14 40	2 37	23	1 00
nwj of swj	15 160	4 28	42	1 00
swj of swj	22 160	9 32	93	1 00
nwj of swj	23 40	2 37	23	1 00
swj of swj	24 40	2 37	23	1 00
nwj of swj	25 80	4 74	47	1 00
swj of swj	26 80	4 74	47	1 00
nwj of swj	27 40	2 37	23	1 00
swj of swj	28 80	4 74	47	1 00
nwj of swj	33 80	4 74	47	1 00
swj of swj	34 80	4 74	47	1 00
nwj of swj	35 80	4 74	47	1 00

Town 44 North of Range 5 West.

nwj of nwj	4 70	3 17	31	1 00
swj of nwj	5 80	17 83	178	3 00
nwj of swj	7 80	9 96	99	1 00
swj of swj	12 160	11 40	114	2 00
nwj of swj	13 40	2 37	23	1 00
swj of swj	14 40	2 37	23	1 00
nwj of swj	15 160	4 28	42	1 00
swj of swj	22 160	9 32	93	1 00
nwj of swj	23 40	2 37	23	1 00
swj of swj	24 40	2 37	23	1 00
nwj of swj	25 80	4 74	47	1 00
swj of swj	26 80	4 74	47	1 00
nwj of swj	27 40	2 37	23	1 00
swj of swj	28 80	4 74	47	1 00
nwj of swj	33 80	4 74	47	1 00
swj of swj	34 80	4 74	47	1 00
nwj of swj	35 80	4 74	47	1 00

Town 45 North of Range 5 West.

nwj of nwj	4 70	3 17	31	1 00
swj of nwj	5 80	17 83	178	3 00
nwj of swj	7 80	9 96	99	1 00
swj of swj	12 160	11 40	114	2 00
nwj of swj	13 40	2 37	23	1 00
swj of swj	14 40	2 37	23	1 00
nwj of swj	15 160	4 28	42	1 00
swj of swj	22 160	9 32	93	1 00
nwj of swj	23 40	2 37	23	1 00
swj of swj	24 40	2 37	23	1 00
nwj of swj	25 80	4 74	47	1 00
swj of swj	26 80	4 74	47	1 00
nwj of swj	27 40	2 37	23	1 00
swj of swj	28 80	4 74	47	1 00
nwj of swj	33 80	4 74	47	1 00
swj of swj	34 80	4 74	47	1 00
nwj of swj	35 80	4 74	47	1 00

Town 46 North of Range 5 West.

nwj of nwj	4 70	3 17	31	1 00
swj of nwj	5 80	17 83	178	3 00
nwj of swj	7 80	9 96	99	1 00
swj of swj	12 160	11 40	114	2 00
nwj of swj	13 40	2 37	23	1 00
swj of swj	14 40	2 37	23	1 00
nwj of swj	15 160	4 28	42	1 00
swj of swj	22 160	9 32	93	1 00
nwj of swj	23 40	2 37	23	1 00
swj of swj	24 40	2 37	23	1 00
nwj of swj	25 80	4 74	47	1 00
swj of swj	26 80	4 74	47	1 00
nwj of swj	27 40	2 37	23	1 00
swj of swj	28 80	4 74	47	1 00
nwj of swj	33 80	4 74	47	1 00
swj of swj	34 80	4 74	47	1 00
nwj of swj	35 80	4 74	47	1 00

Town 47 North of Range 5 West.

nwj of nwj	4 70	3 17	31	1 00
swj of nwj	5 80	17 83	178	3 00
nwj of swj	7 80	9 96	99	1 00
swj of swj	12 160	11 40	114	2 00
nwj of swj	13 40	2 37	23	1 00
swj of swj	14 40	2 37	23	1 00
nwj of swj	15 160	4 28	42	1 00
swj of swj	22 160	9 32	93	1 00
nwj of swj	23 40	2 37	23	1 00
swj of swj	24 40	2 37	23	1 00
nwj of swj	25 80	4 74	47	1 00
swj of swj	26 80	4 74	47	1 00
nwj of swj	27 40	2 37	23	1 00
swj of swj	28 80	4 74	47	1 00
nwj of swj	33 80	4 74	47	1 00
swj of swj	34 80	4 74	47	1 00
nwj of swj	35 80	4 74	47	1 00

Town 48 North of Range 5 West.

nwj of nwj	4 70	3 17	31	1 00
swj of nwj	5 80	17 83	178	3 00
nwj of swj	7 80	9 96	99	1 00
swj of swj	12 160	11 40	114	2 00
nwj of swj	13 40	2 37	23	1 00
swj of swj	14 40	2 37	23	1 00
nwj of swj	15 160	4 28	42	1 00
swj of swj	22 160	9 32	93	1 00
nwj of swj	23 40	2 37	23	1 00
swj of swj	24 40	2 37	23	1 00
nwj of swj	25 80	4 74	47	1 00
swj of swj	26 80	4 74	47	1 00
nwj of swj	27 40	2 37	23	1 00
swj of swj	28 80	4 74	47	1 00
nwj of swj	33 80	4 74	47	1 00
swj of swj	34 80	4 74	47	1 00
nwj of swj	35 80	4 74	47	1 00

Town 49 North of Range 5 West.

nwj of nwj	4 70	3 17	31	1 00
swj of nwj	5 80	17 83	178	3 00
nwj of swj	7 80	9 96	99	1 00
swj of swj	12 160	11 40	114	2 00
nwj of swj	13 40	2 37	23	1 00
swj of swj	14 40	2 37	23	1 00
nwj of swj	15 160	4 28	42	1 00
swj of swj	22 160	9 32	93	1 00
nwj of swj	23 40	2 37	23	1 00
swj of swj	24 40	2 37	23	1 00
nwj of swj	25 80	4 74	47	1 00
swj of swj	26 80	4 74	47	1 00
nwj of swj	27 40	2 37	23	1 00
swj of swj	28 80	4 74	47	1 00
nwj of swj	33 80	4 74	47	1 00
swj of swj	34 80	4 74	47	1 00
nwj of swj	35 80	4 74	47	1 00

Town 50 North of Range 5 West.

nwj of nwj	4 70	3 17	31	1 00
swj of nwj	5 80	17 83	178	3 00
nwj of swj	7 80	9 96	99	1 00
swj of swj	12 160	11 40	114	2 00
nwj of swj	13 40	2 37	23	1 00
swj of swj	14 40	2 37	23	1 00
nwj of swj	15 160	4 28	42	1 00
swj of swj	22 160	9 32	93	1 00
nwj of swj	23 40	2 37	23	1 00
swj of swj	24 40	2 37	23	1 00
nwj of swj	25 80	4 74	47	1 00
swj of swj	26 80	4 74	47	1 00
nwj of swj	27 40	2 37	23	1 00
swj of swj	28 80	4 74	47	1 00
nwj of swj	33 80	4 74	47	1 00
swj of swj	34 80	4 74	47	1 00
nwj of swj	35 80	4 74	47	1 00

Town 51 North of Range 5 West.

nwj of nwj	4 70	3 17	31	1 00
swj of nwj	5 80	17 83	178	3 00
nwj of swj	7 80	9 96	99	1 00
swj of swj	12 160	11 40	114	2 00
nwj of swj	13 40	2 37	23	1 00
swj of swj	14 40	2 37	23	1 00
nwj of swj	15 160	4 28	42	1 00
swj of swj	22 160	9 32	93	1 00
nwj of swj	23 40	2 37	23	1 00
swj of swj	24 40	2 37	23	1 00
nwj of swj	25 80	4 74	47	1 00
swj of swj	26 80	4 74	47	1 00
nwj of swj	27 40	2 37	23	1 00
swj of swj	28 80	4 74	47	1 00
nwj of swj	33 80	4 74	47	1 00
swj of swj	34 80	4 74	47	1 00
nwj of swj	35 80	4 74	47	1 00

Town 52 North of Range 5 West.

nwj of nwj	4 70	3 17	31	1 00
swj of nwj	5 80	17 83	178	3 00
nwj of swj	7 80	9 96	99	1 00
swj of swj	12 160	11 40	114	2 00
nwj of swj	13 40	2 37	23	1 00
swj of swj	14 40	2 37	23	1 00
nwj of swj	15 160	4 28	42	1 00
swj of swj	22 160	9 32	93	1 00
nwj of swj	23 40	2 37	23	1 00
swj of swj	24 40	2 37	23	1 00
nwj of swj	25 80	4 74	47	1 00
swj of swj	26 80	4 74	47	1 00
nwj of swj	27 40	2 37	23	1 00
swj of swj	28 80	4 74	47	1 00
nwj of swj	33 80	4 74	47	1 00
swj of swj	34 80	4 74	47	1 00
nwj of swj	35 80	4 74	47	1 00

Town 53 North of Range 5 West.

nwj of nwj	4 70	3 17	31	1 00
swj of nwj	5 80	17 83	178	3 00
nwj of swj	7 80	9 96	99	1 00
swj of swj	12 160	11 40	114	2 00
nwj of swj	13 40	2 37	23	1 00
swj of swj	14 40	2 37	23	1 00
nwj of swj	15 160	4 28	42	1 00
swj of swj	22 160	9 32	93	1 00
nwj of swj	23 40	2 37	23	1 00
swj of swj	24 40	2 37	23	1 00
nwj of swj	25 80	4 74	47	1 00
swj of swj	26 80	4 74	47	1 00
nwj of swj	27 40	2 37	23	1 00
swj of swj	28 80	4 74	47	1 00
nwj of swj	33 80	4 74	47	1 00
swj of swj	34 80	4 74	47	1 00
nwj of swj	35 80	4 74	47	1 00

Town 54 North of Range 5 West.

nwj of nwj	4 70	3 17	31	1 00
swj of nwj	5 80	17 83	178	3 00
nwj of swj	7 80	9 96	99	1 00
swj of swj	12 160	11 40	114	2 00
nwj of swj	13 40	2 37	23	1 00
swj of swj	14 40	2 37	23	1 00
nwj of swj	15 160	4 28	42	1 00
swj of swj	22 160	9 32	93	1 00
nwj of swj	23 40	2 37	23	1 00
swj of swj	24 40	2 37	23	1 00
nwj of swj	25 80	4 74	47	1 00
swj of swj	26 80	4 74	47	1 00
nwj of swj	27 40	2 37	23	1 00
swj of swj	28 80	4 74	47	1 00
nwj of swj	33 80	4 74	47	1 00
swj of swj	34 80	4 74	47	1 00
nwj of swj	35 80	4 74	47	1 00

Town 55 North of Range 5 West.

nwj of nwj	4 70	3 17	31	1 00
swj of nwj	5 80	17 83	178	3 00
nwj of swj	7 80	9 96	99	1 00
swj of swj	12 160	11 40	114	2 00
nwj of swj	13 40	2 37	23	1 00
swj of swj	14 40	2 37	23	1 00
nwj of swj	15 160	4 28	42	1 00
swj of swj	22 160	9 32	93	1 00
nwj of swj	23 40	2 37	23	1 00
swj of swj	24 40	2 37	23	1 00
nwj of swj	25 80	4 74	47	1 00
swj of swj	26 80	4 74	47	1 00
nwj of swj	27 40	2 37	23	1 00
swj of swj	28 80	4 74	47	1 00
nwj of swj	33 80	4 74	47	1 00
swj of swj	34 80	4 74	47	1 00
nwj of swj	35 80	4 74	47	1 00

Town 56 North of Range 5

THE SENTINEL.

WILLARD A. SMITH, Editor and Proprietor.

CHARLEVOIX, - MICHIGAN.

THE NEWS.

CONSTANTINOPLE dispatches of the 18th say that latest advices state that the European Consuls had despaired of bringing about negotiations between the Roshid Pasha and the Turkish Commissioner. They were more hopeful of the pacification of Herzegovina. A Vienna dispatch of the 19th says an insurrection had broken out at Dekovar. The Turkish guardhouse had been burned and the garrison fled. A Constantinople dispatch of the same date says a telegram had been received from Mostar announcing the defeat of a large force of insurgents near Vidogeral.

AT River du Loup, in Canada, on the 18th, snow fell to the depth of twelve inches.

BENJAMIN B. HALLECK, charged with stealing $47,000 from the United States Treasury, waived an examination on the 17th, and was sent to jail in default of $20,000. Theodore W. Brown, accused of the same theft, was examined on the same day and held in bail.

CONGRESSMAN WYETH, of Alabama, has been appointed an Associate Justice for Utah.

THE Secretary of the Interior was before the Real Claud Investigating Committee on the 18th, and flatly denied the damaging statements made by Messrs. Marsh and Welsh.

A HORRID dispatch of the 18th says that Postmaster Hart, of that city, had been removed from office and Edward C. Yorke appointed in his successor.

N. B. ALLEN, Collector of Customs at Chicago, has resigned his office, to take effect Oct. 1.

SANTA Perdiguables of the 19th say tremendous storms had prevailed through out New Mexico during the preceding ten days. The town of Las Cruces had been nearly destroyed by the bursting of a watercourse. Great damage had been done to the crops.

THE important failure in England on the 20th was that of the Richmond Iron Works, at Stockton-upon-Tees. The joint exceptional reserve six furnaces and rolling mills.

VIENNA advices from Bosnia of the 20th report an engagement on the 19th between 2,500 insurgents and a Turkish brigade, in which the latter were the losers.

ACCORDING to a Belgrade dispatch of the 21st the Servian Minister of War has ordered a large force to the Roumian frontier as an army of observation.

CHARLES G. PEARNE, late Assistant United States Attorney for the District of Columbia, has been arrested in Washington on the charge of stealing signed bonds and papers in Department claims for examination, and was held to answer before the Grand Jury.

ANTI-GRAB Democratic Committee has received telegrams from Mississippi, from avowed of both parties, commending his recent letter to Gov. Ames. Those telegrams also say that perfect peace prevails in the lake but that full quiet of the disorderly portion of the State. Gov Kellogg, of Louisiana, it is said approves of the Attorney-General's course in the Mississippi troubles.

A MEETING prevailed in Washington on the 20th to find that Real Estate Investigation Commission would unanimously sustain Secretary Belano and Commissioner smith in their finding.

A GREENBACK mass meeting was held at Cooper Institute, New York, on the evening of the 23d. Resolutions were adopted condemning the policy of contraction; demanding the retirement of the National Bank circulation and the substitution therefor of legaltenders; and favoring the payment of one-half of the customs duties in greenbacks.

MAIL accounts received on the 23d from Galveston, Tex., report the probable loss of property as far exceeding in amount that given in previous telegraphic reports. Three hundred houses were swept away, and the loss of property would reach $1,000,000. It was thought that the total loss of property would reach $2,000,000. A storm would reach 400, and several small towns back from the coast are reported to have been destroyed.

ELKINS' (Rep.) majority for Delegate to Congress from New Mexico is placed at 1,200. The returning the legislature is divided politically as follows: Council, 7 Republicans and 11 Democrats; House, 24 Republicans and 18 Democrats.

A SHOTGUN contest was made on the 23d between Russell Jones and Joseph Wheeler, Collector of Customs at Chicago, on N. B. Judd, resigned.

THE MARKETS.

NEW YORK.

Live, $6.00@6.40. Sheep—$4.00@5.25. Hogs—$6.00@6.25.

Flour—Superfine—$4.00@4.50. Extra—$4.60@5.00. White wheat extra, $6.00@6.50. Winter—No. 2, $1.06@1.07. Spring—No. 2 Milwaukee club, $1.06@1.07. Rye—Western and State, 90@92c. Barley—$1.20@1.25. Corn—Mixed Western, 60@62c. Oats—Mixed Western, 46@50c. Provisions—Pork—New Mess, $15.00@15.25. Lard—Prime, 12½@12¾c. Cheese—@.

Wool—Domestic fleece, 42@45c.

CHICAGO.

Live Stock—Beeves—Choice, $5.75@6.00; fair to good shipping steers, $5.00@5.50; common steers, $4.00@4.50. Sheep—Good to choice, $4.00@5.00. Hogs—Live, $5.00@5.25. Sheep—Good to choice $4.00@5.00.

Provisions—Butter—Choice, 20@22c. Eggs—Fresh, 15@16c. Potatoes—Early Rose, $1.00@1.05. Corn—No. 2, 61@62c. Oats—No. 2, 37@38c. Rye—No. 2, 85@86c. Barley—No. 2, $1.10@1.12.

Flour—Fine, $3.00@3.50. Second Clear, $4.00@4.50. Clear, $4.00@4.50. Common Boards, $3.00@3.50. Fancy White Wheat Extra, $5.00@5.50. Lath, $1.45@1.50.

EAST LIBERTY.

Live Stock—Beeves—Best, $6.75@6.90; medium, $6.50@6.75. Hogs—Yorkers, $5.25@5.75; prime medium, $5.00@5.25. Sheep—Best, $5.00@5.50; medium, $4.50@5.00.

THE New York Liberals met in convention at Albany on the 23d and decided to do no more State tickets. They resolved in favor of a speedy return to specie payments.

THE Massachusetts Anti-Monopoly State Convention met at Hawthorne on the 23d and made up a State ticket by selecting the candidates for Governor, Secretary of State, State Auditor and Lieut. Gov. from the Democratic ticket, the Lieutenant-Governor and Attorney-General from the Temperance ticket, nominating E. W. Dike, the present incumbent, for State Treasurer; A. J. Edgerton, the late incumbent, for Railroad Commissioner, and Sherwood Haight, the present incumbent, for Clerk of the Supreme Court. The convention declared in favor of Treasury notes as a legal tender for all public or private obligations; the substitution of such currency in place of the National Bank notes, and that the Government's bonded indebtedness be bought in with 3.65 convertible bonds, payable in specie or currency at the Government's option.

THE Maryland Republican State Convention met at Baltimore on the 23d and nominated Henry Stockbridge, Jr., for Grand Rapids, Kent County; Secretary, J. A. Thompson, Cassopolis, Kent County; with Sheriffs, Town Presidents from different portions of the State, an executive committee of six members, and eight Executive Superintendents of the sale. The President, Treasurer and Secretary are ex-officio members of the Executive Committee.

THE following are the statistics presented at the Detroit M. E. Conference:

Year	Members	Probationers
Full members	37,304	15,654
Increase	1,439	2,056
Local preachers	337	198
Deacons	96	1,047
Children baptized	7,007	6,010
Church buildings	414	360
Parsonages	178	170
Church for burial, churches	$85,560	$19,800
Church edifices	1,750,000	1,750,000
Sunday schools	414	360
Scholars in same	27,268	20,726
Contributions	1,737	1,737

THE Chicago, Saginaw & Canada Railroad Company have completed arrangements to finish its road to the Grand Rapids & Indiana Railroad this fall. Sand Lake has been decided upon as the point of intersection. The grading is well under way to Lake View. The Company's ground and boat connection with the Saginaw Valley, and have offered liberal subscriptions for the completion of the Saginaw & Canada Road to Sand Lake by Jan 1. They will give the Chicago, Saginaw & Canada Road an outlet East over the Grand Rapids & Indiana and Detroit, Lansing & Lake Michigan Roads.

THE following appointments were made by the Bishop at the recent session of the New and Ingenious Dodge.

Some genius of the "Artful Dodger" stripe, in New York, appears to have hit upon a new and very ingenious mode of making a living. The modus operandi is substantially as follows. A young and fashionably-dressed man enters a small shop in Broadway or the Bowery, with every evidence of agitation. "Do you know anybody who would run an errand for me?" he asks the proprietor. "I am willing to pay $5 for the service." The offer is a tempting one, the poor shop keeper may not have taken in such an amount for two days. "If It is not too far," he says, "my wife will take care of the store and I will go myself." Just the thing, nothing could be better," rejoins the young gentleman. "Here is a letter to my father, I want a sum of money—$500—before night. He is the —— building and will on the stairs mull mon. At last hear the governor goes to Canada and will recognize him at once by his green spectacles, heavy, gold-headed cane and a slight limp in his gait. I do not wish you to go to his office, for his partner knows me and would certainly advise the old man to have me arrested. Wayhay him, therefore, on the stairs." "I understand," says the shop-keeper anxious to be off.

The messenger reaches the designated building and makes known his errand as early as the stroke of twelve a dignified old gentleman, with green spectacles and a heavy gold cane and a slight limp makes his appearance. The letter is presented, and the handwriting on the envelope is compared with a wedding letter. Next exclaims the indignant parent, after having mastered the contents of the invasive, "not another cent shall she young rascal have!" Hobbling down the stairs, growling to himself, he suddenly pauses as if relenting, and bids the messenger to follow him. He enters a bank with the other waits outside. After a few minutes the old gentleman reappears with an envelope in his hand, under which he puts several bank notes and gives them to the shop-keeper. "Who wouldn't have such a father," thinks he delighted that, and speedily back to the store, where the grateful youth almost embraced him. But now a difficulty arises. The messenger, when about to pay the stipulated five dollars, is discovered that all the money in the envelope consists of fifty dollar bills. The shop-keeper happens to have not enough money in his safe to make the change, and the nice young man, once more express, is dispatched to a neighboring bank for further patronage (heart).

An hour later the landlord comes for his rent. The shop-keeper pulls out his fifty-dollar bill, and tenders it to the clerk. The scales fall from his eyes; he has been sold—most ingeniously sold. The young man, dressed with the green spectacles and the fascinating youth were accomplices in this comedy of Father and Son.

Shark-Fishing.

Two kinds of shark are found in the Caspian Sea—the Squalus lamiella, the toothed shark, and the Squalus marinus, the basking shark. It is said that these sharks are specially frequent places where sea-nutrients are found, and that the destruction of many naturalists, assembled in droves, so that boats engaged in the fishery have often been stranded by a bunched or massed these sea-lizards greatly to injure. The boats employed for fishing in deep water are provided with a harpoon and line, and carry five or six men, who cruise from 100 to 200 kilograms of oil from a single fish. The fishery begins early in April, and is carried on by the Russian government for pursue this fishery, which went on slowly till 1851, when a Norwegian emigrant, Sill, took to the business. In the autumn of that year he caught the shark hunt in Terdeersky Bay, throwing away the outer kitchen waste and excrement. This attracted a thousand sharks, and many were caught with hooks and lines, and the carcasses of dead and putrid with harpoons. Sill was prosperous for some time, but at last the sharks ceased and left the bay. This example, however, excited the people of Kuban to take up the occupation. The Russians took to the water with small boats, which can scarcely hold four men, and proceed at a certain distance from the land they cast out a vessel pierced with holes, containing oil, tainted with other fish, and the currents distribute in the neighborhood. This causes the sharks to assemble, and they then approach the boats, and are attached to iron chains, as they round instantly bite through the strongest rope and have the most quick opportunity of pulling the fish toward the boat, and the fourth stands ready with a wooden iron bar, by which everything they possess, strike with all his force the monster between the eyes. The fish is then entangled by means of a knife with a very long handle, the oil taken, and its swimming bladder inflated by a long pipe. It is then cast adrift to float. It appears to sink the moment the other sharks swarm out in hand and care for the other bait. The long handle of the knife is to secure the safety of the operator, preventing from a like fate. It is said that keep swimming round the boat. Sometimes the sharks surround a boat so thickly that the rowing ceases and the crew fall victims to their intended prey. It is dangerous to attack, so, from its speed and ferocity, and to put in a boat under water or overturn it. If his jaws known to drag a vessel of seventy tons against the wind. The further result of it should be the hanging of three sharks in a day. If Mississippi were governed by a man of courage, the passages would speedily commence.—Chicago Tribune.

THE New York Herald attacks Miller for "insulting the lonely shirt." Has the Herald overlooked the horrible news from Mississippi, where the colored men have been assailed, hundred upon hundred like wild beasts, until they now stand afraid to venture into their own cabins? This is beyond doubt the most brutal and the most cowardly of Mississippi outrages. Miller's indignation is righteous.—Cincinnati Commercial.

MICHIGAN STATE NEWS.

Most of those who homesteaded land in Indian Town have sold out their interests, now that the time has come to take possession. But a few residents have built houses and moved their families upon their farms.

EX-Congressman Field has presented the city of Detroit with forty acres of land to be used for a public park. The city has accepted the gift together with the condition that it spend not less than $1,000 a year in maintaining and improving it.

THE following were the postal changes in Michigan during the week ending Sept. 11, 1875: Established—Churchill, Oceana County, Allen S. Rose, Postmaster; Ghalwin, Gladwin County, Elias Steele, Postmaster; Prudenville, Roscommon County, Mrs Clara J. Denton, Postmistress. Postmasters appointed—Appolion, Saginaw County, Charles F. Burton, Morgan, Marquette County, C. C. Jenkersley.

THE officers of the State Pomological Society for 1875 are: President, George Parmelee, Old Mission, Grand Traverse County; Treasurer, Henry Thomas, Grand Rapids, Kent County; Secretary, J. A. Thompson, Cassopolis, Kent County; with thirty-three Vice Presidents from different portions of the State, an executive committee of six members, and eight Executive Superintendents of the sale. The President, Treasurer and Secretary are ex-officio members of the Executive Committee.

THE following are the statistics presented at the Detroit M. E. Conference:

Year	1875	1874
Full members	37,304	15,654
Increase	1,439	2,056
Local preachers	337	198
Deacons	96	1,047
Children baptized	7,007	6,010
Church buildings	414	360
Parsonages	178	170
Church for burial, churches	$85,560	$19,800
Church edifices	1,750,000	1,750,000
Sunday schools	414	360
Scholars in same	27,268	20,726
Contributions	1,737	1,737

THE Chicago, Saginaw & Canada Railroad Company have completed arrangements to finish its road to the Grand Rapids & Indiana Railroad this fall. Sand Lake has been decided upon as the point of intersection. The grading is well under way to Lake View. The Company's ground and boat connection with the Saginaw Valley, and have offered liberal subscriptions for the completion of the Saginaw & Canada Road to Sand Lake by Jan 1. They will give the Chicago, Saginaw & Canada Road an outlet East over the Grand Rapids & Indiana and Detroit, Lansing & Lake Michigan Roads.

THE following appointments were made by the Bishop at the recent session of the Forgive and Forget.

Even a good sentiment may be abused. Forgiveness is a noble attribute of character, but it does not imply forgetfulness. A man may forgive wrong, but he cannot well forget it. It is related in his many story whether he wills it or not. He may write "forgive" over it, and above it his conduct that all trace of resentment has been removed, but the memory of the wrong remains, as if the record had been cut by a chisel on the enduring granite. There is no depth of forgiveness and no godfulness as if they were synonymous terms. It is continually in conflict with the spirit of forgiveness, which implies nobility of soul, and forgetfulness, which implies only a weak memory.

Democratic orators are ringing the changes on this expression. They ask Republicans to "forgive and forget," yet they are very careful not to practice what they preach. They neither forgive nor forget. They go over the past, and pick out the points that a series of years may have developed. They hold it up for inspection, they dwell upon it with a show of good luck to them, they overlook the many virtues and the mighty achievements of the Republican party, and call them the granite pillar of justice that has saved the nation through the very provides, because close inspection has revealed, here and there, a few slight flaws on its polished surface. They hold up pinhole in one lever and the many commendable things they have done, and call them monsters, and condemn. They take over the notes of a check book, and charge up against the party every dollar that can serve their partisan purposes. They arrange loyal men in their pathetic acts and hold up their names than loyal men ever arranged them, and they are doing all the deadly labor they can, and pouring out the vials of their wrath and vindictive hate upon the men that has done more for humanity, civilization and national progress than any other party known to history, they now, with a blood smile, set out the followers of this party to forgive and forget.

Forgive and forget what? Republicans are ready to forgive the wrong-doers of the past, but they cannot forget their crimes. Neither can they forget those who stood bravely in the front of danger in the hour of trial. The effort to destroy the nation will be remembered as long as the American people shall exist. We will not forget the names of the Democratic State Committee who sent out the circular to those in power urging them to "let up" on the negroes, as this was the time to carry the State. We will not forget the names of those who were left to be murdered. We will remember the heroic men from Mississippi, where the colored men have been assailed, hundred upon hundred like wild beasts, until they now stand afraid to venture into their own cabins? This is beyond doubt the most brutal and the most cowardly of Mississippi outrages. Miller's indignation is righteous.—Cincinnati Commercial.

The Object in View.

Democracy is struggling hard for place and power. It wants office to reward its friends, it wants money to carry elections. A democratic triumph in the Presidential year of 1876 means the restoration of Southern influence in the management of the government. To what extent that influence would be exerted in the interest of Southern lawlessness—lawlessness because of long experience, and triumphantly believed in—is certainly not doubtful. The intending democratic candidates for the presidency understand the situation. The shrewder of the number, sustained by the solid South, are already beginning to prepare the way for the next presidential campaign. The payment of the bonds in silver will please the people of the South and North. These are among the things which democratic leaders expect to gain by the restoration to power. The Republican party must be aroused to a renewed subscription from the Russian government to pursue this fishery, which went on slowly till 1851, when a Norwegian emigrant, Sill, took to the business. In the autumn of that year he began the shark hunt in Terdeersky Bay, throwing away the outer kitchen waste and excrement. This attracted a thousand sharks, and many were caught with hooks and lines, and the carcasses of dead and putrid with harpoons. Sill was prosperous for some time, but at last the sharks ceased and left the bay. This example, however, excited the people of Kuban to take up the occupation. The Russians took to the water with small boats, which can scarcely hold four men, and proceed at a certain distance from the land they cast out a vessel pierced with holes, containing oil, tainted with other fish, and the currents distribute in the neighborhood. This causes the sharks to assemble, and they then approach the boats, and are attached to iron chains, as they round instantly bite through the strongest rope and have the most quick opportunity of pulling the fish toward the boat, and the fourth stands ready with a wooden iron bar, by which everything they possess, strike with all his force the monster between the eyes. The fish is then entangled by means of a knife with a very long handle, the oil taken, and its swimming bladder inflated by a long pipe. It is then cast adrift to float. It appears to sink the moment the other sharks swarm out in hand and care for the other bait. The long handle of the knife is to secure the safety of the operator, preventing from a like fate. It is said that keep swimming round the boat. Sometimes the sharks surround a boat so thickly that the rowing ceases and the crew fall victims to their intended prey. It is dangerous to attack, so, from its speed and ferocity, and to put in a boat under water or overturn it. If his jaws known to drag a vessel of seventy tons against the wind. The further result of it should be the hanging of three sharks in a day. If Mississippi were governed by a man of courage, the passages would speedily commence.—Chicago Tribune.

An Unfortunate Predicament.

PEOPLE have noticed that one of the handsomest young men in Burlingtonham has suddenly grown bald, and compassion is attributed as the cause. Ah me, he went to a church socialde the other week, took two charming girls with hotlas refreshing at table, let them eat all they wanted and then found he had left his pocket book at home and said nothing. Then he took them home and said softly:

"I am ashamed to say I have no change with ——"

"Hush!" shouted the cashier.

"I regret to say," the young man repeated in a little louder key, "that I have unfortunately come away without any change with ——"

"Change twice!" chirped the deaf man, "Oh, yes, I can change a five if you want it."

"No," the young man explained, in a terribly penetrating whisper, so that a dozen people were crowding up to hand him money, "I have left my pocket book at home and am without a cent. Then the charming pillar of justice that has saved the nation through the very provides, because close inspection has revealed, here and there, a few slight flaws on its polished surface. They hold up pinhole in one lever and the many commendable things they have done, and call them monsters, and condemn. They take over the notes of a check book, and charge up against the party every dollar that can serve their partisan purposes. They arrange loyal men in their pathetic acts and hold up their names than loyal men ever arranged them, and they are doing all the deadly labor they can, and pouring out the vials of their wrath and vindictive hate upon the men that has done more for humanity, civilization and national progress than any other party known to history, they now, with a blood smile, set out the followers of this party to forgive and forget.

Forgive and forget what? Republicans are ready to forgive the wrong-doers of the past, but they cannot forget their crimes. Neither can they forget those who stood bravely in the front of danger in the hour of trial. The effort to destroy the nation will be remembered as long as the American people shall exist. We will not forget the names of the Democratic State Committee who sent out the circular to those in power urging them to "let up" on the negroes, as this was the time to carry the State. We will not forget the names of those who were left to be murdered. We will remember the heroic men from Mississippi, where the colored men have been assailed, hundred upon hundred like wild beasts, until they now stand afraid to venture into their own cabins? This is beyond doubt the most brutal and the most cowardly of Mississippi outrages. Miller's indignation is righteous.—Cincinnati Commercial.

THE SENTINEL.

WILLARD A. SMITH, Editor and Proprietor.

CHARLEVOIX, - MICHIGAN.

"THE PENNY YE MEANT TO GIVE."

TERMS—a family tale of 4 stings each,
Who was none too good, but might have been worse,
Who went to the church on a Sunday night
And carried along his well-filled purse.

When the sexton came with his begging plate—
The church was but dim with the candles' light—
The stingy man frumbled all through his purse,

And shook a coin by touch and not sight.

It's an old thing now that gulteses should be
As like unto penties in name and size.
"I'll give a penny," the stingy man said,
"The poor must not gifts of pennies despise"

The penny fell down with a clatter and ring
And back in his seat leaned the stingy man.
"The world is so full of its poor," he thought,
"I can't help them all—give what I can."

"No use," said the clanking sexton and bells
Are hard to understand—He knew them well.
He knew it—with it accident
Pitched a few pennies the gutters fell.

He knew an accident, no doubt, for the gulteses
Were not in that second, Hell down to stay
No more—but golden guineas on earth
Those two coin have penny at most to pay.

Here's a comfort, too, to the little boys—
Pitched a few pennies the gutters fell.
To know that the gulteses of heaven
Are not for the penny-wise, but well.

Ye know no second, no doubt, for the angels
Are not in that second.

THE SENTINEL.
CHARLEVOIX, MICH.
WILLARD A. SMITH,
EDITOR AND PROPRIETOR.

TUESDAY - - DEC 5, 1875

Insidious Taxation.

The greatest taxes are those which men do not see. They are every day as unconscious of, and never called for by the collector. But they rise as surely as the tide.

Paper is an explosive currency based on fictitious value, and must of itself be the poorest change. If they are obliged, here to-day to pay a dollar to-morrow for a dollar and a half, with a depreciation of fifty per cent. in the value of the money. Besides this, the laboring man, who is paid in depreciated money, is obliged to pay the same price for his provisions as the speculator who has gold to pay for his. Thus the poor man is taxed to support the rich. The poor man's money is worth less than the rich man's money, and he is obliged to pay more for it. This is the way the rich get rich and the poor get poor. This is the way the rich get richer and the poor get poorer. This is the way the rich get richer and the poor get poorer. This is the way the rich get richer and the poor get poorer

HOUSEHOLD HINTS.

Lye-[illegible] dissolved in a dozen pints of water will [illegible] Prime lot out.
—Exchange.

GRAHAM MUFFINS.—One quart of sour milk, one heaping cup of melted butter, three eggs, two cups of sugar, a little sugar or molasses, one teaspoonful of saleratus and cream of tartar enough to make a stiff batter. Bake in a hot oven about twenty minutes.

HEALTHY APPLE PUDDING.—Pare and chop six large apples, butter a pudding dish, put in a layer half an inch thick of grated bread and bits of butter, then a layer of chopped apples, with sugar and nutmeg, repeat till the dish is full; pour over it a teacup of cold water and bake.

TOMATO MARMALADE.—To two pounds of tomatoes allow two pounds of sugar and the juice and grated rind of one lemon. Scald and skin the tomatoes and let the sugar boil very slowly for an hour, stirring and skimming; add the grated lemon and boil all an hour or till it is thick as apple sauce.

TOMATO CATSUP.—To half a bushel of skinned tomatoes add one quart best cayenne pepper, one pint of salt, one bottle mixed mustard, one pound of allspice, six ounces mixed pounded cloves, one ounce of cloves, double quantity of brown sugar, boil the mass for three hours, stirring it constantly. When cool, strain it through a fine sieve or cotton cloth, bottle and seal.

TOMATO HONEY.—To each pound of ripe tomatoes add the grated peel of a lemon and its juice, and a pound of sugar. Boil them slowly till they are all to pieces, then simmer them thoroughly up. To each pound of liquid allow a pint of sugar and the juice of one lemon; boil them together half an hour, or until they become amber color. Then put them into glasses and lay double thickness of paper over the top. It will remove a tea discomplexion from your honey.

THE following rule for boiling fruit in cans will doubtless prove useful to many: "Fill the cans with the fruit to be preserved, and then fill them to the brim with cold water. Empty the water into a kettle, and to the quart allow one cup of sugar and one teaspoonful of saleratus. Let the water boil, then transfer it to the cans, filling them to the brim. Screw on the covers and set away. Fruit prepared in this way will keep for any length of time, and will be found delicious. It is especially recommended for canning peaches, as they retain their natural flavor and color."

Sand on Meadow.

If you have time and a suitable place try the experiment of putting a teaspoonful or two of sand on some of your low meadows. It is a very simple experiment. If you have plenty of it for the cutting, and on many meadows it will prove valuable. A man who takes the pains to measure it, and then owner, out a spot a rood that clean-cut, has been recounting to me the result of an experiment of this kind which he made some years ago, and upon rather high and dry land, too. Near by was a bed of dirt some two feet deep, from which the farmer had dug all he cared to use for compost. He had a large quantity of sand on hand that came from a ditch he had dug through a sandy knoll. He drew some of this sand upon the spot he had cut out, and spread it over the surface to the depth of about two inches. The result was very satisfactory. The grass began to grow much more rapidly, and the yield was greatly increased. The following year he drew more sand upon the same spot, and the result was still more satisfactory. The grass grew more rapidly than ever, and the yield was increased. The sand seemed to act as a fertilizer, and to make the soil more productive. It is surely better to begin our house furnishing at the bottom and work toward the front as we are able; but the kitchen—best be well stocked, even though the parlor suffers a little. Surely the health of the household and the comfort of the woman folks should be general always all considerations.—City Visitor.

Experience.

I AM an old man, upward of three score years, during two series of which I have been a tiller of the soil. I cannot say that I am rich now, but I have been rich and if it were not a dollar, have given my children a good education, and when I am called away will leave them enough to keep the wolf away from the door. My experience has taught me that

1. One acre of land, well prepared, manured and cultivated, will produce more than ten acres which receive only the same amount of manure and labor expended on one.

2. One cow, horse, mule, sheep or hog, well fed, is more profitable than two kept at the amount of food necessary to keep one well.

3. A good crop of clover or grass is worth more than two crops of cotton where no grass or clover is raised.

4. No farmer who buys oats, wheat, corn, fodder and hay, as a rule, for ten years, can keep the Sheriff from the door in the end.

3. The farmer who never reads an agricultural paper, and knows not of the new and improvements, always has a leaky roof, poor stock, broken-down fences and complains of "bad seasons."

6. The farmer whose habitual beverage is cool water is healthier, wealthier and wiser than he who does not refuse a drink.—Cuthbert (Ga.) Farmer.

11 Will Pay to Mulch Trees.

WE do not apprehend any danger from recommending the practice of mulching fruit trees, as a generous coat of muloh is a great safeguard in our dry climate. In cool, rainy tree should be kept much bare for the first year, that is, the ground should be covered below thereon as far as the roots extend but a foot beyond with litter or coarse manure to the depth of several inches. In the result we compare statements taken by the growers of lavender, mint, etc., for distillation of this, it is only necessary to point to the extreme care taken by the preserves the moisture of the soil and an even temperature, that greatly softens the scorching influence of late hot sun and heats in the south of new roots. We speak from abundant experience on this season's soil in all quite pages of information of the good effects it has produced. Besides, it is actually a saver of labor; because, without mulching, the ground about the trees if we wish to see them live and grow, must be kept clean and mellow. Many are prevented the necessity of this as it keeps down weeds and prevents the possibility of the ground baking or crack ing. Mulch your trees then, by all means. If a severe drought should come mostly

A LITTLE TRUTH TELLER

YES, Mrs. Brown, I've had a lovely visit:
I always have, wherever I come here.
Your kind entertainers survive me there.

I guess it's from my nature, Katy, dear!
I truly don't know where the line has vanished;
It gave me such a funny sort of shock
To find my visit done, and find, moreover,
There wasn't any trouble with your clock!

So now I think I'd better get my things on.
Yes, Ka'y, I must go, for, don't you see,
Mamma, this morning, told me when I started:

"Bessie, you'd better be at home by three!"
You ask me if I'd like to stay to dinner?
(I know that nice smell came from roasting lamb!)
Oh, no, I thank you, Mrs. Brown, I couldn't (Have ill- have such delightful things to eat!)

You say you're sure mamma will not be worried?
And Katy wants me so? and little Will?
Your really wish I'd stay? Well, since you urge me, Why, thank you, Mrs. Brown, I think I will!

I hope my conduct doesn't seem peculiar—
But, then, mamma said, when I went away,
She hoped that you'd stay to dinner, Bessie,
Unless they urge you very much to leave.
—Elsie Parnell, in St Nicholas for October.

HOW MARY BECAME A BIRD.

BY CONSTANCE SUTHERLAND.

"AH, Mary, Mary, I fear you will never be most delightful!" exclaimed Mrs. Mason as her little daughter ran to her, breathless and soiled and her dress torn.

"But, mother, I couldn't help it this time. I did try."

"No, my child, you can that so often, yet you do not improve. Take your little chair and think how many times this week you have torn your dress and made the same excuse."

It was springtime and her chair was near the open window. Mary began gazing at the clouds that floated across the blue sky while the soft breath of May waved her curls off her brow.

"Think, Mary, I wish my little daughter to be careful and neat. Begin and tell me how many times has torn your little dress torn to-day."

"Let me see, mamma; once at the gate, once after my squirrel across the fence, that's two times, once at the plum-tree, dear me; there is one rim at the widest part, then the hem's most on the bottom—I don't believe I can count them! There are more times yet!"

The tears ran down the cheeks of the little girl as by her simple arithmetic she discovered that her delinquence he had been without number.

"No more, then, dearie, and try to think how much you will save your dress if you are careful and can resist mother, so that little one run to you to help her be tidy, too."

Mary was oppressed with weariness and her restless little feet could scarcely remain still in one place. The gentle words of her mother failed to dispel the cloud from her usually sunny brow. Nevertheless, Mary was beginning to try to think, when two mocking birds flew through the shrubs and flowers; one poised himself on a blooming vine, and in an instant the sweetest strain trilled sublimely. Shrunken slight of the tree, beautiful bird and sighed inaudibly.

Mary, how I wish I was a bird, Nellaco to wash, no curls to tangle, no dress to tear. I would go where I pleased and I could sing all day long."

The little girl leaned her face on the window and watched the bird as he sat on the spray above her, trembling with grace and song.

Suddenly he soared away, and Mary, too, saw herself borne with him on magic wing high into the air. She beheld around her the trees of the wild woods and heard the songs of many birds.

A little bird companion alighted on the mossy brink of a streamlet, and she saw her own reflection in the water—a veritable bird! She could not believe her eyes, but looked again and still the image was the same. To her new found powers she smiled, up to the overhanging trees, and, returning, alighted beside her guide.

"Oh, I am so glad!" she said, and a burst of her own song startled her.

All day she gaily sang and flew all day, but the birds were all busy among the stones and nut gathering food for them selves or their young; so she had to done, too.

After flying from rocks to hedges, from trees to streams, and from fields to hills, her new energy flagged. When the evening shadows came on she thought she would surely rest now, but no; away, away they hied over field and farm to the deep forest.

When the damp breath of the swamp sighed through the trees she thought a small quantity of slime and letting the water settle before eating. The sediment thus formed will contain the impurities and the water is left in a suitable state for use.—Milling and Mechanical News.

"WHOA, I tell ye!" This is what a farmer said to his oxen as he stopped to talk with a man on the Dodgetown road yesterday morning. The animals were frisky, for oxen, and started again. "Whoa, I tell ye!" repeated the driver. He had but uttered the words when some one in a cart-jig driving past reined in and remarked: "My dear sir, do you know that you are wasting the Queen's English? It is not necessary that you should say more than the word 'Whoa' to those oxen. You are entirely ungrammatical if you are superfluous, and you are superfluous if you employ so many words." The man in the carriage was Richard Grant White.—Danbury News.

Preparing Plants for Winter.

SEPTEMBER is a very important month with those who cultivate flowers for the house. During this month everything should be repacked, if it has not been done before. Many plants need a change at this season before going into winter quarters. In fact the health and growth of plants depend much on potting and the soil that is used. Worms are quite sure to get in during the summer. Plants soon show their presence by making a poor growth or assuming a sickly hue. If plants like geraniums, heliotropes, etc., have been taken out of the pots and planted in the ground during summer, they will not do much in the way of blooming the fore part of winter. For fall shows and early winter it is better to keep plants in pots plunged in the ground. When cool nights come they are easily removed to the house, where they will make a fine display. Perhaps they may need new pots before going into the house.

Oleanders, ivies and some others must be cleaned of all insects before taking in. The leaves must be examined carefully and washed if the insects adhere to the leaves. The under side especially must not be neglected. A fine hands is sometimes useful in getting rid of the scaly insects that infest oleanders and some others.

Chrysanthemums it in the ground must be taken up with care, kept in the shade a few days and well supplied with water, and till after their season of bloom. A good collection of these is very desirable for the fall and early winter.—St. Paul Pioneer Press.

Cistern Water.

MANY persons have had difficulty with the water in new cisterns, or in cisterns newly cleaned or cemented, finding the rain-water which was expected to be perfectly pure and palatable almost unfit for use, and particularly so when heated or boiled—a heavy scum then appearing on its surface. The water, moreover, proves to be hard instead of soft. This is evidently the result of its contact with the interior coating of the cistern, and if after two or three months, all the water is pumped out and a new supply obtained, it is generally found that the quality is greatly improved, the injurious elements of the coating of the cistern having apparently been either absorbed or covered by an overlying deposit. To empty the cistern and wait for it refilling is, on many times, however, a matter of considerable inconvenience. It is said that the water first obtained from it may be purified so as to be at least fit for domestic requirements by putting into a bucketful a small quantity of alum and letting the water settle before using. The sediment thus formed will contain the impurities and the water is left in a suitable state for use.—Milling and Mechanical News.

Drying Herbs.

THOSE should be gathered as soon as they begin to open their flowers. In drying them two methods are employed; one is to tie them into bunches as soon as cut, and hang them up in a room or shed; the other is to first lay them out in the sun to dry, by both these methods the quality is apt to be injured, the ground should be covered below thereon as far as the roots extend but a foot beyond with litter or coarse manure to the depth of several inches. In the result we compare statements taken by the growers of lavender, mint, etc., for distillation of this, it is only necessary to point to the extreme care taken by the preserves the moisture of the soil and an even temperature, that greatly softens the scorching influence of late hot sun and heats in the south of new roots. We speak from abundant experience on this season's soil in all quite pages of information of the good effects it has produced. Besides, it is actually a saver of labor; because, without mulching, the ground about the trees if we wish to see them live and grow, must be kept clean and mellow. Many are prevented the necessity of this as it keeps down weeds and prevents the possibility of the ground baking or cracking. Mulch your trees then, by all means. If a severe drought should come mostly English Rules for Preserving Fruits.

THE London Garden gives the following as the rules of the Royal Horticultural Society for preservation of choice fruits:

1. As the flavor of fruit is so easily affected by heterogeneous odors, it is highly desirable that apples and pear rooms should be dry and airy.

2. The walls and the floor should be annually washed with a solution of quicklime.

3. The room should be perfectly dry, with as uniform a temperature as practicable; one of 45° will usually answer, but there should not be perfect dust.

4. Use the utmost care in gathering fruit, handling as little as possible.

5. To prevent bruising, fruit should be well ripened, but if for long keeping, it is better, especially with pears, that it should not have quite arrived at complete maturity. This point, however, requires considerable judgment.

6. No imperfect fruit should be stored with that which is sound, and all more or less decayed specimens should be immediately removed.

7. If placed on shelves the fruit should not be more than two deep, and no straw should be used.

8. Where especially clear and beautiful specimens are wanted they may be packed carefully in dry bran, or in layers of perfectly dry cotton or wool, either in chaff boxes or in large garden pots. Seamless sawdust will answer the same purpose, but pine sawdust is apt to communicate an unpleasant taste.

9. With care, early apples may be kept till Christmas, while many kinds may be preserved in perfection to a second year.

The rules given by American fruit growers, especially well with the above, but make especial mention that fruit intended for show ripening should be nearly dark, and the temperature low. Light and heat hasten maturity, and next, of course, the composition

Drying Herbs.

THOSE should be gathered as soon as they begin to open their flowers. In drying them two methods are employed; one is to tie them into bunches as soon as cut, and hang them up in a room or shed; the other is to first lay them out in the sun to dry, by both these methods the quality is apt to be injured, the ground should be covered below thereon as far as the roots extend but a foot beyond with litter or coarse manure to the depth of several inches. In the result we compare statements taken by the growers of lavender, mint, etc., for distillation of this, it is only necessary to point to the extreme care taken by the preserves the moisture of the soil and an even temperature, that greatly softens the scorching influence of late hot sun and heats in the south of new roots. We speak from abundant experience on this season's soil in all quite pages of information of the good effects it has produced. Besides, it is actually a saver of labor; because, without mulching, the ground about the trees if we wish to see them live and grow, must be kept clean and mellow. Many are prevented the necessity of this as it keeps down weeds and prevents the possibility of the ground baking or cracking. Mulch your trees then, by all means. If a severe drought should come mostly

HOW TO SWEEP.

SWEEPING, for a well woman, is one of the best kinds of exercise. It calls in play especially the muscles of the upper extremities and chest, and, indeed, it is a pretty good "thorough exerciser," almost too strong for any woman with a weak back, though this depends very much on what is to sweep. A patented floor and Canton matting sweep easily; an ingrain carpet is harder, a rag carpet harder still, while Brussels and velvet are "awful." Well, then, in any case, rower your head, and if it is in the parlor or sitting-room cover your furniture and with hooks, dampen your broom, let it stand ten to twenty minutes, and then sweep carefully, but persistently. In the corners insert your broom repeatedly (but not frantically) until quite clean. Heavy carpets are best swept with a quick, short stroke. In any case bring the broom to stand you or even with you, do not flirt it in front of you. That motion kicks up a dust which is bad for the lungs. Sweeping like straws, rawlings and bits of paper, are best picked up with the hand or with a small broom, to which they readily cling, and may be removed with the other hand. To conclude, have as few carpets as possible. They are dirty, unwholesome and unsightly. Hard or polished floors and Canton matting are better.—Scenes of Health.

Preparing Plants for Winter.

SEPTEMBER is a very important month with those who cultivate flowers for the house. During this month everything should be repacked, if it has not been done before. Many plants need a change at this season before going into winter quarters. In fact the health and growth of plants depend much on potting and the soil that is used. Worms are quite sure to get in during the summer. Plants soon show their presence by making a poor growth or assuming a sickly hue. If plants like geraniums, heliotropes, etc., have been taken out of the pots and planted in the ground during summer, they will not do much in the way of blooming the fore part of winter. For fall shows and early winter it is better to keep plants in pots plunged in the ground. When cool nights come they are easily removed to the house, where they will make a fine display. Perhaps they may need new pots before going into the house.

Oleanders, ivies and some others must be cleaned of all insects before taking in. The leaves must be examined carefully and washed if the insects adhere to the leaves. The under side especially must not be neglected. A fine hands is sometimes useful in getting rid of the scaly insects that infest oleanders and some others.

Chrysanthemums it in the ground must be taken up with care, kept in the shade a few days and well supplied with water, and till after their season of bloom. A good collection of these is very desirable for the fall and early winter.—St. Paul Pioneer Press.

Cistern Water.

MANY persons have had difficulty with the water in new cisterns, or in cisterns newly cleaned or cemented, finding the rain-water which was expected to be perfectly pure and palatable almost unfit for use, and particularly so when heated or boiled—a heavy scum then appearing on its surface. The water, moreover, proves to be hard instead of soft. This is evidently the result of its contact with the interior coating of the cistern, and if after two or three months, all the water is pumped out and a new supply obtained, it is generally found that the quality is greatly improved, the injurious elements of the coating of the cistern having apparently been either absorbed or covered by an overlying deposit. To empty the cistern and wait for it refilling is, on many times, however, a matter of considerable inconvenience. It is said that the water first obtained from it may be purified so as to be at least fit for domestic requirements by putting into a bucketful a small quantity of alum and letting the water settle before using. The sediment thus formed will contain the impurities and the water is left in a suitable state for use.—Milling and Mechanical News.

A True Antelope Story.

TIP and I were in that part of Western Kansas which is left blank on the maps. Two hunters, Thompson and Hughes, were with us, and we were coming back from a buffalo chase. We had been crawling lazily along over prairie, through valley, up and down hill since sunrise, and it was now nearly noon.

All of a sudden, from a clump of tall grass near us, up sprang an antelope and a pair of beautiful fawns. Like a flash the old one and one of the tawns started over the brow of the ridge on which they were lying, while the other little fellow began running around in a circle, as you have seen ponies do at the circus, bleating as fast as he could.

The boys leaped from the wagons in an instant, while I remained to hold the horses. Ringing themselves around the circle the three fawns every now and then dashed headlong after the fawn as he flew past; but missed him by a rod or more every time.

Our dog Lately also was on hand for the fun; and it was a laughable sight to see the great gaukowd fellow straining every nerve to overtake the little streak of unmitigated lightning that flashed before his nose. Lately was a Newfoundland shepherd, and I know that nothing could induce him to hurt the fawn if he should overtake him.

While I was watching the sport and laughing at the drollery of it all at once I heard a stamping on the other side of the wagon, and, stepping quickly around the horses' heads, I saw the old doe and a buck and doe with her.

As the fawn came bounding along the circle the lines came down, the frightened steers lumbered, darted in ahead of him, rushing right by the men and dog. Never stopping an instant the big buck led the way, and the does and fawn followed; and before you could say "Jack Robinson" they were "over the hills and far away."

This was the antelope that we almost caught. The boys came back to the wagons thoroughly tagged out, and I, having painfully still.

Again we drove along, but had not proceeded more than a mile or two when up sprang another old doe and ran toward Lately, stamping her forefeet fiercely. Of course the foolish dog took after her as hard as he could go—just as she want ed him to do, and as fine chase she led him, always taking care not to leave him so far behind as to discourage him and make him turn back.

We knew at once by her actions that she had a fawn near there, and so, while she was hurling Lately away from it, as all about hunting it up. In 15 minutes I came across the little slender legged beauty, snugly curled up under a tuft of grass. As I came upon him he shaded out of cover with a shrill, plaintive little bleat, but Tip and he wasn't going to be cheated out of my share in the handle.—Fulton Times.

CONNECTICUT turns out a cucumber five feet long, but they've got to eat it in order to pickle it, and that's soothing sirup for the rest of us.

IT is a vexing thought to most men that a cobweb occupies a little more space than my best effort ever will. This frightened the fawn so badly that he made direct for Tip, who was squatting in the long grass about four rods from him, and rushed pantingly into his arms.

We took the bright eyed little thing into the wagon and by night he was so tame that he would follow us around and when we lay down to sleep on the ground I gave him a corner of my blanket for a bed. At last we got back to Thompson's log house, which stood near the timber, and when we went away we gave the fawn to her two little girls. I would really like to know what ever became of the Lloyd Wiggins, in Nursery.

An Amateur Farmer.

A MAN named Cary came down to our country a short time ago and bought a little farm just below from the river. He didn't profess to know much about farming, and the most wonderful stories were been floating about concerning his performances. Cooley relished some of them so much that he could not refrain from calling on him one day to get some information. He found Cary in the garden, and the following conversation took place:

"Good morning, Mr. Cary; I just thought I would call around and see how you were getting along."

"Good morning, sir; I am glad to see you. Come right in and look around. I am getting along very well, but I am very busy, as you see."

"Yes, I see you are. I suppose you are getting in your crops?"

"Oh, yes, I have got in my crops. I have been very busy for the last few days."

"Ah, indeed! What crops have you got in?"

"Why, I have got in my corn, my potatoes, my beans, my peas, my cucumbers, my squashes, my melons, my—"

"Stop, stop, Mr. Cary! Do you expect to raise all those things on your farm?"

"Why, certainly I do. Why not?"

"Why, I should think you would have to plant a different kind of soil for each one of those crops."

"Oh, no, I don't think so. I have got a very rich piece of ground, and I think it will raise anything."

"Well, Mr. Cary, I am glad to hear you say so, for I was afraid you would be disappointed in your crops. I have lived here for many years, and I know that the soil is not adapted to raising many of the things you have mentioned."

"Oh, I guess I know what I am about. I have had a great deal of experience in farming, and I think I understand my business SEED OATS.—Messrs. Wrentham & Wade who have been hauling at this place during the season have sold their rig to D. S. Way of this place, and removed to Douglas, Allegan County, in this State, where they formerly resided. They are gentlemen, and may success attend them where ever they go.

MARINE.—The Sea Gull and T. M. Moore have each taken on cargoes of bark during the week.

—The Schooner Island City of Sheboygan, Wis., arrived at this port Friday after a cargo of bark.

—The schooner Stanton and scow Blue Belle arrived yesterday after bark.

THE annual Meeting of the Board of Supervisors will occur on Monday next. Quite a lengthy and extended session is anticipated in view of the effort which is likely to be made to bring several important matters before it. It is not unlikely that the county building question will be brought up and discussed; but we do not apprehend any decisive action favorable to the end contemplated. Certain it is that they must make some provision for the security of county records and files. A change must and should be made in the system of financial management which has characterized the acts of past Boards—and a reform is needed. It is to be hoped that harmony will prevail throughout the deliberations and that nothing may be permitted to interest and the county's good, will govern the proceedings.

PROMOTIONS.—The appointments made by Bishop Baraga, at the Methodist Conference just held at Battle Creek are said to have commenced an unusual amount of complaint and dissatisfaction. In some cases the ministers are disappointed at not having been located at larger towns, where they would have received larger salaries, and in other cases the congregations are disappointed in their preachers not getting the clergymen they asked for.

If you want flour low at reasonable prices, go to Carpenter & Bartholomew's.

Letters from Druggists,

Thus to no case of Dyspepsia but Brook's Angelus Flower will not cure. Come to the Drug Store and G. W. Emerson, and Inquire about it. If you suffer from nervousness Sick Headache, sour Stomach, in Indigestion Liver Complaint, or derangement of the Stomach or liver try it. Twenty three dose will relieve you.

Hamlands German Syrup is now sold in every town and city in the United States. We have not less than five hundred letters from druggists saying it is the best medicine they ever sale for consumption. Throat or Lung Disease. Sample bottle of both for 10 cents. Regular size 75 cents.

SALE OF STATE TAX LANDS.

AUDITOR GENERAL'S OFFICE, LANSING, MICH., July 1st, 1875.

Notice is hereby given that the lands advertised in the county of CHARLEVOIX list of delinquent taxes for the years 1871, 1872, 1873, and 1874, and previous years, and remaining unsold at the time of the treasurer's sale, held on the first Monday of October, 1874, will be offered for sale at the office of the Auditor General, in the City of Lansing, on the first Monday of October next, at the hour and place designated by the Governor, and will be sold for the taxes, interest and charges thereon, together with the additional penalties provided by law, as will appear from the records of my office, according to law.

Said lands will be sold in a body, each description as it appears on the list, and the smallest quantity that will pay the taxes, interest and charges thereon will be struck off to the purchaser.

Lands struck off to the State for taxes of 1872 or on former years, if the tax Sales in October next, will be offered subject to the right of redemption provided by law, as well as to the right of purchase by the State before the sale, prior to the sale.

RALPH ELY, Auditor Genl.

Annual Tax Sales.

Auditor General's office, Lansing, Mich., July 1, 1875.

In pursuance of the following described lands as appear on the records of the county of Manistee, delinquent for unpaid taxes, for the years and sums stated below, as will be such sum to pay the taxes, interest and charges thereon, will be sold by the Treasurer of said county, on the first Monday of October next, at the court house in said county, or be sold sooner to the highest bidder, at such county, according to the statute in such case made and provided.

RALPH ELY, Auditor Genl.

1872

Town 37 North of Range 10 West.

sw ¼ of sw ¼	21	40	80	45	1 00	2 20

1873

Town 39 North of Range 9 West.

lot 1 of	1	15 20	1 92	13	1 60	2 45
lot 1 of	2	16 77	1 40	23	1 60	1 63

Town 40 North of Range 9 West.

lot 1 of	35	8 60	68	60	1 60	1 28
ne ¼ of sw ¼	2	40	1 80	2	1 60	1 43
se ¼ of sw ¼	26	27 42	1 08	2	1 60	2 15
lot 1 of	1	1 00	1 08	1	1 60	1 23
lot 2 of	1	1 00	1 08	1	1 60	1 23
lot 3 of	1	1 00	1 08	1	1 60	1 23
lot 4 of	1	1 00	1 08	1	1 60	1 23
ne ¼ of	2	40	1 80	2	1 60	1 43
se ¼ of	2	40	1 80	2	1 60	1 43
sw ¼ of	2	40	1 80	2	1 60	1 43
nw ¼ of	2	40	1 80	2	1 60	1 43
ne ¼ of	3	40	2 40	3	1 60	1 63
se ¼ of	3	40	2 40	3	1 60	1 63
sw ¼ of	3	40	2 40	3	1 60	1 63
nw ¼ of	3	40	2 40	3	1 60	1 63
ne ¼ of	4	40	3 00	4	1 60	1 83
se ¼ of	4	40	3 00	4	1 60	1 83
sw ¼ of	4	40	3 00	4	1 60	1 83
nw ¼ of	4	40	3 00	4	1 60	1 83
ne ¼ of	5	40	3 60	5	1 60	2 03
se ¼ of	5	40	3 60	5	1 60	2 03
sw ¼ of	5	40	3 60	5	1 60	2 03
nw ¼ of	5	40	3 60	5	1 60	2 03
ne ¼ of	6	40	4 20	6	1 60	2 23
se ¼ of	6	40	4 20	6	1 60	2 23
sw ¼ of	6	40	4 20	6	1 60	2 23
nw ¼ of	6	40	4 20	6	1 60	2 23
ne ¼ of	7	40	4 80	7	1 60	2 43
se ¼ of	7	40	4 80	7	1 60	2 43
sw ¼ of	7	40	4 80	7	1 60	2 43
nw ¼ of	7	40	4 80	7	1 60	2 43
ne ¼ of	8	40	5 40	8	1 60	2 63
se ¼ of	8	40	5 40	8	1 60	2 63
sw ¼ of	8	40	5 40	8	1 60	2 63
nw ¼ of	8	40	5 40	8	1 60	2 63
ne ¼ of	9	40	6 00	9	1 60	2 83
se ¼ of	9	40	6 00	9	1 60	2 83
sw ¼ of	9	40	6 00	9	1 60	2 83
nw ¼ of	9	40	6 00	9	1 60	2 83
ne ¼ of	10	40	6 60	10	1 60	3 03
se ¼ of	10	40	6 60	10	1 60	3 03
sw ¼ of	10	40	6 60	10	1 60	3 03
nw ¼ of	10	40	6 60	10	1 60	3 03
ne ¼ of	11	40	7 20	11	1 60	3 23
se ¼ of	11	40	7 20	11	1 60	3 23
sw ¼ of	11	40	7 20	11	1 60	3 23
nw ¼ of	11	40	7 20	11	1 60	3 23
ne ¼ of	12	40	7 80	12	1 60	3 43
se ¼ of	12	40	7 80	12	1 60	3 43
sw ¼ of	12	40	7 80	12	1 60	3 43
nw ¼ of	12	40	7 80	12	1 60	3 43
ne ¼ of	13	40	8 40	13	1 60	3 63
se ¼ of	13	40	8 40	13	1 60	3 63
sw ¼ of	13	40	8 40	13	1 60	3 63
nw ¼ of	13	40	8 40	13	1 60	3 63
ne ¼ of	14	40	9 00	14	1 60	3 83
se ¼ of	14	40	9 00	14	1 60	3 83
sw ¼ of	14	40	9 00	14	1 60	3 83
nw ¼ of	14	40	9 00	14	1 60	3 83
ne ¼ of	15	40	9 60	15	1 60	4 03
se ¼ of	15	40	9 60	15	1 60	4 03
sw ¼ of	15	40	9 60	15	1 60	4 03
nw ¼ of	15	40	9 60	15	1 60	4 03
ne ¼ of	16	40	10 20	16	1 60	4 23
se ¼ of	16	40	10 20	16	1 60	4 23
sw ¼ of	16	40	10 20	16	1 60	4 23
nw ¼ of	16	40	10 20	16	1 60	4 23
ne ¼ of	17	40	10 80	17	1 60	4 43
se ¼ of	17	40	10 80	17	1 60	4 43
sw ¼ of	17	40	10 80	17	1 60	4 43
nw ¼ of	17	40	10 80	17	1 60	4 43
ne ¼ of	18	40	11 40	18	1 60	4 63
se ¼ of	18	40	11 40	18	1 60	4 63
sw ¼ of	18	40	11 40	18	1 60	4 63
nw ¼ of	18	40	11 40	18	1 60	4 63
ne ¼ of	19	40	12 00	19	1 60	4 83
se ¼ of	19	40	12 00	19	1 60	4 83
sw ¼ of	19	40	12 00	19	1 60	4 83
nw ¼ of	19	40	12 00	19	1 60	4 83
ne ¼ of	20	40	12 60	20	1 60	5 03
se ¼ of	20	40	12 60	20	1 60	5 03
sw ¼ of	20	40	12 60	20	1 60	5 03
nw ¼ of	20	40	12 60	20	1 60	5 03
ne ¼ of	21	40	13 20	21	1 60	5 23
se ¼ of	21	40	13 20	21	1 60	5 23
sw ¼ of	21	40	13 20	21	1 60	5 23
nw ¼ of	21	40	13 20	21	1 60	5 23
ne ¼ of	22	40	13 80	22	1 60	5 43
se ¼ of	22	40	13 80	22	1 60	5 43
sw ¼ of	22	40	13 80	22	1 60	5 43
nw ¼ of	22	40	13 80	22	1 60	5 43
ne ¼ of	23	40	14 40	23	1 60	5 63
se ¼ of	23	40	14 40	23	1 60	5 63
sw ¼ of	23	40	14 40	23	1 60	5 63
nw ¼ of	23	40	14 40	23	1 60	5 63
ne ¼ of	24	40	15 00	24	1 60	5 83
se ¼ of	24	40	15 00	24	1 60	5 83
sw ¼ of	24	40	15 00	24	1 60	5 83
nw ¼ of	24	40	15 00	24	1 60	5 83
ne ¼ of	25	40	15 60	25	1 60	6 03
se ¼ of	25	40	15 60	25	1 60	6 03
sw ¼ of	25	40	15 60	25	1 60	6 03
nw ¼ of	25	40	15 60	25	1 60	6 03
ne ¼ of	26	40	16 20	26	1 60	6 23
se ¼ of	26	40	16 20	26	1 60	6 23
sw ¼ of	26	40	16 20	26	1 60	6 23
nw ¼ of	26	40	16 20	26	1 60	6 23
ne ¼ of	27	40	16 80	27	1 60	6 43
se ¼ of	27	40	16 80	27	1 60	6 43
sw ¼ of	27	40	16 80	27	1 60	6 43
nw ¼ of	27	40	16 80	27	1 60	6 43
ne ¼ of	28	40	17 40	28	1 60	6 63
se ¼ of	28	40	17 40	28	1 60	6 63
sw ¼ of	28	40	17 40	28	1 60	6 63
nw ¼ of	28	40	17 40	28	1 60	6 63
ne ¼ of	29	40	18 00	29	1 60	6 83
se ¼ of	29	40	18 00	29	1 60	6 83
sw ¼ of	29	40	18 00	29	1 60	6 83
nw ¼ of	29	40	18 00	29	1 60	6 83
ne ¼ of	30	40	18 60	30	1 60	7 03
se ¼ of	30	40	18 60	30	1 60	7 03
sw ¼ of	30	40	18 60	30	1 60	7 03
nw ¼ of	30	40	18 60	30	1 60	7 03
ne ¼ of	31	40	19 20	31	1 60	7 23
se ¼ of	31	40	19 20	31	1 60	7 23
sw ¼ of	31	40	19 20	31	1 60	7 23
nw ¼ of	31	40	19 20	31	1 60	7 23
ne ¼ of	32	40	19 80	32	1 60	7 43
se ¼ of	32	40	19 80	32	1 60	7 43
sw ¼ of	32	40	19 80	32	1 60	7 43
nw ¼ of	32	40	19 80	32	1 60	7 43
ne ¼ of	33	40	20 40	33	1 60	7 63
se ¼ of	33	40	20 40	33	1 60	7 63
sw ¼ of	33	40	20 40	33	1 60	7 63
nw ¼ of	33	40	20 40	33	1 60	7 63
ne ¼ of	34	40	21 00	34	1 60	7 83
se ¼ of	34	40	21 00	34	1 60	7 83
sw ¼ of	34	40	21 00	34	1 60	7 83
nw ¼ of	34	40	21 00	34	1 60	7 83
ne ¼ of	35	40	21 60	35	1 60	8 03
se ¼ of	35	40	21 60	35	1 60	8 03
sw ¼ of	35	40	21 60	35	1 60	8 03
nw ¼ of	35	40	21 60	35	1 60	8 03
ne ¼ of	36	40	22 20	36	1 60	8 23
se ¼ of	36	40	22 20	36	1 60	8 23
sw ¼ of	36	40	22 20	36	1 60	8 23
nw ¼ of	36	40	22 20	36	1 60	8 23

Town 38 North of Range 10 West.

ne ¼ of ne ¼	2	40	80	60	1 60	1 63
nw ¼ of ne ¼	1	80	72	60	1 60	1 52
sw ¼ of ne ¼	2	40	72	60	1 60	1 52
se ¼ of ne ¼	2	40	72	60	1 60	1 52
ne ¼ of nw ¼	2	40	72	60	1 60	1 52
nw ¼ of nw ¼	2	40	72	60	1 60	1 52
sw ¼ of nw ¼	2	40	72	60	1 60	1 52
se ¼ of nw ¼	2	40	72	60	1 60	1 52
ne ¼ of sw ¼	2	40	72	60	1 60	1 52
nw ¼ of sw ¼	2	40	72	60	1 60	1 52
sw ¼ of sw ¼	2	40	72	60	1 60	1 52
se ¼ of sw ¼	2	40	72	60	1 60	1 52
ne ¼ of se ¼	2	40	72	60	1 60	1 52
nw ¼ of se ¼	2	40	72	60	1 60	1 52
sw ¼ of se ¼	2	40	72	60	1 60	1 52
se ¼ of se ¼	2	40	72	60	1 60	1 52

Town 39 North of Range 11 West.

lot 1 of	2	12 57	80	2	1 60	1 43
lot 2 of	2	13 19	2 00	2	1 60	1 63
lot 3 of	2	13 19	2 00	2	1 60	1 63
lot 4 of	2	13 19	2 00	2	1 60	1 63
lot 1 of	3	27 42	1 16	3	1 60	2 23
lot 2 of	3	27 42	1 16	3	1 60	2 23
lot 3 of	3	27 42	1 16	3	1 60	2 23
lot 4 of	3	27 42	1 16	3	1 60	2 23
lot 1 of	4	27 44	1 16	3	1 60	2 23
lot 2 of	4	27 44	1 16	3	1 60	2 23
lot 3 of	4	27 44	1 16	3	1 60	2 23
lot 4 of	4	27 44	1 16	3	1 60	2 23
lot 1 of	5	27 28	1 16	3	1 60	2 23
lot 2 of	5	27 28	1 16	3	1 60	2 23
lot 3 of	5	27 28	1 16	3	1 60	2 23
lot 4 of	5	27 28	1 16	3	1 60	2 23
lot 1 of	6	27 42	1 16	3	1 60	2 23
lot 2 of	6	27 42	1 16	3	1 60	2 23
lot 3 of	6	27 42	1 16	3	1 60	2 23
lot 4 of	6	27 42	1 16	3	1 60	2 23
lot 1 of	7	27 28	1 16	3	1 60	2 23
lot 2 of	7	27 28	1 16	3	1 60	2 23
lot 3 of	7	27 28	1 16	3	1 60	2 23
lot 4 of	7	27 28	1 16	3	1 60	2 23
lot 1 of	8	27 42	1 16	3	1 60	2 23
lot 2 of	8	27 42	1 16	3	1 60	2 23
lot 3 of	8	27 42	1 16	3	1 60	2 23
lot 4 of	8	27 42	1 16	3	1 60	2 23
lot 1 of	9	27 28	1 16	3	1 60	2 23
lot 2 of	9	27 28	1 16	3	1 60	2 23
lot 3 of	9	27 28	1 16	3	1 60	2 23
lot 4 of	9	27 28	1 16	3	1 60	2 23
lot 1 of	10	27 42	1 16	3	1 60	2 23
lot 2 of	10	27 42	1 16	3	1 60	2 23
lot 3 of	10	27 42	1 16	3	1 60	2 23
lot 4 of	10	27 42	1 16	3	1 60	2 23
lot 1 of	11	27 28	1 16	3	1 60	2 23
lot 2 of	11	27 28	1 16	3	1 60	2 23
lot 3 of	11	27 28	1 16	3	1 60	2 23
lot 4 of	11	27 28	1 16	3	1 60	2 23
lot 1 of	12	27 42	1 16	3	1 60	2 23
lot 2 of	12	27 42	1 16	3	1 60	2 23
lot 3 of	12	27 42	1 16	3	1 60	2 23
lot 4 of	12	27 42	1 16	3	1 60	2 23

Town 40 North of Range 11 West.

lot 1 of	1	1 00	1 08	1	1 60	1 23
lot 2 of	1	1 00	1 08	1	1 60	1 23
lot 3 of	1	1 00	1 08	1	1 60	1 23
lot 4 of	1	1 00	1 08	1	1 60	1 23
lot 1 of	2	1 00	1 08	1	1 60	1 23
lot 2 of	2	1 00	1 08	1	1 60	1 23
lot 3 of	2	1 00	1 08	1	1 60	1 23
lot 4 of	2	1 00	1 08	1	1 60	1 23
lot 1 of	3	1 00	1 08	1	1 60	1 23
lot 2 of	3	1 00	1 08	1	1 60	1 23
lot 3 of	3	1 00	1 08	1	1 60	1 23
lot 4 of	3	1 00	1 08	1	1 60	1 23
lot 1 of	4	1 00	1 08	1	1 60	1 23
lot 2 of	4	1 00	1 08	1	1 60	1 23
lot 3 of	4	1 00	1 08	1	1 60	1 23
lot 4 of	4	1 00	1 08	1	1 60	1 23
lot 1 of	5	1 00	1 08	1	1 60	1 23
lot 2 of	5	1 00	1 08	1	1 60	1 23
lot 3 of	5	1 00	1 08	1	1 60	1 23
lot 4 of	5	1 00	1 08	1	1 60	1 23
lot 1 of	6	1 00	1 08	1	1 60	1 23
lot 2 of	6	1 00	1 08	1	1 60	1 23
lot 3 of	6	1 00	1 08	1	1 60	1 23
lot 4 of	6	1 00	1 08	1	1 60	1 23
lot 1 of	7	1 00	1 08	1	1 60	1 23
lot 2 of	7	1 00	1 08	1	1 60	1 23
lot 3 of	7	1 00	1 08	1	1 60	1 23
lot 4 of	7	1 00	1 08	1	1 60	1 23
lot 1 of	8	1 00	1 08	1	1 60	1 23
lot 2 of	8	1 00	1 08	1	1 60	1 23
lot 3 of	8	1 00	1 08	1	1 60	1 23
lot 4 of	8	1 00	1 08	1	1 60	1 23
lot 1 of	9	1 00	1 08	1	1 60	1 23
lot 2 of	9	1 00	1 08	1	1 60	1 23
lot 3 of	9	1 00	1 08	1	1 60	1 23
lot 4 of	9	1 00	1 08	1	1 60	1 23
lot 1 of	10	1 00	1 08	1	1 60	1 23
lot 2 of	10	1 00	1 08	1	1 60	1 23
lot 3 of	10	1 00	1 08	1	1 60	1 23
lot 4 of	10	1 00	1 08	1	1 60	1 23
lot 1 of	11	1 00	1 08	1	1 60	1 23
lot 2 of	11	1 00	1 08	1	1 60	1 23
lot 3 of	11	1 00	1 08	1	1 60	1 23
lot 4 of	11	1 00	1 08	1	1 60	1 23
lot 1 of	12	1 00	1 08	1	1 60	1 23
lot 2 of	12	1 00	1 08	1	1 60	1 23
lot 3 of	12	1 00	1 08	1	1 60	1 23
lot 4 of	12	1 00	1 08	1	1 60	1 23

Town 41 North of Range 11 West.

lot 1 of	1	1 00	1 08	1	1 60	1 23
lot 2 of	1	1 00	1 08	1	1 60	1 23
lot 3 of	1	1 00	1 08	1	1 60	1 23
lot 4 of	1	1 00	1 08	1	1 60	1 23
lot 1 of	2	1 00	1 08	1	1 60	1 23
lot 2 of	2	1 00	1 08	1	1 60	1 23
lot 3 of	2	1 00	1 08	1	1 60	1 23
lot 4 of	2	1 00	1 08	1	1 60	1 23
lot 1 of	3	1 00	1 08	1	1 60	1 23
lot 2 of	3	1 00	1 08	1	1 60	1 23
lot 3 of	3	1 00	1 08	1	1 60	1 23
lot 4 of	3	1 00	1 08	1	1 60	1 23
lot 1 of	4	1 00	1 08	1	1 60	1 23
lot 2 of	4	1 00	1 08	1	1 60	1 23
lot 3 of	4	1 00	1 08	1	1 60	1 23
lot 4 of	4	1 00	1 08	1	1 60	1 23
lot 1 of	5	1 00	1 08	1	1 60	1 23
lot 2 of	5	1 00	1 08	1	1 60	1 23
lot 3 of	5	1 00	1 08	1	1 60	1 23
lot 4 of	5	1 00	1 08	1	1 60	1 23
lot 1 of	6	1 00	1 08	1	1 60	1 23
lot 2 of	6	1 00	1 08	1	1 60	1 23
lot 3 of	6	1 00	1 08	1	1 60	1 23
lot 4 of	6	1 00	1 08	1	1 60	1 23
lot 1 of	7	1 00	1 08	1	1 60	1 23
lot 2 of	7	1 00	1 08	1	1 60	1 23
lot 3 of	7	1 00	1 08	1	1 60	1 23
lot 4 of	7	1 00	1 08	1	1 60	1 23
lot 1 of	8	1 00	1 08	1	1 60	1 23
lot 2 of	8	1 00	1 08	1	1 60	1 23
lot 3 of	8	1 00	1 08	1	1 60	1 23
lot 4 of	8	1 00	1 08	1	1 60	1 23
lot 1 of	9	1 00	1 08	1	1 60	1 23
lot 2 of	9	1 00	1 08	1	1 60	1 23
lot 3 of	9	1 00	1 08	1	1 60	1 23
lot 4 of	9	1 00	1 08	1	1 60	1 23
lot 1 of	10	1 00	1 08	1	1 60	1 23
lot 2 of	10	1 00	1 08	1	1 60	1 23
lot 3 of	10	1 00	1 08	1	1 60	1 23
lot 4 of	10	1 00	1 08	1	1 60	1 23
lot 1 of	11	1 00	1 08	1	1 60	1 23
lot 2 of	11	1 00	1 08	1	1 60	1 23
lot 3 of	11	1 00	1 08	1	1 60	1 23
lot 4 of	11	1 00	1 08	1	1 60	1 23
lot 1 of	12	1 00	1 08	1	1 60	1 23
lot 2 of	12	1 00	1 08	1	1 60	1 23
lot 3 of	12	1 00	1 08	1	1 60	1 23
lot 4 of	12	1 00	1 08	1	1 60	1 23

Town 42 North of Range 11 West.

lot 1 of	1	1 00	1 08	1	1 60	1 23
lot 2 of	1	1 00	1 08	1	1 60	1 23
lot 3 of	1	1 00	1 08	1	1 60	1 23
lot 4 of	1	1 00	1 08	1	1 60	1 23
lot 1 of	2	1 00	1 08	1	1 60	1 23
lot 2 of	2	1 00	1 08	1	1 60	1 23
lot 3 of	2	1 00	1 08	1	1 60	1 23
lot 4 of	2	1 00	1 08	1	1 60	1 23
lot 1 of	3	1 00	1 08	1	1 60	1 23
lot 2 of	3	1 00	1 08	1	1 60	1 23
lot 3 of	3	1 00	1 08	1	1 60	1 23
lot 4 of	3	1 00	1 08	1	1 60	1 23
lot 1 of	4	1 00	1 08	1	1 60	1 23
lot 2 of	4	1 00	1 08	1	1 60	1 23
lot 3 of	4	1 00	1 08	1	1 60	1 23
lot 4 of	4	1 00	1 08	1	1 60	1 23
lot 1 of	5	1 00	1 08	1	1 60	1 23
lot 2 of	5	1 00	1 08	1	1 60	1 23
lot 3 of	5	1 00	1 08	1	1 60	1 23
lot 4 of	5	1 00	1 08	1	1 60	1 23
lot 1 of	6	1 00	1 08	1	1 60	1 23
lot 2 of	6	1 00	1 08	1	1 60	1 23
lot 3 of	6	1 00	1 08	1	1 60	1 23
lot 4 of	6	1 00	1 08	1	1 60	1 23
lot 1 of	7	1 00	1 08	1	1 60	1 23
lot 2 of	7	1 00	1 08	1	1 60	1 23
lot 3 of	7	1 00	1 08	1	1 60	1 23
lot 4 of	7	1 00	1 08	1	1 60	1 23
lot 1 of	8	1 00	1 08	1	1 60	1 23
lot 2 of	8	1 00	1 08	1	1 60	1 23
lot 3 of	8	1 00	1 08	1	1 60	1 23
lot 4 of	8	1 00	1 08	1	1 60	1 23
lot 1 of	9	1 00	1 08	1	1 60	1 23
lot 2 of	9	1 00	1 08	1	1 60	1 23
lot 3 of	9	1 00	1 08	1	1 60	1 23
lot 4 of	9	1 00	1 08	1	1 60	1 23
lot 1 of	10	1 00	1 08	1	1 60	1 23
lot 2 of	10	1 00	1 08	1	1 60	1 23
lot 3 of	10	1 00	1 08	1	1 60	1 23
lot 4 of	10	1 00	1 08	1	1 60	1 23
lot 1 of	11	1 00	1 08	1	1 60	1 23
lot 2 of	11	1 00	1 08	1	1 60	1 23
lot 3 of	11	1 00	1 08	1	1 60	1 23
lot 4 of	11	1 00	1 08	1	1

THE SENTINEL.

WILLARD A. SMITH, Editor and Proprietor.

CHARLEVOIX, - MICHIGAN.

THE NEWS.

A TELEGRAM from Berlin of the 25th says the Socialist Party had refused to yield to the demands of the insurgents until they have made a full and complete submission.

A CONSTANTINOPLE dispatch of the 25th says the Consular mediation had failed.

ACCORDING to a Paris dispatch of the 25th a Romanist council had been recently held at Arenberg, Switzerland, at the chateau of ex-Empress Eugenie, where it was resolved that the Empress should resign the regency and that the Prince Imperial, guided by M. Rouher, should have charge of affairs.

THE President has accepted the resignation of Secretary Delano, to take effect Oct. 1. The letter of resignation is dated July 5, and the President's letter of acceptance Sept. 22.

REV. H. C. TILTON has declined the nomination for Governor of Wisconsin on the Temperance ticket.

THE board appointed to investigate the charges against Custom House officials in public their report on the 26th. It is to the effect that some of the material used in the structure will have to be removed and some other modification made in the plan, and that then the structure may safely be proceeded with. The Secretary of the Treasury has ordered the report, and has directed that work on the building be resumed in the spring in accordance with the suggestions made by the commission.

THE latest murder was perpetrated near Belle Center, Ohio, on the 23d. The victim being a young girl named Allie Laughlin. The perpetrator of the crime was Mrs. Shell, who, according to the testimony of his wife, enticed the girl away into the woods and after a desperate struggle killed her with a rifle. On returning Shell told his wife what he had done, and threatened to kill her should she reveal the deed. She did not, however, but fled to Bellefontaine and told her story. Shell was lodged in jail at Bellefontaine on the 24th, as an accomplice before the fact, the latter confessed his participation and knowledge of her husband's intention to commit the outrage and murder.

ON the 27th the Americus ship Edenborough sailed was lost off the Lancashire coast, England. Eight of the crew perished, and the captain and four of the boat's crew of a lifeboat which went to the Southard's assistance were drowned.

ACCORDING to a Santander dispatch of the 27th peninsular advices said the Carlist committees in foreign lands had endeavored to persuade Don Carlos to abandon the struggle in Spain, but he refused to yield to the arguments of his friends, and will give to the Alfonsist to King the pesos, $4,588,950.

THE report of the Government Directors of the Union Pacific Railroad Company submitted in Washington, showed that the gross receipts of the road during the year ending June 30, 1873, were $12,076,000, an increase over the previous year of $1,573,309, increase net earnings due to the same time, $1,570,624, operating expenses, $4,588,950.

THE Fourth National Bank of Chicago suspended on the 25th.

THE clergy and business men of Chicago have hardly taken preliminary steps toward incorporating a great religious revival this fall and winter. Rooms for it are making to secure the personal attendance of Mr. Moody, Moody and Sankey, but in any event a revival is determined on. One report is to the effect that the Tribune is to publish and prosecute their religious labors in New York.

EX-SENATOR CARL SCHURZ delivered a lecture on the 25th at Cincinnati on the Centennial.

C. H. HAM, of the Inter-Ocean, has been removed from the office of United States Appraiser of Merchandise at Chicago, and R. C. Fehlhaber appointed, as his successor.

AN attack accident occurred on the Burlington & Missouri Railroad, near Westburn, on the 25th. Three passengercars were thrown from the track, and one passenger was killed and about thirty injured.

ACCORDING to a special telegram from Vienna, published in the London Times, on the morning of the 26th, the Porte had addressed a circular to foreign powers stating a revolution was inevitable if Montenegro and Servia continued their persistent violation of neutrality. The present condition of affairs rendered it necessary to keep 100,000 men under arms to suppress treasons and Turkey could maintain these 100,000 men only by means of loans. The circular was announced on the 28th that transportation of the Servian Skuptschina had suspended their seats. A Regina telegram of the same date says several outlying portions of the town near the Bulunsian frontier had joined in the insurrection, and the Turks had retired toward Sinalaka.

A Madrid dispatches of the 28th say that personal differences had arisen between Carlist leaders Don Carlos himself; that Elio had been unable to reconcile. Gamundi and Ros have refused their tariff to $1.00 in gold per cent. in consequence of the non-assent to the direct cable.

TWO CITIZENS of JOHN MCDANIELS and wife, of Newark, N. J., were recently burned to death by the explosion of kerosene while kindling a fire in the kitchen stove.

A LARGE number of the operatives at Fall River, Mass., resumed work on the 29th ult. Quiet prevailed and no further serious trouble was anticipated.

REV. DR. GEORGE B. PERRY, late pastor of All-Souls' Church, Brooklyn, N.Y., was drowned in Long Island Sound on the 28th ult. by the upsetting of a boat.

THE stock on the farm of the President, near St. Louis, was sold at auction on the 30th ult., and brought exceedingly low prices.

A NEW counterfeit ten dollar bill on the National Bank of Cincinnati has made its appearance in Chicago. It was pronounced by experts to be almost perfect, except that the lower left-hand corner of the back of the note is much blurred.

A TELEGRAM from the Red Cloud Agency was received on the 30th, which stated that the commissioners had abandoned all hope of consummating a treaty, but had submitted a last proposition to the Indians, offering $400,000 per annum for the right to mine, raise stock and cultivate the soil in the Black Hills country, or to purchase the country for $6,000,000, in fifteen equal annual installments; also of selling to purchase the Big Horn country in Wyoming for $200,000 annually for ten years—$50,000 in addition to be distributed in presents among the Indians.

The Floods in Texas—Accounts of Some of the Disasters.

The New Orleans Bulletin of Sept. 23 gives the following particulars of the terrible effects of the inundations in Indianola:

"Thursday at ten a. m. the wind was blowing fearfully, the water still coming in higher, and it was now a scene of terrible submerging most of the town. The alarm spread like wildfire. Those who had boats were picking about in the streets taking women and children to places of fancied security. Families were sent up to the highest portions of the dwellings, houses and goods were continually hurried into the garrets and the whole town was one scene of horror.

"There were no means of leaving the town and so all had to secure themselves as best they could. Midnight Thursday a heavy current set in, running through the town, and then continued it for about an hour on all sides of falling houses. The water by this time had reached a point covering the whole place from 10 to 15 feet.

"Looking out, nothing could be seen except housetops and the white foam of the heavy rollers. With every crash, above the screaming of the wind and the roar of the waters could be heard the wail of despair from drowning women and children.

"Practically clinging to the remains of the wrecks in every direction, hundreds of men were simply imploring for help when all sight was lost in the darkness. No pen can do justice to the second desperate description. Strong men, carrying with them their wives, kept like children, and some would let go their hold in certain death rather than suffer hence the utmost privation. Those that were saved by their nerves were powerless to render assistance. Not an effort was placed that might be humanely. The town-plash and crashing of houses and the wind was echoed by groans and the sound was echoed by groans and screams.

"About daylight Friday morning the wind lulled and the water fell so rapidly as it had risen, and by noon it was possible for people to get about in the higher portions of the town.

"The severity of the damage done was then fully appreciated. Not a house in the place but showed signs of the storm. The gale Squares completely washed away, and houses having been carried off by the current, leaving only the floors as a guide to mark the spot where once they stood.

"As soon as the citizens were able to get out they set to work collecting those still in need. Those scattered in the upper portions of the dangerous buildings were taken out and the corpses caught by fallen timbers removed. It was a sad work, and probably all the people rescued in the days will be dead. It was also the most painful, including scenes were left. Here a little girl, almost naked, wailing in the water in search of father, mother and baby; there, whose bodies lay bleaching on the sand, miles distant. Here, old men, pale with anguish, looked for their grandchildren whose piteous pleading voices were forever silenced by the treacherous waters.

"No pen could portray the sad picture of Friday and Saturday. A force of 200 men is employed in removing the dead. Those who were buried in the sand have been disinterred and carefully sorted, and those who were buried in the water are being collected and made the load of the chromic or steamer.

Up to Monday evening last ninety-five bodies had been recovered and identified. Charging to-day. As there were 1,200 people in the town before the storm in Indianola, it would be discovered were forced to desert their homes, losses, in fact, from everything.

In concerning the losses sustained, we have to take into consideration the fact that the flowers of their family, flock, and almost those who were dearer to them than life itself. Indianola is destroyed, and nearly all the remains of wives, children and fathers.

Singular to say, most of the bodies were not found in the town. The tremendous force of the water carried many of them who were caught beneath fallen buildings, and carried them out to the Bay of Matagorda and the whole town was one scene of horror.

There were no means of leaving the town and so all had to secure themselves as best they could. Midnight Thursday a heavy current set in, running through the town, and then continued it for about an hour on all sides of falling houses. The water by this time had reached a point covering the whole place from 10 to 15 feet.

Looking out, nothing could be seen except housetops and the white foam of the heavy rollers. With every crash, above the screaming of the wind and the roar of the waters could be heard the wail of despair from drowning women and children.

Practically clinging to the remains of the wrecks in every direction, hundreds of men were simply imploring for help when all sight was lost in the darkness. No pen can do justice to the second desperate description. Strong men, carrying with them their wives, kept like children, and some would let go their hold in certain death rather than suffer hence the utmost privation. Those that were saved by their nerves were powerless to render assistance. Not an effort was placed that might be humanely. The town-plash and crashing of houses and the wind was echoed by groans and the sound was echoed by groans and screams.

About daylight Friday morning the wind lulled and the water fell so rapidly as it had risen, and by noon it was possible for people to get about in the higher portions of the town.

The severity of the damage done was then fully appreciated. Not a house in the place but showed signs of the storm. The gale Squares completely washed away, and houses having been carried off by the current, leaving only the floors as a guide to mark the spot where once they stood.

As soon as the citizens were able to get out they set to work collecting those still in need. Those scattered in the upper portions of the dangerous buildings were taken out and the corpses caught by fallen timbers removed. It was a sad work, and probably all the people rescued in the days will be dead. It was also the most painful, including scenes were left. Here a little girl, almost naked, wailing in the water in search of father, mother and baby; there, whose bodies lay bleaching on the sand, miles distant. Here, old men, pale with anguish, looked for their grandchildren whose piteous pleading voices were forever silenced by the treacherous waters.

THE SENTINEL.
CHARLEVOIX, MICH.

Grant Makes a Speech

The President has made a speech [illegible] the occasion was one of the [illegible] to the occasion of the Centennial [illegible] held there account of the Hudson [illegible] Sept. 23, and was entirely unconventional. Here is the speech and will do to read once.

Gentlemen—It affords me much gratification to meet you assembled as you are, a quarter and fourteen years ago, to the end of securing the early and thorough use of those rights—inalienable, imparted by the Creator—and guaranteed by the practical wisdom and progressive spirit of our Constitution. We believed then and we believe now, that we have a Government worth keeping for and it [illegible] How many of the citizens paid tax [illegible] given to our patriot [illegible] For such [illegible] and payment to such [illegible] purposes, but the means of the [illegible] fers he did not [illegible] free of debt, but the [illegible] he held more than [illegible]

We will not refer to any of those very fearful [illegible] of the past [illegible] government which we enjoy [illegible] On the contrary, we welcome as [illegible] come hitherto in good faith [illegible] up the work pertaining to [illegible] in this material [illegible] age; but we are [illegible] for the part to [illegible] It will be hoped that [illegible] we will never [illegible] belong our country. To [illegible] class of people [illegible] the soldiers who [illegible] orphans, and [illegible] of the country [illegible] soldier, on which side he [illegible] Now, as [illegible] If we are to have another moment in the near future of our National existence, I predict that the dividing line will not be Mason and Dixon's, but between patriotism and intelligence on the one side and superstition, ambition and ignorance on the other.

Now in the centennial year of our national existence, I believe it a good time to begin the work of strengthening the foundations of the structure [illegible] by our patriotic forefathers 100 years ago at Lexington. Let us have to and all needful guarantees for the greatest [illegible] of free thought, free speech, a free press, pure morals, unfettered religion, [illegible] and of equal rights and privileges to men irrespective of nationality, religion, or color; encourage free [illegible] and preserve that not one dollar of money appropriated to their support shall be appropriated to the support of any sectarian school; resolve that neither the State or nation, nor both combined, shall support institutions of learning other than those sufficient to afford to every child growing up in the land the opportunity of a good common school education, unmixed with sectarian, pagan, or atheistical. Leave the matter of religion to the family altar, the church and the private school supported by private contribution, and keep the church and the state forever separate. With these safeguards, I believe the battles which created the Army of the Revolution will not have been fought in vain.

A Grand Rapids woman advertises in the Mariage Pioneer: "I want an honorable, honest gentleman for a husband. No lawyer shall be preferred need apply. I will give my future husband on my marriage day $10,000 cash and twice that amount in real estate. I am 22 years of age, 5 feet 41-2 inch high, weight 110 pounds, a good musician, and well educated. Editor has address.

CANNOT BE TRUE.—A new time card for the running of trains on the Grand Rapids & Indiana road will take effect next Sunday. The night trains are to be discontinued, which is the only material change from the present arrangement. The morning and evening mail and the mail trains will run about [illegible] as now.

From Leoni's Correspondence.

A large part of the agents of Mr. [illegible] of Concord, in Jackson county, have [illegible] to schools and [illegible] and [illegible] pupils. I regret that I may [illegible] pertain to this [illegible] and as to [illegible] that the [illegible] of [illegible] county would keep [illegible] of the [illegible] Those [illegible] some [illegible] and [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

A Tragedy of the Sea.

THE facts in the case of the mutiny on the schooner Jefferson Borden, as brought out in the trial now pending in the United States District Court by this city, form an exciting tale of perilous adventure on the "dark blue sea" which lacks only the element of romance to be as thrilling and fascinating as any in the books of Capt. Marryatt or Mayne Reid. The dark-browed and bloody-handed sailors who killed the two mates of the vessel in the darkness of midnight, and threw them overboard, and marked the Captain for slaughter, but dealt with him so bunglingly that he suspected their intent and escaped their deadly purpose, were apparently animated only by brutal hate for their officers, who had been forced to use hard measures to suppress insubordination. They had for a leader no hero of wickedness fired with secret love for the Captain's wife and a fiendish ambition to make her the queen of some tropical island, nor was there any woman in captivity for them to rescue and make the idol of their savage worship in the caves and fastnesses of some unfrequented island, neither had they a wild ambition to sketch out for the steerage. Man as bold buccaneers, plundering rich argosies that travel the highways of the sea.

There is not a gleam of poetry or romance about this dismal tragedy. The vessel that was a most unpoetical craft, a commercial cabin and forecastle brig, bound from New Orleans to London. She was in charge of Capt. William Patterson, a part owner, whose brother was the first mate. The Captain's wife shared the dangers and hardships of the voyage, and their children, the second and a boy considered too young to go to sea, were left at home. From that time he seems to have done nothing with the purpose of deserving sympathy. In the darkness of the night of April 29, after the afternoon watch had been mustered, and the usual conversation in a stage whisper with which he used enough for her to hear "One wouldn't know it had mutinied aboard in it if he wasn't told," said Smith. "It's a pretty quiet ship, now gets over its dislike for freckles."

"It saith none would be an objection to some," answered Jones; "but I never think less of a baby on that account. Poor thing! it can't help it."

"And what a mouth!" said Smith.

"And then again red-headed children always have bad temper. I pity its poor parents."

"That isn't to boil as the lack of boiled license seen in its face," responded Brown. "It's an awful pity that a child with that should be born an idiot."

But Brown's last remark fell on the empty air, for the irate mother had snatched her babe to her bosom, and, with a lurid glare at the impudent strangers, made a beeline for the streetcars. When the boys got into ten minutes afterward hunting for his wife they told him that it was an awful shame that he didn't interfere and lick those fellows for insulting her wife and baby, and that if he had any manhood about him he would have done it. But Mr. Potts is a mild man, and he only looked sorrowful and said that he would.—Cleveland Leader.

Fighting an Alligator.

MONDAY afternoon a party of eight or ten met at the Okapilco Creek to seine the different lakes and "eddies" along the rim of the creek between the turnpike and the railroad bridges. Nothing unusual transpired on this occasion until late in the afternoon, when, in seining a deep hole formed by a bend in the channel of the stream, the seine became so heavy and difficult to drag that it was concluded that it was hung to a root or log on the bottom. Tom Devane, a lad sixteen years of age, went under for the purpose of disentangling the seine, and upon reaching the bottom, a distance of six or seven feet, he found what he supposed to be a log, and commenced hauling it to the surface of the water with it. His surprise as well as that of the party can better be imagined than expressed when upon appearing, the supposed log was found to be an alligator. As soon as the water's surface was reached the infuriated monster, taking to the seine, made a glance, made a terrible lunge at Devane, and, striking him in the breast, knocked him into deep water, and continuing the attack, caught him between his vise-like jaws around the waist.

Seeing the danger of their comrade the rest of the party sprang to his relief. Fortunately for Devane he was upon the outside and unconscious was upon the inside of the seine, which, being strong and firmly held at each end, somewhat impeded the wicked reptile in his attack. This, together with the prompt and fearless action of the entire party, who seized his alligatorship by the tail and legs and commenced to use their knives on him diligently, is all that saved Lum Devane. He was finally extricated from the jaws of the accomplished monster, and escaped with a few painful, though not dangerous, bruises and bites. The alligator was about eight feet in length and it was with difficulty that six or eight strong and courageous men succeeded, after inserting their knives in several tender places, in bringing him ashore. He fought like a very lively one for a little while, and in his dying moments he set up a deafening roar almost equal to that of a lion.—Quitman (Ga.) Reporter.

THAT name is "Herzegovina," if you hear a newsboy crying out: "Awful shawt the Heasegowynyard warr! you may know that he means evil enough.

The Fashions.

CLOSE, sheath-like shirts are seen in the eldest feature of imported costumes for autumn that furnishing-houses are having their wire-lay figures made smaller, in order to display properly the various dresses. All bustles and crinoline are discarded by French belles, and instead of the bouffant tournures in favor here their sheath overskirts have no more fullness behind than in front. The careless-looking drapery of these close overskirts is arranged in irregular folds that are graceful, classic and far more pleasing to artistic dictators than the fashion of having the overdress more voluminous than the lower skirt.

The clinging walking skirt does not measure three yards around the foot. It is made with one front gore, a narrow gore on each side and a straight back, which consists of a single breadth of wide goods, or else two widths of narrow material.

The sheath overskirt is made of light brown Russia cloth or figured camel's hair. The bindings made up of scrolls, palm leaves and arabesques, mingled in great confusion, are considered more elegant than those with stripes or bars, yet the latter are used. This overskirt consists of one long breadth of the enormously wide cloth, to which on the left side is added a triangular piece which scarcely deserves to be called a gore.

The double-breasted jacket is a shapely garment that displays fine figures admirably. It fits as smoothly as a basque, but as it is meant for the street as well as the house it has an interlining of flannel between its cloth outside and the lining of farmer's satin, making it heavy enough to wear in the autumn until fur wraps are used.

The waists of basques and wraps are very long at present; such boots say sixteen or seventeen inches is the standard length of waists of outer garments that formerly measured only fifteen inches. The long sidelocks beginning in the shoulder seam is found on great numbers of imported garments. French backs, without side bodies, are not as popular as they were a year ago. The side bones of English backs are the objective points for trimming. Sometimes these side bodies are lengthened to form pockets or supports for pocketings; in other cases they are made quite long, and are lapped or tied across the middle of the back of the basque. Still others are found on all that part below the waist, a false side body of silk is set underneath, and the wooden side bones are buttoned upon the silk one in a way that half discloses it. There is a renewed effort to popularize dresses that fasten behind; as these require the assistance of a maid, the latest plan is to trim the back of the basque to imitate a lace garment, with a pretty sweep from the low

REAL ESTATE AGENCY

—OF—

H. L. MILLER,

CHARLEVOIX, MICH.

Transfers made, non-resident taxes paid and all real estate business attended to promptly and on reasonable terms.

The following descriptions are offered for sale at special bargains:

EMMET COUNTY.

E. ½ of S. E. ¼ section 26, T. 37 N., R. 6 west. Containing 80 acres.

W. ½ of S. E. ¼ sec. 7, T. 34 N., R. 6 west. Containing 80 acres. Maple and beech.

N. ½ of sec. section 35 Town 37 N., R. 6 W.; 1 S. ½ of sec. section 2, Town 35, N., R. 6 W.

Timber, maple and beech, elm, hemlock, basswood and ash.

CHARLEVOIX COUNTY.

The old Healy Farm, at Barnard P. O., on the State Road, 34 miles from Charlevoix. S. ½ of S. W. ¼ sec. 14, T. 33 N., R. 8 west, 80 acres, 35 acres improved, on front cross bearing, 12 acres in meadow; good double-log house, barn, good well, and other conveniences. All included with a first-rate fence. For terms address this agency, or N. Ainslie, Charlevoix.

John Bell's farm, in Marion Township, One good frame house 16x24, good cellar the full size of the house, frame built 20x31, and a good orchard, 35 acres cleared, and 15 of it farm meadow; the best of soil; timber, hemlock, elm, beech, cedar and black ash; good brook running through the farm, and three living springs. W. ½ of N. W. ¼ of section 34, Town 33 North, of Range 8 West.

S. ½ of the N. W. ¼ of section 34, Town 33 North, of Range 8 West. Good log house. Terms made easy.

14tf-3

G.B. MILLS,

DEALER IN

Gen'l Merchandise,

Boyne Falls, Mich.,

Located a quarter to railroad, and a careful a tention is paid to the wants of customers

Cash Paid for Country Produce

People in the vicinity of the railroad and the head of Pearl-lake, can save much time in their interests to call and examine goods and prices.

May 27, 1875. 41ly

Letters from Druggists.

There is no case of Dyspepsia that Green's August Flower will not cure. Come to the Drug Store of H. W. Cameron, and Inquire about it. If you suffer from Costiveness Sick Headache, Sour Stomach, Indigestion Liver Complaint, or derangement of the Stomach or Liver try it. Two or three doses will relieve you.

Boschee's German Syrup is now sold in every town and city in the United States We have not less than five hundred letters from druggists, saying it is the best medicine they ever sale for consumption. Thous or long disease. Sample bottles of both for 10 cents. Regular size 75 cents.

SALE OF STATETAX LANDS.

AUDITOR GENERAL'S OFFICE, }
LANSING, MICH., July 1st, 1875. }

Notice is hereby given that certain Lands situated in the county of CHARLEVOIX 1874 of the State for Taxes of 1873, and previous years, and described in statements which will be forwarded to the office of the Treasurer of said County some time in September, will be sold at public auction, by said Treasurer, at the County seat, on the first Monday of October next, at the time and place designated for the ordinary Tax Sales, if not previously stopped of at the office according to law.

Said statements contain a full description of each parcel of said lands, and may be seen on application at the office of the County Treasurer.

Lands struck off to the State for taxes of 1873, or other years, at the Tax Sales in October last will be offered subject to the right of redemption prescribed by law, as well as to the right of purchase of the State lands at the Office, prior to the sale.

RALPH ELY,
AUDITOR GENERAL

ANNUAL TAX SALES.

AUDITOR GENERAL'S OFFICE, }
LANSING, MICH., July 1st, 1875. }

So much of each of the following described tracts or parcels of land, situated in the county of CHARLEVOIX, delinquent for unpaid Taxes, for the years mentioned below, as will be sufficient to pay the taxes, interest and charges thereon, will be sold by the Treasurer of said County, on the first Monday of October next, at such public and convenient place as he shall select, in CHARLEVOIX the county seat of said County, according to the statute in such case made and provided.

RALPH ELY,
AUDITOR GENERAL

1874.

Town 32 North of Range 4 West.

Sections	Acres.	Lots	Taxes.	Interest	Charges	Total.
lot 4 of	7	1.15	05	00	1.00	1.00

Town 32 North of Range 5 West.

ne ¼ of nw¼	2	80	2.55	15	1.00	3.70
se ¼ of nw¼	5	80	4.74	47	1.00	6.21
sw ¼ of nw¼	5	78.15	4.65	46	1.00	6.12
nw ¼ of sw¼	8	78.50	4.66	46	1.00	6.12
ne ¼ of sw¼	9	80	4.74	47	1.00	6.21
se ¼ of sw¼	9	80	2.37	23	1.00	3.60
ne ¼ of se¼	10	80	4.74	47	1.00	6.21
nw ¼ of se¼	10	40	2.37	23	1.00	3.60
se ¼ of se¼	10	40	2.36	23	1.00	3.60
sw ¼ of se¼	10	80	4.74	47	1.00	6.21
ne ¼ of nw¼	14	40	2.37	23	1.00	3.60
se ¼ of nw¼	19	43	2.37	23	1.00	3.60
sw ¼ of nw¼	19	40	4.74	47	1.00	6.21
nw ¼ of sw¼	21	80	4.74	47	1.00	6.21
ne ¼ of sw¼	28	80	4.74	47	1.00	6.21
se ¼ of sw¼	28	80	4.74	47	1.00	6.21
sw ¼ of sw¼	28	80	4.74	47	1.00	6.21
ne ¼ of se¼	33	80	2.37	23	1.00	3.60

Town 33 North of Range 5 West.

nw ¼ of sw¼	2	82.12	2.19	21	1.00	3.40
ne ¼ of sw¼	3	80	2.13	21	1.00	3.34
se ¼ of sw¼	4	80	4.16	42	1.00	5.58
sw ¼ of sw¼	10	160	8.62	85	1.00	10.37
nw ¼ of se¼ of sec	10	40	1.06	10	1.00	2.16
ne ¼ of nw¼	15	160	4.25	42	1.00	5.67
sw ¼ of sw¼	10	40	1.06	10	1.00	2.16

Annual Tax Sales.

AUDITOR GENERAL'S OFFICE, }
LANSING, MICH., July 1st, 1875. }

So much of each of the following described tracts or parcels of land, situated in the county of Manistee, delinquent for unpaid taxes, for the years mentioned below, as will be sufficient to pay the taxes, interest and charges thereon, will be sold by the Treasurer of said County, on the first Monday of October next, at such public and convenient place as he shall select, in the village of Manistee, the county seat of said county, according to the statute in such case made and provided.

RALPH ELY, Auditor Gen'l.

1872.

Town 37 North of Range 10 West.

sw ¼ of sw¼	21	40	99	43	1.00	2.25

1874.

Town 29 North of Range 9 West.

lot 1 of	1	18.70	1.37	13	1.00	2.40
lot 2 of	2	20.71	2.36	24	1.00	4.62

Town 40 North of Range 9 West.

lot 1 of	35	8.60	63	06	1.00	1.72
und. ½ lot	2	35 40	85	1.65	16	1.00	2.81
und. ½ lot	3	26 27	40	1.98	19	1.00	3.17
lot 2 of	35	21.70	1.63	16	1.00	2.81

Town 37 North of Range 10 West.

lot 1 of	1	40	31	1.05	10	1.00	2.15
lot 2 of	1	40	31	1.05	10	1.00	2.15
lot 3 of	1	47	36	1.22	12	1.00	2.48
lot 4 of	1	47	36	1.22	12	1.00	2.48
lot 1 of	11	53	15	1.68	16	1.00	2.84
und. ¼ of	14	40	31	1.05	10	1.00	2.15
lot 1 of	15	80	62	2.10	21	1.00	3.33
lot 2 of	15	80	62	2.10	21	1.00	3.33
lot 3 of	15	80	62	2.10	21	1.00	3.33
lot 4 of	15	80	62	2.10	21	1.00	3.33
lot 1 of	22	20	15	1.05	10	1.00	2.15
lot 2 of	22	20	15	1.05	10	1.00	2.15
lot 3 of	22	20	15	1.05	10	1.00	2.15
lot 4 of	22	20	15	1.05	10	1.00	2.15
lot 1 of	27	40	31	1.05	10	1.00	2.15
lot 2 of	27	40	31	1.05	10	1.00	2.15
lot 3 of	27	40	31	1.05	10	1.00	2.15
lot 4 of	27	40	31	1.05	10	1.00	2.15
lot 1 of	34	80	62	2.13	21	1.00	3.34
lot 2 of	34	80	62	2.13	21	1.00	3.34
lot 3 of	34	80	62	2.13	21	1.00	3.34
lot 4 of	34	80	62	2.13	21	1.00	3.34
lot 1 of	35	40	31	1.06	10	1.00	2.16
lot 2 of	35	40	31	1.06	10	1.00	2.16
lot 3 of	35	40	31	1.06	10	1.00	2.16
lot 4 of	35	40	31	1.06	10	1.00	2.16

Village of Charlevoix.

lot 1 Park	20	4.61	46	1.00	6.07
lot 2 Park	7	26	2.84	28	1.00	4.12
lot 3 Park	7	27	2.84	28	1.00	4.12
lot 4 Park	7	27	2.84	28	1.00	4.12
lot 5 Park	7	27	2.84	28	1.00	4.12
lot 6 Park	7	27	2.84	28	1.00	4.12
lot 7 Park	7	27	2.84	28	1.00	4.12
lot 8 Park	7	27	2.84	28	1.00	4.12
lot 9 Park	7	27	2.84	28	1.00	4.12
lot 10 Park	7	27	2.84	28	1.00	4.12
lot 11 Park	7	27	2.84	28	1.00	4.12
lot 12 Park	7	27	2.84	28	1.00	4.12
lot 13 Park	7	27	2.84	28	1.00	4.12
lot 14 Park	7	27	2.84	28	1.00	4.12
lot 15 Park	7	27	2.84	28	1.00	4.12
lot 16 Park	7	27	2.84	28	1.00	4.12
lot 17 Park	7	27	2.84	28	1.00	4.12
lot 18 Park	7	27	2.84	28	1.00	4.12
lot 19 Park	7	27	2.84	28	1.00	4.12
lot 20 Park	7	27	2.84	28	1.00	4.12
lot 21 Park	7	27	2.84	28	1.00	4.12
lot 22 Park	7	27	2.84	28	1.00	4.12
lot 23 Park	7	27	2.84	28	1.00	4.12
lot 24 Park	7	27	2.84	28	1.00	4.12
lot 25 Park	7	27	2.84	28	1.00	4.12
lot 26 Park	7	27	2.84	28	1.00	4.12
lot 27 Park	7	27	2.84	28	1.00	4.12
lot 28 Park	7	27	2.84	28	1.00	4.12
lot 29 Park	7	27	2.84	28	1.00	4.12
lot 30 Park	7	27	2.84	28	1.00	4.12
lot 31 Park	7	27	2.84	28	1.00	4.12
lot 32 Park	7	27	2.84	28	1.00	4.12
lot 33 Park	7	27	2.84	28	1.00	4.12
lot 34 Park	7	27	2.84	28	1.00	4.12
lot 35 Park	7	27	2.84	28	1.00	4.12
lot 36 Park	7	27	2.84	28	1.00	4.12
lot 37 Park	7	27	2.84	28	1.00	4.12
lot 38 Park	7	27	2.84	28	1.00	4.12
lot 39 Park	7	27	2.84	28	1.00	4.12
lot 40 Park	7	27	2.84	28	1.00	4.12
lot 41 Park	7	27	2.84	28	1.00	4.12
lot 42 Park	7	27	2.84	28	1.00	4.12
lot 43 Park	7	27	2.84	28	1.00	4.12
lot 44 Park	7	27	2.84	28	1.00	4.12
lot 45 Park	7	27	2.84	28	1.00	4.12
lot 46 Park	7	27	2.84	28	1.00	4.12
lot 47 Park	7	27	2.84	28	1.00	4.12
lot 48 Park	7	27	2.84	28	1.00	4.12
lot 49 Park	7	27	2.84	28	1.00	4.12
lot 50 Park	7	27	2.84	28	1.00	4.12
lot 51 Park	7	27	2.84	28	1.00	4.12
lot 52 Park	7	27	2.84	28	1.00	4.12
lot 53 Park	7	27	2.84	28	1.00	4.12
lot 54 Park	7	27	2.84	28	1.00	4.12
lot 55 Park	7	27	2.84	28	1.00	4.12
lot 56 Park	7	27	2.84	28	1.00	4.12
lot 57 Park	7	27	2.84	28	1.00	4.12
lot 58 Park	7	27	2.84	28	1.00	4.12
lot 59 Park	7	27	2.84	28	1.00	4.12
lot 60 Park	7	27	2.84	28	1.00	4.12

Charlevoix County Treasurer's Office, }
Charlevoix, August 19th, 1875. }

Notice is hereby given, that the sale of lands in Charlevoix County, advertised by the Auditor General as delinquent for taxes of 1874 (and previous years,) will be held at the County Treasurer's Office, in the village of Charlevoix, the County seat of said county, commencing on Monday, the fourth day of September, at nine o'clock A. M. and continue from day to day, (Sundays excepted) until the sale shall have been closed according to law

BYRON SEE, Co. Treasurer.

SALE OF STATE TAX LANDS.

Auditor General's Office, }
Lansing, Mich., July 1, 1875. }

Notice is hereby given, that certain lands owning in the county of Manistee, delinquent for the State for taxes of 1873, as appears from the statements of the Treasurer of said county, now in the hands of the Auditor General, will be sold at public auction, by said Treasurer, at the County Seat, on the first Monday in October next, at the time and place designated for the ordinary Tax Sales, if not previously paid to the office, according to law.

Said statements contain a full description of each parcel of said lands, and may be seen on application at the office of the County Treasurer.

Lands struck off to the State for taxes of 1873 or other years, at the tax sales in October last, will be offered subject to the right of redemption prescribed by law, as well as to the right of purchase of the State lands at the office, prior to the sale.

RALPH ELY,
Auditor General.

Annual Tax Sales.

Auditor General's Office, }
Lansing, Mich., July 1, 1875. }

So much of each of the following described tracts or parcels of land, situated in the county of Manistee, delinquent for unpaid taxes, for the years mentioned below, as will be sufficient to pay the taxes, interest and charges thereon, will be sold by the Treasurer of said County, on the first Monday of October next, at such public and convenient place as he shall select, in the village of Manistee, the county seat of said county, according to the statute in such case made and provided.

RALPH ELY, Auditor Gen'l.

1872.

Town 37 North of Range 10 West.

sw ¼ of sw¼	21	40	99	43	1.00	2.25

1874.

Town 29 North of Range 9 West.

lot 1 of	1	18.70	1.37	13	1.00	2.40
lot 2 of	2	20.71	2.36	24	1.00	4.62

Town 40 North of Range 9 West.

lot 1 of	35	8.60	63	06	1.00	1.72
und. ½ lot	2	35 40	85	1.65	16	1.00	2.81
und. ½ lot	3	26 27	40	1.98	19	1.00	3.17
lot 2 of	35	21.70	1.63	16	1.00	2.81

Town 37 North of Range 10 West.

lot 1 of	1	40	31	1.05	10	1.00	2.15
lot 2 of	1	40	31	1.05	10	1.00	2.15
lot 3 of	1	47	36	1.22	12	1.00	2.48
lot 4 of	1	47	36	1.22	12	1.00	2.48
lot 1 of	11	53	15	1.68	16	1.00	2.84
und. ¼ of	14	40	31	1.05	10	1.00	2.15
lot 1 of	15	80	62	2.10	21	1.00	3.33
lot 2 of	15	80	62	2.10	21	1.00	3.33
lot 3 of	15	80	62	2.10	21	1.00	3.33
lot 4 of	15	80	62	2.10	21	1.00	3.33
lot 1 of	22	20	15	1.05	10	1.00	2.15
lot 2 of	22	20	15	1.05	10	1.00	2.15
lot 3 of	22	20	15	1.05	10	1.00	2.15
lot 4 of	22	20	15	1.05	10	1.00	2.15
lot 1 of	27	40	31	1.05	10	1.00	2.15
lot 2 of	27	40	31	1.05	10	1.00	2.15
lot 3 of	27	40	31	1.05	10	1.00	2.15
lot 4 of	27	40	31	1.05	10	1.00	2.15
lot 1 of	34	80	62	2.13	21	1.00	3.34
lot 2 of	34	80	62	2.13	21	1.00	3.34
lot 3 of	34	80	62	2.13	21	1.00	3.34
lot 4 of	34	80	62	2.13	21	1.00	3.34
lot 1 of	35	40	31	1.06	10	1.00	2.16
lot 2 of	35	40	31	1.06	10	1.00	2.16
lot 3 of	35	40	31	1.06	10	1.00	2.16
lot 4 of	35	40	31	1.06	10	1.00	2.16

Town 30 North of Range 5 West.

lot 1 of	2	17	18	7.00	70	1.00	8.70
lot 2 of	2	17	69	2.00	20	1.00	3.29
lot 3 of	3	66	20	2.00	20	1.00	3.29
lot 4 of	3	51	30	3.00	30	1.00	4.30
lot 1 of	4	80	24	2.00	20	1.00	3.29
lot 2 of	4	80	24	2.00	20	1.00	3.29
lot 3 of	5	80	24	2.00	20	1.00	3.29
lot 4 of	5	80	24	2.00	20	1.00	3.29
lot 1 of	6	80	24	2.00	20	1.00	3.29
lot 2 of	6	80	24	2.00	20	1.00	3.29
lot 3 of	6	80	24	2.00	20	1.00	3.29
lot 4 of	6	80	24	2.00	20	1.00	3.29
lot 1 of	7	80	24	2.00	20	1.00	3.29
lot 2 of	7	80	24	2.00	20	1.00	3.29
lot 3 of	7	80	24	2.00	20	1.00	3.29
lot 4 of	7	80	24	2.00	20	1.00	3.29
lot 1 of	8	80	24	2.00	20	1.00	3.29
lot 2 of	8	80	24	2.00	20	1.00	3.29
lot 3 of	8	80	24	2.00	20	1.00	3.29
lot 4 of	8	80	24	2.00	20	1.00	3.29
lot 1 of	9	80	24	2.00	20	1.00	3.29
lot 2 of	9	80	24	2.00	20	1.00	3.29
lot 3 of	9	80	24	2.00	20	1.00	3.29
lot 4 of	9	80	24	2.00	20	1.00	3.29
lot 1 of	10	80	24	2.00	20	1.00	3.29
lot 2 of	10	80	24	2.00	20	1.00	3.29
lot 3 of	10	80	24	2.00	20	1.00	3.29
lot 4 of	10	80	24	2.00	20	1.00	3.29
lot 1 of	11	80	24	2.00	20	1.00	3.29
lot 2 of	11	80	24	2.00	20	1.00	3.29
lot 3 of	11	80	24	2.00	20	1.00	3.29
lot 4 of	11	80	24	2.00	20	1.00	3.29
lot 1 of	12	80	24	2.00	20	1.00	3.29
lot 2 of	12	80	24	2.00	20	1.00	3.29
lot 3 of	12	80	24	2.00	20	1.00	3.29
lot 4 of	12	80	24	2.00	20	1.00	3.29
lot 1 of	13	80	24	2.00	20	1.00	3.29
lot 2 of	13	80	24	2.00	20	1.00	3.29
lot 3 of	13	80	24	2.00	20	1.00	3.29
lot 4 of	13	80	24	2.00	20	1.00	3.29
lot 1 of	14	80	24	2.00	20	1.00	3.29
lot 2 of	14	80	24	2.00	20	1.00	3.29
lot 3 of	14	80	24	2.00	20	1.00	3.29
lot 4 of	14	80	24	2.00	20	1.00	3.29
lot 1 of	15	80	24	2.00	20	1.00	3.29
lot 2 of	15	80	24	2.00	20	1.00	3.29
lot 3 of	15	80	24	2.00	20	1.00	3.29
lot 4 of	15	80	24	2.00	20	1.00	3.29

Town 31 North of Range 15 West.

lot 1 of	1	47	20	2.00	20	1.00	3.20
lot 2 of	1	50	40	20.00	2.00	1.00	23.00
lot 3 of	1	50	40	20.00	2.00	1.00	23.00
lot 4 of	1	50	40	20.00	2.00	1.00	23.00
lot 1 of	27	41	25	1.10	11	1.00	2.21
lot 2 of	27	41	25	1.10	11	1.00	2.21
lot 3 of	27	41	25	1.10	11	1.00	2.21
lot 4 of	27	41	25	1.10	11	1.00	2.21
lot 1 of	34	80	49	2.10	21	1.00	3.31
lot 2 of	34	80	49	2.10	21	1.00	3.31
lot 3 of	34	80	49	2.10	21	1.00	3.31
lot 4 of	34	80	49	2.10	21	1.00	3.31

Town 32 North of Range 15 West.

lot 1 of sec	3	40	99	43	1.00	2.25
lot 2 of sec	3	40	99	43	1.00	2.25
lot 3 of sec	3	40	99	43	1.00	2.25
lot 4 of sec	3	40	99	43	1.00	2.25
lot 1 of sec	4	40	99	43	1.00	2.25
lot 2 of sec	4	40	99	43	1.00	2.25
lot 3 of sec	4	40	99	43	1.00	2.25
lot 4 of sec	4	40	99	43	1.00	2.25
lot 1 of sec	5	40	99	43	1.00	2.25
lot 2 of sec	5	40	99	43	1.00	2.25
lot 3 of sec	5	40	99	43	1.00	2.25
lot 4 of sec	5	40	99	43	1.00	2.25
lot 1 of sec	6	40	99	43	1.00	2.25
lot 2 of sec	6	40	99	43	1.00	2.25
lot 3 of sec	6	40	99	43	1.00	2.25
lot 4 of sec	6	40	99	43	1.00	2.25
lot 1 of sec	7	40	99	43	1.00	2.25
lot 2 of sec	7	40	99	43	1.00	2.25
lot 3 of sec	7	40	99	43	1.00	2.25
lot 4 of sec	7	40	99	43	1.00	2.25
lot 1 of sec	8	40	99	43	1.00	2.25
lot 2 of sec	8	40	99	43	1.00	2.25
lot 3 of sec	8	40	99	43	1.00	2.25
lot 4 of sec	8	40	99	43	1.00	2.25
lot 1 of sec	9	40	99	43	1.00	2.25
lot 2 of sec	9	40	99	43	1.00	2.25
lot 3 of sec	9	40	99	43	1.00	2.25
lot 4 of sec	9	40	99	43	1.00	2.25
lot 1 of sec	10	40	99	43	1.00	2.25
lot 2 of sec	10	40	99	43	1.00	2.25
lot 3 of sec	10	40	99	43	1.00	2.25
lot 4 of sec	10	40	99	43	1.00	2.25
lot 1 of sec	11	40	99	43	1.00	2.25
lot 2 of sec	11	40	99	43	1.00	2.25
lot 3 of sec	11	40	99	43	1.00	2.25
lot 4 of sec	11	40	99	43	1.00	2.25
lot 1 of sec	12	40	99	43	1.00	2.25
lot 2 of sec	12	40	99	43	1.00	2.25
lot 3 of sec	12	40	99	43	1.00	2.25
lot 4 of sec	12	40	99	43	1.00	2.25
lot 1 of sec	13	40	99	43	1.00	2.25
lot 2 of sec	13	40	99	43	1.00	2.25
lot 3 of sec	13	40	99	43	1.00	2.25
lot 4 of sec	13	40	99	43	1.00	2.25
lot 1 of sec	14	40	99	43	1.00	2.25
lot 2 of sec	14	40	99	43	1.00	2.25
lot 3 of sec	14	40	99	43	1.00	2.25
lot 4 of sec	14	40	99	43	1.00	2.25
lot 1 of sec	15	40	99	43	1.00	2.25
lot 2 of sec	15	40	99	43	1.00	2.25
lot 3 of sec	15	40	99	43	1.00	2.25
lot 4 of sec	15	40	99	43	1.00	2.25

Town 33 North of Range 15 West.

lot 1 of	2	17	18	7.00	70	1.00	8.70
lot 2 of	2	17	69	2.00	20	1.00	3.29
lot 3 of	3	66	20	2.00	20	1.00	3.29
lot 4 of	3	51	30	3.00	30	1.00	4.30
lot 1 of	4	80	24	2.00	20	1.00	3.29
lot 2 of	4	80	24	2.00	20	1.00	3.29
lot 3 of	5	80	24	2.00	20	1.00	3.29
lot 4 of	5	80	24	2.00	20	1.00	3.29
lot 1 of	6	80	24	2.00	20	1.00	3.29
lot 2 of	6	80	24	2.00	20	1.00	3.29
lot 3 of	6	80	24	2.00	20	1.00	3.29
lot 4 of	6	80	24	2.00	20	1.00	3.29
lot 1 of	7	80	24	2.00	20	1.00	3.29
lot 2 of	7	80	24	2.00	20	1.00	3.29
lot 3 of	7	80	24	2.00	20	1.00	3.29
lot 4 of	7	80	24	2.00	20	1.00	3.29
lot 1 of	8	80	24	2.00	20	1.00	3.29
lot 2 of	8	80	24	2.00	20	1.00	3.29
lot 3 of	8	80	24	2.00	20	1.00	3.29
lot 4 of	8	80	24	2.00	20	1.00	3.29
lot 1 of	9	80	24	2.00	20	1.00	3.29
lot 2 of	9	80	24	2.00	20	1.00	3.29
lot 3 of	9	80	24	2.00	20	1.00	3.29
lot 4 of	9	80	24	2.00	20	1.00	3.29
lot 1 of	10	80	24	2.00	20	1.00	3.29
lot 2 of	10	80	24	2.00	20	1.00	3.29
lot 3 of	10	80	24	2.00	20	1.00	3.29
lot 4 of	10	80	24	2.00	20	1.00	3.29
lot 1 of	11	80	24	2.00	20	1.00	3.29
lot 2 of	11	80	24	2.00	20	1.00	3.29
lot 3 of	11	80	24	2.00	20	1.00	3.29
lot 4 of	11	80	24	2.00	20	1.00	3.29
lot 1 of	12	80	24	2.00	20	1.00	3.29
lot 2 of	12	80	24	2.00	20	1.00	3.29
lot 3 of	12	80	24	2.00	20	1.00	3.29
lot 4 of	12	80	24	2.00	20	1.00	3.29
lot 1 of	13	80	24	2.00	20	1.00	3.29
lot 2 of	13	80	24	2.00	20	1.00	3.29
lot 3 of	13	80	24	2.00	20	1.00	3.29
lot 4 of	13	80	24	2.00	20	1.00	3.29
lot 1 of	14	80	24	2.00	20	1.00

THE SENTINEL.

WILLARD A. SMITH, Editor and Proprietor.

CHARLEVOIX, - MICHIGAN.

THE NEWS.

The following statement of the public debt was published Oct. 1:

Six per cent. bonds	$1,050,460 00
Five per cent. bonds	737,750 50
Total coin bonds	$1,788,210 50
Lawful money debt	14,000 00
Matured debt	2,750 00
Legal-tender notes	374,681 00
Certificates of deposit	40,000 00
Fractional currency	15,631 30
Coin certificates	30,300 00
Interest	36,464 39
Total debt	$2,666,170 39
Cash in Treasury	$67,833,10
Coin	4,780,94
Currency	8,762 00
Special deposits held for the redemption of certificates of deposit, as required by law	40,000 00
Total in Treasury	$121,376 04
Debt less cash in Treasury	$2,121,856 22
Decrease since last month	2,782 61
Decrease since June 30	8,282,197
Bonds issued to the Pacific Railway companies, interest payable by transportation, principal by law	$64,623,512
Interest accrued and unpaid	1,600,000
Interest paid by the United States	28,986,87
Interest repaid by the companies on account of transportation	8,008,528
Balance of interest paid by United States	20,978,348

A RUSSIAN special of the 2d says China and Burmah had formed an alliance, offensive and defensive, to oppose the demands of Great Britain.

HERBERT Bismarck of the 3d say the insurgents had been defeated in an engagement in the northern part of Bosnia. The Turks had formed the van of Muchkone.

ADVICES to 5 P. M. Saturday telegram of the 3d of the Carlists had on the preceding day thrown 150 hot shot into the city. A railroad train between Saragossa and Tarragona had been stopped by outlaws and all the passengers robbed. Among them were seventeen officers and seamen of the United States war steamer Franklin.

A BRILLIANT diamond has recently been found in the South African diamond fields.

THE negotiations with the Sioux Indians for the Black Hills country have entirely failed, and the commissioners have ship-ped the field. A Chegenne dispatch of the 3d says the bands of Indians who had assembled at the Red Cloud Agency were rallies and ugly.

THE Bank of California resumed operations on the 26. The deposits exceed by the withdrawals by $750,000. The announcement was made that $7,500,000 had been subscribed to meet the indebtedness and liabilities of the bank and continue its business.

THE Third Avenue Savings Bank of New York city applied a few days ago, owing depositors $1,400,000. The failure is said to be a bad one.

ACCORDING to a recent ruling of the Postoffice Department, anything whatever, except the address, printed or written upon the slip or pasted over it, and the words "Postage paid" and intended to obtain reduction under such card unmailable unless prepaid at the letter rate—three cents. If by inadvertence it is ordered in the mail matter will be prepaid it is chargeable with double the letter rates.

THE Secretary of the Treasury has called in for redemption 5-20 bonds of the issues of June 30, 1864, to the amount of $2,500,000, and 67 registered bonds of the same amount. Interest on said bonds will cease Jan. 1, 1876.

A WASHINGTON dispatch of the 3d says it was generally expected that the new mint would be located at Chicago.

THE President and family reached Salt Lake, Utah, on the afternoon of the 3d. They were called upon by Brigham Young.

A SAN SEBASTIAN telegram of the 4th says the Carlists had offered to burn the lumber-mount of the town if the civil-ians would pay them $100,000.

ON the night of the 3d the steamer L. J. Hart, running on the Baltic between Lubeck and Copenhagen, was burned. Thirty-five persons perished.

ON the afternoon of Sunday, the 3d, a mob of orangemen and "Young Britons" attacked a Catholic procession on the streets of Toronto, Ont. The police were obliged to disperse the assembly and the rioters turned upon them and fired upon them. Several were shot. The police then guarded the procession through the streets and were fired upon at the crossings. Several other persons were wounded, some of them fatally.

THE receipts from internal revenue for the fiscal year up to the 30th were $29,286,087, and from customs $44,425,714.

AT Boston, in the United States Circuit Court, on the 4th, George Miller and William Smith, convicted of murder on the high seas, sentenced to be hanged on the 29th of October.

THE Labor-Reformers of Massachusetts met at Worcester on the 6th and nominated Wendell Phillips for Governor; Wm M. Bartlett, Lieutenant-Governor; Lemuel W. Andrews, Secretary of State, S. B. Collin, State Treasurer; John F. Fitzgerald, State Auditor, and H. B. McLaughlin, Attorney-General. The platform favors a reduction in the hours of labor and a system of factory inspection; condemns the course of the Fall River manufacturers in issues greenback currency and the retirement of National Bank currency.

A PROHIBITION meeting was held in Boston on the 6th and John J. Baker was nominated for mayor on a prohibition ticket. No other nominations were made.

AT the late election in Connecticut amendments to the Constitution were adopted changing the time of the State election from the spring to the fall of the year and making the Governor's term of office two years.

A GREAT many horses in Cincinnati, Chicago, St. Louis and other Western cities were suffering from symptoms of the epizootic on the 7th, and the disease seemed to be spreading.

SERIOUS trouble occurred at Pike's Point, Miss., on the 6th and 7th. It appears that a "Conservative convention on the night of the 24 Senator Alcorn se-cured the nomination of Governor Brown (colored), Sheriff of the county, and the next day Brown had several un-known negroes reply, without authority, to send to shoot him. On the 5th the women and children were sent from Friars Point, and the negroes attacked the town to the number of 500 negroes, who were re-pulsed by white forces under Gen. Chalmers. In the skirmish eight negroes and one white man were wounded.

D. O. MILLS was elected President of the Bank of California under the new or-ganization on the 6th.

A HEAVY conflagrating firm in Glasgow, Scotland, failed for a large amount on the 7th. It was stated that several other establishments were involved.

THE British Admiralty on the 7th suspended the circular of July 31, directing the surrender of fugitive slaves found on British vessels.

THE "Garden House," belonging to Henry Allers Bankey, located near Westminster, England, valued with its contents at over $2,500,000, was destroyed by fire on the night of the 7th.

THE Ecclesiastical Court has deposed the Bishop of Berlin.

ACCORDING to a Constantinople dispatch of the 7th, the Sublime Porte had decreed that during five years from Jan. 1, 1876, the duties on the whole of the religion of the public debt will be paid one-half in cash and the other half in 5 per cent. bonds.

THE United States Supreme Court decided on the 4th in the appealed St. Louis Minor case that the recent Amendments to the Constitution confer no right of suffrage upon anyone, and that the Constitutions and laws of those States which confine that right to men alone are not obnoxious to them.

THE Catholic Total Abstinence Union of America was in session in Cincinnati on the 6th and 7th. Rev. Patrick Ryan was chosen President and James W. O'Brien Secretary for the ensuing year.

ACCORDING to a Columbus, Ohio dispatch of the 7th the hog disease was playing sad havoc in that section. Six thousand hogs had already died in Franklin County so far that month.

PRESIDENT GRANT and party returned to Beaver on the 7th from Southern Colorado.

FARAN'S POINT dispatches of the 7th state that Gen. Chalmers was driving the colored forces under Pease (colored) and was entrenched in camp on the Lake shore. Senator Alcorn on the 7th telegraphed to Atty.-Gen. Pierrepont that there was no reliable information in those disturbances. He stated that his name had been, most ridiculously associated in the matter.

"AMERICUS GIRD," dropped dead while trotting a race at Elmira, N. Y., on the 5th. She was valued at $20,000.

MEMORIAL SERVICES in honor of the late President Johnson were held at Nashville, Tenn., on the 31. An immense crowd participated, and Senator Fowler delivered an appropriate eulogy.

THE MARKETS.

NEW YORK

LIVE STOCK.—Beef Cattle—$4.00@7.50. Hogs—$6.50@7.00. Sheep—$4.00@6.00.

BREADSTUFFS.—Flour—Low to choice, $4.10@6.60; white wheat extra, $6.60@7.50. Wheat—No. 2 Chicago, $1.03@1.03. No. 3 Northwestern, $1.02@1.06. No. 2 Milwaukee spring, $1.06@1.08. Red—Western and State, $1.08@1.12. Corn—Mixed Western, 62@63c. Oats—Mixed Western, 42@43c.

PROVISIONS.—Pork—Mess, $15.75@16.00. Lard—Prime steam, 10½@10¾c. Cheese—@14c.

WOOL—Domestic fleece, 32@46c.

CHICAGO.

LIVE STOCK.—Beeves—Choice, $5.50@5.75; good, $5.25@5.40; medium, $4.75@4.90; inferior, $4.50@4.75. Stockers—$3.50@3.75; stock cattle, $3.25@3.50. Hogs—Live, $5.15@5.35. Sheep—Good to choice, $4.50@5.00.

PROVISIONS.—Butter—Choice, 26@28c. Eggs—Fresh, 22@23c. Pork—Mess, $15.50@15.75. Lard—$10.40@10.50.

BREADSTUFFS.—Flour—White Winter Extra, $7.75@7.80; spring extra, $5.75@6.00. Wheat—Spring, No. 2, $1.00@1.01. Corn—No. 2, 53½c. Oats—No. 2, 32½@33c. Rye—No. 1, 75c. Barley—No. 2, $1.08@1.09.

LUMBER.—Pine Clear, $41.00@45.00; Second Clear, $35.00@40.00; Common Boards, $10.00@11.00; Flooring, $0.00@0.00; "A" Shingles, $2.80@2.90; Lath, $1.75@2.00.

EAST LIBERTY.

LIVE STOCK.—Beeves—Best, $5.40@5.70; medium, $5.00@5.25; Hogs—Yorkers, $5.60@5.65; Philadelphia, $5.60@5.65. Sheep—Best, $5.00@5.25; medium, $4.50@4.75.

A Terrible Crime at Suncook, N. H.

CONCORD, N. H., Oct. 5.

The terrible outrage at Suncook, reported last night, has aroused in town excitement all over the State, and hundreds are thronging the trains in their eager curiosity to visit the scene. The discoveries of to-day have, however, been few. Miss Josie Longmaid, eighteen years old, daughter of James T. Longmaid, who resides a mile and a half from the Pembroke Academy, left home for the academy at eight o'clock yesterday morning. The road is a lonely one, and in that distance there are but six houses. She was seen to pass the house of Mr Amos Burr, about half a mile from her home, but after that was not seen alive, nor did she reach the academy. She was not missed till evening, for her younger brother supposed that she had remained at home. Her father at once aroused the neighbors, and a systematic search was begun on both sides of the road. Short-ly after eight o'clock Mr. Cogs, one of the party, came upon her body in a piece of 500 acres, who were re-pulled by white forces under Gen. Chalmers. In the skirmish eight negroes and one white man were wounded.

D. O. MILLS was elected President of the Bank of California under the new or-ganization on the 6th.

A HEAVY conflagrating firm in Glasgow, Scotland, failed for a large amount on the 7th. It was stated that several other establishments were involved.

THE British Admiralty on the 7th suspended the circular of July 31, directing the surrender of fugitive slaves found on British vessels.

THE "Garden House," belonging to Henry Allers Bankey, located near Westminster, England, valued with its contents at over $2,500,000, was destroyed by fire on the night of the 7th.

THE Ecclesiastical Court has deposed the Bishop of Berlin.

ACCORDING to a Constantinople dispatch of the 7th, the Sublime Porte had decreed that during five years from Jan. 1, 1876, the duties on the whole of the religion of the public debt will be paid one-half in cash and the other half in 5 per cent. bonds.

THE United States Supreme Court decided on the 4th in the appealed St. Louis Minor case that the recent Amendments to the Constitution confer no right of suffrage upon anyone, and that the Constitutions and laws of those States which confine that right to men alone are not obnoxious to them.

THE Catholic Total Abstinence Union of America was in session in Cincinnati on the 6th and 7th. Rev. Patrick Ryan was chosen President and James W. O'Brien Secretary for the ensuing year.

ACCORDING to a Columbus, Ohio dispatch of the 7th the hog disease was playing sad havoc in that section. Six thousand hogs had already died in Franklin County so far that month.

PRESIDENT GRANT and party returned to Beaver on the 7th from Southern Colorado.

FARAN'S POINT dispatches of the 7th state that Gen. Chalmers was driving the colored forces under Pease (colored) and was entrenched in camp on the Lake shore. Senator Alcorn on the 7th telegraphed to Atty.-Gen. Pierrepont that there was no reliable information in those disturbances. He stated that his name had been, most ridiculously associated in the matter.

—When you sit down to a nice clean sheet of paper to write some poetry, do not do it. There are 270,000,000 out of the 1,500,000,000 people in the world who have no writing materials, and you had better send the sheet to one of them.

—Alas! or Nathaniel. Let's buckle her sail fast. She's decreased 100 in population since 1870.—Rockingg. Nantucket very hard, didn't she?

MICHIGAN STATE NEWS.

THEY are trying to organize an agricultural society in Charlevoix County.

GEO. GIFFORD, a confidential store at Monroe was burned the other morning, causing a loss of about $2,000.

THE jury steamer Detroit burned to the water's edge at Detroit, a few mornings ago, involving a loss of about $10,000.

THE second effort to secure the passage of resolutions in the Detroit Common Council localizing liquor traffic on Sunday afternoon was unsuccessful, the resolutions failing by a tie vote.

JOHN TURPIN was arrested the other day at Grand Rapids on the charge of setting the fire which consumed a portion of the Bellaire stove works, in Albion, N. Y., on the 19th of September.

TURPIN has recently been hung in the State Library room, at Lansing, a crayon portrait of Seneca Taffanny, the Destitute error of Michigan; also a large likeness of Andrew Parsons, Governor in 1852.

A WOMAN in Grand Rapids knocked down a stove with a mirror, which pinched two flights of glass out, tipped over a sewing machine, upset the dinner table and smashed the entire contents of the room, and was trying to kill a mouse, but the "critter" escaped. Damage done about fifty dollars.

A FARMER named Foote, residing near Fisher, was the owner of a vicious bull-terrier dog which attacked a valuable pedal bile last evening, has aroused in some excitement all over the State, and hundreds are thronging the trains in their eager curiosity to visit the scene. The discoveries of to-day have, however, been few. Miss Josie Longmaid, eighteen years old, daughter of James T. Longmaid, who resides a mile and a half from the Pembroke Academy, left home for the academy at eight o'clock yesterday morning. The road is a lonely one, and in that distance there are but six houses. She was seen to pass the house of Mr Amos Burr, about half a mile from her home, but after that was not seen alive, nor did she reach the academy. She was not missed till evening, for her younger brother supposed that she had remained at home. Her father at once aroused the neighbors, and a systematic search was begun on both sides of the road. Short-ly after eight o'clock Mr. Cogs, one of the party, came upon her body in a piece of 500 acres, who were re-pulsed by white forces under Gen. Chalmers. In the skirmish eight negroes and one white man were wounded.

D. O. MILLS was elected President of the Bank of California under the new or-ganization on the 6th.

A HEAVY conflagrating firm in Glasgow, Scotland, failed for a large amount on the 7th. It was stated that several other establishments were involved.

THE British Admiralty on the 7th suspended the circular of July 31, directing the surrender of fugitive slaves found on British vessels.

THE "Garden House," belonging to Henry Allers Bankey, located near Westminster, England, valued with its contents at over $2,500,000, was destroyed by fire on the night of the 7th.

THE Ecclesiastical Court has deposed the Bishop of Berlin.

ACCORDING to a Constantinople dispatch of the 7th, the Sublime Porte had decreed that during five years from Jan. 1, 1876, the duties on the whole of the religion of the public debt will be paid one-half in cash and the other half in 5 per cent. bonds.

THE United States Supreme Court decided on the 4th in the appealed St. Louis Minor case that the recent Amendments to the Constitution confer no right of suffrage upon anyone, and that the Constitutions and laws of those States which confine that right to men alone are not obnoxious to them.

THE Catholic Total Abstinence Union of America was in session in Cincinnati on the 6th and 7th. Rev. Patrick Ryan was chosen President and James W. O'Brien Secretary for the ensuing year.

ACCORDING to a Columbus, Ohio dispatch of the 7th the hog disease was playing sad havoc in that section. Six thousand hogs had already died in Franklin County so far that month.

PRESIDENT GRANT and party returned to Beaver on the 7th from Southern Colorado.

FARAN'S POINT dispatches of the 7th state that Gen. Chalmers was driving the colored forces under Pease (colored) and was entrenched in camp on the Lake shore. Senator Alcorn on the 7th telegraphed to Atty.-Gen. Pierrepont that there was no reliable information in those disturbances. He stated that his name had been, most ridiculously associated in the matter.

—Bishop Cummins, it is understood, will ordain a Missionary Bishop without delay, to take charge of the colored parishes in South Carolina that lately united with the Reformed Episcopal Church. They became dissatisfied with the Protestant Episcopal Church because of the refusal of the ordination of a Bishop over them, in accordance with their earnest request.

—It is hard to say who the happiest man is, but the happiest woman, according to the Danbury News, is she who is called upon to decide the question as to which is the cunningest of two of the cunningest babies that ever lived.

—When you sit down to a nice clean sheet of paper to write some poetry, do not do it. There are 270,000,000 out of the 1,500,000,000 people in the world who have no writing materials, and you had better send the sheet to one of them.

—Alas! or Nathaniel. Let's buckle her sail fast. She's decreased 100 in population since 1870.—Rockingg. Nantucket very hard, didn't she?

Letting the Animals Loose.

LEVY HOWARD writes to the Philadelphia Telegraph from Paris:

The Menagerie Idille closed its doors with a grand farewell performance which was likewise a grantitous one. The menagerie is added to the usual display of wild beasts and to feats of Romanses a new and popular attraction. M. Idiel was in the habit at the close of the performances of letting loose a number of tame and harmless animals to receive the caresses and admiration of the audience. Rabbits and pheasants which had reserved seats on the front row next the ring. First came three men bearing on their shoulders an enormous bamboo sidebar, with head erect and quivering, during tongue. Nobody cared particular-ly to touch him, so his bearers mounted around the ring with him and then disappeared. Next came a huge alligator, carried in the same way, the first man carefully keeping down his threatening nipper jaw. He was not a popular pet either, though many curious individuals ventured to touch it and then look back and dimpling paws. Then came a group of soft-eyed clumsy llamas who blundered about and walked over the spectators and finished up their exhibition by eating out of their hats. The giraffes and the elephant were turned loose and were immensely caressed. A race was organized between the elephant and one of the giraffes, wherein the former got beaten, much to the sorrow of the crowd, who attempted to console the mortified animal by a series of horrible howls. But the great success of the evening were the lion cubs, five jolly little fellows, looking like kittens on an exaggerated scale and all perfectly wild to be let go for a frolic. As soon as the door of their cage was opened and they all tumbled, down the inclined plank that led to the ring, and all mightily inclined to play. They were picked up and petted and hugged by everybody who could get hold of one of them, their tails were pulled and their ears were pinched, and they were generally treated with a familiarity to which members of the royal lion family are totally unaccustomed. They took it all in good part, however, growling a little sometimes when a royal tail was pulled too hard or a royal ear unduly pinched, but never showing any inclination to bite. After a general frolic all round some of them got under the seats, curled them selves up and went to sleep in a comfortable, domestic-cat sort of fashion. It is an interesting question to me as to what influence the hearing of the lion's roar experiences or a usually intractable and savage race. Will they grow up to be fierce lions, growling at the sound of self inside the lions of a cage, or will their baby gentleness and domesticity continue?

An Ancient Mausoleum Discovered in West Virginia.

A correspondent writes to the Pittsburgh Commercial: "Several years ago considerable excitement was created in Fallmount, W. Va., by the discovery of traces of an old mausoleum of real extent. The site was on the right bank of the Monongahela, opposite that place. Recently the Government engineering party engaged in locating the new Monongahela River, with a view of slack watering that stream from Morgantown to Fairmount, exposed a large portion of the ruins. Themselves of the party we learn that there can be no doubt but that this road fur-nishes another trace of the lost race that once dominated the continent long before the Indians came into possession.

"There are traces of the road for nearly seven miles along the watercourse of the bottom between the hills and the river, though at many points the river, having shifted its channel and cut away its bank, has destroyed all evidence of it. Generally the road is covered by from two to five feet of alluvium, either deposited through the course of ages by the river floods, or else by the slow washing off the hills skirting it. Its width is said to be fifteen feet.

"The most curious feature about the road is that the stone from which it is loaned appears invariably to have been split. Wherever the road shows itself in the cutting banks it is marked by the black substratum of coke. In depth the broken stone varies from six inches to eighteen inches, of irregular fragments. The material employed appears to have been simply quarried from the hillsides of rock, stone, and the conjecture is that they were broken after being made but with water thrown upon them. There being few if any bowlders in the river or adjacent country, the query arises, where could the material have been obtained to make this road?

"At the crossings of the streams there are no traces of bridge abutments or piers, and this is the conclusion that the streams were crossed on wooden bridges. At many points the road is covered with trees over 100 years old, which, indeed, is certain that it could not have been constructed long before the advent of the white man; and there are other circumstances surrounding the case which lend strength to the conclusion that it was made in those early ages when a semi-civilized people inhabited North America. Go one acquainted with the habits of the Indians of the present day would ever think of constructing such a work of art as this."

Dissipation of Some Errors Regarding the Maine Election.

The complete returns from the election still dissipate some errors into which a hasty examination of the vote of Maine for Governor has led us. It is not now that the Republican majority in the State is the largest which has been given since the party was organized, but it is the largest majority for any Governor will be about 5,681. In 1865 Gen. Chamberlain was elected by 7,169 majority, and in 1867 Governor Chamberlain received a majority of 7,287, and in 1868 it went up to 27,382. Thus the smallest majority ever given by the Republicans of Maine was in 1862, and that was followed by some on the largest majorities ever given in the State.

Again, when the full vote appears we shall find that there has been a change among the voters. The Democrats have not cast so large a vote this year as in some other years. It will not be as large as the vote for Kimball in 1872, or for Pinkham in 1868. They have simply exceeded this year by distrust great effort, by the expenditure of much money, in getting out to the polls a large share of the voters which belong to their party. They have not been able to match upon the unappealing Republicans, in which they have been more successful than they ought to have been. There has been a change of opinion in favor of the Democrats—but there has been a failure to bring out the Republican vote. The Democrats played a smart game and lost much by it. Music, drawing, use of the gobs——

"Yes, yes, of course," interrupted Uncle Barnabas. "But is it practical? Can they teach?"

Eleanor looked dubious. I was quite certain that I could not. Music lessons, among all her list of accomplishments, had not included the art of practical tuition.

"Hum-ph!" grunted Uncle Barnabas. "Queer thing, this modern idea of education. Well, if you can't teach you can surely do something. What do you say, Eleanor, as a governess?"

"A situation?"

The color fluttered in Eleanor's cheeks like pink and white apple blossoms.

"I spoke plain enough, didn't I?" said Uncle Barnabas, dryly. "Yes, a situation."

What sort of a situation, Uncle Barnabas?"

"Well, I can hardly say. Part servant, part companion to an elderly lady?" explained the old gentleman.

"Oh, Uncle Barnabas, I couldn't do that."

"Not do it? And why not?"

"No true maidenly reason whispered Eleanor, losing her usual dignity in the pressure of the emergency; "like going out to service."

"And that is precisely what it is," retorted Uncle Barnabas, nodding his head. "Service! Why, we're all out at service, in one way or another, in this world."

"Oh, yes, I know," faltered poor Eleanor, who, between her distaste for the proposed plan and her anxiety not to offend Uncle Barnabas declaring, didn't quite know what to say. "But I—I've always been educated to be a lady."

"So you won't take the situation?" said Uncle Barnabas, starting up at a wishy-washy little water color drawing of Cupid and Psyche, an "exhibition piece" at poor Eleanor's, which hung above the chimney-piece.

"I couldn't, indeed, sir."

"Wages twenty-five dollars a month," mechanically repeated Uncle Barnabas, as if he were saying off a lesson. "Drive out every day in the carriage with the children, and make yourself the care of, modern home with all the improvements, Sunday afternoons to yourself, and two weeks' spring and fall, to visit your mother."

"No, Uncle Barnabas, no," said Eleanor, with a little shudder. "I have a note Berkelin, and I cannot stoop to menial duties."

Uncle Barnabas gave such a prolonged whistle as to suggest the idea of a very bad cold in his head indeed.

"Sorry," said he. "Hem-m helps me an occasional cold. Can't supply you with a home? Can't even recommend you to any friends who would take the place of destitute governess? Can't even recommend you to any friends who would take the place of destitute governess? Can't even recommend you to any friends who would take the place of destitute governess

THE SENTINEL.

CHARLEVOIX, MICH.

WILLARD A. SMITH, EDITOR AND PROPRIETOR.

TUESDAY . . . OCT 19 1875

ALBERT MOLITAR.

An Energetic but Despotic Life —What He Accomplished and How.

The readers of the Tribune are well acquainted with the feuds and quarrels which have rendered Presque Isle County notorious for years past, and remember well the announcement by telegraph a few weeks since that its central figure in all these disturbances Albert Molitar, had been assassinated, together with one of his clerks. Molitar was not killed outright, but was desperately wounded His wounds were pronounced fatal from the first, but his great energy and tenacity of life enabled him to battle against his fate for several weeks, but in vain. He has gone to meet with his reward. His is a sad termination of a very energetic life. This county of Presque Isle has lost the man who has done more for its settlement than all other men put together. At the same time it has sown the seeds of dissension and internecine strife among its inhabitants that it will take generations to wipe away.

He was indefatigable in inducing men to go there and settle, to clear farms, cut wood, haul logs and open up and develop the country. He established the little village of Rogers City, platted it, sold village lots, put up buildings, encouraged others to build, brought in a stock of goods built a saw mill and pushed forward the material interests of the place in a manner almost incomprehensible to the interested observer. He labored incessantly. Night or day he might have been seen astride his old bay horse galloping from place to place giving directions here or shouting to men there.

But it seemed impossible for him to keep up friendly relations with his neighbors, his workmen or his family. There was always quarrels and tumults. Molitar was the despot of his settlement. No monarchy could be more absolute than was his reign there. He named the candidates for office managed the caucuses and dictated the executive officers. None of his under strappers dared offend him. A notorious feud sprang up between his town and the neighboring one of Crawford's Quarry, which grew so violent that bloodshed was often threatened, especially at elections.

As the outside settlements grew they became impatient of his oppression. They claimed that he perpetrated base frauds at the ballot box and at elections would come to town with their old flintlock guns to shoot him. But he like a true monarch would rise to a magnificent rage and defy the host of his enemies until they would melt away to their settlements

Immigrants who came with money claimed that he cheated them of every dollar. No process of law could be served on him unless he saw fit to allow it, and then it was only to result in his favor. He married an excellent young lady in Detroit, who, after living with him a few years and suffering from continual brutality, got a bill of divorce on a charge of brutal treatment, when she could have accomplished the same by a criminal complaint. But she preferred to get away from him the easiest way possible.

Prosperity obtained by such means is never lasting, and his case was not an exception. With the departure of his wife commenced his downfall. He sent to Germany for a lady acquaintance to come and keep house for him. She came, and under promise of marriage he seduced her. When her condition could no longer be kept secret, and her importunities for him to redeem his promise became irksome to him he sent her to Detroit and left her alone in the streets of that city in winter half clad, penniless, and in a helpless condition. She was taken in by charitable ladies, where her sad story drew tears of sympathy from all who heard it, and secured her a comfortable resting place. She sent him for immediately, and so terrible did the details of her sad story seem to be that the jury, without hardly leaving their seats, returned a verdict in her favor for the full amount claimed, $10,000.

During the pendency of the suit he sent his minions and abducted her from Detroit, and while on their way with her to Rogers City she was rescued at Alpena. The lawyer who assisted in her rescue, being afterwards in Rogers City, was set upon and brutally beaten by a mob in Molitar's store. Molitar being present and abetting it. Shots not tipsied upon him until it seemed useless for him to longer evade the judgments of law, but his death has delivered him from them all and relieved his bondsmen.

Molitar knew no law but that of his own will, and the manner of his death was no more than the natural result of such an example. The act which caused his death was a quarrel with his workmen. They were fully convinced that he was cheating them and that they had no redress at law, so they took the ruling power of the place, that of brute force, to avenge their wrongs Molitar and all his deputies were in his office that evening, and it is supposed that the assassins intended to make a clean sweep of all of them, but several having just left the room on an errand escaped a horrible massacre.

Under the management of affairs there, society is in a deplorable condition, the local government is in a state of chaos, taxes are enormous, the county credit gone, the Circuit Court is indefinitely suspended here, an order of property are no longer made, two sets of officers claim to be performing their duties for the county, two towns claim to be the county-seat each with a court-house just erected, and things are about as badly mixed as they can possibly be. It is impossible to state what will be the result, but it is evident that the crisis has arrived, and a speedy settlement of affairs will be made.—Northern Tribune.

Divided Against Itself.

It already seems certain that the most important issue of the impending Presidential campaign will be whether we shall continue on our present course toward specie payments or whether we shall as a nation, turn our backs upon that goal and set out upon the road of inflation which leads directly toward repudiation. Upon this paramount and vital issue the Democratic party is divided, apparently beyond hope of reconciliation. The Democracy of Ohio and Pennsylvania, the two great central States of the Union have declared in express terms against the resumption of specie payments and in favor of plotting the overthrow the Democracy of New York and Massachusetts on the East, and of Wisconsin and Minnesota at the West, have, on the other hand, taken emphatic ground in favor of a return to specie payments and against inflation. Nor is the intensive warfare confined to mere theoretical declarations. The organs of the respective factions are hurling mutual defiance at each other. The New York Democrats contents with a defending upon the platform and principles of the Ohio Democracy, and the other Democrats rejoined by hotly characterizing the New York Democracy as the mere puppets of Wall-street.

This wordy warfare will reach a climax in a very few days. Should Governor Allen be defeated, the ragamuffin move, ment would receive a very staggering blow. There would even then, be some life left in it—enough to give considerable trouble in the next Democratic National Convention and probably to defeat the Cincinnati Lunatics threat of putting the knife into Gov Tilden as a Presidential candidate. But if, on the other hand, Allen should be elected, though it is a notorious fact that he will be voted for, in the protest, by hard-money men like Thurman and Pugh, his success will be claimed as an inflation victory. A Democratic success in Ohio would probably result in a like Democratic inflation victory in Pennsylvania. And would the inflationists, flushed with success stop here. They would invade New York State, and proclaim, under the very nose of Gov Tilden, that the Democratic party is for an irredeemable paper currency It is not impossible that they would organize a paper-money party in that State, and make open war against Mr. Tilden and his followers. The soft-money men are fighting a game of life and death and if they succeed in this initial victory, they will use their success with unremitting and unrelenting energy.

But even if this result should occur, and if the inflationists should sweep the next National Democratic Convention, that party would still be divided against itself. the hard-money Democrats cannon be led tamely behind the triumphal car of the inflationists, though the action of some of them in the Ohio campaign gives us a very poor idea of their independence and spirit. We believe, however, that it will be different when the naked question of inflation (and its logical result, repudiation) is put at issue in a national campaign. The hard-money Democrats are numerous enough to defeat a paper-money ticket in almost every Northern State. If defeated within the party, they can defeat the party at the polls And we believe that there are enough honest and sincere men in the Democratic party to do this just as Being the war, the same class of Democrats defeated the candidates who were in sympathy with rebellion.—Detroit Tribune

The Chicago Inter Ocean wants to stop women from kissing each other when they meet. But the Detroit Free Press says: Such kissing is nothing; they don't hear on or roll their eyes a single bit.

At York, Me., an old apple tree has just been cut down which was brought from England on a ship in 1659, and has borne fruit every year since.

"SHTOP A LEETLE!"

Spring Harbor,

HEAD OF PINE LAKE.

The Secret of Wonderful Growth and Success.

Way up in the north is a very smart town,
In the country all over it is gaining to mown.
It's in Charlevoix county and Spring Harbor Town.
The soil is so rich if you plant a small
To give a big yield it never will fail
It surely is so for the people all say
That sent in a request for the very next day—
In Charlevoix county and Spring Harbor Town.
Here are the merchants who're up to their trade.
Will sell you five goods before they are made—
In Charlevoix county and Spring Harbor Town.
They'll not stop you how to tell you much more,
But their secret of trade is they sell at saving.
And their clerks are crowned by millions of wavish.
While they all do enjoy the most perfect health
In Charlevoix county and Spring Harbor
Town.
Then there are the doctors they'll cure
you at ollce.
With compound drugs and various pills—
In Charlevoix county and Spring Harbor
Town.

If they on you once make a professional
call,
Again in your life you'll be ill not at all.
If they call once or twice you'll their feel
so clever,
You'll not die at all, but live on forever—
In Charlevoix county and Spring Harbor
Town.

If there is the "Journal" the sheet of the age,
It gives all the news it doth always engage
In Charlevoix county and Spring Harbor
Town.
And the editor knows his business so well,
He knew when I said to the truth I do tell
If a man is murdered and left in his gore,
It will give you the news two or three days before
In Charlevoix county and Spring Harbor
Town.

Now I suppose you'll be glad to all know,
How strangely it happens that to be so—
In Charlevoix county and Spring Harbor
Town.
When the cause I do give, you all will confess,
The secret that leads to perfect success
They get their goods cheaper than ever before,
For they buy all they use at Neuman's store.

YOU'RE CRAZY

TO PAY SUCH TERRIBLE PRICES FOR GOODS, WHEN BY CALLING AT THE

"REGULATOR"

You can purchase them at WHOLESALE PRICES, and not at any other place in this part of Charlevoix County. That is what we say at the "REGULATOR" We have lots of

NEW GOODS,

And more coming daily. We have Boots and Shoes for men; We have all kinds of Shoes for Ladies; we have Boots and Shoes and all kinds of nice things for the little ones. We have all kinds of DRESS GOODS; we have all kinds of CLOTH to make clothes for the men and boys. We have

PORK AND FLOUR,

And all kinds of Groceries such as

SUGARS,
TEAS,
COFFEES
SPICES,
OILS.

WE ALSO HAVE A LARGE ASSORTMENT OF

Farming Implements,

SUCH AS PLOWS, SHOVEL PLOWS, SCYTHES, SNATHS RAKES, FORKS, HOES, CULTIVATORS AND HARROWS. ALSO AN ASSORTMENT OF

TINWARE.

So, if you'll buy cheaper than ever before, go to NICHOLS' Store, on Pine Lake shore, where the water doth roar, and all people, and more say, that never before, in the county all over, did they see people pour into the door of a store, where they buy lots of goods and then buy some more; for they say he sells lower by thirty per cent or perhaps more, than ever before, at any mess store; so after reading this o'er, if you don't know more, You're still

TURN THE CRANK TO THE MACH IN

And tell you if you wish to astonish yourself with low prices, that you must go to 999999 Third Dust Avenue, nearly opposite to the Second National Bank, and directly opposite to the Metropolitan Hotel, Spring Harbor.

TRUY YOURS:

T. W. NICHOLS.

Carpenter & Bartholomew

Cheap Cash Store is just the Place to Buy Your Goods!

CARPENTER & BARTHOLOMEW'S

Standard Goods and Bottom Prices is their Motto.

South End of Bridge Street.

Charlevoix, Mich.

MEDICAL

HALL,

CHARLEVOIX,

JUST THE PLACE TO BUY

DRUGS

And Dye Stuffs,

JUST THE PLACE TO BUY

Patent Medicines

JUST THE PLACE TO BUY

Stationery, Ink and Pens.
And Pocket Inkstands.

JUST THE PLACE TO BUY

Perfumes and Hair Oils
Flavoring Extracts, and Toilet Goods.

THE PLACE TO BUY

The Self-Adjusting Truss

JUST THE PLACE TO GET

Prescriptions Compounded
At all hours—night or day.

IS FACT, just the place to get anything you want in the Druggists line.

Cheap for Cash.

New store opposite Stockman's Harbor Store.

GEO. W. CROUTER.
Druggist and Chemist.

THE STANCH PROPELLER

1875. 1875.

A. C. Van Raalte

Capt. Alvin Dodge,

Will run during the season of 1875, as follows, between

Petoskey & Traverse City:

Will leave Petoskey at 6 o'clock a. m., on

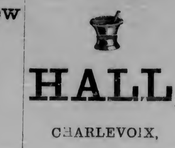
Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays,

Arriving at Traverse City at 2 o'clock the same evening. Will leave Traverse City at 6 o'clock a. m. on

Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays,

arriving at Petoskey the same evening, and touching at all intermediate ports on Grand Traverse Bay, both ways.

THE SENTINEL



JOB PRINTING

DEPARTMENT

—IS—

COMPLETE

PLAIN and COLORED WORK
Promptly and Neatly Done

PROCEEDINGS

Of the Board of Supervisors of Charlevoix County.

The Board of Supervisors of Charlevoix County met at the office of the County Clerk on Monday, October 11, 1875. On calling the roll the following Supervisors answered to their names:

Boyne Valley—E. K. Robinson.
Charlevoix—A. K. Dougherty.
Evangeline—Hugh B. Miller.
Eveline—Asa Smith.
Marion—John Ward.
Norwood—Orvis D. Wood.
South Arm—Eugene A. H. Cole.
Wilson—George W. Bailey.

Orvis D. Wood was elected Chairman for the ensuing year.

On reading the journal, on motion of Mr Dougherty, it was approved and signed by the Chairman, Orvis D. Wood.

Mr Robinson moved that an iron safe be purchased for the security of the county books, papers and funds, at an expense not to exceed $90. Carried.

Mr. Ward moved that the chair appoint a committee of two to ascertain by correspondence and inquiry the most favorable terms upon which such safe can be purchased, and secure the same, and the Clerk and Chairman be authorized to issue a county order for the payment of said expense, the Chairman to be one of said committee. Carried

The Chairman appointed Mr. Ward as said Committee.

Mr. Bailey moved that the Board accept the county bank books forwarded by Ilsley Brothers, of Kalamazoo, to the amount of $242.88, and that the Chairman and Clerk be a county order for the payment of the same. Carried.

Mr Dougherty moved that the resolution of the Board adopted on the 14th day of October, 1873, withdrawing the county funds the expense of the bridge across Pine River, it the Township of Charlevoix, and also to be expended on the present bridge in case no government appropriation is made the ensuing winter to open Pine River harbor. Said appropriation to be procured and put up on the opening of navigation next spring, by the Commissioner of Highways of Charlevoix. Carried.

Mr. Robinson moved that the sum of $500 be appropriated toward the expense of a bridge across Boyne River, in the township of Boyne Valley. Lost.

Mr. Wood, for the committee appointed to settle with the County Treasurer, reported that they found the books in a very satisfactory condition, and the balances belonging to the several funds as follows:

Interest Fund,	$29.50
Office,	253.02
Sale Expense,	16.66
Circuit Court,	9.00
Library,	1.00
Contingent,	50.74
Total,	$363.36

COUNTY INDEBTEDNESS

To Boyne Valley,	$209.30
" Evangeline,	174.68
" Wilson,	87.51
Total,	$471.30

On motion of Mr. Bailey, the report was accepted.

Mr. Cole, for the committee appointed to fix rates of toll on South Arm ferry, reported the following rates:

Double teams, over and back same day,	50c
Double teams, one way,	25c
Sleigh rig, consisting of one horse and vehicle, over and back,	40c
Same, one way,	25c
Single team, one way	15c
Every additional load, same time,	10c
Mail and rig, over and back,	15c
Each person, without teams or animals,	10c

Party taking out license to be on board ferry steamer to return, (Sundays excepted) to ferry whenever called upon. Foregoing after special trade not to be in double rates. Licenses to furnish signal flags on either side of the lake.

The report was accepted and adopted.

The report of the County Superintendent of the Poor was presented which set forth the following exhibit:

Balance on hand Dec. 31, 1874, and transferred by resolution of Board to contingent fund,	$28 42
Jan. 26, 1875, order to H. Cooper,	6 00
July, 18, " Clement Dell	11 00
Leaving Paupers to be to cost qr.	17 50

Mr. Ward moved that the County Treasurer be instructed to transfer all the different funds at the treasury to the contingent fund, except the library and poor fund. Carried.

On motion of Mr. Smith a large number of paid county orders were destroyed in the presence of the Board.

Mr. Ward moved that the Co. Treasurer be instructed to charge to the township of Eveline the amount expended in the keeping of Bliss Rice by the township of Marion, provided that the Supervisor of Marion shall present the bill due his township before Nov. 1st, and credit the township of Marion with such amount. Carried.

At 9 o'clock a. m. the Board went into Committee of the Whole on equalization of the rolls, Mr. Dougherty in the chair, and after spending some time thereon the Committee arose, and through its chairman reported that the rolls of the several towns be equalized without adding to or taking from the assessments made by the several Supervisors. Accepted and adopted.

The aggregate assessments of the several townships, of personal and real estate, were found to be as follows:

	Real Estate.	Personal Property.
Boyne Valley,	$ 98 205	$ 8,450
Charlevoix,	160,115	18,800
Evangeline,	74,020	5,191
Eveline,	75,705	5,000
Marion,	92,845	5,991
Norwood,	93,520	7,432
South Arm,	39,260	3,675
Wilson,	59,950	3,000
Total,	$693,620	$119,434

Mr Robinson moved that the County Surveyor be instructed to procure field notes and township plats of each township in the county, and the Clerk of Supervisors be instructed to pay for the same. Carried.

Mr. Bailey moved that the county accept the proposal of W. A. Smith to do the official printing of the county for the term of three years. Carried.

Mr. Ward moved that the Board go into Committee of the Whole to visit the jail at 1 o'clock p. m. Carried.

On motion of Mr Smith the Board adjourned to the hour of 2 o'clock p. m.

2 o'clock p. m.

Board met; roll called; journal read and approved

The committee appointed to visit the jail reported through their chairman, Mr. Ward, that they found the jail in a very unsatisfactory condition, and recommended that the Board make some provision for the sanitary welfare of any person that may be confined therein, there being no sufficient means of warming the building, and no bed nor bedding visible. Report accepted and adopted.

Mr. Dougherty moved that a committee of two be appointed to inquire as to the expenditure of $50 heretofore raised for the purpose of fitting up the jail, and to make such further improvement of the jail as they shall deem necessary, and on their statement that such work is done, the chairman and clerk be instructed to issue a county order for the payment of the same out of the contingent fund of the county.

The following sums were certified as raised in the several townships for township and school purposes:

	Township.	Township Tax.	School Tax.
Boyne Valley,	$ 800 00	$1,567 00
Charlevoix,	1,000	350
Evangeline	400	201
Eveline,	400 11	200
Marion,	247 66	140
Norwood,	300	200
South Arm,	1,278 42	642
Wilson,	750	485

Mr. Cole moved that the sum of $50 be appropriated for a county poor fund. Carried.

Mr. Bailey moved that the Board authorize the Supervisor of Wilson to assess the north half of the north east quarter of section 26, in town 32 north, of range 6 west, 80 acres, valuation $160, at the rate limited by law; also the north-west quarter of section 30, town 32, north of range 6 west, 160 acres, valuation $320, which land was omitted from the assessment of 1874. Carried.

Mr. Ward moved that Wm. Black be appointed County Superintendent of the Poor for full term. Carried.

Mr. Miller moved that A. D Carpenter of Boyne Valley, be appointed Superintendent of the Poor to fill vacancy. Carried

Mr. Dougherty's motion to raise $1,000 for the erection of a county building was taken up.

Board took a recess for an hour to inspect a building offered for a temporary Court House.

Mr. Miller moved that the county raise $200 to purchase Harriet L. Gifford's store building and lot for a court house. Lost.

The salary of the Judge of Probate was fixed at $75 per annum.

Board adjourned till 7 p. m.

7 o'clock p. m.

Roll called; all present.

Mr. Dougherty moved that Mr. Ahlfeld be allowed $50 for his services as Sheriff for the current year. Carried.

Mr. Miller moved that the Clerk be allowed $200 for his services the current year. Lost.

The salary of the Clerk for the current year was fixed at $175.

Mr. Dougherty moved that the county erect a building for county offices, 18x30 and 12 feet posts, to be placed on the county grounds, and that $400 be appropriated for the expense of the same. Carried.

Adjourned till to-morrow morning at 8 o'clock.

8 o'clock a. m.

Board met; all present.

Journal read and approved.

Mr. Dougherty moved that a committee of three be appointed, the chairman to be one, to act as a building committee on the erection of a building for the county offices. Carried.

The chair appointed Messrs. Dougherty as two of such committee.

Mr. Miller moved that the County Treasurer be instructed to use the first funds he receives from the Auditor General in payment of the amounts due the several townships. Carried.

The following claims were presented and acted upon:

	Claimed.	Allowed.
E. H. Green, legal services,	$31 50	$31 50
Deputy Sheriff,	26 50	26 50
R. Sue, legal advice paid for,	5 00	5 00
H. P. Wing, expenses as Supt of the Poor,	15 00	12 00
H. P. Wing, as Justice,	18 81	tabled.
J. Pallotin, Constable,	4 50	4 50
Byron Sue for assistance,	6 00	6 00
John S. Dixon,	56 00	56 00
George W. Bailey,	13 56	13 56
John Ward,	13 60	13 60
A. E. Dougherty,	13 90	13 90
E. A. H. Cole,	11 04	11 04
O. D. Wood,	17 78	17 78
R. K. Robinson,	11 60	11 60
Asa Smith,	15 56	15 56
Hugh B. Miller,	16 72	16 72
Daniel S. Peirce,	3 40	3 40
Wm. Harris Supt of Poor,	22 76	22 76
Town of Eveline, relief of Gell,	7 00	7 00
James A. Kent, blister and drugs,	1 20	1 2
A. J. Hall, Constable	23 40	23 40
H. B. Miller, Justice,	4 42	4 42
Fox, Rose & Buttars, supplies,	2 60	2 60
Ward Hayward,	5 85	5 85
H. B. Miller, Justice,	1 57	1 57
Total of claims allowed,	$372 76

Mr. Smith moved that one per cent of the assessed valuation be raised for county tax. Carried.

Mr. Ward moved that the Board raise four one-hundredths of a mill on the assessed valuation for State Tax. Carried.

The following amounts were ordered to be spread upon the several rolls:

	County.	State.
Boyne Valley,	$947 25	$25 80
Charlevoix,	792 76	21 71
Evangeline,	285 89	31 24
Eveline,	255 40	14 22
Marion,	204 19	14 56
Norwood,	301 01	15 66
South Arm,	447 47	17 89
Wilson,	308 92	12 35
Total,	$3,606.70	$160 22

Mr. Ward moved that the clerk and chairman be instructed to issue county orders in payment for work done or materials furnished in the erection of the building for county offices, on the certificate of the building committee that such work has been done or materials have been furnished. Carried

Mr. Cole moved that the offices of County Clerk and Register of Deeds be united in one office on the 1st day of January, 1877. Carried

On motion the Board adjourned sine die

JOHN S. DIXON, Clerk.

ORVIS D. WOOD, Chairman.

NORWOOD.

F. J. MEECH & Co

NORWOOD, MICH.,

DEALERS IN

DRY GOODS,

Groceries and Provisions,

Also Manufacturers of

HARDWOOD LUMBER,

Lath and Shingles.

DRUGS and MEDICINE

DR. LEWIS

Tenders his thanks to the Inhabitants of Charlevoix and vicinity for past patronage and solicits a continuance of the same. He has

JUST RECEIVED

A large stock of medicines, such as

Fluid Extracts,
Tinctures,
Essences
Oils of all kinds,
Gums,
Perfumery, etc

PATENT MEDICINES,

A large stock, such as Ayres, Jayne's Sawtelle, Fourman's Dickerman's, Sage's & Herrick's.

A Full Supply of Dye Stuffs.

All goods sold as cheap as by any house north of Grand Rapids.

I Keep What I Advertise.

FOX, ROSE & BUTTARS

Charlevoix.

THE SUMMER OF 1875

LOWER! LOWER!

Go the Prices!

WE CAN AND WILL

SELL CHEAPER

Than any other House in Charlevoix,

Our Neighbors

Are Cutting Down on Certain Articles; We cut down on

Everything!

If You Don't Believe It,

COME AND SEE

For Yourselves.

YARD WIDTH COTTON FOR 10cts

TEA--3 Pounds for $1.

SUIT of Coths for $8.

The Best Goods,

Regardless of Profit,

Are Always Kept.

FOX, ROSE & BUTTARS

Current Topics.

The Indians must be in dire straits, would be "Young Mr. Nor-A-Gard of The Devil."

Small is the sum in five cents a-year long way toward keeping a house from being kicked off a street car.

The total value of American fabrics exported the past year was ninety-four thousand dollars. Somebody wears immense boots.

Just as it has been announced that Ole Bull has died not dissuade Ameers the Jesuits have come to stay and assumed him.

Earthquakes are reported in the most plentiful hereabouts. Appearances would indicate that our quakers prefer pigeons, however.

In 1872 Henry Holmes was sent for murder to the Colorado State Prison for life. He was recently killed by being dashed down stairs, at the age of 60.

Edgar A. Poe's grave at Baltimore is to be covered with a monument composed mostly of granite contributed by friends but Fenian. The remains of Poe were interred in the cellar.

Many a "good street" was well worn a hungry-looking beggar from the door with a frown will submit a $200 pencil picker with a smile and no stuff him with sponge cake and preserves that he can hardly struggle home.

Little Bad Man, the bandit Sioux kills as still lingers around Red Cloud's agency. He is afraid to go home having promised to bring his Sqaw a Commissioner's scalp.

The Chicago Tribune and Inter-Ocean condemn their disparate efforts to deliver a speech and the Chicago Times and Post their correspondent reporters hands all day on the steady.

Kate Field has been over again, and is satisfied as for the cage in England. Her former opinion, however, that it is overthrow her determination to become an actress.

Barnum's lightning calculator has become a regular. He knew by log sense to state a degree when some beginning to do business.

At an auction sale of Chinese women in San Francisco, one thousand dollars was given for the most desirable damsel, brought $8 and the lowest $1. Some women was Lime cry of supply and demand, the old question of supply and demand.

The Catholics of Ohio have issued positive orders to intemperate use of the Democratic candidates for State offices because he is an Odd Fellow and at Odd Fellows and other secret society members are dangerous men."

President Grant is still pursuing his wonderful cure. He arrived at Salt Lake last Sunday afternoon accompanied by the Territorial officials, Governor and other officials, Governor and Brigham Young and his party also arrived at night.

Wilbur Mr. Storey of the Chicago Times issues a pamphlet letter the files of this paper and he the Hon. J. Seaman Morley, who was formerly associated with Mr. Storey in the editorial of a paper in Detroit. The pamphlet Chicago Times Inter.

Reports to the Post Office Department show that the last month in June an appropriately unprecedented the express company in carrying gems, diamonds, jewelry, etc. The amount of these packages has become so great that an armed postal clerks have been put on duty in the New York office to receive them and see delivered to the express company.

A strong effort is being made by the dealers in the Wall Street, at Detroit, to secure the customary which has been given to each succeeding President of Custom Houses, and Postmasters, and applications to show the power of the Administration to use the patronage at its disposal. Over one thousand persons are interested from handing over a portion of their quarterly pittance to political leaders. The latter have been educated and cultivated in the will secure it and will be long and bitter.

There is no saving the liquor business from the effect of the Sunday Closing law. The most people are in favor of the closing of saloons on Sunday, and will patronize a law that will compel a compliance with it. It is possible the Legislature from meeting will law licensing the sale of liquor.

2. Whether the tax being levied to assess of the state and county purposes is excessive, and if so what amount of reduction is necessary to meet the actual and economical requirements of the state government.

Business Notices.

NEW MILLINERY AND Dress - Making ESTABLISHMENT.

Fancy goods, such as Chatelaine, Zephyrs, Tidies, Ties, perfumes, Parasols, Kid Mitts, etc. Also Cashmere for Sewing etc. Dresses and Cloaks made and trimmed in the latest fashion.

Charges Reasonable.

Rooms in Henry Newton's Grocery building

MISS A. M. SAUNDERS.

Charlevoix, June 12, 1875. 1y

Hemlock Bark!

The undersigned owners of the sawmill at Mt. Castle, will deliver the proper at Time lease and as high they are prepared to

Contract for Any Amount of Hemlock Bark, from now on the beach of Lake Michigan, between South Arm The Boyne City and Charlevoix. Owners of Bark, please call and see us before making contracts with other parties, as we are determined to get the bark, or will pay no one.

SAWYER, PORTER & CO.

Charlevoix, May 1, 1875.

N. B.—Sawmill Hands, Teamsters, and Choppers wanted at once.

Read This.

The following instructive dialogue was overheard on the street cars:

Solomon Levy Jones, you seem to have been buying lots of groceries; where you have been buying them?

Solomon Why, I bought at

BYRON SEE'S

Prices are Prominent Stores in Charlevoix Don't have time to stop to-day.

Solomon—Oh yes, of course I can. He always keeps on hand a good assortment and I must be down from the prices is always low.

March 25, 1875.

Is Taken from Drug Shelf.

The manufacturers of Diamond Dyes would respectfully call your attention to the fact that the Diamond Dyes are now put up in such a manner that they can be sold by druggists and dealers in packages containing 10 cents worth of each color, thus placing them within the reach of all. Heretofore the Diamond Dyes have been put up in packages containing from 25 cents to $1 worth of each color, thus placing them beyond the reach of many who wished to use them for coloring small articles of wearing apparel, such as ribbons, feathers, etc. Now, however, this objection is removed, and we are prepared to furnish the Diamond Dyes in packages containing 10 cents worth of each color, and we hope that our friends will call the attention of their customers to this fact, as we are sure that many will be glad to avail themselves of the opportunity to purchase the Diamond Dyes in small packages. Sample bottles of both forms of Dyes sent by mail, postpaid, for 10 cents. Dyeing Silk Goods a Specialty. Send for Circular. Address all orders to WELLS, RICHARDSON & CO., Burlington, Vt.

K. B.

KING OF THE BLOOD.

THE MOST VALUABLE REMEDY OF THE AGE IS KNOWN AS

KENDALL'S BLOOD PURIFIER.

CURES ALL HUMORS, FROM A COMMON BLOTCH OR PIMPLE TO THE WORST SCROFULA.

By its use Cancers are cured, a Constitutional Taint or Poison Eradicated, and Consumptive Tendencies counteracted and Checked.

Venereal Diseases, Mercurial and Mineral Poisons are expelled from the System, and Diseases originating from Impure Blood.

Female Weaknesses, Humors, Eruptions or Sores on any part of the body, Scrofula and Tumors are reduced and destroyed by its use.

Erysipelas, Salt Rheum, Boils, Carbuncles, Scald Head, Ringworm, Tetter, Coughs, Colds, Sore Throat, Bronchitis, Asthma, Consumption, Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Loss of Appetite, Dizziness, Nervousness, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Kidney Complaints and Female Irregularities are relieved and cured by its use, and in many of these complaints it has become an invaluable remedy.

Scrofulous Diseases, Dandruff, Sore or Inflamed Eyes, and Humors quickly give way to the skin smooth and fair.

Chronic Diseases, Tetter and Ringworm, Ulcerations, Abscesses, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Kidney Complaints, Female Weaknesses and Irregularities are relieved and cured by this medicine when all other remedies have failed

THE SENTINEL.

WILLARD A. SMITH, Editor and Proprietor.

CHARLEVOIX, - MICHIGAN.

THE NEWS.

A BERESFORD dispatch of the 9th says diplomatic relations between Venezuela and Holland had been interrupted.

A LONDON dispatch of the 9th says the cholera had broken out in the province of Mysore, India.

Hon. THOMAS, Lord Bishop of Brechin, in Scotland, died on the 9th.

SENATOR PRAGUE and U. S. Atty. Wells, of Mississippi, with the Attorney-General of that State called on Attorney-Gen. Pierrepont, in Washington, on the 9th, and advised him that if there were no interference by the General Government in Mississippi the result would be the redemption of the State from the difficulties now existing.

WESTERFELT, who was convicted of being implicated in the abduction of Charley Ross, has been sentenced to seven years' solitary confinement in the Penitentiary.

THE Chancellors of the bankrupt firm of Duncan Sherman & Co., of New York city, were arrested on the 8th, on a charge of fraud. They were released on bail of $5,000 each. Mr. Duncan was withdrawn his offer to pay his creditors 25 per cent. in notes.

ANTHONY suit has been begun against Wm. M. Tweed to recover the sum of $980,000, said to have been paid on warrants fraudulently certified by him.

JOHN RYAN, of Boston, died on the 9th from injuries received in a prize-fight the day before with Michael Carney.

A WOMAN named Dunleavy, under arrest for horse-stealing, was lynched at Forest City, Ill., on the morning of the 9th.

THE Chicago Journal of the 9th says it has information from various parts of the West indicated that although the corn in some localities had been damaged to a limited degree, yet the aggregate crop would be "literally stupendous." Advices from the South also indicated that the cotton crop would be better than the average.

THE Prince of Wales stayed on his Indian trip on the evening of the 11th.

ACCORDING to a special to the London Telegraph on the 11th Turkey and Servia had mutually agreed to withdraw their troops from the frontier.

A DUEL telegram of the 11th says Cavalry and McCluskey had ordered a splendid marble altar for the cathedral in New York, at a cost of $40,000.

THE Kaiserhof Hotel, in Berlin, the largest in Germany, was burned on the 11th. Loss $1,000,000.

THE British iron steamer Bissay, while on a recent voyage from Cronstadt to Bremerhaven, foundered off Jutland. Eleven persons were drowned.

A MISCONNAC telegram of the 11th says no day had been appointed for the burial of Guiteau's remains and that it was possible it might be deferred for a considerable period.

SAMUEL C. DENNIS, Attorney-General of Pennsylvania, died at Harrisburg on the 11th, of pneumonia.

THE Springfield (Mass.) Republican of the 12th says Gen. Hartley has declined the nomination for Lieutenant-Governor of Massachusetts on the Democratic ticket.

YU-CHANG telegrams of the 11th state that the Republican majority in Nebraska would be about 10,000, and that the new Constitution had been adopted.

RETURNS received on the 13th from all but three counties in Ohio gave Hayes a majority over Allen of 3,463. Cary ran 10,000 behind Allen. The Republicans have a majority of eighteen in the Legislature, a majority in the House and one in the Senate.

IN the United States District Court at Salt Lake, on the 13th, Judge Boreman delivered a strong charge to the Grand Jury in opposition to polygamy or bigamy, and called upon the Grand Jury to indict all persons known to be guilty.

THE MARKETS.

NEW YORK.

LIVE STOCK—Beef—Extra, $6.00@6.25; fair to good, $5.25@5.75; common, $4.50@5.00. Sheep—Extra, $6.00@6.25; fair to good, $5.25@5.75; common, $4.00@5.00; white wheat extra, $6.50@7.00. Wheat—No. 2 Chicago, $1.04@1.06. No. 2 Milwaukee, $1.06@1.08; No. 1 Milwaukee spring, $1.07@1.08. Western Corn—Mixed, 66@66c. Barley—$1.30@1.40. Corn—Mixed Western, 68@70c. Oats—Mixed Western, 46@48c.

PHILADELPHIA.—Pork—Mess, $20.00@20.50. Lard—Prime Steam, 13¾@13¾c. Cheese—6½@10¾c.

WHEAT—Domestic firm, 123@125c.

LIVE STOCK—Beeves—Choice, $5.50@6.00; fair to good, $5.00@5.25; medium, $4.50@5.00; inferior stock, $3.50@3.75; stock cattle, $2.50@3.25. Sheep—Extra, $6.00@6.25; fair to good, $5.25@5.75; common, $4.00@5.00. Hogs—Live, $4.75@5.25.

PHILADELPHIA.—Butter—Choice, 30@34c. Eggs—Fresh, 24@25c. Lard—Prime Steam, 13¾@13¾c. Lard—$11.00@11.25.

BALTIMORE.—Flour—White Winter Extra, $5.75@6.25; superfine extra, $5.00@5.50. Wheat—Spring, No. 2, $1.04@1.05. Corn—No. 2, 70¾@70¾c. Oats—No. 2, 34½@35c. Rye—No. 2 Western, 86@86½c. Provisions—Pork—Mess, $20.00@20.50. Lard—Prime, 13¾@13¾c.

CINCINNATI.—Corn—Second Clear, $10.00@10.50. Provisions—Pork, $19.50@19.75. Lard—Steady, $11.50@11.60. Whisky—Steady, $1.07@1.08. Cattle—Receipts, 2,000 head; shipments, 1,000 head; market, $4.00@5.00. Hogs—Receipts, 2,000 head; shipments, 1,000 head; market, $4.75@5.00.

EAST LIBERTY.

LIVE STOCK—Cattle—Best, $5.50@5.75; medium, $5.25@5.75. Hogs—Yorkers, $5.25@5.40; Philadelphia, $5.25@5.50. Sheep—Best, $5.00@5.25; common, $4.00@4.50.

—C. V. Riley, President of the Missouri Agricultural College, wants Congress to appoint a commission to "investigate the habits of Rocky Mountain locusts," as he believes that grasshoppers, potato-bugs, and the other pests of bad character which worry farmers come from that region.

—"Do you like codfish balls, Mr. Wiggins?" Mr. Wiggins, hesitatingly: "I really don't know. I don't recollect attending one."

MICHIGAN STATE NEWS.

EX-AUDITOR GEN. BUTTERFIELD has been appointed Warden of the Jackson State Prison, vice John Morris, deposed.

JULIUS PASTENY, living in Berlin, murdered his wife a few days ago, under circumstances of unusually atrocious brutality. The villain escaped.

WILLIAM A. PEARSALL, Bookkeeper in the Central Railroad office at Wyandotte, was recently arrested upon the charge of embezzling about $3000 of the company's funds.

DEPT. WATSON, of the university, was in Paris Sept. 8. He spent an evening at the observatory with M. Leverrier, and was present at one of the sittings of the French Academy.

AN important circular to all local Boards of Health in the State has been issued from the office of the State Board of Health by the Secretary, Dr. H. B. Baker. The law requires exact returns to be made for the year ending Sept. 30.

ON the 13th a Frenchman named La Page was arrested in Suncook, N. H., on suspicion of being the guilty party in the Longpond murder.

THE name of John Quincy Adams has been placed upon the Democratic ticket as candidate for Lieutenant-Governor of Massachusetts, vice Gen. Bartlett, declined.

HON. Charles B. Davis is the Democratic candidate for Congress in the First Massachusetts District.

THE National Women's Congress met at Syracuse on the 11th. Prof. Maria Mitchell delivered the annual address.

THREE colored men were attacked in New Orleans on the night of the 12th, one of them being killed outright, another mortally and the third slightly wounded. Two white men, charged with the crime, were arrested and put in jail. A mass meeting was held on the 13th at which resolutions were adopted declaiming responsibility for the outrage, condemning all violence and pledging support to the law of the land.

THE trial of Murphy, Shero, Ill., of John Bullinger and Allen Baker (two of the parties implicated in the Williamson County (Ill.) vendetta) for murder resulted, on the 13th, in a verdict of guilty and a sentence of twenty-five years in the Penitentiary.

BECAUSE of his perpetual troubles with the Prussian Government the Prince Bishop of Breslau on the 10th severed his connection with the Prussian portion of his diocese.

A SPECIAL telegram to the London News of the 14th says Russia was preparing for a military expedition against Bokhara, in Central Asia.

A Washington dispatch of the 11th declares that the Government has threatened to acknowledge the rights of the Cubans to belligerency if he not closed before the 1st of January next.

THE State Register had returns from seventy-four counties in Iowa on the 13th, giving a majority of 24,326 for Kirkwood, and estimated his majority in the State at more than 30,000. The Republicans would have a majority of thirty-two in the Senate and sixty in the House.

THE body of Frank LaFountain, of Monroe, who disappeared about three weeks ago, was found in a corn field the other day. He received a sling on his body with three chambers empty. The cause of his suicide is still as great a mystery as before.

THE balance of cash in the State Treasury Sept 30, 1874, was $1,050,274.22; receipts during the fiscal year ending Sept. 30, 1875, were $2,398,223.53; payments during same time were $2,050,697.87; balance in Treasury Sept. 30, 1875, $1,398,199.90; increase for the year, $198,822.18.

IRON mineral paint beds have been discovered in Excelsior Township, Kalkaska County, on the Grand Rapids & Indiana Railroad. The beds cover forty acres, are over twelve feet in depth, and are pronounced by experts to be the richest in the United States.

A DISTRESSING accident recently occurred at Burt's mill, seven miles below East Saginaw. Mrs. McLeod had an attack of the ague and during the chill sat down by the stove. Her clothes took fire, and before the flames could be put out scalded the flesh on her lower limbs was literally baked.

A CRAMP of a new order is about. He is well dressed, calls at farm-houses, asks to be kept over night, and engages accommodations for a drove of sheep and the drivers who are to come along next day. He is entertained in good style, goes away in the morning without paying, and nothing more is ever heard of him or the sheep.

THE Supreme Court commenced its regular October term on the morning of the 5th. All the Judges were present and as the docket is a full one and several cases are of vast importance to the public interest—especially the Liquor-tax law—this term will be a very interesting one and likely to continue longer than the average.

THE Secretary of State received on account of fees for certificates and certified copies for examination issued to County Commissioners of Deeds in other States, and for "Session Laws" sold during the fiscal year ending Sept. 30, 1875, $1,902.25, as exhibited as follows: Certificates and certified copies, $862.50; commissions, $20; laws sold, $1019.75.

PRIMARILY the meanest swindle that has been perpetrated in this vicinity in some years, was that game played by the financiers of the State Fair when on Friday afternoon they charged several hundred people twenty-five cents each for going on the grand stand, and then refused to refund the money when the races were postponed.—East Saginaw Republican.

HIRAM A. REEVES, Acting Treasurer of Presque Isle County, has been arrested in charge of forgery by a Sheriff from Watertown, N. Y. He was agent for sewing-machines about a year ago, and when a machine was sold for cash it is said that he would forge the purchaser's name to a note and send it to the company for collection. His forgeries amount to several thousand dollars.

THE following postal changes were made in Michigan during the week ending Sept. 25, 1875: Established—Fowville, Barry County, George W. Few, Postmaster; Portage Fork, Jackson County, William C. Balch, Postmaster; Vestaburgh, Montcalm County, George W. O'Donnell, Postmaster. Discontinued—Geddes, Washington County Postmasters appointed—Hydetown, New-aygo County, E. A. Pratt; Bloody Run, Tuscola County, C. V. Wells; Carson City, Montcalm County, E. C. Cummings; Milan, Monroe County, Miss Mary A. Duncan; Stockbridge, Jackson County, John P. Baker.

DURING the fiscal year ending Sept. 30, 1875, bonds have been purchased by the State Treasurer aggregating $142,205.37, on which a premium of $4,005.84 has been paid. The present condition of the debt is as follows:

INTEREST-BEARING DEBT.
Sixth Canal Bonds, 6's, due July 1, 1903	$46,000 00
Railroad loan bonds, 6's, due July 1, 1878	169,000 00
Two-million loan bonds, 6's, due Jan. 1, 1879	200,000 00
Two-million loan bonds, 6's, due Jan. 1, 1890	422,000 00
War twenty loan bonds, 7's, due May 1, 1890	300,000 00
Total	$1,437,000 00
NON-INTEREST BEARING DEBT.
Admitted bonds, due July 1, 1863	$9,000 00
$2,000 of part-paid Seventh loan bonds, redeemable at $258.37 per $1,000	12,149 37
Total bonded debt	$1,446,149 37

—Lansing Republican.

Cause of Cholera Infantum.

A PRACTICAL physician of Berlin, Germany, has been investigating the causes of that horrible disease—cholera infantum —which yearly carries off thousands of beloved children, and one of the principal causes he finds in the patent nursing bottles, an American invention, which has reached Berlin, by means of its copyrighted form. It consists of a glass bottle, which is filled with sweet milk; through the cork of this bottle a glass tube passes to its bottom and at the top of the glass tube is a rubber tube with a mouthpiece for the child. The physician referred to publishes the following remarks and advice: "The supposed advantage of these bottles consists in this, that they can be placed beside the infant to feed itself, while other bottles must be held in the hand all the time. What sensible mother or nurse would leave a child with a bottle without watching it? The danger of the bottle consists in this, that it is absolutely impossible to cleanse it. When sucked on, little particles of milk become attached to the tube and cork; these curdle and sour and pass into it some of the milk placed under a microscope we see innumerable bacteria—organic beings which influence decomposition and decay in milk, and the child draws in thousands of these germs. The decomposing process sets upon what it finds in the mouth, passes the limits of a disagreeable sensation by putting sixty grains of morphine into a kettle of soup prepared for their dinner.

The lady of Frank LaFountain, of Monroe, who disappeared about three weeks ago, was found in a corn field the other day. He received a sling on his body with three chambers empty. The cause of his suicide is still as great a mystery as before.

THE balance of cash in the State Treasury Sept 30, 1874, was $1,050,274.22; receipts during the fiscal year ending Sept. 30, 1875, were $2,398,223.53; payments during same time were $2,050,697.87; balance in Treasury Sept. 30, 1875, $1,398,199.90; increase for the year, $198,822.18.

IRON mineral paint beds have been discovered in Excelsior Township, Kalkaska County, on the Grand Rapids & Indiana Railroad. The beds cover forty acres, are over twelve feet in depth, and are pronounced by experts to be the richest in the United States.

A DISTRESSING accident recently occurred at Burt's mill, seven miles below East Saginaw. Mrs. McLeod had an attack of the ague and during the chill sat down by the stove. Her clothes took fire, and before the flames could be put out scalded the flesh on her lower limbs was literally baked.

A CRAMP of a new order is about. He is well dressed, calls at farm-houses, asks to be kept over night, and engages accommodations for a drove of sheep and the drivers who are to come along next day. He is entertained in good style, goes away in the morning without paying, and nothing more is ever heard of him or the sheep.

THE Supreme Court commenced its regular October term on the morning of the 5th. All the Judges were present and as the docket is a full one and several cases are of vast importance to the public interest—especially the Liquor-tax law—this term will be a very interesting one and likely to continue longer than the average.

THE Secretary of State received on account of fees for certificates and certified copies for examination issued to County Commissioners of Deeds in other States, and for "Session Laws" sold during the fiscal year ending Sept. 30, 1875, $1,902.25, as exhibited as follows: Certificates and certified copies, $862.50; commissions, $20; laws sold, $1019.75.

PRIMARILY the meanest swindle that has been perpetrated in this vicinity in some years, was that game played by the financiers of the State Fair when on Friday afternoon they charged several hundred people twenty-five cents each for going on the grand stand, and then refused to refund the money when the races were postponed.—East Saginaw Republican.

HIRAM A. REEVES, Acting Treasurer of Presque Isle County, has been arrested in charge of forgery by a Sheriff from Watertown, N. Y. He was agent for sewing-machines about a year ago, and when a machine was sold for cash it is said that he would forge the purchaser's name to a note and send it to the company for collection. His forgeries amount to several thousand dollars.

THE following postal changes were made in Michigan during the week ending Sept. 25, 1875: Established—Fowville, Barry County, George W. Few, Postmaster; Portage Fork, Jackson County, William C. Balch, Postmaster; Vestaburgh, Montcalm County, George W. O'Donnell, Postmaster. Discontinued—Geddes, Washington County Postmasters appointed—Hydetown, New-aygo County, E. A. Pratt; Bloody Run, Tuscola County, C. V. Wells; Carson City, Montcalm County, E. C. Cummings; Milan, Monroe County, Miss Mary A. Duncan; Stockbridge, Jackson County, John P. Baker.

DURING the fiscal year ending Sept. 30, 1875, bonds have been purchased by the State Treasurer aggregating $142,205.37, on which a premium of $4,005.84 has been paid. The present condition of the debt is as follows:

INTEREST-BEARING DEBT.
Sixth Canal Bonds, 6's, due July 1, 1903	$46,000 00
Railroad loan bonds, 6's, due July 1, 1878	169,000 00
Two-million loan bonds, 6's, due Jan. 1, 1879	200,000 00
Two-million loan bonds, 6's, due Jan. 1, 1890	422,000 00
War twenty loan bonds, 7's, due May 1, 1890	300,000 00
Total	$1,437,000 00
NON-INTEREST BEARING DEBT.
Admitted bonds, due July 1, 1863	$9,000 00
$2,000 of part-paid Seventh loan bonds, redeemable at $258.37 per $1,000	12,149 37
Total bonded debt	$1,446,149 37

—Lansing Republican.

Around About Windsor.

A WRITER says: Windsor Castle and a view from the top of its round tower far surpass anything I have seen in England, not excepting what I have seen of it when in connection with case twenty miles. I saw London with unmistakable distinctness, twenty-five miles. It is not often the eye can command a view embracing more than 1,200 square miles. Eleven counties were visible—the entire horizon, of sometimes a twelfth. Essex is also visible. More than twenty places of historic interest cluster around the magnificent pile. Aldbrooke, noted for its contiguity to Runnymede, and for its famous yew, more than a thousand years old, and under which Henry VIII. is said to have married the unfortunate Anne Boleyn; Chertsey, where the poet Cowley lived some years and died, the abbey founded in 666, but gradually destroyed by the Danes, was subsequently rebuilt by King Edgar—only traces of it now remain; Bisham, where the once famous the great rival of the younger Pitt, Charles James Fox, Anson Heath and numerous, considered one of the finest in the Kingdom, and whose grand-stand rivals in extent and splendor the celebrated Epsom grand-stand; Ascot, the scene of "moral" every reader of Shakespeare's "Merry Wives of Windsor" will remember; Bracknell, the home of Wyatt, the poet, of Burke, the statesman, and which in later years gave a title to the wife of the present Premier—Salisbury—elevated to the peerage. Slough, famous as the scene of Cowper's Quoal sitting at dinner at Clerihugo, Mo., disguised. He was arrested and returned to jail. Quoal's people is now in jail with his wife, who has also been arrested as an accomplice to the conspiracy to abscond.

—It seems not so certain after all that King Alfonso is to marry the daughter of the Duke de Montpensier, the French diplomatists would be glad to see this affair, but the Germans want him to marry the princess Lunise Marguerite, third daughter of Frederick Charles, the "Red Prince." Neither of these belles has yet reached the age of sixteen. Alfonso's preferences in the matter can not as yet have made public, but of course his preferences will make no difference.

A FEW sprigs of horseradish root put in the pickle jar will keep vinegar in its refiner; try it.

How Democratic "Reform" Saves Money.

Gov. Tilden in his electioneering speeches—one of the farmer's duties especially and very properly upon the heavy burdens imposed by the Federal, State, county and municipal governments of the country and exhibits the aggregate in a striking manner. The Buffalo Courier gives the partisan confession which the Governor intends to be drawn from his remarks by confining itself chiefly to the national aspect of the case, and saying that a "simple statement of facts and figures, illustrating existing evils, must also illustrate the lawful responsibility of that party which has been dominant in the nation for fifteen years and which is now waging war against the cause of reform in this State." As to the assertions involved in this last sentence every intelligent reader of the Courier must know that it is sheer hypocrisy—and to say cheeky falsehood. This cause of reform is far safer in the hands of the Republican party than in those of the Democratic party—a party which Gov. Tilden rules over the larger half of which Tammany Hall is the permanent master—against will alone.

Now how does the account stand between the Republican-Federal Administration and that of Tammany Democracy? While the former has reduced the national debt six hundred millions during the war, the latter, in New York city, has increased the debt nearly as much by open and well-known stealing, until Democratic bankruptcy has overtaken the municipality of Orleans. We do not forget that the bulk of this enormous debt was created by Republican profligacy, and when they lowed about three millions of it. The public debt of New York is the Democrats are responsible for both millions of dollars, little stolen and little squandered. Sometimes the latter is interwoven with the other, and by the very audacity of the robbery little stolen is lost in the vastness of the plunder. Thus the average supposed for the infliction of the discipline the brethren are sensible in the matter of the convent, or by some place devoted to the purpose, and the windows and doors fastened carefully and fastened and covered, so that no vagrant ray of light may cover as an inopportune moment, all range themselves round the apartment in a circle, and the lights are brought in, and the word "let" is given by the Lady Abbess. At last "let the Union stand" or we should have avoided this detail and its bad work. The point in fact is that the Democrats are responsible only for a small portion of the public debt, and as the lawyers say, they can't plead their own torts in their own behalf. Notwithstanding they didn't create it, the Republicans propose to go on and pay up the national debt. They will do the same for the city of New York if they were allowed—and never will be settled or reduced until the Republicans do "get a stack at it."

So much for debts. Now as to economy et expenditures. Here the contrast is still more striking. In the State of New York and Tammany Boss W. Blunt's well known slogan of "to the victors belong the spoils," while the boss and contractor repeated the sodium stem—yes, actually whispering and laughing over the matter. He was not aware that he was still gazing fixedly upon the colored and dropped her eyes upon her manicured nails, and then raised them for his pleasure. Then she looked at him for a moment, just before the organist should cease his voluntary, she would come softly creeping up the broad aisle in her bare muslins and rose-colored tarlatan she could not prevent his mind from wandering to the time when he should be leading her down the aisle of the church, and he would be looking at her face, and not at the minister, who was quite empty without her. He hoped that at the last

THE SENTINEL.

CHARLEVOIX, MICH.

WILLIAMS & SMITH,
Editors and Proprietors.

State News.

Another Indian Outbreak.

Grand Rapids.

Democratic Victory in Ohio.

The Local Press.

"SHTOP A EE TLE!"

Spring Harbor,

HEAD OF PINE LAKE.

The Secret of Wonderful Growth and Success.

YOU'RE CRAZY

"REGULATOR"

NEW GOODS,

PORK AND FLOUR.

And full Kinds of Groceries such as

SUGARS,
TEAS,
COFFEES
SPICES,
OILS.

WE ALSO HAVE A LARGE ASSORTMENT OF

Farming Implements,

SUCH AS PLOWS, SHOVEL PLOWS, CULTIVATORS, HARROWS, HOES, CULTIVATORS, HAY FORKS AND RAKES, AND AN ASSORTMENT OF

TINWARE.

TURN THE CRANK TO THE MACHIN

TRULY YOURS:
T. W. NICHOLS.

ROSADALIS
THE GREAT ALTERATIVE AND BLOOD PURIFIER.

SCROFULA

KROMER'S CELEBRATED PILLS

WATERS' CONCERTO PARLOR ORGANS

A GREAT OFFER. HORACE WATERS & SON, 481 Broadway, N. Y., will during 30 days sell their 7-octave Pianos for $125; Organs, $65. WATERS' new scale Pianos, in elegant rosewood cases, 7 octaves, with stool and book, only $175. Second-hand Pianos and Organs at bargains. Illustrated catalogues mailed. Wholesale and retail. Agents wanted.

Carpenter & Bartholomew

Cheap Cash Store is just the Place to Buy Your Goods!

CARPENTER & BARTHOLOMEW'S

Standard Goods and Bottom Prices is their Motto.

South End of Bridge Street. Charlevoix, Mich.

MEDICAL

HALL,

CHARLEVOIX.

JUST THE PLACE TO BUY

DRUGS

And Dye Stuffs.

JUST THE PLACE TO BUY

Patent Medicines

JUST THE PLACE TO BUY

Stationery, Ink and Pens.

And Pocket Inkstands.

JUST THE PLACE TO BUY

Perfumes and Hair Oils.

JUST THE PLACE TODAY

The Self-Adjusting Truss

JUST THE PLACE TO GET

Prescriptions Compounded

Cheap for Cash.

GEO. W. CROUTER,
Druggist and Chemist.

THE FINEST PROFILES

1875. 1875.

A. C. Van Raalte

Capt. Alvin Dodge.

Will run during the season of 1875 as follows, between

Petoskey & Traverse City:

Will leave Petoskey at 6 o'clock a. m. on

Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays,

Arriving at Traverse City at 7 o'clock the same evening. Will leave Traverse City at 6 o'clock a. m. on

Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays,

arriving at Petoskey the same evening, and touching at all intermediate ports on Grand Traverse Bay, both ways.

THE SENTINEL

JOB PRINTING

DEPARTMENT

COMPLETE

PLAIN and COLORED WORK

Promptly and Neatly Done

Ex-Senator Chandler Appointment as Secretary of the Interior

Washington Oct. 19.—Ex-Senator Chandler had a long interview with the President this morning and excepted the appointment of Secretary of the Interior.

As soon as Mr. Chandler had signified his acceptance, his nomination was made out and a note sent to Chief Justice Carter, of the District Supreme Court, to appear at the White House at noon. The Chief Justice accordingly proceeded to the Executive Mansion and administered the oath of office to the new Secretary. The Cabinet then met, and Mr. Chandler then took his seat at the table.

The Cleveland Herald says the victory in Ohio was a most substantial one, the Republicans making unexpected Legislative gains and securing a good majority in both branches—three in the Senate, and twenty in the House. The Senate will consist of twenty-one Republicans and four Democrats, the House of sixty-five Republicans, forty-five Democrats and one Independent. The same may be classed among the Democrats.

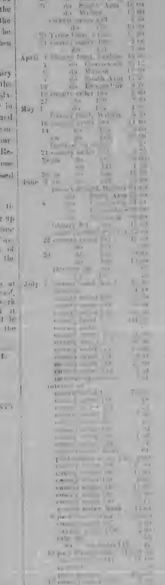
The Democratic press had a success in the news, on account of the votes rolling up beyond the best figures ever known before, and the Republican organs were correspondingly crest-fallen, but the returns are unmistakable, check on the counts.

The new custom-house was put under at Lake Huron in nearly ready for the roof, when will be put on before the fall work is ended. When completed it is said it will be the finest building of the kind in the State, being somewhat larger than the custom-house and post-office in Detroit.

County Treasurer's Report.

Cash Account.

CHARLEVOIX COUNTY



NORWOOD.

F. J. MEECH & Co

NORWOOD, MICH..

DEALERS IN

DRY GOODS,

Groceries and Provisions,

Also Manufacturers of

HARDWOOD LUMBER,

Lath and Shingles.

DR. A. TRASK'S

MAGNETIC OINTMENT

FOR THE CURE OF

INFLAMMATORY DISEASES.

LAWSON'S CURATIVE

the only remedy ever discovered that will

Positively Cure

NEURALGIA, SCIATICA, AND

RHEUMATISM,

Chronic forms of the disease no obstacle to cure of more than one bottle.

ONE BOTTLE—usually less—CURES PARTIAL RHEUMATISM.

One or two applications cures CHILBLAINS, CHAPPED FEET, TIC DOLOREAUX, NERVOUS TOOTH ACHE, SICK HEADACHE.

One bottle is a sure Cure for NERVOUS HEADACHE, DANDRUFF, DIPHTHERIA, or SORE THROAT.

Price One Dollar.

If you are afflicted, send to your druggist for this article; he will send it for you, or send ONE DOLLAR BY MAIL, to us and it will be sent prepaid.

LAWSON CHEMICAL CO., CLEVELAND, OHIO.

SOLD IN CITY AND COUNTRY BY ALL DRUGGISTS.

For Wholesale by all Druggists throughout the United States, Canada, Chicago, Detroit and Toledo.

Bristol Clothes Washer

Patented Nov. 16, 1869.

The only machine in the world that can Bleach and Wash without full rubbing. It is Simple; has but two rollers; cannot possibly get out of order, and fits any tub. Clothes cannot become entangled, and it will wash a bed-quilt or a woolen hood perfectly. It is noiseless, and does not wear or tear the clothes.

Sells at the Low Price of $7.50.

A child can work it easily. It washes four shirts at once. Also Skirts, Clothes, and Wristbands clean. It is the favorite everywhere. All who see this machine in operation exclaim

Joy to the World! Relief has Come!!

Every body buying is satisfied with the Bristol Washer.

It is for sale in your place, send us $7.50 and we will send you a Washer by express, or, if you prefer, will send one C.O.D.

A liberal discount to the trade. For terms and Discount circular address

BRISTOL WASHER CO.,
23 S. Water St., Chicago.

DRUGS and MEDICINE

DR. LEWIS

Tenders his thanks to the inhabitants of Charlevoix and vicinity for their patronage in the past, and solicits a continuance of the same. He has

JUST RECEIVED

A large stock of medicines such as

Fluid Extracts,
Tinctures,
Essences
and Spices of all Kinds,
Gums,
Perfumery, etc

PATENT MEDICINES,

A large stock, such as Ayers, Jayne & Sons', Dr. Grant's, Hoofland's, Sage's & Sanford's.

A Full Supply of Dye Stuffs.

All goods sold as cheap as by any house south of Grand Rapids.

I Keep What I Advertise.

FOX, ROSE & BUTTARS
Charlevoix.

THE SUMMER OF 1875

LOWER! LOWER!

Go the Prices!

WE CAN AND WILL

SELL CHEAPER

Than any other House in Charlevoix,

Our Neighbors

Are Cutting Down on Certain Articles: We cut down on

Everything!

If You Don't Believe It,

COME AND SEE

For Yourselves.

YARD WIDTH COTTON FOR 10¢

TEA--3 Pounds for $1.

SUIT of Coths for $8.

The Best Goods,

Regardless of Profit.

Are Always Kept.

FOX, ROSE & BUTTARS

An Indian Sun Dance and a Dog Supper.

A COMMISSIONER of the Iowa State Register writes from Red Cloud Agency as follows:

The most brutal sight one can witness in the Indian country is only afforded when the "Sun dance" occurs, and its frequency is such that one only rates it once, and would then gladly forget its hellish orgies. For several days the Sioux, Cheyennes and Arapahoes have been making grand arrangements for this dance, and yesterday came the finale. For twenty-four hours previous a general dance and singing had been going on at the camp, the noises above latter at times as many as 200 warriors were in the singing circle, while three big drums gave out noise enough to start three or four pandemoniums, with the not very musical voices of a large number of squaws thrown in to add an additional feature of the horrible. The object of the "Sun dance" is to put the courage of the young warriors to a rather physical pain, under the most trying circumstances, the ones undergoing most enduring cut with the barbarous knives. At ten o'clock seventeen young warriors, stripped nearly naked, came into the circle and were received with Michigan has now contributed three members to the Presidents cabinet, two from Secretaries of the Interior—Messrs McClelland in Mr. Pierce's administration and Mr. Chandler in Gen. Grant's. The third one was Gen. Cass, Mr. Buchanan's secretary of State.

The Dominion Government promises that the new Welland canal shall be finished in time for the navigation season of 1877. The whole line of the canal will carry 14 feet of water, and the locks will be 270 feet long, and 45 wide.

Jesse Mansfield is cutting a great splurge at Point au Frene; she lives extravagantly, and receives many visits from noblemen. It is to be hope that no French nobleman will put her in a book as a type of American womanhood; yet such things have happened.

Tom M. Clellan is again being brought before the public gaze. That grand system of docks about New York city, planned by him, and which we have been called upon to endorse so frequently, are now stated to be practically worthless. An immense sum of money has been expended upon them, and the Dock Commissioners are considering whether it would not be better to throw the whole away, and begin again on a new plan.

The Chicago Journal making editorial mention of the appointment of Mr Chandler as Secretary of the Interior, remarks: "He was born of a merchant, and settled in Detroit in its early day. He was Mayor of that city in 1851. He paid three successive terms as U. S. Senator, and whatever else may be said of him, he is magnanimously a practical business man, and a man of the highest business integrity."

Carl Schurz leaves by the death of Heir Krueger, of Spartan, Germany, the firmest friend he ever had. When Mr. Schurz escaped from his confinement for treason in the fortress of Spandau, Krueger gave him shelter and saved his life. For this his estate was confiscated and he was thrown into prison. After a long delay he was released, and to some extent has retrieved his fortunes and passed the remainder of his days in peace.

They had an imperial gathering at Milan, Italy, lately. The Emperor William of Germany accompanied by Field-Marshal von Moltke, secretary of state von Buelow and other dignitaries, arrived there in the afternoon, and were welcomed to city by King Victor Emanuel the crown prince and princes, and many other notable Italians. Masses of people thronged the streets to see the royal pageant, and with their decorations and enthusiasm made the occasion a grand one. The Czar emperor and suite will remain in Milan during this week. Victor Emanuel makes Milan, instead of Rome, the place of entertainment for his royal guests, out of deference to the Pope who will not recognize the seizing his temporal power, so as participate a party in the streets of the holy city.

DR. A. TRASK'S

MAGNETIC OINTMENT

FOR THE CURE OF

INFLAMMATORY DISEASES.

Dr. Trask was engaged for twenty years in a course of experiments upon the magical properties and power of vegetables, and has succeeded in, as the age of seventy years he retires from practice, offering to the afflicted of the population, a combination of Vegetable extracts the power of which in removing disease is unequaled in the annals of medicine.

His discovery consists in a combination of three powerful Vegetable Extracts with Electricity or Magnetism in the form of an Ointment.

Curists, it is, than the combination of unprecedented success which has attended its application in the cure of diseases, stamps it as one of the greatest discovery of the age, and calls for a trial and cure investigation of its merits.

It never rails, while three remains sufficient life to remain a vacuum and beating action in the capillary vessels of the body, and sustains the circulation of the blood. By this means a curative power is gained over the most obstinate forms of disease, which cannot be overcome.

Such is the power of this combination ation, that it penetrates to every portion of the human frame; every bone and muscle, vein, nerve and ligament is stimulated and made sensible of its purifying and healing influence. Hence it appears readily with internal as external diseases.

Numerous instances are on record where it has entirely healed boils to parts as near the grave that the most powerful internal remedies failed to produce any effect. Such has frequently been the case in inflammation of the Bowels.

No patient ever need die with this Ointment when the Magnetic Ointment can be obtained.

For Inflammatory Rheumatism this Ointment is the most powerful remedy ever prepared. For Diphtheria or Putrid Sore Throat it is unrivaled.

To ninety-nine cases out of a hundred it will relieve pain in the worst cases of Nervous Headache in about 20 minutes.

For Nervous Diseases of long standing or of inveterate cases Affections of the Spine, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, Dysentery, Cramp, Colic, Cholera Morbus, Acne in the Stomach, Sick Headache, Colds, Coughs, Sore Throat, Bronchitis, Influenza, Asthma, Sore Eyes, Sores, Ulcers, Salt Rheum, Scrofula, Chilblains, Corns, and all Skin Diseases, Dr. Trask's Magnetic Ointment is unequaled.

DR. BASSON, Sole Agent for the United States.

HISTORY OF THE GRANGE MOVEMENT OR FARMER'S WAR AGAINST MONOPOLIES.

AGENTS! Most Magnificent Gift Enterprise ever Known!

Everybody wants it. Sells at sight. Agents are coining money. Any one can become a successful agent. Particulars free. Those who want profitable employment should address at once. J. C. McCURDY & CO., Philadelphia, Pa.

NEW

MILLINERY AND

Dress - Making

ESTABLISHMENT.

Fancy Goods, such as Canvass, Zephyrs, Ribbons, Lace, Buttons, Parasols, Kid Gloves, etc., Also, Perfumery for Sachets, Brushes and Combs Gold and Braids in the latest fashions.

Charges Reasonable.

Rooms in Harry Aseltine's grocery building

MISS A. M. SACKETT.

Charlevoix, June 17, 1875. 1y

Hemlock Bark!

Contract for Any Amount

Of Hemlock Bark to be delivered on the beach at Loeland on Pine Lakes or south Arm. The firm of Lyon, Dow & Bartlett, Carpenter & Co., Sawmills and Boom Piers, are our agents to whom bids will be made, contracts can be made, or sent to Dr. Wilkinson, of the firm of CUTT, P. JOHNSON & Co.

Charlevoix, May 1, 1875.

N. B.—Samuel Holland, of Eveline, is also our authorized agent.

Read This.

The following instructive dialogue was overheard the other day.

Mother—Lucy Jones, you seem to have been having great quarrels, where do you trade, Jones?

Jones—Why I bought of

BYRON SEE'S

Grocery and Provision store in Charlevoix It has a good place to trade.

Brown—that so? Then others do as well there as you can I guess know you are sharp as a razor.

Answered yes, of course you can. He does all right. He says we have a similar opinion, and I guess he does from the prices he sells at.

K. B.

KING OF THE BLOOD.

THE BEST TO CHANGE PUTRIDITY OF THE BLOOD THAT EXISTS.

CURES ALL DISEASES FROM A COMMON ERUPTION TO THE WORST SCROFULA.

By its use Cancers are cured, and Consumption is dispersed without the aid of long distance. Simple bottles of both for 10 cents. Regular size 75 cents.

SEASONED

Clear Lumber, Dressed Flooring, Ceiling Siding and Pickets constantly on hand at the general depot. Orders by Boat will be promptly attended to.

MEAT MARKET.

A. J. McLEOD,

Respectfully informs the public of Charlevoix and vicinity that he has established a Meat Market in the Charlevoix House, where he will furnish fresh meats at low rates. Cash paid for fat cattle and hogs

FOUNTAIN CITY HOUSE.

Charlevoix, Michigan.

RICHARD COOPER, Prop,

Has been re-built, enlarged and arranged with a view to the comfort of the traveling public. The only first class house in

Charlevoix, Mich.

New Harness Shop.

The subscriber would respectfully inform the public of Charlevoix and vicinity that he is now prepared to do work in the latest style and at reasonable rates.

REPAIRING

A specialty. May be found at the old Berry stand, opposite Fox, Rose & Buttars' store.

CHESTER DENTON.

Charlevoix, August 6, 1875.

ANDREW O. D. MCCABE.

Charlevoix Michigan.

BOOT AND SHOE SHOP.

Custom work done promptly and in the latest style. Repairing done on short notice.

FOR SALE.

The undersigned offers for sale, impossible to be sold between now and spring time the following

FARMS:

The timber is beech, maple, rock-elm, red some pine and cedar, and each lot is surrounded by settlers.

115 Acres on State road, one mile from Charlevoix; improved land, one dwelling house, two acres cleared at the junction of the State and Advance road. Price, $1,000.

123 Acres 14 miles from Charlevoix; half acre cleared. Price, $1,230.

175 Acres three and a half miles from Charlevoix; 25 acres into timothy; good hard beech feed; log house. Price, $1,750.

284 Acres on State road 6 miles from Charlevoix; two acres cleared; log house; creek running through this; no improvement. Price, $1,136.

150 Acres 6 miles from Charlevoix, on Co. road; beaver meadow of 6 acres fine road brook. Price, $600.

167 Acres 6 miles from Charlevoix; between 40 rods and 160 rods No 1 pine on this; balance mostly rock-elm and maple. $800.

80 Acres 2 miles from Charlevoix, 40 rods from State road; log house; creek running through one end. Town 32 north, range 7 west, either; timber, maple. $200.

120 Acres 1 mile from Charlevoix, on Town Line road; log house; creek running through it. Price, $600.

Terms easy and time given to purchasers who will send 5 cents for postage, as we will send you a bottle by mail, postpaid. Sold by all Druggists. Price 25 cents per bottle.

D. BASSON, Son & Co., Prop'r, Buffalo, N. Y.

DR. J. R. MILLER'S

MAGNETIC BALM.

It cures as if by MAGNETIC INFLUENCE. Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Sprains and Bruises, Sciatica, Lumbago, Pleurisy, Croup, Colic, Cholera Morbus, Ague in the Stomach, Headache, Toothache, Earache, Sore Throat, Sunburn, Chilblains, Frosted Feet, Corns, Scalds, Burns, Chilblains, Frosted Feet, Corns, Scalds, Burns, Chilblains, Frosted Feet, Corns, Scalds, Burns

THE SENTINEL.

WILLARD A. SMITH, Editor and Proprietor.

CHARLEVOIX, - MICHIGAN.

THE NEWS.

ACCORDING to a Madrid dispatch of the 16th Don Carlos had imprisoned three generals and several of his chieftains.

A MEXICAN telegram of the 16th says the Bavarian Minister had been refused a passign in consequence of Extraordinary complications.

The special commission appointed to investigate the charges made by Prof. Marsh made public their report on the 18th. The commission found no fraud in connection with the beef contract at the Red Cloud Agency but considered that the Government and Indians had been swindled by flour and pork contractors. The charges of incompetency against Agent Saville were sustained. Ex-Secretary Delano and Commissioner Smith were exonerated from complicity in the frauds, though the latter was alleged to have been neglectful in some instances. Several changes were recommended in the management of Indian affairs

THE receipts of the Postoffice Department for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1875, were $23,607,792.66; expenditures, $23,611,200.45; deficiency, $6,040,806.77.

AT Canon City, Col., a few nights ago, Carrie Blackburn, a colored woman, shot her sister, Mrs. Evans, undertook to start a fire with coal-oil. The can exploded, her dress caught fire, and the flames communicated to Mrs. Evans' and her infant. The three were fatally burned.

W. Dennis, an English pedestrian, recently accomplished the feat of walking eight miles in an hour—the quickest time on record.

THE vote polled in Cincinnati at the late election was 39,339. The vote in the county was about 47,000.

O'LEARY, the Chicago pedestrian, recently walked 60 miles in the unprecedented time of eighteen hours and fifty-eight seconds.

A BERLIN dispatch to the London Morning Post of the 20th says it had been decided to send Prince Frederick of Prussia to the Philadelphia Centennial, and that a German fleet would accompany him.

EX-SENATOR ZACHARIAH CHANDLER, of Michigan, has been appointed Secretary of the Interior, vice Delano, resigned. Mr. Chandler entered on the duties of the position on the 19th.

A WASHINGTON special of the 19th says the receipts from internal revenue for the three months ending Sept. 30 had shown an increase of $1,780,750 over those of the corresponding period last year.

THE first building in the United States erected for the Order of the Sovereigns of Industry was dedicated at Springfield, Mass., on the 19th.

MRS. GRANT, of 911 City Ox, left her home in charge of three children on the 19th. During her absence they undertook to kindle a fire with kerosene oil. The usual result followed, and two of the children were fatally burned. The house was burned to the ground.

THE richer day the Sheriff of Portage County, Wis., was killed by two brothers named Amos and Isaac Courtwright, upon whom he was attempting to serve a process. On the morning of the 19th a party of masked men went to the jail at Stevens Point, seized the guard, bound him, took out the Courtwrights and hung them to a pine tree by the roadside.

PROF. WATSON, of the Michigan State University, has recently discovered a new planet.

JESSE MCARAN, aforetime man, has been recently sentenced to twenty years' imprisonment for having a year ago caused a terrible accident on the Selma, Ala. & Dalton Railroad by placing obstructions on the track.

THE Pan-Mohan State Register of the 18th published returns from eighty-seven counties in Iowa, giving Kirkwood 29,675 majority and indicating a Legislature majority of seventy-nine in the Legislature.

A LONDON dispatch of the 20th says extensive and disastrous floods had prevailed in several districts of Lancashire and Warwickshire. Traffic on the railroads on that section had been for many miles absolutely stopped.

THE Supreme Court of Germany on the 20th affirmed the verdict of the Kammergericht in the case of Count von Arnim Boytzenburg.

PROF. WILLIAMSTOWN, the English naturalist philosopher and electrician, died at Paris on the 20th.

A DANISH Petersburg dispatch reports that burning of 200 dwellings, a synagogue and five schools in Wilna, Russian Poland. Several were burned to death and more than 3,000 persons were rendered homeless.

A CENTENNIAL excursion arrived in Philadelphia on the evening of the 20th, consisting of fashionables from Chicago, Detroit, Milwaukee, Toledo, Cleveland, Buffalo, St. Louis, Indianapolis, Cincinnati and Pittsburgh. They were hospitably entertained by the Philadelphians.

A SESSION of Union and Confederate soldiers was lately held at Elizabeth, N. J. Fourteen veteran companies paraded pulled.

AMONG the failures announced in New York on the 20th was that of Butterick & Co., dealers in fashion plates, patterns, etc. Liabilities about $200,000; assets small. The assets of the Broadway dry goods firm of Rice, Goodrich & Walker, which failed about a year ago, pay, it is said, one cent on the dollar.

HEAVY rains have occurred recently in the Southwest has been directed by the Postmaster General to put a stop to it, so that all matter which naturally belongs to the Pennsylvania Railroad shall be sent by that line instead of the New York Central route.

CONGRESSMAN Hyndman, formerly managing editor of the New York Herald, died at Concord, Mass., on the 21st, from being struck by the engine of a locomotive while riding across a railroad track in a buggy.

A MASS MEETING was held in New York city on the 20th in reference to the late collision on the Hudge from the public schools.

THE half-off of the late Lorne M. Stinger, the sewing-machine inventor, is the largest property amounting in value to $1½, 000,000, was offered for probate in New York city on the 20th.

THE Supreme Court of Germany on the 20th affirmed the verdict of the Kammergericht in the case of Count von Arnim Boytzenburg.

A LONDON dispatch of the 20th says extensive and disastrous floods had prevailed in several districts of Lancashire and Warwickshire. Traffic on the railroads on that section had been for many miles absolutely stopped.

THE Supreme Court of Germany on the 20th affirmed the verdict of the Kammergericht in the case of Count von Arnim Boytzenburg.

A LONDON dispatch of the 20th says extensive and disastrous floods had recently occurred throughout Lancashire and Warwickshire. Traffic on the railroads on that section had been for many miles absolutely stopped.

A STREAM from Regnas of the morning of the 18th announced that the Turks had crossed the Austrian border and were mourning the village of Erzeg. Troops had been sent to oppose them.

A BERLIN telegram of the 17th says Kressa had commanded the army against the Polish provinces to sell their farms to Russian country, the Government fixing the price.

ARTHUR DAVIS and wife, of Toronto, Canada, have been sentenced to be hanged in December next for the murder of a Miss Gilman.

A WASHINGTON dispatch of the 17th states that the President had said he was from a certified that there was no political issue in Mississippi that affected an amicable adjustment by which a fair election would be held and peace maintained. He further stated that no removals would be made in that state for mere partisan reasons.

A WASHINGTON dispatch of the 17th says information had been recently received that Russia would be represented at the American Centennial next year.

A SERIOUS caving in of the fast-mail service between New York, St. Louis and the Southwest has been directed by the Postmaster General to be strictly made, so that all matter which naturally belongs to the Pennsylvania Railroad shall be sent by that line instead of the New York Central route.

CONGRESSMAN Hyndman, formerly managing editor of the New York Herald, died at Concord, Mass., on the 21st, from being struck by the engine of a locomotive while riding across a railroad track in a buggy.

A MASS MEETING was held in New York city on the 20th in reference to the late collision on the Hilde from the public schools.

THE half-off of the late Lorne M. Stinger, the sewing-machine inventor, is the largest property amounting in value to $1½, 000,000, was offered for probate in New York city on the 20th.

THE Supreme Court of Germany on the 20th affirmed the verdict of the Kammergericht in the case of Count von Arnim Boytzenburg.

A LONDON dispatch of the 20th says extensive and disastrous floods had recently occurred throughout Lancashire and Warwickshire. Traffic on the railroads on that section had been for many miles absolutely stopped.

THE Supreme Court of Germany on the 20th affirmed the verdict of the Kammergericht in the case of Count von Arnim Boytzenburg.

A LONDON dispatch of the 20th says extensive and disastrous floods had recently occurred throughout Lancashire and Warwickshire. Traffic on the railroads on that section had been for many miles absolutely stopped.

CHICAGO

Live Stock—Beeves—Inferior to [illegible]; good, $5@5.50; medium, $4.50@4.75; inferior stock, $3@3.75; cows, $2@3.25. Hogs—Live, $3@3.65. Receipts of cattle, 14,000; hogs, 21,000.

Breadstuffs—Wheat—Spring, Winter Extra, $1.25@1.30; spring extra, $1.20@1.25; Milwaukee Spring, No. 2, $1.12@1.16. Corn—No. 2 Mixed, 39c. No. 2 Yellow, 40c. Rye—No. 2, 70c. Barley—No. 2 nominal.

Provisions—Mess Pork, $17.50@17.75. Lard—Prime Steam, 15½@15½c. Cheese—Full cream, 15@16c.

Wool—Domestic fleece, 42@45c.

Hides—Green, 7@8c; dry, 14@15c.

Receipts—Flour, 6,000 bbls.; wheat, 10,000 bush.; corn, 27,000 bush.; oats, 22,000 bush.; rye, 1,000 bush.; barley, 2,000 bush.

Shipments—Flour, 5,000 bbls.; wheat, 7,000 bush.; corn, 20,000 bush.; oats, 15,000 bush.; rye, 1,000 bush.; barley, 2,000 bush.

NEW YORK.

Live Stock—Beeves—Best, $6@6.25; fair to good, $5@5.75; poor to medium, $4@4.75; Texans, $3@4.50. Sheep—$4@5.50. Hogs—Yorkers, $5@5.25; Philadelphia, $5@5.25. Sheep—Best, $5@5.50; medium, $4.75@5.00.

Return of the Pandora.

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.

A London special to the New York Herald gives some interesting details of the cruise of the Pandora to the Arctic regions for the purpose of receiving dispatches from the British expedition. The steamer crossed the much-dreaded Melville Bay without encountering ice. They were disappointed in not finding Capt. Nares' dispatches at Carey Island, and so they steered up to Lancaster Sound. There they encountered gigantic floes and navigated with much difficulty. On passing Barrow Straits they were overjoyed in an huge-trunkable flag. Beside it floated her colors—a Thunder Bay sail standing with her masts upright.

There of bears were also found. The loudboards over the graves of Sir John Franklin's men were still standing upright, and in good preservation.

The Pandora then sailed for Peel's Strait, and was busier on the voyage by vast fields of ice. She passed the farthest point reached by McClintock's expedition and reached King William's Land, thus navigating a sea never sailed over by any other vessel before except, perhaps, Franklin's. She then steamed down the west coast of Prince of Wales' Land. Here delightful weather, soft, refreshing atmosphere and open expanses of water, with warm air currents were enjoyed. Officers were intensely excited and expected all important results; many believed they would discover traces of Franklin's expedition and some were hopeful that Sir John Franklin's papers would be found and they would eventually make Behring's Straits, but in this they were disappointed. They encountered solid ice-fields at Russian Island, which effectually blocked the vessel's further progress. They stayed there until Sept. 7, and then set out on their return voyage. This was full of difficulties and many exciting scenes and narrow escapes were experienced. At last they reached Carey Island safely, where they found the long-looked for dispatches from Capt. Nares for the British Admiralty. These were brought home to England.

A Heartless Swindle.

A FEW days ago an advertisement in a Boston paper for a clerk who wanted a good situation and could deposit $500 as surety for his honesty, fidelity, etc., drew words to that effect, caught the eye of a young man in the city, and, there being something very attractive either about depositing the money or the promised situation, he went to Boston with the requisite amount of money in his pocket. He visited the office of "Henry Howard & Co." the advertisers, and made known his business. After some conversation and a perusal of what his duties were to be (which, by the way, were to be extremely light), he announced his intention of accepting the situation and making the deposit. Just here there was a slight hitch, the gentlemanly proprietor intimating that, as there was a possibility that his partner, who he said was in the city, might have some good young man, and be willing to go for taking the money, telegraph to him to make sure about it. Such candor and fairness of course said the proprietor to the young man, and he was all the more anxious for a position with so upright a man. A dispatch was sent to the partner, directed to the City Hotel here, and in due time an answer, or what purported to be an answer, was received, saying the place was not filled. The young man was elated, and the young man deposited the money. The proprietor took it, and in a careless manner apparently put it into the money-drawer, and locking the drawer he gave the key to his new clerk, telling him he was going out for a short time on business, and he might begin his work at once. The clerk waited for his return for a long time, but at first thought nothing of it; for wasn't the money safe in the drawer, and wasn't the drawer locked, and didn't he have the key? Finally, however, his suspicion or his curiosity got the best of him, and he examined the drawer. Imagine his surprise and consternation at finding therein but a pack-age or so of useless paper, and the trick flashed upon his mind. An effort was made to find his partner in the city, but the dispatch spoken of above hasn't reached him yet, and probably never will.—Providence Journal.

—A new branch of Methodism has been organized in Northern New Jersey, under the title of "The United Methodist Church." The members hold their doctrine of immersion and discard a diocesan episcopacy, a salaried ministry, and all creed save the New Testament. The new organization at present numbers about fifty members, who are scattered over a large field.

A DETROIT woman wants to set eyes on the female who can empty a pan of ashes and not have the wind blow half of them back into her face.

THE Brooklyn Sun says: "It is a generally received opinion that Chicago is built on a prairie. All wrong. It is built on credit."

MICHIGAN STATE NEWS.

THE average number of inhabitants in the representative throughout the State is 12,939.

THE Ionia County Grangers have opened a general Grangers' store at Grand Rapids with $6,000 capital.

MR. PEASNO, for many years a clerk in the Auditor General's office, died suddenly the other day, in an apoplectic fit, at Detroit.

WINNIE COMB, a ten-year-old girl residing with her aunt in Howard, recently committed suicide by drowning herself in the river.

THE Michigan State Christian Conference and Christian Missionary and Aid Society will hold their annual meeting at Marshall Nov. 3, 4 and 5.

THE St. Clair County Jail has gathered recruits from twenty-eight cities in the State, relative to the working of the new Liquor law, and it seems to be generally enforced and to have the effect to lessen the comparative drinking under existence. The prohibition there is a difference of opinion.

AT Verona Mills, the other day, John Newman, a rich farmer sixty years old, married a girl of about twenty years, and established him furniture right there. Two daughters who interfered were also married, and the old man found himself alone, with Paris green and died. The son was expected to die at last accounts.

THE following postal changes have been made in Michigan during the week ending Oct. 9, 1875: Established—Martinez, Macomb County, Geo. Smith, Postmaster. Postmasters appointed—Lake Linden, Houghton County, Louis De-champs; Manton, Wexford County, Harry Brandenburg; North Newberg, Shiawassee County, C. P. Devereaux; Rogers City, Presque Isle County, Frederic D. Larke; West Windsor, Eaton County, James M. French.

ON the 12th, in the Supreme Court, the case of Thomas Cone of Yosilanti vs. Dexter Norton was decided in a long and elaborate opinion rendered by Judge Cooley, sustaining the latter. The decision declares that the only legal idea of taxation is that it is the return for the general benefits of government; it is therefore not competent to make an unprotected traffic one of the standards by which to determine how much the party engaging it ought to pay the Government. If one loses the Government to special inconvenience and expense in keeping up a prohibited traffic, or maintaining a police force for its protection from discrimination in taxation against it, and, if the tax is imposed on the ruling which is prohibited, the Tax law, instead of being inconsistent with the law declaring illegality, is in entire harmony with its general purpose, and may on occasions be even more effectual. Certainly, whatever discriminations are made in taxation ought to be in the direction of making the heaviest burdens fall upon those things which are obnoxious to the public interests, wherever that is practicable."

The Double Murder at Clinton, La.

YESTERDAY we received a brief letter from a colored man in Louisiana. The letter inclosed an account of the murder of John Carr and his sister-in law in the isolated Waste League plantation in East Feliciana, La. Here the writer:

YOU are how the Democratic party in Louisiana does her. Thank you, in God's name, for your sympathy in our behalf.

The account inclosed, cut from the New Orleans papers, shows that Carr and his sister-in-law were murdered on the night of the 4th of April, 1875, and I would advise you to refer to the records to find the names and ages of each one implicated, with all the prominent citizens. This is not idle curiosity, as I firmly believe we will get some compensation some of these days.

This is a single straw, but thousands could be gathered of a like nature. In certain sections of the South the ignorance and personal description of slaves have been preserved for the very purpose of keeping them in the political shade. At no time but Southern Democracy will favor this policy. This is one of the party has always practiced "democracy," but as it may reasonably be expected that the payment for slave property will become part of the Democratic programme—when once in power.

Are the people ready for this additional drain upon their resources? If they are, they should vote the Democratic ticket. If they are not in favor of plundering the nation for the benefit of the former slaveholders, they must not fail to cast their votes for the Republican party. Republicanism means public honesty and economy with the nation; justice to all men. Under its control not one dollar shall ever be paid for slave property.—Republic Magazine.

☞ In the general rejoicing over the great Republican victories in Ohio, Iowa and Nebraska, the little victory in Nevada, N. H., on the same day, ought not to be forgotten. It was in every way as remarkable as the greater ones. The Democratic majority of 2,400, the highest ever given in the county, and in the city, and of the fifteen wards in the city the Democrats carried thirteen. The total vote was 4,000 greater in the city election two years ago. The effect of the unexpected Republican victory is a staggering blow to the Democracy. Before the election there was a fiery contest for the nomination of Sheriff on the Democratic ticket, but since last Tuesday nearly all the prominent candidates have dropped out, and don't care to be mentioned in connection with the office at all. The Democratic party all over the State took upon the Newark election as a bad omen for them in the State election next month, and the Republicans are correspondingly elated.—Chicago Tribune.

☞ The Dubuque Herald (Dem.) confines its election news to this remark: "From the various parts of this State the returns are encouraging." And so they were.

Childhood's Miseries.

WHITING of children brought up and educated in large families a contributor to the Saturday Review says: It is a pity one of the Commissioners of Education could not unseem spend a few mornings in some of the school rooms to which little girls are sent, their slates with their tears, yet never thoroughly master the simple rules of arithmetic, where they labor over "Mangmill's Questions" to the bewildering of history and where, lasting misdemeanor, they are compelled to practice every weary hours every day. The room is probably the smallest in the house. If in a town it is perhaps in a dingy back room looking out on the lane. As it contains a piano, a bookcase, a large table, a refreshing board and at least half a dozen chairs, there is not much cubic space left for air to breathe. On a hot summer day the room will be inhabited by nine children and a governess—the victims of what might be supposed to be the height of barbarism, but is in reality the result of a high state of civilization. A child may be heard attempting by the aid of memory and music, and beginning to cry! In the drawing-room, the governess, to describe the course of the Rhine, the Dnieper, the Dniester and the Danube, in which attempt she is signally unsuccessful, and only manages to involve herself hopelessly and for life on the subject. The geography is put aside to be refused, and she goes on with the "Mangmill's Questions." Out of that mine of information her governess has crammed her self with facts which will be slightingly to another climate have flown.

Nearly all the infantile of East Feliciana have been drawn on, and the wood ogre, button-holes supreme.

Since writing the above we have received a pleading letter from a correspondent at Clinton, La.—the scene of the recent outrages—which gives the full particulars of this brutal murder. The doctor reported poisoned was not even sick, and while our correspondent was writing walked past the window, as usual. And yet two persons have been assassinated to satisfy his poisoning! A very pretty state of things exists at Clinton. The judge has been compelled to adjourn court, the Sheriff being shot while discharging his duties, and the grand jury have given up to the reign of the organized ruffians who intend that part of the State.—Chicago Tribune.

A Democratic Straw.

MANY influential Democrats are in favor of paying the South for every slave set free by the result of the rebellion. They think the only policy capable of saving property on the grounds of honor and equity, and they intend to have it enacted into a law if the Democratic party obtains the control of the Government.

Assuming, then, which the way the wind blows as private opinions, publicly expressed, circulates about the current of sentiment prevailing in party organizations. Several leading Democrats in the South have brought this subject to paying for slaves freed by the war, and the suggestions are favorably received. Now, if this policy is to be adopted by the Democratic party, it is a pity that it should not be announced in time, so that the people may know what they are voting for. Democrats in favor of paying for slaves freed by the war should not be ashamed to say so. Let the people know what they are voting for.

A Heartless Swindle.

A FEW days ago an advertisement in a Boston paper for a clerk who wanted a good situation and could deposit $500 as surety for his honesty, fidelity, etc., drew words to that effect, caught the eye of a young man in the city, and, there being something very attractive either about depositing the money or the promised situation, he went to Boston with the requisite amount of money in his pocket. He visited the office of "Henry Howard & Co." the advertisers, and made known his business. After some conversation and a perusal of what his duties were to be (which, by the way, were to be extremely light), he announced his intention of accepting the situation and making the deposit. Just here there was a slight hitch, the gentlemanly proprietor intimating that, as there was a possibility that his partner, who he said was in the city, might have some good young man, and be willing to go for taking the money, telegraph to him to make sure about it. Such candor and fairness of course said the proprietor to the young man, and he was all the more anxious for a position with so upright a man. A dispatch was sent to the partner, directed to the City Hotel here, and in due time an answer, or what purported to be an answer, was received, saying the place was not filled. The young man was elated, and the young man deposited the money. The proprietor took it, and in a careless manner apparently put it into the money-drawer, and locking the drawer he gave the key to his new clerk, telling him he was going out for a short time on business, and he might begin his work at once. The clerk waited for his return for a long time, but at first thought nothing of it; for wasn't the money safe in the drawer, and wasn't the drawer locked, and didn't he have the key? Finally, however, his suspicion or his curiosity got the best of him, and he examined the drawer. Imagine his surprise and consternation at finding therein but a package or so of useless paper, and the trick flashed upon his mind. An effort was made to find his partner in the city, but the dispatch spoken of above hasn't reached him yet, and probably never will.—Providence Journal.

—A new branch of Methodism has been organized in Northern New Jersey, under the title of "The United Methodist Church." The members hold their doctrine of immersion and discard a diocesan episcopacy, a salaried ministry, and all creed save the New Testament. The new organization at present numbers about fifty members, who are scattered over a large field.

A DETROIT woman wants to set eyes on the female who can empty a pan of ashes and not have the wind blow half of them back into her face.

THE Brooklyn Sun says: "It is a generally received opinion that Chicago is built on a prairie. All wrong. It is built on credit."

THE SENTINEL.

WILLARD A. SMITH, Editor and Proprietor.

CHARLEVOIX, - MICHIGAN.

CLOSING DAYS.

THE plashing breakers on the beach seem to
To wail a soft, sweet, plaintive dirge for the departing year;
The yellow leaves, whirl'd o'er the path by the sharp autumn breeze,
In sedging clouds are falling fast from all the rustling trees.

The frost beads sparkle on the grass, bright
In the chilly dawn;
The noiseless thrush its lonely meal seeks on the rectory lawn;
The lazzarelines 'gins to show her white and treacle flowers—
Sure token that have fled at last the summer's golden hours.

Blackberries on the parlour hang, the ash shows clusters red,
Crowned with a scarlet diadem King Oak's sylastic head;
The vines are orange, the queen beech is robed
in russet brown;
And from the grateful pendant birch-bun leaves come showering down.

Close in the lorze the linnet flies the lark's flight is low,
No longer from the cherry bough the blackbird tunes his flute;
The wild-fowl hasten the slightingale to another climes have flown,
And on the leafless holly bough the redbreast sings alone.

Ah, sweet and solemn are the days that mark
the dying year,
Waking the soul to the heart-some slumbering memories dear—
Of times gone by, of friends long dead, of happy, fleeting hours,
When our host youth was one long dream of love and joy and flowers.

—Harper's Bazar.

AFTER MANY YEARS.

"WELL darling," I said, catching her two hands in mine, as we met under the trees in the loveliest corner of the square. I had no other words, and she did not need any.

"The old story," looking up at me, just a glance that showed her pretty eyes had been crying. "I'm—I'm love, Seth, say!"

Do you guess what those three words meant? Then listen Verdery, before the first stiff ticket out of the opal sky appeared us. would be my wife.

It was the old story, you see—a penniless lover, a true-hearted little woman clinging to her faith, and a parental curse impending over both our heads.

I dress and, and I went through my army, and we walked away very quietly, for she was tired, and the little band trembled against my side. She only told me that she was glad to come. She never spoke of her father and mother and never seemed to miss them or remember that she had lost in them. I never should have known that was a grief to her but for one day. She came to me in the twilight, with her face all sparkling and her eyes dim with weeping. Dr. H. B. Baker The law requires returns to be made for the year ending Sept. 29.

THE balance of cash in the State Treasury on Oct. 1, 1875, was $1,205,507.09; receipts during the week ending Oct. 8, were $21,040.97; payments during same week were $1,253,326; balance in Treasury Oct. 15, 1875, $1,214,910.30, increase for the week $9,362.61.

THE Detroit Tribune has gathered reports from twenty-eight cities in the State, relative to the working of the new Liquor law, and it seems to be generally enforced and to have the effect to lessen the comparative drinking under existence. The prohibition there is a difference of opinion.

AT Verona Mills, the other day, John Newman, a rich farmer sixty years old, married a girl of about twenty years, and established him furniture right there. Two daughters who interfered were also married, and the old man found himself alone, with Paris green and died. The son was expected to die at last accounts.

THE following postal changes have been made in Michigan during the week ending Oct. 9, 1875: Established—Martinez, Macomb County, Geo. Smith, Postmaster. Postmasters appointed—Lake Linden, Houghton County, Louis Deschamps; Manton, Wexford County, Harry Brandenburg; North Newberg, Shiawassee County, C. P. Devereaux; Rogers City, Presque Isle County, Frederic D. Larke; West Windsor, Eaton County, James M. French.

ON the 12th, in the Supreme Court, the case of Thomas Cone of Yosilanti vs. Dexter Norton was decided in a long and elaborate opinion rendered by Judge Cooley, sustaining the latter. The decision declares that the only legal idea of taxation is that it is the return for the general benefits of government; it is therefore not competent to make an unprotected traffic one of the standards by which to determine how much the party engaging it ought to pay the Government. If one loses the Government to special inconvenience and expense in keeping up a prohibited traffic, or maintaining a police force for its protection from discrimination in taxation against it, and, if the tax is imposed on the ruling which is prohibited, the Tax law, instead of being inconsistent with the law declaring illegality, is in entire harmony with its general purpose, and may on occasions be even more effectual. Certainly, whatever discriminations are made in taxation ought to be in the direction of making the heaviest burdens fall upon those things which are obnoxious to the public interests, wherever that is practicable."

I had not known her very long before I could talk to her of the story that she knew already, and tell her about the day when I looked back and saw the little figures in the window holding up my child for me to see.

Well, you have guessed already, I suppose, at the end of this beginning. I never loved Harriet Stanhope—never. But it came to me slowly at first, and very reluctantly, and then with a great shock, that this woman cared for me. And I began to think of the possibility of her taking—in men's eyes at least and to outward seeming—Elinor's empty place.

She was lonely, too, as I was, with no near relatives, no home, and a sorrowful outlook before her. I never could bear the sight of a solitary and unespied for woman, and this woman touched all my pity and sympathy. I gave her that and my friendship most freely and sincerely, and that was all. But I began to think that even without love life might be sweetened a little, and so I said to myself that I would marry her.

I did not resolve lightly. I had known her for two years before I had thought of it at all, and then it was long before the idea took a definite shape. I was travelling in the West, and one of the times I missed me at a large town in Ohio decided the last doubt that was in my mind. I went and then waited the hour for my train, and then walked the floor of my room and reached far into the future to plan out what it would be—what it must be for God only knew if I should ever see me with a half-angry little frown.

"Are you Shirley Lecompte's son? Where—where is your father?"

"My father is dead. That was his name." Looking straight into my face. Then she dropped my hands.

"I was your father's friend, my boy. I —I can see his looks in you; and your mother. Will you take me to your mother, Shirley?"

Well, I have forgiven him—the man who—the wretches out of life for me who is dead and buried, and Edna is alive. Twenty years ago a forged letter told her that she was a widow, and the old man and his wife had their daughter back again; twenty years she kept her life sacred to my memory, and loved me in the dust day—a long, long story; but this was the sum of it. I was dead and was alive again—was, but not was found.

And my life lost its aim and crown, even so late; my love blossomed new, and my heart warmed; freshed with the old dead fires—we were happy, Edna and I. Out of the baby's grave rose my strength, manly son to carry my name in honor and noble; it will have a nobler meaning when I am gone than ever it had in the past.—Rural New Yorker.

WESTERN corn is so large this year that the corn-shellers grumble and groan as they grapple with the overgrown ears.

For Young Readers.

HYMN FOR A LITTLE CHILD.

Gon, make my life a little light,
Within the world to glow;
A little flame that burneth bright
Wherever I may go.

God, make my life a little flower,
That giveth joy to all,
Content to bloom in native bower,
Although its place be small.

God, make my life a little song,
That comforteth the sad;
That helpeth others to be strong,
And makes the singer glad.

God, make my life a little hymn
Of tenderness and praise,
Of faith—that never waileth dim
In all its wondrous ways.

—Good Words.

THE KING AND THE GOOSEHERD.

MAXIMILIAN JOSEPH, the late King of Bavaria, was one summer day sitting in plain costume in the garden of its palace. It was so very quiet in the garden that the King fell asleep over the book which he had in the hand, and he awoke he thought he would take a walk. The road which took him farther and farther away from the garden took him at last to the green meadows which extend on both sides from the shores of the beautiful lake near which the palace stood.

Here the King remembered his book, which he had left lying on the bench in his park. As he was unwilling to return the same way, he looked about for some one who would fetch the book for him; but far and wide he did not see a single human being except a boy who was watching a flock of geese. The King went up to him and said:

"Listen, my boy. If you go fetch me a book which I have left lying on a bench in the park you shall have a florin for your trouble."

The boy's eyes sparkled when he held the money in his hand, for he did not get much more than one florin for looking after the geese for the whole year; but still he hesitated.

"Well," asked the King, "and why don't you go?"

Said he, "I will—but—I dare not. If the farmers heard that I had left the geese they would dismiss me!"

"I will watch them till you come back again."

"Yes!" replied the boy, measuring the stranger from top to toe. "You don't look to me like one who can take care of geese. Look at that fellow there with the black head, who belongs to the court gardener, he is an awful old bird. He would play you fine tricks whilst I was away."

"But why should not I be able to keep those geese in order as well as I succeed in keeping men in order?" said the King.

"You!" replied the lad, again eying the monarch with a grin. "They must be fine fellows, indeed. You are a school master! I tell you boys are much easier to manage than geese."

"Come, be quick. I will answer for my mischief that may happen."

This decided the boy. He enjoined the King to keep a watchful eye over the goose which he called the court gardener. Then the boy gave him the whip.

"Crack it once," ordered the boy.

The king tried but it would not crack at all.

"That's just what I thought!" exclaimed the boy. "The schoolmaster fancies he can take care of geese, and cannot even crack a whip!"

Then he took the whip out of the King's hand and showed him how to crack it. When he had succeeded, the boy enjoined him to use it at the right moment, and then he ran away.

It seemed as if the geese observed at once that their young but severe master no longer held the reins of government in the garden, which the boy had pointed out as the court gardener, raised his long neck, looked everywhere around him, uttered several "quack! quacks" and then all the geese raised their wings, screamed aloud and before the King could look round twelve of all points of the compass in the meadows around the lake.

The King cried out—it was of no use; he wanted to crack the whip but the whip gave out no sound; he tried to run, but ran to the left—all of no use whatever. Out of breath with laughing, he sat down on the trunk of a tree where the boy had been sitting and let the geese go.

"The boy was really right," he said to himself, "that it is easier to govern a couple of millions of men than to manage a herd of geese."

The boy meanwhile had found the book and came merrily back. But when he saw what had happened he let the book fall from his hand.

"Didn't you understood nothing about it? Just look now! I can't collect them together by myself. Now you have to help me!"

After the boy had instructed the King how he must lift up his arms, wave them about and shout aloud, he ran off to fetch the most distant of the straying flock.

The King did all that was in his power and, after great exertions, the whole flock was at last assembled again; then the boy began to scold the King for doing his duty so badly, concluding with the words:

"Never in my life again will I trust the whipcord of my hands. I wouldn't even entrust it to the King himself, if he tried to persuade me to leave my flock."

"You are right, my brave lad," said the King, handing into a loud laugh; "he understands no more about it than I do, for I am the King myself!"

The goose-herd could not believe that such a stupid man could be the King. An extra florin restored his good humor and, as the king went off with his book, he turned to crack his whip over his trouble-some charge.—Methodist.

Giving Up the Dolls.

MAY was getting so tall that it looked "perfectly silly" for her to be playing with dolls. So, at least, Jess, May's sister, said—and Jess was 6, been years old and ought to have known what was proper and what wasn't.

May was such a little mother and loved her dolls so much that I don't believe Jess alone could ever have made her give them up, but even mamma began to hint strongly about patchwork quilts and "usefulness," and when at last she came out with a brilliant offer of a set of gray squirrel furs for next winter, if May would give up the doll babies and "her woman," May couldn't stand out against so much and she went up-stairs that night with her mind made up.

She took all the dolls she could find hastily into bed with her, and I believe she cried a little as she hugged them up close to her in the best time.

The next morning was bright and sunny and May went around the house gathering up her children.

Her mother had suggested to her that she might keep one or two of the best ones and throw aside the others; but May didn't intend to show any partiality. She gathered up every baby, from Du Bess, with her sweet blue eyes, to the small, unclouded darky, with his curly white tuft of wool and vast, prevailing absurdities of dress. "Women are such unnatural beings," he argued, with their false hair, corsages, and bustles and wiest nots. I should so enjoy seeing a girl independent enough to cultivate a lovely simplicity of dress and hair au naturel, and leave off overskirts, bustles and fatbelows." "What if they haven't any hair to wear au naturel?" naively inquired my bright little friend, with a mischievous twinkle in her eye. "I would rather see some at all than a wig or house mouses of somebody else's hair," replied the critic, gravely. "I'll tell you what I'll do: If you'll dance the real German with me I will go dressed as you think so charming, in all the bewitchery of sweet simplicity, minus frizzes or false hair, but then you must know I haven't much substance on the top of my head to prophesy what the substance ought to grow," unwisely sang the young lady. The gentleman gladly assented to the proposition, stipulating that the dress should be somewhere within, and everything prettily made. It was the day of Grecian bendsbar and over-skirt and pouts, and hair dressing in curls and puffs and crimps. The evening appointed the young lady made her appearance in a white muslin, guiltless of frills or overskirts, or puffiness of any description. Her hair was parted smoothly on either side, and drawn simply back into a small, very small, knot at the back of her head, and I am free to confess, although the fashions in vogue were ridiculous in some respects, yet the "sweet simplicity" so claimed by the young lady was certainly absurd, and the gentleman who had proclaimed so enthusiastically about dress reform looked decidedly embarrassed at the idea of introducing so much "simplicity" into a fashionably-dressed assembly. The young lady was only too happy when his unbelievers friends complimented her on her skillful intention of showing herself in that guise, but merely did it to demonstrate to his mind that the graces were only better than the present through the charitable light shed on them by reproachful.

Horrible Tortures by the Turks.

TWO PRIESTS in a monastery not far from Berbir, which is a Turkish fortress opposite Ait Grnliske, in Asiatic, were convicted by the Turks of participating in the insurrection. A force was sent to the monastery, and one of the priests was captured. The other succeeded in escaping to the mountains. The priest who was taken had his hands and feet cut off while he was alive, and, after being allowed to suffer the horrors of fainting and drip out of her mind, and bigger ones come in all directions. Then he was thrown into a fiery furnace in sight of the second priest, but he was not found until a day or two after, when hunger drove him to stray into a neighboring village. There he was recognized, dismembered by some Bosnian Mussulmans, and at once arrested. A guard was sent for and the unfortunate priest was brought into Berbir half dead from wounds and with a huge iron collar around his neck. He was thrown into a filthy dungeon and was not even given food. He seemed likely to starve before his torments could put an end to him.

At this juncture the Austrian Consul at Berbir heard of the priest's horrible treatment. Now the Austrian Consul here is a man, and his blood boiled as he saw the ignorant and degraded Turks day by day insulting those who are in everything their betters. When the fate of the first priest and the danger of the second was related to him he went straightway to the head Turkish functionary in authority and "let him have it." "You miserable old cur, is it possible that you can treat human beings, and above all ministers of God, as you have treated this poor priest? Are you not aware that an intelligent Europe, which despises you, is looking on?" The Consul, whenever he said, used very strong language, and demanded that the collar be at once taken from the priest's neck, and that he be given decent food and some kind of protection against the howling mob that surrounded the jail. Perhaps there was a tinge of Schwonly blood in this Austrian Consul's veins, and that they were beyond his earnest pleading for the prompt delivery of a dangerous menace which even the dull Turk could discern. At any rate, the Consular suggestion was heeded, and the life of the priest up to date has been spared. Information has been received that he is still in prison.—Belgrade Cor. N. Y. Herald.

—A Pennsylvania Democrat is said to have remarked that Gen. Taylor said "A little more grape, Capt. Bragg."

—A Pennsylvania Democrat is said to have remarked that Gen. Taylor said "A little more grape, Capt. Bragg."

THE SENTINEL.
CHARLEVOIX, MICH.

TUESDAY NOV. 9, 1875

Mr. Chandler in the Cabinet.

The Administration and the country are to be congratulated that Zachariah Chandler, of the State has become a constructor and is the Cabinet as Secretary of the Interior. His long experience in politics, his energy as a worker and his keen perception of political affairs will make him a valuable acquisition to the Cabinet. He has been in Washington for three days of every week for the past two years, and has had ample opportunity to study the character of the men who have been appointed by the present administration. He has watched them closely, and has come to the conclusion that the Secretary of the Interior is in league with rings to defraud the government, and that hundreds of pensions for the enrichment of individuals are worked at. Nor is his leniency of the administration not which takes everything as true. He is a keen and discriminating observer. On the contrary, he is a man of keen comprehension, shrewd and sagacious. No department under his charge could be unacquainted with fraud without his knowing it.

From the time Grant's Washington speech

"The appointment will awake decided satisfaction in every quarter left with the whole credit general satisfaction. Nobody ever had any doubt of Chandler's honesty or his ability. He is honest and his country. As was remarked tonight, "If any man ever earned his appointment Chandler did for every line come more for the Republican party than he." Chandler's vigorous sense, his long experience with public men, his clear mind during a long life of official service, as well as his excellent judgment of events, make him an available man for the President and the republican party, now that a great a part of the administration is in the hands of who care more for private profit than party success. His appointment indicates that the President is disappointed in professional reformers and means to stock by the old and tried public servants. Chandler has never cried reform at the corners of the streets nor advertised himself as a professional reformer, but his one of his unbridled, as clear, or decent, than that of any other man in the cabinet."

From the Milwaukee Sentinel, Rep.

Outside a very few personal enemies of Chandler, no one here will be surprised in joining at his being called to administer the affairs of the Interior Department. The people will have perfect confidence that under Chandler there will be no dishonest contracts or fraudulent appointments. His regards a fraud with righteous indignation, and sometimes a worthy instrument for all those who seek to defraud in the Government by any subterfuge. He is a man of great energy of character, and especially endowed with shrewdness and Work, and "knows enough." He can neither be fooled, nor bribed, nor tricked with. His patriotism is unquestioned, and his pluck and courage equal him a useful man in any situation, private or official. He goes into the office with a certain feel of the people, and seems to be well fitted for Secretary.

INLAND NAVIGATION.

Communication of the Inland Lakes Charlevoix and Petoskey.

[illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible]

The Fashions.

At the last openings of the season modishes display the latest novelties designed in the Parisian workshops. The most conspicuous feature of the past week is the marked intention to restore the polonaise to favor. At the best houses these garments were as frequently presented as the cutaway and over-skirt, and needless to say that long-waisted paletots very slightly draped will be the most distinguished over-dresses of the winter for rich costumes of velvet, damask, silk or soie lenwode, camel's hair and Sicilienne. Some of these are like long redingottes, and are labeled princesse over-dresses. They are made with the straight princesse front falling open about the knee, or else buttoned its entire length and showing three rows of small buttons. The back is the long waisted Marguerite shape, with many long seams ending in a square basque, or else going into the skirt, with bows at the end of the seams. In some cases the backs of the polonaise forms a square train that may be looped or left flowing at will, while in others the back is merely a half long basque, like that of a demi-polonaise.

The most graceful design yet imported for the princesse dress is called the Hortense robe. It is made in elaborate shape, with skirt and waist in one, but its plain mass is relieved by a scarf sash draped be hind the long, flat basique. Into this sash are elegant models of real-known brocade on the small scale like design now in vogue is combined with plain brown gros grain. The long front is laid down in folds, and the edge of the skirt has type mats of silk knife-plaiting let in each seam near the back. These are set on with hemstitchings. The flouncing of folded silk, and the wide scarf sash of silk holds the skirt smooth and plain on the front and sides, drapes the figure sufficiently, and gives a rather bouffant effect behind. Such dresses are also shown in black velvet, trimmed with gros grain and fringe, and in black silk united with cardinal red silk.

The fringe continues in the objective point for trimming this season. Parisian dames have abandoned tournures and all bouffant effects, and the garniture is now massed in front or on the sides. Jabots, folds, bows, ruffles and pockets trim the front and sides alternately, and yet no fashion in trying the scant back remains and thus the fullness is massed behind.

Sleeves are also very much trimmed this season. Deep flounces, shirring and puffing upon them, but there is a fancy for rows of horizontal folds, for irregular plaits across the outer seam of the sleeves and for deep cuffs that trim the sleeve to the elbow.

Notwithstanding fringes and laces are so lavishly used, there is a fine style found in the new untrimmed garments that makes them very popular. These are over skirts and polonaises of the richest fabrics that are merely hemmed or faced, and thus the purchaser can afford to invest more money in the material of her suit.

Muffs are made to match the new costume. Dresses of brocaded velvet and silk have muffs of the velvet ornamented with small bouquets of flowers. Feather muffs, exceedingly light, small and warm, are also shown to match the feather boas of costumes.

Of all garments that have grown longer cloaks show the most decided increase in length. The long pelisses and basquines, nearly fitted to the figure, are revived for cloth cloaks, while long French sacques with loose backs are used for those of silk that are lined with fur. Dolmans are also longer and have ample sleeves from the elbows to the wrist.

New wedding-dresses are of soft, lustreless silks, trimmed with a gallson of white tulle wrought with pearls, and also with pleat crepe lisse that is scalloped and finished with narrow "purl edging" or braid. These dresses have square court trains, elaborate tablliers and cutaway basques. The flowers are white crushed roses and eglantine. Fichus and scarf sashes are on other wedding-dresses and on the tulle dresses of bridesmaids.

Evening dresses are composed of two or three materials, such as soft damask silk over taffie, with velvet flounces, or the damask gauze over silk, with lace or crepe lisse trimmings. The square trains already described, the cuirasses, scarfs, fichus and large pockets are repeated on the most elaborate evening dresses. Corset waists and low round necks, with deeply-pointed front and basque backs, are shown for low corsages; there are also three-quarter low corsages, cut with square necks. Berthas of folds, lace, flowers and fringe trim the necks of low waists. The bertha is usually made of the material of the tablier, such as damask, silk or Chambery gauze, while the waist and skirt are of silk. Trains are not extremely long. Aprons reach to the foot of the dress. The neck treatments are very beautiful, and are arranged in soft puffs, shirred wings, revers, wide box-plaits and large ornamental bows. Flowers still border the deep apron and trim the tablier, but in newer arrangements; is to mass them in thick clusters down the sides from belt to foot.—Harper's Bazar.

Made a Fool of Himself.

He was a stout-looking man, one eye swelled shut, one finger badly bitten, coat torn down the back, hair gone, and his good eye having a wild look. He was a farmer and he had come in with some produce, sold it for cash down and sold his cash for whisky.

"Found in an alley, ugly drunk," said he Coron.

"Well, I feel mean enough about it," replied the prisoner.

"Wanted to have a good time, eh?"

"Yes."

"And I guess you had one! You look pretty, too by, Mr Rambo! You had ought to go home to your wife and children."

"I made a fool of myself."

"And I'm glad to hear you own the corn. You were as ugly as a Malay when the police brought you in, but as you are all fanged up repentant and forty dollars out of pocket I'm going to let you go home."

"Much obliged."

"Is your wife an limsey-minded woman, Mr Rambo? That is, does she always believe everything you say?"

"Yes, sir, most always."

"Well, now, when you reach home you tell her that you were down to the ferry dock to see the Dutch steamers come back and forth over the foaming billows when four tugs and a propeller ran into your bows and almost skave you to pieces."

"Yes, sir, I will."

"And she'll believe it?"

"She will."

"Well, go out. Put beef on your eye, salve on your finger, run your face for a week and you can come to Detroit again see if you can't keep from making a fool of yourself."—Detroit Free Press.

Small Economies.

A WRITER in Cassell's Family Magazine offers the following:

"If any who read these lines are conscious that their pockets are made of such materials that whatever money is put into them will burn a hole until it gets out, I would advise them, whenever they take the air, to leave their money at home, or, better still, to keep an exact account of every half-penny they spend. It is astonishing how foolish small extravagances appear when they have to be paid down in black and white, after the temptation to indulge in them is over. And they must be put down in detail and not carelessly classed together under the general heading of "sundries." The item "sundries" is never admitted. His well kept household accounts. Anyone who has not tried it would believe what a check it is upon personal expenditure to keep a thoroughly account of money spent, and not only a check, but a help, for prices may be compared, and this lesson learned from experience.

Generally speaking, whenever large savings have been made, they have been effected in small sums. Very few persons of ordinary honesty deliberately set to work to make large purchases which they cannot afford, and yet numbers expend just as much in the long run in little things that they scarcely think worthy of notice. It is very difficult to realize fully the value of small sums. If the half pennies and pennies that lie loose in the pockets were properly appreciated there would be no such pecuniary embarrassment in the world as there is. "Many a mickle makes a muckle," this is true of nothing more than of half pennies and pennies.

These little savings, as a rule, must be made in personal expenditure more than in anything else. What is spent for the household is generally needed, but the small personal luxuries which cost so little are not. And when any saving is made in this way the money should be put aside as saved instead of being added with the spending fund, and additions made to it as frequently as possible; that will make you understand as soon as anything a little small economies mount up.

When money is put aside to be saved it should be put in some place where it cannot be directly got at. I cannot speak too highly of the Postoffice savings bank for this purpose. The very fact that a little trouble and formality has to be gone through before it can be obtained prevents it being spent many a time when it most certainly would be if it were close at hand.

I said just now that what was spent for the household was generally a necessary outlay, and yet there are two or three ways in which money can be saved here that I should like to mention.

The first is by buying in large quantities. Of course the danger is that when there is a stock of things to "run at," as the saying is, they will be more extravagantly used. All I can say on this point is that they must not be "run at." A proper quantity must be portioned out and the rest put away. Then it will be found that articles may be bought both cheaper and better in large quantities than in small ones.

Another way to save expense is to pay for everything as you get it. If you do this you will avoid overcharge and will buy far less. If the money had to be paid down at the moment many an unnecessary purchase would be avoided. People who have limited incomes are those who can least afford to live on credit, and unfortunately they do it more than any others.

I heard of a workingman the other day who was very desirous to save, and yet in looking over his expenditure he could not detect any extravagance in any part of it. He came to the conclusion that the only way in which he could possibly economize was to walk to his work instead of riding and to take his dinner with him from house instead of buying it in the city. He did this and put away the money thus saved, and in a few years he found he had in his possession a couple of pounds, which he invested in shares. He was besides much better in health for the regular exercise he had taken.

Speaking of dinners reminds me to say that it is no economy to live poorly. Nature requires a certain amount of nourishment, and will have it or be revenged, and the revenge will in all probability take the form of a long doctor's bill or diminished working power. This sort of saving is "penny wise and pound foolish." The things to save out of are shams, false appearances and self-indulgences, not necessaries. Where is the saving in working in a dim light to save candles or gas, and injuring the sight? In wearing boots that take in water, and bringing on rheumatic fevers? In living on poor food and lowering the system? Far better wear a shabby hat a week or two longer than mend, or dispense altogether with that piece of finery you were contemplating. The worst of it is, however, that people are generally much more willing to dispense with necessaries that make no show rather than with reckless extravagances that afford an opportunity for display which every one sees through.

Before I conclude I must say one word of warning in reference to small economies. We continually read in the newspapers of people who die in misery and poverty, who have perhaps received help from the parish, and after their death money is found which they have hidden in all sorts of odd nooks and corners. With these unfortunate saving has become a mania, and of all mania I think it is one of the most deplorable, for after all money in itself is worth absolutely nothing—it is only valuable for what it can procure. If it will only bring comforts and necessaries for those we love whilst we are able to enjoy them, it is a dependence for ourselves when we cannot do so, it is worth small economies, forethought, hard work, energy, care and self denial. But even gold is bought too dear when the desire for it is allowed to overpower every other feeling.

The Real China Land.

The London Times says. Mr. Thomas Fergusson, the writer of the following letter, is the principal merchant at Chefoo, and is also the Belgian consular agent for that port:

"Wednesday Shanting, China May 30 1873.—I arrived here on the 27th inst after a most interesting journey of 200 miles through the province of Shantung I had no idea of what the real China land is until now, or rather my idea of it was incomplete, and now I have seen this additional country my conviction is that it is a most wonderful place in many ways. From the time I left Chefoo until I came here the fields of wheat extend on both sides of the road as far as the eye reaches. Luxuriant crops they were, and they became great wealth in the land. For the first seventy miles the road is over a hilly country, not steep but undulating, and with the greatest height of 325 feet. This hilly land will be found to be very fertile when the eggs into a dish with a cover, as a tin pail, and then pouring upon them about 1 pint of boiling water to each dozen eggs, and cover and set them away from the stove for fifteen minutes. The heat of the water cooks the eggs slowly each walls, the greater part of them being out of repair. The population of this province is quite up to the estimate of 38,000,000, if one can judge of it from the inhabitants of the plain I came across. I passed the large city of Lutchatou, with high walls of stone, and another, city of Chang-ai, with very fine stone walls, and the place where I am now is a very large city of about 250,000 inhabitants, with magnificent stone walls about seventy feet high, with battlements, and most grand in appearance. I write in the midst of a crowd, about twelve deep distant, and I was much struck with the helplessness of the Chinese to work those mines properly. It was a surprising feeling to find myself not a missionary gentleman (living here) among a crowd of Chinese miners, about 500 men keeping a ring around me as we advanced, looking at us with astonishment and concern, but with unbounded feeling of good-will and confidence, and lay on a basking. tin, and grease it in the usual manner, the cakes will not touch each other. Bake about thirty minutes in a pretty hot oven, and allow us to work them and gain ore and bread. This is what they seemed to be saying to themselves all the while. It was a strange sight as I stood in the midst of the crowd with an umbrella over my head and the people staring at me and good naturedly walking up close to the end of pits. I have had visits from several people, to whom I have shown how to work those mines, and I have visited one of the most ancient and wealthy families of the city. Chin is the family name this visiting card is—Chin Ghai Seer. His house is a splendid—the first I have seen in China. The reception-room is furnished with ancient arm-chairs at least three feet wide in the seat, like thrones. The place of honor had a beautiful drawing of a bamboo grove in the wall. We never saw such a thing in China. Before it a large porcelain plate on a stand 700 years old. On one side is a bronze vase of the Chen' dynasty of 650 years before Christ. The old man introduced his grandson, a charming lad, and on our request for some old curios was 10 lbs he went to his room and brought a sacrificial bronze cup on three legs which belonged to a noble family 1,100 years before Christ, just the same as our ones printed in the books of the ancient Chinese classics. It was most curious, and it seemed to say: 'I know you a thing which was used by my ancestors in their worship nearly 3,000 years ago.' In fact this cup was contemporary with Solomon's Temple, and was made before Rome was built. He only showed us that, as if all the rest were too modern for our admiration. In his grand room, where he received us, was his library of books, in beautiful cedar cases, and his family history of silk, with gold letters on them, which are borne before their coffins at their interments."

As workmen were tearing down an old house in Philadelphia, the other day, they came across a regular Revolutionary bonanza in the shape of a large number of heavy leather hats and caps which were packed for or used in the war of the Revolution. The house was at one time occupied as headquarters by Gen. Washington, and the goods were concealed behind a partition to preserve them from the British troops who subsequently used the structure as barracks.

Chicagoans don't work well on the Southern plantations. When they go out to plow they want to ride the mule and let the plow run itself.—Detroit Free Press.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS.

Wines milk sours, scalding will render it sweet again. The whey separates from the curd, and the former is better than skimming in bread.

Blue Whitewash.—Dissolve one and a half pounds of blue vitriol in boiling water and add one pound of well-dissolved glue. Add this to whitewash, prepared with slaked lime in the usual manner, until the right shade is acquired. Put on two coats at right angles with each other.

To drive mosquitoes, an English journal gives the following recipe, which it says has proved very successful: Take some cakes and powder with pestle and mortar, then mix with some hard lump sugar and drop into the rat-holes. It will drive rats and mice out of the place; they die of the cline.

Thin Apple Jelly.—Gather them apples after the frost has made them red and stew them with water enough to cover them; strain, and to a cup of juice use a cup of dry white sugar—granulated is best; boil about fifteen minutes and try on the back of a silver spoon. This jelly is excellent.—Household.

Drop Cake.—Flour three pounds, sugar half a pound, butter one pound, raisins two pounds, dried prunes one pound, chopped fine, eight eggs, one teaspoonful of soda, one teaspoonful of cream of tartar, half ounce of pulverized cinnamon; form into loaves and let it rise while the oven is getting to the proper heat.

In cases of a sudden jar, knock or jam of the hand or fingers, immediately after the blow press the injured part with the hand and rub smartly one to the other hand and forefinger, and gradually let up on it. It will nearly always remove the pain, and generally any swelling that might occur under the circumstances.—Scientific American.

There is an objection to the common way of boiling eggs which people do not understand. It is this: The white under three minutes' rapid cooking becomes tough and indigestible while the yolk is left soft. When properly cooked eggs are done evenly through like any other portion of the journey ended at Wangyes, and after that the road traverses a vast plain, over which numerous villages are spread, about one hour apart. All the villages are inclosed by mud walls and at a distance look solid, but when soon close they are miserable dwelled by such walls, the greater part of them being out of repair. The population of this province is quite up to the estimate of 38,000,000, if one can judge of it from the inhabitants of the plain I came across. I passed the large city of Lutchatou, with high walls of stone, and another, city of Chang-ai, with very fine stone walls, and the place where I am now is a very large city of about 250,000 inhabitants, with magnificent stone walls about seventy feet high, with battlements, and most grand in appearance. I write in the midst of a crowd, about twelve deep distant, and I was much struck with the helplessness of the Chinese to work those mines properly. It was a surprising feeling to find myself not a missionary gentleman (living here) among a crowd of Chinese miners, about 500 men keeping a ring around me as we advanced, looking at us with astonishment and concern, but with unbounded feeling of good-will and confidence, and lay on a basking. tin, and grease it in the usual manner, the cakes will not touch each other. Bake about thirty minutes in a pretty hot oven, and allow us to work them and gain ore and bread. This is what they seemed to be saying to themselves all the while. It was a strange sight as I stood in the midst of the crowd with an umbrella over my head and the people staring at me and good naturedly walking up close to the end of pits. I have had visits from several people, to whom I have shown how to work those mines, and I have visited one of the most ancient and wealthy families of the city. Chin is the family name this visiting card is—Chin Ghai Seer. His house is a splendid—the first I have seen in China. The reception-room is furnished with ancient arm-chairs at least three feet wide in the seat, like thrones. The place of honor had a beautiful drawing of a bamboo grove in the wall. We never saw such a thing in China. Before it a large porcelain plate on a stand 700 years old. On one side is a bronze vase of the Chen' dynasty of 650 years before Christ. The old man introduced his grandson, a charming lad, and on our request for some old curios was 10 lbs he went to his room and brought a sacrificial bronze cup on three legs which belonged to a noble family 1,100 years before Christ, just the same as our ones printed in the books of the ancient Chinese classics. It was most curious, and it seemed to say: 'I know you a thing which was used by my ancestors in their worship nearly 3,000 years ago.' In fact this cup was contemporary with Solomon's Temple, and was made before Rome was built. He only showed us that, as if all the rest were too modern for our admiration. In his grand room, where he received us, was his library of books, in beautiful cedar cases, and his family history of silk, with gold letters on them, which are borne before their coffins at their interments."

Good Care for Daily Cows.

Very few dairymen have any idea of how greatly the yield of cows may be increased by better feed and care. We think it a great folly for men, who are making only 100 to 125 pounds of butter per cow, to try to increase their product by the introduction of Ayrshire or Jersey blood. There is no common herd selected with the ordinary skill that every dairyman should possess that will not give 150 pounds of butter and upward to a cow, if they are properly taken care of. The improved breeds and their grades are no better, if as good, than common stock, under neglect and poor feeding. A correspondent in an exchange says: "I have made 1,000 pounds of good butter in a season from four cows, and not one of them was registered or had a fashionable pedigree, or was bought for a price to exceed fifty dollars," and adds: "In my own experience, when I have bought cows of stingy feeders, they have nearly doubled their present, and that, too, without the aid of warm or steamed food." Such has been the experience of not a few. A man once bragged that he had sold another poor cow in his herd. She was a small and timid heifer, and was mastered by nearly every other in an ill-kept herd that never aged little if any over 100 pounds to a cow. That heifer now makes over 300 pounds a year. A test of her milk, a few days ago, gave twenty-five and a half ounces of butter from a day's product. How could such a man tell whether he cheats another when he sells him a cow or not? His "strong-belt" is in cheating himself.—Vermont Farmer.

The Fool and Mouth Disease.

The contagious and destructive disease that has destroyed so many herds in England and on the Continent has again scorched these shores, and several cases of what appears to be the fool and mouth disease have appeared in Indiana, Kentucky and Missouri. If these cases are not more beneficial—then nipped in the bud in taking such preventive measures as are possible to prevent it spreading. Unfortunately but little can be done, but unquestionably no precaution should be neglected. Even as England, where the small territory and uniform laws permit almost perfect Governmental supervision, it has been found impossible to establish sufficiently rigid quarantine, and in our own large area, under the many States codes, we may not hope to do as well. But we can do something and profit by the experience of our English cousins. The disease differs from those familiar to American stock raisers, poisonous secretions being continually given off from the diseased parts of the animal, and in fact of animals to other places. Even birds have been known to carry the contagion on one hoof to another. Dr. Henry Reese, the distinguished veterinarian of England, gives the following advice in regard to it:

"The secretion of the mouth and feet of an animal affected with the disease is so highly infectious that if a small quantity of it be rubbed on the nostrils of a sound animal the disease is communicated in a few hours. So if the lastant symptoms of the disease are observed, the affected animal is isolated in some secure place and kept well littered down with straw, and the feet and nostrils are carefully cleaned night and morning with a solution of carbolic acid—one part of acid to forty parts of water—it will effectually destroy all powers of infection and prevent the spread of the disease.

A soaking mixture for the animals attacked is composed of half pound salts, quarter ounce nitre, quarter ounce ginger and three ounces gin in three pints of water. Keep a ring around the animal to roll it with a rolling-pin about three-fourths of an inch thick, cut with a round cookie-cutter, and lay on a basking tin, and grease it and dust with flour, so Bake about thirty minutes in a pretty hot oven, and allow us to work them and gain ore and bread. This is what they seemed to be saying to themselves all the while. It was a strange sight as I stood in the midst of the crowd with an umbrella over my head and the people staring at me and good naturedly walking up close to the end of pits. I have had visits from several people, to whom I have shown how to work those mines, and I have visited one of the most ancient and wealthy families of the city. Chin is the family name this visiting card is—Chin Ghai Seer. His house is a splendid—the first I have seen in China. The reception-room is furnished with ancient arm-chairs at least three feet wide in the seat, like thrones. The place of honor had a beautiful drawing of a bamboo grove in the wall. We never saw such a thing in China. Before it a large porcelain plate on a stand 700 years old. On one side is a bronze vase of the Chen' dynasty of 650 years before Christ. The old man introduced his grandson, a charming lad, and on our request for some old curios was 10 lbs he went to his room and brought a sacrificial bronze cup on three legs which belonged to a noble family 1,100 years before Christ, just the same as our ones printed in the books of the ancient Chinese classics. It was most curious, and it seemed to say: 'I know you a thing which was used by my ancestors in their worship nearly 3,000 years ago.' In fact this cup was contemporary with Solomon's Temple, and was made before Rome was built. He only showed us that, as if all the rest were too modern for our admiration. In his grand room, where he received us, was his library of books, in beautiful cedar cases, and his family history of silk, with gold letters on them, which are borne before their coffins at their interments."

Bush the Corn Early.

In many portions of the West, where large quantities of corn are produced and husked from the stalks as they stand in the field, farmers are too much inclined to put off the work. This is a dangerous experiment. The experience of the past few months shows that in Minnesota, as elsewhere, violent wind and rain storms must be expected and guarded against. The days grow short, the weather cold, and the work of husking becomes a slow and tedious process. The stalks, also, are very apt to become broken down by heavy winds, and deep snows cover and bury much of the corn. Besides, penetrating rains moisten the grain, rendering it liable to mold. It is obvious, therefore, that delays are dangerous in this important work.

That the care of corn when harvested is an important matter many farmers have to learn by dear experience. Carelessness is taken not to make the pens too large. The policy of leaving the ears unroofed is suicidal. If farmers would stop to think how much corn depreciates by exposure both in weight and quality, they would certainly afford to spend time and clear-solve in the boiling water one cup of sugar and one-half cup of salt; add a pinch of ginger; when the soup is done, add the grated potatoes, stir the mixture till it thickens, remove from the stove and when cool add the yolks of good fresh eggs; if this cannot be obtained, a small yeast cake dissolved in a cup of water with flour stirred in to make a thin batter and allowed to rise till very light may be used for the first brewing of potato yeast. It should be covered very tight and set to rise in a warm place. After fermentation ceases it should be kept in a cool place in a covered jar of stone, glass, or earthenware.

Many people boil and mash the potatoes instead of grating them, but the yeast more sour, and sour yeast will not make good bread; even with the addition of soda to correct the acidity. The hops can be omitted if desired, but they, as well as the salt and ginger, help to preserve the yeast, and a small quantity is

Potato Yeast Bread.

A lady correspondent of the Maine Farmer says that, aside from the advantage of healthfulness, bread will rise from potato yeast will soon win converts to it self because of its superior lightness and delicacy of flavor. No other sweets so well. It can be served in the form of biscuit or biscuit, cold slices or toast, and in every way it is delicious, but probably not much more healthful—when newly baked than other hot bread. As an occasional variety, rolls or biscuit, nicely prepared with soda or salt risings, produce the fermentation be arrested before it become putrefaction, are is no way objectionable, but rather improves the flavor of the next meal from yeast bread.

An excellent recipe for yeast is the following: Boil for about fifteen minutes in a quart of water a handful of cornmeal hops or a square inch of pressed hops tied in a piece of muslin; peel and grate five large or three very large potatoes; dissolve in the water one cup of sugar and one-half cup of salt; add a pinch of ginger; when the soup is done, add the grated potatoes, stir the mixture till it thickens, remove from the stove and when cool add the yolks of good fresh eggs; if this cannot be obtained, a small yeast cake dissolved in a cup of water with flour stirred in to make a thin batter and allowed to rise till very light may be used for the first brewing of potato yeast. It should be covered very tight and set to rise in a warm place. After fermentation ceases it should be kept in a cool place in a covered jar of stone, glass, or earthenware.

Many people boil and mash the potatoes instead of grating them, but the yeast more sour, and sour yeast will not make good bread; even with the addition of soda to correct the acidity. The hops can be omitted if desired, but they, as well as the salt and ginger, help to preserve the yeast, and a small quantity is

The Diseases of Autumn Leaves.

Very many persons—especially the ladies—are interested in "Foliage rich with autumnal tints," and at this time of the year are making inquiry as to how the beautifully-variegated hues shall be preserved in the herbarium. The inquiries both rare and patience. These attributes, together with a few pieces of blotting-paper, some suitable means of pressing a few tools of linen saturated with spermaceti and a small quantity of patience, are all that are necessary. Of these the last is absolutely necessary—the leaves with due consideration of the object to be obtained, namely: organic stability, and the latter is not to be acquired in shades or graduating colors, that in their display they may prove themselves to be "a thing of pleasure" but "a joy forever." Rather them immediately after a severe frost, as their tints at this period are more perfect. Gathering them having but just begun, and it is the arrest of this that really preserves them. The leaves of most plant are as it what the lungs are to a human—organs of respiration—and in connection, that is, as to their functional purposes, they differ but slightly in their structure. Their variegation of color depends upon the rapidity of individual chemical or vesicle destruction. Having gathered the leaves, place them between folds of blotting paper separately, and in single layers; place upon these sufficient weight to keep them constantly under pressure to thus remain for a week or ten days; then remove the weight but do not disturb the leaves. In a few days more again replace, and at the same time increase, the weight. Continue such pressure for a week or ten days longer. The moisture of the leaves having by this time been removed they may be subjected to the ironing process, which should be conducted as follows: Into a common tin pie-plate place two ounces of spermaceti and one tablespoonful of glycerine, thoroughly incorporate them over a gentle heat, four together an old piece of linen make it of sufficient thickness to absorb the greater part of the grease when pressed upon the plate; heat the flat-iron moderately hot, and then run it lightly over the linen saturated with the mixture; next lay upon one leaf; treat each leaf separately and in this manner. This gives to them the appearance of having been varnished and also "loses" the peculiar odor that is so disagreeable to many; especially unadulterated as herein stated they will neither cockle nor fade.

Possibly these simple hints may develop a taste in the selection of leaves do not need any suggestion as to their arranging, but, for the benefit of those who have not this requirement or may not have had the experience, it might be interesting to state that leaves show much of the beauty of their color when arranged in a vase. All of this is common practice in Europe. At the Great Exposition at Vienna, in competition with exhibits of the best makers in the world, they obtained the highest medals. To enumerate the competitions at which they have received similar honors would be to give a list of the names of which they have exhibited; and in mentioning the foregoing as mementos of the successful formation—graduating of a single leaves from center to outside wreath, and from this to shaded leaf coloring, we submit of a collection of ferns only. People may devise many handsome wall ornaments or decorations, such as wreaths, borders, arrangements. If they will but study the effects of color and, in arranging, study to display these effects.—Chicago Times.

An Englishman was boasting to an Yankee that they had a book in the British Museum which was once owned by Cicero. "Oh, that ain't nothin'," retorted the Yankee; "in the museum in Boston they've got the leaf pencil that Noah used to check off the animals that went into the ark."

A Rueblunk's Revenge.

In August last great alarm was created in the village of Indsia, near Florence, in the disappearance of two children—one boy nine years old on the morning of the 21st and another boy of eight the following evening. It was supposed they might have fallen into the stream, where they went to fish and bathe, but no traces of them or their clothes could be found. All kinds of exaggerated ideas got afloat in the village, more particularly as these were not the first children who had suddenly disappeared. The highest hopes were entertained that there were children-killers in the adjoining wood. On the 29th, while one of the women of the village was arranging her hair at the back window of her room, she heard frightful shrieks, and recognized them as coming from Amerigo Turchi, a boy nine years old and that they proceeded from the workshop of one Carlo Grandi, a cart carpenter. She ran down into the street and alarmed the neighbors, who made for the workshop, which they found closed, the boy crying loudly for help from within. After a short delay, Signor Grandi to admit them but they burst open the door and found him struggling to force the boy into a hole. He had cutting off his head, and his mouth bleed was flowing, caused, as the boy afterwards stated, by a gag which Grandi had tried to force into his mouth to gag him.

After the man was secured it was observed that some of the bricks of the flooring were loose, and on those being removed the first thing seen was a child's hand. The place was quickly dug up, and the mutilated bodies of the two boys who had disappeared ten days before were discovered; and on the hole into which Grandi was trying to force Amerigo Turchi being examined, a number of other children's bones were found in the bottom. No sooner was the thing known than the village became a scene of the wildest excitement, and the authorities had to send off in hot haste for reinforcements from the military and police there were in the vicinity, and a sufficient force arrived just in time to save the wretch from being torn to pieces by the populace.

It seems that the murderer, Grandi, was a deformed imbecile, with enormous head, high rounded shoulders, very large hand, upon which there was not a single or hair, and repulsive features. As is also often the case in Italy, such unfortunate creatures become the subject of open public ridicule. The boys of Indsia had been in the habit of teasing and tormenting Grandi and playing all kinds of practical jokes on him, and it was in revenge for this that he had, on the morning of the 21st, entered now one and then another of the ringleaders into his workshop, and there murdered them. He then threw the bodies down into the hole, Amerigo Turchi said that Grandi had invited him into his workshop under the promise of showing him some of the other boys, that he accompanied this behind Grandi, and immediately organista-workshop I once knew actually kept up her courage to brew yeast seven times before she succeeded in making it rise. It because she set it in too warm a place. She has never failed of having good yeast since, but is still rejoiced because of her own perseverance, and grateful to her neighbors for the loan of the requisite seven cupfuls for brewing!

Good flour and good yeast at hand, the bread may be made with warm water or half new milk, using one-third of a cupful yeast to one pint of "sponge" for each loaf. Use flour enough to knead smooth at night, place in a pan, cover, and set where its temperature will be kept as nearly equal as possible until morning. In cold weather the water should be a little more than milk-warm, for not hot enough to scald the yeast. If perfectly light and spongy the dough should be kneaded thoroughly, dropped with a knife to increase its lightness of grain, molded into loaves and set to rise again in pans. When light rate it should not be allowed to stand till bubbles rise to the surface, as then the bread will contain large air-holes, with a chance of a slight sour taste. Bake in a moderate oven. Grandi had tried to force into his mouth to gag him.

After the man was secured it was observed that some of the bricks of the flooring were loose, and on those being removed the first thing seen was a child's hand. The place was quickly dug up, and the mutilated bodies of the two boys who had disappeared ten days before were discovered; and on the hole into which Grandi was trying to force Amerigo Turchi being examined, a number of other children's bones were found in the bottom. No sooner was the thing known than the village became a scene of the wildest excitement, and the authorities had to send off in hot haste for reinforcements from the military and police there were in the vicinity, and a sufficient force arrived just in time to save the wretch from being torn to pieces by the populace.

It seems that the murderer, Grandi, was a deformed imbecile, with enormous head, high rounded shoulders, very large hand, upon which there was not a single or hair, and repulsive features. As is also often the case in Italy, such unfortunate creatures become the subject of open public ridicule. The boys of Indsia had been in the habit of teasing and tormenting Grandi and playing all kinds of practical jokes on him, and it was in revenge for this that he had, on the morning of the 21st, entered now one and then another of the ringleaders into his workshop, and there murdered them. He then threw the bodies down into the hole, Amerigo Turchi said that Grandi had invited him into his workshop under the promise of showing him some of the other boys, that he accompanied this behind Grandi, and immediately organista-workshop I once knew actually kept up her courage to brew yeast seven times before she succeeded in making it rise. It because she set it in too warm a place. She has never failed of having good yeast since, but is still rejoiced because of her own perseverance, and grateful to her neighbors for the loan of the requisite seven cupfuls for brewing!

Good flour and good yeast at hand, the bread may be made with warm water or half new milk, using one-third of a cupful yeast to one pint of "sponge" for each loaf. Use flour enough to knead smooth at night, place in a pan, cover, and set where its temperature will be kept as nearly equal as possible until morning. In cold weather the water should be a little more than milk-warm, for not hot enough to scald the yeast. If perfectly light and spongy the dough should be kneaded thoroughly, dropped with a knife to increase its lightness of grain, molded into loaves and set to rise again in pans. When light rate it should not be allowed to stand till bubbles rise to the surface, as then the bread will contain large air-holes, with a chance of a slight sour taste. Bake in a moderate oven.

Items of Interest.

The latest American noun is "umpired," for married.

Putting stops to a people's tongues is difficult punctuation.

Every writer of a newspaper article is a paragraphist.

The walnut and butternut crop of New England is very abundant this season.

The town of Guilford, Vt., has a barley eighty-two inches around the head.

Miss Parthenope says she was much elevated last Sunday on hearing a fine discourse on the parody of the prodigious son.

The carrying trade is not so brisk in Philadelphia this year as it was last, by 1,000. Money is too scarce for rings and gaiters.

The last Arctic expedition was eminently successful. They got a sight of the coveted land and nobody was frozen to death.

Chemists may never have been cured by the laying on of hands, but naughty boys have been greatly benefited by the operation.

A certificate of marriage was issued in Boston a few days ago to a woman only eighteen years old who had been married three times.

Cincinnati proposes to utilize its vagrants during the coming winter by making them quarry stone under the direction of the workhouse authorities.

The farmers about Burlington, Vt., have commenced to notice that the carrots are thicker than usual this year, and everybody is prophesying a hard winter.

A Nevada gypsy man is Bangor, Me., swapped horses nine times the other day, and when night set in he found he had the same horse he first swapped in the morning, and that he had $45 in money and a watch in addition.

The latest social hobby is "Autumnal Leaf Parties," which is the name chosen by those who gregariously go forth into the woods and country lanes for the purpose of gathering the brilliant-hued leaves that are showered about by the fall breeze.

The Proslonan class of Hamilton College the Utica Observer says) has left that institution because three of its members were suspended for hoisting a carriage to the top of the observatory tower in which Prof Peters had discovered so many asteroids.

From the general tone of the press it is evident that it is considered all right for American Girl to have a monument before George Washington. The fact that George Washington never trotted a mile in 2:11 hours heavily upon him.—St. Louis Republican.

Fine pickling or table use Penzoldt's White Wine Vinegar is unrivaled. Try it.

Cramps and pains in the stomach are the result of imperfect digestion, and may be immediately relieved by a dose of Johnson's Anodyne Liniment. A teaspoonful within a moderate water is a dose.

Heave cuts are good for horses; none will deny that, but colts can't make a heaves cure. Try Sheridan's Condition Powders and all will be right.

Wilbor's Fever and Ague Tonic—This medicine is used by the Western people as a household remedy. Their confidence in it is unbounded. The highest recommendations have been given by contractors and by the Presidents of some of the leading railroads in the South and West. When in any congregation in large numbers in the neighborhood of swamps and rivers Wilbor's Tonic will be found a valuable preventive—also in consumption, that is, as to their functional purposes, they differ but slightly in their structure. Their variegation of color depends upon the rapidity of individual chemical or vesicle destruction. Having gathered the leaves, place them between folds of blotting paper separately, and in single layers; place upon these sufficient weight to keep them constantly under pressure to thus remain for a week or ten days; then remove the weight but do not disturb the leaves. In a few days more again replace, and at the same time increase, the weight. Continue such pressure for a week or ten days longer. The moisture of the leaves having by this time been removed they may be subjected to the ironing process, which should be conducted as follows: Into a common tin pie-plate place two ounces of spermaceti and one tablespoonful of glycerine, thoroughly incorporate them over a gentle heat, four together an old piece of linen make it of sufficient thickness to absorb the greater part of the grease when pressed upon the plate; heat the flat-iron moderately hot, and then run it lightly over the linen saturated with the mixture; next lay upon one leaf; treat each leaf separately and in this manner. This gives to them the appearance of having been varnished and also "loses" the peculiar odor that is so disagreeable to many; especially unadulterated as herein stated they will neither cockle nor fade.

Possibly these simple hints may develop a taste in the selection of leaves do not need any suggestion as to their arranging, but, for the benefit of those who have not this requirement or may not have had the experience, it might be interesting to state that leaves show much of the beauty of their color when arranged in a vase. All of this is common practice in Europe. At the Great Exposition at Vienna, in competition with exhibits of the best makers in the world, they obtained the highest medals. To enumerate the competitions at which they have received similar honors would be to give a list of the names of which they have exhibited; and in mentioning the foregoing as mementos of the successful formation—graduating of a single leaves from center to outside wreath, and from this to shaded leaf coloring, we submit of a collection of ferns only. People may devise many handsome wall ornaments or decorations, such as wreaths, borders, arrangements. If they will but study the effects of color and, in arranging, study to display these effects.—Chicago Times.

An Englishman was boasting to an Yankee that they had a book in the British Museum which was once owned by Cicero. "Oh, that ain't nothin'," retorted the Yankee; "in the museum in Boston they've got the leaf pencil that Noah used to check off the animals that went into the ark."

Cabinet or Parlor Organs.

These have become the most popular of large musical instruments. There are many reasons for this, and the best judges of them in the United States whisper more than forty thousand organs per annum. Most of these are very poor instruments. This is naturally so, because there are few articles in the manufacture of which so much poor stuff can be made by the use of inferior, improper, and unsuitable material and inferior workmanship, and yet which, when finished, show so little difference in the quality of the most important parts of an organ, made as well as they can be, cost two or three times so much as if made by those possessing little skill, when the organ is done, it is not easy from casual hearings, to tell the difference between the best and a very poor one. Especially when shown by one who knows how to cover up defects, to one who has the special skill in the modulations, it is not difficult to make a poor organ appear a good one.

The organization to makers, then, to produce, at a fraction of the cost, an organ which will sell almost as well as a good one is almost irresistible. Hence the fact that so many poor organs are sold and so many poor ones, and that the country is flooded with peddlers and dealers selling these poor instruments, and the purchasers, which should be conducted as follows: Into a common tin pie-plate place two ounces of spermaceti and one tablespoonful of glycerine, thoroughly incorporate them over a gentle heat, four together an old piece of linen make it of sufficient thickness to absorb the greater part of the grease when pressed upon the plate; heat the flat-iron moderately hot, and then run it lightly over the linen saturated with the mixture; next lay upon one leaf; treat each leaf separately and in this manner. This gives to them the appearance of having been varnished and also "loses" the peculiar odor that is so disagreeable to many; especially unadulterated as herein stated they will neither cockle nor fade.

Possibly these simple hints may develop a taste in the selection of leaves do not need any suggestion as

State News.

The Grand Ledge chair company is doing about two shifts a day.

There is an old lady in Frankfort who owned the Bible in 22 tongues.

The sixth Michigan Cavalry held a basket at Grand Rapids on the 26th.

A stock company is being organized to run, with a view of establishing, a line of steamboats.

Detroit liquor dealers pay the enormous sum of $1,000 for the privilege of selling liquor during the present year.

A fatal family quarrel occurred in Pontiac on the 26th. Two men were killed and a woman badly injured.

Ira M. Kinney, of Bay City, has received a conviction for forging and uttering a railroad pass and was sentenced to one year in the state prison.

Monroe County, at August 1874, was assessed at a valuation of $8,000,000. At present it is assessed at $6,000,000.

Owen Kilbourne, of Ingham county, has been arrested, charged with the murder of his wife.

It is said that legislation in the Michigan legislature will be very quiet this winter, as no one will be present who can help it.

James Anthony, a Democrat of the town of Ypsilanti, has been elected supervisor of that township for the ensuing year.

It is said that a Democrat and a Republican were both elected justices of the peace in the same township in Ionia county.

At the Fulton county fair the premium ship was awarded to the person coming the greatest distance to the fair. Seventeen exhibitors were present.

A Detroit paper says that the Detroit & Milwaukee railroad company has decided to run its Sunday trains as usual.

Mr. Hamilton Ward, of Detroit, has presented to the Michigan Pioneer Society a valuable collection of Indian relics.

The Detroit Post says that the Michigan Central railroad company has decided to run its Sunday trains as usual.

Mr. Hamilton Ward, of Detroit, has presented to the Michigan Pioneer Society a valuable collection of Indian relics.

NEW MILLINERY STORE.

Dress - Making ESTABLISHMENT.

Having fitted rooms in Cutler's Building, Antrim, Mrs. Ada Dunsmore will be happy to receive calls from the ladies of Charlevoix and vicinity.

Charges Reasonable.

Charlevoix, June 15, 1875. 1y

Hemlock Bark!

Contract for Any Amount

Read This.

BYRON SEE'S

DR. RANSOM'S HIVE AND HOLY SYRUP HONEY SYRUP

Dr. Coe's Hive (Croup) Syrup for Asthma, Bronchitis, Coughs and Colds.

Dr. Ransom's Hive Syrup and Tolu, in addition to the ingredients for Coe's Hive Syrup, contains Tolu, a component of many of the most valuable cough remedies for Croup, Whooping Cough, Asthma, Bronchitis, Coughs and Colds.

This Syrup is Carefully Prepared with Refined Sugar, and is very pleasant and agreeable to the taste.

Every family should keep it as a safeguard against Croup, Colds, &c., during the winter.

Dr. Ransom & Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

DR. J. R. MILLER'S CELEBRATED MAGNETIC BALM.

It cures on it by MAGNETIC INFLUENCE, and never fails. Magnetic Balm is a positive remedy for the following complaints: Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Cuts and all Bowel Complaints.

Its timely use will save many lives. Information worth hundreds of dollars to every family. Agents wanted. Price only 25 cents. Sold by druggists. Sent by mail, Price 25 cents per box. Address, Dr. J. R. Miller, Perrysburg, N. Y.

LAWSON'S CURATIVE QUICK CERTAIN RELIEF SCIATICA NEURALGIA RHEUMATISM NERVOUS COMPLAINTS

LAWSON'S CURATIVE

Is now recommended to the public as a Positively Cure for NEURALGIA, SCIATICA, AND RHEUMATISM.

Common forms of rheumatism have no effect on the use of more than one bottle.

ONE BOTTLE usually has CURED INVETERATE, CHRONIC CASES.

One dose will relieve the most excruciating attack of NEURALGIA.

ONE BOTTLE is a sure Cure for SCIATICA, HEADACHE, LIVER, BACK, DYSPEPSIA, or SOUR STOMACH.

Price, One Dollar.

Sent to any address on receipt of price. Send for circulars. Sold by DRUGGISTS generally. Sent by MAIL to any part of the world.

LAWSON CHEMICAL CO., CLEVELAND, OHIO.

Sold in CHARLEVOIX by all DRUGGISTS, and by them in every city and county in the States. Territories, Canada, Mexico and Europe.

H. L. MILLER, CHARLEVOIX MICH

Transacts a Real Estate business. Buys and sells Lots, Lands and Farms. Pays taxes, and attends to all business connected with Real Estate.

Charlevoix, Jan. 1, 1875. 1y

MORTGAGE SALE.

Default having been made in the conditions of a certain Mortgage, executed by Ray Peck and Rachel B. Peckham, of Beaver Island, Charlevoix county, Michigan, to Franklin Moore, Joseph Loree, and George H. Bagley, copartners in the firm of Moore, Loree & Co., of Detroit, Wayne county, Michigan, dated September 23d, 1871, and recorded on the 30th day of December, 1871, at one o'clock p. m., in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the county of Manistee, and state of Michigan, in liber 12 of Mortgages, on pages 36 and 37, which said Mortgage was duly assigned by said Moore, Loree & Co., of Detroit, Wayne county, Michigan, to Franklin Moore, Joseph Loree, and George H. Bagley, copartners in the firm of Moore, Loree & Co., of Detroit, Wayne county, Michigan, by an assignment in writing, dated September 23d, 1871, and recorded on the 30th day of December, 1871, at one o'clock p. m., in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the county of Manistee, and state of Michigan, in liber 12 of Mortgages, on pages 36 and 37, which said Mortgage was duly assigned by said

THE SENTINEL.

WILLARD A. SMITH, Editor and Proprietor.

CHARLEVOIX, - - MICHIGAN.

THE NEWS.

Hymans prevailed in Berlin on the 24th that Bismarck had tendered his resignation of the Chancellorship in consequence of ill-health.

According to Madrid dispatches of the 24th the government had refused permission to the Republicans to hold electoral meetings. Senor Martel, formerly Minister of the Colonies, has been arrested and would be deported.

The Director of the Mint estimates the gold and silver production of the country for next year at $100,000,000.

The Commissioner of Pensions has completed his annual report. The invalid pensioners roll is 345,178, costing yearly $10,961,248. The roll of army widows is 102,885, at an annual cost of $12,885,573. The aggregate of the roll of 1877 numbers 15,875 and the annual payments are $1,521,000. The widows of the war of 1812 number 2,103, at a total annual rate of $405,648.

In a late letter to the New York Herald Dr. Hayes, the Arctic explorer, expressed his belief in the existence of an open Polar sea, and his belief that in the vicinity of the pole there is an open navigable sea in the summer; that it may be reached by ship or boat by way of Smith's Sound, and that the north pole is within the reach of any nation that will spend money enough to get to it.

Messrs. Moody and Sankey began their revival labors in the Brooklyn (N. Y.) rink at 8:30 o'clock on the morning of Sunday, the 24th. An afternoon service was also held, at which at least 5,000 people were unable to gain admittance. An announcement was made that services would be held every evening during the week except Saturday.

The registration in New York city for the coming election aggregates 114,344, against 106,936 last year.

The trial of Col. John A. Joyce for conspiracy to defraud the revenue, in Jefferson City, Mo., was concluded in the United States District Court on the 26th by a verdict of guilty on all four counts of the indictment.

Lowdon dispatches of the 25th say disastrous floods had occurred at Dalmahoy, Scotland. The river Teviot had overflown its banks, washing away the railroad and causing the drowning of several persons. Thirteen persons had perished by the late inundations at Nottingham and six at Burton on Trent. Between the 24th and 25th fifty-five persons had perished on the Scottish coast by shipwreck.

The annual report of U. S. Treasurer New contains the following statement of the receipts and expenditures for the fiscal year 1875:

RECEIPTS.
Customs	$157,167,702 35
Internal revenue	110,007,987 77
Sales	1,213,000 17
Miscellaneous sources	13,114,180 40
Net revenue	$281,503,870 69
EXPENDITURES.
Net civil and miscellaneous ex.	$71,570,778 98
War Department	44,120,005 48
Navy Department	15,826,951 25
Interior Department	39,809,652 94
Public debt interest	106,175,482 24
Total net expenditures	$277,503,870 69
Balance of receipts over expenditures	$4,000,000 00
Total	$281,503,870 69

The Carlist leader, Nandiri, has recognized the Government of King Alphonso.

A Montreal (Canada) dispatch of the 25th announces the failure of the Maple Iron-Works Company, with liabilities estimated at $350,000.

It was lately reported from Washington that the Treasury Department had discontinued the purchase of silver for the present, on account of the high price.

The New York Hippodrome has been engaged for the use of Messrs. Moody and Sankey during the month of January next.

The United States Supreme Court lately reversed a decision of the New York Court of Appeals to the effect that the agreement for the discount of a note above the legal interest in New York was corrupt and illegal, and that under the law of that State the whole note was forfeited.

The failure of Robert Tilton, a woolen manufacturer and proprietor of the Spring Mills, at Carmichil, Vt., was announced on the 25th. The suspension of several other Eastern business houses was also made public.

Ubi Carruth, who was shot by Mr. Landis, of Vineland, N. J., in March last, died on the 24th. Landis was surrendered by his bondsmen and locked up.

McDonald & Co., of Wooster, Ohio, manufacturers of agricultural implements, have failed. Their liabilities are stated to be $500,000.

Returns received at Denver on the 25th indicated that the Republicans had carried the Territory and would have a majority in the Constitutional Convention.

All the counties of Iowa had been heard from on the 24th, sixteen of them unofficially. Kirkwood's majority was stated to be 31,895.

London dispatches of the 26th say the leading Catholics of England had arranged to give Cardinal McCloskey an imposing welcome on his arrival in Great Britain. The British Admiral in the Mediterranean had been instructed to take action relative to the late attacks upon English vessels by Spanish pirates.

According to a Montreal dispatch of the 26th the remains of Guilbord will be buried Nov. 18, the sixth anniversary of his hanging.

A New York special of the 26th says a rumor prevails in that city that the mem bers of the seven order of United Irishmen held in Fort at New York and recently held a secret meeting at which Thomas Meteaghan was accused of betraying the secrets of the order, tried, convicted and sentenced to die the death of a traitor.

A young daughter of R. A. Batchilas, of Burlank, Dakota, was recently fatally burned by the explosion of a kerosene lamp.

The entire business and thickly-settled portion of the village of Virginia City, Nev., was on the 26th, inside desolate, all the hotels, churches, newspaper offices, public buildings, telegraph and express offices, stores and business places and a large number of dwellings being burned. Ten thousand people were rendered homeless.

The largest part of the business section of Austin, Miss., was destroyed by fire on the 26th. Loss $50,000.

The statue to Stonewall Jackson, presented to Virginia by a number of English gentlemen, was formally inaugurated at Richmond on the 26th. Fifty thousand strangers were present, and the demonstrations are said to have been imposing.

Official returns give the following figures for the Gubernatorial tickets at the late election in Indiana: Hendricks, Democrat, 81,509; Phelps, Republican, 71,822; Bidwell, Independent, 29,757. Lowest, Democratic majority, 204. Leslie's majority over Phelps is 40,187, and 70 over all.

A Columbus dispatch of the 26th gives the vote for Governor and Lieutenant-Governor of the several counties as follows For Governor, Hayes, 297,832; Allen, 292,284; Odell (Prohibitionist), 3,707. Hayes' plurality, 5,548; majority, 2,052. Lieutenant-Governor: Young, 297,831; Cary, 287,988; Thompson, 3,849. Young's plurality, 9,843; majority, 6,233.

News was received on the 26th from the recent election in Oregon indicating the election of Lane (Dem.) to Congress by 1,200 majority.

The German Parliament met on the 27th and listened to a speech from the Emperor, which was read by the Minister of State. A Berlin dispatch of the same date says a council of physicians had decided that Count Arnim was unable to appear before the bar of imprisonment to which he had been sentenced.

The President on the 27th issued his annual proclamation setting apart Thursday, Nov. 25, as a day of thanksgiving throughout the United States.

The Director of the United States Mint says the fire at Virginia City will result in a decrease of $1,000,000 per month of gold bullion and of $1,500,000 per month of silver for the next few months.

An earthquake shock was felt at Memphis, Tenn., and in some portions of Mississippi on the 27th.

The three parties implicated in the late murder of the Italians in Denver have been arrested. One of them, an Italian, says he pimped his stiletto in the fire others but the second murderer escaped

THE SENTINEL.

CHARLEVOIX, MICH.
WILLARD A. SMITH,
Editor and Proprietor.

TUESDAY NOV 9 187

ANTI-MASONIC.

Resolutions Adopted by the Anti-Masonic convention at Ypsilanti.

The following preamble and resolutions were adopted by the Anti-Masonic Convention at Michigan on the occasion held at Ypsilanti on October 23rd, 24th and 25th, 1830:

Whereas, Masonry, as ruled, is a blood, bound, oath and covenant, and

Whereas, obligations gathered from other are the closing of Masonry are partaking more or less of the nature of subscribing the previous ones, and

Whereas, All these bonds, however, have very much of confidence existing, and may be known to all; and

Whereas, Masonic bodies, and individuals, are scarcely and extensively, but by being connected with their secret confederacy, without regard to the almost entire extinction of conscience and presenting high courts of justice from meting out to Masonic men are subjecting loss or more according to their guilt or innocence, as apparently to the best evidence before them; and

Whereas, These oaths and conferred powers are more and more serving the place of the powers that be ordained of God so much so that pleasing the good are little more than nominal, while the former are real; therefore,

1. Resolved, That it is the duty of all who love righteousness and who sympathize to expose, and oppose all secret and unauthorized combinations by whatever name known by one of all people alike, and that it is so obviously and peremptorily demanded that failure to do so is dangerous and criminal.

2. Resolved that the silence of the pulpit and press with regard to Masonry and kindred combinations is highly criminal.

3. Resolved, That the principal motive for the removal of this evil is to be found in the view of human justice.

4. Resolved, That we call on the people of the pulpit and the press that to engage on the people failing to do so they will thereby claim to their patronage and support which such should have been.

5. Resolved, That we cannot support either the pulpit or the press that serves the purposes of the lawless bigotry which supporting the kingdom of error.

6. Resolved, That it is a violation of the laws of our country to administer Masonic oaths.

7. Resolved, That Masonic obligations taken and adhered to are idolatrous, challenge which each person is bound to a witness of guilt, especially in case of the murder of the man by a Mason over the other act.

8. Resolved That to give legal encouragement to such persons and oath-bound societies is a gross violation of the law of the country.

9. Resolved, That we will not give or vote or influence to raise to office, either in church or state, the members of such confraternities.

10. Resolved that a political party organized by secret orders and bound to act upon either of these lines now in the field has become a necessity.

11. Resolved, That it is the duty of voters for the Masonic or any other oath or combination as such to lay the overwhelming power of their suffrages against any and all such candidates for office, whether Masonic duties or symbols to the contrary notwithstanding, and we solemnly pledge ourselves to such emancipation of power and influence with our rights as citizens.

JOHN LEVINGTON,
A. H. ELDRIDGE,
JOHN C. TAYLOR,
Committee.

Summer and Winter!

The work on the new college building at Hillsdale, is just now at a stand still. Jennings Bros., who furnished the stone did not obtain their pay at some $2000 soon as they wished, and therefore refused to continue the work. Richard & Mickle, the contractors, have any amount of the best security in the State, and do not propose to "knuckle" in so small a matter as this, hence the stand of the hammers heard no more, and the wary architect works the word work up into knocking wood where not materialism.

James Dun Gunn, has returned from Lansing.

The Supervisors will be next meeting in Lansing December 20.

The Ward will ever, "like a wounded snake, drag its slow length along" in the Wayne county Circuit Court.

Prof Watson, of the University has just discovered another planet. Watson can discover without having the least cleared.

Rev A. C. Mack, of Big Rapids, recently received one hundred dollars from Dr. Chamberlain, church for his salary, and another $100 each for $1,281.21.

The Manistee Central Railroad is 281 miles long. The engine work of the road is completed to Cadillac and a branch to Big Rapids. Trains will be run by July 1st.

Whereas, Masonry, as ruled, is a blood, bound, oath and covenant, and

Whereas, obligations gathered from other are the closing of Masonry are partaking more or less of the nature of subscribing the previous ones, and

Whereas, All these bonds, however, are very much of confidence existing, and may be known to all; and

Whereas, Masonic bodies, and individuals, are scarcely and extensively, but by being connected with their secret confederacy, without regard to the almost entire extinction of conscience and presenting high courts of justice from meting out to Masonic men are subjecting loss or more according to their guilt or innocence, as apparently to the best evidence before them; and

Whereas, These oaths and conferred powers are more and more serving the place of the powers that be ordained of God so much so that pleasing the good are little more than nominal, while the former are real; therefore,

1. Resolved, That it is the duty of all who love righteousness and who sympathize to expose, and oppose all secret and unauthorized combinations by whatever name known by one of all people alike, and that it is so obviously and peremptorily demanded that failure to do so is dangerous and criminal.

2. Resolved that the silence of the pulpit and press with regard to Masonry and kindred combinations is highly criminal.

3. Resolved, That the principal motive for the removal of this evil is to be found in the view of human justice.

4. Resolved, That we call on the people of the pulpit and the press that to engage on the people failing to do so they will thereby claim to their patronage and support which such should have been.

5. Resolved, That we cannot support either the pulpit or the press that serves the purposes of the lawless bigotry which supporting the kingdom of error.

6. Resolved, That it is a violation of the laws of our country to administer Masonic oaths.

7. Resolved, That Masonic obligations taken and adhered to are idolatrous, challenge which each person is bound to a witness of guilt, especially in case of the murder of the man by a Mason over the other act.

8. Resolved That to give legal encouragement to such persons and oath-bound societies is a gross violation of the law of the country.

9. Resolved, That we will not give or vote or influence to raise to office, either in church or state, the members of such confraternities.

10. Resolved that a political party organized by secret orders and bound to act upon either of these lines now in the field has become a necessity.

11. Resolved, That it is the duty of voters for the Masonic or any other oath or combination as such to lay the overwhelming power of their suffrages against any and all such candidates for office, whether Masonic duties or symbols to the contrary notwithstanding, and we solemnly pledge ourselves to such emancipation of power and influence with our rights as citizens.

JOHN LEVINGTON,
A. H. ELDRIDGE,
JOHN C. TAYLOR,
Committee.

"SHTOP A LEETLE!"

Spring Harbor,

HEAD OF PINE LAKE.

The Secret of Wonderful Growth and Success.

Way up on the north is a pleasant town, In the country all over it is going to ——— In Charlevoix county and Spring Harbor Town.

The soil is so rich if you plant a small seed, It comes up so fast it will nearly kill you! In Charlevoix county and Spring Harbor Town.

There are merchants who're up to date, you know, Who sell new goods before they are old; In Charlevoix county and Spring Harbor Town.

Where you can buy anything you want, From a paper of pins to a new steam yacht, In Charlevoix county and Spring Harbor Town.

Where they are the choicest, you'll allow, Who're always on hand with everything new, In Charlevoix county and Spring Harbor Town.

If they once you once make a professional call, Again in your life you'll be in not at all, If they call once or twice you'll then feel so clever, You'll not die at all, but live on forever— In Charlevoix county and Spring Harbor Town.

Where is the "Journal" the sheet of the age, Given as the news it doth always on edge— In Charlevoix county and Spring Harbor Town.

And the editor knows his business so well, He knows what I say for the truth I do tell For that reputation built in his gone, It will soon win the news two or three times before. In Charlevoix county and Spring Harbor Town.

Now I suppose you'd be glad to all Down If nicely happens them to be so— In Charlevoix county and Spring Harbor Town.

Where the most I do give, you all will confess, The secret that leads to perfect success. They get their goods cheaper than ever before, For they buy all they use at Nichols's store.

YOU'RE CRAZY

TO PAY STOCK TERRIBLE PRICES FOR GOODS, WHEN BY CALLING AT THE

"REGULATOR"

You can handle them at just THIRTY PER CENT less than any other place in this part of Charlevoix County. That is what we say at the "REGULATOR" We have lots of

NEW GOODS,

And more coming daily. We have Boots and Shoes for sale. We have all kinds of Groceries for sale. We have Flour, Pork and Salt cheaper than the cheapest. We have all kinds of Provisions. We have all kinds of Clothing for the men and boys. We have

PORK AND FLOUR,

And all Kinds of Groceries such as

SUGARS,
TEAS,
COFFEES
SPICES,
OILS.

WE ALSO HAVE A LARGE ASSORTMENT OF

Farming Implements,

SUCH AS PLOWS, SHOVELS, SCYTHES, SNATHS, RAKES, FORKS, HOES, CHAINS, AXES AND BRACES. ALSO A LARGE ASSORTMENT OF

TINWARE.

So if you will be cheaper than any factory, go to NICHOLS' Store on Pine Lake. Remember the place, every one and people, near more, and nearer before, to their country or near that does so, you can notice the door of it, easy, where they buy their goods, and you will soon notice customers in with heavy packages, and you will soon know where to go, at any particular; so also more if you don't know more. Remember!

TURN THE CRANK TO THE MACHINE

And will say I am well to inform myself with low prices that you must go to Spring Harbor Post Office, or, nearly opposite to the Pioneer National Bank, and directly upon it you see Montgomery Ward, Spring Harbor.

TRULY YOURS:

T. W. NICHOLS.

Carpenter & Bartholomew

Cheap Cash Store is just the Place to Buy Your Goods!

CARPENTER & BARTHOLOMEW'S

Standard Goods and Bottom Prices is their Motto.

South End of Bridge Street,
Charlevoix, Mich.

MEDICAL

HALL,

CHARLEVOIX,

JUST THE PLACE TO BUY

DRUGS

And Dye Stuffs,

JUST THE PLACE TO BUY

Patent Medicines

JUST THE PLACE TO BUY

Stationery, Ink and Pens

And Pocket Inkstands.

JUST THE PLACE TO BUY

Perfumes and Hair Oils

Flavoring Extracts, and Toilet Goods,

JUST THE PLACE TO BUY

The Self-Adjusting Truss

JUST THE PLACE TO GET

Prescriptions Compounded

At all hours—night or day.

IN FACT Just the place to get anything you want in the Druggists line.

Cheap for Cash.

New store opposite Stockman's Hardware Store.

GEO. W. CROUTER.
Druggist and Pharmacist

THE STANCH PROPELLER

1875. 1875

A. C. VanRaalte

Capt. Alvin Dodge.

Will run during the season of 1875, as follows, between

Petoskey & Traverse City:

Will leave Petoskey at 6 o'clock a. m. on

Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays,

Arriving at Traverse City at 7 o'clock the same evening. Will leave Traverse City at 6 o'clock a. m. on

Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays,

arriving at Petoskey the same evening, and touching at all intermediate ports on Grand Traverse Bay, both ways.

THE SENTINEL

JOB PRINTING

DEPARTMENT

—IS—

COMPLETE

PLAIN and COLORED WORK

Promptly and Neatly Done

Amended Rule of the Circuit Courts.

A dispatch from Lansing says that the Supreme Court has amended Rule 10 to read as follows:

Notices of trial may be served by mail in the same cases and in like manner as other notices. In cases of appeal, and in all cases commenced in the Circuit Court, when the party upon whom notice is sought to be served has not appeared in person, and has not appeared by attorney or agent, and who since the commencement of the suit has removed from the State, or whose place of residence cannot be ascertained, notice may be served by filing the same in the cause, and posting a copy thereof in a conspicuous place on the office of the County Clerk, but in such case notice must be filed and a copy posted at least twenty days before the first day of the term for which such notice is served.

Moody and Sankey have commenced their revival work in Brooklyn. The first of their services was held at the Rink on the morning of October 3, and so great was the by fully 5,000 people. Mr. Moody did the preaching, sometimes in a conversational tone, sometimes in an impassioned appeal, but always speaking rapidly. Mr. Sankey's singing in England has not been overrated. On the platform were Messrs. Beecher, Dr. Cuyler, Dr. Hall, Dr. Talmage, Dr. Huddington and others. An immense service was held at the Academy, which was also largely attended.

A Pentwater paper says that on last Thursday afternoon, a party of men were fishing down the beach or lake from the mouth of the Claybanks, found three men on a yawl boat. The men were supposed to be those of Capt. Peter A. Dorn's two of the crew of the schooner Williams, which left there on a trip ago loaded with coal for Chicago. The yawl boat, when she was found, was bottom up, and the body were washed between rocks in a very rough manner, tearing they had been driven among them with great force. The supposition is that the men took to the yawl when it became evident that their vessel would Herein comes the ... mously ... under the ... makes a ... to the weather ... He says: "About ... knows the use ... the pleasure of ... many years. Every ... will be some sore ... and pneumonia ... and will be ... all these, but ... of no will be found. ... and New Year ... for a few days. ... the finest ... since 1856, and ... cold days. During the winter ... be more than ... sleighing. There will be a few cold ... in February. March will be dry, cloudy and warm. The weather in ... variable, cold and wet in spell. ... In May it will be dry, ... will fall if necessary to water ...

DR. A. TRASK'S

MAGNETIC OINTMENT

FOR THE CURE OF

INFLAMMATORY DISEASES.

Dr. Trask was engaged for twenty years in a course of experiments with ... cerates and plasters of vegetable, ... and mineral substances, ... he succeeded in presenting to the world, as the result of his experiments, a combination of ... extracts, the power of which, in the ... sease is unequaled in the annals of ... His discovery consists in ... One of these powerful ingredients is ... Electricity or Magnetism in the form of an ... Certain, it is, that the remedy ... unprecedented success which has attended ... application in the cure of diseases, ... cases as the greatest discovery of the ... calls for a trial and close investigation of ... properties. ... It never fails, when ... to the surface, a natural and healthy ... to the organs, a natural and healthy ... equalizes the circulation of the blood. ... causes a continuing purge to patient ... most malignant forms of disease, which ... be obtained from any other ... Such is the power of this ... tion, that, in many cases, a very ... the human frame, every bone and muscle ... the healing ... assaults of its purifying and healing ... Hence it copes as readily with internal ... as external diseases. ... NUMEROUS ... where this remedy ... limbs as near ... Such has frequently been the case in ... tion of the bloods. ... No patient ever need die with ... disease where the Magnetic Ointment ... failed. ... For Inflammatory Rheumatism ... this Ointment is a ... prepared for Dysentery or Painful ... Bowels ... bleeding. ... In diarrhœa cases out of a ... hundred, it will afford entire relief in the worst ... For Nervous Diseases ... of whatever ... Affection of the Spine, ... Lame Back, Pleurisy, ... Pimples, Chapped Hands, Sore ... the Face or Bones, Burns, Scald Head, Scrofula, ... Salt Rheum, Erysipelas, Inflamed Eyes, Frost ... Sores, Sores on ... will be immediately relieved ... By the use of Dr. Trask's Magnetic Ointment. ... D. KENNEDY, SON & CO., Props'rs, Buffalo, N. Y.

New Advertisements.

700,000 ACRES

Farming Land

... Counties in the State ... Title perfect and ... WATER AND RAIL ... Not a Word more ... By Any Means ... 50,000 Acres ... In Charlevoix County. ... W. A. HOWARD, ... Detroit, Mich.

K. B.

KING OF THE BLOOD.

THE MOST WONDERFUL DISCOVERY OF THE AGE IS THE WORLD'S ... CURES ALL DISEASES FROM A COMMON ... TO THE WORST SCROFULA. ... It is the ... Cancers are cured, and ... Tumors ... Ulcers ... Boils, Carbuncles, and Cancers. ... Venereal Diseases, Mercurial and ... Female Weaknesses and Disease ... Erysipelas, Salt Rheum Scald Head and ... Scrofulous Humors ... Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Nervous ... Scrofulous Diseases, Dandruff, Scaly ... Pimples on the Face, and Blotches ... Bilious Diseases, Jaundice and ... Dyspepsia, Headache, Nervousness, ... Female Complaints, Kidney and ... and will cure ... From one to two bottles will ... From two to six bottles will ... From three to twelve bottles will ... From twelve to twenty bottles will ... From fifty to one hundred bottles will ... From fifty to ten bottles will ... Price $1 per bottle, or 6 bottles for $5. ... Sold by ... D. KENNEDY, SON & Co., Props'rs, ... Rochester, N. Y. ... Buffalo, N. Y.

ROSADALIS

THE GREAT ALTERATIVE AND BLOOD PURIFIER.

ROSADALIS

SCROFULA

KROMER'S BLOOD PILLS

HISTORY OF THE GRANGE MOVEMENT

FARMERS WARNING MONOPOLIES.

$25 A DAY GUARANTEED

NORWOOD.

F. J. MEECH & Co

NORWOOD, MICH.,

DEALERS IN

DRY GOODS,

Groceries and Provisions,

Also Manufactures of

HARDWOOD LUMBER,

Lath and Shingles.

LAWSON'S QUICK RELIEF FOR SCIATICA NEURALGIA RHEUMATISM NERVOUS COMPLAINTS

LAWSON'S CURATIVE

Positively Cure

NEURALGIA, SCIATICA,

AND

RHEUMATISM,

Common forms of the disease have seldom required the use of more than one bottle.

ONE BOTTLE usually ... CURES DYSPEPSIA, FEETHIRST, ... LIVER AILMENTS, ... Two or One Bottle Cures CHILLS, BILIOUSNESS, FEVER, TIC DOLOREAUX, NERVOUS TOOTH-ACHE, SICK HEADACHE.

One bottle is a sure Cure for NERVOUS HEADACHE, LAME BACK, DIPTHERIA, or SORE THROAT.

Price, One Dollar.

If you are ailing, send to your druggist for this article; he will send it for you, or mail ONE DOLLAR BILL to us and it will be sent you by return mail.

LAWSON CHEMICAL CO., CLEVELAND, OHIO.

Sold in connection with this ... At Wholesale, by all Wholesale Druggists in ... Chicago, Cincinnati, Chicago, Detroit and ...

Address, CLEMENTS & CO., ... Chemists, Baltimore, Md.

Remember to ask your Druggist for ROSADALIS.

HILL'S PAT. HOG RINGER RINGS AND TONGS OR HOLDER. H.W. Hill & Co. DECATUR, ILLS.

AGENTS Most Magnificent Gift ... Address ... ALGIERS ... NEW ORLEANS, LA.

Bristol Clothes Washer

SAVES THOUSANDS OF LIVES ANNUALLY.

Patented Nov. 16, 1869.

The only machine in the world that washes thoroughly and washes without rubbing. It is simple, has but two rollers; cannot possibly get out of order, and does not wear out the clothes. ... Cannot become entangled, and it will wash a bed quilt or a wrist band perfectly. It is noiseless, and does not wear or tear the clothes.

Sells at the Low Price of $7.50.

A child can work it easily. It washes one pieces at once. Also Skirts, Collars, and Wrist bands clean. It is the favorite everywhere. All who see this machine in operation exclaim

Joy to the World! Relief has Come!!

Everybody buying is satisfied with the Bristol Washer.

If not for sale in your place, send us $7.50 and we will send you a Washer by express, or, if you prefer, will send one C.O.D.

Agents wanted everywhere. For terms and illustrated circular address

BRISTOL WASHER CO.,
33 S. Water St., Chicago.

RUGS and MEDICINE

DR. LEWIS

JUST RECEIVED

A ... of ... such as

Fluid Extracts,
Tinctures,
Essences,
Dye Stuffs
... in all kinds,
Gums,
Perfumery, etc

PATENT MEDICINES.

A Full Supply of Dye Stuffs.

1 Keep What I Advertise.

FOX, ROSE & BUTTARS
Charlevoix.

THE SUMMER OF 1875

LOWER! LOWER!

Go the Prices!

WE CAN AND WILL

SELL CHEAPER

Than any other House in Charlevoix.

Our Neighbors

Are Cutting Down on Certain Articles; We cut down on

Everything!

If You Don't Believe It,

COME AND SEE

For Yourselves.

YARD WIDTH COTTON FOR 10c

TEA--3 Pounds for $1.

SUIT of Cothes for $8.

The Best Goods,

Regardless of Profit,

Are Always Kept.

FOX, ROSE & BUTTARS

Great Guns of Ancient and Modern Times.

The contest between guns and armor continues to excite the liveliest interest among European nations. The great armorclads are vying with each other in the production of mighty cannon which shall be able to send a projectile weighing many hundreds of pounds through iron-sheathed sides of almost incredible thickness, or of iron targets which shall be able to resist the heaviest balls that can be forged. A short time ago it was announced that Krupp, the great German iron-founder, had cast a cannon superior to any hitherto in existence, which was destined to subvert once and forever the wicked problem of the relative powers of penetration and resistance possessed by modern artillery and ironclads. The English, in their turn, are now rejoicing over the successful trial of their new eighty-ton gun, which was thrown a projectile sixteen inches in diameter a distance of seven or eight miles and pierced the sides of the strongest armor-clad afloat at a closer range. Next we shall probably hear of the construction of some unwieldly floating battery specially designed to carry armor capable of resisting the tremendous impetus of a shot from this latest engine of war, and then the cannon foundries will glow with fresh efforts to outdo each other in the greater dimensions and power as predicted. As there appears to be no limit to the size of cannon, it seems probable that the victory in the struggle between guns and armor will finally declare itself in favor of the former, or that it will, at all events, be necessary to construct vessels of immense dimensions, which present the smallest possible target to the fire of the enemy. This is a question, however, which must be left to Sir Armstrongs, Krupps and Whitworths of the future to answer.

In the meantime the marvelling to remember that the monster cannons now in existence are simply examples of the manner in which a tendency ripens itself. Four centuries ago in 1453, the Turks erected a battery of guns against Scutari, the largest of which was capable of throwing a stone shot thirty-two inches in diameter and weighing 1,600 pounds, whereas the projectiles of the English eighty-ton gun weighs 1,700 pounds. It is evident, however, that these enormous guns were of practical service, for it is recorded that 2,500 rounds were fired from them in thirty days. At the Castle of Asis, on the Dardanelles, there still exists a battery of bronze cannon, one of which have a bore of seventy-eight inches in diameter. When the British vessel Sir John Duckworth forced the passage of the straits in March, 1807, one of its ships was struck by a huge stone bullet thrown from one of these guns, and it is said that the unlucky missile so large a hole in the side of the vessel that the Captain, when he looked over the side to see the extent of the injury, was surprised to see two of his sailors thrust their heads through the aperture at the same instant. Mahomet, whose name is familiar to all readers of Cowper's poetry, was one of the ships injured in this encounter. The great gun of Belgrade, with a caliber of twenty-eight inches, is another instance of what gun-founders could accomplish more than three centuries ago. This weapon was last discharged, it is said, during the eighteenth century on the occasion of a visit from the Rajah of Sarvans. The shot weighed more than 1,000 pounds. The Tzar Pooshkar, or great gun of Moscow, has a bore thirty-five inches in diameter, but has never been fired with slotted charges, and we think that few persons would be anxious to make the experiment now. There are many other great guns famous in history, but those we have mentioned are sufficient to prove that in the matter of capacity, at least, the gunners of the present are more remarkable than the guns of the past.—N. Y. Evening Post.

Constant Electric Lamp.

It is well known that, under the influence of a strong electric current, a body which is a good conductor, when connected, by the two poles of the current, may be heated to such a point as to become luminous. This phenomenon is turned to account by Mr. Ladygin, of St. Petersburg, for obtaining a constant light, which is both reasonable in cost and also capable of being kept under all circumstances. He used as producing the electric light by means of the wearing away of the electrodes, as has hitherto been the practice, that is to say, by the ignition of the particles of charcoal which are transported from one pole to the other by a body of air heated to a high degree between the electrodes. Mr. Ladygin employs a short stick of charcoal, in a single piece, and reduces the area of its section between the two electrodes in such a manner that it offers considerable resistance to the current, so that the portion between the two poles, being heated to a high degree, becomes luminous, just as a metallic wire would do. The lamp consists of a cylindrical glass vessel, closed with metal covers so as to be air-tight both at top and bottom. Through the center of this cylinder is the stick of charcoal held in its place by two pieces of metal communicating, through the covers, with the two electrodes of the battery. In order to render the light more intense several sticks of charcoal may be placed in the same lamp. The combustion, which takes place, according to Dr. Gaugain, by means of the oxygen contained with the carbonic acid in the vessel, is supported solely by the consumption of charcoal, the electric current then passes into the second piece of charcoal through the lower cover, and from thence to the metal lamp or to the battery. On account of the heating of that part of the charcoal which is reduced in thickness the surface rapidly becomes oxidized when in contact with the oxygen of the air, and the charcoal is consequently extra sway, a circumstance which would tend to considerably limit the duration of the lamp. To avoid this drawback, however, the lamp is filled with nitrogen, which is prevented from escaping by the two air-tight covers; in this manner oxidation cannot take place, and the pieces of charcoal preserve their original dimensions. The experiments have given such good results that the inventor has been awarded the Lomonossov prize by the St. Petersburg Academy of Science.—N. Y. Graphic.

A Mountain Adventure.

M. E. Irvine, the mountaineer hunter, recently came into Colorado Springs from the mountains, and reported the discovery of a pony in company with a herd of bison known to range among the hills about the northern base of Pike's Peak. The pony had often been seen by other hunters leading the bison herd, and had long been known as the property of an old citizen now absent. Irving, believing that he could capture the pony, was appointed by Justice Lyon a deputy constable for that purpose, and he accordingly left Colorado Springs about ten days ago, mounted on a mule, with lariat, rifle and mountain outfit. On Tuesday he returned, bringing with him the pony.

His manner of capturing the animal was an achievement that stands almost among the lariat-throwing exploits. The third day out in the mountains he discovered the pony in a small pocket-like grassy scrape, together with several bison and a large herd of elk. The pony, it appears, was feeding off a little distance from the herd. Irving, by lying close to the back of his mule, and permitting it to feed slowly alone, succeeded in getting between it and the other animals, when he rose in his saddle and gave an unearthly scream, at the same time bearing down on the pony, which, with a snort and a bound, started off in an opposite direction from the men frightened herd. The lasso and elk were now out of sight.

The pony took toward the southern edge of the park, where it disappeared up a deep, narrow, rocky canon. Irving, finding it impossible to urge his mule along the almost impassable gorge, dismounted, and hearing the animal scenting a bear, continued the pursuit on foot. For nearly two miles he followed the devious course of the canon, which in places was not more than three feet wide, its walls rising perpendicularly to a height of several hundred feet. The canon unexpectedly opened into a park of some two or three hundred acres, around which mountains rose with gradual slopes, covered with a dense growth of the pinion tree. Following the path of the pony among the pinions, along the base of the mountain, Irving was startled by a stranger to him, the like of which he had never heard before, and which filled him with a nameless dread. He hastened on, however, and soon came upon the pony, secretly in the power of a mountain lion, which had fastened its teeth into its side, pulling it down to the earth.

Irving's first movement was to secure the pony with his lariat, one end of which was fastened to his belt. No sooner had he accomplished this than his was disturbed by the lion, which, bessuing in hold on the pony, sank down by its side in a crouching attitude, with its gaze fixed upon the hunter, and ready to spring upon him with the crushing power peculiar to the animal. With the celerity and accuracy of the experienced hunter Irving sent a ball from his Winchester through the brain of the lion, which bounded into the air with a roar that might have been heard a mile, and quickly expired

The pony, slightly injured, lagged lustily at the lariat in its efforts to regain its freedom. But Irving says that after reading the excitation to him he seemed to give up and became quite docile. The little mud-head of the lion were secured by the hunter, and were on exhibition at Colorado Springs yesterday. The length of the animal from nose to tip of tail is eleven feet and four inches. The pony has been advertised at constable's sale, and many bidders are awaiting the day of sale. It is a shaggy, vicious, wild-looking animal, which would pass for a cross of the bison and the broncho.—Denver News.

Beaten, But Not Conquered.

Dick Harris came down yesterday from Chattanooga with a romantic story of an engagement which occurred on the A. & C. Road the day before. At the little station called Attalla, on that road, an old lady lives with her son and daughters and, watching the arrival of the train, as they were emigrating to Texas. When the train rolled up all the other girls got aboard except one. She had all along exhibited an indifference, if not downright aversion, to going off, and at the supreme moment refused to get aboard. The old man took her by one arm and her mother by the other and were forcing her to get on. At this juncture a young man, who had been loitering around the station ever since the party had arrived, came up and remarked to the parents that he had a "say so" in the matter and demanded her release. The old man responded him at once as the girl's lover, whom he had kicked down the steps a few weeks before for visiting her. Releasing his daughter's arm he planted a healthy old blow just between the young man's eyes, which sent him sprawling some distance. The old man, seeing the situation at a glance, also released her hold upon the young lady and let go to that young man pretty much after the style in which a bronco lets go for a lame hawk thrown in their midst. She up upon him and clawed him, and pulled his ears, and pulled his hair, and gouged his eyes, and scratched and tore up considerably before the stunned youth could extricate himself. In the meantime the girl had taken advantage of her free hand and was seen running like a deer through the woods. As soon as the lover got upon his feet he made tracks in the same direction and the two were soon lost to view. The little episode created intense enthusiasm among the passengers and train hands, all of whom, of course, sympathized with the young couple, and set up a clapping of hands when they saw them safely out of the angry parents' reach. Then the train moved off with the rest of the family, who were terribly excited and crying. But the girl's mind was aboard, and that was some consolation to the exasperated father.—Atlanta (Ga.) Herald.

The Decoy Trunk.

A new device to facilitate robberies at railway depots has lately been successfully practiced on the public. Some ingenious person it appears has hit upon a way by which a trunk can be made to steal another trunk and a portmanteau to assist in its fellow. In the adventures of Sinbad the Sailor we are told how the merchants got at the precious stones in the valley of diamonds. The merchants threw down pieces of meat, which fell on the stones and the diamonds, the eagles swooped on the pieces of meat and flew with them to the upper air, the merchants shot the eagles with arrows and then got at the meat, the eagle and the jewels. So we read the plunderers at the railway depots lay a trunk artfully contrived on a smaller trunk; the latter clings to the former and the owner of the larger carries both away. The decoy trunk is said to be fitted with a lid which opens when it is laid on a smaller trunk, and with mechanism inside which does for the innocent trunk what Polonius recommended to Laertes to do for his friend, and grapples it to its heart with hooks of steel. In fact the decoy trunk is what we do not know how better to describe it—is made to perform an office like that of certain flowers which suddenly close at the presence of a fly or other insect within their cup and imprison it there. It would be well if the ingenuity of detectives kept pace with the progress in ingenious contrivances to perpetrate robberies at the depots, where they are increasing so fast and have become such a evil of late. It is certain, however, that the desire of the trunk will not explain all these robberies. In some cases valuable articles have been taken out and articles of the same bulk but less valuable put in. This sort of juggling does not look like the omissions of the ingenious trunk. This trunk, in fact, means open robbery, but there goes on a good deal of pilfering which must be traced to a more accomplished class of offenders.—Exchange.

Splitting Wood.

Yes, sir, I can split wood without splitting my head open, and I pride myself on the fact, woman though I am. I tried it the other day, and I'll tell you just how I did it.

I was expecting John home a little earlier this night, so I determined to have some nice split wood ready for him on a turn ready for him when he came. All went very well until, just as the crisis came in the finishing of this chicken, I discovered that the wood was out. What should I do? If I waited till John came the chicken would be spoiled, and there were no street boys in our well-ordered village to be hired, and I just picked up the ax and walked out to that wood-pile. Mr. Watkins, the bald-headed bachelor across the way, was sitting on his porch reading his newspaper, but I didn't care. I picked out a nice, straight maple stick, and leaned it up against another stick, just as I'd seen John do, and then I actually laughed at the idea that a woman couldn't split wood. I placed the light end of my toes against the stick, arranged my dress gracefully (pull-back dresses are handy on such occasions), and then, taking hold of the extreme end of the handle, I raised the ax high over my head and brought it down with all my might on the same stick, just as I'd seen John do, and then I actually laughed at the idea that a woman couldn't split wood. I placed the light end of my toes against the stick, arranged my dress gracefully (pull-back dresses are handy on such occasions), and then, taking hold of the extreme end of the handle, I raised the ax high over my head and brought it down with all my might on the same stick—not the stick, but beyond it. Oh! oh! how my hands did sting.

I rolled them up in my apron for a few minutes, and after struggling a moment to keep back the tears I took up the ax and went at it again.

This time I took hold of the handle nearer down to the blade, and when I came to bring down the ax I remembered my former experience. I braised myself a second before letting the ax strike.

Fatal hesitation! It turned the ax a hair's breadth, and it glanced off on the side of the stick and struck deep into the soft earth. I wasn't prepared for this, and, losing my balance, over I went head foremost, stick and all. I can't tell exactly how I landed, I scrabbled up so quick, but when I glanced at Mr. Watkins he dodged his head behind his paper, which shook visibly.

I never did like Mr. Watkins, anyhow, though he and John are great friends. I think it would have looked much better for a single gentleman like him to have come and offered to split the wood himself than to sit there and snicker behind his paper.

I always did have confidence in my own judgment, so I just turned my back on Mr. Watkins, placed my stick in a new position, shut my teeth hard, and—no, I didn't, though. There was a chicken-line just behind, which I had not noticed; my ax caught in this and jerked me back sud-over a big chunk, the ax falling almost in my face. There was a slump twinge in my back and a buzzing in my head, so I laid there for a while, until I was startled by the strained voice of dear John:

"Mollie, Mollie, are you hurt?"

He picked me up in his great strong arms and carried me into the house. I wouldn't hurt very much after all, but I had a good cry on John's shoulder, and ever since that I've had a whole wood-house full of nicely-split wood always on hand. If a woman can't do a thing one way she can another.

Mr. Watkins, the bald-headed bachelor across the way, was sitting on his porch reading his newspaper, but I didn't care.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS.

Doughnuts.—One teacup of sour cream or milk, two teacups of sugar, one of butter, four eggs, one teaspoonful of saleratus; spice to taste.

Veal Sausages.—Chop equal quantities of lean veal and fat pork, a handful of sage, a little salt, heat all in a mortar and roll out like dumplings and fry them.

Graham Soda Biscuit.—One quart of Graham flour, one teaspoonful of soda, dissolved in two thirds of a teacupful of molasses; mix with milk and water.

Tomato.—One and one-fourth pounds of flour, three-fourths of sugar, three eggs, a little nutmeg, three-fourths of a pound of butter. Roll them in sugar.

To Stew a Fillet of Veal.—Take a slice or two of the fillet and a few slices of pork, chop them very fine, add sweet herbs, pepper and salt; if the pork does not make it soft enough, moisten it with an egg.

Citron Cake.—Eight eggs, their weight in flour, the same of sugar, the weight of five in butter, a little mace; chop some citron fine, and put in a layer of cake and a layer of citron alternately.

Chicken Celery.—Boil two chickens; when cold, take the meat from the bones, chop it fine with the yolks of nine eggs boiled hard, two heads of celery chopped, salt, sweet oil, mustard, cayenne, a little salt, mix it well together.

Hot Pan.—One quart of milk, six eggs, one cup of sugar, one cup of grated rice. Cook the rice a little in the milk, stirring it constantly to keep it from burning; mould in Laertes to do for his friend, and grapples it to its heart with hooks of steel. In fact the decoy trunk—we do not know how better to describe it—is made to perform an office like that of certain flowers which suddenly close at the presence of a fly or other insect within their cup and imprison it there. It would be well if the ingenuity of detectives kept pace with the progress in ingenious contrivances to perpetrate robberies at the depots, where they are increasing so fast and have become such a evil of late. It is certain, however, that the desire of the trunk will not explain all these robberies. In some cases valuable articles have been taken out and articles of the same bulk but less valuable put in. This sort of juggling does not look like the omissions of the ingenious trunk. This trunk, in fact, means open robbery, but there goes on a good deal of pilfering which must be traced to a more accomplished class of offenders.—Exchange.

Splitting Wood.

Yes, sir, I can split wood without splitting my head open, and I pride myself on the fact, woman though I am. I tried it the other day, and I'll tell you just how I did it.

I was expecting John home a little earlier this night, so I determined to have some nice split wood ready for him on a turn ready for him when he came. All went very well until, just as the crisis came in the finishing of this chicken, I discovered that the wood was out. What should I do? If I waited till John came the chicken would be spoiled, and there were no street boys in our well-ordered village to be hired, and I just picked up the ax and walked out to that wood-pile. Mr. Watkins, the bald-headed bachelor across the way, was sitting on his porch reading his newspaper, but I didn't care. I picked out a nice, straight maple stick, and leaned it up against another stick, just as I'd seen John do, and then I actually laughed at the idea that a woman couldn't split wood. I placed the light end of my toes against the stick, arranged my dress gracefully (pull-back dresses are handy on such occasions), and then, taking hold of the extreme end of the handle, I raised the ax high over my head and brought it down with all my might on the same stick—not the stick, but beyond it. Oh! oh! how my hands did sting.

I rolled them up in my apron for a few minutes, and after struggling a moment to keep back the tears I took up the ax and went at it again.

This time I took hold of the handle nearer down to the blade, and when I came to bring down the ax I remembered my former experience. I braised myself a second before letting the ax strike.

Fatal hesitation! It turned the ax a hair's breadth, and it glanced off on the side of the stick and struck deep into the soft earth. I wasn't prepared for this, and, losing my balance, over I went head foremost, stick and all. I can't tell exactly how I landed, I scrabbled up so quick, but when I glanced at Mr. Watkins he dodged his head behind his paper, which shook visibly.

I never did like Mr. Watkins, anyhow, though he and John are great friends. I think it would have looked much better for a single gentleman like him to have come and offered to split the wood himself than to sit there and snicker behind his paper.

I always did have confidence in my own judgment, so I just turned my back on Mr. Watkins, placed my stick in a new position, shut my teeth hard, and—no, I didn't, though. There was a chicken-line just behind, which I had not noticed; my ax caught in this and jerked me back sud-over a big chunk, the ax falling almost in my face. There was a slump twinge in my back and a buzzing in my head, so I laid there for a while, until I was startled by the strained voice of dear John:

"Mollie, Mollie, are you hurt?"

He picked me up in his great strong arms and carried me into the house. I wouldn't hurt very much after all, but I had a good cry on John's shoulder, and ever since that I've had a whole wood-house full of nicely-split wood always on hand. If a woman can't do a thing one way she can another.

Fall and Winter Care of Stock.

Under the system followed by some farmers nearly all the growth or gain in stock is made during the early and middle summer months, they being as nearly fed and cared for during winter as to grow the chicken would be quite as profitable to have both young and full-grown cattle village to be hired, and I just picked up the ax and walked out to that wood-pile. Mr. Watkins, the bald-headed bachelor across the way, was sitting on his porch reading his newspaper, but I didn't care. I picked out a nice, straight maple stick, and leaned it up against another stick, just as I'd seen John do, and then I actually laughed at the idea that a woman couldn't split wood. I placed the light end of my toes against the stick, arranged my dress gracefully (pull-back dresses are handy on such occasions), and then, taking hold of the extreme end of the handle, I raised the ax high over my head and brought it down with all my might on the same stick—not the stick, but beyond it. Oh! oh! how my hands did sting.

I rolled them up in my apron for a few minutes, and after struggling a moment to keep back the tears I took up the ax and went at it again.

This time I took hold of the handle nearer down to the blade, and when I came to bring down the ax I remembered my former experience. I braised myself a second before letting the ax strike.

Fatal hesitation! It turned the ax a hair's breadth, and it glanced off on the side of the stick and struck deep into the soft earth. I wasn't prepared for this, and, losing my balance, over I went head foremost, stick and all. I can't tell exactly how I landed, I scrabbled up so quick, but when I glanced at Mr. Watkins he dodged his head behind his paper, which shook visibly.

I never did like Mr. Watkins, anyhow, though he and John are great friends. I think it would have looked much better for a single gentleman like him to have come and offered to split the wood himself than to sit there and snicker behind his paper.

I always did have confidence in my own judgment, so I just turned my back on Mr. Watkins, placed my stick in a new position, shut my teeth hard, and—no, I didn't, though. There was a chicken-line just behind, which I had not noticed; my ax caught in this and jerked me back sud-over a big chunk, the ax falling almost in my face. There was a slump twinge in my back and a buzzing in my head, so I laid there for a while, until I was startled by the strained voice of dear John:

"Mollie, Mollie, are you hurt?"

He picked me up in his great strong arms and carried me into the house. I wouldn't hurt very much after all, but I had a good cry on John's shoulder, and ever since that I've had a whole wood-house full of nicely-split wood always on hand. If a woman can't do a thing one way she can another.

Feeding by Rule.

There are a great many men who have a habit of doing everything by some fixed rule. They go to bed at a certain time, and if they fail to awake in the morning at the usual time they are angry with themselves all day. They make it an invariable rule to work a certain number of hours each day, and their going out and coming in is according to some well established plan. They take a certain amount of certain kinds of food, and everything in regard to it is brought under the domination of an inflexible law. Some of these men are farmers, and they carry their ideas of "plan and order" into all their farming arrangements. They feed their live stock with great regularity, both in regard to time of feeding and the quantity. They say to a steer that he must have so many pounds of hay a cow requires in a day, and then as nearly as possible feed just that quantity, without any regard to how much the animal will require much more food in proportion to its live weight than it will to others. In extremely cold weather creatures need much more food than they do when it is comfortably warm. And when cows are giving milk they ought always to be fed better than when they are dry. There is quite a loss, on the fixed rule for feeding animals which will apply to all cases at all times. Animals are different, and their surroundings vary so much that what is sufficient for one is not enough for another which is of the same age and size. And the attempt to bring them all to some universal rule, seems not only to be contrary to nature and hard upon the animals, but unwise as well as unprofitable to the owner. It is far better to allow the appetite to be the sole criterion of the amount of food which is required.—R., in Duffalo Live Stock Journal.

How Grasshopper Eggs Are Destroyed.

Mr. John C. Wise, one of the Grasshopper Commissioners of Minnesota, and editor of the Mankato Review, says in a recent number of his paper:

"The Watonwan County Record says that a farmer of that county, living in a locality where a great many grasshopper eggs were deposited, went out one day to dig some, and after an hour's search without finding any came to the conclusion that they had all destroyed. Taking his conclusions to a neighbor, the latter took him to a field where no such there were millions, but only the usual number digging they found their search equally fruitless. If the eggs had decayed we imagine that they would have found the decayed matter would be found in the ground. In our investigations in the frontier counties we found nearly all the eggs deposited in fields that were supposed to be deposited in the greatest numbers, and surprise was generally expressed at the comparatively few found. We were inclined to the belief that the blackbirds, which are unusually plenty in the grasshopper districts, and the prairie chickens, both of which dig and eat the eggs, have destroyed them. The blackbirds have a great fondness for the eggs, digging them with great energy, and consume large numbers of them. A farmer of Watonwan County told us the other day that every year his corn has been badly injured by the blackbirds, who light upon the stalks and peck the kernels from the end of the ears. This year they have not troubled him, and upon investigation he found them feeding upon grasshopper eggs.

"Another hopeful prospect is that where the eggs have not been thus destroyed in many places the cooling surrounding the eggs and constituting the sack, composed of tough matter, has been dissolved by the damp weather, and the eggs lie unprotected in the damp ground. Prof. Riley, the Entomologist of Missouri, gives it as his opinion that an unusual amount of dampness will destroy the eggs, and that their present condition in Minnesota is favorable for that result.

"While we do not desire to mislead the people of the frontier, we do believe that the outlook is decidedly hopeful. We would urge upon them, where practical, to plow and harrow shallow this fall where eggs are deposited, also to make investigations as to the amount and condition of the eggs in their localities, and if any unusual facts are noted report the same to this office at Mankato."

Cooking.

Mothers, when your daughters begin to learn to bake and cook do not disconcert them in the process by telling them it is not good or well done. If it is not good, or as well as you could do it (after years of practice), do not discourage them by telling them so, but remember one word of praise will help them try the next time to do better, and that a thousand words of fault-finding would. Well do I remember the first time I kneaded a loaf of bread and baked it. I was alone at home, for Sarah Ellen, my mother's niece, and I thought myself it was nice; but, alas! when one came home she said my bread was not good at all. Ah, how my heart sank within me, and I said to my self: "I will never again try to make another loaf of bread," and next to this day, when I make bread I do it with a heavy heart, for it always reminds me of my first attempt and the discouragement I met with.

O mothers, I repeat it, do not discourage your daughters in their first attempts at cooking. If it is not well done point out to them their faults in a mild and gentle way, and please don't forget to give them praise of phase.—A Farmer's Daughter, in Rural New Yorker.

The Boy Couldn't See It.

A Grand River avenue grocer saw a boy standing on the sidewalk looking at his store yesterday, and he patted him on the head and said:

"Boy, go to work George Washington was a worker, Thomas Jefferson sawing the ax, Henry Clay used the hoe."

"Did they?" asked the lad.

"They did, my son. Labor is grand, labor is ennobling, labor is the foundation-stone of this country. The boy who early applies himself to work and eschews gaslights, a magical remedy for pain, bowel and kidney complaints, and an unequaled tonic for nervousness and home feeds, while he pulls the pickle for many years—a perfect long enough to fully feed their needs, and the feed of several bull can be advanced by their labor and their sole was to keep grass so during the past six months.

ITEMS OF INTEREST.

Kansas sows 25 per cent. more wheat this year than last.

Gail Hamilton wants all hotels supplied with libraries.

Chamberlin's still keep fresh and good all winter if kept in water.

This is the hottest and driest autumn ever known on the Pacific coast.

The latest weather prediction is that it will blow generous coal Christmas.

Among the industrial treasures in the Black Hills are carbonates of lamplass.

The last census of the British Isles was taken in a single day, and cost $900,000.

The average flight of stairs makes the most noise when you try to go easy on them.

Goshy has been defined to be the putting of two and two together and making five of them.

A recent writer says some plants have sullen and awkward ways—dead beets, for instance.

Since last January we have imported $50,000,000 worth of dry goods. There are 10,000,000 women in the country.

Two children were recently poisoned in Ohio during a singing growth which they found on a stump. One of them died.

A man so slow that he could scarce take him long to find out that the snake was dead, that I have been Postmaster but a short time, but this I will say, if your office pays no better than mine I advise you to give it up."

At a French village, the other day, Marie Heron, an English actress, at one time popular in London, committed suicide in the role of Ophelia. She was sixty-five years old, and had lived in the village ten years. Nobody thought of her calling her old ways and appearance, for it was well known that she had carried a dead love in her heart for nearly half a century. She had left London years before because her affianced married another woman. The last part she had played on the London stage with him was Ophelia to his Hamlet, and what was to come to her of him as one knew; but she was found floating under the arches of the river, her gray head decked out with flowers.

The killing of R. P. Boston in a game of croquet at Titusville, Pa., as reported, is announced. It seems that Mr. Benton and a Mr. Strickland were playing together. Both gentlemen were on the most friendly terms and were in the habit of playing almost daily. Mr. Strickland made a mistake, and as customarily occurs on such occasions among the boys he peevishly attempted to throw his mallet after the ball. By some unforeseen chance the handle of the mallet caught in the sleeve of his coat and it was hurled in the direction of his companion, striking him on the right temple and felling him to the ground. It appears that the blow was not sufficient to cause a fracture of the skull at that point, but, as is often the case, produced an effusion of blood at the base of the brain. Such an injury is almost inevitably fatal and the patient lingered on until evening, when he expired without recovering consciousness.

Long-Last Brothers Reunited.

The Cincinnati papers publish the romantic story of the loss of a little child at the capture of Corinth, Miss., by the Union forces in the late war, and of his restoration to his family after thirteen years had passed and the little boy had grown to be a man. In the flight of the inhabitants from the burning town most of the people hurried down the railroad track leading from the southern part of the place and took refuge in the woods and fields along the route. Some of the streets were deserted by all except this little boy, who became separated from his friends, and stricken with terror ran hither and thither in his bewilderment, and at last hid himself in a freight car which happened to be the general conflagration. Among the Union soldiers who soon poured into the city was Captain, afterward General) Hekenbarger, of the 20th Ohio. He was attracted by telling them it by and took him back to camp, where, being a youngster of quick intelligence, he became a favorite with the men. They named him Corinth Bennegard; but as all search for them had failed it was believed that they were dead. The General, out of pity, adopted the boy, and in August, 1865, sent him to Cincinnati, where he was taken charge of by the General's father and mother. He was sent to school, and afterward served an apprenticeship in the surveyor's office under his patron, the General, becoming at length a good civil engineer. During all these twelve or thirteen years he never ceased, when an opportunity offered, of making diligent inquiry with regard to his parents and family, but in vain, all he remembered was his father's and mother's name, and with only this to guide him it seemed a hopeless task.

A missionary, just returned, says he regards Johnson's Anodyne Liniment as beyond all price. It is the best remedy for pain in medicine. It is adapted to a great variety of special cases, and has the best patronized in the world.

When you go to Chicago stop at the Revere House. Rates $2 per day. Special Canal streets. The fare is excellent and every attention is paid to guests. Only $1.50 to $2.00 per day for transient.

What is that which every one can divide but no one can see where it is divided?—Water.

Fevers seldom make an attack without warning, and many others lie through and by feeling the first warning symptoms, by applying warm in bed and taking two or three of Dr. Tutt's Pills.

A missionary, just returned, says he regards Johnson's Anodyne Liniment as beyond all price. It is the best remedy for pain in medicine. It is adapted to a great variety of special cases, and has the best patronized in the world.

When you go to Chicago stop at the Revere House. Rates $2 per day. Special Canal streets. The fare is excellent and every attention is paid to guests. Only $1.50 to $2.00 per day for transient.

What is that which every one can divide but no one can see where it is divided?—Water.

Fevers seldom make an attack without warning, and many others lie through and by feeling the first warning symptoms, by applying warm in bed and taking two or three of Dr. Tutt's Pills.

Chamberlin's still keep fresh and good all winter if kept in water.

This is the hottest and driest autumn ever known on the Pacific coast.

The latest weather prediction is that it will blow generous coal Christmas.

Among the industrial treasures in the Black Hills are carbonates of lamplass.

The last census of the British Isles was taken in a single day, and cost $900,000.

The average flight of stairs makes the most noise when you try to go easy on them.

Goshy has been defined to be the putting of two and two together and making five of them.

A recent writer says some plants have sullen and awkward ways—dead beets, for instance.

Since last January we have imported $50,000,000 worth of dry goods. There are 10,000,000 women in the country.

Two children were recently poisoned in Ohio during a singing growth which they found on a stump. One of them died.

A man so slow that he could scarce take him long to find out that the snake was dead, that I have been Postmaster but a short time, but this I will say, if your office pays no better than mine I advise you to give it up."

At a French village, the other day, Marie Heron, an English actress, at one time popular in London, committed suicide in the role of Ophelia. She was sixty-five years old, and had lived in the village ten years. Nobody thought of her calling her old ways and appearance, for it was well known that she had carried a dead love in her heart for nearly half a century. She had left London years before because her affianced married another woman. The last part she had played on the London stage with him was Ophelia to his Hamlet, and what was to come to her of him as one knew; but she was found floating under the arches of the river, her gray head decked out with flowers.

The killing of R. P. Boston in a game of croquet at Titusville, Pa., as reported, is announced. It seems that Mr. Benton and a Mr. Strickland were playing together. Both gentlemen were on the most friendly terms and were in the habit of playing almost daily. Mr. Strickland made a mistake, and as customarily occurs on such occasions among the boys he peevishly attempted to throw his mallet after the ball. By some unforeseen chance the handle of the mallet caught in the sleeve of his coat and it was hurled in the direction of his companion, striking him on the right temple and felling him to the ground. It appears that the blow was not sufficient to cause a fracture of the skull at that point, but, as is often the case, produced an effusion of blood at the Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup, for the Cure of Consumption, Coughs and Colds. The great virtue of this medicine is that it clears the lungs and throws it out of the system, purifies the blood, and thus effects a cure.

Swaim's Sal Ward Tonic, for the Cure of Dyspepsia, Indigestion, etc. This Tonic produces a healthy action of the stomach, arouses the appetite, forms chyle, and corrects the most obstinate cases of indigestion.

Scheuck's Mandrake Pills, for the Cure of Liver Complaint, etc. These pills are powerful and produce a healthy action on the liver without debilitating the patient. They are more powerful and more efficacious in restoring a healthy action of the liver.

These remedies are a certain cure for Consumption, Dyspepsia, Dyspepsia, Dyspepsia

Sam Bowen I was in a wrong with a [illegible] One or whetted knife to his belt, for the sole of the perpetrator of the following:

The other day Sam Bowen went to church in Springfield, Mass., and feeling the effect of his winter of total labors through the week fell to napping. By and by he was awakened by the preacher, who took his desk and shouted: "Who shall be able to stand up the wrecker of the Lord on that awful day?" And Sam [illegible] wife, rising to his pew remarked: "Charles Francis Adams is the only man who can do it, and I nominate him for the position."

Government Contract.—One million three hundred and sixty-five thousand dollars is the aggregate appropriation for building two new capitol additions and there has been expended $654,209.18, leaving $700,-786.81 of the appropriation expended. The amount expended the present fiscal year is $417,727.36.

A steady increase is denoted by statements on the Union Pacific Railroad.

A delegation of ministers of the gospel called upon President Grant on Monday. Their mission was to learn whether it was true, as rumored, that the grant policy toward the Indians was to be abandoned. The President promptly ruled out them that no change would be made. Even though the management of the Indian Bureau is wonderful from the Interior Department to the War Department, the peace policy will still be pursued.

LAWSON'S CURATIVE
QUICK CERTAIN RELIEF
FOR SCIATICA NEURALGIA RHEUMATISM AND NERVOUS COMPLAINTS
LAWSON'S CURATIVE
the only remedy ever discovered that will Positively Cure
NEURALGIA, SCIATICA, AND RHEUMATISM,
the common forms of the disease have seldom required the use of more than one bottle.
ONE BOTTLE usually CURES
NEURALGIA, SCIATICA, RHEUMATISM, AND NERVOUSNESS.
One or two applications cures CHILBLAINS, CHAPPED FACE, TIC DOLOREAUX, CEPHALGIA TOOTH ACHE, SICK HEADACHE.
One bottle is a sure cure for NERVOUS HEADACHE, NEURALGIA, DIPTHERIA, or SORE THROAT.
Price One Dollar Per Bottle.
If you are afflicted, send to your druggist for this remedy. If he will not get it for you, send ONE DOLLAR BY MAIL to us and it will be sent you.
LAWSON CHEMICAL CO.,
CLEVELAND, OHIO.
SOLD IN CITY AND COUNTRY BY ALL DRUGGISTS.
All Wholesale, by all Wholesale Druggists, Cleveland, Cincinnati, Chicago, Detroit and Buffalo.

$25 A DAY GUARANTEED with our WELL AUGER AND DRILL. Bores 4 inches in diameter, and will go 1000 feet. Is manufactured FROM SOFT WROUGHT IRON, and is warranted to last 10 years. Is portable. Will bore in any kind of soil. Is simple in construction. Any one can operate it. Will bore 100 feet in 10 hours. Will last a lifetime. Is sold at a low price. Is the best machine in the market. Is fully warranted. Is sold on trial. Is sold on easy terms. Is sold on short time. Is sold on long time. Is sold on cash. Is sold on credit. Is sold on installments. Is sold on lease. Is sold on rent. Is sold on hire. Is sold on loan. Is sold on mortgage. Is sold on bond. Is sold on note. Is sold on draft. Is sold on check. Is sold on order. Is sold on receipt. Is sold on bill. Is sold on account

THE SENTINEL.

WILLARD A. SMITH, Editor and Proprietor.

CHARLEVOIX. - - MICHIGAN.

THE NEWS.

THE French launched M Agenta, the flagship of the Vice-Admiral, commanding at Toulon, caught fire on the 30th ult and exploded. No lives were lost.

THE London Times on the morning of the 1st says that 1200 seamen had been drowned in the North Sea during the gales of the preceding three weeks.

THE Secretary of the Treasury has offered the sale of $100,000 in gold coin on each Thursday during the month of November.

THE Carleton Woolen Mills, Philadelphia, were destroyed by fire on the morning of the 30th inst. Loss from $500,000 to $600,000.

JUDGE DILLON, at Des Moines, has lately decided that there is no penalty under the law for sending valiser matter on postal cards through the mails, but that it is the duty of the Postmaster into whose hands such cards come to destroy them.

THE Mayor of San Francisco died on the 30th ult

AN advance in passenger fares has recently been made on railroad lines between the West and East, the rate from Chicago to New York being twenty two dollars for first-class tickets.

THE constitutional amendment authorizing the taxation of dogs was defeated at the late Ohio election

AT an election held in Missouri on the 30th ult. the new Constitution was adopted.

THE official canvass of the votes cast at the Nebraska election shows that the new Constitution is carried by nearly 20,000 majority. The clause leaving to the people the power of locating the State capital has 7,500 majority, and that giving the people the power of expressing their preference for United States Senator 18,500 majority. The Democrats elected two District Judges and one District Attorney. All the rest of the officers-elect are Republicans.

ADVICES from St Petersburg, received on the 1st, state that the Government had been engaged in a crusade against Nihilist agitators. Arrests had been made in Moscow, Odessa, Illazan and St Petersburg. In one village near Moscow thirty workingmen had been arrested, and one of them, resisting the police force, had been killed.

LITCHFIELD, Syrian Archbishop of the Greek Church, died recently.

A RAGUSA telegram of the 1st says a force of 1,800 Turks had been intercepted with heavy loss while attacking a strong insurgent position near Zubi.

THE Secretary of the Treasury has called for the redemption of $1,000 coupon and $5,000 registered 5-20 bonds of the issue of 1864.

THE following is the November statement of the condition of the public debt:

Six per cent. bonds	$1,045,682,500
Five per cent. bonds	1,000,000
Total coin bonds	$1,706,75,500
Lawful money debt	356,000,000
Matured debt	13,805,120
Gold certificates	54,845,000
Certificates of deposit	30,840,000
Fractional currency	26,697,478
Coin certificates	15,895,100
Total debt	53,503,197
Cash in Treasury	$2,253,197,395
Coin	79,243,149
Currency	2,753,000
Special deposits held for the redemption of certificates of deposit, as provided by law	30,840,000
Total in Treasury	$111,836,149
Debt less cash in Treasury	$2,119,361,246
Decrease during October	1,080,785
Decrease since June 30	10,00,343
Bonds issued to the Pacific Railway Companies, interest payable in lawful money principal outstanding	$64,623,512
Interest accrued and not yet paid	1,592,170
Interest paid by the United States	36,203,026
Interest repaid by the transportation service	6,488,290
Balance of interest paid by United States	29,780,106
Net cash in Treasury	$2,119,361,246
Decrease during October	1,080,785
Decrease since June 30	10,00,343

THE Boston Base-Ball Club retain the championship, having won forty-eight and lost seven games during the past year.

A DISPATCH from New York on the 1st announced that Mr. Moody had appointed Friday, the 12th inst., a day of fasting and prayer. The nation were invited to join.

ON the 1st the boiler of a locomotive attached to a gravel train on the Chicago Valley Railway exploded, killing three men and injuring about twenty others, many fatally. All the cars were thrown from the track.

A special from Virginia City, Nev., of the 1st says building was going on rapidly and the usual district was closed with a shutdown. Work was plenty and wages high.

A spa on the National Gold Bank and Trust Company of San Francisco was maintained on the 30th ult. The bank continued to meet all demands during the day, but did not open for business on the morning of the 1st. The officers claimed that the bank could pay everything in full, and would resume as soon as possible.

CHARLES PATTERSON recently shot and killed R. W. Porter, a herder on the North Platte, thirty miles north of Sidney, Neb., where Patterson was taken under arrest. The jail was subsequently broken into by a mob of masked men and Patterson strung up to a telegraph pole. The Sheriff cut Patterson down in time to save his life. At four o'clock the next morning he was again taken out and hung till dead.

SIR JOHN GARDNER WILKINSON, the eminent English archæologist, is dead.

Township Committee Griffith was wrecked on the Shelly Island, on the 2d. Eight persons were lost.

A SCOW capsized at St. Faullie, Canada, on the 31st during a severe snow storm. Seventeen persons were drowned.

IT is reported that Atty.-Gen. Pierrepont is of the opinion that Judge Hilton's young cannot be compelled to pay the alimony to Ann Eliza. Insane men was fully aware of the existence of numerous other wives and tacitly consented to an illegal marriage.

A WASHINGTON dispatch of the 31 says that the President's Bank was crowded on that and the preceding day with foreign and resident persons drawing their portions of the dividend of 93 per cent.

HIGH (Rep.) was elected Governor of Massachusetts on the 5th by a majority of about 5,000 over Stanton (Dem.). Crapo (Rep.) was elected to Congress in the First District.

CARROLL (Dem.) is elected Governor of Maryland by about 15,000 majority. Legislative Democratic.

A PORTLAND (Ore.) dispatch of the 2d says later returns materially reduce the majority for Lane (Dem.) for Congress. A dispatch from Salem says the election of Warren (Rep.) by a small majority was indicated.

THE election in Chicago and Cook county on the 2d was a very exciting one and resulted in the choice of L. C. Hoch (Rep.) as County Treasurer over A. C. Bording (Opp.) by more than 3,000 and 2,000 majority. Local and personal matters entered largely into the canvass, and a third and hotly-contested (Dem.) candidate was in the field and received over 7,000 votes. The Republicans did not claim their victory as a partisan one. About 55,000 votes were polled in the city of Chicago alone —the largest vote ever cast.

THE following is a special telegram from Berlin of the 2d the Northern powers have requested Austria to transmit a proposition to the Sublime Porte, signifying the guarantees to insure the performance of the Sultan's promise of reform to the insurgents in his vassal States. It was believed in Berlin and Vienna that Turkey would be unable to suppress the rebellion, and that armed Austrian intervention would take place in the spring.

A BERLIN dispatch of the 31 announces the destruction by fire of the arsenal at Reuldorp, Prussia. Over 40,000 rifles had been buried. Loss about $75,000,000.

J. J. HOGALSON & SONS, London West India merchants, failed on the 31 for $500,000.

UNITED STATES MINISTER SCHENCK has recently written a letter to the London Times exposing and denouncing the systematic sale of fictitious American securities.

AN official dispatch published in Madrid on the 30 says that the last of the Carlist in the province of Catalonia, numbering six officers and 980 men, had surrendered and that the province had been entirely pacificated.

THE St Cronists of the 31 stated that Gen. Sandals, having returned to Spain, had been arrested at Cadiz. Carlos said would, together with Gen. Dorregaray, be court-martialed because of his failure to capture Bilbao and Estella as he had boasts.

A. P. GAVLORD, of Saginaw City, Mich., has been appointed Assistant Attorney General for the Interior Department.

THE Secretary of the Treasury has authorized a circular to Collectors of Customs directing that no further importations of neat cattle or hides will be allowed for the present from England, in consequence of the prevalence of the foot and mouth disease in that country.

THE annual report of the Postmaster-General, just completed, shows that during the past year 3,607,745 letters were received at the Dead Letter Office in Washington, of which number 210,377 were registered. Number dead letters opened by law 50,000,000

Total in Treasury	$111,836,149
Debt less cash in Treasury	$2,119,361,246
Decrease during October	1,080,785
Decrease since June 30	10,00,343

THE Cuban Steamship Company has been organized, with a capital of $1,000,000. Steamers will leave Key West and Havana for Mexico and Central American ports.

THE Boston Base-Ball Club retain the championship, having won forty-eight and lost seven games during the past year.

A DISPATCH from New York on the 1st announced that Mr. Moody had appointed Friday, the 12th inst., a day of fasting and prayer. The nation were invited to join.

ON the 1st the boiler of a locomotive attached to a gravel train on the Chicago Valley Railway exploded, killing three men and injuring about twenty others, many fatally. All the cars were thrown from the track.

A special from Virginia City, Nev., of the 1st says building was going on rapidly and the usual district was closed with a shutdown. Work was plenty and wages high.

A spa on the National Gold Bank and Trust Company of San Francisco was maintained on the 30th ult. The bank continued to meet all demands during the day, but did not open for business on the morning of the 1st. The officers claimed that the bank could pay everything in full, and would resume as soon as possible.

CHARLES PATTERSON recently shot and killed R. W. Porter, a herder on the North Platte, thirty miles north of Sidney, Neb., where Patterson was taken under arrest. The jail was subsequently broken into by a mob of masked men and Patterson strung up to a telegraph pole. The Sheriff cut Patterson down in time to save his life. At four o'clock the next morning he was again taken out and hung till dead.

SIR JOHN GARDNER WILKINSON, the eminent English archæologist, is dead.

Township Committee Griffith was wrecked on the Shelly Island, on the 2d. Eight persons were lost.

A SCOW capsized at St. Faullie, Canada, on the 31st during a severe snow storm. Seventeen persons were drowned.

IT is reported that Atty.-Gen. Pierrepont is of the opinion that Judge Hilton's young cannot be compelled to pay the alimony to Ann Eliza. Insane men was fully aware of the existence of numerous other wives and tacitly consented to an illegal marriage.

A WASHINGTON dispatch of the 31 says that the President's Bank was crowded on that and the preceding day with foreign and resident persons drawing their portions of the dividend of 93 per cent.

HIGH (Rep.) was elected Governor of Massachusetts on the 5th by a majority of about 5,000 over Stanton (Dem.). Crapo (Rep.) was elected to Congress in the First District.

CARROLL (Dem.) is elected Governor of Maryland by about 15,000 majority. Legislative Democratic.

A PORTLAND (Ore.) dispatch of the 2d says later returns materially reduce the majority for Lane (Dem.) for Congress. A dispatch from Salem says the election of Warren (Rep.) by a small majority was indicated.

THE election in Chicago and Cook county on the 2d was a very exciting one and resulted in the choice of L. C. Hoch (Rep.) as County Treasurer over A. C. Bording (Opp.) by more than 3,000 and 2,000 majority. Local and personal matters entered largely into the canvass, and a third and hotly-contested (Dem.) candidate was in the field and received over 7,000 votes. The Republicans did not claim their victory as a partisan one. About 55,000 votes were polled in the city of Chicago alone —the largest vote ever cast.

THE following is a special telegram from Berlin of the 2d the Northern powers have requested Austria to transmit a proposition to the Sublime Porte, signifying the guarantees to insure the performance of the Sultan's promise of reform to the insurgents in his vassal States. It was believed in Berlin and Vienna that Turkey would be unable to suppress the rebellion, and that armed Austrian intervention would take place in the spring.

A BERLIN dispatch of the 31 announces the destruction by fire of the arsenal at Reuldorp, Prussia. Over 40,000 rifles had been buried. Loss about $75,000,000.

J. J. HOGALSON & SONS, London West India merchants, failed on the 31 for $500,000.

UNITED STATES MINISTER SCHENCK has recently written a letter to the London Times exposing and denouncing the systematic sale of fictitious American securities.

AN official dispatch published in Madrid on the 30 says that the last of the Carlist in the province of Catalonia, numbering six officers and 980 men, had surrendered and that the province had been entirely pacificated.

THE St Cronists of the 31 stated that Gen. Sandals, having returned to Spain, had been arrested at Cadiz. Carlos said would, together with Gen. Dorregaray, be court-martialed because of his failure to capture Bilbao and Estella as he had boasts.

A. P. GAVLORD, of Saginaw City, Mich., has been appointed Assistant Attorney General for the Interior Department.

THE Secretary of the Treasury has authorized a circular to Collectors of Customs directing that no further importations of neat cattle or hides will be allowed for the present from England, in consequence of the prevalence of the foot and mouth disease in that country.

THE annual report of the Postmaster-General, just completed, shows that during the past year 3,607,745 letters were received at the Dead Letter Office in Washington, of which number 210,377 were registered. Number dead letters opened by law 50,000,000

Total	$2,253,197,395
Cash in Treasury	79,243,149
Currency	2,753,000
Special deposits held for the redemption of certificates of deposit, as provided by law	30,840,000
Total in Treasury	$111,836,149
Debt less cash in Treasury	$2,119,361,246
Decrease during October	1,080,785
Decrease since June 30	10,00,343

THE SENTINEL.

CHARLEVOIX, MICH.

WILLARD A. SMITH,
EDITOR AND PROPRIETOR.

TUESDAY - - - NOV 16, 1875

The Changes of a Year.

From the New York Times, Nov. 4th.

The elections of 1873 and 1874 left the Democratic party far in advance of the position which it had for many years occupied. From being in a minority that had long been growing more and more penny hopeless, until in 1872 it seemed to have become absolutely so the Democracy had gained a strict party control in twenty four States, two more were in opposition to the Republicans, and the latter had retained but eleven States. The elections which have been held in 1875 tell a different story. The Democrats retain a party majority in only seventeen States; the Republicans have a clear party majority in seventeen of the remainder; of the other three New York gives a strong majority of both Houses of the Legislature to the Republicans, and two States are doubtful. The Democrats in a twelvemonth have lost Pennsylvania, Ohio and New Jersey, in the middle of the Union, Massachusetts and New Hampshire on the East, Wisconsin in the West and California on the Pacific coast. In the same period the Republicans, besides recovering the States above named, have practically regained their hold in New York, having formed an alliance with honest Democrats in Maryland that would have defeated the regular Democratic ticket if it had not been for the outrageous frauds and violence in the city of Baltimore, and have made important local gains in other State On the other side of the ledger, the Democrats can only show one change to their advantage—that in Mississippi, and there they have made their gains by methods which, if they are to be continued and extended to other Southern States, will cost the Democrats more than they will profit them, and will undo for the South much of the good which it has attained during the past three or four years.

These changes are important, not only with reference to the actual modifications in the State Governments, which they have brought about, but still more with reference to the light they throw on the seat Presidential canvass. The probable course and result of that canvass present a very different appearance to-day to that they presented a year ago, and one which it seems to us must be much more encouraging to any intelligent citizen, whatever may be his political associations. The Democratic victories of 1873 and 1874 were not due to any special merit in the candidates or policy of the successful party. On the contrary, in nearly every section where the Democracy won important advantages, its platform, and men who were placed upon them were characterized chiefly by a peculiarly impudent demagogism. Nor was this the worst. In Pennsylvania the party presented, as the fruit of its success, Senator Wallace, a tricky and unscrupulous partisan politician of the lowest type; in Connecticut it sent Eaton to the Senate, and in Missouri Cockrell—one a Confederate raider, the other a Northern secessionist; while in Missouri, Ohio and Indiana it boldly placed in its declaration of principles the pernicious and disgraceful doctrines of inflation and repudiation—doctrines which this year are repeated in Ohio, and proclaimed for the first time in Pennsylvania.

No reasonable man could say that the prospect that a party was about to gain possession of the National Government the career of which presented those characteristics was a cheerful one. By all legitimate modes of inference, it appeared certain that if the Democratic "triumphs" were to be followed by the election of a Democratic President and Congress, the country would enter on a course of confusion, corruption, and humiliation such as it had never before experienced, except during the domination of the slave power from 1850 to 1860. Every possible danger that threatened representative government in the United States, saving such as grew out of slavery, was involved in the advent of a party such as the Democratic Party was from 1872 to 1875. If it was to control the National Government, the country should only expect the rule of demagogues who stuck at nothing to secure power, and to whom power of government at all the maintenance of the national honor were of no value whatever.

From the gloomy prospect which thus opened before it, the country is now practically safe, if the Republican leaders have the sense and the nerve to do their whole duty. A Democratic National Administration is no longer among the probabilities, hardly among the possibilities, of the immediate future. If that party is to retrieve in any substantial degree the losses of the last year, it must be by rejecting the reckless and criminal policy of the past, and by coalescence with elements of opposition to the Republicans for which no pretext ought to be, or need to be, left, and if the Republican leaders will interpret with frankness the signs of the times, and be faithful to the sentiment and opinion of the great mass of their own party, a Republican administration in 1877 is as certain as anything in politics can be. To such a course, with such a result, every consideration invites them. It is now perfectly clear that the country is securely Republican, if the party will be true to itself. Wherever it has been so, success has attended it. In Ohio and Pennsylvania, where it placed able and trusted men in the field, and boldly presented itself as resolved to maintain under all circumstances the integrity of the national credit, it has won signal victories. In this State, where it marked evident that it was prepared to sustain sound and pure government against hypocritical pretensions of reform and against a powerful and corrupt partisan despotism, it has been equally successful. Moderation, disinterested fidelity to the obvious desire of the people for good government, and practical measures for the redemption of the national obligations, and the establishment of a sound currency, will restore the entire National Government to the control of the Republicans. They will then have unlimited opportunities to serve the country as nobly in the future as they have ever done, even in the trying period of civil war, in the past.

The Cuban Situation.

Monday's telegrams from Washington indicate the possibility of our Government's departing from the policy of strict neutrality with regard to Cuban affairs which it has hitherto observed, and taking some steps to bring the insurrection there to a crisis, which will result either in its suppression or the final independence of the Island.

If the telegram exactly outlines the Washington note, that communication's character must have been what diplomatists call "energetic." It states the failure of Spain to maintain her authority in Cuba, though the means she has adopted have been sanguinary, and hints that there seems to be but one issue to the struggle, and that is Cuban independence. The expression on the slavery question are particularly strong, as are also the expressions of American impatience at the state of affairs in the Island.

It is not often, at least before open hostilities are anticipated, that diplomatic language becomes so very pointed. Spain, however, has reached such a position in the world, that nothing but the very strongest language has any effect upon her, and that language must be backed up with an evident intention of the immediate use of force. She cares little for hard words, and less for the disapprobation of civilized people, unless the disapprobation takes expression in iron clads, and heavy battalions.

One thing is certain. The United States has abundant justification for any course it may choose to take in the matter It has so far fulfilled with scrupulous exactness every obligation of neutrality. It has seen its trade with Cuba destroyed, its vessels annoyed and insulted, its citizens imprisoned and summoned, and when reparation or apology has been required, has been put off for months and years, by the shuffling, lying evasiveness of the Spanish military, who were only strong enough to be insolent, but not to acknowledge a wrong and repair it. It is not probable that there will be any war now, even if the Administration has made an ultimatum; a good strong showing of earnestness will bring the Spanish to their senses, close the war in Cuba, by acknowledging the Island's independence, and thus do a service to humanity, as well as secure for our flag the respect to which it is entitled in the Caribbean Sea.—Ex.

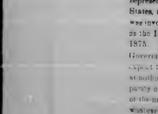
GET YOUR

JOB PRINTING

DONE AT THE

SENTINEL

JOB PRINTING OFFICE.



AGENTS! Most Magnificent Gift

$75 A DAY OUR AGENTS

"SHTOP A LEETLE!"

Spring Harbor,

HEAD OF PINE LAKE.

The Secret of Wonderful Growth and Success.

Way up in the north is a very smart town,
In the country all over it is gaining renown,
It's in Charlevoix county and Spring Harbor Town,
The soil's so rich it you plant a small seed
It grows a big yield it never will fail
It surely is on for the people all say
That soil is a crowder the very next day—
In Charlevoix county and Spring Harbor Town.

There are the merchants who're up to their trade,
Will sell you fine goods before they are made—
In Charlevoix county and Spring Harbor Town;
They'll not stoop so low as tell you small lies,
But their secret of trade is they all advertise.
And their efforts are crowned by millions of wealth,
While they all do enjoy the most perfect health
In Charlevoix county and Spring Harbor Town.

There there are the doctors they'll cure you of ills,
With syrups and drugs and various pills—
In Charlevoix county and Spring Harbor Town.

If they so you once make a professional call,
Again in your life you'll be ill not at all,
If they call once or twice you'll then feel so clever,
You'll not die at all, but live on forever—
In Charlevoix county and Spring Harbor Town

There is the "Journal" the sheet of the age,
Give all the news it doth always engage
In Charlevoix county and Spring Harbor Town.

And the editor knows his business so well,
Believe what I say, for the truth I do tell
If a man is murdered and left in his gore,
It will give you the name two or three days before,
In Charlevoix county and Spring Harbor Town.

Now I suppose you'll be glad to all know,
How strangely it happens that to be so—
In Charlevoix county and Spring Harbor Town,
When the cause I do give, you all will confess,
The secret that leads to perfect success
They get their goods cheaper than ever before,
For they buy all they use at Nichols's store.

TO PAY SUCH TERRIBLE PRICES FOR GOODS, WHEN BY CALLING AT THE

"REGULATOR"

You can purchase them at least THIRTY PER CENT. less than at any other place in this part of Charlevoix County. That is what we say at the "REGULATOR" We have lots of

NEW GOODS,

And more coming daily. We have Boots and Shoes for men; We have all kinds of Shoes for Ladies; we have Boots and Shoes and all kinds of nice things for the little ones. We have all kinds of DRESS GOODS; we have all kinds of CLOTH to make clothes for the men and boys. We have

PORK AND FLOUR,

And all kinds of Groceries such as

SUGARS,
TEAS,
COFFEES
SPICES,
OILS,

WE ALSO HAVE A LARGE ASSORTMENT OF

Farming Implements,

SUCH AS PLOWS, SHOVEL PLOWS, SCYTHES, SNATHS, RAKES, FORKS, HOES, CULTIVATORS AND DRAGS. ALSO AN ASSORTMENT OF

TINWARE.

So, if you'll buy cheaper than ever before, go to NICHOLS' Store, on Pine Lake shore, where the water doth roar, and all people, and more, say, that never before, in the country all o'er, did they see people pour into the door of a store, where they'd by lots of goods and then buy some more; for they say he sells lower by thirty per cent or perhaps more, than ever before, at any man's store; so after reading this over, if still you'd know more, Tommie will

TURN THE CRANK TO THE MACHINE

And tell you if you wish to astonish yourself with low prices, that you must go to 99999 Gold Dust Avenue, nearly opposite to the Second National Bank, and directly opposite to the Metropolitan Hotel, Spring Harbor.

TRULY YOURS:

T. W. NICHOLS.

Carpenter & Bartholomew

Cheap Cash Store is just the Place to Buy Your Goods!

CARPENTER & BARTHOLOMEW'S

Standard Goods and Bottom Prices is their Motto.

South End of Bridge Street.

Charlevoix, Mich.

MEDICAL

HALL,

CHARLEVOIX,

JUST THE PLACE TO BUY

DRUGS

And Dye Stuffs,

JUST THE PLACE TO BUY

Patent Medicines

JUST THE PLACE TO BUY

Stationery, Ink and Pens

And Pocket Inkstands,

JUST THE PLACE TO BUY

Perfumes and Hair Oils

Flavoring Extracts, and Toilet Goods,

JUST THE PLACE TO BUY

The Self-Adjusting Truss

JUST THE PLACE TO GET

Prescriptions Compounded

At all hours—night or day.

IN FACT, just the place to get anything you want in the Druggists line,

Cheap for Cash.

New store opposite Stockman's Hardware Store

GEO. W. CROUTER.

Druggist and Chemist

THE STARCH PROPELLER

1875. 1875

A. C. VanRaalte

Capt. Alvin Dodge.

Will run during the season of 1875, as follows, between

Petoskey & Traverse City:

Will leave Petoskey at o'clock a.m. on

Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays,

Arriving at Traverse City at 7 o'clock the same evening. Will leave Traverse City at o'clock a. m. on

Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays,

arriving at Petoskey the same evening, and touching at all intermediate ports on Grand Traverse Bay, both ways

THE SENTINEL

JOB PRINTING

DEPARTMENT

COMPLETE

PLAIN and COLORED

Promptly and

700,000 ACRES

Of splendid farming land in the Best

Farming Land

To Colonists on Installments For 1873, 1874 and 1875.

These lands are covered with beech and maple, elm and basswood, and are accessible to best markets.

WATER AND RAIL.

And are in a portion of the State unsurpassed for health, well watered, contiguous to the great Fruit raising section of the East shore of Lake Michigan.

The Grand Rapids & Indiana Railroad runs through the centre of the grand.

The part of Michigan in which these lands are found is

Not a Wilderness, By Any Means.

It contains a population of two HUNDRED AND FIFTY THOUSAND souls, and is rapidly filling up with people from Canada, Sweden, Norway, Holland, and from almost every State in the Union.

Over 134,000 acres have already been sold, and now is the time to secure your homes. The wealth of the country will be developed, and now is the time to secure your wealth, when it can be had cheap.

50,000 Acres

In Charlevoix County.

For sale at from $3 to $5 per acre on one, two and three years time, according to location and quality.

Send for our illustrated pamphlet.

Address W. A. HOWARD,
P. R. L. PRINCE, Commissioner
Secretary Land Department,
Grand Rapids, Mich.

DRUGS and MEDICINE

DR. LEWIS

Tenders his thanks to the inhabitants of Charlevoix and vicinity for past patronage and solicites a continuance of the same. He has

JUST RECEIVED

A large stock of medicines, such as

Fluid Extracts,
Tinctures,
Essences
Oils of all kinds,
Gums,
Perfumery, etc.

PATENT MEDICINES.

A large stock, such as Ayers, Jaynes, Sewall's, Peterman's, Hostetter's, Seger's & Herrick's.

A Full Supply of Dye Stuffs.

All goods sold as cheap as by any house in the North of Grand Rapids.

I Keep What I Advertise.

Dr. Cox's Hive (Croup) Syrup has been known and used by the medical profession over 100 years, and as a remedy for Colds and Coughs has no other and better reputation than it has to-day. It is known as the Compound Syrup of Squills, and a formula may be found in every medical dispensatory.

Dr. Spencer's Hive Syrup and Tolu, in addition to the ingredients for Cox's Hive Syrup, contains Balsam of Tolu, decoction of Indian Cabbage Root and Lobelia, a combination that most confirmed it to every one as a superior article for Coughs, Colds, Croup, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Pneumonia, Influenza, Colds, Indeed for all affections of the throat and lungs where a Cough Medicine is necessary

This Syrup is Carefully Prepared under the personal direction of a regular Physician of over twenty years practice, whose signature is attached to the directions on the bottle.

The taste is very pleasant and children like it.

Every family should keep it as a ready remedy for Croup, Colds, etc., among the children.

D. RANSOM, Son & Co., Prop'r, Buffalo, N. Y.

DR. J. R. MILLER'S

UNIVERSAL

MAGNETIC BALM.

It cures as if by MAGNETIC INFLUENCE, Neuralgia and all pains, and is therefore very properly termed "Magnetic Balm." It is purely a vegetable preparation. It has no equal as a remedy for Cholera, Cholera Morbus, Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Cramps and Summer Complaint.

For Canker sore mouth, Sore throat, Croup, Diphtheria, Quinsy, and all Throat affections.

When properly used, Fever and Ague, and other complaints incidental to our western and southern climates, are easily broken up.

Nervous Pains, Sick Headache, and Rheumatism are cured by his medicine when all others have failed. Sold by all Druggists. Price 25 cents per bottle and Dollar size. Sent by express on receipt of price.

Manufactured only by Dr. Hannam & Co.'s Laboratory, 56 and 58 Main street, Buffalo, N. Y. Examine bottle closely, and buy none but the genuine.

Sold by all Druggists. Price 25 cents per bottle.

D. RANSOM, Son & Co., Prop'r, Buffalo, N. Y.

A GREAT OFFER

London -- Sultan of Zanzibar -- Crystal Palace.

Correspondence Oswego Herald.

The 19th of June being a great festday at the Crystal Palace, in honor of the Sultan of Zanzibar, who is visiting London, I considered to be one of the number to visit the place and see this agent, beautiful at all times, but now to be dressed in its holiday suit, and a grand opera of two thousand singers to be in attendance, the exhibition to close with fire works in the evening.

We take an omnibus at Regent Circus, and ride to London Bridge, passing thro' crowded streets, jammed with busy life. I sit by the side of a cockney gentleman, and, Yankee like, ask questions—a good way to gain information and become acquainted with the habits of a people.

At London bridge we cross the Thames and take the cars for Lydenham, ten miles distant. We pass over locomotives, now passing down into crowded streets, now descending and rushing through great arches of granite, and then skim along by green groves and neat villas, until we reach the beautiful town of Lydenham, where we find the Crystal Palace to be half a mile or more in extent, of glass, and its extensive grounds covering about two hundred acres, standing upon elevated ground, overlooking at least twenty five miles of country. It was erected in 1853 —4, at a cost of one hundred and forty thousand pounds. We are almost bewildered when within, and as we look down its centre nave for hundreds of feet, see stately fern and palm trees, between which rare statuary of bronze and marble stand; now glittering fountains throwing up water to great heights, and falling back into lovely clear lakes, in whose waters gold fish swim, beneath the sweet floating pond lily. Here and there can be seen Bengal tigers, watch lock no more out of proportion than a piano in a large parlor. We enter one of its walls are adorned with high mirrors, pillars, and richly gilt and frescoed. We go into the court yard, with two thousand persons present, and in its centre a fountain with a large basin, rich in bright colored mosaics studded by pearls and jewels of whose roots grow trees, flowers, vines and shrubs thrown a shower of water from pitchers, horns and pipes into the center basin. We leave this and enter a Persian palace under archways rich in gaudy colors and gilt. The floor of the court yard is laid with tiles of fine white marble, and twelve marble lions support upon their backs a round marble containing a lake, in the centre of which a lovely fountain is playing. Around this court yard the bright gilt pillars which support archways leading into interior halls with the richest gilded and painted walls.

One bath room in this palace was of a Latin shape, its ceiling a mass of carving and bond gilt, and its walls and floor white marble. To make this more the more palace like, Persians, dressed in their richest costume, walked about as if at home.

In the Egyptian department rare sights are to be seen. Opposite, sixty feet high, a mummy case first where you enter the Egyptian portion, you can obtain glimpses of the interior of that long buried country. Here are crowds of natives among the jungle, one leading a camel to an oasis to drink, while among tall palms, camels cooperate starts at you, and in the distant superstition.

Here we see rare American Indian canoes, and further on Japanese bonzes and lamyres and peasant are acquainted with the wonders of the west. Then a Bohemian department, filled with the richest of their most beautiful wares. In the centre of this building is an elevated platform with raised seats on which three thousand singers sit, and the royal band, eighty or one hundred in number, dressed in scarlet, and an organ whose every note is like a cataract in volume of sounds, but sweet with harmony.

Now look with me over the form of thousands that have crowded into this place. Yonder is the platform covered with scarlet. About twenty chairs are upon it in readiness to receive the royal guests now about to enter. Every one is on tip toe. One women in a black bombazine bonnet, with a brat in her arms of about six years, begins screaming out, "oh, Tommy, he's coming, he's coming, yes, he's coming," and almost pushing me off the chair, upon which I was standing, on to a poor growing Zuckeous bribed me. But Hallelujah we fight. At the north end coming up the nave, we see a row of bright colors approach. The Sultan of Zanzibar wears a lemon colored and sky blue satin robe, and a rich turban on his head. His suit, six in number, wear blue silk and tight pauncy robes, with red and gilt turbans. As they are conducted to the stand prepared for them, the band and orchestra of three thousand performers, accompanied by the organ, make the palace ring, and "God save the Queen" was sung as I never heard it before.

It was a brilliant scene within, but astonishing still more grand awaited us without. At 2:30 o'clock, one hundred thousand persons were in front of this great palace, on its steps, its windows and in these beautiful grounds. Now the grand scene commences—the fountains begin to play, throwing twelve thousand jets, some to a great height into the sky, and fall back into lakes among beds of rare flowers. These fountains are illuminated by calcium lights to the most brilliant and varied shades. While one is scarlet, another will be blue or green, and another will look like glittering diamonds, and as these fall into the lakes below, are also changed to the different colors of the rainbow. At the same time rise into the air nine balloons with balls or suns attached of different colors, that illuminate the country for miles around as bright as the noonday sun, and throwing pearly flashes upon the palace windows and the thousand, that surrounded it. At a great height these balls explode and fall back in different designs—a fountain or a cross, and these again into meteoric showers upon the ground. Yonder, in the background, is a representation of the volcano of Vesuvius; it bursts, a crater opens, the smoky red lava pours down in the shape of a mountain, with constant eruptions of bright gems.

Another St. Pauls is also before you with its grand dome of silver and gold and yet, again, the appearance of two Roman temples, with a grand dome and pillars of gilt, on the top of the dome a ball that throws high a fountain of spray, to fall back in a shower of glittering drops over the temple. As we look upon all this and hear the royal artillery band discoursing the sweetest music, we are almost carried back to the days of the old "Arabian Nights Entertainments." But the spell is broken as we go jammed and crushed to the railway train, reaching our homes at midnight, a very tired and worn out specimen of humanity.

The Democrats have suddenly lost the admiration for Carl Schurz. Last year he was, in their opinion, "the noblest German in America." Now they call him an "unreliable Dutchman." When they thought him an ally of Democracy, he was the foremost statesman of the age;" now that he has urged the election of Governor Hayes, they consider him "a third-rate statesman," and claim that they kept him at home in Missouri because they wanted a better man. Schurz was the Democratic idol of yesterday; to day they are ready to burn him as a heretic. Yet Schurz stands where he always stood—the difficulty being, that he didn't stand where the Democrats thought he did.

The Republican party has not made, nor does it intend to make, war upon the Catholic Church. It holds, what many intelligent Catholics hold, that the Roman Catholic Church has no right to appropriate one dollar of the public school funds for the support of sectarian schools. It maintains the same doctrine toward all sects and creeds. The Roman Church has been the only one that claimed a division of the school funds. Opposition to this claim has brought about the issue between the Ultramontane branch of the Catholic Church and the Republican party. The Church has allied itself with the Democratic party to carry its point, and thus control a portion of the school money. The Republicans are a unit against the policy and the alliance. This is the whole question at issue.

K. B.

KING OF THE BLOOD.

THE MOST THOROUGH PURIFIER OF THE BLOOD YET DISCOVERED.

CURES ALL HUMORS, FROM A CONSON ERUPTION TO THE WORST SCROFULA.

By its use Cancers are cured, and Cankerous tumors are dispersed without the use of the knife, and suppressed, and Consumptive tendencies counteracted.

Venereal Diseases, Mercurial and Minerals Poisons, and their effects eradicated, and vigorous health and a sound constitution established.

Female Weakness and Disease, Dropsy, general or partial, Swellings, external of internal, and Tumors are reduced and dispersed in a very short time.

Scrofula, Salt Rheum, Scald Head, and Fever Sores are soon removed by this powerful deep-seated medicine.

Scorbutic Diseases, Dandruff, Scaly or Rough Skin, and Pimples quickly give way, leaving the skin smooth and fair.

Chronic Diseases, Fever and Ague, Disordered Liver, Dyspepsia, Rheumatism, Nervous Affections, General Debility, in short, all the diseases arising from a bad state of the blood, are speedily and prov ed by this most powerful corrector, the King of the Blood.

Each bottle contains between forty and fifty ordinary doses, costing only one dollar.

From one to four or five bottles will cure Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ring Worm, Pimples on the Face, Blotches, ordinary Eruptions, etc.

From two to eight bottles will cure Scald Head, Ring Worm, Pimples on the Face, Canker in the Mouth and Stomach, Eruptions, etc.

From two to ten bottles will restore healthy action to the Liver and System, will regulate the Bowels and Kidneys.

From two to six bottles will be found effectual in curing Neuralgia, Sick Headache, St. Vitus' Dance, and Nervousness.

From one to twelve bottles will cure the worst cases of Scrofula.

From three to twelve bottles will cure severe and obstinate cases of Catarrh.

From two to four bottles will cure the worst cases of Piles, and regulate Costive Bowels.

From two to ten bottles will cure bad cases of Dropsy.

Price $1 per bottle, or 6 bottles for $5. Sold by all Druggists

D. RANSOM, SON & CO., Prop'rs,
Sole Proprietors and Manufacturers, Buffalo, N. Y.

$25 A DAY GUARANTEED to agents for the WELL AUGER AND DRILL. A good article. Address, MORSE BROTHERS, Manufacturers, QUINCY, ILLINOIS, or WATERLOO, IOWA. Mention this Paper.

NORWOOD.

F. J. MEECH & Co

NORWOOD, MICH.,

DEALERS IN

DRY GOODS,

Groceries and Provisions,

Also Manufacturers of

HARDWOOD LUMBER,

Lath and Shingles.

FALL & WINTER.

1875-6.

Stacks and Stacks

OF

NEW GOODS!

ON THE SHELVES AND IN THE WAREHOUSE,

AT

Fox, Rose & Buttars,

IN EVERY DEPARTMENT We are supplied

With the Best

THAT THE

Wholesale Markets Afford.

WE ARE BETTER PREPARED THAN EVER TO SUPPLY THE WANTS OF OUR CUSTOMERS, AND BETTER PREPARED

To Sell Cheap.

IT IS UNNECESSARY

To Enumerate Articles;

WE SELL

What You Want,

Be Your Wants Ever So Numerous.

Termites.

THE termite is known the world over as the white ant and yet it is not an ant at all, but belongs to the order of Neuroptera, which embraces the dragon flies, the May flies and Duchess wing flies; whereas the true ant belongs to the order Hymenoptera, which includes the bees, the wasps, the saw flies, the gall flies, etc., etc. The termites are social insects, and live in immense communities, like the bees and true ants. Like the bees and true ants, too, they are divided into three classes, viz.: Males, females and neuters. The neuters are again separated into two castes, comprising respectively of aborted males called soldiers and aborted females called workers.

The soldiers have large heads and strong mandibles, fitting them for their sole duty in life, which is to defend the colonies and fight to the death in the protection of the workers and the helpless queen under all the community. The workers, upon which comprise the bulk of the colony, outnumbering the soldiers by about 100 to one, have small heads and short pincer like mandibles. Upon them devolves the labor of constructing nests, tunneling galleries, collecting provisions, nursing the young and waiting upon the queen. Strangely enough, both soldiers and workers are totally blind, and although they have such complicated organs implanted in their stomach, commonly invisible by the aid of sight. The largest of the termites is the Termes bellicosus which inhabits Western and Southern Africa. The workers of this species are one-fifth of an inch in length, the soldiers are twice as long and weigh fifteen times as much, and the males are four-fifths of an inch long and weigh thirty times as much as the workers. The full grown queen is two inches inches in length and will outweigh 30,000 workers.

All the termites are miners, and the greater number are also architects and weavers. One species, the Termes obscurus, builds its nest in trees, sometimes at the height of seventy or eighty feet. These arboreal structures are of huge size, like great cigars sacks, and are made of particles of grassed wood and cemented together, and so strongly attached to a branch that the severest storm will not dislodge them from their lofty site.

The Termes lucifugus build their nest in the form of upright cylinders, which are from two to three feet high, about five feet in diameter, and are composed of earth and grayish black earth or clay. The cylinders are capped with a roof whose eaves jut three or four inches beyond the circumference, which gives the whole the appearance of a gigantic mushroom. Just the moment the

The Congregational Society of Allegan have added an orchestra to their choir, consisting of trombone, cornet, violin, violincello, flute and organ. The minister of that church is supposed to ride and say: "Please fiddle and toot the one hundredth psalm. The congregation will howl in unison.

Rumor-Bonanza has found another curse at the Custard burial lot in the Montreal cemetery. The cemetery is consecrated ground, and in order to preserve its sanctity, he says that he in which the unfortunate Custard may be laid. We presume that the worthy Bishop would rather a portion ought in the center of his land in order to preserve the rest of his graves.

The Wisconsin election, which has been the cause for a great deal of excitement, so far as the Governor is concerned, between Lodington Republican, is no satisfaction of Governor by about 3,000 majority. It is altogether probable that if before the Republican candidate for Lieutenant Governor, and Warner, the Republican candidate for Secretary of State, are also elected and that the Legislature will be Republican.

How our taxes soar. There is no telling how soon the words from the East may be heard along Antrim street. The New York and Brooklyn Association of Congregational Ministers is not satisfied with the result of the recent Beecher trial. A committee of six members has been appointed to go to Brooklyn next week, take a good long sniff and report the condition of the carrion in the association.

The action of Plymouth Church with reference to Mrs Moulton can hardly fail to receive it on new complications unless it withdraws wholly from the Congregational denomination and becomes strictly independent. No church which says really organized body of religious believers can consent to occupy such a hostile attitude against their pastor—and no such organization of the terrible accusations calmly and speechless reiterated in the present incongruous and foul their whole irregular action approved. It is quite probable that another council may come of this.

Wrecks

The storm of the past week or ten days have been the most disastrous experienced by the shipping interests on the lakes for several years. The shores of all the great lakes are strewn with wrecks, and the wrecking tugs which have been lying idle during the early part of the season now have much more than they can do. The steamer Rouse Bonanza has found another curse at the Custard burial lot in the Montreal cemetery. The cemetery is consecrated ground, and in order to preserve its sanctity, he says that he in which the unfortunate Custard may be laid. We presume that the worthy Bishop would rather a portion ought in the center of his land in order to preserve the rest of his graves.

N MILLINERY AND

Dress - Making

ESTABLISHMENT.

Fancy Goods, such as Corsets, Zephyrs, Yokes, Trim mings, Parasols, Kid Gloves, etc. Also Cashmere for Sacques Dresses and Cloaks fitted and made to the latest fashions.

Charges Reasonable.

Rooms in Harry Newman's Insurance Building

MISS A. M. SACKETT.

Charlevoix, June 17, 1875. P-19

Hemlock Bark!

The undersigned, owners of the schooner E. M. Stanton, would inform the people of the Lake and vicinity they are prepared to

Contract for Any Amount of Hemlock Bark to be delivered on the beach of Round or Pine Lakes, or South Arm. For terms at Dan. Bros & Bolton, Carpenter & Bartholomew, and Boynton, Bros., are our authorized agents with whom contracts can be made, or with Dr. Wright, of the firm of

CAPT. P. JOHNSON & Co.

Charlevoix, May 1, 1875.

N. B.—Samuel Hall and C. Fenlon, as also our subscribers agent.

L A W

—AND—

Real Est Office

—OF—

Edw. H. Green,

Charlevoix Mich.

Improved Farms

—AND—

Wild Lands

Bought and sold on commission

Taxes Paid and Non-Resident Land Cared For.

Collections a Specialty.

Titles Investigated, & Abstracts of Titles Furnished.

Four thousand acres of the choicest Farming lands in Charlevoix, Emmet and Antrim counties for sale at LOW PRICES. Most of these lands are situated near the South Arm, Intermediate and Pine Lake, and are situated in school districts, and situated on good roads.

Surveying and descriptions given to orders.

E. H. GREEN

Real Estate Agent

Charlevoix, Mich.

THE BOSS

Grocery Store.

—

BYRON SEE

Call the attention of the people of this vicinity to the superior facilities

GROCERIES

Cannot be bought cheaper in the central avenue region than at His store in Charlevoix

Also Dry Goods

As cheap as the cheapest

Come and See!

Charlevoix, August 1, 1875.

ANDREW D. D. MCABE.

Charlevoix Michigan.

BOOT AND SHOE SHOP.

Is now done promptly and [illegible] Repairing done on short n

AGENTS! Most Magnificent Gift

[illegible]

DECATUR, ILLS.

K. V. B.

KING OF THE BLOOD.

THE MOST POWERFUL PURIFIER OF THE BLOOD YET DISCOVERED.

CURES ALL HUMORS, FROM A COMMON PIMPLE TO THE WORST SCROFULA

By its use Cancers are cured, and malignant humors are removed from the system. Scrofula [illegible] conquered, and Consumption prevented and cured.

Venereal Diseases, Mercurial and other poisons, contracted by exposure and imprudence, the world's most potent counteractant and antidote.

Female Weakness and Disease, Bloody, general or special, functional or structural, and Tumors are relieved and dispersed in a very short time.

Erysipelas, salt Rheum, Scald Head, and Eruptive diseases, Boils, Carbuncles, Ulcers, Sores, Scurvy, Itch, Blotches, Pimples, and Pustules.

Scrofulous Diseases, Duadruff, Scaly or Thick Skin, and Tetter, eradicating it for ever, leaving the skin smooth and fair.

Chronic Diseases, Fever and Ague, Bilious Fever, Hepatitis, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Affections of the Kidneys, and all diseases of the urinary organs, are cured by its use, and the blood so purified and vivified that a cure powerful constitution the City of the Blood.

Go to bottle contains between forty and fifty ordinary dining size tea spoonfuls.

From one to four or five bottles will cure any ordinary case of Boils, Humors, Pimples, Blotches, Ulcers, Sores, Scurvy, Itch, Tetter, Ringworm, etc.

From two to eight bottles will cure Kidney Complaints of the Back, Loins, Bowels, and Genito-urinary Mucous and Stomach Erysipelas, or.

From two to ten bottles will correct habits of intoxication and opium, will regulate the bowels and Stomach.

From two to six bottles will be found effectual in curing Salt Rheum, Blotches, Skin Diseases, Boils, Carbuncles, Ringworm, Tetter, Scurvy, Itch, Scaly or Thick Skin, and Humors of every description.

From five to twelve bottles will cure the worst cases of Scrofula.

From five to ten bottles will cure any case of Chronic Rheumatism.

From two to four bottles will cure any case of Female Weakness, Leucorrhœa, or Whites, recent cases of Gonorrhœa, Gleet, Stricture, Inflammation of the Bladder, Ulceration of the Bladder, Diseases of the Prostate Gland, Involuntary Discharges, Pain in the Back, Kidneys, and along the Urethra, Gravel, Calculus, or Stone in the Bladder, Retention of Urine, Dropsy, Dropsy of the Heart, Pain in the Region of the Heart, Palpitation of the Heart, Hysteria, Female Weakness, Irritability, Nervousness, Sleeplessness, Nervous Prostration, Nervous Debility, Mental Depression, Softening of the Brain resulting in Insanity, Idiocy, Impotency, Diseases caused by the Habits of Solitary Vice, Self-Abuse, Over-Indulgence, Sexual Excesses, Involuntary Seminal Losses, Spermatorrhœa, Impotency, Sterility, Barrenness, Leucorrhœa, or Whites, Incipient Consumption, Chronic Diarrhœa, Chronic Dysentery, Chronic Inflammation of the Kidneys, Chronic Gravel, Chronic Inflammation of the Bladder, Chronic Retention of Urine, Chronic Affections of the Prostate Gland, Chronic Dropsy, Chronic Dropsy of the Heart, Chronic Rheumatism, Chronic Erysipelas, Chronic Salt Rheum, Chronic Scald Head, Chronic Ringworm, Chronic Tetter, Chronic Scurvy, Chronic Itch, Chronic Boils, Chronic Carbuncles, Chronic Ulcers, Chronic Sores, Chronic Blotches, Chronic Pimples, Chronic Pustules, Chronic Scaly or Thick Skin, Chronic Humors of every description, Chronic Scrofula, Chronic Consumption, Chronic Mercurial Diseases, Chronic Poisons, Chronic Female Weakness, Chronic Irritability, Chronic Nervousness, Chronic Sleeplessness, Chronic Nervous Prostration, Chronic Nervous Debility, Chronic Mental Depression, Chronic Softening of the Brain resulting in Insanity, Chronic Idiocy, Chronic Impotency, Chronic Diseases caused by the Habits of Solitary Vice, Chronic Self-Abuse, Chronic Over-Indulgence, Chronic Sexual Excesses, Chronic Involuntary Seminal Losses, Chronic Spermatorrhœa, Chronic Impotency, Chronic Sterility, Chronic Barrenness, Chronic Leucorrhœa, or Whites, Chronic Incipient Consumption, Chronic

THE SENTINEL.

WILLARD A. SMITH, Editor and Proprietor.

CHARLEVOIX, - MICHIGAN.

THE NEWS.

On the 6th the London stock market was greatly depressed in consequence of the report that Austria had garrisoned the frontier forts and was preparing to take a hand in the Turkish troubles. It was reported on the 7th that 30,000 Servian militia had assembled on the frontier and that that Government had sent an agent to Paris and London to negotiate a loan.

The Seraglio, with the Prince of Wales on board, reached Homburg on the 7th.

The Republicans in Washington on the evening of the 6th fired 100 guns over the victories gained by them at the elections on the 5th. The President was serenaded, and briefly responded.

There were issued by the Postoffice Department during the month of October 27,188,060 postal cards, being 5,000,000 more than during any previous month.

John A. Ryan has been appointed Postmaster at Vicksburg, Miss., in place of Henry B. Paine, suspended under the Tenure-of-Office Act.

The claim of the State of Nebraska for $58,038, being 5 per cent on the value of the estimated quantity of Indian reservations in that State, has been disallowed by the Treasury Department.

The following-named gentlemen compose the committee appointed by the Congregational Association of Michigan to investigate the charges against Mr. Beecher: Rev. Wm. Taylor, New York; Rev. Dr. William Ives Buddington, Brooklyn; Rev. Profs. Parsons and Martin, of the New York Theological Seminary, and Rev. Charles H. Everest, of Brooklyn. Plymouth Church has referred to a committee the charge made by Mr. Moulton against Mr. Beecher.

The Congressmen elected on the 3d are: First Massachusetts District, Wm. W. Crapo (Rep.); First Mississippi, Lucius Q. C. Lamar (Dem.), reelected; Second, G. Wiley Wetzes (Rep.); Third, H. D. Money (Dem.); Fourth, Dr. R. Singleton (Rep.); Fifth, C. E. Hooker (Dem.); Sixth, Reuben Davis (Dem.); Thirty-third New York, Nelson I. Norton (Rep.).

The election returns in Colorado show that the Territorial Legislature will be composed as follows: Council—Republicans, 4; Democrats, 9. House—Republicans, 16; Democrats, 26.

The Prince of Wales received a magnificent ovation at Bombay on the 8th, participated in alike by natives and Europeans. More than 200,000 people took part in it.

A Republican telegram of the 8th says the State has lost something over 30,000 votes since the October election. Of this number the Democrats claim 20,000 have been disfranchised by the new registration, ranging from 1,500 to 300 voters in each township. The Democrats claim that the remaining 10,000 will vote the Democratic ticket, and that the Democratic majority will be reduced to 5,000.

The Chicago papers of the 11th state that arrangements for pooling all earnings had been entered into by the Lake Shore, the Michigan Central and the Fort Wayne Railroads. All the other trunk lines both West have consented to it, and would act in concert with the new combination in respect to rates.

THE MARKETS.

NEW YORK.

LIVE STOCK.—Beef Cattle—$10.00@13.75. Hogs—Live, $5.00@5.12½. Sheep—Live, $4.00@5.85.

BREADSTUFFS.—Flour—Good to choice, $5.70@6.80; white wheat extra, $8.10@8.60. Wheat—No. 2 Chicago, $1.07@1.07½. No. 2 Northwestern, $1.08@1.09; No. 2 Milwaukee spring, $1.06@1.08. Rye—Western and State, 89@90. Barley—$1.05@1.10. Corn—Mixed Western, 78@80. Oats—Mixed Western, 62@66. Provisions—Pork—Mess, $23.00@23.50. Lard—Prime Steam (New), 12½@12¾. Cheese—Fair to Choice.

Wool—Domestic Fleece, 65@66c.

CHICAGO.

LIVE STOCK.—Beeves—Choice, $5.50@6.00; Good, $5.00@5.25; medium, $4.00@4.50; butchers' stock, $2.50@3.25; stock cattle, $2.75@3.25. Hogs—Live, $4.40@4.60. Sheep—Good to choice, $4.25@5.75.

PRODUCE.—Butter—Choice, 30@32c. Eggs—Fresh, 28@29c. Pork—Mess, $17.00@17.25. Lard—$12.00@12.25.

BREADSTUFFS.—Flour—White Winter Extra, $5.75@6.10; spring extra, $5.00@5.60. Wheat—Spring, No. 2, $1.07@1.07¼. Corn—No. 2, 72½@73c. Oats—No. 2, 30¾@30¾c. Rye—No. 2, 86@86½c. Barley—No. 2, 80@82c.

CINCINNATI.—Flour—Family, $5.75@6.00. Wheat—Red, $1.07@1.08; amber, $1.08@1.09. Corn—Mixed, 75@76c. Oats—Mixed, 36@37c. Rye—No. 2, 86@86½c. Barley—No. 2, 80@82c.

DETROIT.—Wheat—No. 1 white, $1.07½; amber, $1.07½; No. 2 red, $1.07½. Corn—No. 1, 72c. Oats—No. 1 white, 36c. Rye—No. 1, 85c. Barley—No. 2, $1.00. Lard—$12.00@12.25.

EAST LIBERTY.

LIVE STOCK.—Beeves—Best, $6.00@6.50; medium, $5.00@5.50. Hogs—Yorkers, $5.00@5.40; Philadelphias, $5.50@5.60. Sheep—Best, $5.00@5.35; medium, $4.00@4.75.

Some of Stanley's Discoveries in Africa.

The New York Herald of Nov. 10 publishes a telegraphic synopsis of letters received in London from Stanley. He says: "Livingstone was wrong in reporting that the Victoria Nyanza consisted of five lakes. Speke correctly states that Victoria Nyanza is one lake, but Speke's two islands are peninsulas. The River Shimeeyu is the principal feeder of the lake and extremest source of the Nile yet discovered.

Stanley had several conflicts with slave-dealers on the lake. On one occasion he was attacked by 1,000 natives, armed with spears, in thirteen canoes, who were repulsed after a severe fight. Three natives were killed.

He arrived at the Ussui hunting-camp at Msaguru April 12, where the King did not recognize him. Stanley, after a forced extraordinary festivities and displays. One festival was a naval review on the lake of eighty-four canoes, manned by 2,500 men. On the second day, in addition to the usual manœuvers, there were races in which eighty-four canoes were engaged, each propelled by thirty paddlers. Mirambo, the King leading personally, in the presence of a great crowd of chiefs, headed the 900 wives of the King. On the third day there was a bird-shooting and target-practice-by 3,000 troops, and on the fourth day he returned to Msuas, the capital. The King has 5,000 subjects. He is a Musulman, has great intelligence, and his dominion affords the best scenery for the possible civilization of Africa.

Loss by Strikes.

That strikes end in nothing but losses to all around is proved by returns of the 2,460 bricklayers who struck in the summer of 1868 from June until October, a period of fourteen weeks, had $10,000 in their treasury at starting, which, with $20,000 subscribed in their aid by other unionists, boughed the country. Now, as actually expended in carrying on the strike, while the loss in wages (say $50 a week) and in other ways, to the country at large, that suffered by the employers and the community, brings up the cost of the movement to more than $150,000 or more.

Some 200 printers were on a strike in 1869 eleven weeks; it is officially reported that $20,000 was subscribed in aid of the strikers, and the value of their wages was $38,500 more, making a total cost of fifty-eight thousand dollars. Both these strikes were unsuccessful in their main objects.

The Bureau of Statistics in Massachusetts reports that the loss in production by the former strike in Fall River is at more than $1,250,000—the distinct loss to the operatives about $675,000. No doubt but the larger strike which for the last half-year has been going on in Fall River among many thousands of operatives involves a much greater loss in production and a proportionate greater loss to the workmen themselves. The strike is now about ended, as in the principal mill-ground that they had all perished on the ill-fated vessel. There were forty-eight persons on board, including the crew.

The French Minister of Finance has reported to the committee of the Assembly that the deficit of the first quarter of the commencement of the fiscal year has been $22,000,000 in excess of the estimate.

Russia has by special ukase, issued Nov. 6, annexed that portion of Khokand lying on the right bank of the Syr Darya, from the Russian frontier to the River Nareen.

According to a London dispatch of the 10th the war in Malacca had assumed a religious aspect.

One John's clothing manufactory, in Staffordshire, England, was burned on the 10th. The loss was very heavy, and 1,000 persons were deprived of employment.

Several important failures at the East were announced on the 10th. Among these were the firm of James Wickham & Co., cotton commission dealers in this city, and F. Gerdowsky, an extensive manufacturer of furniture at Boston.

A severe earthquake shock occurred in portions of Missouri and Kansas on the morning of the 10th. At Independence, Mo., several brick buildings were considerably injured, and citizens were aroused from sound slumber, thinking their houses were falling. The shock followed in Kansas and elsewhere in Kansas was also severe.

A correspondent of the Pacific Insurance Gazette, writing of Neal O'Hara, who was picked up on the morning of the 8th, fifty miles inside the Straits of Fuca, says: "He was picked up from a raft which Capt. Howell had been washed off and drowned. He says the Pacific was struck by a vessel under full sail. Two hands got away from the wreck. Five dead bodies had been recovered up to the 8th.

A curious accident occurred at the Detroit Postoffice on Saturday the office was open at the 10th. A large air-tube, six feet square, extends from the basement to the roof for carrying the steam of the plumbing machine to the cupola. While twelve or fifteen men were sweeping dust from the cupola down the tube to be so carried away, the fine particles took fire from smaldering embers near the foot of the tube and exploded with a loud report, which alarmed several of the men fearful some of them dangerously.

Heavy storms prevailed in France and England during the week preceding the 11th, and vast tracts of country were threatened by the rising floor s.

A fine silver explosion occurred in Mariadhyc colliery, Belgium, on the 11th, which caused the death of ten persons and serious injury to 300.

Accounts to a Constantinople dispatch of the 11th the Sublime Porte had ordered the disarmament of Teologes, Hilert and Pirus to be detached from the Insurgents and organized as a separate department under an Armenian Greek Governor.

Very Paramount Wilson was taken violently ill after a warm bath at the Capitol in Washington on the morning of the 11th. His physician reports that he is much improved in health on the 12th, and thought he could speedily recover.

The recent strikes in coal mines cost the poor victims of their leaders $500,000, and the employers, owners of mines, transporters of coal, and others $5,000,000. It must move.—Manufacturer and Builder.

—At the recent session of the North Philadelphia Inquest Association a resolution was unanimously passed in favor of investing common schools. The resolution condemned all legislative appropriations for sectarian objects. The present membership of the association is 5,327 persons, an increase during the year of 175.

The Western Manufacturer says nothing is more healing for a flesh wound than coke.

—Vagabonds of the brewers" is what M. Guillaumin calls coopers.

MICHIGAN STATE NEWS.

Snow fell at Grand Rapids for two hours on the afternoon of the 10th.

Detroit, 10,000,000 salmon eggs have lately been received at the State fish house.

There are 151 more children in the public schools of East Saginaw than there were a year ago.

The Chicago papers of the 11th state that arrangements for pooling all earnings had been entered into by the Lake Shore, the Michigan Central and the Fort Wayne Railroads. All the other trunk lines both West have consented to it, and would act in concert with the new combination in respect to rates.

THE MARKETS.

NEW YORK.

LIVE STOCK.—Beef Cattle—$10.00@13.75. Hogs—Live, $5.00@5.12½. Sheep—Live, $4.00@5.85.

BREADSTUFFS.—Flour—Good to choice, $5.70@6.80; white wheat extra, $8.10@8.60. Wheat—No. 2 Chicago, $1.07@1.07½. No. 2 Northwestern, $1.08@1.09; No. 2 Milwaukee spring, $1.06@1.08. Rye—Western and State, 89@90. Barley—$1.05@1.10. Corn—Mixed Western, 78@80. Oats—Mixed Western, 62@66. Provisions—Pork—Mess, $23.00@23.50. Lard—Prime Steam (New), 12½@12¾. Cheese—Fair to Choice.

Wool—Domestic Fleece, 65@66c.

CHICAGO.

LIVE STOCK.—Beeves—Choice, $5.50@6.00; Good, $5.00@5.25; medium, $4.00@4.50; butchers' stock, $2.50@3.25; stock cattle, $2.75@3.25. Hogs—Live, $4.40@4.60. Sheep—Good to choice, $4.25@5.75.

PRODUCE.—Butter—Choice, 30@32c. Eggs—Fresh, 28@29c. Pork—Mess, $17.00@17.25. Lard—$12.00@12.25.

BREADSTUFFS.—Flour—White Winter Extra, $5.75@6.10; spring extra, $5.00@5.60. Wheat—Spring, No. 2, $1.07@1.07¼. Corn—No. 2, 72½@73c. Oats—No. 2, 30¾@30¾c. Rye—No. 2, 86@86½c. Barley—No. 2, 80@82c.

CINCINNATI.—Flour—Family, $5.75@6.00. Wheat—Red, $1.07@1.08; amber, $1.08@1.09. Corn—Mixed, 75@76c. Oats—Mixed, 36@37c. Rye—No. 2, 86@86½c. Barley—No. 2, 80@82c. Lard, $12.00@12.25.

DETROIT.—Wheat—No. 1 white, $1.07½; amber, $1.07½; No. 2 red, $1.07½. Corn—No. 1, 72c. Oats—No. 1 white, 36c. Rye—No. 1, 85c. Barley—No. 2, $1.00. Lard—$12.00@12.25.

EAST LIBERTY.

LIVE STOCK.—Beeves—Best, $6.00@6.50; medium, $5.00@5.50. Hogs—Yorkers, $5.00@5.40; Philadelphias, $5.50@5.60. Sheep—Best, $5.00@5.35; medium, $4.00@4.75.

Some of Stanley's Discoveries in Africa.

The New York Herald of Nov. 10 publishes a telegraphic synopsis of letters received in London from Stanley. He says: "Livingstone was wrong in reporting that the Victoria Nyanza consisted of five lakes. Speke correctly states that Victoria Nyanza is one lake, but Speke's two islands are peninsulas. The River Shimeeyu is the principal feeder of the lake and extremest source of the Nile yet discovered.

Stanley had several conflicts with slave-dealers on the lake. On one occasion he was attacked by 1,000 natives, armed with spears, in thirteen canoes, who were repulsed after a severe fight. Three natives were killed.

He arrived at the Ussui hunting-camp at Msaguru April 12, where the King did not recognize him. Stanley, after a forced extraordinary festivities and displays. One festival was a naval review on the lake of eighty-four canoes, manned by 2,500 men. On the second day, in addition to the usual manœuvers, there were races in which eighty-four canoes were engaged, each propelled by thirty paddlers. Mirambo, the King leading personally, in the presence of a great crowd of chiefs, headed the 900 wives of the King. On the third day there was a bird-shooting and target-practice-by 3,000 troops, and on the fourth day he returned to Msuas, the capital. The King has 5,000 subjects. He is a Musulman, has great intelligence, and his dominion affords the best scenery for the possible civilization of Africa.

Loss by Strikes.

That strikes end in nothing but losses to all around is proved by returns of the 2,460 bricklayers who struck in the summer of 1868 from June until October, a period of fourteen weeks, had $10,000 in their treasury at starting, which, with $20,000 subscribed in their aid by other unionists, boughed the country. Now, as actually expended in carrying on the strike, while the loss in wages (say $50 a week) and in other ways, to the country at large, that suffered by the employers and the community, brings up the cost of the movement to more than $150,000 or more.

Some 200 printers were on a strike in 1869 eleven weeks; it is officially reported that $20,000 was subscribed in aid of the strikers, and the value of their wages was $38,500 more, making a total cost of fifty-eight thousand dollars. Both these strikes were unsuccessful in their main objects.

The Bureau of Statistics in Massachusetts reports that the loss in production by the former strike in Fall River is at more than $1,250,000—the distinct loss to the operatives about $675,000. No doubt but the larger strike which for the last half-year has been going on in Fall River among many thousands of operatives involves a much greater loss in production and a proportionate greater loss to the workmen themselves. The strike is now about ended, as in the principal mill-ground that they had all perished on the ill-fated vessel. There were forty-eight persons on board, including the crew.

The petters' strike at Trenton in 1869 lasted over twelve weeks and cost the men engaged in it apward of $70,000, and the employers over $250,000

The recent strikes in coal mines cost the poor victims of their leaders $500,000, and the employers, owners of mines, transporters of coal, and others $5,000,000. It must move.—Manufacturer and Builder.

—At the recent session of the North Philadelphia Inquest Association a resolution was unanimously passed in favor of investing common schools. The resolution condemned all legislative appropriations for sectarian objects. The present membership of the association is 5,327 persons, an increase during the year of 175.

The Western Manufacturer says nothing is more healing for a flesh wound than coke.

—Vagabonds of the brewers" is what M. Guillaumin calls coopers.

The November Elections.

The Albany Journal says the results of Nov 3 are generally received as an earnest of a gained Republican victory in the Empire State next year.

The dimensions of the great Democratic victory in Maryland are months from the fact that, excluding the ballot-stuffed vote of Baltimore, the total Democratic majority in the State was but 258.

It Uncle Sammy Tilden finds anything to rejoice over in the news of a re duced Democratic vote in the State at large he is entirely welcome to it. Put New York gone for a Republican majority for the Presidential candidate of 1876.—New York Commercial.

The tidal-wave of last year is overspreading back, and the Democracy everywhere are carried away by its unfortow. The Republicans can now enter upon the Presidential year of 1876 with the prestige of victory and the most auspicious omens of success. It will be their own fault if they fail to conquer.—Detroit Tribune.

Altogether the results of these November elections may be accepted as evidence of the determination of the people not to trust the Democracy any longer. They have had all they want, and more too, of Democratic rule, and they have returned to their first love, satisfied to trust the only party that has ever been true and faithful to their interests.—Pittsburgh Commercial.

Taken as a whole, yesterday's elections are a prominent Republican triumph, and more than a reinstatement the reverses of last year. If the latest political wave that swept away much that the Republican party had accomplished in a long lease of power, its present successor is a tidal wave that completely drowns all the lapses recently scanned in the Democracy and leaves it more secure than before. Thus crowned with victory, we approach the great contest of next year, and, if only the principles of good management held outdoring the current year be fulfilled, the result next November will be a most emphatic triumph for Republican principles.—Phil. Telegraph.

The meaning of the elections is simple this: The people have voted non-confidence in the Republican party and do not trust the Democracy. They still cherish the principles of the first fathers, and have intimated that he will accept the position.

Edwin Acker was drowned at Jackson on the night of the 1st. He was crossing a railroad bridge and, meeting a train, stepped to one side, missed his footing and fell into the water.

During October thirty-four convicts arrived at the State Prison in Jackson, also ten were discharged and two died. The month of September closed with 788 and October closed with 801.

There have been shipped from the iron district up to Oct. 27, 703,870 tons of iron ore, against 714,263 tons for the corresponding period last year. Shipments were 53,343 tons, against 46,935 last year.

Full returns received from the Detroit municipal election on the 3d show that the Republicans carried the city by about 1,000 majority. Mr. Moses Wisner (Rep.) was elected Mayor over Thompson (Republican) by about 1,000 majority. The Democrats elected the City Attorney and two Justices.

The State debt, Oct. 30, 1875, was as follows:

Interest-bearing	$1,979,000 00
Non-interest-bearing	19,100 00
Total	$1,998,100 00
Balance of cash in the State Treasury	1,000,000 00
Net debt	$998,100 00
Decrease during the month ending Oct. 30	99,900 00
Decrease during the year	399,900 00
Decrease since Oct. 30, 1874	499,900 00

Animal Life in the Ocean Depths.

It was for many years thought that below a depth of 600 fathoms animal life ceased to exist in the ocean. Probes reached this zero of life in the Algean Sea, and the fact ascertained for the Mediterranean was inferred for all other seas. The transmutation of inorganic into organic matter is only performed by vegetable life, and there only under the controlling power of light. The distinction made by naturalists between the lowest forms of animal and vegetable life lies just here: vegetables convert the inorganic elements of earth, air and water into organized matter; animals renounce this organized matter into animal tissue. It was well known as no light penetrates the profounder oceanic depths that no vegetation can exist there, an absence of animal life was therefore inferred. Certain exceptions to this definition of vegetable life are being exhaustive are found in the fungi, which germinate and grow in darkness, and it is believed are nourished in great measure by organic matter as well as in the curious carnivorous plants which have of late attracted so much attention. This, however, does not invalidate the truth that all nutriment, in order to be fit for the nutriment of animal life, must pass at least once through the transmutation effected only by vegetation.

Within a few years, yesterday's elections are a prominent Republican triumph, and more than a reinstatement the reverses of last year. If the latest political wave that swept away much that the Republican party had accomplished in a long lease of power, its present successor is a tidal wave that completely drowns all the lapses recently scanned in the Democracy and leaves it more secure than before. Thus crowned with victory, we approach the great contest of next year, and, if only the principles of good management held outdoring the current year be fulfilled, the result next November will be a most emphatic triumph for Republican principles.—Phil. Telegraph.

The meaning of the elections is simple this: The people have voted non-confidence in the Republican party and do not trust the Democracy. They still cherish the principles of the first fathers, and have intimated that he will accept the position.

Edwin Acker was drowned at Jackson on the night of the 1st. He was crossing a railroad bridge and, meeting a train, stepped to one side, missed his footing and fell into the water.

During October thirty-four convicts arrived at the State Prison in Jackson, also ten were discharged and two died. The month of September closed with 788 and October closed with 801.

There have been shipped from the iron district up to Oct. 27, 703,870 tons of iron ore, against 714,263 tons for the corresponding period last year. Shipments were 53,343 tons, against 46,935 last year.

Full returns received from the Detroit municipal election on the 3d show that the Republicans carried the city by about 1,000 majority. Mr. Moses Wisner (Rep.) was elected Mayor over Thompson (Republican) by about 1,000 majority. The Democrats elected the City Attorney and two Justices.

The State debt, Oct. 30, 1875, was as follows:

Interest-bearing	$1,979,000 00
Non-interest-bearing	19,100 00
Total	$1,998,100 00
Balance of cash in the State Treasury	1,000,000 00
Net debt	$998,100 00
Decrease during the month ending Oct. 30	99,900 00
Decrease during the year	399,900 00
Decrease since Oct. 30, 1874	499,900 00

THE SENTINEL.

WILLARD A. SMITH, Editor and Proprietor.

CHARLEVOIX, - MICHIGAN.

IF AND BUT.

BY MARY D. BRINE.

What if I were a lady fair,
Blushing each day in my flowing hair
Gems and jewels so rich and rare;
What if I owned my coach and four
To wait each morn at my stately door,
To bear me thither and round and over,
Ah! but I couldn't have Bobby there—
Robin, poor, but the best of men—
And riches lacking himself were vain!

What if my fingers, soft and white,
Were flashing with diamonds' brilliant light,
Dainty, with queen-like grace and might,
Ah! mine are brown with summer's sun,
Hard with work that is never done;
But Robin loves them every one
And if I wore dresses of satin sheen,
Garments fit for a "dame" or Queen,
Why, Robin would know me not, I ween.

So good old Bobby, truth to say,
Must be "coarse and four" on market day.
To jog me over the rough and gray,
And the only gems for my waving hair
Must be the beautiful sunshine fair,
Which Robin and I together may share.
And the love that Robin has given me
(The truest and best that man could be)
Is the only diamond I care to see.

—N. Y. Independent

THE BLACK TARN.

How a Murderer Was Discovered.

Five or six miles to the north of the small town of Brompton, in Cumberland, England, is a mountain lake known as Black Tarn. In the neighborhood are sheep farms, and a few insignificant hamlets lie here and there around. In one of these, known as Heyton, a murder was perpetrated, accompanied by cruel outrage. At the east end of the village there resided one John Coulter, who kept a beer shop and cultivated a small farm. He was a rough, uncouth man, addicted to drink, and when he was incapable of attending to his customers who came of a night for beer his daughter, a comely girl of seventeen, waited upon them. He had a son, also, but he was in Carlisle, learning a trade, and seldom visited his native village.

Coulter was reported to be worth a few hundred pounds, and consequently roused in the neighborhood a good deal of envy. A young man named Armstrong had been courting his daughter, but he had been driven off by Coulter for assaulting a farmer, who was the latter's friend. Armstrong had sworn vengeance, and he was pointed to as the probable author of the subsequent outrage.

On the morning of the 10th of last February Coulter arose late, having been drunk, as usual, the night before. Hearing no noise in the house that would indicate his daughter's being about, he went to the top of the stairs and called her by name. No answer came, and he hastily donned his clothes and descended. The stairs led down into the back kitchen, and when he reached the bottom he saw the door leading from the kitchen into the pantry that his daughter might be in the habit of keeping her things in, but no sign appeared. He inferred that the rash, indulged an inquire hour, and this conclusion was strengthened by the appearance of experiments which he was inclined to try upon injuries and ulcers in the case of human beings. Some of these were of a horrible character, and, as they were the injuries of the times, it will be sustained, we are in the power of men to cover throw it.—Boston Traveller.

In response to a serenade tendered him at the Washington celebration at the close of the victories of 1876, President Grant said: "Gentlemen—I am very glad to meet you on this occasion, and to congratulate you on so good a cause for rejoicing to the entire country as the elections of last Tuesday. While the Republican party receives we are not the only ones who are rejoicing. It is not sufficient to accomplish the purpose. The 'rye baby' has been entirely defeated, but the fruits of victory will only be gathered in the future, and I think we have an assurance that the people will not be satisfied with the half accomplishment. Legislation and administration will be necessary to confirm the ideas and initiated the principles of the victory we are.—Logistens' American Correspondent.

A Flying Angel.

Visitors to the Crystal Palace a few evenings ago were astonished at seeing a human being suspended in the air, with wings, sparks and crackers exploding around him in all directions. The event that the spectacle was not intended as an "amusement," for frantic efforts were being made to rescue the gentleman who, by a simple device, was descending from the dome, and a workman, working himself up to the highest point, secured the rope. In a few minutes the daring aeronaut was safely landed on the floor, replacing it where he found it. After he had been at work over ten minutes he came across a small package, which

THE SENTINEL,

CHARLEVOIX, MICH.

WILLARD A. SMITH, Editor and Proprietor.

TUESDAY - - - NOV 23 1875

Michigan and the Presidency.

They will reckon it one feet since Michigan cut of the Presidential reform cone of the Cincinnati one. We have the authority of many of our cotemporaries for this statement. For instance, the Bad Axe Gazette, one week ago, hauled Mr Chandler's name for the Presidential nomination. That act indicated the South Haven Sentinel to exportulate in this fashion:

"Michigan now has in the United States senate a man as fitting to her every interest as she always been Mr. Chandler. His conservative the Senate chose him from their ranks as the most fitted to preside over their deliberations. In that capacity he won the respect of political friend and foe, and to the advancement of her one step from the greatest position to that of the presidency for Vice President of the United States the Republicans of Michigan would unpaid with a vote that will carry us back to victory. With the opposition, such as offered this State to secure success, even to the utmost ticket, it will be better to stand by the advocacy of Hon. T. W. Ferry than to advocate the claims of several different Michigan politicians, and in that way lose the brightest prospect the State ever had."

But this is no less has indorsed the Berrien Springs Journal to give its views on the subject as follows:

"We notice that several of our exchanges suggest the name of senator Ferry of this State, for the Vice Presidency. We are exceedingly loathe to know that Mr Ferry has no strong—many friends, and such unanimity, but we are sorry to see any of them outside the matter in their desire to increase his popularity and secure his promotion. We doubt not for a moment the fairest good feeling and good will of those friends; but, certainly, it would be a calamity to the brotherhood, as well as to the State and the Nation, to have Mr. Ferry nominated and elected to the Vice Presidency. In the first place, Mr. Ferry although a young man, comparatively, is among the brightest stars in the political horizon of this country; and the good people in the State of Michigan cannot afford to barter away his future prospects for the position of Vice President. He is well enough where he is and he will be reelected and returned to the same office at the expiration of his present term, and there remain, unless called to occupy the highest office of the nation that ennoble within the gift of the people. No, gentlemen, Michigan cannot spare Mr Ferry from the Senate, except to secure the position of the Chief Magistrate of the nation; and he has just as good claims for that position today as any other man in the nation. Progress is the watchword of nature. God is on hire to reward the righteous; and the people are not ignorant and unjust in their sense of duty toward them. When the nation calls for a chief executive, and Michigan responds, Ottawa county may bring forward her man."

THE WARD WILL.
The Jury Disagree Eight to Four and are Discharged.

From the Detroit Tribune, Nov. 13

A great many people at Saverack yesterday afternoon were waiting in the Circuit Court room to hear the next report from the jury. The deputy went, as usual, to inquire whether they had come to an agreement, and reported, as usual, that they had not. The judge then ordered them to be brought out. The clerk asked them if they had agreed. Mr. Sackett replied, as he had replied almost two days before,

"WE HAVE NO AGREEMENT."

The bar was crowded with lawyers and spectators sitting and standing, intently watching judge and jury. The room was lighted by one chandelier, whose rays reflected sadly upon the gloom and disquiet whatever there was haggard in their appearance. The audience darkened into black shadows away to the rear of the room, while the light fell full upon the standing figure of the judge, upon the grey locks of Mr. Hughes, sitting beneath it, and the tall form of the Bowerys, father and son and Mr. McDonagh. Mr. Chipman and Mr Prentiss grouped in the middle of the bar, in a dense crowd of attorneys, clients and spectators. The judge began to comment to the jury on their duty. The elder Bowery slightly inclined his head, and fixed his eyes intently on the speaker. Mr. McDonagh watched him as earnestly, and Milton Ward, standing farther back turned his piercing eyes upon him also. Mr. Hughes sat motionless.

THE JUDGE'S CHARGE.

The judge appear to have made up his mind, when once entering the jury room that if each thought just as he did and the instructions should be answered. There were Messrs Jones, Strong, Sackett and McKechnie. These gentlemen were at first in favor of sustaining the second codicil also, but after hearing all with the rest, on the testimony of Capt. Arthur Isbrucker, and other he felt a strange doubt if they had been duly executed. As a result, with the exception of a word, the Eight Ward was compelled to make a will. One man who thought the Judge's perspicuity was considered a little doubtful had been made under undue influence. The opinions formed were very reasoned, and on one, however argumentative, seemed after convenience any of the testimony, which did not draw to the opposite opinion. Mr. Sprague was the most resolute in giving views in favor of the will, and he could hardly be most persistently opposed by Messrs. Randolph, Sackett and Evans.

THE DISAGREEMENT.

The jurors were summoned and examined yesterday during their period of confinement. It had been a long time between meals, but they have lost points to eat were the most scarce. They were the only people in Saverack who had not voted on Tuesday at town meeting. They had nothing to eat until evening, when they were liberally supplied with cracked and cheese. Next day they had two meals, and yesterday one to five days were served, but the bed to sleep from nine Thursday night until about six o'clock Friday. Provisions were supplied from Sarasota restaurant, and comprising various kinds of meats and fish, principally chicken, etc. also tea, coffee and doughnuts. Some of the jurors who did not have to their business as well as for a week of rest had played seven up; some played casinos a little. They regularly received one of the papers, but said no other literature.

WHAT NEXT?

And now people will to know what comes next. The result leaves the will just where it was two months ago. It has been submitted to probate, and those who contested it will appealed from the decision of the Probate Court to the Circuit Court, where it started in the Probate Court. It rested with the proponents to show that it was a good will. So long as the question was pending as to whether it was or not, it was effected. The proponents began by trying to show the testamentary then the contestants attention on the ground that the testator was unsound of mind and had been unduly influenced, and the proponents defended against the attack. If they succeed on appeal in repelling the attack, the will would be still in question. They will not succeed because the jury disagreed. It has won the proponents to move next the prohibitionists are the same as possible, that is at the next term of court which falls in January, they will take steps to bring the case to trial again, and time come before the new incumbent of the bench, Judge Berry. It cannot reach the Supreme Court without a verdict on one side or the other. But the status of the contestants is really like that of defendants. If they fail to meet the proponents, the latter establish the will through their default. Otherwise the proponents must have a verdict in order to successfully sustain it against the objections brought forward by the contestants.

EXPENSES OF THE CASE.

The case has occupied 47 days during 2 of which the jury has been deliberating. About 2 days were used in opening the case to the jury on both sides. Nearly 10 days were occupied by the closing arguments, and the jury were out 2 days. Nineteen witnesses have been examined, and there are 3,000 pages of type written reports of the testimony and arguments. Five copies of these reports have been made at a cost of $8,000. That is one item of the expense. The jurors, for two months attendance, receive something over $200 apiece, $100 of which is contributed by the parties to the cause.

Until the question of the validity of the will is settled neither side can take anything, even, a question of financial importance how long the litigation can profitably be continued, and the inquiry as to whether the case involves anything that ought to go to a jury may come up prominently when the case is tried over.

"SHTOP A LEETLE!"

Spring Harbor,

HEAD OF PINE LAKE.

The Secret of Wonderful Growth and Success.

Was up in the north in a very short time. If they on you come make a professional In the county all over it is going to grow. Dollar.

It is at Charlevoix county and Spring Harbor Town. Again notice Mr. you'll be all out at all. If they call once or twice you'll than feel no choice.

The mill is so rich if you plant a small seed, Your will the devil all, but live on forever— as given a dog yield it more will fail Humbly it to be the proper all say In Charlevoix county and Spring Harbor Town.

That sun is a occasion the corn next day— In Charlevoix county are Spring Harbor Town.

There are the merchants who're up to their trade. With well assorted goods before they are In Charlevoix county and Spring Harbor Town.

They'll not stoop as low as till you small dollar.

But they secret of trade is they till are varried All their efforts are crowned by million Wealth.

While they all do enjoy the most perfect health.

In Charlevoix county and Spring Harbor Town.

Then there are the doctors they'll cure Your ills, With syrups and drops and various pills— In Charlevoix county and Spring Harbor Town.

YOU'RE CRAZY

TO PAY SUCH TERRIBLE PRICES FOR GOODS WHEN BY CALLING AT THE

"REGULATOR"

You can purchase them at Vast THIRTY PER CENT less than at any other place in the part of Charlevoix County. That is what we say at the "REGULATOR" We have lots of

NEW GOODS,

And more coming daily. We Have Boots and Shoes for men; We have all kinds of Shoes for ladies; we Have Boots and Shoes and all kinds of other things for the little ones. We have all kind of DRESS GOODS; we have all kinds of CLOTH to make clothes for the men and boys. We have

PORK AND FLOUR,

And all kinds of Groceries such as

SUGARS,

TEAS,

COFFEES

SPICES,

OILS.

WE ALSO HAVE A LARGE ASSORTMENT OF

Farming Implements,

SUCH AS PLOWS, SHOVEL PLOWS SCYTHES SNATHS, RAKES, FORKS, HOES, CULTIVATORS AND HARROWS. ALSO AN ASSORTMENT OF

TINWARE.

So, if you'll buy cheaper than ever before, go to NICHOLS Store on Pine Lake shore, where the people live, and not off people, and more say, that never before in the country all over, did they see people pour into the door of a store, where they buy lots of goods and then buy some more; for they say he sells lower by thirty per cent or perhaps more, than ever before, at any store; so after reading this over, if still you'd know more, Tumble up!

TURN THE CRANK TO THE MACHINE

And tell you if you wish to astonish yourself with low prices, that you must go to 99999 Red Dirt Avenue, nearly opposite to the Second National Bank, and directly opposite to the Metropolitan Hotel, Spring Harbor.

TRULY YOURS:

T. W. NICHOLS.

Carpenter & Bartholomew

Cheap Cash Store is just the Place to Buy Your Goods!

CARPENTER & BARTHOLOMEW'S

Standard Goods and Bottom Prices is their Motto.

South End of Bridge Street.

Charlevoix, Mich.

MEDICAL

HALL,

CHARLEVOIX.

JUST THE PLACE TO BUY

DRUGS

And Dye Stuffs,

JUST THE PLACE TO BUY

Patent Medicines

JUST THE PLACE TO BUY

Stationery, Ink and Pens

And Pocket Inkstands,

JUST THE PLACE TO BUY

Perfumes and Hair Oils

Flavoring Extracts and Toilet Goods,

JUST THE PLACE TO BUY

The Self-Adjusting Truss

JUST THE PLACE TO GET

Prescriptions Compounded

At all hours—night or day.

IS PART Just the place to get anything you need in the Drug line.

Cheap for Cash.

Next store opposite Stockwell's Harbinger Office.

GEO. W. CROUTER.

Druggist and Chemist

THE STANCH PROPELLER

1875. 1875

A. C. VanRaalte

Capt. Alvin Dodge.

Will run during the season of 1875, as follows, between

Petoskey & Traverse City:

Will leave Petoskey at 6 o'clock a. m. on

Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays,

Arriving at Traverse City at 7 o'clock the same evening. Will leave Traverse City at 6 o'clock a. m. on

Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays, arriving at Petoskey the same evening, and connecting at all intermediate ports on Grand Traverse Bay, both ways.

THE SENTINEL

JOB PRINTING

DEPARTMENT

—o—

COMPLETE

—

PLAIN and COLORED WORK

Promptly and Neatly Done

700,000 ACRES

Of splendid bargains in the Best

Farming Land

To CONSUMERS IN INDIANA, ILLINOIS, 1874, 1875 and 1876:

These lands are timbered with beech and maple, elm and other hard wood, and are acknowledged to be best market by

WATER AND RAIL.

And are but part of the States designated for Lands sold and sold 5 and 10 Millionaire to the great Manufacturing section of the East shore of Lake Michigan.

Four Grand Rapids & Indiana Railroad runs through the center of the grants.

The part of Michigan in which these lands are found is

Not a Wilderness, By Any Means

It contains a population of two millions and over 1 square miles, and is rapidly filling up with settlers from Canada, Sweden, Norway, Holland, and from almost every State in the Union.

Over 150,000 settlers in many of this year have settled thereon.

The lands are conveniently to the mill, and church, the Lake, to market, to school, &c., which can be but choice.

50,000 Acres

In Charlevoix County.

Lands are for sale at low prices, and on long time and easy terms.

Send for our new illustrated pamphlet.

Address

W. A. HOWARD,

Land Department,

Grand Rapids, Mich.

DRUGS and MEDICINE

—

DR. LEWIS

Returns his thanks to the inhabitants of Charlevoix and vicinity for past patronage and solicits a continuance of the same. He has

JUST RECEIVED

A large stock of medicines, such as

Fluid Extracts,
Tinctures,
Essences
Oils of all Kinds,
Gums,
Perfumery, etc

PATENT MEDICINES.

A large stock, such as Ayers, Jaynes Sanford's, Peabody's Hall's Balsam, Sage's Remedy.

A Full Supply of Dye Stuffs.

All goods sold as cheap as by any house in Northwest Michigan.

I Keep What I Advertise.

DR. A. TRASK'S

MAGNETIC OINTMENT

FOR THE CURE OF

INFLAMMATORY DISEASES.

Dr. Trask was engaged for twenty years in a course of experiments upon the medical properties and powers of vegetables, minerals and animals, and the result of his labors is now rounded in possessing in the discovery of his experiments, a combination of Vegetable extracts, the power of which is exceeding, as is manifested in the annals of Medicine.

Certain, it is, that the remarkable and unprecedented success which has attended its application in the case of diseases, stamps that soon as the greatest discovery of the age, and calls for a trial and close investigation of its properties.

It never fails, when these remedies are used, to produce a natural and healthy action in the system, a natural and healthy expansion of the circulation of the blood. By this means a permanent power is placed over the most malignant forms of disease, which cannot be attained from any other remedy.

Such is the power of this combination, that it penetrates to every portion of the human frame, every bone and muscle, vein, artery, membrane and tissue, and the most minute fibre of the system, and by its healing influence, leaves it sound as nearly with internal as external diseases.

Numerous instances are on record where this remedy has restored health to persons in the grave that the most powerful medicines failed to produce any effect, and has frequently been the case to fathomless depths of misery.

No patient ever need die with this disease where the Magnetic Ointment can be obtained.

For Inflammatory Rheumatism this Ointment is the most remarkable cure, ever presented. For Diphtheria or Putrid Sore Throat it is unrivaled.

In ulcerous cases out of a hundred cases of Scrofula, ninety-nine will receive of Scrofula Diseases in open sores.

For Nervous Diseases this medicine is of immense value.

Affections of the Spine, Rheumatism, Lameness, Contracted cords Throat, Bronchitis, Hoarseness, Cough, Colds, Shortness Weakness, Ague in the Breast, Stiffness, Numb Hand, Sciatica, Pain Stomach, Neuralgia, Inflamed Eyes, Fever Sores, Sores, Felons, Whitlow, Boils, Burns, etc., by the use of Dr. Trask's Magnetic Ointment.

D. RANSOM, SON & Co., Prop'r's, Buffalo, N. Y.

WATERS' CONCERTO PARLOR ORGANS

are the most beautiful musical instrument ever placed in the parlor for the price. 1 to 12 stops, in case of any make, STYLE 4 is the best ever placed in a parlor. Organs, 2 to 4 sets reeds, 2 rows of keys, 13 stops, 4 octaves, 2 full sets reeds, practically 2 Organs in one, containing the most FULL AND MAGNIFICENT TONE in the Organ, viz: 1st set, 4 octaves, 13 stops, 2 rows keys

The Pacific Disaster—Two Hundred Lives Lost.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 8.

A postscript from Fort Townsend this morning says

Henry F. Jolley, supposed to be the sole survivor of the Pacific, brought here yesterday by the ship's Messenger in a wretched condition, having been on a raft thirty-six hours before being picked up, says the Pacific collided with some other vessel, whose lights he saw, but in his nervousness with Gilkey, Captain of the Messenger, lasting twelve hours, he made no mention of the lights of the vessel, and some think him laboring under hallucination as to that. Experienced navigators here think it more likely that she struck a sunken rock. Jolley makes a statement to the following effect:

Took cabin passage on the Pacific from Victoria, having aboard a quarter past nine on the morning of Thursday, the 8th inst. There were about 200 people on board. Steamed all day against a southwester; the crew constantly pumping water into the boats to trim the ship. The boats aft the paddle-boxes had no oars in them. The others had about either or nine. In the evening, while in bed heard a crash and felt a shock as if she had struck a rock. Heard something fall as if rocks had fallen on the starboard side. The hull was struck to stop, back and go ahead. Went on deck and heard voices say, "It's all right, we have struck a vessel." Saw several lights at a distance but so not think they were colored; but paid little attention, returned to the cabin and noticed the ship took a heavy list to port. Went on deck to the pilot-house and heard some one say "She is making water very fast." The Captain was coming out of his room. Asked him if there were any boats lights or guns. He said the blue lights were in the pilot-house. Got them and burned five. Noticed the engines still working, but there was no one at the wheel. Went to the starboard side forward of the paddle-box where a number of men were trying to get the long-boat out, but could not. Went to the port-boat forward and helped five or six women into it. Then got in, but could not get out, and saw a Then were about twenty women in it. Heard the boats about the saddles lose out of fell did not see them. Think it one about an hour after the steamer struck when she listed so much do port side the boat was in the water it was in the boat. Cut loose from the davits, when the boat tilted and turned upon its keel or bottom and helped several up with me. Immediately after the steamer seemed to break in two fore and aft. The smoke-stack fell and struck our boat, and the steamer sank. Think about all the women were in our boat, and first they were all drowned when the boat upset. There was about ten in the boat evening. The night was not dark nor the sea very rough, but a fresh breeze sprung up afterward. Left the bottom of the boat, and, with another man, climbed on top of the pilot-house, floating near. The next morning I got some life preservers, floating near, and with them ropes I lashed myself and companion to the house. Saw three rafts; the first had on board on both sides and was surrounded with float kelp, which made the water smooth. It continued calm all day and night. At three a. m. I was rescued by the cutter.

Douglas Jerrold's Wit.

Jerrold's wit was of the keenest and most transparent character, like Sidney Smith's wit, like all true wit; for genuine wit is the same all the world over. "Will gives you a nod in passing, but with humor you are at home." You must be on the alert for wit. It flashes, and is gone. "Take a walk upon us tangy atmosphere," said the doctor to Sidney Smith. "Upon whose?" asked the dean. That is wit. So is Tom Hood's description of a fellow whose height of folly constituted his own monument:

A column of fop,
A light-house, without any light about.

So was Sidney Smith's reply to the church-warden when they wanted a tenor precipient round St. Paul's. "Lay your heads together and the thing is done," while his remarks to a little child who was scratching a tortoise, that it was like scratching the dome of St. Paul's to please the dean and chapter, is a fine example of perfect humor. The wit of Jerrold is often equal to that of the dean, and many a brilliant saying is attributed to both of them. A score of stories of Jerrold occur to me, though it is too late to add any new ones to the record, for his wit and humor have been carefully collected and published. There are a few good things, however, which will bear repetition. "Some one has written about men upon his face," said a person trying to make interest for his friend with Jerrold. "Then nature must have had a very bad pen," was the prompt reply. Everybody knows how he recovered himself on a pompous fop, who had made himself offensively conspicuous at a cheesemonger where sheep's head was a favorite dish. Pushing his plate aside, the stranger exclaimed, "Well, I say sheep's head forever." "What egotism!" remarked Jerrold. This, no doubt, led up to a kindred flash of wit on another occasion at the expense of a literary friend of Jerrold's, who had just ordered "some of his own soup, sir." "Ah!" said Jerrold, looking up, and smiling with his great eyes, "extremes meet sometimes." There was an old gentleman who, for the very slow pony in a ramshackle gig, and he was anxious one day to pay Jerrold a little special attention. The humorist was on his way to the station from his house. "Ah, Mr. Jerrold!" said the old gentleman, "shall I give you a lift?" "No, thank you," said Jerrold, "I am in a hurry." In the country, on a visit, Jerrold was told, among other gossip, of a young man in the neighborhood, named Ure, who had greatly lifted his sweetheart. "Ure seems to be a lusty man," said Jerrold. "At a ball, seeing a very gentleman waltzing with a very short lady, Jerrold said: "There's a mile dancing with a mile-stone."—London Society.

Tibbits.

In we could only learn to forgive others as readily as we forgive ourselves one-half of the troubles of this life would be over.

Some people are born just expressly for fools, and if they undertake to be anything else they spoil.

It is easy enough to grow old, but to grow old easily is another kind of a job.

There are certain kinds of economy that don't pay, trying to straighten crooked pins is one of them.

The only thing that a man can do well when he is in a passion is to fight hornets and mosquitoes.

There is only one time in our whole lives when we can with safety lay aside our caution and be careless, and that is when we are fast asleep.

When the guilty go free the innocent suffer.

I never saw a man yet who was really in love who didn't act more or less foolish.

There is nothing that mankind are so smart at as finding a good excuse for any act they have made up their mind to commit.

Good opportunities must be taken by the forelock; most people take them by the tail.

We all complain of the shortness of life, but most folks outlive their usefulness.

It is a very common thing to make a blunder, but it is a very uncommon thing to own it.

There are folks who can't bear to do anything unless there is a profit in it. If they subscribe a thousand dollars for the heathen they want 10 per cent. thrown off for cash down.

Men who have but one thing to recommend them soon play out; fiddling on one string is dreadful funny for a spell.

Young man, if you doubt the propriety of a thing, it is always safe to give your judgment the benefit of the doubt.

If you expect to get through this world without being reviled and abused you have got to take a back road and travel by moonlight.

People who blow their own horn never play but one tune on it, and the world soon tires of hearing that.

Wisdom is the best gift from our own experience rests us a hundred cents on a dollar; we can learn from others at half-price.

I never knew a lousy-body yet who spent his time hunting for good news.

Revenge is an victory; it is like hitting a hornet after he has stung you.

It is safer to guess than it is to prophesy, and it is full as certain.

Look out for the man who is humble when there is no particular cause for humility; he is either scaling a trap or baiting one.

I notice one thing; the more leisure people have, the less time they spend in improving themselves.

No man ever yet sailed under false colors but that he had to strike them sooner or later.—Josh Billings, in N. Y. Weekly.

The Boys' Room.

Too little attention is paid by young people, when buying or building a house, to the future requirements of the babies still in their cribs. The time passes more quickly than they thought. Bob and Joe and Tom are soon big, burly lads, apt to shoulder and kick each other if brought into too close contact; and Nelly and Bess, young ladies, each with her array of beaux friends, books, love-letters and crimping-irons; and for them all there are but two small sleeping nests, one of which too often to be vacated when a guest arrives. The boys in most cases fare worse than any other members of the family. Their absters' chamber is dainty and prettily furnished, while they are huddled into the garret or whatever other uncomfortable cubby-hole offers itself in which they can "rough it," in the case of farmers' sons this apartment often is the loft of the carriage house. Now, if a boy's tendency is stronger than a girl's to be disorderly, untidy in his habits, and lacking in personal reserve or a love for the beautiful, it is the more necessary that he should be taught these things from his earliest childhood. Much of the want of refinement, the nervous debility and other evils of both body and mind which loiters to a fruitless old age is attributed to beds of thorns. A score of stories of Jerrold occur to me, though it is too late to add any new ones to the record, for his "wit and humor" have been carefully collected and published. There are a few good things, however, which will bear repetition. "Some one has written about men upon his face," said a person trying to make interest for his friend with Jerrold. "Then nature must have had a very bad pen," was the prompt reply. Everybody knows how he recovered himself on a pompous fop, who had made himself offensively conspicuous at a cheesemonger where sheep's head was a favorite dish. Pushing his plate aside, the stranger exclaimed, "Well, I say sheep's head forever." "What egotism!" remarked Jerrold. This, no doubt, led up to a kindred flash of wit on another occasion at the expense of a literary friend of Jerrold's, who had just ordered "some of his own soup, sir." "Ah!" said Jerrold, looking up, and smiling with his great eyes, "extremes meet sometimes." There was an old gentleman who, for the very slow pony in a ramshackle gig, and he was anxious one day to pay Jerrold a little special attention. The humorist was on his way to the station from his house. "Ah, Mr. Jerrold!" said the old gentleman, "shall I give you a lift?" "No, thank you," said Jerrold, "I am in a hurry." In the country, on a visit, Jerrold was told, among other gossip, of a young man in the neighborhood, named Ure, who had greatly lifted his sweetheart. "Ure seems to be a lusty man," said Jerrold. "At a ball, seeing a very gentleman waltzing with a very short lady, Jerrold said: "There's a mile dancing with a mile-stone."—London Society.

Tibbits.

In we could only learn to forgive others as readily as we forgive ourselves one-half of the troubles of this life would be over.

Some people are born just expressly for fools, and if they undertake to be anything else they spoil.

It is easy enough to grow old, but to grow old easily is another kind of a job.

There are certain kinds of economy that don't pay, trying to straighten crooked pins is one of them.

The only thing that a man can do well when he is in a passion is to fight hornets and mosquitoes.

There is only one time in our whole lives when we can with safety lay aside our caution and be careless, and that is when we are fast asleep.

When the guilty go free the innocent suffer.

I never saw a man yet who was really in love who didn't act more or less foolish.

There is nothing that mankind are so smart at as finding a good excuse for any act they have made up their mind to commit.

Good opportunities must be taken by the forelock; most people take them by the tail.

We all complain of the shortness of life, but most folks outlive their usefulness.

It is a very common thing to make a blunder, but it is a very uncommon thing to own it.

There are folks who can't bear to do anything unless there is a profit in it. If they subscribe a thousand dollars for the heathen they want 10 per cent. thrown off for cash down.

Men who have but one thing to recommend them soon play out; fiddling on one string is dreadful funny for a spell.

Young man, if you doubt the propriety of a thing, it is always safe to give your judgment the benefit of the doubt.

If you expect to get through this world without being reviled and abused you have got to take a back road and travel by moonlight.

People who blow their own horn never play but one tune on it, and the world soon tires of hearing that.

Wisdom is the best gift from our own experience rests us a hundred cents on a dollar; we can learn from others at half-price.

I never knew a lousy-body yet who spent his time hunting for good news.

Revenge is an victory; it is like hitting a hornet after he has stung you.

It is safer to guess than it is to prophesy, and it is full as certain.

Look out for the man who is humble when there is no particular cause for humility; he is either scaling a trap or baiting one.

I notice one thing; the more leisure people have, the less time they spend in improving themselves.

No man ever yet sailed under false colors but that he had to strike them sooner or later.—Josh Billings, in N. Y. Weekly.

Household Hints.

Quick-Baked Batter Pudding.—One pint of milk, four tablespoonfuls flour, or better, two of flour and two of corn-starch, two eggs, juice of lemon. Bake on the pie-plate in a hot oven about twenty minutes.

Baked Squash — Hubbard. — Take squash; cut in half; clean inside nicely, put into oven flesh side up, an hour before dinner. Serve hot, with butter, pepper and salt. Those squash not quite ripe are also good thus baked.

To Cook Beets.—The true way to cook a beet is to bake, not boil it. Thus treated, and sliced either in vinegar or in butter, it is exceedingly palatable and nutritious. Boiling extracts the most valuable part of this vegetable.

Horseradish Hash-Oil.—Take a sufficient quantity of fresh butter and filter it through tissue or fine letter paper, and then cut it with alcohol. It can be scented with any essence that is liked, makes a good, soft dressing for the hair, and is not at all expensive.

Dried Beef Frizzled in Cream.—Chip the beef in thin as paper with a very sharp knife. Melt in a frying pan butter the size of an egg, stir the beef steadily for two or three minutes, dust in a little flour, add half a teacupful of rich cream, give a boil up, and serve in a covered dish.

Wash Day Pudding.—One pint of flour, three eggs, one teaspoonful of powdered sugar, one pint of milk, half a teaspoonful of soda, one teaspoonful cream of tartar, one full tablespoonful of butter; rub the soda through the flour, dissolve the cream of tartar in the milk and stir all together quickly, just before dinner is served, bake in a quick oven and eat with some, either hard or soft. Baked in small tins or open pans, this forms nice tea cakes.

Durable Bedding.—A woman who has raised a large family recommends housekeepers to take a good quality of unbleached cotton, run up the breadths for top and lining of quilt, and then color it with any cheap domestic dye, such as japan, sumac, alum, white oak bark or any other dye-stuff that will set the color, and put more cotton batting in than would be needed for ordinary bed quilts. They will wear years longer than ordinary new calico and are especially to be desired in large families for boys. If desired, outside spreads may be made of more fanciful materials.

Oyster Pie.—For this pie, puff paste may be used. Butter a deep tin two-quart pan, line the bottom and sides with the paste, rolled to about half an inch thickness; take a quart or three pints of oysters from their own liquor and put them into a pie; cut a quarter of a pound of sweet butter in bits the size of a hickory nut, strew these over the oysters, sprinkle over a teaspoonful of ground pepper, and dredge them with white wheat flour, then strain the oyster liquor over; add to it enough milk or water very nearly to reach the top of the paste; lay some skewers across, roll some of the paste to nearly half an inch thickness, and lay the mixture in the center to allow the steam to escape, also several small incisions with a knife at some distance from the centre of the pie; dip your fingers in flour and pinch the top and side paste neatly together. Bake nearly one hour in a quick oven; dress with the skewers before sending to the table.—Rural New Yorker.

The Rotation of Crops.

What should be the purpose of a rotation of crops? Should it be to take out of the soil every element which can support vegetation, or should it be the object to fill the soil with those elements? To us more, to improve, to make the land more productive?

No farmer will admit that he is exhausting his land, though he may be obliged to acknowledge that he does not get as large crops as formerly. What is the reason for this? It is because some element of fertility, or elements, have been used out and the land cannot turn out so large a growth. Every shilling's worth of produce may be compared to a prosperous man. As a man grows in wealth and finds himself surrounded with a host of friends, by means of life his wants increase rapidly, and as he reaches out and finds plenty within easy grasp he wants grow more and everywhere they find sustenance and gratification. A plant in a rich soil seems to desire to take up all within its reach—it sends out new roots, double the number it would if it grew in a poor, thin soil—and grasps and consumes and produces a heavy yield. It is the purpose of a good proper rotation to keep the soil in this condition, and this should be the purpose of good farming everywhere.

As the most important element in the growth of plants is nitrogen the first object in any rotation should be to see that those plants which yield this in greatest quantity should be introduced most freely and often. The air and the soil are the store houses of nitrogen in the forms of ammonia and nitric acid. Seventy-seven parts by weight of the atmosphere is nitrogen, and among agricultural chemists there is a perfect agreement as to the atmosphere being a source of nitrogen as plant food. Different plants require different proportions of nitrogen; but when we undertake to grow maximum crops nitrogen in a relative way must be supplied to the soil. Clover, peas and beans, by means of the above says that it is all right with one exception, which is, that the yeast will not keep for any considerable time. To remedy this, after the yeast is made as above, stir in corn meal until it is thick enough to cut up into cakes, spread them out and dry thoroughly, and they will keep for years, if necessary, and be always ready for use.—N. Y. Sun.

The Evanston Common Sense School, opened by Prof. W. P. Jones at Evanston, Ill., for teaching by the educational method instead of in classes, is attracting scholars from all quarters. Wonder if no one thinks Dick.

The oyster-dealer is said to be an instigator of broils, and always in a stew.

Good Yeast—An Old, Tried and Unfailing Receipt.

Cut up two pounds of pared potatoes, put them in a large saucepan, pour over them three quarts of water, and boil; before the potatoes are sufficiently cooked add a good, heavy half-ounce of hops, tied up in a very thin cotton bag (the hops boil too long they make the bread very bitter). In a large kitchen bowl put two small spoonfuls of salt and two tablespoonfuls of white sugar, one large, heaping tablespoonful of salt and a tablespoonful of ground ginger. When the potatoes are soft enough to mash through the colander put the hop bag into a pitcher, and pour over it all the potato and root tittle float now and then. Father, mother and sisters should refrain from entering it except as guests; and our word for it, they will be duly honored and welcomed when they do come.

Somebody will ask, no doubt, what is the use of pampering boys in this way, or of catering to them with game and cosy rooms? Simply because they will have the amusement, the games and company somehow and somewhere; and if not under their father's roof, with such quiet surroundings as befit those who are to be treated as gentlemen, the games may be gambling and the company and suppers those which the nearest tavern affords. As for the cost, no money is ill spent which develops in the right direction a boy's healthy character or idiosyncrasies at the most perilous period of his life; and which over the yeast crock, and strain your yeast into it. Many do not think this necessary, and only mix it in their yeast crock. When a little more than lukewarm add a large coffeecupful of yeast, stir it frequently, and keep it in a moderately warm place for twenty-four hours, then put it in the coolest and darkest part of the cellar. Use a two or three gallon earthen crock (in, glue, or stone will do very well), with a lid fitting well to the rim.—J. I. M., in Country Gentleman.

An excellent housekeeper to whom we submitted the above says that it is all right with one exception, which is, that the yeast will not keep for any considerable time. To remedy this, after the yeast is made as above, stir in corn meal until it is thick enough to cut up into cakes, spread them out and dry thoroughly, and they will keep for years, if necessary, and be always ready for use.—N. Y. Sun.

Kentuckians Getting Married in Indiana.

"Your that boat?" was the cry on the Louisville wharf as ten or eleven Kentuckians were about to start on a three days' trip. "Ain't you afraid to venture on such a night?" "No, we're not afraid," was the reply. "We're going over to get married, and we're willing to risk it." "Well, I guess you'll get it." "No, we won't," was the response. "We're going to Indiana." "Oh, that's the way the wind blows, is it?" "Yes, that's the way it blows

Michigan Statistics

The report of the census of Michigan for 1874 is at last in circulation, and we are indebted to the secretary of state for a copy. We cannot but think that the census, at least of the information on it, contains might have been given to the public months ago, it being now nearly a year and a half since the statistics were collected. The work makes a handsome volume of 442 pages, and, like all our other state documents of late years, is highly creditable both in its editing and typographical appearance. For the benefit of those of our readers who may not have access to the work, but who may like to have at hand the leading facts in regard to the material interests of our state, we are tempted to make a cursory review which it will be well for every one to preserve.

The entire population of the state in May, 1874, was 1,334,031. In 1850 it was 1,184,282; in 1864, 803,961; in 1854, 507,921.

There were 60,337 more males than females in the state. (In New England the females largely preponderate.)

The population of the eleven leading cities was: Detroit, 101,253, Grand Rapids 20,823, East Saginaw 17,004, Jackson 12,859, Bay City 13,690, Saginaw City 10,064, Adrian 8,663, Muskegon 8,505, Port Huron 8,240, Flint 8,127, Lansing 7,443.

There are in Michigan 146,300 farmers, being about 40 per cent. of the adult male population. There are also 17,729 farm laborers, and 64,987 other laborers. 1,759 clergymen, 6,694 clerks and bookkeepers, 2,369 engineers, 1,345 hotel keepers, 1,063 lawyers, 1,867 office holders, 2,237 doctors, 1,745 saloons, 896 teachers, 2,005 miners, 2,487 grocers, 3,901 railroad men, 5,016 blacksmiths, 1,531 butchers, 1,097 cabinet makers, 14,922 carpenters, 2,073 coopers, 4,037 lumbermen, 1,499 masons, 1,655 millers, 2,926 printers, 3,739 shoemakers, 1,589 stone masons, 1,489 tailors, 1,300 wagon makers, 6,385 miners, and 1,756 persons of no occupation, otherwise described.

The improved lands of the state aggregate 5,540,836 acres; the taxable lands 26,530,165 acres the taxable area having more than doubled within 10 years.

The wheat crop is 15,456,000 bu; corn 20,792,000; other grains, 13,209,000 bu; potatoes 5,618,000; hay, 1,134,000 tons; wool, 7,729,000 lbs; pork, 48,434,000 lbs; cheese, 4,161,000 lbs; butter, 27,932,000 lbs; wine, 50,851 gallons; cid-r, 182,000 bbls; maple sugar, 4,319,000 lbs; horses, 281,394; neat cattle, 668,187; sheep 401,000; sheep, 1,651,000.

The value of the wheat and corn crop was $33,916,000; of the potato crop $4,682,000; of the butter product $6,713,000; of the wool clip $3,311,000; of the fruit crop $3,386,000.

There are 4,292 manufacturing establishments, employing $73,893,000 of capital and 52,346 hands, and turning out an annual product valued at $122,901,000. Some of the leading items are 2,612,000 barrels of flour valued at $20,170,000; 3,231 million feet of lumber worth $39,850,000; $2,950,000 worth of shingles; $3,174,000 worth of sash, doors, blinds etc.; $5,224,000 worth of boilers and machinery; $1,400,000 of agricultural implements; $1,777,000 of wagons and carriages; $2,630,000 of furniture; $1,714,000 of cooperage; $6,000,000 of railroad cars; $1,097,000 of leather; $4,440,000 of pig iron; $1,604,000 of vessels; $1,931,000 of beer; $1,748,000 of boots and shoes; $1,119,090 of salt; $2,000,000 of ingot copper etc.

There are 109 mines, employing 10,361 hands and producing annually $12,350,000 worth of mineral, including 15,785 tons of copper, 2,040 lbs of silver, 1,336,954 tons of iron, 13,866 tons coal, 128,000 tons plaster, etc.

The 5th product is 1o7,7lo barrels.—Detroit Evening News.

A Western paper announces that the Prince of Wales has started on his visit to Indiana.

The fast mail train from New York to Pittsburg makes the entire trip over 400 miles without a stop. Whew!

Mr. Gladstone has written another anti-Papal essay. It has appeared in a new Church Quarterly Review, published in London and is entitled "Italy and her Church."

The New York Herald nominates Archbishop McCloskey as the successor of Pope Pius. The Springfield Republican will probably support Charles Francis Adams for the position.

The Mexican Government has at last punished with death the five assassins whose murderous knives wrought-ruin by Jesuit priests to kill the Methodist missionary Stephens, at Acapulco. This is the legitimate work of the Jesuit priesthood where they have power. And to our own land by purchasing politicians they hope to obtain the political control of this Republic, and then what need we expect? We have but to read the history of the society of Jesus both in this country and in Europe, to see how baneful the consequences must be.

NEW MILLINERY AND Dress - Making ESTABLISHMENT.

Fancy braids, such as Coverse, Zephyrs, Hides, Hamburgs, Parasols, Silk Handkerchiefs, Ties, Buttons, Dress Trimmings, Hoops and Corded skirts, and many of the latest fancy goods.

Charges Reasonable.

Rooms in Henry Nowell's building, Main St.

MISS A. E. SAUNDERS.

Charlevoix, June 17, 1875. 1m19

Hemlock Bark!

The undersigned owners of the sch'r E. H. Stanton, would inform the people of Pine Lake and vicinity they are prepared to

Contract for Any Amount of Hemlock Bark to be delivered on the beach of Round or Pine Lakes or South Arm. The former of the two, those at Antrim Co. Corporation & Hutchinson, and Byron Bark are our nearest land agents, with whom contracts can be made, or with Dr. Wetmore, of the firm of

CAPT. P. JOHNSON & CO.

Charlevoix, May 1, 1875.

N. B.—Samuel Holland, of Eveline, is also our authorized agent.

LAW AND Real Estate Office OF Edw. H. Green, Charlevoix Mich.

Improved Farms AND Wild Lands Bought and sold on commission.

Taxes Paid and Non-Resident Lands Cared For.

Collections a Specialty.

Titles Investigated, & Abstracts of Titles Furnished.

Four thousand acres of the choicest Farming Lands in Charlevoix, Emmet and Antrim counties for sale AT VERY LOW PRICES. Most desirable lands for manufacturing near the South Arm, Intermediate and Pine Lakes—all are located in school districts, and situated on good roads.

For terms and descriptions apply to, or address

E. H. GREEN, Real Estate Agent, Charlevoix, Mich

1tf6y.

THE BOSS Grocery Store.

BYRON SEE

Call the attention of the people of this vicinity to the important fact that must be bought cheaper in the future or we give them at his store in Charlevoix.

GROCERIES

Also Dry Goods

As cheap as the cheapest.

Come and See!

Charlevoix, August 1, 1875.

ANDREW D. D. McCABE. Charlevoix Michigan.

BOOT AND SHOE SHOP.

Custom work done promptly and in the latest style. Repairing done on short notice.

REAL ESTATE AGENT

H. L. MILLER.

CHARLEVOIX, MICH.

SAWYER COUNTY

CHARLES AUGUSTA

The old Brady Farm in Boyne Falls, containing 80 acres, 15 cleared, 5 N. E. 4 acres improved, 10 acres in pasture, good dwelling house, barn, good well, and other outbuildings. Also farm with a mistake to him. For terms address the agency, or S. Alsdorf, Charlevoix.

John Bell's farm, in Marion Township, the good frame house, brick, good cellar, and 100 acres of the house, house built 20x24, 1½ story, good barn, 30x40, 16 feet high, and 15 acres cleared, the best of soil; timber, maple, beech, elm, hemlock, basswood; 2½ miles from Boyne Falls, through the farm and three living springs. Will sell 80 acres, section 31, Town 31 North, of Range 5 West, or the whole farm of 160 acres. Good log house and barn. Terms made easy.

1875

G. B. MILLS, DEALER IN Gen'l Merchandise, Boyne Falls, Mich.,

Located adjacent to railroad, and careful attention is paid to the wants of customers.

Cash Paid for Country Produce

People in the vicinity of the railroad and the head of Pleasant Lake, can now make it for their interests to call and examine goods and prices.

May 22, 1875.

Lette s from Druggists,

There is no case of Dyspepsia that Green's August Flower will not cure. Come to the Drug Store of G. W. Chester, and inquire about it. If you suffer from costiveness Sick Headache, sour Stomach, Indigestion Liver Complaint, or derangement of the Stomach or Liver try it. Two or three doses will relieve you.

Boschee's German Syrup is now sold in every town and city in the United States. We have not less than five hundred letters from druggists, saying it is the best medicine they ever sold for consumption, Throat or Lung disease. Sample bottles of both for 10 cents. Regular size 75 cents.

Wonderful Success

Three years ago Dr. Boschee's German Syrup was introduced in the United States from Germany for the cure of coughs, sore throats settled on the lungs, Consumption and other diseases?

No medicine ever had such a success. 800,000 sample bottles have been distributed every year for three years by druggists in all parts of the United States, and nearly 100 letters from druggists are now on our desk saying that no other preparation in their stores sells so well and gives such excellent satisfaction. Although we ask you to go to your druggist and get it. Dr. Boschee, and get a sample bottle free to convince you. Large bottles 75 cents.

NOTICE—

Traverse City, Mich. June 15, 1875.

Complaint having been entered at this office by Mary Morrison against James M. Simpson for abandoning his Homestead Entry No. 4305, dated May 10, 1872, upon the N. E. fract'l part of Section 14, Township 33 North, Range 8 West, with a view to the cancellation of said entry; the said parties are hereby summoned to appear at this office on the 24th day of Nov., 1875, at 10 o'clock A. M., to respond and furnish testimony concerning said alleged abandonment.

SETH C. MOFFATT, Register.
20 PERRY HANNAH, Receiver.

RAILROAD Carpenter & Handy BOYNE FALLS.

Inquire in

DRY GOODS, Groceries, Provisions, Hardware, Crockery.

And in fact every article needed by the people of this region.

OUR GOODS AND PRICES Speak for Themselves.

Call and See Us.

DR. A. TRASK'S MAGNETIC OINTMENT FOR THE CURE OF INFLAMMATORY DISEASES.

Dr. Trask was engaged for twenty years in a course of experiments upon the medical properties and power of vegetables, minerals and animals. At the age of seventy years he announced to the world as the result of his experiments, a combination of vegetable extracts the power of which in relieving disease is unequaled by any remedy of Medicine ever in existence.

His discovery consists in a combination of the two Vegetable Extracts with Magnetism or Magnetized Steel.

Certain, it is, that the remarkable and unprecedented success which has attended its application in the cure of disease during all and since as the greatest discovery of the age, and calls for a trial and close investigation of its properties.

Cancer Salve, while there remains sufficient vital life to retain a natural and healthy action to the capillary vessels of the body, and sustain the circulation of the blood, will overcome a controlling power in cancer, over the most malignant forms of disease. It can only be obtained from my authorized agents.

Such is the potency of this combination, that when applied to any portion of the human body, it draws every bone and tumor, wen, boil, or gathering to a head, and the whole constitution of its purifying and healing influence, causes a speedy and healthy restoration of natural health.

Numerous instances are on record where this remedy has restored health to persons who had been told that the most powerful surgical skill could do nothing for their relief. Attempts to imitate my remedy have been the case in numerous instances.

No patient ever used it in vain, and in many cases a single box has been sufficient to effect a cure.

For Inflammatory Rheumatism this ointment is the most complete remedy ever discovered. For lumbago or Pleuritic Pains it is unrivaled.

Sixty-nine cases out of a hundred. It will effect entire relief in the worst cases of Nervous Headache in thirty minutes.

For Nervous Diseases the medicine is of immense value.

Affections of the Spine, Rheumatism, Lameness, Contracted Sinews, Bronchitis, Coughs, Colds, Hoarseness, Chronic Sore Throat, Bronchitis, Agues in Breast, Pleurisy, Chronic Weakness, Asthma, Pleurisy, Sore Throat, Sores, Scald Head, Scrofula, Salt Rheum, Erysipelas, Inflamed Eyes, Fever Sores, Piles, Burns, will be immediately relieved by the use of Dr. Trask's Magnetic Ointment.

D. Ransom, Son & Co., Prop'rs, Buffalo, N. Y.

1875. 1875

Fox, Rose & Buttars.

PETOSKEY

Headquarters to Buy

DRY GOODS,

GROCERIES & PROVISION

BOOTS and SHOES.

TIN and HARDWARE.

STOVES, STOVEPIPE.

CROCKERY & GLASSWARE.

TRUNKS, Traveling Bags

FURNITUR

We always keep good goods & sell at owest Cash Prices. Strangers arriving in town soon find their way to our store; people living with us know how the thermometer

Largest Stock! Lowest Prices.

Careful Attention to Orders.

Fox, Rose & Buttars

G. W. ESTERLY & CO.

CHARLEVOIX MICH

HARD and SOFT

LUMBER

ALSO

Shingles

Lath

Cheese Box Stuff

Broom Handles

Etc.

LUMBER SAWED

TO ORDER

AND

BILLS FILLED

J. E. Greilick & Co., TRAVERSE CITY, MICH.

Manufacturers of, and Dealers in

Sash & Doors, BLINDS, MOULDINGS, BRACKETS.

SEASONED

Clear Lumber, Dressed Flooring, Ceiling Siding and Shingles constantly on hand for the general trade. Orders by Boat will be promptly attended to.

MEAT MARKET.

A. J. McLEOD,

Respectfully informs the public of Charlevoix and vicinity that he has established a Meat Market opposite the Charlevoix House, where he will furnish fresh meats at low rates. Cash paid for fat cattle and hogs.

FOUNTAIN CITY HOUSE.

Charlevoix, Michigan

RICHARD COOPER, Prop,

Has now refitted, enlarged, and arranged with a view to the comfort of the traveling public. Tings ply from here to

Jordan and Boyne Rivers,

Inshich abound myriads of Speckled Trout Baggage moved free of charge.

BLACKSMITHING.

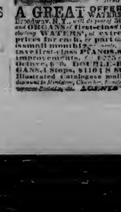
The subscriber would inform the citizens of South Arm and vicinity that he has opened his shop at the head, where he is prepare d to do all manner of work in his line.

Horse-Shoeing a Specialty.

Also repairing carriage, making and repairing iron, axes and edge-tools. He defies competition.

WM. J. VOYE.

Nelsonville, Jan. 1, 1875. 1374m.



ROSADALIS

THE GREAT ALTERATIVE AND BLOOD PURIFIER.

It is not a quack nostrum. The ingredients are published on each bottle of medicine. It is used and recommended by Physicians wherever it has been introduced. It will positively cure and kindred diseases. RHEUMATISM, WHITE SWELLING, HUMOR, GOITRE, BRONCHITIS, SYPHILIS, ERYSIPELAS, SCALD HEAD, CONSUMPTION and all diseases arising from Impure Blood, Low State of the Blood, &c.

SCROFULA

Rev. Father Edwards, of St. Mary's, in which you will find certificates from publishers and Methodist Ministers of the Gospel, and others.

Dr. E. Wilcox Carr, of Baltimore, says he has used it in cases of Scrofula and other diseases with much satisfaction.

Dr. T. C. Pugh, of Baltimore, recommends it to those who are suffering with diseased blood, saying it has never failed to give satisfaction in his hands.

Rev. Dabney Hall, of the Salisbury M. E. Conference, South, says he has been so much benefitted by its use, that he cheerfully recommends it to all his friends and acquaintances.

Craven & Co., Druggists, at Charlotte, N. C., say it never has failed to give satisfaction.

Samuel G. Bradley, Mercantile Appraiser, Tennessee, has found him of rheumatism when all else failed.

THE ROSADALIS IN CONNECTION WITH OUR

KROMER'S ANTI-BILIOUS PILLS

will cure Chills and Fever, Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia, etc. We guarantee Rosadalis superior to all other Blood Purifiers. Send for Descriptive Circular or Almanac.

Address, CLEMENTS & CO., 58, Commerce St., Baltimore, Md.

Remember to ask your Druggist for Rosadalis.

LAND FOR SALE.

The subscriber has for sale on reasonable terms of payment, the following desirable

LANDS

Situated in Charlevoix County, Mich. The lands have been located for some years, and are

FIRST - QUALITY

As regards soil and hardwood timber:

Town 32 North of Range 7 West.

W. ½ of sec. of section 24.
N. ½ of sec. " 27.
Lots 1, 2 and 3 " 34.
N. E. ¼ of " 36.

Town 34 North of Range 7 West.

E. ½ of sec. of section 6.
W. ½ of sec. " 14.
Lots 1, 2 and 3 " 32.
N. ½ of sec. " 32.

Town 32 North of Range 6 West.

S. W. ¼ of sec. of section 9.

Town 32 North of Range 5 West.

N. ½ of sec. of section 16.
E. ½ of sec. " 16.
W. ½ of sec. " 16.

The last three descriptions, containing 960 acres, are within one half mile of Boyne Falls Station, on the G. R. & I. R. R.

For price, terms etc., address

1-6tf. AMOS FOX, Charlevoix.

New Harness Shop.

The subscriber would respectfully inform the public of Charlevoix and vicinity that he is now prepared to do work in his line promptly and at reasonable rates.

REPAIRING

A specialty. May be found at the old Bean stand, opposite Fox, Rose & Buttars' store.

CHR. TOB BENTON.

Charlevoix, August 8, 1874.

FOR SALE.

The undersigned offers for sale, in connection to suit buyers, and on long time, the following

FARMS:

The timber is beech, maple, rock-elm, and some pine and cedar, and each lot is surrounded by settlers.

145 Acres on State road, one mile from Charlevoix, Norwood road on south line, two acres cleared at the junction of the State and Norwood road. Price, $1,305.

123 Acres 14 miles from Charlevoix; half mile on Pine Lake; good log house; four acres cleared. Price, $1,000.

40 Acres 3 miles from Charlevoix; two acres cleared. Price, $200.

173 Acres three and a half miles from Charlevoix; 30 acres into timothy; good barn 30x40 feet; log house. Price, $1,200.

284 Acres on State road 6 miles from Charlevoix; two trout brooks running through this; no improvement. Price, $1,136.

160 Acres 6 miles from Charlevoix on Co. road; beaver meadow of 60 acres for trout brook Price, $640.

167 Acres 6 miles from Charlevoix; between Antrim and Emmet No 1 mile on this; balance mostly rock-elm and maple. $668.

80 Acres 2 miles from Charlevoix, 40 rods from Pine Lake; lake shore road passes through one end. Town road through the other; timber, maple. $500.

120 Acres 5 miles from Charlevoix, on Town road; trout-brook on this; no improvements. $300.

No better water can be found anywhere. All the brooks and streams abound in trout.

For further particulars apply to

E. L. CLIFFORD, Charlevoix, Mich.

1876tf

The Sentinel,

Published every Tuesday by WILLARD A. SMITH

EDITOR AND PROPRIETOR.

OFFICE—Postoffice Building On Bridge Street

Terms of Subscription: $2.00 per Annum, In Advance. Invariably.

TO BE PUBLISHED in good style and at low rates.

Business Directory.

A. [illegible] Cards, each $1. Per annum.

W[illegible] SH[illegible] Nowell's mill Boyne Falls, Mich.

B[illegible] [illegible] Boyne Falls, Mich.

L[illegible] [illegible] Boyne Falls, Mich.

M[illegible] [illegible] Boyne Falls, Mich.

J[illegible] [illegible] Boyne Falls, Mich.

S[illegible] [illegible] Boyne Falls, Mich.

L[illegible] [illegible] Boyne Falls, Mich.

E[illegible] [illegible] Boyne Falls, Mich.

D[illegible] [illegible] Boyne Falls, Mich.

A[illegible] [illegible] Boyne Falls, Mich.

M[illegible] [illegible] Boyne Falls, Mich.

F[illegible] [illegible] Boyne Falls, Mich.

W. S. HARRIS, [illegible] Boyne Falls, Mich.

D[illegible] [illegible] Boyne Falls, Mich.

D. B. [illegible] Attorney at Law, Petoskey, Mich. Will practice in all the courts of the State. Collections promptly attended to. Office in Bridge street, Petoskey.

C. W. INSALL & SON, Grocers and Provision Dealers, Lime, Cement, Hair, Plaster, Salt, Fish, Nails, Glass, Groceries, Liquors and Tobacco. Boyne Falls, Mich.

J. MILO EATON, Attorney and Counsellor at Law, Petoskey, Mich. Will practice in all the courts of the State. Collections promptly attended to. Office in Bridge street, Petoskey.

DR. LITTLE and BRO, Physicians and Surgeons, Little's Fine Arbor, Mich.

The Campbell House, TRAVERSE CITY, MICH. H. S. CAMPBELL, Prop.

C. J. FAIRTHORP, Attorney and Counselor at Law, Solicitor in Chancery and Notary Public. Office in Fairthorp's building, Petoskey, Mich.

R. W. COX, Dealer in General Merchandise, Section 22, Town 33 N., R. 8 W. Cash paid for Furs, Hides and furs taken in exchange for goods.

H. A. ROLLINS, LITTLE TRAVERSE, MICH DEALER IN DRY GOODS, Groceries and Provisions.

The highest market price paid for Furs, Hides and furs taken in exchange for goods.

H. A. ROLLINS.

M. J. Stockman

Charlevoix, Mich., DEALER IN HARDWARE, Tinware & Stoves.

Keeps constantly on hand a large supply of the celebrated

DETROIT STOVES,

With Furniture.

A well selected stock of shelf hardware.

Repairing in all its branches done on short notice and in good style.

Cash Paid for Copper

CHARLEVOIX SENTINEL.

Terms, $2.00 per Annum. Devoted to the Interests of Charlevoix County. (Always in Advance.

Vol. VII No. 31. CHARLEVOIX, MICH., NOV. 30, 1875. Whole No., 342

A FACT!

JUST AS CHEAP AT ROSE'S HEAD OF SOUTH ARM

Fish!

Fresh fish, cut and packed to order. Remember number 7 dock, in my store, South Arm Mich.

"THE" MILLER

Dealer in Boyne Island. Hands on all sides to receive and ship grain and flour.

Charlevoix, Aug. 10, 1875.

BUILDING AND REPAIRING

E. S. HAWKS.

Begs leave to inform the people of Charlevoix that he is prepared to do

House-Building and Repairing.

Has on hand a full assortment of materials for

Sleigh and Wagon Repairing

Shop on Pleasant street, opposite the head of Round Lake.

STATE OF MICHIGAN—In the Circuit Court for the County of Charlevoix.

In the matter of the Circuit Court for the year 1877.

It is known that the entire county of the Circuit Court for the fifth judicial circuit of the State of Michigan, will be held at the village of Charlevoix, in the county of Charlevoix, on the first Tuesday of April, A. D. 1877, at the hour of ten o'clock in the forenoon of that day.

Dated this 22nd day of November, A. D. 1875.

By the Court, JAMES MILLER, Circuit Judge.

[L. S.] Attest: WILLARD A. SMITH, Clerk.

New Advertisements.

Colds, Colds, Colds.

[illegible] MEDICAL HALL

[illegible] Cough Syrup, Dr. Wistar's Balsam, Dr. Rogers' Liverwort and Tar, Dr. Bailey's Bronchitine, Pure Drugs and Medicines.

[illegible] Physicians' prescriptions carefully compounded, day or night.

Geo. W. Chester.

Family and Toilet Goods.

FOR SALE CHEAP.

Schooner Ida May,

in first-class condition, inquire on reasonable terms the small

NOTICE.

U. S. Land Office, Traverse City, Mich., Aug. 2, 1875.

Complaint having been entered at this office by Mary Morrison against James M. Simpson for abandoning his Homestead Entry No. 4305, dated May 10, 1872, upon the N. E. fract'l part of Section 14, Township 33 North, Range 8 West, with a view to the cancellation of said entry; the said parties are hereby summoned to appear at this office on the 24th day of Nov., 1875, at 10 o'clock A. M., to respond and furnish testimony concerning said alleged abandonment.

SETH C. MOFFATT, Register.
PERRY HANNAH, Receiver.

THE SENTINEL.

Charlevoix Postoffice.

Office Hours—Week days, from [illegible] A. M. to [illegible] P. M. Sundays, from [illegible] to [illegible] A. M. Mail for the East closes at [illegible] P. M. Mail for the West closes at [illegible] P. M.

W. A. SIMPSON, P. M.

K. B.

KING OF THE BLOOD.

THE MOST VITAL PRINCIPLE OF THE BLOOD ACROSS THE OCEAN.

CURES ALL HUMORS, FROM A COMMON ERUPTION TO THE WORST SCROFULA.

By its use Cancers are cured, as Cutaneous Cancers are disposed to do, by Queen's Ruffle—for details see pamphlet and Circulars, also presented and cured.

Venereal Diseases, Mercurial Affections, and the effects of Quinine, are thoroughly eradicated by this Powerful Remedy.

Female Weakness and Disease. Dropsy, and its painful concomitant, Ascites, Intestinal, and Tumors are reduced and dispersed in forty days.

Erysipelas, Salt Rheum, Scald Head, and Fever Sores are soon removed by this powerful Detergent and Alterative.

Chronic Diseases, Deafness, Dandruff, Scaly or Rough Skin, and Pimples quickly give way, and a clear skin is obtained.

Chronic Diseases, Worst and Aggr. The ordered Liver, Dyspepsia, Constipation, Nervous Affections, Disease, Indigestion about all the numerous diseases caused by bad blood are conquered and give way before this powerful Corrector and King of the Blood.

Price $1 per bottle, or 6 bottles for forty and 6 dollars per case to cover expenses.

From one to four or six bottles will cure Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ring Worm. Pimples on the Face, Blue, ordinary Eruptions, etc.

From two to eight bottles will cure the Scaly Eruptions of the skin, Ulcers, Sores, and Canker in the Mouth and Stomach, Erysipelas, etc.

From two to ten bottles will cure Scrofula in its worst forms, and Syphilis, which is also cured by Queen's Ruffle.

From two to six bottles will be found efficient in curing Neuralgia, Sick Headache, St. Vitus' Dance, and Scaly etc.

From five to twelve bottles will cure the worst cases of Scrofula.

From three to twelve bottles will cure Chronic Rheumatism and Gout.

From two to four bottles will cure the worst cases of Piles, and removal of tumors from the system.

From five to ten bottles will cure Salt Rheum of Herpes.

Price $1 per bottle, or 6 bottles for $5, Sold by all Druggists.

D. RANSOM, SON & CO., Prop'rs, Manufacturers of Proprietary Medicines, Buffalo, N. Y.

Rev. [illegible] has [illegible] one of the [illegible] which he is selling very cheap and that he is going out to live from.

Wayne Masson has a set of silver plated spectacles for sale. Inquire of Carpenter & Rathbone's.

Brothers, of [illegible] are manufacturing [illegible] with [illegible] at the [illegible] will soon [illegible].

Rev. W. L. Tilton, of this place, [illegible] preparatory to a trip to Grand Rapids, to [illegible] some time in December. A special train has been engaged and reserved for conductor, and we have been appointed the correspondent. [illegible] Family of the Morning Times and Star, does [illegible] that self-puff of his own.]

H. L. Miller, well known to the people of this county, has met a stock of general merchandise in the Newman store building, and with the reputation of handling but good goods at reasonable prices, he seeks the patronage of his friends. We will get out a single quantity of wood this winter. His advertisement will appear next week.

Dakotah—According to opinions as announced by the Arbeiter Fried' Democrat, under the management of Robert Meyer, Esq., are to give their entertainment on Friday evening, December 10th. The programme embraces Mr. Meyer's original drama entitled "The Unmarried Cabaret Proprietor," and the farce entitled "The Bachelor's Ghost," together with vocal and instrumental music. The object of the entertainment is to provide a purse for wages and dresses for the use of the ladies' home [illegible] and it is desired by the managers that every one who can possibly do so will be present. The public are already acquainted with the merits of this body and will patronize it as it deserves.

The Northport Tribune says: The Saturday last Charlie Wolfe, James Reid and William Wilson, of this place, went to Charlevoix in a sail boat, intending to return the next day. Since then the wind has been blowing a gale and it has been very stormy, but they left the inner on Wednesday morning and succeeded in reaching the inland route before dark. Yesterday they left the basin and reached Omena point late last night, about 12 o'clock. They were not very hungry and the boat nearly swamped several times. Last night they were up in Seattle, and came around this morning.

Transcript.—Thursday passed off with pretty general observance of a trip to Grand Rapids, to see some game [illegible]

THE SENTINEL.
WILLARD A. SMITH, Editor and Proprietor.
CHARLEVOIX, - MICHIGAN.

THE NEWS.

A London telegram of the 11th says the queen in India had interfered to secure peace with the arrangements of the Prince of Wales.

Disastrous floods were reported from along England and Ireland on the 14th.

Cardinal McCloskey left Queenstown for New York on the 15th.

The ship Chicutia, from Quebec for Liverpool, was lately wrecked at Stone Haven. Twenty-two of the crew and a lady passenger were drowned. Only the Captain, three men and a boy were saved.

The annual report of the Commissioner of Education shows an increase of 168,000 school children during the year. There are enrolled in the public schools 9,000,000, and sixteen years of age, 10,936,674, number of teachers employed, 211,391, total income public schools, $82,158,566; total expenditures, $74,974,988, value of school buildings, $105,736,415.

Hiram Ieffersonville has been appointed United States Marshal for the District of Missouri, and T. C. Woodward of Iowa, Examiner in Chief of the Patent Office.

On the 13th Mr. Moulton wrote to Mr Silverthorn, Clerk of Plymouth Church, asking the church to join with her in calling a Council of churches, before which Plymouth Church should give its reasons for the action taken in dropping her name from its roll of membership, and she should state her reasons for absenting herself from the services of the church in case of refusal on the part of the church to comply with this request within a few weeks; she gave notice that she her self should call for such a council.

On the 13th Col. Joyce was sentenced to imprisonment in the Penitentiary for a term of three and a half years and to pay a fine of $500. Before sentence was passed he addressed the court in his own behalf, declaring himself the victim of evil conspirators and perjurers and that he and Joyce's object in demanding a sentence was to avoid being called upon to answer other indictments pending at St. Louis; also that he was prompted by motive to protect others from the effect of any testimony he might otherwise have been required to give.

Nemucas Thomas, of Chicago, is said to have perfected a new motor similar in a general way to the one which Keely is now using, but differing in application and effect.

The body of Capt. Wells, a Galveston pilot on board the City of Waco, has been found near where the steamer went down.

The Amoskeag Mills, of Manchester, N. H. have given notice of a reduction of from 5 to 15 per cent. in the wages of operatives after June 1.

Assurances to a New York dispatch of the 12th from Messrs. of Brooklyn, had decided to order a commission to take the testimony of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Richards in the London bigamy case.

The official canvass of the vote of Maryland gives Carroll, Democratic candidate for Governor, 12,762 majority. The Democrats keep a majority of twelve in the Senate and thirty in the House.

According to a London dispatch of the morning of the 16th an engagement between the Turks and Herzegovinians near Gatschko had resulted in the defeat of the former, who had but one fort and 1,000 killed and lost their baggage, ammunition and most of their cannon.

Two Greek Christians of Cappadocia, according to the Augsburg Allgemeine Zeitung, have lately fattened the Porte to expel the American missionaries because they "make people wise and incite to rebellion."

A Paris dispatch of the 15th says the surgeon of Rouher, Lud ovic Legrand, in closed prayer beginning with the words "Dans ce fut solennel" as required by the Ministry of Public Worship.

A financial panic prevailed on the London Stock Exchange and the Paris Bourse on the 15th.

The damage done in London and its immediate neighborhood by the high tides on the 15th was estimated to be over $3,000,000.

Secretary Bristow has called in for redemption $13,000 of registered bonds of 1881 and 1881-'65 to the amount of $17,785,350. Interest on same ceases July 15, 1876.

The Pope's effort to prevent Spain's proposed marriage by official pronouncement emphatically denied by Washington dispatches.

The New England Labor Reform League met in Boston on the 14th. Resolutions were adopted denouncing political parties, and asserting that legislation in the country should look to protection of persons and property but to promote the interests of speculative robbery. Hints of a revolution and secret military organizations among laboring men were thrown out.

The jury in the celebrated Ward will case, on trial at Detroit, have failed to agree and were discharged on the 14th. Eight were in favor of breaking the will and four believed the will was first entered should be sustained. Most of the jurors agreed that Capt. Ward was competent to execute a will.

The United States Grand Jury at Brownsville, Tex., have found eighty indictments against Mexicans for the perpetration of thefts and outrages on the Texas border. The jury say that 100,000 stolen cattle are every year driven to Mexico by Mexican marauders, and that American ranchers along the Texas border have been ordered to leave their business or be killed.

Joseph Hodgdon, a Portland (Maine) merchant, failed on the 16th, with liabilities estimated at $40,000,000.

Guiteau's remains were quietly buried in the Catholic cemetery at Montreal on the morning of the 16th. The coffin was imbedded in cement and was placed upon that of his deceased wife.

The Vice-President was not as well on the 16th as on the previous day. His physician has reported him as resting comfortably in the evening, and excluded all visitors from his room.

The New York Court of Appeals on the 16th dismissed the appeals in both of the Tweed cases. Motions for a new trial or particulars were, by this decision, refused.

The majority of Pillsbury (Rep.) for Governor of Minnesota is officially stated to be 11,980. Plaender, for State Treasurer, had 5,000 majority.

The Monongahela (Ala.) dispatch of the 16th says returns received there indicate the election of the new State Constitution by a large majority.

Eighteen Mormons, residents of Franklin, Idaho, have been indicted for polygamy.

Earthquake shocks were felt at San Francisco and at various points in Southern California and Arizona on the night of the 15th.

A Havana telegram of the 15th states that Don Carlos had lately written to King Alphonso offering to agree to a truce should the Cuban difficulties cease was between Spain and the United States.

A Berlin dispatch of the 15th says the Crown Princess of Germany and not proposed to visit the United States during the centennial year.

A late Washington dispatch states that Secretary Bristow had contracted with the syndicate for the whole of the remainder of the $500,000,000 5 per cents. The Secretary would take no action in regard to selling the 4 and 4½ per cents, until Congress meets.

Commissioner Smith has resigned his charge of the Indian Bureau, and George W. Manypenny, ex-Collector of Customs at Detroit, has been appointed as his successor.

The commission appointed to negotiate with the Sioux Nation for the Black Hills has concluded its labors and returned to Chicago. Their report will be made to the President and Congress at once.

MICHIGAN STATE NEWS.

Hammer's sawmill, near Pinconning, was destroyed by fire on the 7th. Loss $5,000. Insurance $2,500.

Bruce County has two Boards of Supervisors, one holding its meeting in Frankfort and the other in Bentonville.

A move occurred in the Saginaw River the other morning, and one of the occupants, George Oliver by name, was drowned.

A Miss Wilcox had both legs taken off at Grand Rapids on the morning of the 5th, by getting under the wheels of a freight train.

The directors of the university have conferred the degree of A. M. on Miss Sarah Dix Hamilton of the class of '74 and now a teacher in the High school of Detroit Wash Gordon, a Grand Rapids tie contractor, visited a farm room the other night with $750 and placed it all in the bank but fifteen dollars, when he lost a stroke of apoplexy and soon after expired.

The following postal changes were made in Michigan during the week ending Nov. 6, 1875: Established—Grandview, Osceola County, James M. Hawkins, Postmaster. Discontinued—Black Falls, Huron County.

The balance of cash in the State Treasury 1st, 27 was $1,080,324.49, receipts during the week ending Nov. 3 were $71,626.75; payments during same time were $151,709.37; balance in Treasury Nov. 3, 1875, $980,774.98; decrease for the week, $100,149.61.

Albert Scheine, a Detroit Justice of the Peace, insurance agent, etc., is reported to have gone to the Canadian shore, leaving some of his insurance companies, clients and litigants to treat his coming back to recover the funds which he didn't restore before he left.

Jos. Pouchene, a Frenchman, was run down at E. Lyakins & Co's dock, in Bay City, on the evening of the 7th, by being knocked in the head with a carpenter's wooden mallet, as he was hauling from the steamer Daniel Ball, which had returned from an excursion to Bay View, a resort on the bay shore.

A fair morning's age a little Detroit boy named Karnicki, who lives on Pierce street, was watching his father feed a large hog, standing on the pen and the animal into the pen. At a moment when the father was otherwise engaged the boy left the trough and roaring upon the hog's back, seized the boy by his clothing and pulled him over into the pen. Mr. Karnicki flew to the rescue of his child, but before he could reach him the ferocious animal had bitten the child severely on the left arm and otherwise injured him with his hoofs.

The 6th annual meeting of the Western Associated Press was held in Detroit on the 10th. The following Board of Directors was elected, Jos. Medill, of Chicago, Boland Smith, of Cleveland, W. N. Haldeman, of Louisville; Joseph G. Stickney, of Pittsburgh; John Knapp, of St Louis; A. J. Kellar, of Memphis; J. F. Mack, of Sandusky. The Board of Directors met subsequently and elected the following officers. President—Murat Halsted, of Cincinnati. Vice-President, Henry W. Farrar, of Chicago; Secretary, D. F. Baker, of Detroit

The thirteenth annual Commencement of the Michigan Agricultural College was held on the 10th. The following seniors received their diplomas—O. A. Armstrong, Smithfield, Mich.; F. J. Annis, Greenville; W. L. Carpenter, Clifton, Ill.; A. J. Cram, Lyons, Mich.; C. B. Reodum, Remington, Mich.; D. P. Griswold, Northville, Mich.; C. D. Hoag, Lansing, Mich.; J. A. Nevins, Orangeville, Mich.; E. B. Nye, Brownville, Mich.; C. L. Parker, Sturgis, Ill.; D. Purdy, Columbus, Ohio; C. H. Royce, Sturgis, Mich.; C. W. Shelton, South Bend, Ind.; W. B. Smith, Grand Rapids, Mich.; C. A. Sturgis, Sturgis, Michigan.

The State census for 1874 is just published. The total population at the time of taking was 1,184,059 the decrease in 1874 being 2,261 between the 1st Monday of April and the third Monday of May was 1,181,031, exclusive of Manitou and Fox Islands, in Manitou County, and of the sparsely-settled townships Nos. 23, N. R. 3 and 4 E. in Ingham County, the only portions from which returns were received. It is estimated that these were probably about 200 people in the unreported territory, which would increase the total population 1,244,231. An examination of the tables reveals several items which deserve notice. The census shows 1,000 more of males, 597,781 of females 583,875, males born here and over, 115,780; population of native parentage and over, 1,005,; number of married males, 250,189, number of widowers and divorced males, 15,599; single females, 26,061; married females, 250,824; widowed and divorced females, 32,674, centenarians, 18; taxable lands, 26,570,- 160 acres. A very array of statistics are presented which are extremely interesting.

The following statistics of the progress of agricultural products of the State for the year ending Dec 31, 1875:

Wheat, bushels	11,000,000	14,000,000
Wheat, winter	10,000,000	13,000,000
Wheat, spring	1,000,000	1,000,000
Corn, bushels	30,000,000	35,000,000
Oats, bushels	30,000,000	35,000,000
Barley, bushels	1,000,000	1,000,000
Rye, bushels	1,000,000	1,000,000
Buckwheat, bushels	1,000,000	1,000,000
Potatoes, bushels	15,000,000	20,000,000
Hay, tons	1,000,000	1,000,000
Wool, pounds	3,000,000	3,000,000
Butter, pounds	20,000,000	25,000,000
Cheese, pounds	1,000,000	1,000,000
Orchard products, bushels	1,000,000	1,000,000
Grapes, pounds	1,000,000	1,000,000
Maple sugar, pounds	1,000,000	1,000,000
Maple molasses, gallons	1,000,000	1,000,000
Honey, pounds	1,000,000	1,000,000
Beeswax, pounds	1,000,000	1,000,000
Hops, pounds	1,000,000	1,000,000
Flax, pounds	1,000,000	1,000,000
Flax seed, bushels	1,000,000	1,000,000
Tobacco, pounds	1,000,000	1,000,000
Maple trees tapped	1,000,000	1,000,000
Sorghum, gallons	1,000,000	1,000,000
Broom corn, pounds	1,000,000	1,000,000
Cranberries, bushels	1,000,000	1,000,000
Peaches, bushels	1,000,000	1,000,000
Pears, bushels	1,000,000	1,000,000
Plums, bushels	1,000,000	1,000,000
Cherries, bushels	1,000,000	1,000,000
Quinces, bushels	1,000,000	1,000,000
Apples, bushels	1,000,000	1,000,000
Apples, dried, bushels	1,000,000	1,000,000
Apples, cider, barrels	1,000,000	1,000,000
Apples, vinegar, barrels	1,000,000	1,000,000
Apples, jelly, barrels	1,000,000	1,000,000
Apples, preserves, barrels	1,000,000	1,000,000
Apples, canned, barrels	1,000,000	1,000,000
Apples, dried, barrels	1,000,000	1,000,000
Apples, cider, barrels	1,000,000	1,000,000
Apples, vinegar, barrels	1,000,000	1,000,000
Apples, jelly, barrels	1,000,000	1,000,000
Apples, preserves, barrels	1,000,000	1,000,000
Apples, canned, barrels	1,000,000	1,000,000

THE FORTY-FOURTH CONGRESS.

SENATE.

Democrats in Roman; R. Republicans in Italics; I. Independents in Small Capitals; 1, 1875; 2, 1876.

ALABAMA.
2	GEORGE E. SPENCER	2	GEORGE E. SPENCER
1	LUTHER R. HARE	1	LUTHER R. HARE
2	JAMES L. ALCORN	2	JAMES L. ALCORN
1	JAMES L. ALCORN	1	JAMES L. ALCORN

THE SENTINEL.

"SHTOP A LEETLE!"

Spring Harbor,

HEAD OF PINE LAKE.

YOU'RE CRAZY

"REGULATOR"

Lawson's Curative.

NEW GOODS,

PORK AND FLOUR.

SUGAR.

TEAS.

COFFEE.

SPICES.

OILS.

Patent Chilled Wheel

Farming Implements.

TINWARE.

TURN THE CRANK TO THE MACHINE

TRULY YOURS:

T. W. NICHOLS.

Carpenter & Bartholomew

Cheap Cash Store is just the Place to Buy Your Goods!

CARPENTER & BARTHOLOMEW'S

South End of Bridge Street.

Charlevoix, Mich.

MEDICAL

HALL,

CHARLEVOIX.

DRUGS

Stationery, Ink and Pens

The Self Adjusting Truss

Prescriptions Compounded

GEO. W. CROUTER.

1875. 1876

A. C. VanRaalte

Capt. Alvin Bunga.

Petoskey & Traverse City.

Sunday, Wednesday and Friday.

Saturday, Thursday and Saturday.

THE SENTINEL

JOB PRINTING

DEPARTMENT

COMPLETE

PLAIN and COLORED WORK

Promptly and Neatly Done

700,000 Acres

Farming Land

WATER AND RAIL.

700,000 Acres

In Charlevoix County

DRUGS and MEDICINE

DR. LEWIS

JUST RECEIVED

Fluid Extracts,

Tinctures,

Oils of Full Kinds,

Gums,

Pharmacy.

PATENT MEDICINES

Sold at Wholesale and Retail.

Cures Most Advertised

K. B.

KING OF THE BLOOD.

Venereal Maladies,

Female Weakness and Disease,

Dyspepsia,

Scrofulous Diseases,

Chronic Diseases,

For 8 bottles

From one to twelve bottles

From two to eight bottles

From two to six bottles

From one to twelve bottles

From three to twelve bottles

From two to ten bottles

From two to ten bottles

Price $1 per bottle, or 6 bottles for $5

Sold by Druggists

B. DAVOL SON & CO., Props.,

Boston, U. S. A.

A GREAT OFFER.

$25

DECATUR, ILL.

DR. J. R. MILLER'S

MAGNETIC BALM.

HISTORY OF THE GRANGE MOVEMENT

NORWOOD.

F. J. MEECH & Co

NORWOOD, MICH.,

DEALERS IN

DRY GOODS,

Groceries and Provisions,

Also Manufacturers of

HARDWOOD LUMBER,

Lath and Shingles.

FALL & WINTER.

1875-6.

Stacks and Stacks

OF

NEW GOODS!

AT

Fox, Rose & Buttars,

IN

EVERY DEPARTMENT

With the Best

that the

Wholesale Markets Afford.

WE ARE BETTER PREPARED THAN EVER TO SUPPLY THE WANTS OF OUR CUSTOMERS, AND BETTER PREPARED

To Sell Cheap.

IT IS UNNECESSARY

To Enumerate Articles;

WE SELL

What You Want

Be Your Wants Ever So Numerous.

Commissioner Pratt's Report.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.

The Commissioner of Internal Revenue has completed his report for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1875. The document is very voluminous, and shows that the actual number of receipts at the Treasury from all sources from the date of June 30, 1867, to June 30, 1875 (exclusive of taxes and interest), was as follows:

Customs	$1,770,679,265
Internal revenue	1,294,746,000
Direct tax	17,359,738
Miscellaneous	92,177,728
Loans	1,000,000
Miscellaneous and fund C	182,927,117
Total	$3,359,889,848

The receipts for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1875, were $191,116,031, for the year ended June 30, 1874, $194,955,454. The increase during the fiscal year ending in 1875 over the fiscal year ending in 1874 was $3,839,423. The receipts for the month of March, 1875, were $18,641,000, being the largest receipts during any month under the laws in force at the time. The receipts from customs and internal revenue during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1875, were $130,956,116, and from railroad and other sources on the Pacific, $60,174.

The following table shows the receipts from internal revenue during the months of March, 1874, and March, 1875, from different articles, and the increase or decrease during the time named. The figures for the month of March, 1875, are given in full, and for the first quarter of the fiscal year in round numbers:

	March, 1874.	March, 1875.	Increase.	Decrease.
Spirits	$4,789,000	$4,791,000	$2,000
Tobacco	2,000,000	2,000,000
Fermented liquors	1,000,000	1,000,000
Banks	80,000	80,000
Penalties	5,000	5,000
Income	1,000,000	1,000,000
Legacies	10,000	10,000
Stamps	1,000,000	1,000,000
Total	$9,884,000	$9,886,000	$2,000

	March, 1874.	March, 1875.	Increase.	Decrease.
Alabama	$8,000	$8,000
Arkansas	2,000	2,000
California	1,000,000	1,000,000
Colorado	1,000	1,000
Connecticut	1,000,000	1,000,000
Dakota	1,000	1,000
Delaware	1,000	1,000
Florida	1,000	1,000
Georgia	1,000	1,000
Idaho	1,000	1,000
Illinois	1,000,000	1,000,000
Indiana	1,000,000	1,000,000
Iowa	1,000,000	1,000,000
Kansas	1,000	1,000
Kentucky	1,000,000	1,000,000
Louisiana	1,000,000	1,000,000
Maine	1,000,000	1,000,000
Maryland	1,000,000	1,000,000
Massachusetts	1,000,000	1,000,000
Michigan	1,000,000	1,000,000
Minnesota	1,000,000	1,000,000
Mississippi	1,000,000	1,000,000
Missouri	1,000,000	1,000,000
Montana	1,000	1,000
Nebraska	1,000	1,000
Nevada	1,000	1,000
New Hampshire	1,000,000	1,000,000
New Jersey	1,000,000	1,000,000
New Mexico	1,000	1,000
New York	1,000,000	1,000,000
North Carolina	1,000,000	1,000,000
Ohio	1,000,000	1,000,000
Oregon	1,000	1,000
Pennsylvania	1,000,000	1,000,000
Rhode Island	1,000,000	1,000,000
South Carolina	1,000,000	1,000,000
Tennessee	1,000,000	1,000,000
Texas	1,000	1,000
Utah	1,000	1,000
Vermont	1,000,000	1,000,000
Virginia	1,000,000	1,000,000
Washington	1,000	1,000
West Virginia	1,000,000	1,000,000
Wisconsin	1,000,000	1,000,000
Wyoming	1,000	1,000
Total	$9,884,000	$9,886,000	$2,000

The Commissioner discusses the question of the collection of internal revenue by the assessment and collection districts, and recommends the abolition of the present system of collection through the agency of assessors and collectors, and the substitution therefor of a system of collection by collectors alone, with such subordinate agencies as may be found necessary. Under the present system, he says, the assessors have the right to assess taxes for a period of two years, and the collectors have the right to collect taxes for a period of three years, so that the collectors are compelled to collect taxes assessed during the last year of the assessors' term of office. The Commissioner considers the system of collection through collectors alone as more simple, and as affording greater security against fraud. Under this system the collectors would be required to collect only such taxes as should be assessed during the term of their office. The Commissioner says the force of revenue agents is inadequate and recommends the increase of a force sufficient to examine the books of every distiller and rectifier at least once a month. He also recommends the creation of a force sufficient to examine the books of every manufacturer of tobacco, snuff, and cigars at least once a month, and that the number of revenue agents be increased to a sufficient number to examine the books of every manufacturer of fermented liquors at least once a month. He also recommends the creation of a force sufficient to examine the books of every dealer in

MILLINERY
AND
Dress - Making
ESTABLISHMENT.

Cutting Guaranteed.

Hemlock Bark!

Contract for Any Amount

L A W
—AND—
Real Estate Office
—OF—
Edw. H. Green,
Charlevoix Mich.

Improved Farms
—AND—
Wild Lands
For Sale on Long and Non-Resident Lands Cared For.

Collections a Specialty.

REAL ESTATE AGENCY
—OF—
H. L. MILLER.
CHARLEVOIX MICH.

LAWSON'S CURATIVE
QUICK CERTAIN RELIEF RHEUMATISM NEURALGIA NERVOUS COMPLAINTS

Lawson's Curative
HAS been in use some fifteen years, for the cure of Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Sciatica, and kindred nervous diseases. Patients applied to the proprietor personally, and by letter, in such numbers that it became impossible to answer them all. Hundreds were cured by the free use of Lawson's Curative. Many of the most eminent physicians in America have prescribed it in their practice. Druggists throughout the country have sold it by the gallon, and have never heard a word of complaint. We have more than once had to refuse to sell it to druggists who were not willing to buy it in quantities.

NEURALGIA, SCIATICA, NERVOUS AND SICK HEADACHE,

when all other remedies have failed to give relief, have been cured by Lawson's Curative. Persons afflicted with DIPHTHERIA will find it a most agreeable and effectual remedy. Used as a gargle, it allays the inflammation of the throat, and prevents the formation of the membranous patches. It is also a SPECIFIC for CROUP, and prevents all unpleasant after effects. Used as a liniment, it relieves the most painful local affections, and is also a SPEEDY CURE for BURNS and SCALDS. Used internally, it relieves pain of all kinds, and is a SPECIFIC for DYSENTERY, DIARRHŒA, CHOLERA, and CHOLERA MORBUS. Sold by druggists at ONE DOLLAR PER BOTTLE. If not for sale in your locality, send us one dollar and we will express a bottle to you, free of charges. Send for circular containing testimonials from well known citizens in all parts of the country.

LAWSON CHEMICAL CO., Chicago, Ills.

J. E. Greil k & Co.,
HARBOR SPRINGS MICH.

G. B. MILLS,
Gen'l Merchandise,
Boyne Falls, Mich.

Cash Paid for Country Produce.

Wonderful Success.
Those cases sent to Dr. Kennedy, of Roudout, N. Y., for his Favorite Remedy, Discovery, have been wonderful. Diseases of long standing, which had baffled the skill of many physicians, have yielded to the use of this remarkable medicine. We have seen those worst on with suffering given up as incurable, who were restored to perfect health by the use of a few bottles. Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy, Discovery, Dandelion and Sarsaparilla, Blood Purifier, Liver and Kidney Regulator, is a sure cure for Scrofula, Salt Rheum, Blood Poisons, Boils, Carbuncles, Erysipelas, Eruptions, Tetter, Ringworm, Ulcers, Sore Eyes, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Female Weakness, Dropsy, Kidney Complaints, Dyspepsia, Sick Headache, Constipation, Piles, Fever and Ague, Chills and Fever, Malaria, Debility, Nervousness, and all diseases arising from a disordered Liver, Stomach, Blood or Kidneys. Sold by druggists. Send for book of certificates of cures. Address, DR. KENNEDY & CO., Roudout, N. Y.

Kash & Doors,
MOULDINGS, BRACKETS,
STORE FRONTS,
SEASONED
Flooring, Ceiling and Siding.
Orders by Mail will be promptly filled.

MARRIED.

J. McLEOD.

RICHARD COOPER, Prop.
Jordan and Boyne Rivers,
CHARLEVOIX MICH.
Conveyance to Mill Creek, Nat. Lakes, Boyne Falls and Charlevoix.

BLACKSMITHING.
The undersigned would inform the citizens of Norwood and vicinity that he is prepared to do all kinds of Blacksmithing in the best manner and on reasonable terms.
Horse Shoeing a Specialty.
All repairing neatly, promptly and cheaply done and warranted.
WM. J. VOTE.
Norwood, June 1, 1875. 1-7m.

1875. 1875

Fox, Rose & Buttars.
PETOSKEY
Headquarters to Buy
DRY GOODS,
GROCERIES & PROVISION
BOOTS & SHOES,
TIN & HARDWARE,
STOVES & OUTFITS,
CROCKERY & GLASSWARE,
TRUNKS, Traveling Bags
& FURNITURE
Largest Stock! Lowest Prices.
Careful Attention to Orders
Fox, Rose & Buttars
GEO. W. ESTERLY & CO.

C. H. RAMSDELL
CHARLEVOIX MICH
—DEALER IN—LUMBER
ALSO Shingles
Lath
Cheese Box Stuff
Broom Handles
&c.
LUMBER SAWED
TO ORDER
AND
BILLS FILLED

Bristol Clothes Washer
SAVES THOUSANDS OF LIVES ANNUALLY.

Patented Nov. 16, 1869.
The only machine in the world that washes clothes and washes without rubbing. It is simple, has but two rollers; can not possibly get out of order; and fits into any tub. Clothes cannot become entangled, and it will wash a lord quilt or a wristband perfectly. It is noiseless, and does not wear or tear the clothes.
Sells at the Low Price of $7.50.
A child can work it easily. It washes four Shirts at once. Also Skirts, Collars, and Wristbands clean. It is the favorite everywhere. All who see this machine in operation exclaim
Joy to the World! Relief has Come!!
Everybody buying is satisfied with the Bristol Washer.
If not for sale in your place, send us $7.50 and we will send you a Washer by express, or, if you prefer, will send on C.O.D.
Agents wanted everywhere. For terms and discounts circular address
BRISTOL WASHER CO.,
33 S. Water St., Chicago.

ROSADALIS
THE GREAT ALTERATIVE AND BLOOD PURIFIER.
It is not a quack nostrum. The ingredients are published on each bottle of medicine. It is used and recommended by Physicians wherever it has been introduced. It will positively cure and Tainted Diseases. SYPHILIS, BLOOD DISEASES, SCROFULOUS HUMORS, ERYSIPELAS, SALT RHEUM, ULCERS, ULCERATION, SCROFULOUS Affections arising from an impure condition of the Blood. Send for our Treatise on Alkalies, in which you will find certificates from physicians of Testimonials, Physicians, Ministers of the Gospel, and others.
SCROFULA
Dr. T. L. Pugh, of Baltimore, recommends it to all persons suffering with Chronic Diseases. He says: "I have used Rosadalis in my own family, and in my practice, and find it superior to any preparation for the blood I ever used."
Rev. Dabney Hall, of the Baltimore Conference, says: "I have used Rosadalis, and have derived benefit by its use, for which I cheerfully recommend it to all who are afflicted with Chronic Diseases."
Cravens & Co., Roanoke, as Gay Street, Baltimore, say: "It never has failed to give satisfaction."
Samuel G. McFadden, Mechanicsburg, Pa., says: "Rosadalis has done all that was claimed for it, and has given me entire satisfaction."
Address, CLEMENTS & CO., 58 Clements St., Baltimore, Md.
Remember to ask your druggist for Rosadalis.

KROMER'S ANTI-BILIOUS PILLS
will cure Chills and Fever, Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia, etc. We guarantee Rosadalis superior to all other Blood Purifiers. Send for descriptive Circular of Kromer.
Address, CLEMENTS & CO., 58 Clements St., Baltimore, Md.
Remember to ask your druggist for Rosadalis.

LANDS FOR SALE.

The undersigned has for sale on reasonable terms of payment, the following described situated in Charlevoix County, Mich. for sale each thousand or more, cash, and at

LANDS

FIRST-QUALITY

Town 32 North of Range 7 West.
West half of section 24.
East half of section 25.
East half of section 26.

Town 31 North of Range 7 West.
All of section 1.
All of section 12.

Town 32 North of Range 6 West.
North half of section 19.

Town 32 North of Range 5 West.
N. E. qr. sec. 13.
N. W. qr. sec. 18.
S. E. qr. sec. 18.
S. W. qr. sec. 19.

For further particulars inquire at Antrim House, Boyne City, Mich.

New Harness Shop.

The subscribers would respectfully inform the public that they have opened a shop in the village of Charlevoix, and are now prepared to do job work promptly and at reasonable rates.

REPAIRING

A specialty. Must be done at the old Boyne City, Charlevoix & Northern Depot.
LUTHER FENTON
Charlevoix, August 5, 1875.

FOR SALE.

The undersigned offers for sale on reasonable terms, the following described

FARMS:

[illegible] acres on Sand road, one mile from Charlevoix. Very desirable. Will be sold cheap. Inquire of the undersigned.
121 Acres in [illegible] Township 33 North of Range 7 West, Charlevoix County, Mich. Inquire of the undersigned.
10 Acres [illegible] Charlevoix. Inquire of the undersigned.
173 Acres on [illegible] Township 33 North of Range 7 West, Charlevoix County, Mich. Inquire of the undersigned.
381 Acres on [illegible] Township 33 North of Range 7 West, Charlevoix County, Mich. Inquire of the undersigned.
253 Acres on [illegible] Township 33 North of Range 7 West, Charlevoix County, Mich. Inquire of the undersigned.
167 Acres on [illegible] Township 33 North of Range 7 West, Charlevoix County, Mich. Inquire of the undersigned.
80 Acres on [illegible] Township 33 North of Range 7 West, Charlevoix County, Mich. Inquire of the undersigned.
Also [illegible] Charlevoix

THE SENTINEL.

WILLARD A. SMITH, Editor and Proprietor.

CHARLEVOIX, - MICHIGAN.

THE NEWS.

THE Indianapolis Sun of the 20th puh lishes an appeal to Congress, signed by over 9,000 voters of that city, demanding the repeal of the Resumption act; the retirement of all National bank notes and the substitution therefor of Government legal-tenders; and the refunding of the national bonded debt into bonds bearing, say, 3 85 per cent per annum; interest payable with national legal-tender paper money at the pleasure of the holders. A business meeting was also called to be held in Indianapolis on the 1st of December to emphasize these demands.

ACCORDING to a London dispatch of the 20th a terrible storm prevailed along the British coast on the preceding day. The distance between Yarmouth and Lowestoft was covered with wrecks. It was thought that thirteen vessels had foundered and that fifteen men and fifty lives had been lost.

THE annual report of the Director of the Mint shows the coinage of gold during the past year to have been $63,593,885; silver, $10,070,2?8; minor pieces, $250,-270—making a total of $73,914,708.

PRESIDENT GRANT on the 19th issued an order consolidating the internal revenue collection districts throughout the country.

IN his annual report the Postmaster General will recommend the repeal of the law increasing the postage on transient newspapers.

GEN E. B. HARLAN, a well-known newspaper correspondent at Springfield, Ill., and formerly Secretary to Thos Palmer, died on the 21st.

UNITED STATES SENATOR FERRY, of Connecticut, died at his residence in Norwalk, Conn., on the afternoon of the 21st from softening of the spinal marrow. He had been suffering from the disease for seven years.

ACCORDING to statistics furnished in a recent issue of the Indianapolis Journal there are in the United States a total of forty-nine State and Territorial Grianges, and over 21,000 subordinate Granges, comprising a membership of about 1,450,-000—an increase of 2,000 Granges and about 150,000 members over 1874. The receipts of the National Grange for 1875 were $29,981, and the expenditures $180,-865.

THE committee appointed to examine the books and papers, the vhouch and tickets belonging to the so-called "Most-police Hungary Lottery, at Fort Worth, Alexandria, Va., report that a most gigantic fraud was practiced on the ticket holders.

IN the McDonald case at St. Louis on the 20th several witnesses for the defense were examined. Among them was Kee, of the Globe-Democrat, ex-Constable Maguire (both under indictment) and others. They refused to answer and to having no knowledge of the guilt of McDonald. Gen Boynton, correspondent of the Cincinnati Commercial, testified he would not believe Con Maguire (one of the principal witnesses for the prosecution), who had confessed to his own complicity in the frauds under oath if he were personally interested.

A six days' walking match between O'Leary, the Chicago pedestrian, and Weston was concluded at the Exposition building in Chicago on the night of the 20th. In the six days O'Leary walked 500 miles and Weston 451. At the end of the match O'Leary was presented with a gold medal as the champion walker of the world. He walked 500 miles in five days, twenty-two hours and thirteen minutes, the fastest time on record.

SIR J. HOOKER and H. S. Gifford, as the Attorney-General and Solicitor-General of Great Britain, respectively, were confirmed on the 22d.

GEN. SHERMAN, in his annual report, gives the aggregate strength of the army, according to the last returns received, as 1,543 officers and 21,691 enlisted men, made up as follows: Five regiments artillery, 260 officers and 3,501 men; 10 regiments cavalry, 422 officers and 7,200 men; 25 regiments infantry, 818 officers and 11,000 men, recruiting, general stewards, ordnance sergeants, etc. 3,021.

VICE-PRESIDENT WILSON died at his room in the Capitol building in Washington on the morning of the 22d. He had just been washed and had taken a glass of "bitter water," when he laid back on his pillow, breathed heavily and expired. No one being with him but the watchman, who did not realize the change until he had ceased to breathe. A post-mortem examination showed that death was caused by apoplexy. An Executive order was issued announcing the death and directing the usual ceremonial observances by the different departments of the Government.

MORE than 10,000 persons attended each of the two revival meetings held in Paris, Illinois by Messrs Moody and Sankey on the 21st. Thousands were unable to gain admittance to the evening meeting, being loude by the Ministers.

AT Utica, N. Y., on the 21st, Judson and Albert Fredenburg—mother and son —were sentenced to be hanged on the 31st of December for the murder of Orlo Davis last June.

A KEROSENE oil lamp exploded in a shoemaker's shop at Trenton, N. J., on the evening of the 20th, and injured six persons, one, named George Adine, probably fatally.

THE jury in the case of ex-Secretary McDonald, on trial at St. Louis for conspiracy to defraud the Government, after three hours' deliberation on the 23d, returned a verdict of guilty on all the counts of the indictment. Sentence was suspended until after the trial of the other parties implicated.

ACCORDING to a London telegram of the 23d the Carlist official organ claims that Don Carlos had saved Cuba and the honor of Spain, his late offer of a truce to Alphonso having induced the Government of the United States to modify its demands.

MADRID telegrams of a late date say that several Republican sympathizers had been arrested in that city, and more had left their homes to avoid a like fate. Revolutionary and Republican documents were being privately circulated.

ALEXANDRE COMAY, the celebrated French painter, died at Paris on the 23d.

A BERLIN dispatch of the 23d says advices had been received from Herzegovina that the insurgents had captured an important fort with all its garrison, commanding Lubel. Several important positions had also been occupied by them in the vicinity of Plaza.

A TASHKENT (Central Asia) dispatch of the 23d says that the Kipchaks had rejoiced and revealed the whole Khokandian camp. The Russians resisted successfully for three days, when the Kipt chaks retreated, leaving 3,800 dead on the field.

THE death of Vice-President Wilson makes Senator Thomas W. Ferry, of Michigan, President pro tempore of the Senate, exofficio Vice President of the United States.

A WASHINGTON special of the 23d says orders had been issued at the Navy Department for fitting up five more ironclads, making a total of twelve iron-clads which, within the past few years, orders had been made ready for active service, and embracing nearly all the available iron-clads on the list.

AT the recent session in Cincinnati of the Woman's National Temperance Convention resolutions were adopted recommending Gospel temperance prayer-meetings, clown lunch and bulging houses, free lunch, drinking rooms and saloons for every walk, Sunday, on the afternoon of the 21st from softening of the spinal marrow. He had been suffering from the disease for seven years.

ACCORDING to statistics furnished in a recent issue of the Indianapolis Journal there are in the United States a total of forty-nine State and Territorial Granges, and over 21,000 subordinate Granges, comprising a membership of about 1,450,-000—an increase of 2,000 Granges and about 150,000 members over 1874. The receipts of the National Grange for 1875 were $29,981, and the expenditures $180,-865.

THE committee appointed to examine the books and papers, the vhouch and tickets belonging to the so-called "Most-police Hungary Lottery, at Fort Worth, Alexandria, Va., report that a most gigantic fraud was practiced on the ticket holders.

IN the McDonald case at St. Louis on the 20th several witnesses for the defense were examined. Among them was Kee, of the Globe-Democrat, ex-Constable Maguire (both under indictment) and others. They refused to answer and to having no knowledge of the guilt of McDonald. Gen Boynton, correspondent of the Cincinnati Commercial, testified he would not believe Con Maguire (one of the principal witnesses for the prosecution), who had confessed to his own complicity in the frauds under oath if he were personally interested.

A six days' walking match between O'Leary, the Chicago pedestrian, and Weston was concluded at the Exposition building in Chicago on the night of the 20th. In the six days O'Leary walked 500 miles and Weston 451. At the end of the match O'Leary was presented with a gold medal as the champion walker of the world. He walked 500 miles in five days, twenty-two hours and thirteen minutes, the fastest time on record.

SIR J. HOOKER and H. S. Gifford, as the Attorney-General and Solicitor-General of Great Britain, respectively, were confirmed on the 22d.

GEN. SHERMAN, in his annual report, gives the aggregate strength of the army, according to the last returns received, as 1,543 officers and 21,691 enlisted men, made up as follows: Five regiments artillery, 260 officers and 3,501 men; 10 regiments cavalry, 422 officers and 7,200 men; 25 regiments infantry, 818 officers and 11,000 men, recruiting, general stewards, ordnance sergeants, etc. 3,021.

VICE-PRESIDENT WILSON died at his room in the Capitol building in Washington on the morning of the 22d. He had just been washed and had taken a glass of "bitter water," when he laid back on his pillow, breathed heavily and expired. No one being with him but the watchman, who did not realize the change until he had ceased to breathe. A post-mortem examination showed that death was caused by apoplexy. An Executive order was issued announcing the death and directing the usual ceremonial observances by the different departments of the Government.

MORE than 10,000 persons attended each of the two revival meetings held in Paris, Illinois by Messrs Moody and Sankey on the 21st. Thousands were unable to gain admittance to the evening meeting, being loude by the Ministers.

AT Utica, N. Y., on the 21st, Judson and Albert Fredenburg—mother and son —were sentenced to be hanged on the 31st of December for the murder of Orlo Davis last June.

A KEROSENE oil lamp exploded in a shoemaker's shop at Trenton, N. J., on the evening of the 20th, and injured six persons, one, named George Adine, probably fatally.

THE jury in the case of ex-Secretary McDonald, on trial at St. Louis for conspiracy to defraud the Government, after three hours' deliberation on the 23d, returned a verdict of guilty on all the counts of the indictment. Sentence was

On Thanksgiving Day the remains of Vice-President Wilson lay in state at the Capitol in Washington and were visited by an immense throng of men, women and children.

WILLIAM B ASTOR, eldest son of the late John Jacob Astor, died in New York city on the 24th, leaving a fortune of nearly $80,000,000. Five children survive him—three sons and two daughters. He leaved was eighty years old.

MR MURRAY, editor of the South Bend (Ind.) Herald, lately had trouble with a lady printer and subscriber in his employ and discharged her and afterward inserted an article in his paper offensive to her. She subsequently searched him on the street with a cowhide, which he attempted to take from her, and in the scuffle which ensued she was thrown to the ground. Justice William Palmer took sides with the girl and Murray also assailed him editorially, and Mr. Palmer on the 23d shot Murray, the ball taking effect in his lungs, inflicting a severe and dangerous wound.

THE Indiana Republican State Central Committee have called a State Convention to meet at Indianapolis on the 23d of February, to nominate a State ticket, including candidates for Governor, Lieutenant Governor, Secretary of State, etc., and to select delegates to the next National Republican Convention and nominate fifteen candidates for Presidential Electors to be chosen at the general election in November next. The State election will occur on the second Tuesday in October.

A DISPATCH appointed by the National Grange to arrange a marriage ceremonial have reported adversely and the organization has sustained their report.

IN the case of Leopold Wirth and Robert Kiewert, on trial at Milwaukee for conspiracy to defraud the revenue, the jury on the 20th rendered a verdict acquitting the former and disagreeing as to the latter, standing, it is said, eight for conviction to four for acquittal.

THE MARKETS.

NEW YORK.

LIVE STOCK.—Beef Cattle—$10.00@13.00. Hogs—Live $5.00@5.25. Sheep—Live, $5.00@6.00.

FLOUR AND MEAL.—Flour—Superfine State, $4.60; extra do, $5.00; white wheat extra $6.00@6.50; No. 2 Chicago, $4.90@5.00; No. 2 Northwestern, $4.75@5.25; No. 2 Milwaukee extra, $4.30. Rye—Western and State, 80@82c. Barley, $1.00@1.10. Corn—Mixed Western, 57@58c. Oats—Mixed Western, 42@43c.

PROVISIONS.—Pork—Mess, $20.62@20.75. Lard—Prime Steam (New), 12½@12¾c. Cheese—66@ 70c.

WOOL.—Domestic Fleece, 48@56c.

CHICAGO.

LIVE STOCK.—Beef Cattle, $5.00@6.25, good, $4.00@5.00; medium, $3.00@4.00; butcher grades, $2.00@3.00; stock cattle, $2.75@3.75. Hogs—Live, $5.10@5.30. Sheep—Good to choice, $4.00@5.00.

PROVISIONS.—Butter—Choice, 30@33c. Eggs—Fresh, 30@32c. Pork—Mess, $19.00@19.50; Lard—$11.90@12c.

FLOUR AND GRAIN.—Flour—Spring Extras, $5.00@5.50; spring extra, $4.60@5.00; Spring, No. 2, $4.00@4.60. Corn—No 2, 39@39½c. Oats—No 2, 27½@28c. Rye—No 2, 58@59c. Barley—No 2, 87@89c.

LIVERPOOL.—Wheat—Spring, No 2 red, $1.06 @1.08. Common Brands, $1.04@1.06. Corn—Mixed, 37s 3d. Pork—Mess, 82s 6d. Lard, 61s 6d.

EAST LIBERTY.

LIVE STOCK.—Horses—Best, $8 00@8 50; medium, $5@6; fair, $3@4; common, $1@2. Philadelphia, $12@12 50 choice; $10@11 medium; $8@9 50 common. Cattle—Best, $5@5 50; fair to good, $4 50@5; medium, $4@4 50; butcher grades, $3@3 50; common, $2@2 50. Hogs—Best Yorkers, $5 75@6; fair to good, $5 50@5 75; common, $5@5 25. Sheep—Good to choice, $4@4 50.

THE SENTINEL.

WILLARD A. SMITH, Editor and Proprietor.

CHARLEVOIX, - MICHIGAN.

After reading the verses he spoke with gratitude of the kindness of his friends during his sickness, and of the widespread sympathy in his behalf.

He then returned to bed, in a happy mood, and slept.

At three o'clock this morning he awoke, complaining of pain in his stomach. One of his attendants rubbed it, and, being thus relieved, he again fell asleep.

At seven o'clock he awoke, remarking that he felt brighter and better than at any time previous. He said he was going to ride out to-day, as his physician, Dr. Baxter, had advised him to do so if the weather was fair.

At twenty-nine minutes past seven o'clock he said he would get up and take breakfast. He then called for "shaving water," which had heretofore been prescribed, and, having drank it, he laid calmly back on his side on the pillow, as if with sudden exhaustion, breathed heavily, but uttering no words, and in a few moments he died without a struggle.

SKETCH OF HIS LIFE.

The following brief sketch of the life of the late Vice-President is taken from the Chicago Tribune of the 23d:

The life of the deceased statesman has been a marvelous one, and its record is one that may be profitably studied by all Americans. Born in 1812, in poverty, he was apprenticed to a farmer at ten years of age, and served laboriously until his majority, in 1833. With fifty cents only for a shilling, he started to school, even in these days, when books were not as plentiful or as accessible as now, to read a great many, judging from history and biography. As soon as he had completed his apprenticeship on the farm he walked to Natick, Mass., where he engaged at shoemaking, at which he worked diligently, pursuing his studies here and night economy, until he had accumulated some $200. He then tried to improve his limited education by attending an academy in New Hampshire, but the depletion of his savings becoming become insolvent he returned to shoemaking at Natick. His good habits and his natural abilities, however, made this complete-an among his associates and in 1837 he was enlisted in behalf of Gen Harrison's election to the Presidency, he making a great many speeches. From that time to the present he has been conspicuous in American politics. He was chosen to the State Legislature as a member of either one or the other branches of the State Legislature, and frequently the presiding officer. He was in active anti-slavery man, and opposed the annexation of Texas. In 1848 he left the Whig party and joined the Free Soil party, which was chiefly composed of anti-slavery Democrats. In 1850 he was elected to the United States Senate, succeeding Gen Cass, and was re-elected in 1856, 1862 and 1868. He was chairman of the Committee on Military Affairs during the whole war of Ingbum County) is 30,356, or 15 per cent. of the total population of the State. State of Michigan, May 31, 1874, was 1,334,031

Years.	County.	Population.
1820—Alpena	Alpena	1,891
1860—Ann Arbor	Wa Shtenaw	14,802
1870—Bay City	Bay	5,671
1870—Berrien	Berrien	20,845
1870—Branch	Branch	19,255
1870—Calhoun	Calhoun	30,981
1870—Cass	Cass	19,241
1870—Clinton	Clinton	18,837
1870—Detroit	Wayne	79,577
1870—Eaton	Eaton	18,401
1870—Genesee	Genesee	19,103
1870—Grand Haven	Ottawa	16,763
1870—Grand Rapids	Kent	21,178
1870—Hillsdale	Hillsdale	20,802
1870—Houghton	Houghton	7,500
1870—Ionia	Ionia	20,000
1870—Jackson	Jackson	15,929
1870—Lansing	Ingham	16,485
1870—Lapeer	Lapeer	16,000
1870—Lenawee	Lenawee	31,117
1870—Livingston	Livingston	9,317
1870—Macomb	Macomb	16,000
1870—Marshall	Calhoun	6,621
1870—Monroe	Monroe	20,000
1870—Muskegon	Muskegon	5,000
1870—Niles	Berrien	5,000
1870—Ontonagon	Ontonagon	1,000
1870—Saginaw	Saginaw	5,000
1870—Sault Ste Marie	Chippewa	1,000
1870—Tecumseh	Lenawee	5,000
1870—Traverse	Grand Traverse	1,000
1870—Wyandotte	Wayne	5,000
1870—Ypsilanti	Washtenaw	5,000
Total		534,791

—Lansing Republican.

MICHIGAN STATE NEWS.

THE Michigan University is held in higher estimate in Europe than any other in this country.

THE Superintendent of the Lansing High School was recently knocked down by a recalcitrant pupil.

THE standard of examination for candidates for admission to the Medical Department of the Michigan University at Ann Arbor has been raised.

THERE are, according to the late annual report of Mr. Lothrop, the Railway Commissioner, 2,017 miles of railroad within the State, representing a total investment of $205,318,247.

THE balance of cash in the State Treasury Nov. 3 was $200,274.88; receipts during the week ending Nov. 10 were $43,-251.85; payments during same time were $85,486.82; balance in Treasury Nov. 10, 1875, $4?8,057.89, decrease for the week, $41,700.93.

BOLTER distinguished himself the other day by interfering in a fight between two newsboys in a railway station in Detroit. After separating the combatants he arrested them for a breach of the peace and turned them over to the charge of a police officer for imprisonment.

THE rolling mills at Wyandotte, near Detroit, were discovered to be on fire on Thursday morning, and, owing to the lack of any organized fire department in the city nearly one-third of the building was destroyed before the flames could be brought under control. The total loss was in the vicinity of $?0,000.

THE following postal changes were made in Michigan during the week ending Nov. 13, 1875: Discontinued—Agnew, Saginaw County; Postmasters appointed—Cedarville, Livingston County, Daniel H. Herrington; Dauby, Ionia County, John Hoover; Denton, Wayne County, Mrs. Louisa I. Anderson; Francisco-ville, Jackson County, Edmund S. Cooper; Glenwood, Cass County, John W. Horns; Scenery, Ionia County, Gilbert A. Cotton; Stony Creek, Washtenaw County, Richard Hopson.

A FEW months ago it was reported about the country that Mr. Wisner of a strong governing force, had been forging money to the extent of several thousand dollars, the nature illegally and being those of Bernard Smith and E. W. Hudson, his partners in putting counterfeits here. Winchester and Mr. Ellis, parties authorized him to use their names and do so to the extent on the notes as indorsements himself. Smith and Hudson are the partners. Diction and counterfeiting followed on that point for several months, until Wisner was finally arrested for forgery and is yet to be tried therefor. Many of the notes, we are told, are in the notes, brought suit against Hudson and, after a long trial, the jury in the Fifth Circuit Court at Detroit gave him $6,700, the amount of the note and interest claimed, virtually deciding that if the signatures were not genuine they were outlawed.

At the regular meeting of the State Board of Agriculture held in Agricultural College, commencing Nov. 2, the following arrangement for farmers' Institutes the year was decided upon: Prof. J. Wm. Beal, Childs, Chairman of the committee on that subject, and unanimously adopted by the Board.

At Cannon, Macomb County, 24, 11 and 12, on the 24th inst., by the Rev. Mr. Hall, Mr. Alexander Van Leuven, of Detroit, and Miss Mary Ann Cannon, daughter of Mr. Cannon, of Cannon.

At Detroit, Van Leuven Township, Jan. 13 and 14, 1876, by the same clergyman, Mr. Alexander Van Leuven, of Detroit, and Miss Mary Ann Cannon, daughter of Mr. Cannon, of Cannon.

At Detroit, Van Leuven Township, Jan. 13 and 14, 1876, by the same clergyman, Mr. Alexander Van Leuven, of Detroit, and Miss Mary Ann Cannon, daughter of Mr. Cannon, of Cannon.

At Detroit, Van Leuven Township, Jan. 13 and 14, 1876, by the same clergyman, Mr. Alexander Van Leuven, of Detroit, and Miss Mary Ann Cannon, daughter of Mr. Cannon, of Cannon.

The Democratic House.

THE new House of Representatives will have a Democratic majority. In the whole number of Democratic Representatives the Southern Democrats will have a majority. It is the first time they have had a majority for many years. It is the first time they have had an opportunity to dictate, bisect and crack the whip for this fifteen years or more, and the dictation, blustering and whip-cracking have already commenced. The bullying of the ex-slaveholder, the bombast of the chivalry and the assumption of the Southern gentleman against the Northern mudsill are just as apparent now as they were in the palmy days of slavery. Numerous correspondents of this spirit have appeared since the fall elections of 1874, notably in such influential papers as the New Orleans Bulletin and Vicksburg Herald, in the style of the old slave-holding days, and in stump speeches, in editorial columns and upon numerous other occasions, showing that there is a preconcerted determination on the part of the Southern Democracy to take possession of the House, by disease who shall be Speaker, and there-by organize the standing committees, and then to dictate the policy of the House Among those who have put in their claims and bids are Benjamin H. Hill, of Georgia, a notorious Bourbon and firecaster, who arrogantly demands to be made Secretary of the Treasury, and Mr. Stephens of Georgia, who explains the reasons why he should have the office, and he states them with a degree of modesty and humility that would be amusing if it were not for the temper and tone of the new House will be. In his circular letter he sets forth that the first duty of the organization of the cities (adding Mason as a necessary addition) on the basis of her vote at the April election as compared with the whole vote of Ingham County) is 30,356, or 15 per cent. of the total population of the State. State of Michigan, May 31, 1874, was 1,334,031

Years.	County.	Population.
1820—Alpena	Alpena	1,891
1860—Ann Arbor	Wa Shtenaw	14,802
1870—Bay City	Bay	5,671
1870—Berrien	Berrien	20,845
1870—Branch	Branch	19,255
1870—Calhoun	Calhoun	30,981
1870—Cass	Cass	19,241
1870—Clinton	Clinton	18,837
1870—Detroit	Wayne	79,577
1870—Eaton	Eaton	18,401
1870—Genesee	Genesee	19,103
1870—Grand Haven	Ottawa	16,763
1870—Grand Rapids	Kent	21,178
1870—Hillsdale	Hillsdale	20,802
1870—Houghton	Houghton	7,500
1870—Ionia	Ionia	20,000
1870—Jackson	Jackson	15,929
1870—Lansing	Ingham	16,485
1870—Lapeer	Lapeer	16,000
1870—Lenawee	Lenawee	31,117
1870—Livingston	Livingston	9,317
1870—Macomb	Macomb	16,000
1870—Marshall	Calhoun	6,621
1870—Monroe	Monroe	20,000
1870—Muskegon	Muskegon	5,000
1870—Niles	Berrien	5,000
1870—Ontonagon	Ontonagon	1,000
1870—Saginaw	Saginaw	5,000
1870—Sault Ste Marie	Chippewa	1,000
1870—Tecumseh	Lenawee	5,000
1870—Traverse	Grand Traverse	1,000
1870—Wyandotte	Wayne	5,000
1870—Ypsilanti	Washtenaw	5,000
Total		534,791

—Lansing Republican.

The Annual Resources of the United States.

THE Smithsonian Institution is at present engaged in making a collection to illustrate the resources of the United States to be exhibited at the Centennial Exhibition and to this end invites the co-operation of all who may have it in their power to render any aid in the undertaking. This will form part of the Governmental display to be made in accordance with the act of Congress of March 3, 1875, and the Executive order of March 5, 1875.

The general object of this exhibition is to show the resources of all the animals found or collected for any economical purpose in the country, second, the products derived from the vegetable kingdom, and the third, the mineral kingdom. Now, the first and second divisions are confined to the land surface of the country, and the third to the mineral deposits, whether they are buried beneath the surface of the land or the waters of the sea. The first division of the cities (adding Mason as a necessary addition) on the basis of her vote at the April election as compared with the whole vote of Ingham County) is 30,356, or 15 per cent. of the total population of the State. State of Michigan, May 31, 1874, was 1,334,031

Years.	County.	Population.
1820—Alpena	Alpena	1,891
1860—Ann Arbor	Wa Shtenaw	14,802
1870—Bay City	Bay	5,671
1870—Berrien	Berrien	20,845
1870—Branch	Branch	19,255
1870—Calhoun	Calhoun	30,981
1870—Cass	Cass	19,241
1870—Clinton	Clinton	18,837
1870—Detroit	Wayne	79,577
1870—Eaton	Eaton	18,401
1870—Genesee	Genesee	19,103
1870—Grand Haven	Ottawa	16,763
1870—Grand Rapids	Kent	21,178
1870—Hillsdale	Hillsdale	20,802
1870—Houghton	Houghton	7,500
1870—Ionia	Ionia	20,000
1870—Jackson	Jackson	15,929
1870—Lansing	Ingham	16,485
1870—Lapeer	Lapeer	16,000
1870—Lenawee	Lenawee	31,117
1870—Livingston	Livingston	9,317
1870—Macomb	Macomb	16,000
1870—Marshall	Calhoun	6,621
1870—Monroe	Monroe	20,000
1870—Muskegon	Muskegon	5,000
1870—Niles	Berrien	5,000
1870—Ontonagon	Ontonagon	1,000
1870—Saginaw	Saginaw	5,000
1870—Sault Ste Marie	Chippewa	1,000
1870—Tecumseh	Lenawee	5,000
1870—Traverse	Grand Traverse	1,000
1870—Wyandotte	Wayne	5,000
1870—Ypsilanti	Washtenaw	5,000
Total		534,791

—Lansing Republican.

Ann Ellen Young's Story.

ANN ELIZA, who styles herself the plaintiff wife of Brigham Young, told the story of her wrongs in a recent lecture in Chicago, the following synopsis of which is taken from the Chicago papers:

My parents, she said, were born in the State of New York. My mother was converted to Mormonism when only sixteen years old, at which time she married my father (Webb) and moved to Kirtland, Ohio (the first Mormon rebellion occurred). He was also a Mormon. I was born at Kirtland, Ill., Sept. 3, 1844. When about one year old my father married a second wife, under the belief that it was a religious duty. In 1846 they emigrated to Salt Lake. I was married at the age of fifteen years to James L. Dee, in the Endowment House, and according to the rites of the Mormon religion. Those who are married in that house and receive their endowments are given a spiritual name, and Mormons are like Roman Catholics—forget the names they are given them, which is not true, as I have not forgotten mine.

It was soon after my marriage that my three children I was considered the "pet." We lived at cottonwood, about nine miles from Salt Lake City. My husband received a sub-contract to put up telegraph poles and never received his brother was assisting him. Brigham Young was paying his subpœnas or not, and my refusing to listen to his suit my husband became enraged and refused in his business. Mr. Young then told my mother to advise me not to marry for love but to marry some "good brother" in the church—like himself, for instance. I refused by refusing to further listen to the suit, he then threatened to cut my brother off from the church, and, knowing his reverence for spirit and power for doing harm, I consented Brigham Young to save my brother from Hades. I was divorced from Dee by the Probate Court in 1857, and was "sealed" to Brigham Young April 2, 1868. Heber C. Kimball, First High Councilor, and next in rank to Brigham Young, performed the ceremony in the Endowment House. After the ceremony I went home. Mr. Young's visits to our house were like angels' visits, few and far between. He would come to see whether matters were managed economically, and remain just a short time. He promised to give me a good home and $1,000 per year as "pin money." But he only gave me thirty dollars a year and two dresses. I lived on the farm with my mother and Brigham Young, and we both worked hard as dairywomen. He required the products of the farm to be brought to his table, and had the pleasure of bringing in the results of my labor for his other wives. Finally he built me a house sixteen miles away, but he could not let his mother remain on the farm with me. My mother came to see me, and Brigham Young let loose his low brutal nature and she was then permitted to remain. I then began to be talked to by Brigham Young, and had to make apply of persecution and desertion, and swindles poor people out of their property. He told me that the Prophet was not unselfish. I began to doubt my religion, and made a final effort to reason my wavering faith, and was surprised by many seeming faith, and was surprised by many seeming faith, and was surprised by many seeming

THE SENTINEL.
CHARLEVOIX, MICH.
WILLARD A. SMITH,
EDITOR AND PROPRIETOR.

TUESDAY - - - DEC 7, 1875

OUR NEW YORK LETTER.

Death of the Richest Man in America--$100,000,000 Changing Hands.

War with Turkey--Continued Success at Von Bulow at Chickering Hall.

Theatrical and Club Notes.

From our Special Correspondent.

NEW YORK, Nov. 28, 1875.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE SENTINEL:

"Schools have no pockets," runs the old saying, and in proof of the truth of this grim proverb Wm. B. Astor, the greatest of his name, and the richest man in America, has gone down to the grave carrying out of the world as little of its riches as he brought into it. So universally have the press of both city and country lamented his decease and its attendant circumstances as well as his past life, that nothing further need be added on these subjects. But there has been so much vague speculation as to the amount of his wealth that it may not be amiss to state that the most authoritative estimates place the figure at one hundred million of dollars; a sum very easy to pronounce, but almost impossible to realize from its very immensity. The name of Croesus has always been a synonym for enormous possessions, but in all probability the ancient richest placed in the balance with those of his modern rival, would speedily kick the beam. The bulk of this grand estate passes by natural succession into the hands of his eldest son, John Jacob Astor 2d. So largely has the attention of New York been absorbed by its local bereavement that the not unexpected death of the Vice-President has received much less than would otherwise have been the case. Extensive preparations have been made, however, for his obsequies here, which will be noticed hereafter.

After one year of unbroken peace which our beloved country has enjoyed, it is of course a painful duty which I am called upon to perform in recording the events of the war with Turkey in which the whole country has been interested during the week. I had felt certain for some time past that there was trouble brewing between these two great powers; and this pugilistic lusting on my part was strengthened by certain incendiary proclamations (some of which your readers may have noticed) that were issued by the President and the Governors of the different States early in the present month. A striking circumstance in this connection was the absence, in these manifestos, of the name of the enemy; but yet, so widespread and intense was the feeling of the nation that the hint given was all-sufficient, and the American people, to a woman, responded by active and comprehensive preparations for the fray. By Thursday last, popular enthusiasm could no longer be restrained. The general uprising was immediately followed by a general dress-setting, and "war to the knife," was the battery on every hand. From none of the battlefields raged with varying severity, the grand climax long reached but even the home of two and four in the afternoon. There were exacted scenes of carnage and displays of valor which the pen of a Prescott could but feebly describe. A thousand bullfights ran gaory, and ten thousand were strewn with the bones of the vanquished. Veteran and raw recruits fought slowly to shoulder, turning the effusive "coming of the savage," capturing the colors and "dismantles" of the common foe, and I shout to use a piece of familiar slang, knocking the "stuffin" out of him at every encounter. But the campaign if fierce, was happily brief and decisive. At cessation the enemy being utterly discomfited, and the victors (your correspondent among the number) being somewhat exhausted by the labors of the day, a year's truce was declared, the American Eagle, in an amicable frame of mind, picked his teeth with the olive branch of peace, and things once more was in unimpeachable security of the Yankee nation overwhelmingly vindicated.

At Chickering Hall, Hans von Bulow, the idol of the musical world, has continued his increasingly successful concerts, creating a furore such as no pianist but Rubenstein has excited here these many years. The smooth and favorite disciple of Liszt, he brings out one or more compositions of that great master at almost every performance, and gives them all the electrifying effect of the composer's own rendition. Lake Liszt, also Herr von Bulow uses a magnificent Chickering grand piano, which under his magic touch, seems endowed with life as to be almost part and parcel of the man, and with him to form a mighty musical giant, that rises superior even to the powerful orchestra, with which it is constantly contrasted. I understand that a tour of the principle cities is on his American programme, and that your readers will, as far as possible, avail themselves of the rare opportunity of listening to a really great performance.

For the rest, New York amusements, though flattering, present few new features.

Clara Morris has returned from Europe, and is playing her "Non Leon" in which she is fiercely attacked by the critics as being incapable and unappreciative. But the young lady is too plucky to care much for that, and will doubtless pursue the even tenor of her way unmoved by unfavorable comment.

It is seriously reported that Mr. A. Oakey Hall, somewhat exhausted as having been Mayor of this city during Tweed's regime, intend to quit the labor for the Forum and will soon appear in the drama written expressly for his debut. He wants to create a sensation in any case, and is said to show great histrionic ability.

The various New York Clubs have commenced winter festivities, the Arcadian leading off on Saturday eve with a fabulous dinner, at which the venerable Peter Cooper and Paul du Chaillu were prominent guests.

Lord Houghton is just now the prevailing English lion, the Lotos Club-ing, and other prominent clubs vieing with each other in doing him honor.

Whitelaw Reid has gone over to "third termism" having been elected President of the Lotos for a third time, with good prospects of a still further extension.

DELTA.

DR. A. TRASK'S
MAGNETIC OINTMENT
FOR THE CURE OF
INFLAMMATORY DISEASES.

Dr. Trask was engaged for twenty years in a course of experiments upon the medical properties and power of vegetables, separate and combined. At the age of seventy years he succeeded in presenting to the world, as the result of his experiments, a combination of Vegetable extracts the powerful which in restoring diseased and decaying tissues, is a Soothing, Healing, Recuperative, Curative Ointment. Other than a Vegetable Extract with Discovery or Ingredient in the form of an Ointment.

Certain, it is, that the remarkable and unprecedented success which has attended its application in the case of diseases, stamps it as one of the greatest discovery of the age, and calls for a trial and cons. investigation of its properties.

It never fails, while these results suffering life to receive a natural and healthy action by the equitive vessels of the body, and equalize the circulation of the blood. By this means a nourishing power is placed over the most malignant forms of disease, which cannot be obtained from any other source.

Nor is the power of this combination, that it supersedes to every portion of the human frame. Every bone and muscle, nerve and ligament is searched out and made to feel its healing influence, and the whole human frame is raised at once to a healthy and natural standard.

Numerous instances are on record where this remedy has restored health to patients so near the grave that the most powerful internal remedies failed to produce any effect. Such has frequently been the case in Inflammation of the Lungs.

No patient ever need die with this disease when Dr. Trask's Magnetic Ointment can be obtained.

For Inflammatory Rheumatism this Ointment is the most complete remedy ever prepared. For Diphtheria or Putrid Sore Throat it is unrivaled.

In ninety-nine cases out of a hundred, where child-rubbed to the wound of Nervous Headache in three minutes.

For Erysipelas Diseases the sensation is of immense value.

Affections of the Spine, Rheumatism, Lameness, Ulcerated Sore Throat, Bronchitis, Pleurisy, Croup, Pain, Cholera Morbus, Ague in the Face or Breast, Colic, Swelled Head, Scrofula, Sore Eyes, Burns, Scalds, Felons, Fever Sores, Scurvy, Salt Rheum, Tetter, Chilblains, Corns, Bunions, Frost Bites, Chapped Hands, Sore Nipples, Sore Feet, Ringworm, Barber's Itch, Sore Lips, Sore Nostrils, Inflammation of the Bowels, Piles, Fistula, Fever Sores, Wounds, Ulcers, Mortification, Fresh Cuts, Sprains, Bruises, Boils

Amateur Governesses.

It is no exaggeration to assert that there are at present thousands of women holding the situations of governesses who have had as proper education, no necessary training, and who are entirely destitute of the moral force indispensable to success in their employment. It would be strange if it were otherwise. Many girls know that on the death of their parents they will be obliged to do something whereby they may eat a morsel of bread, but they trust to forget the unwelcome fact and trust to marriage or the chapter of accidents to relieve them from their dreaded fate. At last, however, the end generally comes when, perhaps long unexpected. Forced to decide at once, they find refuge in boarding governesses. Not even the preliminary examination in reading, writing and arithmetic which they would have to pass in order to become half-pupil-at-one of the Government schools is required. The ordinary amateur governesses who is driven by necessity to undertake a means whereby to provide herself with board and lodging, enters her situation in a wonder under sentence-enter in the prison. She is obliged to spend a certain number of hours daily in what is supposed to call the education of her pupils, with a proper code of rules for the lessons books put back in the cupboards and can take up her face work. She bath with several governesses, bright an unprejudiced holiday, a pleasure even as struck or ill-use or a death in the house—anything which will relieve her nervous tension while from the monotony of the task which becomes increasingly irksome with the months. She does not think highly of her office as she cannot present her pupils from enjoying it. At one time she dominates unnecessarily to show her power. At another she overlooks disobedience to the lessons she loves most, and which, having been made, ought to be enforced. She is ignorant, therefore she carefully resents questions being asked when she does not understand to test her acquirements. She deals with her small quantity of information as a treasure to be imparted in nicely, detached portions at a time, and has no patience to be given in large doses. She is prone at illustrations, and declines to make history a living child to her pupils, merely remembrances of names, or recollections of dates, she has read, in order a lesson in geography impossible. When in a good humor she explains the details of her domestic troubles and her rival trivialities of dress, her boy, and reads them her love letters. Cold and ironbound as to lose reserve any. She is familiar with them in a wrong way, and weakens her authority and lowers herself in their eyes in order to gain their friendship, forgetting that children are very sharp and keenly alive to discover little flaws in them in return for the subtlety they receive for their own imperfections. We want a new system of training for governesses which shall in short on some knowledge of physiology. Few are now properly instructed in the laws of health, so that they are not prepared to perceive quickly, and make allowances for the temporary derangements to which all children are subject. They will call a pupil naughty who is really nervous, and another idle who has simply lost its mental energies through indigestion.—Saturday Review.

Curious Freaks of Lightning on a Colorado Mountain Peak.

Mr. Joseph Cotter writes to the Pittsburgh Gazette as follows:

I have given some attention among the Rocky Mountains to the extraordinary force and tension of electricity on some of the highest summits and the strange phenomena which are displayed every time storm clouds gather upon them. My facts have been gathered from men of high character for intelligence and veracity, and as there is a substantial agreement in their statements their testimony may be taken as strict verity.

In the summer of 1863 Wilbur F. Sanno, a citizen of Pueblo, accompanied by a full and abundant assistance ascended to the summit of Mount Lincoln for the purpose of ascertaining its altitude barometrically. The day was clear and pleasant and the wind moderate. After accomplishing their object Mr. Sanno noticed a heavy cloud approaching rapidly from the northwest, sweeping furiously through accompanies of ragged and jagged peaks, roaring louder and louder as it approached the loftier summit upon which they stood. When the cloud reached the side of the mountain, driven up a fierce wind, it rose rapidly toward the summit. While gazing at it Mr. Sanno stretched his arm toward it, when instantly his fingers began to give out a sound like the buzzing of a large bug or beetle. Very soon this buzzing and snapping sound seemed to be all around them, and more particularly in their hair. The other may, whose lanky locks were so long that they hung down to his shoulders, supposing that a big bird really got into his hat, took it off, when, behold! his hair rose and stood on end, giving him an appearance at once humorous and hideous. Mr. Sanno, whose hair was shorter and lighter, took off his hat and found his hair affected in the same way. He then extended his hand toward his companion, when a chain of electric sparks flew out of the ends of his fingers although covered with a thick glove, until an equilibrium was established. Meanwhile the buzzing kept up all around.

"A bank of drifted snow lay upon the northeast side of the summit. Two dogs which were with them got upon the snow and engaged in frolicsome gambols, as if in a high state of enjoyment; but they were partially sheltered from the wind which then swept like a hurricane across the summit. Mr. Stone threw a stick a little way above them, which one of the dogs ran to pick up, but just as he reached it the wind struck him, and with it an electric shock, which caused him to utter a loud cry and take to his heels down the mountain side, with his hair like the tail of an angry or scared cat. Mr. Stone then went to get the stick. He had another stick in his hand, which he plunged into the crusted snow to prevent slipping. Before he reached the first stick he, too, got into the wind and received a shock which knocked the stick out of his hand. He then returned to his original place. The storm of snow, wind, and electricity was raging more furiously than ever; but there was no thunder, only a distant rumbling.

"The next sensation was as unusual as endurable prickling, as if their entire bodies had been covered with stinging insects, or as if a fine needle had been applied to every pore, while sparks were flying from one man to the other and from one object to another continually, with still more vigorous buzzing and snapping sounds. Uttering a strong exclamation of terror, the bold mountaineer sprang from the summit and descended the side of the mountain about fifty feet, and Mr. Stone followed him. There they stopped for a few moments, the confused noises and pricking sensation still continuing. Then a broad sheet of light flung, with an intensely bright space or stream in the center, surrounded, or rather enveloped, them. Instantly the buzzing and pricking ceased, and they were perfectly at ease. The cloud by with which they were a moment before so heavily charged was withdrawn. Still, there was not the slightest disturbance.

"Mr. Stone then told his companion that all was right—that they themselves, together with the mountains, the valleys and things else, being charged to the utmost, all was positive, but now equilibrium was restored. So they returned to the summit to observe still more closely the strange phenomena. The storm cloud was still climbing the mountain side, still passing over the summit and descending the opposite side, as a torrent of water acts upon an obstructing rock. In a few moments, however, the roaring sound receded and became inaudible. It is beyond my ability to give an adequate idea of the sublime grandeur of what would be his fate when Mrs. Smith got hold of him, will never be known.

Suffice it to say that he carried the lacerated form of his unfortunate spouse to her dreamy couch. And that although ten days have elapsed since the occurrence of the incidents here narrated she has not left that downy couch yet.

The doctor says she may be out next week.

Meanwhile she solemnly declares that all the girls in the country may talk to the next room until they get black and blue before she will make a fool of her self again.—New Orleans Times

The Boot-Black's Story.

When a dozen newsboys and bootblacks had collected on the Custom House stairs yesterday, and when each one had grown tired of jaw-breakers and popcorn balls, "Little English" requested:

"Spoon Jim Cocoanut tells us a story."

"Spoon," remarked all the others.

"Well, gentlemen," remarked Jim, after a few rings at his head, "I will tell you a true story about a girl. Her name was Maizie, and she had yaller hair, blue eyes, small feet, and she was worth a million dollars."

"In stamps?" asked Cross-Eyed Dick.

"In clean cash, right in the savings bank," answered Jim. "The girl was sat orphan, with no one to boss her around, and if she wanted to be out till eleven o'clock at night she could. There were piles of fellows after her to marry her, but she kicked up her toes at the hull caboodle.

"What for?" anxiously inquired Five-cracker Tom.

"What for? Why, she knew they loved her money instead of herself. She wanted some one to love her earnestly and like a dog. Well, one day when she was going down to the paddies to see if there was any mail, a runaway horse came along. She fainted away around and down in the road, and she'd have been broke all to pieces if it hadn't been for a bootblack—a boot-black like me. He pulled her out of a shooting gallery, brought her to, and then hired a hull omnibus and took her home."

"And they fell in love and were finally married," replied Suspender Jamison.

"No, my fellow-countrymen," sadly replied Jim—"she gin him ten cents!"

"And is that all?" exclaimed three or four voices.

"All she gin him, and that turned out to be counterfeit!"

There was a long period of silence, and then Cocoanut Jim continued:

"Which is a lesson to is never to marry a girl worth a million dollars."

"And we never shall!" they solemnly replied.—Detroit Free Press.

A Courageous Woman.

Mr. Moses Feiss, a wealthy farmer lives a mile from Gotham Village. He is a widower, and his housekeeper is a Mrs. Jewett. On Tuesday forenoon a knock was heard at the front door, and on opening it Mrs. Jewett, who was alone in the house, saw a tramp standing there. He asked to see the master of the house. She replied that she was the only person there. The man inquired for the gentleman of the house, and was told he was down in the field. He appeared very anxious to see him, and wanted Mrs. Jewett to go down and call him. She refused, and told the fellow she preferred to talk with him any longer, and shut the door in his face. While the lady was talking she thought she heard some one upstairs, so she went directly to her room and, taking a pistol, stepped into another room, where, sure enough, she was confronted by a large and ugly-looking man, who was endeavoring to secrete himself in a closet. With the utmost coolness Mrs. Jewett aimed her pistol at him and requested him to depart. He demurred at first, when the lady made another step forward and cocked the pistol. The fellow then ran down-stairs and up the road. The men of the front door also disappeared.—Boston Herald.

An exclusively colored panel in a Louisiana court lately returned the written conclusion: "We, the verdict, find the jury guilty."

HOUSEHOLD HINTS.

Iron rust may be removed from cotton and woolen goods by saturating the spots with ink, and removing this by the use of muriatic acid diluted with five or six times its weight of water.

Sinks and wooden may be dyed blue as follows: Take water one gallon, sulphuric acid a tablespoonful, imperial blue one tablespoonful, or more according to shade desired. Put in the goods and boil ten minutes, then wash in a weak solution of soap lather.

Sugared Popcorn.—One cup of white sugar, half a cup of water, boil until it ruffles, and sprinkle in the popcorn as much as the pan will hold. If nicely popped this will snap two-quarts of corn. Stir well, so that it does not stick together. The grains ought to be separated.

How to Cook Salt Pork.—Many people do not relish salt pork fried, but it is quite good to soak it in milk two or three hours, then roll it in Indian meal and fry to a light brown. This makes a good dish for the soldiers were exceedingly displeased with this kind of bread and refused to eat it, but after two days' experience they preferred it to fine flour bread. The result of the experiment was the health of the soldiers became so much improved, and so healthy in the course of a few months that the officers and physicians of the army publicly declared that there were never before so healthy and robust, and that a cause of many kinds had almost entirely disappeared from the army. For a while the use of this bread was signed universal in public institutions and in private families, and it was pronounced by civic physicians by far the most healthful bread that could be eaten. The testimony of ten Orphan asylums was unanimously in favor of wheaten bread. The course of the ship bread is the healthier is my opinion; simmer the the puffings and all stain it over the heat through a fine sieve. The same quantity of apples as of quinces may be taken, and when the preserve is made it will not be easy to tell one from the other.

Sweet Potato Pudding.—Ten cold sweet potatoes grated, seven eggs (boiled) add not less sifted butter, pint cup, one beautiful sweet cream, one tablespoonful cinnamon, same nutmeg, a teaspoonful lemon extract and a grated cocoanut dissolved in a teaspoonful of water. Bake in deep plate. Add sugar and butter rubbed to a cream, stir in sugar and butter rubbed to a cream, stir in sugar and butter the mashed potato while hot. Cover a deep plate with puff paste, and pour in the mixture. Bake in an oven not quite so slow done, cover the top with slices of fruit marmalade and sprinkle thickly with cocoanut. Make a frosting of the whites of two eggs, a little sugar, and flavor with a glass of rich milk. This will make three puddings.

Apple Dumplings.—Last fall I had a quantity of sweet corn left from the garden; I had no use for it and thought I would try and boil some of it. It was the way I boiled it. Soak corn night in warm water; in the morning put it in an iron kettle with water enough to cover it. To each quart of corn I put a rounding teaspoonful of soda, boil until it is done. Some of my family can eat it in several clear waters, and after it is thoroughly washed put it on to boil again fresh. Well, one day when company came down to the paddies to see if there was any mail, a runaway horse came along. My father fainted away around and down in the road, and she'd have been broke all to pieces if it hadn't been for a bootblack—boot-black like me. He pulled her out of a shooting gallery, brought her to, and then hired a hull omnibus and took her home."

"And they fell in love and were finally married," replied Suspender Jamison.

"No, my fellow-countrymen," sadly replied Jim—"she gin him ten cents!"

"And is that all?" exclaimed three or four voices.

"All she gin him, and that turned out to be counterfeit!"

There was a long period of silence, and then Cocoanut Jim continued:

"Which is a lesson to is never to marry a girl worth a million dollars."

"And we never shall!" they solemnly replied.—Detroit Free Press.

A Courageous Woman.

Mr. Moses Feiss, a wealthy farmer lives a mile from Gotham Village. He is a widower, and his housekeeper is a Mrs. Jewett. On Tuesday forenoon a knock was heard at the front door, and on opening it Mrs. Jewett, who was alone in the house, saw a tramp standing there. He asked to see the master of the house. She replied that she was the only person there at the time. The man then inquired for the gentleman of the house, and was told he was down in the field. He appeared very anxious to see him, and wanted Mrs. Jewett to go down and call him. She refused, and told the fellow she preferred to talk with him any longer, and shut the door in his face. While the lady was talking she thought she heard some one upstairs, so she went directly to her room and, taking a pistol, stepped into another room, where, sure enough, she was confronted by a large and ugly-looking man, who was endeavoring to secrete himself in a closet. With the utmost coolness Mrs. Jewett aimed her pistol at him and requested him to depart. He demurred at first, when the lady made another step forward and cocked the pistol. The fellow then ran down-stairs and up the road. The men of the front door also disappeared.—Boston Herald.

Bruising Ducks on Dry Land.

A writer in the Poultry Herald asks the following question: "Has it ever occurred to readers that ducks can be plied advantageously upon premises where there is neither pond nor stream on the premises?"

The prevailing opinion on this subject is that, in order to raise ducks of any sort with satisfactory success, a running stream or a pond of water is indispensably requisite. Many years ago we were accustomed to rear goodly numbers of excellent ducks without the advantage of pond or stream of water, yet the probability is that the ducks thus produced would have been larger if they could have had a few inch holes with salt, added a little water, and plugged them up, set them in the ground, which was a gravelly loam, a foot deep and built my house upon that, intending to enlarge it when convenient. For immediate protection I inclosed the door yard and garden with a temporary fence, and having a quantity of green pine-boughs by the hand and several cords more into small pieces, with several vegetables of human being, and that will ere long cure you."

There is nothing half so funny as a practical joke, and this, as told by an Ilarian paper, is a regular rib-tickler: "Frederick Waltz and Peter Kohler, of Guttenberg, N. J., stuffed an old suit of clothes with straw, the effect rigid, and carried it to Peter's room and laid it on a lamp-post. About midnight they began an imaginary quarrel in a loud tone, and continued it until a number of people were aroused from their beds. Then they shot the imaginary man. The body fell down and the young men ran away. The neighbors, thinking a murder had been committed, chased the young men, and finally overtook a great laughed from to squeeze from his carriage of business the young men charged for a year's membership in the fire company."

It is printed on a good quality of paper in a form for binding. Every number before embellished with original engravings, illustrating machinery, new discoveries and the latest discoveries, and all the important inventions of the day. Terms, $3.20 a year; $1.60 six months. Address Munn & Co., 37 Park Row, New York.

Soil and Ashes for Preserving Wood.

I know of several instances where salt and ashes have acted as preservatives of wood. I had a fence standing in 1834 in circumstances required that I should build a house as soon as practicable, and I set about it with a will. Among other building purposes were obtained from a river bottom when the water was low, but when I came to finish the water was high. To prevent delay I cut down white oaks from fourteen to sixteen inches in diameter, sawed them into blocks thirty inches long, with a light axe split out the poles, and laid them up, set them in the ground, and built my house upon that, intending to enlarge it when convenient. For immediate protection I inclosed the door yard and garden with a temporary fence, and having a quantity of green pine-boughs by the hand and several cords more into small pieces, with several vegetables of human being, and that will ere long cure you."

There is nothing half so funny as a practical joke, and this, as told by an Ilarian paper, is a regular rib-tickler: "Frederick Waltz and Peter Kohler, of Guttenberg, N. J., stuffed an old suit of clothes with straw, the effect rigid, and carried it to Peter's room and laid it on a lamp-post. About midnight they began an imaginary quarrel in a loud tone, and continued it until a number of people were aroused from their beds. Then they shot the imaginary man. The body fell down and the young men ran away. The neighbors, thinking a murder had been committed, chased the young men, and finally overtook a great laughed from to squeeze from his carriage of business the young men charged for a year's membership in the fire company."

It is printed on a good quality of paper in a form for binding. Every number before embellished with original engravings, illustrating machinery, new discoveries and the latest discoveries, and all the important inventions of the day. Terms, $3.20 a year; $1.60 six months. Address Munn & Co., 37 Park Row, New York.

Unbolted Wheat.

Near the close of the last century, when England and France were waging war with each other, the British Parliament passed a law, to take effect in a few years, that the army at home should be supplied with bread made from unbolted wheat flour, partly for the purpose of making the wheat go as far as possible, and partly that the soldiers were exceedingly displeased with this kind of bread and refused to eat it, but after two days' experience they preferred it to fine flour bread. The result of the experiment was the health of the soldiers became so much improved, and so healthy in the course of a few months that the officers and physicians of the army publicly declared that there were never before so healthy and robust, and that a cause of many kinds had almost entirely disappeared from the army. For a while the use of this bread was signed universal in public institutions and in private families, and it was pronounced by civic physicians by far the most healthful bread that could be eaten. The testimony of ten Orphan asylums was unanimously in favor of wheaten bread. The course of the ship bread is the healthier is my opinion; simmer the the puffings and all stain it over the heat through a fine sieve. The same quantity of apples as of quinces may be taken, and when the preserve is made it will not be easy to tell one from the other.

Sweet Potato Pudding.—Ten cold sweet potatoes grated, seven eggs (boiled) add not less sifted butter, pint cup, one beautiful sweet cream, one tablespoonful cinnamon, same nutmeg, a teaspoonful lemon extract and a grated cocoanut dissolved in a teaspoonful of water. Bake in deep plate. Add sugar and butter rubbed to a cream, stir in sugar and butter rubbed to a cream, stir in sugar and butter the mashed potato while hot. Cover a deep plate with puff paste, and pour in the mixture. Bake in an oven not quite so slow done, cover the top with slices of fruit marmalade and sprinkle thickly with cocoanut. Make a frosting of the whites of two eggs, a little sugar, and flavor with a glass of rich milk. This will make three puddings.

Apple Dumplings.—Last fall I had a quantity of sweet corn left from the garden; I had no use for it and thought I would try and boil some of it. It was the way I boiled it. Soak corn night in warm water; in the morning put it in an iron kettle with water enough to cover it. To each quart of corn I put a rounding teaspoonful of soda, boil until it is done. Some of my family can eat it in several clear waters, and after it is thoroughly washed put it on to boil again fresh. Well, one day when company came down to the paddies to see if there was any mail, a runaway horse came along. My father fainted away around and down in the road, and she'd have been broke all to pieces if it hadn't been for a bootblack—boot-black like me. He pulled her out of a shooting gallery, brought her to, and then hired a hull omnibus and took her home."

"And they fell in love and were finally married," replied Suspender Jamison.

"No, my fellow-countrymen," sadly replied Jim—"she gin him ten cents!"

"And is that all?" exclaimed three or four voices.

"All she gin him, and that turned out to be counterfeit!"

There was a long period of silence, and then Cocoanut Jim continued:

"Which is a lesson to is never to marry a girl worth a million dollars."

"And we never shall!" they solemnly replied.—Detroit Free Press.

A Courageous Woman.

Mr. Moses Feiss, a wealthy farmer lives a mile from Gotham Village. He is a widower, and his housekeeper is a Mrs. Jewett. On Tuesday forenoon a knock was heard at the front door, and on opening it Mrs. Jewett, who was alone in the house, saw a tramp standing there. He asked to see the master of the house. She replied that she was the only person there at the time. The man then inquired for the gentleman of the house, and was told he was down in the field. He appeared very anxious to see him, and wanted Mrs. Jewett to go down and call him. She refused, and told the fellow she preferred to talk with him any longer, and shut the door in his face. While the lady was talking she thought she heard some one upstairs, so she went directly to her room and, taking a pistol, stepped into another room, where, sure enough, she was confronted by a large and ugly-looking man, who was endeavoring to secrete himself in a closet. With the utmost coolness Mrs. Jewett aimed her pistol at him and requested him to depart. He demurred at first, when the lady made another step forward and cocked the pistol. The fellow then ran down-stairs and up the road. The men of the front door also disappeared.—Boston Herald.

Sell and Ashes for Preserving Wood.

I know of several instances where salt and ashes have acted as preservatives of wood. I had a fence standing in 1834 in circumstances required that I should build a house as soon as practicable, and I set about it with a will. Among other building purposes were obtained from a river bottom when the water was low, but when I came to finish the water was high. To prevent delay I cut down white oaks from fourteen to sixteen inches in diameter, sawed them into blocks thirty inches long, with a light axe split out the poles, and laid them up, set them in the ground, and built my house upon that, intending to enlarge it when convenient. For immediate protection I inclosed the door yard and garden with a temporary fence, and having a quantity of green pine-boughs by the hand and several cords more into small pieces, with several vegetables of human being, and that will ere long cure you."

There is nothing half so funny as a practical joke, and this, as told by an Ilarian paper, is a regular rib-tickler: "Frederick Waltz and Peter Kohler, of Guttenberg, N. J., stuffed an old suit of clothes with straw, the effect rigid, and carried it to Peter's room and laid it on a lamp-post. About midnight they began an imaginary quarrel in a loud tone, and continued it until a number of people were aroused from their beds. Then they shot the imaginary man. The body fell down and the young men ran away. The neighbors, thinking a murder had been committed, chased the young men, and finally overtook a great laughed from to squeeze from his carriage of business the young men charged for a year's membership in the fire company."

It is printed on a good quality of paper in a form for binding. Every number before embellished with original engravings, illustrating machinery, new discoveries and the latest discoveries, and all the important inventions of the day. Terms, $3.20 a year; $1.60 six months. Address Munn & Co., 37 Park Row, New York.

Whitewash for Kitchen Walls.

The first consideration in a cooking-room is cleanliness. Tried by this test few kitchens will be found to be such a place. You cannot darken this room through part of the day in summer so as to exclude flies, and consequently fly-specks will be numerous. These specks abound in the kitchen ashes and steam, and the smoke rises lastingly upon them. If cooking things get into a house they are sure to culminate themselves into the parlor for some. Hard-finished walls are really more cleanly, for they can be washed, but, unless the finishing is better done than in the kitchens we have seen, they soon look dirty, and this is the next worse thing to being so, for such finishing soon becomes discolored and "splendy." There is nothing that will compare with the old-fashioned whitewash; not cedar-wash, but whitewash, pure and simple. Under-coats may give the walls a prettier tint, but these can be put on by a practiced hand, whereas whitewash can be applied by anyone, whenever dirty spots make its renewal due. It is true that unpractised hands do not apply the brush as easily as could be wished, but a little practice will soon don't master when we can all see that the walls are white and clean.—Scribner for January.

An English officer of a large dinner party sat opposite a native of India. The latter after dinner began "dipping" some water from a glass, in sheer wantonness, and throwing it over some of the company. The officer at last, annoyed at the occasion, and, without a moment's thought, filled another glass of water and threw it in the native's face. "That's a droll trick, but we do it better in England," and with a loud laugh he threw a glass of water into the nearest company, same. The royal bear was, of course, angry, but what could he do?

There are now about 1,000 locked rocks and 17,000 open locks, with 42,000 men engaged in the Canadian fishery.

"For the Blood Is the Life."

Sure Cures by this remedy, after having the source from which the system is poisoned, are recorded in almost every locality. In phosphorus gives a healthful impulse to the brain, and on no other food can our nerves are greater so prolonged mental labor as on oatmeal porridge.—N. Y. Tribune.

Rearing Ducks on Dry Land.

A writer in the Poultry Herald asks the following question: "Has it ever occurred to readers that ducks can be plied advantageously upon premises where there is neither pond nor stream on the premises?"

The prevailing opinion on this subject is that, in order to raise ducks of any sort with satisfactory success, a running stream or a pond of water is indispensably requisite. Many years ago we were accustomed to rear goodly numbers of excellent ducks without the advantage of pond or stream of water, yet the probability is that the ducks thus produced would have been larger if they could have had a few inch holes with salt, added a little water, and plugged them up, set them in the ground, which was a gravelly loam, a foot deep and built my house upon that, intending to enlarge it when convenient. For immediate protection I inclosed the door yard and garden with a temporary fence, and having a quantity of green pine-boughs by the hand and several cords more into small pieces, with several vegetables of human being, and that will ere long cure you."

There is nothing half so funny as a practical joke, and this, as told by an Ilarian paper, is a regular rib-tickler: "Frederick Waltz and Peter Kohler, of Guttenberg, N. J., stuffed an old suit of clothes with straw, the effect rigid, and carried it to Peter's room and laid it on a lamp-post. About midnight they began an imaginary quarrel in a loud tone, and continued it until a number of people were aroused from their beds. Then they shot the imaginary man. The body fell down and the young men ran away. The neighbors, thinking a murder had been committed, chased the young men, and finally overtook a great laughed from to squeeze from his carriage of business the young men charged for a year's membership in the fire company."

It is printed on a good quality of paper in a form for binding. Every number before embellished with original engravings, illustrating machinery, new discoveries and the latest discoveries, and all the important inventions of the day. Terms, $3.20 a year; $1.60 six months. Address Munn & Co., 37 Park Row, New York.

Read to the Children.

Next to a good story-teller, a bright child delights in a good reader. This implies more in its estimation than perfect elocution. Its good reader is sharp to select those things in his book or paper which a child delights to hear. He can give every poor education as the matter is to his taste. A little boy was telling me lately with much animation a cautious story he had heard the minister of a little friend read out of the daily paper. She objected to spell all the long words, called a shark "a-s-h-a-r-k," and stopped to ask her learned husband if a shark "wasn't a small whale." But the boy did not care for that. It was the fact that he was interested in.

There is nothing for which children so hunger as new ideas. Nothing that will keep them so well out of mischief and finding them something pleasant and

Mr. Eaton: In every city, town and hamlet in the land was the found some feeble person unable to perform hard labor, some poor woman that delights in visiting the sick and administering to their wants, some local preacher not fully occupied, or some unemployed person who would like to add a little to their present income—and I must know such person in every place where I have no agent to sell a Medicinal Extract made by the Shakers, which has proved a most signal service in the cure of those long standing diseases that prevail in all parts of our country, and which have heretofore resisted all kinds of medical treatment. I propose for the better introduction of this article to give a very liberal commission to the Shaker Extract of Roots, and for the hand of "The Strange Woman," for which I would like to call the attention of your readers. Please inform some such person as I have described to call upon me or my agent, as no capital is required where this is the case. Necessary to mention I have invented a remedy for my Shaker Extract plaster, which destroys all the results produced by the inventor of the same. Many have been deceived by mankind, and acknowledged to be destitute in the exercise in the human heart. Chronic Cure, $4.00. Single Chronic, one dollar. Address Dr. L. D. Mellen, Shaker Village, Me.

Perkins' Antiseptic Bank, $1.50. Any address.

Appendix to Soper's Encyclopedia of Music.

The largest work (96 pp. published in 1853, contains an account of the Jubilee Singers, Concert Singers, Hutchinson Family, Ethiopian Serenaders, Christy's Minstrels, Opera Troupes, Bands, Orchestras, Choirs, Conventions, Festivals, Schools, Academies, Conservatories, Colleges, Universities in the United States, Canada, Europe, Asia, Africa, Australia, Sandwich Islands, Cannibal Islands, Fejee Islands, Japan, China, Hindostan, Persia, Arabia, Egypt, Abyssinia, Guinea, Ashantee, Dahomey, Timbuctoo, Zanzibar, Mozambique, Cape Colony, Hottentots, Kaffirs, Zulus, Bushmen, Fantees, Fulahs, Mandingoes, Soudan, Nubia, Kordofan, Sennaar, Darfour, Bornou, Houssa, Timbuctoo, Fezzan, Tripoli, Algiers, Tunis, Morocco, Fez, Mequinez, Sallee Amateur Gunpressos.

It is no exaggeration to assert that there are at present thousands of women holding the situations of governesses who have had no proper education, no necessary training, and who are entirely destitute of the moral force indispensable to successful their employment. It would be strange if it were otherwise. Many girls know that on the death of their parents they will be obliged to do something for themselves, but they may as a matter of bread, but they try to forget the unwelcome fact and trust to marriage or the chapter of accidents to relieve them from their dreaded fate. At last, however, the end usually comes when perhaps least expected. Forced to decide at once, they should have to become governesses. Not even the preliminary examination in reading, writing and arithmetic which they would have to pass in order to become half-pupil at one of the Government schools is required. The ordinary amateur governess was at liberty to pretend to teaching as a means whereby to provide herself with board and lodging, enters her situation as an utter ignoramus, or else as the bearer of a sham certificate obtained from some needy person. She is obliged to spend a certain number of hours daily in what she is pleased to call the education of her pupils. It is with a sigh of relief that she sees the lesson books put back in their cupboards and can take up her bare work. Sad tales will sometimes be related on unexpected holiday, a pianiste-examination-mistress or governess at the home-learning which will reduce her to such a high width from the numbers of the task which becomes increasingly irksome. She does not think highly of her office, so she cannot prevent her pupils from despising it. At one time she domineers unnecessarily to show her power. At another she overlooks disobedience to the laws she has made, and which, having been made, ought to be enforced. She is ignorant, therefore she naturally resents questions being asked which she knows she intended to test her acquirements. She deals with her small quantity of information as a treasure to be imparted in nicely detached portions of one time, but two persons to laughing together must show. She has no store of illustrations or desire to make history a living study to her pupils, and any reminiscence of pleasure or recollections of travels she has used to engage lessons in geography unnecessary. When a good learner she confidences her pupils the details of her domestic troubles and the usual trivialities of her daily life, and reads them her love letters, if she is so unwise as to have received any. She is familiar with them in a wrong way, and makes her authority and lowers herself in their eyes in order to gain their friendship, forgetting that evil thus sought is dearly and keenly alive to discover little flaws in them in return for the mistakes they receive to their own imperfections. We want a new system of training for governesses which shall insist on some knowledge of physiology. Few are now properly instructed in the laws of health, so that they are not prepared to perceive quickly and make allowance for the temporary derangements to which all children are subject. They will call a pupil naughty who is only nervous, and another idle who has only got a fit of indigestion and is unable to use her faculties properly.—Saturday Review.

Curious Freaks of Lightning on a Colorado Mountain Peak.

Mr Josiah Conray writes to the Pittsburgh Gazette as follows:

"I have given some attention among the Rocky Mountains to the extraordinary force and tension of electricity on some of the highest summits and the strange phenomena which are displayed every time storms-clouds gather upon them. My facts have been gathered from men of high character for intelligence and veracity, and as there is a substantial agreement in their statements their testimony may be taken as strict verity.

"In the summer of 1867 Wilbur F. Stone, now a citizen of Pueblo, accompanied by a tall and athletic mountaineer, ascended to the summit of Mount Elbert, for the purpose of ascertaining its altitude barometrically. The day was clear and pleasant and the wind moderate. After accomplishing their object Mr. Stone noticed a heavy cloud approaching rapidly from the northwest, emerging furiously through a congeries of ragged and jagged peaks, roaring louder and louder as it approached the butte or summit upon which they stood. When the cloud reached the edge of the mountain driven by a fierce wind, it rose rapidly toward the summit. While gazing at it Mr. Stone stretched his arm toward it, when instantly his fingers began to give out a sound like the buzzing of a large bug or beetle. A very soon this buzzing and snapping sound seemed to be all around them, and more particularly in their hair. The other man, whose bushy locks were so long that they hung down to his shoulders, supposing that a bug had got in the two let his hat fall off, when, behold! his hair rose and stood on end, giving him an appearance at once hideous and hideous. Mr Stone's own hair was shorter but he more, ran to get off his hat and found his hair affected in the same way. He then extended his hand toward his companion, when a chain of electric sparks flew out of the ends of his fingers, although covered with a thick glove, until an equilibrium was established. Meanwhile the buzzing kept up all around.

"A bank of drifted snow lay upon the northeast side of the summit. Two logs which were with them got upon the snow and engaged in frolicsome gambols, as if in a high state of enjoyment; but they were partially sheltered from the wind which then swept like a hurricane across the summit. Mr. Stone threw a stick a little way above them, which one of the dogs ran to pick up, but just as he reached it the wind struck him, and with it an electric shock, which caused him to utter a loud cry and take to his heels down the mountain side, with his hair like the tail of an angry or scared cat. Mr. Stone then went to get the stick. He had another stick in his hand, which he plunged into the crusted snow to prevent it going. Before he reached the first stick he, too, got into the wind and received a shock which 'knocked the stick out of his hand. He then returned to his original place. The storm of snow, wind, and electricity was raging more furiously than ever, but there was no thunder, only a distant rumbling.

"The next sensation was an almost unendurable prickling, as if their entire bodies had been covered with stinging insects, or as if a fine needle had been applied to every pore, while sparks were flying from one man to the other and from one object to another continually, with still more vigorous buzzing and snapping sounds. During a strong exhaustion of nerve, the bald mountain seemed to be the summit of Mount Elbert, the purpose of ascertaining its altitude barometrically. The day was clear and pleasant and the wind moderate. After accomplishing their object Mr. Stone noticed a heavy cloud approaching rapidly from the northwest, emerging furiously through a congeries of ragged and jagged peaks, roaring louder and louder as it approached the butte or summit upon which they stood. When the cloud reached the edge of the mountain driven by a fierce wind, it rose rapidly toward the summit. While gazing at it Mr. Stone stretched his arm toward it, when instantly his fingers began to give out a sound like the buzzing of a large bug or beetle. A very soon this buzzing and snapping sound seemed to be all around them, and more particularly in their hair. The other man, whose bushy locks were so long that they hung down to his shoulders, supposing that a bug had got in the two let his hat fall off, when, behold! his hair rose and stood on end, giving him an appearance at once hideous and hideous. Mr Stone's own hair was shorter but he more, ran to get off his hat and found his hair affected in the same way. He then extended his hand toward his companion, when a chain of electric sparks flew out of the ends of his fingers, although covered with a thick glove, until an equilibrium was established. Meanwhile the buzzing kept up all around.

"A bank of drifted snow lay upon the northeast side of the summit. Two logs which were with them got upon the snow and engaged in frolicsome gambols, as if in a high state of enjoyment; but they were partially sheltered from the wind which then swept like a hurricane across the summit. Mr. Stone threw a stick a little way above them, which one of the dogs ran to pick up, but just as he reached it the wind struck him, and with it an electric shock, which caused

How a Woman Fired Playing Burglar.

Bonner upon the wind of local gossip there comes a story of a midnight adventure which in the whole range of domestic literature will hardly find a parallel, while the recollection of its incidents, although still a painful theme to the chief person therein, will be a source of merriment to many.

It appears in a bustling house there resided last week a young married couple named Smith—in the story. There were likewise several young gentlemen and three tomtits, each of the latter boasting the possession of two daughters, and all of these daughters, it may be noted, were lively, blithesome girls.

They were also much given to visiting with each other, and discussing the various business of the day with vigor and enthusiasm.

Indeed, they frequently pursued their discussions far into the witching hours of the night, and the sound of their privacy voices often rose upon the air long after the other inmates of the house had been tucked away in bed for the night. One of the rooms in which these young ladies met adjoined the apartment occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Smith, and it occurred that Mrs. Smith was often kept awake and much annoyed by the vociferous performances of the youthful females alluded to.

Smith didn't mind it much, because he courted the drowsy god with such effect that, as a general thing, he dropped away to sleep as soon as he struck the bed, and nothing short of a grand explosion could induce him to rise up before the hours of gentle dawn. Mrs. Smith, on the contrary, a sleeper, and she discovered that whenever the girls in the next room got started Farrel chamber was out of the question.

It made her mighty mad, and she mentally pitched into those girls in the most unsavage style.

She even wished they were dead, and wondered how people could been ill bred. She would the annoyance vexed her soul and kept her awake.

Until she vowed she would get even by starting those girls out of a night or two.

Her game was to fix herself up in a cool and breathes the very next time the girls commenced to, and at midnight to burst suddenly upon them with a yell that would frighten them into fits.

The opportunity soon occurred.

The next night the girls were at it again, and they chattered and chattered until the midnight hour.

Mrs. Smith was awake, and she had her suit of clothes handy, while her long, disordered, unconscious of the dodge which his wife was about to pursue.

For she had thought best not to let him into the plan for fear he might vote it.

At the clock struck twelve she skipped out of bed and into the breeches. She also skipped into the hall, and making a sudden rush for the girls' room, quickly jerked open the door and cried "Hallooo!"

That the girls were frightened admits of no doubt.

They screamed as only girls scream, and cried aloud for help, meanwhile shouting that they would all be murdered.

At this Mrs. Smith thought she'd had enough fun, and rushed wildly forth.

But the screams of the girls had aroused numerous young gentlemen. And in response to the cries of distressed humanity they waltzed into the hall in lively style. They were valiant men, too, and they no sooner caught sight of a man running through the hall than they knew he was a burglar, and they fell upon him fiercely.

They beat him and kicked him, and were purposing to polish him down stairs, when Smith, who had at last been awakened, appeared upon the scene.

He took in the situation at a glance, and he too proceeded to hammer the burglar.

Moreover, he suggested the advisability of killing the wretch. You see, neither he nor the rest of the fellows knew that the burglar was Mrs. Smith, for the hall was too dimly lighted. Besides, Mrs. Smith never utters a word, assumed no doubt to silent suffering.

But when she saw the partner of her soul pounding her, herself rose within her, and she simply sang out: "Don't, don't, I'm Mrs. Smith."

That settled it.

A thunderbolt lodging in the midst of that party would not have created half the consternation.

The young men who had lambed the redoubtable Mrs. S. sloped. It may be also remarked that they stood not upon the order of their sloping, but sloped all at once. And Smith, how was it with him? To say that he was petrified would be putting the matter very mildly. He was crushed, absolutely crushed.

But whether it was through a remorseful stricken conscience, or a fearful contemplation of what would be his fate when Mrs. Smith got hold of him, will never be known.

Suffice it to say that he carried the lacerated form of his unfortunate spouse to her downy couch. And that although ten days have elapsed since the occurrence all the incidents here narrated she has not left that downy couch yet.

The doctor says she may be out next week.

Meanwhile she solemnly declares that all the girls in the country may talk in the next room until they get black and blue before she will make a fool of herself again.—New Orleans Times.

The Boot-Black's Story.

When a dozen newsboys and bootblacks had collected on the Custom House steps yesterday, and when each one had grown tired of jaw breakers and popcorn balls, "Little English" remarked:

"Spoken Jim Coconnut tells us a story."

"Spoken," remarked all the others.

"Well, gentlemen," remarked Jim, after a few digs at his head, "I will tell you a true story about a girl. Her name was Mother, and she had yaller hair, blue eyes, small feet, and she was worth a million dollars."

"In stamps?" asked Cross-Eyed Dick.

"In clean cash, right in the savings bank," answered Jim. "The girl was an orphan, with no one to boss her around, and if she wanted to be out till seven o'clock at night she could. There were piles of billows and her bed might in warm water; in the morning put it in an iron kettle with water enough to cover it. To each quart of water put in a rounding teaspoonful of soda; boil until the hulls come off readily, then wash in cold water, rub dry, and after it is thoroughly washed put it on to boil again in clear water. Boil until tender and dry. Turn into a deep dish, salt, butter, pepper, and cream thoroughly. Eat hot or cold in milk.—Cor. Household.

Unbolted Wheat.

Near the close of the last century, when England and France were waging war with each other, the British Parliament passed a law, to take effect for two years, that the army at home should be supplied with bread made of unbolted wheat meal, solely for the purpose of making the wheat go as far as possible. At first the soldiers were sensibly displeased with this kind of bread and refused to eat it, but after two or three weeks they preferred it to the white. The results of the experiment was the nettle of the soldiers improved so much and so manifestly in the course of a few months that the officers and physicians of the army publicly declared that the soldiers were never better or healthier, and expressed that diseases of many kinds had almost entirely disappeared from the army. For a while the use of this bread was almost universal in public institutions and in private families, and it was pronounced by every physician to be far the most healthy bread that could be eaten. The testimony of ten Captains and whalemen lengthy in favor of wheaten bread. "The coarser the ship bread is the better it agrees with the crew," said a very intelligent ten Captain of thirty-seven years' experience. The intelligent Captain of Woodstock, "owes a hearty and robust people, capable of enduring the greatest fatigues, are a living testimony to the salutary effects of this sort of bread, and it is remarkable that they are very seldom attacked by acute fevers and those other diseases which arise from bad humors. In fact the laboring class throughout Europe, Asia and Africa use bread made out of the whole grain; happily for them they cannot afford to buy fine flour.

The more intelligent class of people in this country have since used made of unbolted wheat on their tables every day, and depend upon it; but in country places the idea prevails that it is cheap and coarse, and that to feed a guest on bran bread would be inhospitable. Nothing can be farther from the truth. Our first-class hotels have regularly on their bills of fare "cracked-wheat," "hominy," "oatmeal mush;" and some advanced teachers of hygiene are beginning to hope that the reign of fine flour is passing away. Of oat-meal as a diet one of our writers says: "Americans are gradually awakening up to the fact that oatmeal is by no means an unimportant article of diet. As a food, the merit of which has stood the test of centuries, and which is declared to promote the sanitary condition of the nation, by laying the foundation for more ready and vigorous brains for the coming generation, let us be good its adoption as an article of diet, as nothing stored of a national good. It phosphorus gives a healthful impulse to the brain, and on no other food can one endure so great or so prolonged mental labor as on oat-meal porridge.—N. Y. Tribune.

Roaring Ducks on Dry Land.

A writer in the Poultry World asks the following question: "Has it ever occurred to readers that ducks can be raised advantageously upon premises where there is neither a pond nor stream for their amusement?"

The prevailing opinion on this subject is that, in order to raise ducks of any sort with satisfactory success, a running stream or a pond of water is indispensably requisite. Many years ago we were accustomed to rear goodly numbers of excellent ducks without the advantage of pond or stream of water; yet the probability is that the ducks thus produced would have been larger if they could have had access to water. As a substitute for a pond a long trough was kept full of water, into which the ducks could plunge at any time. As our own experience, we have the assurance of a breeder in Massachusetts, who has tried the experiment for three successive years, that this notion is altogether groundless. Our domesticated ducks, like the [illegible] are [illegible] [illegible] their bristles in, and a swampy piece of ground through which a river branch sluggishly flows affords a good deal of natural food for this race, which helps to keep through the summer. But the party spoken of above has no open water on his farm, and he has raised several scores of common ducks in the past three seasons, among his flocks of barnyard fowls, which have turned out to be profitable as far as he can calculate, as the chickens he has marketed in the fall and winter have brought a good price more than with the other poultry, and all the duck lings are hatched and reared by hens. It is their custom in feeding so to mix the ducks' food with the old-fashioned whitewash, and other wash, but whitewash, grease and dish water, and they may give the walls a prettier tint, but it must be put up by a practiced hand, whereas whitewashing can be supplied by anyone, whenever a sixty spot makes its appearance. It is true that unpractised hands do not apply the lime as evenly as could be wished, but a few strokes on a brush don't matter when we can all see that the walls are white and clean.—Scientific American.

Salt and Ashes for Preserving Wood.

I know of several instances where salt and ashes have acted as preservatives of wood in and above ground. In 1845 Dr. Darlington told me that I should build a house as soon as practicable, and I was about it with a will. Stones for building purposes were obtained from a river let from when the water was low, but when I wanted them the water was high. To procure them I cut down white oaks from the forest in sixteen inches in diameter, sawed them into blocks thirty inches long, with 15-inch auger bored holes, six inches deep, in the center of one end and six inches from the other end cross-wise nearly through the block, filled the holes with salt, added the ends and plugged them up; set them in the ground, which was a gravelly loam, a foot deep, and built my house upon them, intending to enlarge it when convenient. For immediate protection I inclosed the door jamb and sashes with a temporary fence, and having a quantity of green pine plank four by four inches, sawed them into post lengths, and set them; while doing which I had occasion to cut a log of white oak, found him setting the third set of posts around his door-yard. In a back corner of his yard stood a persimmon tree, and other parts, and all Scrofulous Diseases of the Blood, Liver and Kidneys. Also Rheumatism, Joint and Spinal Diseases—all of which [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

...e System of County Superintendencies.

When the Legislature was discussing the question of abolishing the County Superintendency system, and Boards of Six Supervisors all over the state, in lieu of...nois Board were asking that the system be discontinued, the Eagle questioned the wisdom and expediency of the movement, and called it a step backward in matters of school education in Michigan. The results, so far, in our county, seem to verify that opinion. In fact the situation in Kent county, to a degree, is similar to...ation in Ionia county, and which was described lately by several papers in that county.

A meeting of the township superintendents of Ionia county was held recently, for a comparison of views. It was found that the county is employing too poor a class of teachers; that many are utterly unqualified for their profession. Some...nties who had already taught several terms were unable to tell the difference between an active and a passive verb, or to give an intelligible solution of the common problems in arithmetic. There was no doubt in the minds of those present as to the cause of the poorer class of qualification of candidates. It is in the low prices at which districts attempt to secure teachers. No reasonable person will claim that a teacher can afford to spend six or eight years in getting a good education, and then teach for the same wages as an uneducated person.

One of the Ionia county papers, considering the subject, says:

> Almost any one can work on a farm, and earn wages, but to be a good teacher requires first a natural adaptation for the profession; and second, a large preliminary outlay to secure the necessary qualifications. If any one claims that a good teacher should work as cheap as a farm hand he shows a lack of understanding. Here is the whole trouble. The people want cheap teachers, and they get them; and with them they get cheap schools. If anything is worth doing at all, it is worth doing well. As our people universally acknowledge the benefits of education, there should also be a willingness to secure a good one. Three months of good schooling is better than six of poor.

As illustrative of the cry for cheap teachers we will mention one fact. One district in Ionia county hired a female teacher for two and a half dollars per week and she boarded herself. Could such a teacher afford to patronize any qualification whatever? Could any young woman afford to spend two or three years at a high school or college and then compete with such a class of applicants as that? But, you say, why do not the superintendents require higher qualifications? It is almost impossible. People fossil fossil with the unquestionable idea that they had raised the teacher's wages, and that would be the inevitable result if high qualifications were required.—Grand Rapids Eagle.

A Scotsman says sang out to her husband as he made his exit through the doorway, "Go to Hare's and get some No. 50 black thread, three cord." "Kirstofer Klondike 7" muttered the head of the family, as he started after the wool; repeater to cord it up, "why didn't she order a cartload but and be done with it? Must be she is going to have the sewing society this week."

Senator Ferry, ex-Vice President, has been interviewed on the currency question. According to the Chicago Tribune, he states that his views have undergone no change since the last session of the forty-third Congress; that he is a believer in inflation, but would abolish the national bank system and have a uniform currency issued by the government, and convertable for all taxes and duties whatsoever. As chairman of the Senate Committee, he had opposed the resumption act as a compromise measure, but was opposed to fixing any date for a return to specie payment. He still thinks the daying of a fixed date was a mistake, and that it would be better to limit the circulation to $300 000,000, and have a currency at once uniform and receivable as gold for all purposes throughout the United States. If these are Senator Ferry's views, his position on the currency question is sound, and he should sacrifice his honest convictions to gain a reelection as President pro tem. of...Senate.

NEW

MILLINERY

AND

Dress - Making

ESTABLISHMENT.

Fancy Goods, such as Corsets, Zephyrs, Tidies, Fleily patterns, Parasols, Kid Gloves, etc. Also Gaiters for Sacq ing. Dresses and Cloaks fitted and made in the latest fashions.

Charges Reasonable.

Rooms in Harry Newman's brick building

MISS A. M. SACKETT.

Charlevoix, June 17, 1875. 1y32

Hemlock Bark!

The undersigned, owners of the well-known "Mt. Seminary" woods, inform the people of Pine Lake and vicinity they are prepared to

Contract for Any Amount of Hemlock Bark to be delivered on the beach at Round or Pine Lake on South Arm. The...ness of Pork, Cloth & Buckets, Corporate A...thickness, and Hemlock, to our entire satisfaction. Any other conditions can be made, so with Dr. Woodard, of the firm of DAVT. P. JOHNSON & CO.

Charlevoix, May 1, 1875.

N. B.—Samuel Holland, of Pentland, is also our authorized agent.

L A W

—AND—

Real Estate Office

—OF—

Edw. H. Green,

Charlevoix Mich

Improved Farms

AND

Wild Lands

Bought and sold on commission.

Taxes Paid and Non-Resident Lands Cared For.

Collections a Specialty.

Titles Investigated, & Abstracts of Titles Furnished.

Beautiful cards of the choicest Paintings Landscapes, Flowers, Fruit and Animals, with name, 10 cts. Agent's sample book of 50 cards and 50 styles of cards, 10 cts. Agents wanted. Outfit and terms free. Address, STANDARD CARD CO., Northford, Conn.

For terms and descriptions apply to, or address

E. B. GILSON

Real Estate Agent,

Tilly. Charlevoix, Mich

THE BOSS

Grocery Store.

BYRON SEE

Call the attention of the people of this vicinity to the superior facilities that

GROCERIES

do bought cheaper by the Grain from than at his store in Charlevoix

Also Dry Goods

As cheap as the cheapest

Come and See!

Charlevoix, August 3, 1875

ANDREW D. MCCABE.

Charlevoix Mich

BOOT AND SHOE SHOP.

Custom work done promptly and on the latest style. Repairing done on short notice.

WATER'S CONCERTO PARLOR ORGANS

Are Unrivaled for Beautiful

In tone ever produced.

The CONCERTO

STOP is the best ever placed on Organs. An elegant 7-octave Organ, containing 10 Stops, only $65. Other styles, $70 to $170. The CONCERTO

THE SENTINEL.

WILLARD A. SMITH, Editor and Proprietor.

CHARLEVOIX, - MICHIGAN.

THE NEWS.

SECRETARY BOUTWELL on the 22d sent a telegram to the United States District Attorney at St. Louis emphatically denying the rumor that he was interested in a distillery-house at Louisville, Ky., and stating that he did not desire the matter to rest upon his denial, but requested that "every person whose name has been or can be given you as having knowledge of such alleged facts shall be brought before the Grand Jury and subjected to the most rigid examination." The Secretary adds: "I beg to repeat the request heretofore communicated to you, that these frauds on the government shall be probed to the very bottom; that every ramification of the ring shall be followed in every part from beginning to end, and that no one having connection with or guilty knowledge of its operations shall be permitted to escape by fee or favor, or the government is concerned. I ask that every allegation against any officer of it, from its head to its humblest employee, be thoroughly investigated and vigorously prosecuted, if any grounds exists therefor. I have cited this to the President, who repeats his injunction. Let no guilty man escape."

A LISBON dispatch of the 20th ult. says accounts had been received from Tilla-Simoumning a rising against the Russians in Khokand. Vienna dispatches of the same date say it was feared that a majority of the Russian garrisons in Khokand had been massacred.

AS Alexandria (Egypt) dispatch of the 29th ult. says the Abyssinians had barely surprised and killed 1,200 Egyptians, among them seventeen officers.

A HURRICANE dispatch of the 29th ult. states that the Caribbs had begun a vigorous bombardment of San Salvador.

WASHINGTON advices of the 29th ult. state that there will be no issue of fractional gold during December, the currency balance being large enough. The Secretary has directed the retirement of $261,-472 of outstanding legal-tenders, being 80 per cent of the National Bank circulation issued during November.

THE United States Supreme Court on the 26th ult. delivered a unanimous decision in favor of the Union Pacific Railroad in its suit against the Government, involving the retention of half the compensation due the road for the transportation of mails, military and Indian supplies to apply on the interest paid on bonds issued to the corporation.

EDWARD S. TOBEY, of Boston, has declined the Commissionership of Indian Affairs lately tendered him by the President.

ISAAC WALKER, State Treasurer of Ohio, died at his residence near St. Clairsville on the 20th ult. He was sixty-five years old.

IN the Avery trial at St. Louis, on the 29th ult., evidence was introduced tending to implicate Gen. Babcock in the whiskey frauds.

ON the 30th ult., by a vote of 502 to 87, the State Senate actually adopted a single-dismissed Electoral bill. All the Republicanisms are allowed representation in the Assembly, except the convict colonies of Cayenne and Sing-sing.

PROF. THOMAS HEWITT KEY, the eminent English philologist, died in London on the 26th ult.

ADVICES from the African coast represent Liberia as likely to be overrun with native savages. The colonists had been defeated in an engagement and forced to leave their inland settlements and concentrate at Monrovia.

JOHN ADVOCATE GEN. HOLT, of the United States Army, has been retired and Assistant Advocate Gen. Wm. McKee Dunn appointed to succeed him.

THE changes in the several departments of the Government at Washington have been fixed at from nine a. m. to four p. m.

GEN. MEADE, Chief Signal-officer of the Army, in his annual report says that of the number of continuous signals displayed during the year 76 per cent. were afterward reported as received.

On the 26th ult. Gen. Babcock sent a dispatch to the United States Attorney at St. Louis, declaring his ignorance of any connection with the whisky frauds and demanding a hearing.

THE house of Albert Wood, at Pony Hollow, near Elmira, N. Y., was burned on the 26th ult., and his wife and three children perished in the flames.

THE Erie Canal and the Hudson River were frozen up on the 26th ult., and navigation was virtually closed for the season.

THE rubber shoe factory at Malden, Mass., and adjoining buildings were destroyed by fire on the 26th ult. Losses estimated at over $250,000. About 400 persons were thrown out of employment.

THE troubles among the Ute Indians growing out of the cattle raids by Mexicans were as bad as ever on the 30th ult.

THE Grand Jury of the United States District Court at St. Louis have recently indicted D. W. Munn, late Supervisor of Internal Revenue for the Illinois District, on charges of complicity with the whisky frauds.

A LONDON dispatch of the 1st says the Spanish authorities at Tenerife have had an American Protestant church and extablishment, and schoolmaster.

A TELEGRAM from Madrid of the 1st says the bar mine from Spain to the United States, which is declared to be the ultimatum, promises gradual emancipation and increased freedom of conveyance; that foreigners when arrested shall have an immediate hearing, and that legal redress shall be obtainable for past injuries.

ON the morning of the 30th ult. the wife of Hon. Hugh Childers was found dead in her bed at her husband's residence in London. A bottle containing chloroform, was found by her bedside.

INTELLIGENCE was received in Washington on the 30th ult. of the death of Hon. Benjamin F. Avery, American Minister to China.

THE annual report of the Superintendent of Public Printing shows that the total cost of printing, etc., for the Government for the year ending Sept. 30 last was $1,361,425. The Congressional Record cost $89,359 additional. There are 1,200 employes. In all the departments, with a monthly pay roll of $85,000. The compositors receive sixty cents per 1,000 ems, or $4.00 a day for eight hours' work.

A. E. WILSON, of Louisville, Ky., has been appointed Chief Clerk of the Treasury Department, to fill the vacancy created by W. O. Avery's resignation.

THE statement of the public debt Dec. 1 is as follows:

Six per cent. bonds	$1,693,866,500
Five per cent. bonds	566,981,150
Total coin bonds	$1,800,451,300
Lawful money debt	44,040,000
Matured debt	29,4 10 8
Legal-tender notes	372,941,079
Certificates of deposit	45,000,000
Fractional currency	6,794,478
Coin certificates	18,726,300
Interest	31,960,758
Total debt	$2,045,990,776
Cash in Treasury—
Coin	$79,840,058
Currency	14,213,262
Special deposits held for the redemption of certificates of deposit	45,000,000
Total in Treasury	$139,053,320
Debt less cash in Treasury	$1,917,137,132
Decrease since June 30, 1875	34,078
Decrease since June 30, 1875	10,771,981
Bonds issued to the Pacific Railways
Interest accrued and not paid	$64,623,512
Interest paid by the Treasury	1,855,262
Interest paid by the Railroads	48,262,877
Balance of interest paid by United States	16,360,635

On the 29th ult., in New England, the cold was very intense, the thermometer ranging from 30 to 47 degrees below zero. At Mount Washington the velocity of the wind was 170 miles an hour and the mercury sunk out of sight. One woman froze to death in Boston.

THE steamer Sunnyside, from Troy for New York, was cut in two by the ice near West Point, N. Y., on the morning of the 30th ult. Eleven persons were drowned, six of whom were waiters and chambermaids on the boat and the remainder passengers.

THE trustees of the Soldiers' Free Library, at Port Huron, Mich., and Brooklyn, N. Y., on the 29th. A Philadelphia dispatch of the 1st says the iron-clads at the Navy Yard are ready for service. The fleet consists of nine or ten vessels.

A COLLEGE occurred on the 1st between a passenger and freight train, near Hudson, N. Y., in consequence of which four persons were killed and a number of others seriously injured.

DEACON WEST has lately addressed a communication to the members of Plymouth Church, Brooklyn, requesting them to join with him in calling a mutual council to investigate the charges against Mr. Beecher.

THE National Grange of the Patrons of Husbandry installed its newly-elected officers on the evening of the 1st, and subsequently a resolution to adjourn at noon on the 2d.

THE Michigan State Grange will meet at Lansing on the 14th inst.

THE Senate passed, on 30th ult., Bill 283 to regulate the Presidential Electoral bill. All the Republican votes are allowed representation in the Assembly, except the convict colonies of Cayenne and Sing-sing.

PROF. THOMAS HEWITT KEY, the eminent English philologist, died in London on the 30th ult.

ADVICES from the African coast represent Liberia as likely to be overrun with native savages. The colonists had been defeated in an engagement and forced to leave their inland settlements and concentrate at Monrovia.

JOHN ADVOCATE GEN. HOLT, of the United States Army, has been retired and Assistant Advocate Gen. Wm. McKee Dunn appointed to succeed him.

THE changes in the several departments of the Government at Washington have been fixed at from nine a. m. to four p. m.

GEN. MEADE, Chief Signal-officer of the Army, in his annual report says that of the number of continuous signals displayed during the year 76 per cent. were afterward reported as received.

On the 26th ult. Gen. Babcock sent a dispatch to the United States Attorney at St. Louis, declaring his ignorance of any connection with the whisky frauds and demanding a hearing.

THE house of Albert Wood, at Pony Hollow, near Elmira, N. Y., was burned on the 26th ult., and his wife and three children perished in the flames.

THE Erie Canal and the Hudson River were frozen up on the 26th ult., and navigation was virtually closed for the season.

THE rubber shoe factory at Malden, Mass., and adjoining buildings were destroyed by fire on the 26th ult. Losses estimated at over $250,000. About 400 persons were thrown out of employment.

THE troubles among the Ute Indians growing out of the cattle raids by Mexicans were as bad as ever on the 30th ult.

THE Grand Jury of the United States District Court at St. Louis have recently indicted D. W. Munn, late Supervisor of Internal Revenue for the Illinois District, on charges of complicity with the whisky frauds.

A LONDON dispatch of the 1st says the Spanish authorities at Tenerife have had an American Protestant church and extablishment, and schoolmaster.

A TELEGRAM from Madrid of the 1st says the bar mine from Spain to the United States, which is declared to be the ultimatum, promises gradual emancipation and increased freedom of conveyance; that foreigners when arrested shall have an immediate hearing, and that legal redress shall be obtainable for past injuries.

ON the morning of the 30th ult. the wife of Hon. Hugh Childers was found dead in her bed at her husband's residence in London. A bottle containing chloroform, was found by her bedside.

INTELLIGENCE was received in Washington on the 30th ult. of the death of Hon. Benjamin F. Avery, American Minister to China.

THE annual report of the Superintendent of Public Printing shows that the total cost of printing, etc., for the Government for the year ending Sept. 30 last was $1,361,425. The Congressional Record cost $89,359 additional. There are 1,200 employes. In all the departments, with a monthly pay roll of $85,000. The compositors receive sixty cents per 1,000 ems, or $4.00 a day for eight hours' work.

A. E. WILSON, of Louisville, Ky., has been appointed Chief Clerk of the Treasury Department, to fill the vacancy created by W. O. Avery's resignation.

THE statement of the public debt Dec. 1 is as follows:

Six per cent. bonds	$1,693,866,500
Five per cent. bonds	566,981,150
Total coin bonds	$1,800,451,300
Lawful money debt	44,040,000
Matured debt	29,4 10 8
Legal-tender notes	372,941,079
Certificates of deposit	45,000,000
Fractional currency	6,794,478
Coin certificates	18,726,300
Interest	31,960,758
Total debt	$2,045,990,776
Cash in Treasury—
Coin	$79,840,058
Currency	14,213,262
Special deposits held for the redemption of certificates of deposit	45,000,000
Total in Treasury	$139,053,320
Debt less cash in Treasury	$1,917,137,132
Decrease since June 30, 1875	34,078
Decrease since June 30, 1875	10,771,981
Bonds issued to the Pacific Railways
Interest accrued and not paid	$64,623,512
Interest paid by the Treasury	1,855,262
Interest paid by the Railroads	48,262,877
Balance of interest paid by United States	16,360,635

On the 29th ult., in New England, the cold was very intense, the thermometer ranging from 30 to 47 degrees below zero. At Mount Washington the velocity of the wind was 170 miles an hour and the mercury sunk out of sight. One woman froze to death in Boston.

THE steamer Sunnyside, from Troy for New York, was cut in two by the ice near West Point, N. Y., on the morning of the 30th ult. Eleven persons were drowned, six of whom were waiters and chambermaids on the boat and the remainder passengers.

THE trustees of the Soldiers' Free Library, at Port Huron, Mich., and Brooklyn, N. Y., on the 29. A Philadelphia dispatch of the 1st says the iron-clads at the Navy Yard are ready for service. The fleet consists of nine or ten vessels.

A COLLEGE occurred on the 1st between a passenger and freight train, near Hudson, N. Y., in consequence of which four persons were killed and a number of others seriously injured.

DEACON WEST has lately addressed a communication to the members of Plymouth Church, Brooklyn, requesting them to join with him in calling a mutual council to investigate the charges against Mr. Beecher.

THE National Grange of the Patrons of Husbandry installed its newly-elected officers on the evening of the 1st, and subsequently a resolution to adjourn at noon on the 2d.

THE Michigan State Grange will meet at Lansing on the 14th inst.

THE Senate passed, on 30th ult., Bill 283 to regulate the Presidential Electoral bill. All the Republican votes are allowed representation in the Assembly, except the convict colonies of Cayenne and Sing-sing.

A MEETING of the Executive Committee of the Independent party was recently held in Chicago, at which Mr. S. M. Smith, of Kewaunee, Ill., presided. Resolutions were adopted—demanding the repeal of the Specie Resumption and National Bank acts; the establishment of a monetary system adapted to the demands of legitimate business; civil-service reform, etc., and calling for a delegate convention to be held at Indianapolis, May 17, 1876, to nominate candidates for President and Vice-President of the United States.

JOHN B. HOWARD, one of the parties charged with whisky fraud at Evansville, Ind., when before the court at Indianapolis on the 20, withdrew his former plea of not guilty, and entered a plea of guilty. Several minor members of the Evansville whisky ring had already confessed their guilt.

THE Bank of America, at New Orleans, suspended on the 1st.

THE Supreme Court of Wisconsin has lately rendered a former decision that the agent of an insurance company, authorized to take risks and issue policies against fire, may waive by parol any condition in a policy issued by him.

THE schooner J. G. Jenkins foundered in Lake Ontario, near Oswego, a few days ago and all on board, numbering nine persons, were lost.

THE MARKETS.

NEW YORK.

LIVE STOCK—Beef Cattle—$10.00@12.75. Hogs—Live $5.30@5.75. Sheep—Live $4.00@6.00.

BREADSTUFFS—Flour—Good to choice $5.50@6.00; white wheat extra, $6.00@8.00. Wheat—No. 2 Chicago, $1.02@1.05; No. 2 Northwestern, $1.06@1.07; No. 2 Milwaukee spring, $1.07@1.08; Western and State, $1.09@1.20. Barley—Canada, nominal. Wheat—Western, 60@65c. Rye—Dull. Corn—Mixed Western, 62@63c. Provisions—Pork—Mess, $22.25@22.50. Lard—Prime Steam (New), 12½@12¾c. Cheese—6@12½c.

WOOL—Domestic Fleece, 60@65c.

CHICAGO.

LIVE STOCK—Beeves—Choice, $5.85@6.40; good, $5.50@5.75; inferior, $4.25@5.50; butchers' stock, $2.75@4.00; stock cattle, $3.00@4.75. Hogs—Live, $5.15@5.70. Sheep—Live, choice, $4.85@5.00.

PRODUCE—Butter—Choice, 28@30c. Eggs—Fresh, 30@32c. Pork—Mess, $19.00@20.00. Lard—$12.30@12.35.

BREADSTUFFS—Flour—White Winter Extra $5.60@5.80; spring extra, $4.90@5.25. Wheat—spring, No. 2, $1.07@1.08. Corn—No. 2, 37½@38c. Oats—No. 2, 30@30½c. Rye—No. 2, 69@70c. Barley—No. 2, 83@85c.

LIVERPOOL—Flour and Scotch Type $9.00@ 40.00. Common Brands, $7.00@8.00. Spring, $7.00@13.00; "A" shipper, $8.75@9.00; Ohio, $7.75@8.00.

EAST LIBERTY.

LIVE STOCK—Beeves—Best, $6.00@6.50; second, $5.00@5.75. Hogs—Yorkers, $5.60@5.75; Philadelphias, $5.70@5.85. Sheep—Best, $5.00@5.25; second, $4.50@4.75.

Funeral of the Late Vice-President Wilson.

THE funeral services in Washington of the late Vice-President Henry Wilson took place in the Senate Chamber on the morning of the 23d.

The crowd in attendance was large, notwithstanding the weather was unfavorable, and many were unable to obtain admission to the building. The Senate Chamber was heavily draped in mourning, and the catafalque was placed immediately in front of the Vice-President's table. Seats were arranged on the floor for the President and his Cabinet, members of Congress, Judges of the Supreme Court, and other prominent persons who attended the services.

The casket containing the remains was brought into the room by twelve soldiers and placed upon the catafalque, two privates of the Marine Band standing at either end, at the head and the other at the footing of the coffin, and standing "at rest" during the entire service. The chair of the Vice President was vacant and heavily draped in mourning.

Among the numerous floral offerings on the casket in the Senate Chamber was a large monument bearing the following inscription:

Floral offering from the Senate, by the Rev. David Wolfe, for the funeral of the lamented Vice-President, the student, statesman, philanthropist and Christian, whose pure will ever live in the annals of his admiring country, and whose memory will be cherished by the wise and good, without respect to section or party.

Selections of Scripture were read by the Rev. Dr. Sunderland, after which the Rev. J. E. Rankin delivered an eloquent and touching prayer, after praying, by the Rev. Dr. Sunderland the coffin was closed and the funeral cortege was formed and proceeded to the depot of the Baltimore & Potomac Railroad. The funeral car in which the remains were conveyed to the depot was elaborately trimmed with black cloth and ornaments, and by the heavy black plumes. It was drawn by six white horses, caparisoned in black, each one led by a groom and bearing. Surrounding this car was a guard of honor, consisting of three non-commissioned officers and ten privates, under command of G. B. Haycock.

The casket having been placed on the platform at the depot, Senator Thurman, Chairman of the Committee of Arrangements, addressed the Massachusetts Committee, and consigned to them the remains of the Vice-President, Col. Wynne replying to the Senator's address. The body was then placed in the car and, accompanied by the Massachusetts delegation, the Congressional committees and a large number of other gentlemen, was taken to Baltimore, where a larger crowd was found in waiting at the depot. Notwithstanding a heavy and cold rain was falling at the time the streets for nearly two miles, extending from the Charles street depot to the City Hall, were crowded on both sides by people of all conditions, who waited in a solemn storm for more than an hour for the procession to come and go. The arrangements here were of the most systematic and satisfactory character. The Fifth Maryland Regiment formed the principal escort through the city, in full uniform and bearing their arms reversed. The hearse was drawn by four black horses led by grooms, and as the concourse passed through the city amidst the tolling of bells, the flagging at half-mast, and the music it was a mournful and impressive spectacle.

The casket was placed on a bier in the rotunda of the City Hall, and for an hour and a half a vast crowd passed through and took a last look at the features of the departed.

The remains arrived in Philadelphia at 10.40 p. m., where they were met by over 5,000 people and escorted to the State-House, the Second Regiment of the National Guards of Pennsylvania acting as the guard of honor. After the body had been transferred from the hearse to the hall, and placed in the room where the Declaration of Independence was signed, the doors were thrown open to the public. Although it was midnight thousands had waited for an opportunity to take a last look at the remains of the Vice-President, and a line which reached a distance of several blocks was formed and the throng room most passing in, and was almost continuous during the night until until 8 a. m., many persons being unable to gain admittance.

At eleven o'clock the body was placed in a hearse and taken to Independence Square for New York city, where it arrived about four p. m., and was met by five regiments of infantry, officers of the regular army, detachments of the National Guard, municipal governments and a large concourse of people, and escorted through the city to the depot en route for Boston.

The funeral cortege reached Boston at 10.30 on the morning of the 28th. Eight policemen in dress-uniform, who had been detailed for the purpose, bore the casket from the train to the Beach street entrance. Capt. Haycock, with his detachment of twelve marines who had accompanied the remains from Washington, together with the officers of the Fifth Maryland Regiment, marched on either side of the casket as a guarded honor.

Immense throngs lined the streets on the route to the State-House as the remains were conveyed thither, and the utmost quiet prevailed and great reverence was shown to the deceased by the crowds of people through which the procession passed.

Beetle Hall, where the body lay in state, was heavily but simply draped in black and white. On their arrival at the hall the remains were formally delivered to the State authorities, Gov. Gaston receiving them on behalf of the State in a few feeling remarks. The ceremonies of the occasion were of a solemn and impressive character, and not less than 30,000 people passed through the hall during the day and evening to take a last view of the features of the deceased statesman.

Imposing funeral services were held in the State-House on the morning of the 29th, at which were present the leading officials of the State and a large concourse of men from other States and a vast congregation of people. After prayer and the singing of a selection of sacred music a eulogium was preached by the Rev. J. M. Manning. The remains were then placed in a hearse and the cortége was shaped with black and white, and entwined with American flags. The car was drawn by six black horses, elegantly caparisoned with black, and with heavy black plumes.

At 2.29 p. m. the cortége started on its way to College Farm station. The cold was extraordinary, and many cases of illness of suffering to those in the procession. Nearly 5,000 troops were in the line, besides a large number of civilians. About five miles of carriages containing distinguished guests brought up the rear. The escort of military was one of the finest ever seen in Boston Thousands of people filled Beacon and the adjacent streets, and when the procession commenced to move it was with considerable difficulty that a sufficient passage was cleared. At Charles street the carriages formed in double line, and the procession was then at least a mile and a half in length.

The crowds which lined the thorough-fares traversed by the procession were continued even to the railroad station, where large numbers gathered at noon. A cold, biting wind was prevalent at the time of the departure of the funeral party, and the ceremonies attending the placing of the troops, and yet the multitude of spectators patiently stood their ground, and showed no impatience. After prayer the casket was quickly conveyed from the hearse to the train down through long tiered and platformed

THE SENTINEL.
CHARLEVOIX, MICH.
WILLARD A. SMITH,
Editor and Proprietor.

TUESDAY - - - DEC 14, 1875

Tweed's Escape.

Boss Tweed, New York's great ring head, escaped on Saturday evening, to parts unknown. It will be very difficult to reconcile any one that this keeper did not permit him to get away. No one has been found to his whereabouts, and his escapade is not to be expected.

Tweed was charged with defrauding the city out of $6,000,000. By a recent county contract in his favor by the Court of Appeals he was released from Black well's Island, where he was a prisoner on the lateral sums of the term, but he was held under a civil process and lodged in Ludlow street Jail in default of bail to the amount of $3,000,000. It is customary to allow prisoners on debt special privileges Tweed should on these latter. Being at large he could, it is said, sell property occasionally, at compound sacrifices, to pay claims. In ordinary cases such measures would be proper, but Tweed's case was exceptional. His known almost limitless wealth and character did not permit him to be kept nor confined by the common rules that govern ordinary prisoners. Where he has gone is not known, and seems to be said to be of little consequence. Where he has gone does not escape the reverent consideration. He has, it is said, $20,000, and in Sweden's banks $30,000 and if that does produce the power that tenderness is doubted, and they will leave part to find his cause.

Began, the natural jailer, says he was Tweed got up three or four steps of the stairway he overlooked, but is not sure that he went up the first flight. The boss was standing looking to the front for a trace of the flight he had fled. Tweed is known in very excellent condition, and he boasted of his father's escape. He pushed no love and caused that he was rescued, as did also Mr. Douglass, his son-in-law.

The police are still of the opinion that Tweed passed out of the front basement door, and was taken to Sycamore street and East River where he embarked in a small steam vessel.

It is said that the "Boss" did not get away on the last port ready for embarkation. He was well long stand as a warrant against public outcry. Once a man is respectable, he might have enjoyed the same if of no more fortune in power and influence, but it's been heard in their exchange of non-public duress. His chief cause was to circumvent either dead in prison or in exile. The way of the transgressor is hard.—Ex.

A Washington dispatch says the Republican members of the House were out of the Democratic caucus disgusted, the Democrats that about Greenback principles then left chance of action. Pendleton, of Texas, the Democratic caucus Committee on Congress, was consumed for Democratic Stewart, of Alexandria, Va., a leader in Jeb Stuart's cavalry received the nomination for Postmaster. There two officers control the mail of the patronage. The other officers were George M. Adam, of Kentucky, a member of the last House, as Clerk, and Thompson, of Ohio, for Sergeant-at-Arms.

In the provinces of Quebec and Ontario, Canada are nearly 300 postoffice savings banks, with deposits in the aggregate amounting to nearly $2,000,000. Postoffice saving banks are institutions not known in this country, though the propriety of establishing them is a question that has been more than once introduced in Congress.

Henry Watson is the second public officer who has died in the Capitol building. John Quincy Adams was the first. He was taken with a stroke of paralysis while a member of the House, and carried into the library room of the Justices of the Supreme Court, where he died.

There must much prospect of a fight with Spain not scattered over the horizon land are rumors to having bullies. Whose others suddenly get up at them in the night, as if they stood war, and as sudden it subsides in the morning, or a woman's waking. This is if you dare, you brute!

Orders have been received at the Portsmouth, N. H., navy yard to immediately fit out the Tuscarora.

Not Discouraging.

The Naval Establishment for November shows a decrease of more than two hundred and forty thousand dollars. The decrease in the debt for the four preceding months was $30,274,000 or over ten and one-quarter millions per month. The remainder is small compared to the large sum which attributed to the fact that during November there was disbursed for Army and Navy pensions over $5,000,000 more than in the month of October but much more appear if the four times greater than the reduction made in the corresponding month of last year. The entire reduction made in the public debt for the four months of the present fiscal year is $30,274,000 against $1,140,097 for the corresponding months of last year.

DR. A. TRASK'S
MAGNETIC OINTMENT
FOR THE CURE OF
INFLAMMATORY DISEASES.

Dr. Trask has exposed for twenty years the system of experimenting on the medical profession and has succeeded in producing a remedy combined. In the use of which he has not resorted to poisoning to himself, as the result of foreign elements. A combination of vegetable extracts the power of which in removing disease is published in the annals of healing.

His discovery consists in a combination of Magnetic Ointment and Electricity or magnetism in the form of an ointment.

Certain, it is then, that concentration and superabundant essence which has attended application in the cure of diseases, stamps it as one of the greatest discovery of the age, and calls for a trial and close investigation of its properties.

Cancer fails, while those remedies suffer a direct blow in failure, a curative and healthy action in the system, and the purification of the body, and expulsion of the diseased matter. By this means a corresponding power is gained over those additional forms of Cancer which exhaust or absorbed both are other remedies.

Such is the power of circumspection, that it penetrates to every portion of the human frame, every bone and tissue, vein, nerve and ligament in a manner not and make disease to yield to its healing influence. Hence it cures as readily when internal as external disease.

Numerous testimony we can exceed whose has received benefit to relief. He is so near the grave that the most powerful internal remedies failed to produce any effect, such has happily been the case. Influenza, Bronchitis, Asthma, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Piles, Fistula, Fever Sores, Ulcers, Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Sciatica, Sore Eyes, etc., will be immediately relieved by use of Dr. Trask's Magnetic Ointment.

Sold by Druggists, or sent by mail, on receipt of price, 50 cents per box, or five boxes for $2. Address DR. A. TRASK & CO., Prop'rs, Buffalo, N. Y.

"SHTOP A LEETLE!"

Spring Harbor,

HEAD OF PINE LAKE.

The Secret of Wonderful Growth and Success.

[illegible] If they on you once make a professional call,
Again in your life you'll be ill not at all.
If they call once or twice you'll then feel so clever,
You'll not die at all, but live on forever—
Charlevoix county and Spring Harbor Town.

[illegible] the "General" the sheet of [illegible]
[illegible] the men it doth always engage [illegible] Charlevoix county and Spring Harbor Town.

[illegible] Now I suppose you'd be glad to all
[illegible] How it happens there's no ambulance county and Spring Harbor Town.
[illegible] When the sunset I do give, you all say, cool as [illegible] Then there are the doctors they're two [illegible] the secret that leads to perfect success

[illegible] They get their goods cheaper than ever before.
[illegible] Charlevoix county and Spring Harbor Town. They buy all they use at NICHOLS' store.

YOU'RE CRAZY

TO PAY SUCH TERRIBLE PRICES FOR GOODS, WHEN BY CALLING AT THE

"REGULATOR"

You can purchase Dental and HERBY PER CENT. less than at any other place in the part of Charlevoix County. That is what we say at the "REGULATOR" We have lots of

NEW GOODS,

And more coming daily. We have Boots and Shoes for men; We have all kinds of Shoes for Ladies; we have Boots and shoes and all kinds of nice things for the little ones. We have all kinds of DRESS GOODS; we have all kinds of CLOTH to make clothes for the men and boys. We have

PORK AND FLOUR,

And all Kinds of Groceries such as

SUGARS,

TEAS,

COFFEES

SPICES,

OILS,

WE ALSO HAVE A LARGE ASSORTMENT OF

Farming Implements,

SUCH AS PLOWS SHOVEL PLOWS SCYTHS SNATHS RAKES FORKS, HOES CULTIVATORS AND DRAGS. ALSO AN ASSORTMENT OF

TINWARE.

So should buy cheaper than ever before, go to NICHOLS Store, on Pine Lake Avenue, where the store can be found all people, and more say that never before in [illegible] of goods are there [illegible] in the store of a store, where they [illegible] Charlevoix county and Spring Harbor Town. for more my friends than ever before by thirty per cent [illegible] your money. Examine well

TURN THE CRANK TO THE MACHINE

And tell your friends you wish to establish yourself with low prices that you must go to [illegible] to the Metropolitan Bank, Spring Harbor.

TRULY YOURS:

T. W. NICHOLS.

Carpenter & Bartholomew

Cheap Cash Store is just the Place to Buy Your Goods!

CARPENTER & BARTHOLOMEW'S

Standard Goods and Bottom Prices is their Motto.

South End of Bridge Street.

Charlevoix, Mich.

MEDICAL

HALL,

CHARLEVOIX,

JUST THE PLACE TO BUY

DRUGS

And Dye Stuffs,

JUST THE PLACE TO BUY

Patent Medicines

JUST THE PLACE TO BUY

Stationery, Ink and Pens
And Pocket Inkstands.

JUST THE PLACE TO BUY

Perfumes and Hair Oils
Flavoring Extracts and Toilet Goods.

JUST THE PLACE TO BUY

The Self-Adjusting Truss

JUST THE PLACE TO BUY

Prescriptions Compounded
At all hours—night or day.

A Full Supply of Dye Stuffs.

All goods sold as cheap, as by any house in Northern Michigan.

IN FACT just the place to get anything you want in the Drug line is here.

Cheap for Cash.

Few doors opposite Smackmon's Hardware store.

GEO. W. CROUTER.
Druggist and Chemist

THE STANCH PROPELLER

1875. 1875

A. C. VanRaalte

Capt. Alvin Dodge.

Will run during the season of 1875, as follows, between

Petoskey & Traverse City:

Will leave Petoskey at Cockell's a.m., on

Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays,

Arriving at Traverse City at ; returning the same morning. Will leave Traverse City at 6 o'clock p. m. on arriving at Petoskey the same evening, and touching at all intermediate ports on Grand Traverse Bay, both ways.

Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays,

Bristol Clothes Washer

SAVES THOUSANDS OF LIVES ANNUALLY.

Patented Nov. 16, 1869.

The only washline in the world that washes flannels and woolens without fulling. It is simple; has but two rollers; cannot possibly get out of order; and fits into any tub. Clothes cannot become entangled, and it will wash a bed-quilt or a wristband perfectly. It is noiseless, and does not wear or tear the clothes.

Sells at the Low Price of $7.50.

A child can work it easily. It washes four Shirts at once. Also Skirts, Collars, and Wristbands clean. It is the favorite everywhere. All who see this machine in operation exclaim

Joy to the World! Relief has Come!!

Everybody buying is satisfied with the Bristol Washer.

If not for sale in your place, send us $7.50 and we will send you a Washer by express, or, if you prefer, will send one C.O.D.

Agents wanted everywhere. For terms and illustrated circular address

BRISTOL WASHER CO.,
39 S. Water Str. Chicago.

700 000 ACRES

Of splendid bargains in the best

Farming Land

To Colonists on Improved or Unimproved Lands.

These lands are timbered with beech and maple, hard and soft wood, and are underlaid with limestone marl.

WATER AND RAIL.

And are so situated as to secure both. Every branch will be cleared and cash prices to suit purchasers at the East or West.

The Grand Rapids & Indiana Railroad runs through the center of the grant and the Grand Rapids & Indiana Railroad runs through the center of the grant

Not a Wilderness, But Ay Means containing a population of over seventy-five thousand people, and is connected by railroads with Grand Rapids, Muskegon, Holland, and Lake Shore cities in the State of Michigan.

Over 125,000 acres of the lands of this grant have already been sold!

The wealth of the country is in the soil, and now is the time to own a share of its wealth, while it can be had cheap.

50,000 Acres
In Charlevoix County.

For sale at from $2 to $10 per acre, according to location and quality.

Send for our illustrated pamphlet.

Address W. A. HOWARD,
Commissioner
Bureau of Land Department,
Grand Rapids, Mich.

DRUGS and MEDICINE

DR. LEWIS

Thanks for favors to the inhabitants Charlevoix and vicinity for past patronage and solicits a continuance of the same. He has

JUST RECEIVED

A large stock of medicines, such as

Fluid Extracts,
Tinctures,
Essences
Oils of all kinds,
Gums,
Perfumery, etc

PATENT MEDICINES.

A large stock, such as Ayer's Sarsaparilla, Southern Persimmon Bitters, Sage's and Herrick's.

A Full Supply of Dye Stuffs.

All goods sold as cheap, as by any house in Northern Michigan.

I Keep What I Advertise.

THE SENTINEL

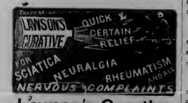
JOB PRINTING

DEPARTMENT

COMPLETE

PLAIN and COLORED WORK

Promptly and Neatly Done



Lawson's Curative

HAS been in use seven fifteen years, for the permanent and positive cure of Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Sciatica, and inflammatory diseases. Externally applied, it gives immediately relief from pain. Three doses or two bottles taken internally removes every shade of the disease. We have cured Rheumatism of fifteen years standing, where all other remedies have failed. We have seen those worn out with suffering from relieved from pain in a few hours, then permanently cured, so to effect even the disease has never returned. This Curative destroys the poison in the blood which causes the disease. MALARIA is subdued by its action, with a tonic of Quassia in it blood, so it destroys the virus and prevents the formation of the poisonous poisons. It cures DYSPEPSIA, as it prevents acid fermentation of the food and promotes digestion; cures that painful eructation which makes relief in Rum drinking. The Quassia does away DROWSY AND APATHY, and cures every SPECIES OF INFLAMED EYES, by its external application. Those who have used it know what we say is strictly true; others can find out if they will write to us.

NEURALGIA, SCIATICA, NERVOUS AND SICK HEADACHE,

Price ONE DOLLAR PER BOTTLE. If not for sale by your Druggists, send to this Office, and we will send you a bottle by express, prepaid.

LAWSON GERRARD 90s Cleveland, Ohio

Another Libel Suit.

The following correction note has been addressed by Ex-Senator Carpenter to the editor of the Chicago Tribune:

You have seen fit to charge in substance or publish communications which in substance charge me with having been a member, or organizer of, or connected with what you choose to denominate the whiskey ring in Milwaukee; by which course readers will understand, as you intend they shall, that I was either a knowing participant in the fruit of frauds upon the internal revenue laws of the United States.

I am now very much engaged in attending to the taking of depositions in the United States Circuit Court here in suits in which I am the solicitor knows his business so well. Hence what I say, for the truth I do tell [illegible] is murdered and left in his gore [illegible] gets you the cross two or three days before.

In Charlevoix county and Spring Harbor Town.

Now I suppose you'd be glad to all [illegible] How it happens there's no ambulance county and Spring Harbor Town.

When the sunset I do give, you all say, cool as

The matter that leads to perfect success [illegible] They get their goods cheaper than ever before.

[illegible] Charlevoix county and Spring Harbor Town. They buy all they use at NICHOLS' store.

Rumors of War.

The Secretary of the War has of late been placing our navy on good war footing ordering new iron clads and making every preparation as if for war. In this country a large newspapers are alive to every armament and ready to tickle the public ear with something new and startling. It has not taken long to spread the rumor that these apparently hostile preparations build a war with some of the great nations of Europe and even Asia.

According to the surmises of one, war was to be declared with England over fishery disputes, then it was Spain, the German Empire and finally China.

None of these newspaper guesses have been considered as yet in the powers that be. But the war like preparation costs a all the same.

These preparations do not necessarily indicate that war is an expected contingency, but it does indicate that our government does not propose to repose entire confidence in universal peace and tranquility, while other nations are fitting out iron clads and improving their naval armaments. At the close of the late civil war the navy of the United States was in good condition, but since that time many vessels have been condemned and sold and no effort has been made to keep the navy in that condition which our extended sea coast seems to demand. Meantime powers lasting not a mile of the exposed sea coast presented in this country, have about on the high seas naval armaments far superior to ours and in the event of hostilities could sack and destroy our shipping and seaboard cities before we could make adequate preparations for defense.

There is not that need for land forces as we have scattered all over the country the veterans of the late war who would form an army of experienced fighters in short order, rendering a large standing army an unnecessary evil.

The journals best qualified to judge consider our present naval preparations as but made to keep peace with other more time powers who are constantly increasing their navies, and not to an immediate prospect of war.—Ex.

The Charles Francis Adams Club of Indianapolis is discussing the question whether or not it would be better for a lien to have five lives.

Sinkey, the great homeopathist sinner, keeps better time than he did. Pic-Brooklyn revival phour presented him with a beautiful watch just before his departure.

Charles Francis Adams has been quoted as saying that the one thing necessary to a revival of business in this country is a revival of religion.

Vice-President Wilson left an estate which will hardly reach an estimate of $5 000 but the riches he left in a good name and worthy example are immeasurable.

A rural wrote of the Wallace sisters who are making a tour of this state. "They fell three parts perfectly." That reads like reflex to believe he wrote "quite."

Much of Josiah's success is said to be due to the fact that he talks and acts like a merchant with 500 barrels of beef which he is determined to sell quick for cash. He makes a business of it

When a Chicago man gets mad he becomes unreasonable. A merchant's wife in that place eloped with a lawyer, and when the shipping person returned after an absence of six weeks, the merchant proceeded to shake hands with the lawyer until he had apologized!

Dr. J. Walker's California Vinegar Bitters are a purely Vegetable preparation, made chiefly from the native herbs found on the lower ranges of the Sierra Nevada mountains of California, the medicinal properties of which are extracted therefrom without the use of Alcohol. The question is almost daily asked, "What is the cause of the unparalleled success of VINEGAR BITTERS?" Our answer is, that they remove the cause of disease, and the patient recovers in health. They are the great blood purifier and a life-giving principle, a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the system. Never before in the history of the world has a medicine been compounded possessing the remarkable qualities of Vinegar Bitters in curing the sick of every disease man is heir to. They are a gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver and Visceral Organs in Bilious Diseases.

The properties of DR. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS are Aperient, Diaphoretic, Carminative, Nutritious, Laxative, Diuretic, Sedative Counter-Irritant, Sudorific, Alterative and Anti-Bilious.

WARRANTED FIVE YEARS!

It requires no Instructions to run it. It can not get out of order.
It will do every class and kind of work.
It will sew from Tissue Paper to Harness Leather.

In so far in advance of other Sewing Machines in the magnitude of its superior improvements, as a Steam Car excells in achievements the old fashioned Stage Coach.

Prices made to suit the Times,
Either for Cash or Credit.

Send for Illustrated Catalogue of STYLES and PRICES. AGENTS WANTED.

Address: WILSON SEWING MACHINE CO.
CLEVELAND, OHIO, CHICAGO, ILL., NEW YORK, N. Y.,
NEW ORLEANS, LA., ST. LOUIS, MO.

NORWOOD.

F. J. MEECH & Co

NORWOOD, MICH.,

DEALERS IN

DRY GOODS,

Groceries and Provisions,

Also Manufacturers of

HARDWOOD LUMBER,

Lath and Shingles.

FALL & WINTER.

1875-6.

Stacks and Stacks

OF

NEW GOODS!

ON THE SHELVES AND IN THE WAREHOUSE

AT

Fox, Rose & Buttars,

IN EVERY DEPARTMENT
We are supplied
With the Best
THAT THE
Wholesale Markets Afford.

WE ARE BETTER PREPARED THAN EVER TO SUPPLY THE WANTS OF OUR CUSTOMERS, AND BETTER PREPARED

To Sell Cheap.

IT IS UNNECESSARY

To Enumerate Articles;

WE SELL

What You Want,

Be Your Wants Ever So Numerous.

Abstract of the Postmaster-General's Report.

The Postmaster-General's annual report shows the receipts for the year ending June 30, 1875, to be $27,441,380 and expenditures $29,011,586. The receipts exceed those of 1874 by $1,000,000, and the expenditures have been $3,000,000 less than the estimate. The deficiency, $1,570,206, has been met by the Treasury, and $1,570,206 has been charged to the account of the service of the ensuing year. The number of money-order offices has increased from 1,722 to 1,917, and the number of depositors in the Savings-Bank system from 61,024 to 74,000. The number of letters registered was 5,240,000, and the number of registered letters lost 1,000, or one in 5,240. The number of letters delivered was 1,083,000,000, and the number lost 1,083, or one in 1,000,000. The Postmaster-General recommends the establishment of a postal telegraph system. He estimates the gross revenue from such a system at $10,000,000, the gross expenditure at $8,000,000, leaving a net revenue of $2,000,000. He also recommends the establishment of a postal savings-bank system, and the reduction of the rate of postage on newspapers to one cent per pound.

The Postmaster-General in correspondence with the Director of the Census on the subject of the increase of the population since 1870 says that the returns of the Post-Office Department indicate a larger increase than the census returns show. The number of post-offices in 1870 was 28,492; in 1875, 33,073. The Postal Guide contains 2,000 more names of American towns than the census returns.

The report shows the operations of the various bureaus of the department, embodying which many of the recommendations of previous reports.

The Money-Order Department has issued 3,000,000 orders, amounting to $24,000,000, and paid 2,500,000 orders, amounting to $20,000,000. The business done in settling orders than that of the cross-drew and six-thousandths per cent. was charged on the business to be settled. The increase of labor on account of the issue of orders on New York and San Francisco, which cause over the boundaries in the United States, has been considerable, and the clerical force will be increased where necessary to accomplish that purpose.

The Postmaster-General in his report of 1874 recommended the discontinuance of the franking privilege, and in this he is sustained by the vote of the people. The franking privilege is abused to the extent of $1,000,000 per annum. The Postmaster-General recommends that the franking privilege be abolished, and that the Government do its own carrying. The Postmaster-General has also recommended the abolition of the franking privilege of members of Congress, and the substitution of a limited number of envelopes, postage-free, for each member. The number of envelopes would be 1,000 for each member, and 10,000 for each Senator. The cost of the envelopes would be $10,000 per annum, and the saving to the Government would be $1,000,000 per annum.

The Postmaster-General has also recommended the abolition of the franking privilege of officers of the Government, and the substitution of a limited number of envelopes to each officer, the number to be fixed by the Postmaster-General

Abstract of the Postmaster-General's Report.

The Postmaster-General's annual report shows the receipts of the Department for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1876, to be $24,045,264. The receipts exceed those of 1875 1.75 per cent. and the expenditures 4.07 10. The actual amount drawn from the Treasury was $1,19,329, or $561,666 less than the appropriation. The estimated foreignmails of mission were 1,785,000 letters, 1,000,000 postal cards, 1,000,000 newspapers, and 600,000 packages. The actual number of mails transported was 1,000

...mencement M R Warner, recently ...ce on Fox Island Lake Michigan, has ...ck there. All he wants is food ...ore in the present cabin in the woods ...he Straits have been mixed except ...salmon Pete Amos sold privately by ...ed boat.

"How" [illegible] the treacherous thief ...ke of Glass, has gone his ways ...to the custody of the New York officials ...to be hoped that in [illegible] will ...ment properly belongs and the guilty ...punished. If ever a man deserved ...ging it [illegible] And if there were ...contract at one cent per rope to [illegible]

Strange, but true.

It is a common joke nowadays with ...correspondents, Dick, Sam, Tom, Harry ...every character in fiction and history ...ing all sorts of trade-boasting which ...they know has raised their weight, ...relative per [illegible] to their ...[illegible] Now, I am not going to ...Hoosgow, Hop Bitters, or any other ...ine, but simply to tell you what ...Compound Extract of Smartweed ...cures when it comes to [illegible] ...Sprague, Jackson, Mich., ...[illegible] ...[illegible] ...[illegible]

THE SENTINEL.

WILLARD A. SMITH, Editor and Proprietor.

CHARLEVOIX. MICHIGAN.

THE NEWS.

ACCORDING to a Madrid dispatch of the 5th the experiences of the Spanish army in the north had been greatly retarded by the immense quantities of snow which had fallen.

A LONDON dispatch of the 6th announces that the French steamer Amerique had not been heard from for several days. She had been spoken some time before from in latitude 47.40, longitude 12, at which time she was in a disabled condition. An English war steamer had been sent out to see if anything could be learned of her fate.

IN consequence of an explosion of fire damp in the Powell Duffryn colliery, near Tredyrsir, England, on the 5th, twenty pitmen were killed and ten severely injured.

A PANIC occurred in the 4th ward of the United States Woolsorne hall departed for Turkey on a three months' leave of absence.

IN a caucus of the Democratic members of the House of Representatives held in Washington on the afternoon of the 4th, S. E. Kerr, of Indiana, was appointed Speaker. The first ballot stood: Kerr, 71; Randall, 59; Cox, 31; Saylor, 1. Second ballot: Kerr, 77; Randall, 63; Cox, 31; Saylor, 1. Third ballot: Kerr, 90; Randall, 61; Cox, 7; Saylor, 1—Kerr receiving nine votes more than enough to make a choice. The other caucus nominations were: For Clerk, Geo. M. Adams, of Kentucky; Sergeant-at-Arms, John H. Thompson, of Ohio; Doorkeeper, L. H. Fitzhugh, of Texas; Postmaster, James Stuart, of Virginia; Chaplain, Rev. L. L. Townsend (Episcopalian), of Washington. The Republican members canvassed the same day and nominated all the old members of the House, including Mr. Blaine for Speaker.

PRESIDENT GRANT on the 6th designated Gens. Sheridan, Hancock and Terry as a military court of inquiry to investigate the charges against Gen. Babcock, to sit in Chicago. Col. Gardiner Professor of Law at West Point, was designated to act as Judge-Advocate.

SUSAN DIXON, the actress, died at Hoffman, Ind., on the 4th, from injuries received from a fall while performing some weeks ago on the stage at Indianapolis.

NEW YORK was greatly excited on the evening of the 4th by the announcement that Wm. M. ("Boss") Tweed had escaped from the custody of Warden Jamison, of Ludlow Street Jail. The Warden had accompanied the prisoner to the residence of Mrs. Tweed, and while there had consented to his request for a private interview with his wife in an upper apartment, Dunham and his deputy remaining below in company with one of Tweed's sons. After waiting ten or fifteen minutes the Warden sent the son to call his father to come down at once, and the young man soon returned with the statement that his father had disappeared. The house was searched, but no trace of the "Boss" could be found. The police authorities were notified of the escape and detectives were sent out and scoured the city in all directions. Sheriff Connolly offered a reward of $10,000 for the arrest of the escaped prisoner. Up to the morning of the 6th no clew to his whereabouts had been found.

POLICE-COMMISSIONER Matsell had no theory in regard to the escape, but in his opinion there was collusion somewhere. A New York special of the 5th says Gov. Tilden had notified Sheriff Connolly that he should hold him personally responsible for Tweed's escape.

A TERRIBLE explosion occurred on the 6th at the Swarbrook coal-mines, near Barnesley, in Yorkshire, England, in consequence of which 180 lives were lost. The explosion resulted from careless blasting operations.

WILLIAM SPOTTEN & CO., linen manufacturers and bleachers, of Belfast and London, failed on the 6th with liabilities estimated at $2,500,000.

A VIENNA dispatch of the 6th says snow had fallen in such quantities as to interrupt communication between Issly and Hungary.

THE Carlist Gen. Tristany, according to a Bordaye dispatch of the 6th, had received Cabrera and issued a proclamation exhorting the people to rise.

UP to the 6th the Indian Commissioners'exhibit had been offered to seven men, all of whom had declined it on account, it is said, of the immense amount of labor and the meager salary attached to the position.

J. D. WARD, United States District Attorney for the Northern District of Illinois, resigned on the 6th, to complete a contract for the supply of coal given to the investigation, and tendering him their extent and confidence. A dispatch announces the appointment of ex-Senator Henderson, of counsel for the prosecution, in consequence of an alleged attack upon the President of his address to the jury at the time of Avery's conviction. Subsequently the revocation of his commission was suspended in advance of copy and the newspapers had issued extras containing that portion relating to Cuban affairs and discussion of the question of belligerent rights.

A LONDON dispatch of the 7th says the steamer Intaglio had gone ashore on Long Sands, off the coast of Essex, England, during a heavy northeast storm. About fifty of the passengers and crew were supposed to have been drowned. The remainder had been landed at Harwich.

JOHN Q. SMITH, formerly Member of Congress from Ohio, was appointed Commissioner of Indian Affairs on the 7th and accepted the position.

THE German Up-Town Savings Bank of New York City suspended on the 7th, with liabilities estimated at $800,000. It is said the officers expect to pay at least eighty cents on the dollar.

THE London Times of the 8th, in an editorial on President Grant's message, says: "If Spain cannot suppress the Cuban rebels it would be hard to expect the United States to let the work of devastation proceed unchecked out of regard to the municipal sovereignty of Spain over the island. The limits of her power to restore order will be the limits of her rights."

THE production of coal in the anthracite regions of Pennsylvania has been suspended from Dec. 18 to Jan. 22, and possibly until the opening of navigation; if so, all storage will be consumed previous to supply.

AT the Council of the Union League of America, held in Philadelphia on the 8th, a declaration of principles was adopted, as follows: That the credit of the Government must be maintained at home and abroad; that such improvements as shall benefit commerce and labor be granted by the Government; that public schools should be fostered and protected from sectarian interference, that the civil and State rights must be maintained, and that all citizens of the United States shall be accorded all rights, civil and religious, provided they obey the letter and spirit of the law and support the Government.

A DAVENPORT (Iowa) observer on girl named Mary Ann Kinnell, aged 19 years, was burned to death in a fire with kerosene oil on the morning of the 5th, and was terribly burned.

A SECRET CONVENTION of thieves was held at Columbus on the 8th, to consider the vagrant-tramp question. Seventy-eight delegates were present. Resolutions were offered declaring that the existence in Ohio of tramps has become a crowing evil that can only be eradicated by giving to communities employment; to this end the plan of establishing work-houses in all cities and towns sufficiently large to maintain them is recommended, and additional legislation by which any district composed of one or more townships may be authorized to erect such houses, or to form chain gangs, is to be asked for, that magistrates be given authority to arrest all vagrants and, upon conviction, commit them to the work-houses; that this system of work-houses to be effective must extend over the whole State, that the furnishing of free lodging places to tramps from one point to another is disapproved of; that after work-houses are established private charity to beggars should entirely cease, and that the proper authorities should be authorized to empty persons committed to the work-houses on the public highways or at other labor outside the work-house.

HON. DR. MCLAREN, the new Bishop of Chicago, was consecrated in that city on the 8th, in the Episcopal Diocese of Illinois, was formally consecrated on the 8th. The ceremonies occurred in Chicago, and were of a solemn and imposing character. The consecration sermon was preached by Bishop Welles, of Wisconsin.

ACCORDING to a Madrid dispatch of the 9th the Spanish newspapers had variously commented upon President Grant's message, but all declare that his utterances on the most alarming data heretofore, and do not believe that intervention is intended. Gen. Sabalis, according to a Washington dispatch of the 8th, had been sentenced by court-martial to four years' imprisonment for treason.

AN explosion of fire-damp in the coal mine in all drifts, near Lens, in France, on the 9th, caused the death of six miners.

IN the French Assembly on the 9th Jules Simon gave notice of a bill to restore to five Senators who are to hold office for life. Duc d'Audiffret Pasquier, the President of the Assembly, and M. Martel, First Vice-President, were the only ones elected. The Left developed unexpected strength, their vote averaging 325 against 347 cast for the candidates of the Right.

THE Prince of Lippe Detmold died on the 9th.

THE Moody and Sankey meeting in Brooklyn on the night of the 9th was largely attended, 8,000 or 9,000 persons being present. A large number of people visited the inquiry-room.

THE Pittsburg distillers of the Kentucky State Grange, elected at Louisville on the 9th, were: Master, M. D. Darby; Overseer, D. D. Stone; Lecturer, John D. Smith; Treasurer, J. W. Clark; Secretary, Eugene Barnes; Executive Committee, P. Gano, J. H. Harris, Richard Watson.

AT St. Louis, on the 9th, the Federal Jury in the United States District Court voted—seventeen to two—to indict Gen. Babcock for conspiracy to defraud the revenue. The jury addressed a letter to ex-Dist.-Atty. Patrick and ex-United States Marshal Newcomb intimating that not evidence had been brought out implicating them in the frauds. They also inclined a letter to the President thanking him for the support he had given to the investigation, and tendering him their esteem and confidence. A dispatch announces the appointment by the Attorney-General.

A MADRID telegram of the 7th, dated Midnight, says a summary of the message of President Grant, sent by cable, had caused great excitement in that city, and was the occasion of a hasty meeting of the Cabinet. The streets were crowded and the newspapers had issued extras containing that portion relating to Cuban affairs and discussion of the question of belligerent rights.

A LONDON dispatch of the 7th says the steamer Intaglio had gone ashore on Long Sands, off the coast of Essex, England, during a heavy northeast storm. About fifty of the passengers and crew were supposed to have been drowned. The remainder had been landed at Harwich.

JOHN Q. SMITH, formerly Member of Congress from Ohio, was appointed Commissioner of Indian Affairs on the 7th and accepted the position.

SUSAN DIXON, the actress, died at Hoffman, Ind., on the 4th, from injuries received from a fall while performing some weeks ago on the stage at Indianapolis.

NEW YORK was greatly excited on the evening of the 4th by the announcement that Wm. M. ("Boss") Tweed had escaped from the custody of Warden Jamison, of Ludlow Street Jail. The Warden had accompanied the prisoner to the residence of Mrs. Tweed, and while there had consented to his request for a private interview with his wife in an upper apartment, Dunham and his deputy remaining below in company with one of Tweed's sons. After waiting ten or fifteen minutes the Warden sent the son to call his father to come down at once, and the young man soon returned with the statement that his father had disappeared. The house was searched, but no trace of the "Boss" could be found. The police authorities were notified of the escape and detectives were sent out and scoured the city in all directions. Sheriff Connolly offered a reward of $10,000 for the arrest of the escaped prisoner. Up to the morning of the 6th no clew to his whereabouts had been found. Police-Commissioner Matsell had no theory in regard to the escape, but in his opinion there was collusion somewhere. A New York special of the 5th says Gov. Tilden had notified Sheriff Connolly that he should hold him personally responsible for Tweed's escape.

A TERRIBLE explosion occurred on the 6th at the Swarbrook coal-mines, near Barnesley, in Yorkshire, England, in consequence of which 180 lives were lost. The explosion resulted from careless blasting operations.

WILLIAM SPOTTEN & CO., linen manufacturers and bleachers, of Belfast and London, failed on the 6th with liabilities estimated at $2,500,000.

A VIENNA dispatch of the 6th says snow had fallen in such quantities as to interrupt communication between Issly and Hungary.

THE Carlist Gen. Tristany, according to a Bordaye dispatch of the 6th, had received Cabrera and issued a proclamation exhorting the people to rise.

UP to the 6th the Indian Commissioners'exhibit had been offered to seven men, all of whom had declined it on account, it is said, of the immense amount of labor and the meager salary attached to the position.

J. D. WARD, United States District Attorney for the Northern District of Illinois, resigned on the 6th, to complete a contract for the supply of coal given to the investigation, and tendering him their extent and confidence. A dispatch announces the appointment by the Attorney-General.

A MADRID telegram of the 7th, dated Midnight, says a summary of the message of President Grant, sent by cable, had caused great excitement in that city, and was the occasion of a hasty meeting of the Cabinet. The streets were crowded and the newspapers had issued extras containing that portion relating to Cuban affairs and discussion of the question of belligerent rights.

A LONDON dispatch of the 7th says the steamer Intaglio had gone ashore on Long Sands, off the coast of Essex, England, during a heavy northeast storm. About fifty of the passengers and crew were supposed to have been drowned. The remainder had been landed at Harwich.

JOHN Q. SMITH, formerly Member of Congress from Ohio, was appointed Commissioner of Indian Affairs on the 7th and accepted the position.

THE German Up-Town Savings Bank of New York City suspended on the 7th, CONGRESSIONAL PROCEEDINGS.

THE Senate of the fifty-fourth Congress was called to order at twelve o'clock on the 6th, by the President protem. Senator Ferry, of Michigan. After prayer by the chaplain the credentials of David W. Voorhees, elected to succeed the late Andrew Johnson, of Tennessee, were presented, and he was sworn in. Mr. Bassett formally announced the death of Vice-President Wilson. The House was called to order by Mr. McPherson, Clerk of the Forty-third Congress. Two hundred and eighty-six members answered to their names. The oath to the Speaker was then administered to Mr. Blaine, the nominee of the Democratic caucus, by J. G. Blaine, Sr., swearing in Mr. Kerr was conducted to the chair, and extended thanks in a few terse, pointed, appropriate, and impartiality toward all. The oath of office was administered to the Speaker by Mr. Kelley, of Pennsylvania, as the oldest in continuous service of the House, and the Speaker elect administered the oath to the members. The resolution of the Democratic caucus for the unseating of the Hayes were then offered by resolution, and, on motion of a resolution was adopted that the House of Representatives of the Forty-third Congress be the rules of the present House, except Rules 10 and 50, and also providing for the appointment of a committee on Rules, to consist of the Speaker and four members. Rules 10 and 50 are those adopted in the last Congress regarding motions to amend the rules to be seconded by a majority, and forbidding the introduction of new business motions. The usual committees to notify the Senate and President were appointed.

ON the 7th the Presidents' message was read in the Senate and ordered printed. Jamin E. Ralph was sworn in as Senator from Tennessee, vice to place of G. W. Terry, deceased. The drawing of seats took place in the House, after which the President's message was read and ordered printed. A petition of W. H. Fogg and others, of South Carolina, with reference to the right of the Child Congressional District of that State, was presented and referred. The House adjourned to the 10th.

ON the 8th a large number of memorials were presented in the Senate, among them one from Ivel entreating Congress to pass a bill for an appropriation of $1,500,000. Among the bills introduced was one by Mr. Morton to provide for and regulate the counting of votes for President and Vice-President, and the disposition of questions arising thereon. Mr. Sherman also submitted a joint resolution to amend the Constitution of the United States so as to direct the President and Vice-President by a direct vote of the people and to abolish the Electoral College.

ON the 9th the Standing and Select Committees were announced in the Senate. A letter was presented from W. L. McMillan asking permission to withdraw his credentials, as Senator elect from Louisiana by the McEnery Legislature, and an order was submitted that the request be granted, but objection being made it was laid over. Among the bills introduced and referred was one by Mr. Thurman limiting the payment of duties on imports in legal tender and National Bank notes, after July 1, 1875. Adjourned to the 10th.

THE MARKETS.

NEW YORK.

LIVE STOCK.—Beef Cattle—$10@$12.45. Hogs—Live, $5.60@7.75. Sheep—Live, $4.50@6.60.

BREADSTUFFS.—Flour—Low to choice, $5.50@6.90; white wheat-extra, $6.90@8.60. Wheat—No 2 Chicago, $1.08@1.08½. Corn—No 2 Mixed, $1.05@1.06; No. 2 Milwaukee spring, $1.03@1.04. Rye—Western and State, 82@86c. Barley—$1.00@1.15. Corn—Mixed Western, 79@80c. Oats—Mixed Western, 42@43c.

PROVISIONS.—Pork—Mess, $17.12@18.50. Lard—Prime Steam (New), 12½@12¾c. Cheese—6@13½c.

WOOL.—Domestic Fleece, 49@56c.

CHICAGO.

LIVE STOCK.—Beeves—Choice, $5.50@5.75; good, $5.00@5.40; medium, $4.00@4.90; common stock, $2.75@3.60; stock cattle, $3.00@3.75. Hogs—Live, $4.85@5.00. Sheep—Good to choice, $5.00@5.50.

PROVISIONS.—Butter—Choice, 25@26c. Eggs—Fresh, 22@23c. Lard—$12.35@12.40. Pork—Mess, $16.75@16.90. Lard—$12.35@12.40.

BREADSTUFFS.—Flour—White Winter Extra, $6.25@6.50; good to choice, $5.90@6.25. Wheat—Spring, No 2, $1.01@1.01½. Corn—No 2, 65¾@66c. Oats—No 2, 38@38½c. Rye—No 2, 68@69c. Barley—No 2, 87½@88c.

LOUISVILLE.—Flour—Family, $5.00@5.50. Wheat—Red, $1.00@1.05. Corn—White, 70@72c. Oats—Mixed, 40@42c. Rye—No 2, 80@82c. Barley—No 2, 87½@88c.

CINCINNATI.—Flour—Family, $5.50@6.00. Wheat—No 2 Red Winter, $1.08@1.09. Corn—No 2 Mixed, 72@73c. Oats—No 2 Mixed, 43@44c. Rye—No 2, 80@81c. Barley—No 2 Spring, 90@92c.

TOLEDO.—Wheat—No 2 Red Winter, $1.08@1.09. Corn—Mixed Western, 73@74c. Oats—Mixed Western, 42@43c. Rye—No 2, 80@81c. Barley—No 2 Spring, 90@92c.

DETROIT.—Wheat—No 2 Red, $1.08@1.09. Corn—Mixed Western, 73@74c. Oats—Mixed Western, 42@43c. Rye—No 2, 80@81c. Barley—No 2 Spring, 90@92c.

MILWAUKEE.—Wheat—No 1, $1.08@1.09. Corn—Mixed Western, 73@74c. Oats—Mixed Western, 42@43c. Rye—No 2, 80@81c. Barley—No 2 Spring, 90@92c.

ST. LOUIS.—Beef Cattle—$10@$12.45. Hogs—Live, $5.60@7.75. Sheep—Live, $4.50@6.60.

BREADSTUFFS.—Flour—Low to choice, $5.50@6.90; white wheat-extra, $6.90@8.60. Wheat—No 2 Chicago, $1.08@1.08½. Corn—No 2 Mixed, $1.05@1.06; No. 2 Milwaukee spring, $1.03@1.04. Rye—Western and State, 82@86c. Barley—$1.00@1.15. Corn—Mixed Western, 79@80c. Oats—Mixed Western, 42@43c.

PROVISIONS.—Pork—Mess, $17.12@18.50. Lard—Prime Steam (New), 12½@12¾c. Cheese—6@13½c.

WOOL.—Domestic Fleece, 49@56c.

CHICAGO.

LIVE STOCK.—Beeves—Choice, $5.50@5.75; good, $5.00@5.40; medium, $4.00@4.90; common stock, $2.75@3.60; stock cattle, $3.00@3.75. Hogs—Live, $4.85@5.00. Sheep—Good to choice, $5.00@5.50.

PROVISIONS.—Butter—Choice, 25@26c. Eggs—Fresh, 22@23c. Lard—$12.35@12.40. Pork—Mess, $16.75@16.90. Lard—$12.35@12.40.

BREADSTUFFS.—Flour—White Winter Extra, $6.25@6.50; good to choice, $5.90@6.25. Wheat—Spring, No 2, $1.01@1.01½. Corn—No 2, 65¾@66c. Oats—No 2, 38@38½c. Rye—No 2, 68@69c. Barley—No 2, 87½@88c.

LOUISVILLE.—Flour—Family, $5.00@5.50. Wheat—Red, $1.00@1.05. Corn—White, 70@72c. Oats—Mixed, 40@42c. Rye—No 2, 80@82c. Barley—No 2, 87½@88c.

CINCINNATI.—Flour—Family, $5.50@6.00. Wheat—No 2 Red Winter, $1.08@1.09. Corn—No 2 Mixed, 72@73c. Oats—No 2 Mixed, 43@44c. Rye—No 2, 80@81c. Barley—No 2 Spring, 90@92c.

TOLEDO.—Wheat—No 2 Red Winter, $1.08@1.09. Corn—Mixed Western, 73@74c. Oats—Mixed Western, 42@43c. Rye—No 2, 80@81c. Barley—No 2 Spring, 90@92c.

DETROIT.—Wheat—No 2 Red, $1.08@1.09. Corn—Mixed Western, 73@74c. Oats—Mixed Western, 42@43c. Rye—No 2, 80@81c. Barley—No 2 Spring, 90@92c.

MILWAUKEE.—Wheat—No 1, $1.08@1.09. Corn—Mixed Western, 73@74c. Oats—Mixed Western, 42@43c. Rye—No 2, 80@81c. Barley—No 2 Spring, 90@92c.

"Boss" Tweed Escapes From the Custody of His Jailers.

NEW YORK, Dec. 4.

This evening, about 7:15, Wm. M. Tweed escaped from the custody of officers while on a visit to his wife at the old home, corner of Madison avenue and Fifteenth street.

It seems that for several weeks back Mr. Tweed has been taken from Ludlow Street Jail to his home, about six o'clock, where he remained a short time with his family. On this occasion Tweed asked the officers to partake in a lunch—a request usually complied with on his visits. This privilege was granted him, and he went upstairs. After he had been gone about fifteen minutes the officers concluded that it was about time to start for Ludlow, and asked a son of the Boss to step upstairs and call his father. The young man went up, and after a few moments returned, and in the coolest manner possible told the Sheriff:

"Pa is gone. He is not upstairs."

Search was immediately made, but Tweed could not be found, but all he was. He had broken from his bolts and was making one bold effort for liberty. The escape was not in operation, and men dispatched in every direction in search of the fugitive.

Sheriff Conver joined in the hunt and had men sent to cover every possible place of exit from the city. Mulsell and Watling joined the party and assisted in devising means to secure the capture of the noted criminal. But it was the unanimous feeling that all their efforts would prove futile, and that even then he was far beyond their reach.

The police called at the residence of Counselor Mrs. McMullen, but, as was anticipated, no trace of him was found in that quarter.

The precise manner of his escape baffles us, known, but it is thought that it was done through the assistance of the jail warden and of friends in league; that he was at once taken to the bay and placed on a vessel that is now lying in the harbor, but objection being made, it was laid over. Among the bills introduced and referred was one by Mr. Thurman limiting the payment of duties on imports in legal tender and National Bank notes, after July 1, 1875. Adjourned to the 10th.

THE MARKETS.

NEW YORK.

LIVE STOCK.—Beef Cattle—$10@$12.45. Hogs—Live, $5.60@7.75. Sheep—Live, $4.50@6.60.

BREADSTUFFS.—Flour—Low to choice, $5.50@6.90; white wheat-extra, $6.90@8.60. Wheat—No 2 Chicago, $1.08@1.08½. Corn—No 2 Mixed, $1.05@1.06; No. 2 Milwaukee spring, $1.03@1.04. Rye—Western and State, 82@86c. Barley—$1.00@1.15. Corn—Mixed Western, 79@80c. Oats—Mixed Western, 42@43c.

PROVISIONS.—Pork—Mess, $17.12@18.50. Lard—Prime Steam (New), 12½@12¾c. Cheese—6@13½c.

WOOL.—Domestic Fleece, 49@56c.

CHICAGO.

LIVE STOCK.—Beeves—Choice, $5.50@5.75; good, $5.00@5.40; medium, $4.00@4.90; common stock, $2.75@3.60; stock cattle, $3.00@3.75. Hogs—Live, $4.85@5.00. Sheep—Good to choice, $5.00@5.50.

PROVISIONS.—Butter—Choice, 25@26c. Eggs—Fresh, 22@23c. Lard—$12.35@12.40. Pork—Mess, $16.75@16.90. Lard—$12.35@12.40.

BREADSTUFFS.—Flour—White Winter Extra, $6.25@6.50; good to choice, $5.90@6.25. Wheat—Spring, No 2, $1.01@1.01½. Corn—No 2, 65¾@66c. Oats—No 2, 38@38½c. Rye—No 2, 68@69c. Barley—No 2, 87½@88c.

LOUISVILLE.—Flour—Family, $5.00@5.50. Wheat—Red, $1.00@1.05. Corn—White, 70@72c. Oats—Mixed, 40@42c. Rye—No 2, 80@82c. Barley—No 2, 87½@88c.

CINCINNATI.—Flour—Family, $5.50@6.00. Wheat—No 2 Red Winter, $1.08@1.09. Corn—No 2 Mixed, 72@73c. Oats—No 2 Mixed, 43@44c. Rye—No 2, 80@81c. Barley—No 2 Spring, 90@92c.

TOLEDO.—Wheat—No 2 Red Winter, $1.08@1.09. Corn—Mixed Western, 73@74c. Oats—Mixed Western, 42@43c. Rye—No 2, 80@81c. Barley—No 2 Spring, 90@92c.

DETROIT.—Wheat—No 2 Red, $1.08@1.09. Corn—Mixed Western, 73@74c. Oats—Mixed Western, 42@43c. Rye—No 2, 80@81c. Barley—No 2 Spring, 90@92c.

MILWAUKEE.—Wheat—No 1, $1.08@1.09. Corn—Mixed Western, 73@74c. Oats—Mixed Western, 42@43c. Rye—No 2, 80@81c. Barley—No 2 Spring, 90@92c.

MICHIGAN STATE NEWS.

DETROIT artists have formed an art association and adopted a constitution and by-laws.

HARVEY GILBERT died the other day in the Lansing lock-up. He was arrested the night before for intoxication.

MICHAEL WEYERS, adriver for a Detroit beer wagon, lately attempted to commit suicide by shooting himself in the temple.

THE Executive Committee of the State Agricultural Society will meet at the Russell House, Detroit, on the 20th of December.

THE fifth company's building at East Saginaw was burned a few mornings ago with all the uniforms and equipments. Loss $7,000.

ADJUTANT SAUZ was instantly killed a few nights ago at Burns' Camp, near Clam Lake, Wexford County, by a falling tree which struck him in the head.

THE United States District Court at Detroit has sentenced Edward S. Coon to pay a fine of $100 or stand committed until the fine is paid, for mailing a scurrilous postal-card.

ON the 29th Christopher Long was instantly killed by a falling tree at Swan's Camp, Saginaw County, while Mr. Minton, He was nineteen years old, and was a resident of Bunnemville, Ontario.

AT Grand Rapids, on the 27th, J. E. Wilcox was knocked down by an insane brother whom he was taking to the insane asylum at Kalamazoo. The maniac then rushed out of the front basement door and was taken to Sixteenth street and East River, where he embarked in a small steam vessel.

Action of the National Grange.

ON the last day of its recent session of Louisville, Ky., the National Grange recommended the following business:

Resolved, That in the sense of the National Grange the following suggestions are applicable to the present wants of our order:

As the closing session of the long and laborious session of the Senate, a number of previous sessions and the many glorious achievements of the past, we feel constrained to withdraw his credentials, as Senator elect from Louisiana by the McEnery Legislature, and an order was submitted that the request be granted, but objection being made it was laid over. Among the bills introduced and referred was one by Mr. Thurman limiting the payment of duties on imports in legal tender and National Bank notes, after July 1, 1875. Adjourned to the 10th.

THE MARKETS.

NEW YORK.

LIVE STOCK.—Beef Cattle—$10@$12.45. Hogs—Live, $5.60@7.75. Sheep—Live, $4.50@6.60.

BREADSTUFFS.—Flour—Low to choice, $5.50@6.90; white wheat-extra, $6.90@8.60. Wheat—No 2 Chicago, $1.08@1.08½. Corn—No 2 Mixed, $1.05@1.06; No. 2 Milwaukee spring, $1.03@1.04. Rye—Western and State, 82@86c. Barley—$1.00@1.15. Corn—Mixed Western, 79@80c. Oats—Mixed Western, 42@43c.

PROVISIONS.—Pork—Mess, $17.12@18.50. Lard—Prime Steam (New), 12½@12¾c. Cheese—6@13½c.

WOOL.—Domestic Fleece, 49@56c.

CHICAGO.

LIVE STOCK.—Beeves—Choice, $5.50@5.75; good, $5.00@5.40; medium, $4.00@4.90; common stock, $2.75@3.60; stock cattle, $3.00@3.75. Hogs—Live, $4.85@5.00. Sheep—Good to choice, $5.00@5.50.

PROVISIONS.—Butter—Choice, 25@26c. Eggs—Fresh, 22@23c. Lard—$12.35@12.40. Pork—Mess, $16.75@16.90. Lard—$12.35@12.40.

BREADSTUFFS.—Flour—White Winter Extra, $6.25@6.50; good to choice, $5.90@6.25. Wheat—Spring, No 2, $1.01@1.01½. Corn—No 2, 65¾@66c. Oats—No 2, 38@38½c. Rye—No 2, 68@69c. Barley—No 2, 87½@88c.

LOUISVILLE.—Flour—Family, $5.00@5.50. Wheat—Red, $1.00@1.05. Corn—White, 70@72c. Oats—Mixed, 40@42c. Rye—No 2, 80@82c. Barley—No 2, 87½@88c.

CINCINNATI.—Flour—Family, $5.50@6.00. Wheat—No 2 Red Winter, $1.08@1.09. Corn—No 2 Mixed, 72@73c. Oats—No 2 Mixed, 43@44c. Rye—No 2, 80@81c. Barley—No 2 Spring, 90@92c.

TOLEDO.—Wheat—No 2 Red Winter, $1.08@1.09. Corn—Mixed Western, 73@74c. Oats—Mixed Western, 42@43c. Rye—No 2, 80@81c. Barley—No 2 Spring, 90@92c.

DETROIT.—Wheat—No 2 Red, $1.08@1.09. Corn—Mixed Western, 73@74c. Oats—Mixed Western, 42@43c. Rye—No 2, 80@81c. Barley—No 2 Spring, 90@92c.

MILWAUKEE.—Wheat—No 1, $1.08@1.09. Corn—Mixed Western, 73@74c. Oats—Mixed Western, 42@43c. Rye—No 2, 80@81c. Barley—No 2 Spring, 90@92c.

A Strange Affliction.

A YOUNG lady in Springfield, Mass., who fell on the ice and injured her spine by a coasting accident, has since that time exhibited some extraordinary symptoms, which are thus described: "She is subject to a strange variety of attacks—all due, doubtless, to one general cause, yet queer enough to be considered separately. Sometimes shes hind, again, she is stricken with deafness; subsequently recovering both these senses she will sing and play with an ease and dexterity which, it is declared, were impossible to her before her accident. Totally she may be in appearently good health; to-morrow she may become helpless, and remain sensibleless for days. Again, a temporary distressing form of her malady is the closing up of her throat, so that she can only take liquid food, and that through a tube. On one occasion she received a gentleman caller with much cordiality and grace, and then immediately got down on all-fours and crawled under the table, refusing for some time to speak or stir; yet she is not considered insane, as her mind is most of the time perfectly clear. During her singular illness she has acquired a great love for morphine, which she now eats in large quantities. Strange to say, she seems to grow fat upon it, and there is probably no girl of eighteen in Springfield who is fairer or more attractive in person and style, in spite of this habit and the many and severe trials she has been called to pass through."

The Pooju.

A WRITER in the Athenæum says: "The proper English name for the poets is 'the pooju,' the 'pejjoun' of the Greek's, the 'poulpe' of the French, the 'pedpe' of the Italians, the 'krake' of the Norwegians, and the 'pejoure' of the Roman Punch. The term 'dwell fish,' sometimes given to this in England, is already appropriated by a kind of shark. Prof. Kollmann remarks that the pooju in the Naples aquarium are as much at home in their tanks as in their native haunts; they give every evidence of perfect health and vigor. Three who inhabit one particular basin appear to regard it as their proper domain. They have had their jaws armed with bits of wood to prevent their escape, and if Tweed is not forthcoming they will be kept to get the full benefit of the law.

The Times says that whatever penalty confronts the Boss Tweed Comer ought to be inflicted on to the uttermost.

There is no mischief to-day in the earlier meeting of the Grange, but the earlier meeting of Saturday night throughout the city by the announcement of the escape of Tweed. Police commissioner Matsell has no theory in regard to the escape, but said emphatically that in his opinion there was collusion somewhere. Bail, failing at a late hour this evening stated that this far not the slightest new had been obtained by him which might put him on the track of the fugitive, as the police were unable to find any person of some took place in the house, after which the President's message was read and ordered printed. A petition of W. H. Fogg and others, of South Carolina, with reference to the right of the Child Congressional District of that State, was presented and referred. The House adjourned to the 10th.

ON the 8th a large number of memorials were presented in the Senate, among them one from Ivel entreating Congress to pass a bill for an appropriation of $1,500,000. Among the bills introduced was one by Mr. Morton to provide for and regulate the counting of votes for President and Vice-President, and the disposition of questions arising thereon. Mr. Sherman also submitted a joint resolution to amend the Constitution of the United States so as to direct the President and Vice-President by a direct vote of the people and to abolish the Electoral College.

ON the 9th the Standing and Select Committees were announced in the Senate. A letter was presented from W. L. McMillan asking permission to withdraw his credentials, as Senator elect from Louisiana by the McEnery Legislature, and an order was submitted that the request be granted, but objection being made it was laid over. Among the bills introduced and referred was one by Mr. Thurman limiting the payment of duties on imports in legal tender and National Bank notes, after July 1, 1875. Adjourned to the 10th.

THE MARKETS.

NEW YORK.

LIVE STOCK.—Beef Cattle—$10@$12.45. Hogs—Live, $5.60@7.75. Sheep—Live, $4.50@6.60.

BREADSTUFFS.—Flour—Low to choice, $5.50@6.90; white wheat-extra, $6.90@8.60. Wheat—No 2 Chicago, $1.08@1.08½. Corn—No 2 Mixed, $1.05@1.06; No. 2 Milwaukee spring, $1.03@1.04. Rye—Western and State, 82@86c. Barley—$1.00@1.15. Corn—Mixed Western, 79@80c. Oats—Mixed Western, 42@43c.

PROVISIONS.—Pork—Mess, $17.12@18.50. Lard—Prime Steam (New), 12½@12¾c. Cheese—6@13½c.

WOOL.—Domestic Fleece, 49@56c.

CHICAGO.

LIVE STOCK.—Beeves—Choice, $5.50@5.75; good, $5.00@5.40; medium, $4.00@4.90; common stock, $2.75@3.60; stock cattle, $3.00@3.75. Hogs—Live, $4.85@5.00. Sheep—Good to choice, $5.00@5.50.

PROVISIONS.—Butter—Choice, 25@26c. Eggs—Fresh, 22@23c. Lard—$12.35@12.40. Pork—Mess, $16.75@16.90. Lard—$12.35@12.40.

BREADSTUFFS.—Flour—White Winter Extra, $6.25@6.50; good to choice, $5.90@6.25. Wheat—Spring, No 2, $1.01@1.01½. Corn—No 2, 65¾@66c. Oats—No 2, 38@38½c. Rye—No 2, 68@69c. Barley—No 2, 87½@88c.

LOUISVILLE.—Flour—Family, $5.00@5.50. Wheat—Red, $1.00@1.05. Corn—White, 70@72c. Oats—Mixed, 40@42c. Rye—No 2, 80@82c. Barley—No 2, 87½@88c.

CINCINNATI.—Flour—Family, $5.50@6.00. Wheat—No 2 Red Winter, $1.08@1.09. Corn—No 2 Mixed, 72@73c. Oats—No 2 Mixed, 43@44c. Rye—No 2, 80@81c. Barley—No 2 Spring, 90@92c.

TOLEDO.—Wheat—No 2 Red Winter, $1.08@1.09. Corn—Mixed Western, 73@74c. Oats—Mixed Western, 42@43c. Rye—No 2, 80@81c. Barley—No 2 Spring, 90@92c.

DETROIT.—Wheat—No 2 Red, $1.08@1.09. Corn—Mixed Western, 73@74c. Oats—Mixed Western, 42@43c. Rye—No 2, 80@81c. Barley—No 2 Spring, 90@92c.

MILWAUKEE.—Wheat—No 1, $1.08@1.09. Corn—Mixed Western, 73@74c. Oats—Mixed Western, 42@43c. Rye—No 2, 80@81c. Barley—No 2 Spring, 90@92c.

Spare the Birds.

SPARE the birds. Do more than they encourage them in doing a hedge-row the other day I counted six birds' nests in less than a quarter of a mile. Supposed that the average number in the middle hedge of all-acre patch would have twenty-four nests. Suppose each nest had one brood only raised to a season and average of four, then there would be precisely as she does, if the girl answers: "You must ask papa," there may reasonably be a average of twenty-six sparrows whose the pesky speech can be twisted into a proposal or not. When, however, a sky may, from any cause, be called in question, says to the beloved one, with a tremulous gasp: "Won't you be the thing my mother asked you?" there is no doubt that, to all intents and purposes, he has asked her to be his wife.

Proposals do not necessarily precede marriage, any more than the absence of the necessity succeed a proposal, and many a sensible man becomes a wife without the slightest knowledge that he has done any such thing. Whole books have been written on the various kinds of insects to abound that might not otherwise trouble. My reply is, no good thing is likely to be allowed to wilt evil. The good from hedges and trees far outweighs the evil. During part of this fall there has been a large weight of prairie chicken and quail sent away, condemned as unfit for human food because spoiled—Saturday, or after arrival, and were fed to hogs. Whose loss is this based on wrong doing by destroying timber and not replanting—by killing birds by wholesale that live and feed on weeds, in disturbs the balance of nature's economy, and he must not blame Providence, but himself. Such a measure, like the locusts are destroyed by insects. Man's prayers or curses will be alike unavailing. Nature's laws must be complied with, or the penalty be paid to some degree of disease or negligence. Those laws, alas!—stern—inflexible must be respected.

Spare the birds—birds of song, worm, cut-worm, etc., are more frequent in early corn on some farms than on others. I am sorry my time for the subject forms some off best. One farmer last spring on a bleak, open prairie I knew had to replant corn twice and to set his last replant by the aid of a hoe with the birds always present with him. Hedge-rows and timber-belts are not to blame for the ravages of birds, but, as the verb "to love" seems to admit of endless conjugations, perhaps we shall have cause to repeat, except by filling up a printed form, before all its variations are exhausted. At the commencement of each year the Brighton General can inroll with the Queen's Most Gracious Majesty of Majesty's subjects will enter into the bonds of holy matrimony before its conclusion. A more favorable season never harvest might increase the number beyond his calculations or a war might depress them; but his average would not be very far astray. But what Registrar-General can tell the average number of proposals which are made each year, for the purpose of enabling us to make one marriage? Indeed it is by no means easy to define exactly what is and what is not to be called a proposal. When a man says to a girl with whom he has waltzed several times that if he becomes a Benedict he h

THE SENTINEL.
CHARLEVOIX, MICH.
WILLARD A. SMITH, Editor and Proprietor.

TUESDAY . . . DEC. 14, '75.

OUR NEW YORK LETTER.

Astor's Will—Stewart's Millions in It."—Where's Tweed?

A Character Worth $6000,000.—Amusement Paragraphs.

Gleanings.

From Our Own Correspondent.

NEW YORK, Dec 13th 1875.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE SENTINEL:—

"There is balsam" recently as to the amount of a very rich man's property.—Hardly two weeks ago online reporter a to Mr. Astor's wealth reckoned at $140,000,000. His will, recently admitted to probate, values this figure but about one half but still leaves a sum that the average man would be tolerably well satisfied to possess. Of this as was recently understood would be the case, John Jacob III gets the lion's share, or some $25,000,000. The remainder was bestowed in miscellaneous bequests to remaining members of the family, church &c. the latter, however, being but feebly remembered.

Of all the men who come to the front as possessors of enormous wealth in this country during the past few years, none have excited so much interest as Alexander T. Stewart. The fact that he was a native of Ireland, and that he had begun life as a poor boy, and had risen to be the richest merchant in the world, would alone have made him a prominent figure in any community, but when to these facts was added the knowledge that he had built up the largest retail dry goods business in the world, and had made himself a millionaire many times over, he became a man of mark in any community. Hence it is not surprising that the public should be interested in the disposition of his vast wealth, and that the provisions of his will should be eagerly scanned by the curious. Mr. Stewart's will was made in 1869, and was drawn by Mr. Hilton, his son-in-law and successor in business. It is a very long document, and contains many provisions which are not of general interest. The principal bequests are as follows: To his wife, Cornelia Stewart, $1,000,000 and the use of the mansion on Fifth Avenue, between 34th and 35th streets, with its furniture, plate, pictures, carriages and horses, and the country seat at Long Branch, with its furniture, plate, carriages and horses, and the use of the yacht during her life. To his brother, Robert Stewart, $1,000,000. To his nephew, William H. Stewart, $1,000,000. To his nephew, Judge Hilton, $1,000,000. To his nephew, Henry B. Hilton, $1,000,000. To his niece, Mrs. Judge Hilton, $1,000,000. To his niece, Mrs. Henry B. Hilton, $1,000,000. To his niece, Mrs. Frederick Loines, $1,000,000. To his niece, Mrs. Robert Stewart, $1,000,000. To his niece, Mrs. Wm. H. Stewart, $1,000,000. To his niece, Mrs. Wm. Libbey, $1,000,000. To his niece, Mrs. Wm. Phillips, $1,000,000. To his niece, Mrs. Wm. Wilson, $1,000,000. To his niece, Mrs. Wm. Wilson, $1,000,000. To his niece, Mrs. Wm. Wilson

ITEMS OF INTEREST.

THERE is now Gentile to five Mormons in Utah.

QUEEN VICTORIA'S pet horses are buried in one grave.

THE crowded multitude of California numbers 118,000.

A CAT with dog-suckle tendencies—A fawning baby.

"TIMES are no more and yet so fir," said the maiden as she hugged her seal-skin about her.

KANSAS has 100,000 sheep and 24,000 dogs. Seasonly a sheep and a half to each dog.

NOW run some of the state prison's bread manufacturing firm cattle to strike. "Sour task, boss!"

ANNAS who must draw the line somewhere—The surveyor.—New York Commercial Advertiser.

GOOD nature won't always work hand some. For instance, to carve at Turkey dinner time.—Turkey carpet.

THE German empire has sent cannon to foreign lands. Twenty-two of them are in the United States.

IT is the purpose of everyone but her husband a California woman has just framed a tax to a single member.

THE thrifty farmer, who takes pains to keep Hartford, Conn., have taken to 1,000 cords of wood before they are washed.

THERE is something in pronunciation, after all. A Detroiter found it out when he sent in his grocers and inquired for "mailing tea."

"THE only consumption" in Reading, Pa., by going the patients doses of old Dr. Anderdunk's bitter and inclining them on that stock itself.

FIVE hundred idlewomen count the ticking of a clock, six days for an hour, and you will be glad to pull off your coat the next one and go to work.

IN Boston woman have so thoroughly passed their entire business school, the editors say that to-day there is almost as much money coined here.

WHAT makes water harder in a spring, upon recently propounded in the Popular Science Monthly, and every school-boy yells: "Freezing weather!"

A SCHOOL "pupil" died the other day and was buried. Time they found out that he had taken his class to dust with him, to the extent of about $700.

MR. DIXON asked her: "Rose, will you be mine?" Rose answered: I am sorry it cannot be—but a rose cannot be cause a bull. Long be mine, and depart of thorns.

OVER the gates of the old South Church in Boston is chiseled: "Behold! I have set before you an open door," and under, another case, it is painted in emphatic letters: "Positively no admittance."

A LADY once said: "I'll not scold While I can sew with my needle and thread."

Since seamstresses are fortyish

GEORGE VI. had a shocking suicide, the other day, the victim being a boy of twelve, by the name of Cross. On coming home from school he bade his mates good by and then deliberately shot himself.

SPEAKING, of school examinations, the editor of the San Antonio Herald says: "We examined one of our boys, the other day, with a fair comb, and it is asking no more than is to say we were pleased with the result."

CROW in a village man gets the starch so thoroughly taken out of him that it's no surprising. A few days ago a prairie schooner passed through Boston, and in its canvas cover was pointed in large letters the legend: "Going back to my wife's folks."

THE Yale at the Unexpulpire Agency will be greatly depleted this winter. The entering committee that it will be impossible to complete the new apartments short of another summer. The Indians are not pleased with the outlook and threaten to abandon the reservation and wander in the forests.

A WILLIAMSBURG, L. I. man, the father of seventeen children, found a basket at his basement door the other morning containing a little golden-haired cherub about two weeks old. A tag appended to the manner of the basket bore the legend: "Only suppose to be fond of children. I ain't. Please accept this one."

"SEARNY, Tonald?" said a Burlington to a dressy acquaintance, who was running on the cars in a horizontal position. "No, Tuncan," was the ready answer. "Then, Tonald, would you an lend me ten shillings?" was the next question. "Ough, ough" was the response, with a heavy snore. "I'm sleepin' noo, Tuncan, my lad."

THE doctors do not always guess right. For example, in the case of James H. Hulse, the President of the Middletown (N. Y.) National Bank, who was badly injured in a runaway accident in August last, they pronounced his recovery impossible. Now, strange to say, he is in a comfortable condition for nearly three months, he is rapidly recovering and expects soon to be about his business again.

A MANCHESTER (England) firm, which takes all its employees for a day's trip to the seaside during the summer, decided last year to visit Blackpool. It is the general custom of the workers to have a dip in the sea before beginning the usual amusements. "Eh, mon, how dirty ye are!" said one Lancashire lad to his fellow-bather. "Missed the trip last year," was the incisive rejoinder.

WHEN is there in an empty but tightly corked jug? The natural answer would be "Nothing." Another person would suggest "the cork." Another "air." And yet there is something in the jug that existed before the morning sun sang its genius or Adam was created to breathe air and corks were yet unknown. Give it up? Yes. "And darkness reigned on the face of the deep," which the same is what saie the inside of the jug.

DANIEL PERKINS, of Pleasant Valley, Va., recently had a desperate fight with an enormous black-snake. When within six feet of each other the snake raised his head about four feet from the ground and jumped for the young man's throat. He caught the snake by the neck in such a way as to guard himself from its tangle, and by main force twisted its neck completely off. The snake measured nine feet in length, and in the larger part of its body had a circumference of twelve inches. Perkins was so exhausted after the battle that he could not drag his victim home.

DR. DENNY, an oculist from Boston, is making experiments on the Amherst freshmen's eyes, requiring them to read across a room lines of different sized letters, both with the naked eye and with glasses of various degrees of magnifying power. His object is to refute a theory of the Germans that the continued application to books necessary to a student's life produces near or short-sightedness. The experiment will be repeated when the freshmen have become seniors, and, perhaps annually, and cannot fail to be of practical importance.—Springfield (Mass.) Republican.

"THE fellers who can't read a man's manager by lookin' at his letters is no better at it all," soliloquized Jig Jim, as he sat on the Pocatello city jail, yesterday. "When you see a man stubbin' around with dried mud on his toes you kin set it down that he hasn't any git up in him. If he lets the mud time way up his heel you bet he don't earn a dollar a day, for he's slow. If he's got dust on his boots, he's reckless and won't lay up anything; but if his boots reach the ego of the morning and shine like the responses, with a heavy snore. "I'm sleepin' noo, Tuncan, my lad."

THE doctors do not always guess right. For example, in the case of James H. Hulse, the President of the Middletown (N. Y.) National Bank, who was badly injured in a runaway accident in August last, they pronounced his recovery impossible. Now, strange to say, he is in a comfortable condition for nearly three months, he is rapidly recovering and expects soon to be about his business again.

A MANCHESTER (England) firm, which takes all its employees for a day's trip to the seaside during the summer, decided last year to visit Blackpool. It is the general custom of the workers to have a dip in the sea before beginning the usual amusements. "Eh, mon, how dirty ye are!" said one Lancashire lad to his fellow-bather. "Missed the trip last year," was the incisive rejoinder.

WHEN is there in an empty but tightly corked jug? The natural answer would be "Nothing." Another person would suggest "the cork." Another "air." And yet there is something in the jug that existed before the morning sun sang its genius or Adam was created to breathe air and corks were yet unknown. Give it up? Yes. "And darkness reigned on

"He Died Poor."

THE body of the late Vice-President will be committed to the tomb to-morrow, and so will end the last journey of Henry Wilson. The crowds of sorrowful people which have clustered around his bier at every point where the funeral cortege has rested between the high place which he departed statement occupied in the esteem of his fellow-countrymen, and are a tribute to his life and character as tender and touching as it was deserved.

The career of Vice-President Wilson is one that can be studied to great advantage by the youth of the country and by those of maniire years as well. He died as he had lived, poor in purse—very poor, in fact, for one occupying his position—but rich in all else that makes life successful and death a triumph. Mr Wilson, as we have before averred, was pre-eminently a good man; but now that he is dead noth ing relating to his life contributes more to his honor than the fact that he died poor. Through that crucible, the cavil was put in books necessary to students his goodness near or short slightedness. The experiment will be repeated when the freshmen have become seniors, and, perhaps annually, and cannot fail to be of practical importance.—Springfield (Mass.) Republican.

"THE fellers who can't read a man's manager by lookin' at his letters is no better at it all," soliloquized Jig Jim, as he sat on the Pocatello city jail, yesterday. "When you see a man stubbin' around with dried mud on his toes you kin set it down that he hasn't any git up in him. If he lets the mud time way up his heel you bet he don't earn a dollar a day, for he's slow. If he's got dust on his boots, he's reckless and won't lay up anything; but if his boots reach the ego of the morning and shine like the responses, with a heavy snore. "I'm sleepin' noo, Tuncan, my lad."

The doctors do not always guess right. For example, in the case of James H. Hulse, the President of the Middletown (N. Y.) National Bank, who was badly injured in a runaway accident in August last, they pronounced his recovery impossible. Now, strange to say, he is in a comfortable condition for nearly three months, he is rapidly recovering and expects soon to be about his business again.

A MANCHESTER (England) firm, which takes all its employees for a day's trip to the seaside during the summer, decided last year to visit Blackpool. It is the general custom of the workers to have a dip in the sea before beginning the usual amusements. "Eh, mon, how dirty ye are!" said one Lancashire lad to his fellow-bather. "Missed the trip last year," was the incisive rejoinder.

WHEN is there in an empty but tightly corked jug? The natural answer would be "Nothing." Another person would suggest "the cork." Another "air." And yet there is something in the jug that existed before the morning sun sang its genius or Adam was created to breathe air and corks were yet unknown. Give it up? Yes. "And darkness reigned on Juggling in India.

THE conjurers and acrobats of India are a tribe by themselves, resembling the gypsies of Europe, and, being subtle and crafty, are despised, yet feared, by the common people. They are wonderfully expert in the performance of their tricks and feats of strength, some of which remain inexplicable, even to the intelligence of the acute European. One of the most striking of their tricks—that of the basket and child—is thus described:

"A child seems eight years old, standing upright in the basket, within its cover, under the influence of music, and disappears slowly into the interior, which is barely large enough to contain it. Secure ly locked and corded, the basket remains motionless for a few minutes more in full view of the Germans that the child is still there. Through that crucible, the cavil was put in books necessary to students's goodness near or short slightedness. The experiment will be repeated when the freshmen have become seniors, and, perhaps annually, and cannot fail to be of practical importance.—Springfield (Mass.) Republican.

"THE fellers who can't read a man's manager by lookin' at his letters is no better at it all," soliloquized Jig Jim, as he sat on the Pocatello city jail, yesterday. "When you see a man stubbin' around with dried mud on his toes you kin set it down that he hasn't any git up in him. If he lets the mud time way up his heel you bet he don't earn a dollar a day, for he's slow. If he's got dust on his boots, he's reckless and won't lay up anything; but if his boots reach the ego of the morning and shine like the responses, with a heavy snore. "I'm sleepin' noo, Tuncan, my lad."

The doctors do not always guess right. For example, in the case of James H. Hulse, the President of the Middletown (N. Y.) National Bank, who was badly injured in a runaway accident in August last, they pronounced his recovery impossible. Now, strange to say, he is in a comfortable condition for nearly three months, he is rapidly recovering and expects soon to be about his business again.

A MANCHESTER (England) firm, which takes all its employees for a day's trip to the seaside during the summer, decided last year to visit Blackpool. It is the general custom of the workers to have a dip in the sea before beginning the usual amusements. "Eh, mon, how dirty ye are!" said one Lancashire lad to his fellow-bather. "Missed the trip last year," was the incisive rejoinder.

WHEN is there in an empty but tightly corked jug? The natural answer would be "Nothing." Another person would suggest "the cork." Another "air." And yet there is something in the jug that existed before the morning sun sang its genius or Adam was created to breathe air and corks were yet unknown. Give it up? Yes. "And darkness reigned on

HOUSEHOLD HINTS.

IN case of poisoning, swell the patient instantly and freely with strong salt and water, giving abundantly, afterward, of milk and white of eggs.

EQUAL parts of sand and plaster Paris moistened with water makes an excellent mortar to stop cracks and holes in walls or ceilings. It hardens rapidly.

TO MAKE corn meal griddle-cakes, scald half a pint of Indian meal, half a pint of the same dry flour, and stir all into a pint of milk, with a tablespoonful of butter and one egg. Spread very thin on the griddle.

FROM kept in barrels for a long time often acquires a peculiar odor, supposed to be derived from the barrel. This smell actually indicates an in-plant decomposition prejudicial to bread-making, owing to the gluten having become partially soluble. It is therefore much preferable to keep flour in sacks, unless for short periods.

POTATOES are adapted to be eaten with ham meat—the starchy potatoes furnishing the fattening and heating elements which ham meat lacks, while the lean meat supplies the bone and muscle-making elements not afforded by potato or fine flour bread. Fat meat affords heating and fattening elements, like potato, but in a form less easily digested by most persons.

FOR taking fragings, the following process has lately been suggested: One part by volume of castor-oil should be dissolved in two or three volumes of alcohol, and this solution applied to the paper with a brush. The spirit soon evaporates, leaving the paper transparent and ready for use. A tracing in pencil may then readily be made, and when finished the paper is immersed in alcohol, which dissolves out the oil, restoring the sheet to its original condition. The tracing may after ward be completed in India ink or in colors.

PEN scent-cases it will be necessary to buy an ounce of sachet powder (bello trope, mille fleur, violet or Florentine orris-root). Cut out two layers of thin cotton wadding three inches square; sprinkle the powder between them and tack the edges together. Make a little bag of blue or crimson silk of the same size, run in the edges, leaving one side and open, tack the scented wadding smoothly in and sew the open end over and over. Trim around the case with a narrow pleated ribbon and catch it through in four or five places with tiny ribbon bows of the same color.—St. Nicholas for January.

CHILDREN almost invariably dislike porridge, which is the more to be regretted as there is no kind of food that will more surely build up a strong and healthy frame. That it is an unreasonable prejudice is clear, for the fact that the child who apparently loathes his basin of porridge will, when grown up to man's estate, esteem it the greatest luxury. Scotch parents apply the rod in such cases, but it is a pity when children's food has to be whipped into them. Rather let the child go without dinner, give him the relish for what would otherwise be distasteful; and occasionally, by way of variety, substitute milk-broad scarcely fluid enough to eat with a spoon, and that will be found a delightful meal. Many a child who apparently loathes his basin of porridge will, when grown up to man's estate, esteem it the greatest luxury. Scotch parents apply the rod in such cases, but it is a pity when children's food has to be whipped into them. Rather let the child go without dinner, give him the relish for what would otherwise be distasteful; and occasionally, by way of variety, substitute milk-broad scarcely fluid enough to eat with a spoon, and that will be found a delightful meal. Many a child who apparently loathes his basin of porridge will, when grown up to man's estate, esteem it the greatest luxury.

The Law of the Road.

PUBLIC roads are for the use of everybody to walk, ride, or drive over, but every man has an equal right to it, and so, in order for all to exercise this right properly and harmoniously, certain laws and regulations are necessary, and every man who uses the road must do it subject to those regulations. Ignorance of the law will be no excuse for one who violates it, and it therefore becomes the duty of every one to know just what the law is in regard to the common, every day occurrences of life. One of the most hotly-contested lawsuits we ever attended was the result of a collision between a carriage and a loaded wagon on the public road. The wagon took the left side of the road because it was the best. The carriage took the right side, as is customary. A turn in the road and intervening bushes prevented the parties from seeing each other until one came so close as to prevent a collision, in which the carriage and horse were both injured. The driver of the carriage then brought suit against the driver of the wagon for damages. The plea set up by the defendant was that he had a right to the left track, it being the best, and as all light vehicles, and that the last driving of the plaintiff around the turn of the road was the cause of the collision. The plaintiff claimed that he was driving in an ordinary trot, and that he turned out to the left as soon as he saw the defendant. He acknowledged that something attracted his attention at the roadside, but, being on the right side of the track, it was not incumbent on him to use more than ordinary care. The case was ably conducted on both sides, and resulted in judgment for the plaintiff.

We were reminded of this occurrence by reading the accounted a similar one in "The Law of Horses," noticed last week. Miss Clegg, aged twenty, driving rapidly over a hill, met Daniels coming with a loaded wagon on the left side of the road. Daniels turned out, but not in time to avoid a collision that damaged Clegg's horse and buggy. Clegg sued and recovered judgment, on the following rulings: While it is lawful for one to travel on the left of the middle of the road when it is not occupied by a person coming in the opposite direction, still, as the law requires him to turn out seasonably when he meets a team, it also requires him to use more than ordinary care to keep out of the way and avoid a collision. If a collision occurs to the left of the center of the road, and without the material negligence of the other party, the one driving on the left is liable. It is the duty of one on the highway to turn to the right, keep right of the road, and this duty is the same whether imposed by statute, custom, or common law. A team, with a driver present, is not liable for damages to another man's property if the other could have avoided a collision by using ordinary care and that, too, though still on the left of the road at the time. A party injured by a collision must prove negligence or misconduct on the other's part, and ordinary care and diligence on his own. If defendant's negligence is such that injury could not have been avoided by ordinary care on the plaintiff's part, the latter's negligence is immaterial.

These rulings are founded in right and equity, and make every one's duty plain in similar circumstances.—Inter Farmer.

Mr. Stanley's Discoveries.

IN order to understand the importance of Mr. Stanley's heroic labors let us brief ly survey the flow of the Nile. Following the ride of the barrier who over Egypt it the port of Alexandria we proceed from Rosetta, the port of Cairo, along the broad mouth of a sail flowing stream, and soon reach Cairo, distant from the Mediterranean, at the first cataract, all river traffic ceases. Nile traveling along this route of gigantic ruins and imposing temples is a feast, and for nearly half a century it has been the fashion of the wealthier classes, craving comfort and luxury, to make a winter of luxury lilling along the stream. From the second cataract, 200 miles beyond, the provinces of Egypt give place to Nubia, and the river, sweeping around a great bend to westward, loops over cataracts which impede all navigation, and it is only after 300 miles from the delta, is reached, that the traveler is on the borders of Central Africa and in the midst of thoroughly aboriginal peoples. Away to southward, embracing over fifteen degrees of latitude, are tribes numbering as high in the aggregate as 20,000,000 of souls, who have been the prey of slave-hunters, torn asunder again and again by native wars, but now happily at the last by conquest at the hands of Egypt. It is over this wild and pestiferous tract of country, most of the cataracts are found, that Stanley has labored for the last two years, and the prize has been the sources of the Nile. Mr. Stanley, who has been given titles in Africa, at Magiula, Commander and I pill before entering upon the present journey, made a thorough study of the various routes by which it should approach the territory where the mountain-lakes lie, and in this lengthy he enjoyed great advantages. On terms of personal intimacy with leading geographers and travelers of the world, seeking their counsel and advice, he at last determined to enter Africa by the old route of Speke and Grant from the coast opposite Zanzibar, and his triumphant progress has been recorded from time to time in these columns. At last, reaching the shores of the Victoria Nyanza, he has startled the scientific world by discovering and fixing by astronomical observations the flow of the Shimeeyu—a river 350 miles long, rising in the mountains of the fifth degree of south latitude and the thirty-fifth meridian of longitude east from Greenwich. Mr. Stanley describes this stream to be by far the noblest river that empties into the lake source of the Nile." It is a mile wide at the mouth, an insignificant stream compared with the White Nile, and is supplied by several not unimportant feeders. These affluents are fed by mountain streams which rise on the western slope of the great range of which Kilimanjaro and Kenais are conspicuous peaks. This discovery goes far to substantiate the theory of Chief Justice Daly, which was published in the Herald. The astute President of the American Geographical Society, going back in the days of ancient history, has pointed out that the range of mountains in which we have alluded is the same then identified by Aristotle and Herodotus. Not only has he shown this, but the discovery of the Albert and Victoria Nyanzas with the two lakes of Pudeny boldly graven on his map.—N. Y. Herald.

"Throw Physic to the Dogs; I'll None of It."

NOT to do the least feel like blaming Lady Macbeth for her reprehensible disgust, indeed, we are rather inclined to sympathize with her. Everybody, most of the authorities offered to the public are great, relishable thing, pills, the very epicurean of which is sufficient to "turn one's stomach." But Macbeth ever taken Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets he would not have uttered those words of contempt. It is really encouraging, when one is ill, to find that a little, sugar-coated Pellet, no larger than a grain of mustard, will so promptly produce the desired effect as a dose of great, nauseating pills. These little Pellets, unlike other cathartics, are really nature's physic. They do not debilitate, but tone and invigorate the system. No family should be without Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets.

The Manufacturer and Builder, edited by Prof. R. H. Van Der Weyde, and published by Austin Block, 37 Park Row, New York, should be taken by every Master Builder, Mechanic, Architect and Builder in fact in everyone who desires to keep thoroughly posted on matters pertaining to the building industries. Each number is fully illustrated and contains valuable designs for all kinds of buildings of houses for only one dollar per year. Specimen copies will be sent free on application to advertisers, Inventions of masonry and mechanical appliances are described in this publication, and the subscription being but $1.00 per year is another postage, that is to say, a dollar and a half for the price of subscription. The enterprise is only about four months old, and we find from the way the publishers are conducting it that it will be a success. Those who have a taste for mechanical pursuits can furnish evidence of their honesty, but can furnish evidence of their honesty, but can furnish evidence of their honesty, but

K. B.

ING OF THE BLOOD.

NEW MILLINERY AND Dress - Making ESTABLISHMENT.

Hemlock Bark!

Contract for Any Amount

Edw. H. Green, Charlevoix Mich

Improved Farms and Wild Lands

Taxes Paid and Non-Resident Lands Cared For.

Collections a Specialty.

REAL ESTATE AGENCY

H. L. MILLER, CHARLEVOIX

J. E. Greilick & Co., 1875. 1875

Fox, Rose & Buttars.

Sash & Doors,

PETOSKEY

Headquarters to Buy

DRY GOODS,

GROCERIES & PROVISION

BOOTS and SHOES.

TIN and HARDWARE.

STOVES, STOVEPIPE

CROCKERY & GLASSWARE.

TRUNKS Traveling Bags

FURNITUR

Fancy and Staple Dry Goods, Groceries, Provisions, Hardware, Crockery, Boots and Shoes, Hats and Caps, Flour, Feed, Salt, Fish, Etc., Etc.

Highest Cash Price Paid for Furs, Hides and Furs.

Largest Stock! Lowest Prices.

Goods Shown to Orders.

Fox, Rose & Buttars

LAW

A. J. McLEOD.

G. B. MILLS,

Gen'l Merchandise,

Boyne Falls, Mich.

Cash Paid For Counterfeit Bodies

Letters from Druggists

Wonderful Success

DR. A. TRASK'S

MAGNETIC OINTMENT

INFALLIBLE FOR DISEASES.

Dr. Trask's Magnetic Ointment

Dr. Trask's Pain Killer

Dr. Trask's Magnetic Liniment

Dr. Trask's Magnetic Pills

Dr. Trask's Magnetic Plasters

Dr. Trask's Magnetic Salve

Dr. Trask's Magnetic Soap

Dr. Trask's Magnetic Shoulder Brace

Dr. Trask's Magnetic Supporter

Dr. Trask's Magnetic Trusses

Dr. Trask's Magnetic Medicated Paper

Dr. Trask's Magnetic Medicated Rubber Goods

Dr. Trask's Magnetic Medicated Flesh Brush

Dr. Trask's Magnetic Medicated Hair Brush

Dr. Trask's Magnetic Medicated Tooth Brush

Dr. Trask's Magnetic Medicated Nail Brush

Dr. Trask's Magnetic Medicated Shaving Brush

Dr. Trask's Magnetic Medicated Clothes Brush

Dr. Trask's Magnetic Medicated Hat Brush

Dr. Trask's Magnetic Medicated Whisk Broom

Dr. Trask's Magnetic Medicated Duster

Dr. Trask's Magnetic Medicated Feather Duster

Dr. Trask's Magnetic Medicated Ostrich Feather Duster

Dr. Trask's Magnetic Medicated Peacock Feather Duster

Dr. Trask's Magnetic Medicated Turkey Feather Duster

Dr. Trask's Magnetic Medicated Goose Feather Duster

Dr. Trask's Magnetic Medicated Chicken Feather Duster

Dr. Trask's Magnetic Medicated Duck Feather Duster

Dr. Trask's Magnetic Medicated Swan Feather Duster

Dr. Trask's Magnetic Medicated Eagle Feather Duster

Dr. Trask's Magnetic Medicated Hawk Feather Duster

Dr. Trask's Magnetic Medicated Owl Feather Duster

Dr. Trask's Magnetic Medicated Crow Feather Duster

Dr. Trask's Magnetic Medicated Raven Feather Duster

Dr. Trask's Magnetic Medicated Blackbird Feather Duster

Dr. Trask's Magnetic Medicated Robin Feather Duster

Dr. Trask's Magnetic Medicated Sparrow Feather Duster

Dr. Trask's Magnetic Medicated Wren Feather Duster

Dr. Trask's Magnetic Medicated Thrush Feather Duster

Dr. Trask's Magnetic Medicated Lark Feather Duster

Dr. Trask's Magnetic Medicated Nightingale Feather Duster

Dr. Trask's Magnetic Medicated Mockingbird Feather Duster

Dr. Trask's Magnetic Medicated Bluebird Feather Duster

Dr. Trask's Magnetic Medicated Redbird Feather Duster

Dr. Trask's Magnetic Medicated Goldfinch Feather Duster

Dr. Trask's Magnetic Medicated Canary Feather Duster

Dr. Trask's Magnetic Medicated Parrot Feather Duster

Dr. Trask's Magnetic Medicated Cockatoo Feather Duster

Dr. Trask's Magnetic Medicated Macaw Feather Duster

Dr. Trask's Magnetic Medicated Toucan Feather Duster

Dr. Trask's Magnetic Medicated Hornbill Feather Duster

Dr. Trask's Magnetic Medicated Kingfisher Feather Duster

Dr. Trask's Magnetic Medicated Woodpecker Feather Duster

Dr. Trask's Magnetic Medicated Flicker Feather Duster

Dr. Trask's Magnetic Medicated Sapsucker Feather Duster

Dr. Trask's Magnetic Medicated Yellowhammer

THE SENTINEL.
WILLARD A SMITH, Editor and Proprietor.
CHARLEVOIX. - MICHIGAN.

THE NEWS.

THE Opinion Nationale of Lima, Peru, of a late date, says that while repairs were being made on the San Andres Hospital, on the 30, a wall, on being thrown down, was found to have been hollow, and filled with human remains. Between 4,000 and 5,000 skeletons were taken out. They appeared to be from 150 to 200 years old, and all had fragments of clothing upon them. They were believed to have been the victims of the Inquisition.

A DYNAMITE explosion occurred on the docks at Bremer Haven on the 11th, which caused the death of sixty of the by-standers and four of the passengers of the steamer Mosel, then about to leave for New York. The explosive was in a passenger's baggage.

A HERALDO telegram of the 13th says several cartloads of bullets had lately been frozen to death. The Carlist forces in the region numbered 52,000 men, with 100 pieces of artillery.

A PARIS dispatch, of the 12th, says all France was intensely excited over the pending Senatorial election. The Left had so far secured a majority, and their success was thought to mean a disturbance of the present conservative modification of affairs. The Bourse was greatly excited, and the funds had fallen largely.

SIR HOWDEN STEWART, Vice-Admiral of the British navy, is dead.

THE bill recently introduced into the House for the regulation of postage on printed matter provides that on and after June 1, 1876, postage shall be charged on pamphlets, transient newspapers, etc., at the rate of one cent for each two ounces or fraction thereof, and that the postage on all other mailable matter of the third class shall be one hanged.

THE agricultural report for November shows that the crop of 1875 is one of the fourth larger than that of 1874, and one of the largest ever grown in America. The number of spindles in place in 1875 was 10,000,000, of which 5,000,000 are in New England. The manufacture of goods, both as regards quality and quantity, while all the tokens go growing States show a large increase of product.

THE newly-appointed Commissioner of Indian Affairs, John Q. Smith, has taken charge of the Indian Bureau in Washington.

THE Republican National Committee will meet in Washington on the 17th of January for the purpose of determining upon the time and place for holding the next Republican National Nominating Convention.

A SUMMER of Methodist ministers, at a meeting in Boston a few days ago, under the lead of Bishop Haven, adopted a resolution favoring the cancellation of the debt of General Grant "as a measure of public safety." Several Methodist ministers at Salt Lake City, Utah, at a recent meeting protested against this action on the part of their Boston brethren, and passed a resolution denouncing the President for his action toward the Territory.

THE fare was ten inches thick in some parts of the Erie Canal on the 10th.

THE Mossly and Sandusky Railroad was in Philadelphia on the 12th were crowded. At the summer's meeting in the afternoon 11,000 persons were present, and fully 300 visited the inquiry rooms.

THE jury in the case of Brigham Young, Jedediah M. Grant, Hosea Stout, and Daniel Wells, Mormons, charged with murder in the first degree, in killing Richard Yates, a Mormon apostate, in the Territory of Utah in 1857, returned a verdict of guilty on the evening of the 10th.

GEN. HAZEN gave bail at Chicago in the sum of $10,000, on the 11th, for his appearance for trial before the United States District Court at St. Louis.

AARON HASKIN, of Lowell, Mass. has been appointed to succeed J. D. Ward, of Chicago, as United States District Attorney for the Northern District of Illinois.

IN his annual message to the Legislature Gov. Irwin urged that the State endeavor to induce such a modification of the treaty between the United States and China as will restrict Chinese immigration.

JAMES O. BROADHEAD, a prominent Democratic lawyer of St. Louis, has been appointed to succeed Gen. Henderson as an assistant in the whisky trials at St. Louis. He accepted the position on the 11th.

INNOMINATION had reached the Vienna News Free Press of the 13th that the Sultan of Turkey had ordered an extraordinary levy of 100,000 men to put down the troubles in Herzegovina. Egypt had offered a contingent of 25,000 men and Tunis 8,000.

THE announcement was made in the German Reichstag on the 13th that an investigation would be inaugurated by the Government into the circumstances attending the recent collision on the steamer Deutschland and Mosel.

THE Democratic members of Congress held a caucus, with closed doors, on the afternoon of the 18th. An assignment of eleven was ordered to act with a like Senate committee in shaping legislation during the present session.

THE membership of Plymouth Church, Brooklyn, according to the recent annual report, is 2,689, an increase of 160 during the past year. On December 1, 1875 are females and 915 are males. There were 2,841 pupils in the schools, and 253 teachers. The amount of $241,818 was raised during the past year, exclusive of personal contributions.

A STUPENDOUS and swindle has lately been unearthed in Southeastern Missouri. Deeds to lands in North Arkansas and Southeastern Missouri have been forged for some years past, and agencies for this work established in Cincinnati, Philadelphia, New York and Manchester, England. It is estimated that deeds to over 12,000,000 acres of land have been disposed of, worth from $35,000,000 to $90,000,000. The Grand Jury of Shannon County, Mo., has indicted Dr. Thos. R. Herman, David D. Bingham and James L. Lawson for complicity in these frauds.

A PERSIO (Col.) dispatch of the 13th says the revenue officials had discovered an underground crooked whisky distillery on the Arkansas River, near that city.

A HAVANA dispatch of the 14th says a man named Thomasson had been arrested in that city upon the charge of placing dynamite in his luggage with the intention of causing an explosion in mid-ocean and destroying the steamer Mosel. The rough handling of the packages on the docks had caused the late premature explosion and saved the vessel. It was understood that Thomasson had confessed the plot.

ACCORDING to a Constantinople dispatch of the 14th the American Ambassador had again asked the Grand Vizier of Turkey to suspend hostilities and open negotiations with the insurgents.

GEN. A. A. HUMPHREYS, Chief of the Engineer Corps of the United States Army, was recently elected a corresponding member of the French Geographical Society.

THE cabinetshops of the Wheeler & Wilson Sewing Machine Company, at Bridgeport, Conn., were destroyed by fire on the night of the 14th. Loss, $500,000; insurance $300,000.

FREELAND, HARDING & LESIMS, of Hamilton, Ohio, have been forbidden Liabilities estimated at $750,000.

ON the 14th announcement was made of the failure of Jones, Hopkins, leather dealer, of New York city.

THE following summary of the report of the Attorney-General was sent to Congress on the 13th: He regrets that District Attorneys be paid by salaries only, to be granted according to place that the District of Columbia be an exception in the law; recommends giving the appointment of Assistant District-Attorneys to the Attorney-General; a uniform mode of selecting jurors for United States Courts; that a law be passed forbidding the payment of Deputy-Marshals by certificates, and requiring proof of any moneys to Marshals whose accounts are unadjusted at the Treasury over six months. In the case of Brigham Young he asks further legislation. The labors of the Supreme Court and Court of Claims are reviewed, and the suggestion made that such legislation be had as will enable the latter court, aided by the Attorney-General, to increase the speed of justice. An important testimony by drawing a different mode of taking it, and to force out witnesses to trial or testimony to be dismissed without power of reinstation. To these ends he proposes, after consultation with the court, to draft a bill and submit it to the present Congress.

THE London War Office received a dispatch on the 15th announcing the defeat of the Malays by the Sultan's troops near Penang. Sixty of the enemy were killed and a large number wounded.

A DISPATCH from Siberian to the London Times of the 16th says Prince Gortschakoff was arrested for complicity in the late dynamite explosion at Bremer Haven, had recently made several fruitless attempts at suicide and had to be bound and closely guarded. The total number of killed by the explosion is estimated at about 180.

A SPECIAL from St. Paul de Loanda announces that Capt. Cameron's exploring expedition had reached Benguela on the 10th of November, having traversed the African continent from Ujiji. The expedition had been pronounced a success.

THOMAS Agnew now Dorchester, in Massachusetts, an increase of thirty-five during the past year. The number of members is 2,000.

AT the municipal election in Boston on the 16th Mayor Cobb—the "Citizens'" candidate—was reelected by a majority of between 2,000 and 3,000 over H. J. Boardman

REV. DOCTOR HENRY HOBART BROWN, Bishop-elect of the Diocese of Lake Erie, Illinois, was consecrated at Calvary, N. Y., on the 17th.

THE National Cheap Transportation Convention met in Chicago on the 18th. A large delegation was present.

AN order was received in Chicago on the 15th dissolving the Court of Inquiry in the case of Gen. Belknap.

A BERLIN dispatch of the 16th says that Thomasson, the originator of the Bremer Haven explosion, had died from the effects of his self-inflicted wounds. Before his death he made a full confession, and indicated his accomplices. He asserted that his prey mine was made by Klein & Wing Thompson, and that he was a native of Brooklyn, N. Y. He had purchased the materials in the United States and had the machine constructed by a German mechanic, with clock work as arranged as to cause the explosion when the vessel was in mid-ocean. The rough handling of the package on the docks had prematurely caused the catastrophe.

A BERMUDA telegram of the 16th says a frightful explosion had occurred on that day in the coal mine at Frances, near Hamilton, by which 19 miners had already been recovered.

GEORGE S. BOKER resigned the position of General Superintendent of the Railway Mail Service on the 16th.

THE following Congressmen voted against the anti-third-term resolution reported adversely to the United States House of Representatives: Bradley, Denison, Harahan, Hoge, Hubbell, Hyman, Lynch, MacDougall, Nash, Page, Pinkard, Pratt, Smalls, Wallace (S. C.), Walls, Wells (Miss.), White, Whiting—18. Those favoring the resolution numbered 242.

AT a business meeting of Brooklyn Plymouth Church, held on the evening of the 16th, Mr. Beecher submitted resolutions, which were subsequently adopted, providing for the appointment of a committee "to convene an advising council of Congregational churches and ministers, to be held at the earliest practicable day, for the purpose of advising this church whether there is anything in its order and discipline which requires correction, or which could constitute any just ground of complaint or remonstrance on the part of sister churches," such committee to take no action which could supersede or interfere with the calling of the mutual council to which the church had already assented.

IN the United States Circuit Court at Covington, Ky., on the 15th, J. M. Schlinker, F. R. Rinskamp, F. Mackey and — Steinicke, rectifiers, pleaded guilty of violations of the Revenue laws.

ON the 15th the Democratic caucus of the Virginia Legislature nominated John W. Johnston for re-election to the United States Senate, and on the 16th the Legislature elected him.

THE United States Court at Indianapolis, on the 15th, in the case of Augustus Collector Hill, charged with conspiring to defraud the Government, rendered a verdict of guilty.

CONGRESSIONAL PROCEEDINGS.

ON the 10th several memorials were presented to the Senate. Among the bills introduced and referred were the following: To attach the Territory of Alaska to and make a part of the Territory of Washington—to increase the pensions of surviving claims for additional bounty under the act of July 28, 1866; declaring the time limit and sunsetting of the Union Pacific Railroad Company. Some bill to amend.

ON the 11th the Attorney-General's annual report was laid before the Senate. A bill was passed extending the duration of the court of the Commissioners of Alabama Claims six months. A resolution was passed—35 to 29—calling upon the Secretary of the Treasury for a list of names and compensation of all persons employed in the office of Supervising Architect of the Treasury since the 4th of March, 1869. A resolution declaring against the appointment of members of Congress to public offices created or the emoluments of which were increased during the time for which they were elected, was adopted—yeas 39, nays 19. A resolution was also adopted—yeas 38, nays 20—declaring any departure from the time-honored custom adopted by Washington and other Presidents in retiring from office after their second term would be unwarranted, patriotic and fraught with peril to our free institutions. House adjourned to the 13th.

ON the 13th, in the Senate, bills were introduced —to provide for the appointment of a committee on the subject of the alcoholic liquor traffic—to authorize the appointment of special agents to investigate frauds under the Pension laws. A resolution adopted by the House to adjourn on the 20th to the 4th was amended by inserting the 3d and adopted. Mr. Spencer, of Alabama, offered a resolution, which was adopted, instructing the Committee on Post-offices and Post-roads to inquire into the manner of the election in the Senate, as to whether certain names had been used fraudulently or otherwise, as had been alleged. Mr. Morrill, of Vermont, presented a memorial from citizens of Maine in inquiry into the circumstances attending the recent election in Mississippi, and obtained a considerable length. House not in session.

THE MARKETS.

NEW YORK.

LIVE STOCK.—Beef Cattle—$5@6.50 Hogs—Live, $5.65@5.75. Sheep—Live, $4.50@5.75.

BREADSTUFFS.—Flour—Good to choice, $5.65@6; white wheat extra $6.80@7.75. Wheat—No. 2 Chicago $1.03@1.03½; No. 2 Northwestern, $1.07½@1.08; No. 2 Milwaukee spring, $1.06@1.06½. Rye—Western and State, 86@88c. Barley—$1.06@1.12. Corn—Mixed Western, 71@73c. Oats—Mixed Western, 44@45c.

PROVISIONS.—Pork—Mess, $17.75@18.40. Lard—Prime Steam, 12½@13c. Cheese—@21½c.

WOOL.—Domestic Fleece, 90@46c.

CHICAGO.

LIVE STOCK.—Beeves—Choice, $5.90@6.00; good, $5.50@5.85; medium, $5.00@5.40; butchers' stock, $4.00@4.75; stock cattle, $2.75@3.75. Hogs—Live, $5.00@5.25. Sheep—Good to choice, $4.50@5.75.

PROVISIONS.—Butter—Choice, 26@28c. Eggs—Fresh, 21.@22c. Pork—Mess, $16.20@16.30. Lard—$12.85@12.87½.

BREADSTUFFS.—Flour—White Winter Extra, $5.65@5.90; spring extra, $5.00@5.25. Wheat—Spring, No. 2, 95@97c. Corn—No. 2, 67½@68c. Oats—No. 2, 38½@39c. Rye—No. 2, 68@69c. Barley—No. 2, 92@93c.

LUMBER.—First and Second Clear, $40.00@48.00; Common Boards, $11.00@12.00; Fencing, $12.00@13.00; "A" Shingles, $2.75@3.00; Lath, $1.75@2.00.

EAST LIBERTY.

LIVE STOCK.—Beeves—Best, $6.00@6.50; medium, $5.00@5.50; Fair to Fat Cows—Yorkers, $5.00@5.50; Philadelphias $5.00@5.50 Sheep—Best, $5.00@5.50; medium, $4.50@4.75.

What Gen. Henderson Said.

THE following extracts are taken from ex-Senator Henderson's speech before the jury in the Avery case at St. Louis, and contain the language which gave offense to the President and for which the letter, copy reported to be from Colonel Golden, ordered his discharge as assistant in prosecuting the whisky cases at St Louis:

Mr. Henderson—I decide to go to Douglas to induce him to withdraw his agents' name from the returns of the Internal Revenue Bureau, thereby a pair up to me. She should straight at him, turned red and overflowed with the remark:

"You disgusted fool, you have spoiled a man and woman for a hero to the hardware store.

—In his speech at the Lotos Club in New York the other night, Lord Dough-said America was eminent for the beauty of her women. At this time of life he was no fair witness on that subject, but he would offer the more valuable testimony of his son, a young man of some taste and perception, of seventeen years of age, who had come home with this expression on his lips and this impression on his heart. [Cheers.]

—Quite recently a short-sighted husband saw a large fine bouquet of flowers on a table, and wishing to present them from family, placed them in a basin of water. When his wife saw the "bouquet" half an hour afterward she gave one piercing shriek and fainted on the spot. Her deceitful widowed husband had mistaken her new bonnet, with its abundance of flowers, for a freshly-culled bouquet.

—T. D. Perkins narrowly escaped death in the tube-drunk, six feet in diameter, at Mr. Cone's new works in Housatonic, Mass. He was seventy-five from the entrance when a boy told him that the gate at the head of the flume were raised, and a race for life began. Mr. Perkins outjust as the water caught him—Springfield (Mass.) Republican.

MICHIGAN STATE NEWS.

DURING last year 850 persons were confined in the Kent County Jail.

DETROIT has made between seven and eight miles of sewers the past year.

THE net earnings of the State Prison for the year ending Sept. 30 were $1,039,915.

THE New England Society, of Ann Arbor, will celebrate the landing of the Pilgrims on the 22d.

MILO E. DYER, for eight years Superintendent of the Prison Insane Asylum, died at Jackson on the 10th.

D. A. WATERMAN has been appointed Auditor of the Michigan Central Railroad, vice John Newell, resigned.

THEY are talking of making a narrow gauge railroad between Vassar and Port Austin—a distance of about sixty miles.

THE total number of convicts received at the portof Saginaw during the season was 558; aggregate sentence, 150,985.

THE mill of M. A. Ferguson, a resident of Detroit, at Parwell, Clinton County, was burned on the afternoon of the 3d. Loss heavy.

MRS. JESSIE READ, of Detroit, died a few mornings ago from an overdose of morphine taken as a remedy for neuralgia.

THE wife of James Anderson, of Bay City, recently fell dead of heart disease while cleaning windows. She was in apparent good health.

CHARLES CHITTY'S residence, at Grand Rapids, was burned the other night, involving a loss of $2,000. A cat upset a kerosene lamp and set the structure on fire.

MARTIN STILES and wife, of Oakland County, died very suddenly the other night, within two minutes of each other, of congestive chills. They were aged sixty-five and sixty years respectively.

THE Association of Special Music Teachers in the Public Schools of Michigan will hold its second session in Grand Rapids, on Monday evening, Tuesday and Wednesday, Dec. 27, 28 and 29, 1875.

DETROIT pays $613,840 annually for insurance. Last year the insurance losses were $210,000, showing that the insurance companies cleared about half a million dollars out of that city, which is doing pretty well, "considering."

THE Grand Rapids Democrat says that collections were taken up in all the churches of that city for the poor on Thanksgiving Day, and adds that "many would men put as much as five and seven ten cents apiece in the contribution box."

THE annual sale of Atlantic & Pacific 1st mortgage bonds will occur at the office of the company in this city on the 20th inst. The amount of bonds to be sold is $1,000,000, and the upset price is 80 per cent. of the par value.

MILO E. Dyer, for eight years Superintendent of the Prison Insane Asylum, died at Jackson on the 10th.

D. A. WATERMAN has been appointed Auditor of the Michigan Central Railroad, vice John Newell, resigned.

THEY are talking of making a narrow gauge railroad between Vassar and Port Austin—a distance of about sixty miles.

THE total number of convicts received at the port of Saginaw during the season was 558; aggregate sentence, 150,985.

THE mill of M. A. Ferguson, a resident of Detroit, at Parwell, Clinton County, was burned on the afternoon of the 3d. Loss heavy.

MRS. JESSIE READ, of Detroit, died a few mornings ago from an overdose of morphine taken as a remedy for neuralgia.

THE wife of James Anderson, of Bay City, recently fell dead of heart disease while cleaning windows. She was in apparent good health.

CHARLES CHITTY'S residence, at Grand Rapids, was burned the other night, involving a loss of $2,000. A cat upset a kerosene lamp and set the structure on fire.

MARTIN STILES and wife, of Oakland County, died very suddenly the other night, within two minutes of each other, of congestive chills. They were aged sixty-five and sixty years respectively.

THE Association of Special Music Teachers in the Public Schools of Michigan will hold its second session in Grand Rapids, on Monday evening, Tuesday and Wednesday, Dec. 27, 28 and 29, 1875.

DETROIT pays $613,840 annually for insurance. Last year the insurance losses were $210,000, showing that the insurance companies cleared about half a million dollars out of that city, which is doing pretty well, "considering."

THE Grand Rapids Democrat says that collections were taken up in all the churches of that city for the poor on Thanksgiving Day, and adds that "many would men put as much as five and seven ten cents apiece in the contribution box."

THE annual sale of Atlantic & Pacific 1st mortgage bonds will occur at the office of the company in this city on the 20th inst. The amount of bonds to be sold is $1,000,000, and the upset price is 80 per cent. of the par value.

A Tall Chimney Straightened in a Novel Way.

Peter Mathews & Sons commercial works, at Finchencoate, Huddersfield, says the London Building News, has lately become very much out of perpendicular, but, almost without any building or engineering works being carried out, the stack has been brought back to its original position. The stack is 102 feet high, and was built in 1862 by Mr. Gibson Murrie. It had gradually fallen from its upright position, and Mr. Augustus Mathews consulted Mr. H. J. Taylor, electric engineer, of Saltaworth, who tested its position, and found it to be three feet ten inches out of perpendicular, but undertook to restore it to its original position by a process requiring no scaffolding. The terms were agreed upon and accordingly Mr. Taylor commenced operations a few weeks ago, assisted by three workmen. The chimney is of an octagonal shape, and the operations of Mr. Taylor consisted in cutting out successive of brocks from five of the sides and inserting wedges between, and then letting the chimney fall upon the latter and so pull itself upright. For this purpose he used a platform about forty feet from the base and within the chimney, which he and his men cut through the chimney, which at this point was of the thickness of nine inches. As the bricks were removed from each side, a thinner course was substituted and the interstices filled with iron wedges. This work lasted for about three weeks, and unfortunately the weather was most unfavorable, being frequently very boisterous, and naturally causing considerable alarm, both to Mr Mathews and the venturesome engineer himself. However, the chimney stood through it all, and when everything was in readiness for the last operation Mr. Taylor and his three men, and the stack was brought within an inch or two of its perpendicular position. It required nine calculation to carry out this purpose was not given up until the beginning of this century, since which period an enormous increase in the manufacturing industries has taken place, the quantity of coal raised in the United Kingdom in 1800 having been 15,000,000 tons, and the quantity of pig-iron produced of 6,500,000 tons.—Popular science Monthly for November.

JASON OTTO, of Lancaster County, Pa., had a dog to which he gave a name by which he had been running for twenty-five years, and awoke to find his clothing on fire. He ran for a stream of water about 200 yards distant, where he was found badly burned. He died next day.

BEHIND (who has a difficulty with his shirt about a stud): "You are wrong, sir; I am right." Friend: "Yes, you are right, because papa says it's wrong to argue with a woman, and I know you're a fool because that would be below the dignity of a gentleman."

DO those of you expect to receive good.

THE SENTINEL.
WILLARD A SMITH, Editor and Proprietor.
CHARLEVOIX. - MICHIGAN.

THE LEGEND OF ST. NICHOLAS.

'Twas taste of good St. Nicholas
Are known in every school;
Tells the children's darlings
And in the maid's chimney,
Fatherwise they've stockings hung
In readiness. East and West;
Glad the children are and shingle
He is beloved the best.
Because he was the saint of all
The needy and the poor
And never sent a little child
Unwelcomed from his door
In England's fair shore, in day
Fare hundred churches stand
Which bear his name, and keep it well
Remembered through the land.
And all the little children
Who in England alone full well
This tale of good St. Nicholas,
Which I am now to tell—
The sweetest tale, I think, of all
The tales that delight children
I never read it without tears
With none to speak to.
Upon its sacred day.
Thinking, perhaps, that he would hear
A Christian mother's evening prayer,
And say a word or two
Of kindness to her little ones
Most dearly to me dwelling
Some other good to do.
But I would not be did not stop
To take a passing notice
Where all the poor beside Knew through the manor, Mr. and grand.
And he joined never smiled.
And all the holiday sorted at him
And called him Christian dog.
And when the King was angry
He cursed him every day,
And said he was the basest
Of all the Christian race.
Now by my beard, my goods
Are poor to hear sweet worshipers
At such unequal odds!
But still as bold them dear,
And the children of poor days
Are startles good to hear.
They are a sort of gentle,
And I, the King's own son,
We shall not find it hard to read
The lesson which they tell:
No such penalty to satisfy to day.
Yet we know but little
Our position of them, and are glad
We have their memory dear!
Hurrah for good St. Nicholas,
The friend of all the poor,
Who never sent a little child
Unsecured from his door!

—Scribner's Monthly.

BENNY'S RADISHES.

A STORY FOR CHRISTMAS-TIME.

IT was late in summer when Benny Towers found a large paper of radish-seed that had been left over from the spring gardening. He had some wooden tools. He had made himself a rake, hoe and spade, rather rough-looking affairs, but they answered his purpose very well, and afforded amusement many a day hour. There was a corner in the garden where early cabbage had been, and Benny had played garden and worked over the spot until the earth was very rich and mellow. Now he sowed his radish-seed and raked it in. When he told his mother about it, not long ago, many he was going to make selling his radishes, she told him it was too late in the season, and thought no more about it. But Benny did not seem discouraged. There came on warm, gen the showers, and to Benny's delight the two leaves of the radishes soon peeped out of the ground. So abundant were they he had to keep thinning them out Benny's father and mother were very poor, and it was rum that made them so. Mr. Towers would drink, and so the money went his family so much needed. He was a kind, pleasant man when not under the influence of liquor. He went over him self when sober, but it was only to fall with the first temptation. Mrs. Towers took in sewing and did what she could to feed and clothe the children and keep Benny in school.

Dear little fellow, how busy he was the last of October getting into the cellar his stock of radishes. He had a little wheelbarrow, a very little one, made out of a cigar-box. It was an amusement to carry them in that carry in a basket. The radishes were just as nice as could be—crisp and white—and Benny was delighted. As the bricks were removed from each side, a thinner course was substituted and the interstices filled with iron wedges. This work lasted for about three weeks, and unfortunately the weather was most unfavorable, being frequently very boisterous, and naturally causing considerable alarm, both to Mr Mathews and the venturesome engineer himself. However, the chimney stood through it all, and when everything was in readiness for the last operation Mr. Taylor and his three men, and the stack was brought within an inch or two of its perpendicular position. It required nine calculation to carry out this purpose was not given up until the beginning of this century, since which period an enormous increase in the manufacturing industries has taken place, the quantity of coal raised in the United Kingdom in 1800 having been 15,000,000 tons, and the quantity of pig-iron produced of 6,500,000 tons.—Popular science Monthly for November.

JASON OTTO, of Lancaster County, Pa., had a dog to which he gave a name by which he had been running for twenty-five years, and awoke to find his clothing on fire. He ran for a stream of water about 200 yards distant, where he was found badly burned. He died next day.

BEHIND (who has a difficulty with his shirt about a stud): "You are wrong, sir; I am right." Friend: "Yes, you are right, because papa says it's wrong to argue with a woman, and I know you're a fool because that would be below the dignity of a gentleman."

DO those of you expect to receive good.

"Wipe, Mr. Dunn, I've got the nicest wife in the world; you remember when she was the prettiest girl in all Wisconsin? Just look at her and see what this cursed drinking has done. I had your sir, I'm going to stop. And that boy of mine—that bloat-head—has brought me to this deter mination: he's gone to work to try to buy his mother a shawl; think of that, and me drinking up all I earn." Mr. Towers sank into a chair entirely overcome. Then he told Mr. Dunn the story of the morning. His employer had often tried to reform him, and now was only too glad to do anything in his power to help the struggling man. He did look him in the eye, how the demon assailed the wretched drunkard; what a battle he had with himself; such a craving for drink for fifteen hours he had been without it, that he must have it, that he must tear the door from its hinges, or smash the window with one desperate blow. He polished his forehead as the drops stood out on it, and his arms Benny sprang into them and told him all his heart.

"I want to help buy the shawl, Benny. You go Mr. Dunn, and get me a dollar," the other dollar. I can't trust myself to handle money yet, but I'm getting strong er every day. I'll have been four days a better example in the future. I feel it was you and your radishes that saved me, Benny." The little fellow hugged his boy how he had overheard his story, and all he thought. Oh, what a happy, merry Christmas that must be! The worst shawl was ready for mamma, and Benny had a brand-new pair of boots, his first. There were other things to gladden the children, a nice dress for Ann, turkey and cranberry sauce, but best of all the redeemed husband and father.—"Squal Scotch," in Interior.

CAMPBELLY caged in the dimly-lighted lower regions of the Central Park Museum are two young lion cubs. They are three weeks old, a male and female, pleasantly little creatures, and in two weeks more will be old enough to be shown to the public. They are the progeny of the pair of beasts known as Lincoln and Jenny in the museum. But the mother of these cubs was supposed to be a case of cause, unable to nurse them, they were at once given to a large terrier whose puppies were taken away, and who now has part of a foster-mother. She seems, indeed, so fond of the cubs as if they were her own offspring, and covers them with caresses, though they are already half as big as she is. It is a curious fact that the lion cubs are born in captivity are not as gentle as those captured and tamed. The parents of these cubs, which were caught when wild and tamed, are very tractable, while most of the other lions, which were born and brought up here, are sullen and ferocious.—New York Times.

A GENTLEMAN of wealth residing in Hartford found himself upon the ocean not of his struggle for fame he should fall. Mr. Dunn came for him in the morning and took him to his work, he was only too glad to help him. So the battle went on—successfully, too. And Benny's trading went on, mull all and sold, and he had four dollars. He coveted gray and black shawl was five dollars. That was the other dollar coming from? He was in the cellar digging up the dirt used to cover his radishes, when his father came down. Benny thought he was busy, so he kept on digging. "Benny," the father said, "it is not quite dark. Will you get your little wheelbarrow and help me bank the house?"

"Oh, yes, sir," said the delighted child.

What was going to happen? They lived in a little frame house which, in two years, it had never had anything done to it to make it comfortable. Benny felt so happy and thankful, but all he said was, "Yes, father," and went to work with good will. Mrs. Towers did not dare to ask any questions. Her husband did not dare to make any promises out of his struggle for fear he should fall. Mr. Dunn came for him in the morning and took him to his work, he was only too glad to help him. So the battle went on—successfully, too. And Benny's trading went on, mull all and sold, and he had four dollars. The

THE SENTINEL.

CHARLEVOIX, MICH.

WILLARD A. SMITH, EDITOR AND PROPRIETOR.

TUESDAY - - - DEC 28 1875

OUR NEW YORK LETTER.

The Arcadian Dinner--Joaquin Miller--Corn-popping Extraordinary.

$60,000 per Month From the Northern Pacific.

"Big 6."

From the Own Correspondent.

New York, Dec 20th 1875

To the Editor of SENTINEL:—

New York, just at present, is not supplied with literary celebrities, a libera sprinkling of whom appeared at the assembly holiest dinner given by the Arcadian Club a few evenings since at their elegant rooms on fifth avenue. Among the distinguish persons who were present contributed to the success of the occasion were the venerable Peter Cooper, one of the few remaining local names so to speak, of old New York; M. B. Cheney, Presley D. Mallord, of the Chicago Monthly 'Laurence Hutton, author of "Plays and Players." C. H. Woods well-known as "John Paul," and last, but no least Joaquin Miller. From general description of newspaper paragraphs I had prepared myself to see in this charming personage somewhat of a mixture of Lord Byron and Hollo Bot," and so entering the reception-room I looked over the assemblage of black coat and white ties in pleasurable expectancy that my eye would be caught by long, curl black locks, flowing over the shoulders or a red lined cloak, rounded on the south by a leathern belt, fitted with ingle-mounted weapons, and supporting buckskin breeches which in turn should disappear in high, big-spurred boots, all in accordance with the picture my fancy had painted of the "Poet of Sierras" Not seeing a trace of the sort I at once concluded that the lion had not arrived, and turned to speak to a gentleman on my left. I was subse quently introduced to the lion, and found him to be a very quiet, unassuming gentleman, who looked more like a well-to-do farmer than a poet. He was dressed in a plain suit of black cloth, and his hair was cut short, and was not at all long and flowing, as I had expected. He is a man of about forty years of age, and has a very pleasant face. He is not a man of many words, and I failed to learn from him any of the incidents of his life among the Indians, which he has written so much about. He is a man of very few words, and I did not care to annoy him by asking questions. He seemed to be very much interested in the Indians, and I think he has lived among them for a long time. He is a man of very few words, and I did not care to annoy him by asking questions. He seemed to be very much interested in the Indians, and I think he has lived among them for a long time.

The love enjoyed almost unparalleled opportunity at home, while few American gentlemen of any kind have received more honor on their country abroad. At London at Paris at Vienna, wherever rich specimens have been exhibited, they have, by mere force of merit, received the highest distinction in every case. In almost every industrial at least two or three manufacturers with the largest, whose claims are so nearly equal that a decision cannot be made distinctly accepted; but the name of Mason & Hamlin upon a reed organ is what the stamp of Ireenly fine furniture four is to the golden spoon. There can be but one gold, and that indisputable and honor.

Not an unimportant part of the luxuries that's now going on in the Cleveland Centennial rests on Scott Close to connection with his enormous elevators. Thousands of the are already there, and the rest are on the roads which connect over by steam, also with packet and barges to the large places which will have, of course, no railroad connections to-day. But great crowds they will not any good times for nothing stands let us hope, will be fully realized.

If any of your readers have intended to Northern Pacific bonds it may please to learn that Mr. Jay Gould has given several hours on the subject, and the result is we could not see any of the immediate of the rich of which evidenced it, are great fortune and bring it to a better mercy. He says it occupies the pecuniary position of any road in the country, being entirely free from debt, and having one to raffle of portion completed ends $6000 a month net profit.

Mr. Tweed and others sending his son here to be at a good finish. He never saw any thing more heaven to the coast as long as we are counting up the credit of a lot of speculative operations—railroads or any other—extending to the Pacific Ocean. I will say to my friends that Mr. Gould is a very sound man, and cannot help being successful in the end. Should Mr. Gould become president of the Northern Pacific Railroad, and carry out his plans, he will be one of the greatest benefactors of the country. Should Mr. Gould become president of the Northern Pacific Railroad, and carry out his plans, he will be one of the greatest benefactors of the country.

Bristol Clothes Washer

SAVES THOUSANDS OF LIVES ANNUALLY.

Patented Nov. 16, 1869.

The only machine in the world that washes flannels and woolens without fulling. It is simple; has but two rollers; cannot possibly get out of order; and fits into any tub. Clothes cannot become entangled and it will wash a bed-quilt or a wrist band perfectly. It is noiseless, and does not wear or tear the clothes.

Sells at the Low Price of $2.50.

A child can work it easily. It washes four Soilers at once. Also Skirts, Collars, and Wrist bands clean. It is the favorite everywhere. All who see this machine in operation exclaim

Joy to the World! Relief has Come!!

Everybody buying is satisfied with the Bristol Washer.

If not for sale in your place, send us $2.50 and we will send you a Washer by express, or, if you prefer, will send one C.O.D.

Agents wanted everywhere. For terms and Illustrated circular address

BRISTOL WASHER CO.,

38 S. Water St., Chicago.

DR. CROOK'S WINE OF TAR

Two Teaspoonfuls of this Wine of Tar equal two Wineglassfuls of Tar Wine made from any quality tar. Prepared from the Inner Bark of the Pine Tree, and is the medicinal principle of the tree. Is used in all diseases of the throat, lungs, and kidneys. It is absolutely pure and free from acid. It is the best cough syrup in the world. It is also a superior tonic.

Restores the Appetite
Restores the Weak and Debilitated.
Causes the Food to Digest.
Relieves Dyspepsia and Indigestion.
Cures Sour Stomach, Headache, Sick Headache, Nervousness, Sleeplessness, Low Spirits, Melancholy, Hysterics, Female Weakness, Nervous Prostration, Nervous Debility, Nervous Headache, Nervous Neuralgia, Nervous Rheumatism, Nervous Paralysis, Nervous Epilepsy, Nervous Convulsions, Nervous Spasms, Nervous Twitching, Nervous Trembling, Nervous Shaking, Nervous Weakness, Nervous Exhaustion

The Art of Painting "Blacked" Eyes.

By all the odd occupations of this metropolis, probably the oldest is that of a genius who advertises to "paint black eyes so natural-looking as to defy detection." His place is on Cosine street, and his sign-board is read daily by those sandals who ride up and down in the Fourth avenue cars, but many of whose doubtless regard it as a joke. But it is the most serious thing imaginable and the party he occasionally oversteps with which he is engaged, however, is on the edge of the slums of New York, and his customers are among the pugilistic and lower classes, who get into a row and come out with a black-eyed eye. Those who are politicians as most of them are) wish to be presentable the next day, so off they go to this painter-chap, who, with the skilled an artist, proceeds to paint over with fresh color the darkened lens. This interesting business is not confined to one locality nor to one individual. A well known portrait-painter, whose studio is not far from the National Academy building, has, contrary to his own wishes, found himself occupied quite extensively the past year in covering up with fresh colored paint the black and blue spots on the human face divine. He recently informed me that the first case he had came from a solicitor's office on his part to paint over a bruised place upon the eye of a friend. He succeeded so well that soon after another case offered; and still later it became noised around among attorneys and others that he was an adept in covering blotches. Now, strange as it may seem, there are thousands in this city who think it a very smart trick to follow in the wake of the theatrical profession—to indulge in spar actors and actresses—as will soon be, as far as boxing matches to be known as the protégés of popular fashionable theatres. The business grew, until my artist friend assured me that hardly a day passes that he is not called upon to exercise his skill in this peculiar line.

One day, quite early in the morning, his door-bell rang and the servant announced a veiled lady. She was ushered into the studio, revealed herself as a prominent actress, and her eye was a frightful case of black and blue. My friend never inquired into any particulars, but the woman began to talk about it herself and say that the night before she had been most shamefully abused by a person for whom she had great respect, and one she was anxious to hide the mark of the fray, as she had to appear as a theatrical belle eleven o'clock. The task was speedily accomplished and the woman left the studio delighted with the artist's success. Before she had been gone half-hour another visitor came—this time a man. He was arrayed in this costume our Russian friend was all to soon to see. Those who are politicians as most of them are) wish to be presentable the next day, so off they go to this painter-chap, who, with the skilled an artist, proceeds to paint over with fresh color the darkened lens. This interesting business is not confined to one locality nor to one individual. A well known portrait-painter, whose studio is not far from the National Academy building, has, contrary to his own wishes, found himself occupied quite extensively the past year in covering up with fresh colored paint the black and blue spots on the human face divine. He recently informed me that the first case he had came from a solicitor's office on his part to paint over a bruised place upon the eye of a friend. He succeeded so well that soon after another case offered; and still later it became noised around among attorneys and others that he was an adept in covering blotches. Now, strange as it may seem, there are thousands in this city who think it a very smart trick to follow in the wake of the theatrical profession—to indulge in spar actors and actresses—as will soon be, as far as boxing matches to be known as the protégés of popular fashionable theatres. The business grew, until my artist friend assured me that hardly a day passes that he is not called upon to exercise his skill in this peculiar line.

One day, quite early in the morning, his door-bell rang and the servant announced a veiled lady. She was ushered into the studio, revealed herself as a prominent actress, and her eye was a frightful case of black and blue. My friend never inquired into any particulars, but the woman began to talk about it herself and say that the night before she had been most shamefully abused by a person for whom she had great respect, and one she was anxious to hide the mark of the fray, as she had to appear as theatrical belle eleven o'clock. The task was speedily accomplished and the woman left the studio delighted with the artist's success. Before she had been gone half-hour another visitor came—this time a man. He was arrayed in this costume our Russian friend was all to soon to see. Those who are politicians as most of them are) wish to be presentable the next day, so off they go to this painter-chap, who, with the skilled an artist, proceeds to paint over with fresh color the darkened lens. This interesting business is not confined to one locality nor to one individual. A well known portrait-painter, whose studio is not far from the National Academy building, has, contrary to his own wishes, found himself occupied quite extensively the past year in covering up with fresh colored paint the black and blue spots on the human face divine. He recently informed me that the first case he had came from a solicitor's office on his part to paint over a bruised place upon the eye of a friend. He succeeded so well that soon after another case offered; and still later it became noised around among attorneys and others that he was an adept in covering blotches. Now, strange as it may seem, there are thousands in this city who think it a very smart trick to follow in the wake of the theatrical profession—to indulge in spar actors and actresses—as will soon be, as far as boxing matches to be known as the protégés of popular fashionable theatres. The business grew, until my artist friend assured me that hardly a day passes that he is not called upon to exercise his skill in this peculiar line.

One day, quite early in the morning, his door-bell rang and the servant announced a veiled lady. She was ushered into the studio, revealed herself as a prominent actress, and her eye was a frightful case of black and blue. My friend never inquired into any particulars, but the woman began to talk about it herself and say that the night before she had been most shamefully abused by a person for whom she had great respect, and one she was anxious to hide the mark of the fray, as she had to appear as theatrical belle eleven o'clock. The task was speedily accomplished and the woman left the studio delighted with the artist's success. Before she had been gone half-hour another visitor came—this time a man. He was arrayed in this costume our Russian friend was all to soon to see. Those who are politicians as most of them are) wish to be presentable the next day, so off they go to this painter-chap, who, with the skilled an artist, proceeds to paint over with fresh color the darkened lens. This interesting business is not confined to one locality nor to one individual. A well known portrait-painter, whose studio is not far from the National Academy building, has, contrary to his own wishes, found himself occupied quite extensively the past year in covering up with fresh colored paint the black and blue spots on the human face divine. He recently informed me that the first case he had came from a solicitor's office on his part to paint over a bruised place upon the eye of a friend. He succeeded so well that soon after another case offered; and still later it became noised around among attorneys and others that he was an adept in covering blotches. Now, strange as it may seem, there are thousands in this city who think it a very smart trick to follow in the wake of the theatrical profession—to indulge in spar actors and actresses—as will soon be, as far as boxing matches to be known as the protégés of popular fashionable theatres. The business grew, until my artist friend assured me that hardly a day passes that he is not called upon to exercise his skill in this peculiar line.

Russian Immigrants.

The most prominent objects in Topeka just now are the newly arrived Russians. They are somewhat different in their appearance and character from their Mennonite fellow-citizens in other matters beside their religion. They are German in blood and language, being German colonists in Russia or their descendants, but they hail from the Government of Samara, on the Volga, a long distance from the district in extent Southern Russia which has furnished Mennonite immigration.

We judge that in the Volga country Crops are not as uniformly certain and as they are in Kansas, but that the dog in dustry is neglected in favor of sheep-raising. At any rate these Russians go heavily on sheep-skin as a wearing material. The aristocracy wear long sheep-skin coats, with skins like a woman's dress, while the rest is nearly to their heels. On the top of this coat is erected a sheep-skin collar, which reaches to the upper edge of their ears. A round cloth cap, shaped like a sausage in the form known as the "dats," covers the head of the Rooting gentleman. All of the "prime" not covered with sheep-skin and cloth cap is covered with high-legged boots of the most substantial character. Arrayed in this costume our Russian friends might move unharmed through the midst of an Irish row—the dying brickbats rebounding without effect from their sheep-skin armor.

As laborers, the Russians, so far, do not appear to have "struck their gait." Some of them were sent down to work in the Carbondale mines, but failed on account of the unhappy fate for them by their coworkers, the mules. These cents all away with the long ears. The frightened mules stampeded a Hungarian out of the long-tailed sheep-skin envelopes with a Russian inside it approached, or it driven into a corner the mules stood on their defense, and kicked every Russian who came within range.

But the Russians can sing. Every night they gather in front of the Topeka House, or around the big paving rock at the corner, and sing and sing and sing. The women and girls accompany the male melodies; all the singing is done by men and boys, the shrill voices of the latter chiming in prettily with the heavier notes of the men. Nearly all their melodies have a strangely plaintive character. The words are German, but the music is unlike anything else we have heard, resembling most the airs sung by the Hungarian theatrical dingus, a troupe which visited Kansas some years ago.

We suppose the Russian will soon be absorbed in the mass of our population, and first the sausage-shaped caps will disappear; then those charming zephyrs, which comes across the prairies like the balmy breath of a burning brick-kiln, will cause a shedding of those Brigham Young coats, then in the course of four or five years those massive boots will disappear, and the Russian will have nothing to distinguish him from the rest of mankind, except possibly his habit of traveling around armed and equipped with an iron tea-kettle.—Topeka (Kan.) Commonwealth.

He Was the Man.

One evening last week, when the whistle blasts moaned sadly around the street corners, and the captains of the ferry-boats were anxious looks, seven or eight vessel owners and "laid up" lake Captains sat around a cheerful base-burner in a saloon near the river. After the usual amount of growling about the weather one of them told a story. There might have been an ounce of truth about it, but the crowd felt certain that the one ounce was offset by twenty-four pounds of the "awfullest yarn" of lying. Therefore a second man told a story to beat it, and then a third must beat the second. When the fourth man started out for somebody "Gentlemen, I have also seen tough times. When I was sailing the schooner Fortune Bay years ago two of us were overboard in a storm on Lake Erie, one black night. A hatch cover went with us, and it so happened that we both climbed on it. It was not large enough to support two. I was captain, he a sailor. I had a family—he had none. I shouted to him to quit his hold, and when he would not I reached over, clutched his throat, and held on till his fingers lost hold and he went to the bottom of the lake. It was twenty miles off Point Betsey, and with a shrill, wild shriek, which yet lingers in my ears, the poor wretch went to his death! May the Lord forgive me!"

With life-chair tilted against the wall, a husky, sandwerich chap had been nodding his head right and tett, as if sleeping. As the Captain's narrative was concluded he opened his eyes a trifle and solemnly said:

"I am that man!"

The crowd looked at him in astonishment, and he continued:

"I landed on Point Betsey next morning in time for breakfast, and I swore it was no such thing. I'd lick you for choking me if I had to live a hundred years to do it."

"You can't be the man," replied the Captain, looking suspiciously at the fellow's big fists, "it was forty years ago."

"I know it was, and for forty years I've been aching to lick you out of your boots"

The Captain had lied, but he didn't want to own it, and he said:

"That sailor's name was Dick Rice."

"Correct!" howed the stranger; "that's my name!"

"But he was taller than you."

"Being in the air so long that night I shrunk just a foot!" was the cool rejoinder.

"Well, I know you can't be the man," said the Captain.

"I am the man, and now I'm going to stand you to pile! Now then can choke me and then brag about it!"

He rattled in and upset the Captain, but was then set upon by the whole crowd. He got into the eye of the wind and hung there for a time, but presently he paid off a little, got the wind on his quarter, and went at it to lick ten times his weight in old liars. He was a very ambitious man, and those who could get out doors got out, and those who couldn't offered him a gallon of whisky to come to anchor. He failed his sails on this understanding, and as he left his glass down for the third drink he wiped his bleeding ear and remarked

"When a man tries to sacrifice me in order to save himself he don't know who he's boiling with!"

He was the biggest liar of them all, but he made the most out of it.—Detroit Free Press.

A Georgia Farmer's Contest.

We noticed on the street, the other day, a most one-steer wagon and a neat, strong, stock. Since between the shafts, and a close cotton covering over the ribs of the wag on body, and a black jack three-pronged stick, with three red apples on each, was erected on the front end of the wagon-body as a sign. We determined to see the proprietor, and he obtainfill as an interview as easily as a candidate for Governor. We said: "Stranger, what have you got to sell?" He said: "I have got some yaller-skin red-breasted shucky apple." We said: "Where did you come from?" He said: "From the upper end of Haralson County, on the left prong of Turkey Creek, and close to Jack Mountain." We said: "How many apples have you got and how do you sell them?" He said: "I started with twelve bushels; I retail them at fifteen cents a dozen, or two dollars per bushel. I have sold seven bushels, and will close out the lot in a day or two." On inquiry we found it would take him at least ten days to make the round trip from home and back, but he would realize on his load of apples nearly thirty dollars, and it didn't cost a cent to make them. He had made plenty of corn and meat and some cotton, but he hadn't even had the cotton ginned. He said it was penned up in the field and he was in no hurry about it. He said he would be down again before Christmas without another load of apples and some bee-stock and honey and some feathers and some other little tricks. He was well dressed in home-made goods and was as happy as a lark. We asked him when he would bring his cotton, and he said he didn't know, but if he got time to gin it and tell like it he might bring it a couple time next summer after he laid by his crop. He seemed to care very little about his cotton, and if the cows had eaten it up he wouldn't have shed a tear. —Newnan (Ga.) Star.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS.

TARRAGON is a growing plant in water of 120 degrees will, it is said, clean it of lice and other insects and not hurt the plant.

JENNY LIND CAKE.—Two and one-half cups of flour, one and one-half cups of sugar, one-half cup of butter, one cup of milk, one teaspoonful of cream of tartar, one-half teaspoonful of soda and two eggs; spice to your taste.

SPONGE CAKE.—The yolk of five eggs, broken into a dish containing one and one-half cups sugar and beaten till very light; the whites beaten to a stiff froth, then added, one and one-half cups flour. Bake twenty minutes. By baking this in thin sheets it makes excellent jelly cake.

FRUIT CAKE—VERY NICE.—Eight eggs, two cups brown sugar, two of sirup, two and one-half of butter, one-fourth of water, one teaspoonful of soda, flour to make it quite stiff, one teaspoonful each of mace, cloves and allspice, two of cinnamon, one nutmeg, two pounds each of raisins and currants, one of citron. Bake in loaves three and one-half hours.—Ohio Farmer.

A GOOD PUDDING.—Take one quart of sour milk, half a pound of clear salt pork chopped moderately fine, two eggs well beaten, one teaspoonful each of soda and ground cinnamon, a teacupful of blackberry preserves or any other fruit you prefer; flour to make a stiff batter. Put in a basin and steam two hours. To be eaten with maple molasses or melted sugar.

MINCE-MEAT FRITTERS.—With half a pound of inferment mix two ounces of fine bread crumbs (or tablespoonful of flour), two eggs well beaten, and the strained juice of half a small lemon. Mix these well, and drop the fritters with a dessert spoon into plenty of pure lard; fry them from seven to eight minutes, drain them in a napkin and send them very hot to the table. They should be quite small.

GOOD RECIPE FOR DOUGHNUTS.—Take three eggs; beat well; have your pot on the fire and your lard all melted ready to fry the nuts. Take three tablespoonfuls of the melted lard, two heaping cups of sugar, rolled; stir about three pints of flour, put it in the bread-bowl, make a round place in the middle of the flour to hold your eggs; when they are beaten, pour them into the flour; now the sugar, then the melted lard, now a half-pint of sweet cream or buttermilk, into which put one heaping teaspoonful of soda; beat up the milk and soda till it ceases to find that just 300 years ago, in London, to foam; then among all the rest, now put in ground cinnamon to suit, or any other spice you like best. And now the scene comes. If you want them good, don't milk quick, but take your time; work and knead and forward through the fingers until it will be stiff and make dough fit splendid to roll. When you fry try and keep the grease at a regular heat, and not too hot, but fry quickly. Make the dough about as stiff as biscuit dough.—Cin. Enquirer New Yorker.

The Farmer's Tool-house and Workshop.

A FARMER can never fully appreciate the usefulness of a good set of tools, and a workshop, in which he can on rainy days, or in the winter season, repair his own implements in many cases, or make useful articles to be used on the farm, and become expert in the use of planes, hammers, drawing-knives, etc. On nine farms in ten in the United States, probably, all of the tools that are used on the farm, or the odd jobs to be found about it, could be done, not liked within ten years by a rusty auger, with handle loose, cutter two gimlets, made half a century ago, and so on in pretty good order from sheer necessity, to be able to cut wood enough to keep from freezing in the winter season. Every good farmer should have a room in some outbuilding where a storeroom be placed in the winter, in which he can do any little jobs that one may be able to do who is not a practical mechanic. After this workshop is provided he should purchase a fair assortment of good tools, as follows: Fine and coarse teeth saws, two or three augries of different sizes—hand-saw and screw, with brace to be used in the place of gimlets, being much better; several planes, drawing-knife, files of different sizes, a vise, hatchet with a broad cut, nail hammers, large and small; a small sledge-hammer, weighing about two pounds, and other things that will occur to him when purchasing. A cooper's shaving-horse is a very useful thing to have in such a workshop; also different sized screwdrivers, with which any nut on the iron-work of farm implements may be removed.

Let any young farmer supply himself as above stated and in two or three years he will be surprised at his advance in the use of such tools and his ability to repair many things that are generally sent to the blacksmith or the wheelright to mend. He should always practice to sharpen his own tools, and in a short time the farmer saw that his man of all work had finally become a handy mechanic, and that he was able to do quite it, so that if he wants to repair an implement he can instantly find just the piece of wood needed and commence the work on the farm and shortly became a favorite. He was sober, industrious, genteel and intelligent. Gradually the daughter took a liking to him and soon joined him money from her own purse to purchase clothing with. She encouraged him to keep himself semi-dressed

DR. J. R. MILLER'S
MAGNETIC BALM.

K. B.
KING OF THE BLOOD.

Bristol Clothes Washer
SAVES THOUSANDS OF LIVES ANNUALLY.

Patented Nov. 16, 1869.

Mrs. [illegible]
MILLINERY
AND
Dress - Making
ESTABLISHMENT.

Charges Reasonable.

Hemlock Bark!

Contract for Any Amount

L. A. W.

Edw. H. Green,
arlevoix Mich

Improved Farms
and
Wild Lands

Taxes Paid and Non-Resident Lands Cared For.

Collections a Specialty.

Titles Investigated, & Abstracts of Titles Furnished.

R. [illegible]
J. L. MILLER,

RAILROAD
Carpenter & Handy
BOYNE FALLS.

DRY GOODS,
Groceries,
Provisions,
Hardware,
Crockery,

OUR GOODS AND PRICES
speak for Themselves.

Call and See Us.

THE BOSS
Grocery Store.

BYRON SEE,

GROCERIES
Also Dry Goods

Come and See!

A. NOWD. D. I. MCLEAN
Charlevoix Michigan.
BOOT AND SHOE SHOP.

WANTED IMMEDIATELY!
Wood-Choppers!

Fish.

TIP MILLER

J. E. Greilick & Co.,
TRAVERSE CITY, MICH.,
Manufacturers of, and Dealers in
Sash & Doors,
BLINDS, MOULDINGS, BRACKETS,
STORE FRONTS
SEASONED
Cherry, Basswood, Hemlock, Ash
Dressed to Order.

MEAT MARKET.
A. J. McLEOD.

CHARLEVOIX HOUSE,
Charlevoix, Michigan
RICHARD COOPER, Prop.

BLACKSMITHING.
Horse Shoeing a Specialty.

G. B. MILLS.
DEALER IN
Gen'l Merchandise,
Boyne Falls, Mich.
Cash Paid for Country Produce

A FACT!
JUST AS CHEAP
AT HOME!
HEAD OF SOUTHARM

COLE & ISAMAN.
BUILDING AND REPAIRING!

E. S. HAWKS.
House-Building and
Repairing.
Sleigh and Wagon Repairing

AGENTS Read Magnificent Gift
Evans Of Philad. LOCAL AGENTS

1875. 1875
Fox, Rose & Buttars.
PETOSKEY
Headquarters to Buy
DRY GOODS,
GROCERIES & PROVISION
BOOTS and SHOES.
TIN and HARDWARE.
STOVES, SOVEPIPE
CROCKERY & GLASSWARE.
TRUNKS, Traveling Bags
FURNITURE
We shall keep good goods at Low Prices. Shingles arriving in from mills for their way to our stores, you bring with us know how to Handle our Largest Stock! Lowest Prices.
Close Attention to Orders.
Fox, Rose & Buttars

GEO. W. ESTERLY & CO.
CHARLEVOIX MICH
MANUFACTURERS OF HARD
and LUMBER
ALSO Shingles
Lath
Cheese Box Stuff
Broom Handles
Etc.
LUMBER SAWED
TO ORDER
AND BILLS FILLED

LAND FOR SALE.
The subscriber has for sale on reasonable terms of payment the following described
LANDS
Situated in Charlevoix County, Mich. The have been leasers for many years, and are
FIRST - QUALITY
As regards soil and hardwood timber.
Town 33 North of Range 7 west.
[illegible]
Town 34 North of Range 7 West.
[illegible]
Town 32 North of Range 6 West.
[illegible]
Town 32 North of Range 5 West.
[illegible]
Address [illegible], Charlevoix.

New Express Shop.
[illegible]
REPAIRING
[illegible]
CHESTER BENTON
Charlevoix, August 9, 1871.

FOR SALE.
[illegible]
FARMS:
145 Acres on Stone road, one mile from [illegible]
123 Acres in same town [illegible]
80 Acres on [illegible]
120 Acres on [illegible]
175 Acres [illegible]
160 Acres [illegible]
107 Acres [illegible]
80 Acres [illegible]
120 Acres [illegible]
No person wishing to purchase will be disappointed and therefore address or call on
M. J. CLIFFORD,
Charlevoix, Mich.

GEO. W. ESTERLY & CO.
JOB PRINTING
DONE AT THE SENTINEL
JOB PRINTING OFFICE

DR. CROOK'S WINE OF TAR!
Two Years Reputable Standing.
Has cured thousands with it as any similar preparation. Especially valuable in the public. It is rich in the finest quality of Tar, and combined by a process which retains the Tar in its purest state, thereby preserving its medicinal properties. For Pulmonic Diseases, Sore or Inflamed Throat, Sore or Weak Lungs, Bronchitis, Hoarseness, Croup, Whooping Cough, Catarrh, and Asthma. Dose, a teaspoonful. Sold by Druggists.
It is also a superior Tonic, Restores the Appetite, Strengthens the System, Purifies the Blood, Invigorates, Prevents Malarious Fevers, Gives tone to your System.

The Sentinel,
Published every Tuesday by
WILLARD A. SMITH
—EDITOR AND PROPRIETOR.—
OFFICE—Postoffice Building
On Bridge Street
Terms of Subscription:
$2.00 per Annum, In Advance.
$.50 FOR SIX MONTHS.
THE SENTINEL is issued on [illegible] and is [illegible]

CHARLEVOIX SENTINEL.

Terms, $2.00 per Annum. | Devoted to the Interests of Charlevoix County. | (Always in Advance.
Vol. VII. No. 36. | CHARLEVOIX, MICH., JAN. 4, 1876. | Whole No., 347

The Sentinel.
Advertising Rates:
[illegible]

Business Directory.

A. [illegible]
WILLARD A. SMITH Notary Public and Justice of the Peace, Office [illegible]
BROWNELL, County Treasurer, Charlevoix, Mich.
L. A. [illegible] General Insurance Agent, Charlevoix, Mich.
M. [illegible] Register of Deeds [illegible]
J. [illegible] Attorney at Law, North [illegible]
S. [illegible] Attorney at Law, Traverse [illegible]
[illegible] Attorney at Law, Traverse [illegible]
[illegible] Attorney at Law, Traverse [illegible]
[

THE SENTINEL.

WILLARD A SMITH, Editor and Proprietor.

CHARLEVOIX. - MICHIGAN.

THE NEWS.

A RAGUSA dispatch of the 18th says that at a recent conference of the naval Cabinet representatives of Hesaldi it was unanimously resolved to continue the war with Turkey until every Turk had been expelled from the country. An agent had been designated to visit the various capitals and to request of the powers belligerent recognition of Herzegovina.

A ROME (Italy) telegram of the 18th says 600 persons in that Kingdom had applied for space in the Philadelphia Centennial Exposition.

ABOUT 1,000 mechanics and laboring men at Montreal, Canada, who had been recently thrown out of employment by the advent of cold weather made a public demonstration on the 17th, demanding work or bread. The mob could not be quieted, the police were called upon and several arrests made. Four of the rioters were, on the 18th, sentenced to four months' imprisonment at hard labor. A strong force of police remained on guard, at last accounts, and reinforcements had been made to give the post laborers employment.

THE trial of Thomas W. Piper, the Boston sexton, for the murder of Mabel Young, has resulted in a disagreement of the jury, who are reported to have stood nine for conviction and three for acquittal.

THREE meetings were held by Moody and Sankey in Philadelphia on the 19th. At the women's meeting in the afternoon a large number rose for prayers, and subsequently entered the inquiry-room. Several distinguished persons attended the evening services, among them being President and Mrs. Grant.

THE banking-house of Greene & Crans ton, Providence, R. I., suspended on the 18th, in consequence of the failure of the Providence Tool Company. Their assets were stated to be $800,000, liabilities $675,000. It was claimed that the embarrassments of the Tool Company were only temporary.

ON the occasion of the late hanging of three colored men in New York city the rope was carelessly adjusted around the neck of one of them, and just as the weight descended the knot slipped and the victim was left writhing between heaven and earth. He made violent efforts to relieve himself and cried aloud for help. The knot again shifted and he finally died by strangulation.

AT a business meeting of Piermont Church, of Brooklyn, held on the evening of the 17th Deacon West's letter was filed in Mrs. Moulton's case. A letter answer was proposed for an advisory council, the churches to be held on the 11th of January to determine certain questions of rule and discipline. Dwelling the same, and its adoption Mr. Sherman moved the slight amendment, and Mr. Beecher said if that would open up the whole discussion of 1874 he was for it, and the motion to adopt prevailed. At the morning session Mr. Beecher made the marks. Mr. Beecher said: "If such an advisory council should say another investigation is necessary, I shall say, 'Go to.' Do it.' If they should say no, then I certainly should not object." Mr. Sherman judged the office of Clerk of the church organization, and Mr. Thomas D. Tilney was chosen as his successor.

HENRY E. LOCKWOOD has declined to act as Centennial post and Judge Woodward will probably be selected in his stead.

ON the morning of the 19th the United States Express Company's car on the St. Louis Kansas City & Northern Railroad train, while at a station in Scotland county, between Ferguson and Jennings Station, by two or three masked men. After firing the messenger, Charles Kinfield, into a large packing-box which they emptied for the purpose, and robbed the safe of between $30,000 and $40,000 in money and valuables.

D. A. Rose & Co., large lumber manufacturers and dealers of Bangor, Mich., have lately failed. Their liabilities are placed at $400,000 and assets at $400,000.

LAWTON & HUNT, London and Liver pool shipping merchants, failed on the 20th with liabilities estimated at $350,000.

ACCORDING to a dispatch from Southampton, Eng., on the 20th, the agents of the steamer Sallie had been unable to find in the vessel any infernal machine as indicated by Thompson's confession; neither had they been able to discover that suspicious appearance had been effected upon the cargo of the Mosert.

THE town of Arecibo, Porto Rico, was nearly destroyed by an earthquake on the 8th of December.

WASHINGTON telegrams of the 20th state that Hinsdale G. Russell, recently indicted in Chicago for unlawfully handling a quantity of crooked whisky, had had an interview with Secretary Bristow, during which he made a full confession of all he knew concerning the frauds. His evidence is said to be considered valuable by parties already in possession of the Government.

A FIRE in Little Rock, Ark., on the morning of the 20th destroyed the Anthis block, burning up the office of that paper and inflicting a loss of about $50,000 on the occupants of the building.

BERRADA, the Milwaukee rectifier lately convicted of whisky frauds, was sentenced on the 20th to eight months' imprisonment and to pay a fine of $2,000.

SEVERE cold weather was experienced in many sections of the East on the 20th. The mercury ranged from two degrees below zero in Boston and vicinity to fifty-five degrees below at Skowhegan, Me., forty-two below at Hinsdale, N. H., and forty-three below at St. Johnsbury, Vt.

GEN. JOVELLAR, the Spanish Minister of War, was lately appointed Captain General of Cuba.

ACCORDING to a Naples dispatch of the 20th Mount Vesuvius had showed a gradual increase of fire and smoke, and Prof. Palmieri predicted a long period of eruption.

A LISBON dispatch of the 21st says a Portuguese gunboat had been ordered to the island of St. Thomas to put down an alleged insurrection of the negroes.

THE election of Senators by the French Assembly has resulted in the choice of thirteen Legitimists, four Orleanists, one Bonapartist and fifty-eight Republicans.

HENRY WADSWORTH, the murderer of Harriet Lane in Whitechapel road, London, last September, was hanged at Newgate on the 21st. He left a statement acknowledging the justice of his sentence.

A BERLIN special to the London Times of the 22d says it had been ascertained that the total number killed by the late dynamite explosion at Reisner Haven was 126, wounded, 50; twenty of the injured were hopelessly maimed, and there were 56 widows and 135 orphans for whose benefit it was proposed to raise a subscription of $75,000.

THE trial of H. C. Bowen filed suit against the Brooklyn Union (N. Y.) Eagle was begun on the 21st.

AT Milwaukee, on the 21st, Phillip Weimer, a rectifier convicted on eleven frauds, was sentenced to eight months' imprisonment in the County Jail and to pay a fine of $2,000. John S. Pratt, a ginger, was sentenced to the State Prison for five months and to pay a fine of $2,000.

LORENZO REVERA, the polygamous Mormon, was sentenced at Salt Lake on the 21st, by Chief Justice White, to ten years' imprisonment and to pay a fine of $500. He made an appeal and was released on $10,000 bail.

AT a special election in the Seventh Judicial District of Illinois, held on the 21st, T. Lyle Dickey, of Chicago, was chosen Judge of the Supreme Court to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Judge McAllister.

ACCORDING to a Vienna special of the 21st a large insurgent force had appeared in and at Jamnitza, in Bosnia, and many mostly rebuted the Sultan's firman, proposing sundry reforms, as unworthy of credence. They had formed a provisional government.

THE British training-ship Goliath was lost in the Bay of Biscay on the night of the 22d with all on board. Only one man was saved. The Goliath was a screw steamer of 6,400 tons and 1,000 horse-power, and was launched in 1863.

A SHANGHAI (China) dispatch of the 23d says the Chee Foo Land Tax and Native Post, has been appointed Ministers to the United States.

A WASHINGTON telegram of the 22d says the Grange cases, involving the question of the right of States to regulate the carrying rates of railroads, would be further considered by the Supreme Court on the 11th of January.

THE report that Secretary Bristow had directed to be paid to the Union Pacific Railroad Company the sum adjudged due by the supreme court is pronounced untrue by a Washington dispatch of the 23d.

THE cars are running under Federal control, and the Receivers have issued an order, on the 23d, barring up the payment for a good substance. Many were turned under yesterday's order. A passenger was badly shattered and the foreman killed. Several persons were known to have been blown into the air, in addition to those simply found therein.

THE Bank of Brandywine, at West Chester, Pa., failed on the 23d. It was $250,000 deposits and $250,000 capital.

PRESIDENT GRANT was present as a guest at the seventh annual dinner of the New England Society in New York, on the 22d. Many other distinguished persons attended and responded to toasts.

AT Augusta, Ga., two men named Tillman and Goodwin were killed in a fight with pistols, in which the former was badly wounded, and died the next day.

AN earthquake shock was felt on Hilton Head, Va., on the night of the 23d. No alarm was caused, the shock being felt in sensation.

GOV. HARTRANFT has pardoned Ningo Parks and several others of the number convicted in Clearfield County, Pa., of conspiring together to burn their property.

A SUIT in the St. Louis (Mo.) Circuit Court against the Missouri State Lottery, managed by Messrs. Miller & Co., charging them with usurpation of their franchise and praying for judgment of ouster, was decided on the 23d against the defendants. An appeal was taken to the Supreme Court.

THE Commercial Loan Company and Savings Bank of Chicago suspended on the 21st. It was thought that depositors would realize about eighty cents on the dollar.

AN advance in railroad freights over the different routes between the East and West has been lately established.

CONGRESSIONAL PROCEEDINGS.

ON the 15th a resolution was offered in the senate, by Mr. Edmunds, for the election on the 5th of January of a committee of five senators, to be the Committee on Privileges and Elections. The resolution for a special committee to inquire into the recent election in Mississippi came up as unfinished business and was laid over until the session. On the Senate amendment postponing the 24th of January was agreed to. Senate the 24th of January was agreed to. Senate the bills introduced were to repeal the income tax and tobacco; providing that a pension or payment of arrears of pension may be received or endorsed in transferable order from the date of death of decedent. Mr. Sargent, of California, introduced a resolution to the effect that the Constitution imposes no limits on the eligibility of any citizen to the office of President further than that he must be natural-born, and of a certain age and term of residence, and that any attempt by the House of Representatives, or by the people at the polls, to impose additional qualifications would be unconstitutional. The resolution was laid over. The Senate then went into executive session, and soon after adjourned. In the House the bill to repeal the income tax was passed by a vote of 160 to 8. Adjourned to the 20th.

ON the 20th in the Senate Mr. Bayard presented the credentials of Robert H. Scott, elected by John McEnery in succession of Lieutenant-Governor Pinchback, and Senator Kellogg's name was stricken from the roll. A resolution was adopted that Mr. Peary, of Michigan, be the President of the Senate until Jan. 7, 1876, and then a fresh appointment should be made. Mr. Morton's Mississippi resolution came up as unfinished business and was allowed to go over until after the holidays. Among the bills introduced were the following: To provide for the Indian Bureau from the Interior to the War Department; to increase the efficiency of the navy by encouraging the naval architecture of the United States; for the retirement of the claims of officers of the Revenue-Marine service. The only business of importance in the House was the announcement of the regular committees. Both houses adjourned to June 5.

THE MARKETS.

NEW YORK.

LIVE STOCK.—Beeves—Extra, $6@6.50; fair to good, $5.50@6; common, $4.50@5.25; inferior to ordinary, $3.50@4.50. Cows, bulls and oxen—Extra, $5@5.50; good, $4.50@5; common, $3.50@4.25; inferior, $2@3.50. Calves—Veals, $5@6.50; buttermilks, $3.50@4.50; grassers, $3@3.50. Sheep—Extra, $5.50@6; good, $5@5.50; common, $4@4.75; inferior, $3@3.75. Lambs, $5@7.50. Hogs—Live, $5.25@5.50; dressed, $6@6.50.

FLOUR AND MEAL.—Flour—Superfine, $4.50@4.75; extra western, $4.80@5.25; family, $5.50@6.50; choice, $6.75@7.50; fancy, $7.50@8.50. Southern—Common, $4.80@5.25; fair to good, $5.50@6.50; choice, $6.75@8.50. Rye flour, $4.50@5.50. Corn meal—Brandywine, $3.50@3.75; Pearl, $3.40@3.50; Yorkmeal, $3.50@3.75.

GRAIN.—Wheat—No. 3 spring, $1.06@1.06½; No. 2 spring, $1.07@1.07½; No. 2 red winter, $1.12½@1.13; No. 1 white, $1.15@1.15½. Rye, 80@82½c. Barley, 90c@$1.05. Barley malt, $1.05@1.15. Corn—Mixed Western, 49@49½c; yellow Western, 50@50½c. Oats—Mixed Western, 32@33c; white Western, 34@36c.

PROVISIONS.—Pork—Mess, $17.50@18.50; prime mess, $19@19.50; clear, $20@21. Beef—Plain mess, $8@9; extra mess, $9.50@10.50; packet, $10@11; extra, $11@12; India mess, $18@20. Cut meats—Pickled hams, 12@13c; pickled bellies, 8@9c; pickled shoulders, 7@7½c; smoked hams, 13@14c; smoked shoulders, 8@8½c; smoked bellies, 9@10c. Middles—Long clear, 8@8½c; short clear, 8½@9c; short rib, 8½@9c. Lard—Prime steam, 12@12½c; kettle, 13@13½c. Butter—State, 20@30c; Western, 18@28c. Cheese—Factory, 12@14c; dairy, 11@13c; Western, 10@12c.

CHICAGO.

LIVE STOCK.—Beeves—Extra, $6@6.50; good, $5.50@6; common, $4.60@5.25; inferior, $3@4.50. Cows, bulls and oxen—Extra, $4.50@5; good, $4@4.50; common, $3@3.75; inferior, $2@3. Calves—Veals, $5@6.50; buttermilks, $3.50@4.50; grassers, $3@3.50. Sheep—Extra, $5.50@6; good, $5@5.50; common, $4@4.75; inferior, $3@3.75. Lambs, $5@7.50. Hogs—Live, $5.25@5.50; dressed, $6@6.50.

